ONE BASKETBALL GAME RESULTS IN 2-2 TIE

Two basketball games were played in the Indian League, of the Y. M. C. A., yesterday, and one resulted in a tie, the score being 2 all. The teams were the Wawayanda and Iroquois, and lack of time made it necessary to call the game. In the other game, the Omaha five defeated the Sioux basketeers by a score of 11 to 4. Gates was the star scorer of the game, getting three field goals.

HARRINGTON BOOKS LEALS' OPPONENTS

Fine Baseball Schedule for Local Private School Team.

Manager Frederick Harrington, of the Leal School baseball team, has arranged his schedule for the coming season, which includes fourteen games, with two others pending. The private school aggregation will begin its season on Saturday, April 10, at Roselle, and the first home game will be played with Staten Island Academy on Saturday, April 17.

Games are pending with Staten Island and the Alumni, which the team plays every year. All of Leal's interscholastic games have been arranged, North Plainfield being the first opponents on Saturday, May 1, at Hyde Oval. The first game with Plainfield will be played on Wednesday, May 5, at Crescent Oval.

The schedule follows:

April.

Sat., 10—Roselle H. S. at Roselle.
Wed., 14—Open.
Sat., 17—Staten Island Academy at Plainfield.

Heading the holiday bill of athletic attractions in this city and vicinity for tomorrow, Lincoln's Birthday, is the all-important interscholastic basketball game between the Plainfield and North Plainfield forces, in which the boroughites will be the aggressors, the game being scheduled to be staged in the new gym of the Plainfield High School. In order to accommodate the large crowd that is sure to wend its way to the Ninth street institution, temporary bleachers have been installed on the sides of the court, but even with these it will be impossible to accommodate the crowd that packed Saengerbund Hall for the first game last month.

The game is the most important one of the league schedule, as it will either decide the cup winner and title holder or it will mean another game between these two teams in order to get a decision. North Plainfield is the defender of the title, having recovered it last season after losing it in 1912-13. The battle is bound to be a fierce one from start to finish, and Plainfield will have a slight advantage of their home court. James J. McNamee will again handle the referee's whistle, but an umpire has not yet been decided. All regulars are ready for the game, and the teams will probably lineup as follows at 3 o'clock:

P. H. S.		N. P. H. S.
McNamee (Capt.)	forward	Conroy
Rosenson	forward	Townley
Chamberlain	centre	VanMater
Peacock	guard	Abrams (Capt.)

The firgt for first place in the Senior Elks' League was made a little more interesting, last night, when the New Brunswick bowlers, who are showing the way, lost two games out of three on their own alleys to the representatives of the Jersey City Elks. The New Brunswick team has now won thirty-one games and lost seventeen, the Elizabeths being second with twenty-nine victories and sixteen defeats. The Jersey City team was there for a total of 1,018 in the last and deciding game of last night's series.

Wright rolled 243 and 203 for the Jersey City five and had an average of 199 for the match. Murphy rolled 243 in the first game and his average for the series was 211. Corydon was there for 202 and Wasserman had 211 and 201. Harkins led the home team with 235 and 209. Coyne had 205 and McCormick 203.

ALL KINDS OF RECORDS.

Joe Loomis, the Chicago A. A. phenom, strolled into Madison Square Garden about 7:30 o'clock last evening, when the New York A. C. games were being held, captured the running high jump with a leap of 6 feet 1 inch, defeating Wesley Oler, of Yale, the English champion, and Harry Barwise, of the Boston A. A., the New England champion, then led Alvah Meyer, of the Irish-American A. C., and other speed marvels to the tape in the special scratch 70-yard dash, equaling the world's record of 7 3-5 seconds. Loomis kept right on running, speeding out of the door to an awaiting taxicab, which whizzed him to the Grand Central station, where he caught the 8:34 train back to his home in Chicago. Loomis' street apparel was in the taxicab and he had to dress en route to the station.

N. P. H. S. RAHWAY GAME CANCELLED BY LATTER

The game between the North Plainfield High School and Rahway High School girls' teams that was scheduled to be played yesterday afternoon in Saengerbund Hall, was cancelled by the Rahway manager, scholarship deficiencies being the reason given. These teams have already met once this year in Rahway, the boroughites swamping their opponents.

According to the schedule the borough team will have a long rest, the next game being with Summit at Summit, on Friday, February 19. Manager Lillian Spencer is trying to arrange a game with the Roselle girls before that time.

HARVARD'S BOY WONDER.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 11.—Louis B. Keane, Harvard's fifteen-year-old prodigy, has a more laudable college ambition than grinding for a flock of A's in his studies, many athletes will think. Lou said today that he will report for the Harvard freshman crew when the candidates are called out next week. He weighs 105 pounds and will try for coxswain. Keane is the youngest student in Harvard and the only one wearing knickerbockers.

WANT 20 ROUND BOUTS.

Albany, Feb. 11.—Assemblyman Arthur G. McElroy, of Erie county, plans to introduce an amendment to the Frawley boxing law which will permit bouts in New York State to go twenty rounds and allow a decision to be given by the referee. The bill will be introduced Monday night, and will be pushed for passage by boxing fans and their friends.

WEEK-END BASKETBALL.

The Hope Chapel basketball team will get a rest this week, no game being scheduled to be played. The Y. M. C. A. team will meet the Sewaren five on the association court.

Scattered Sport Gleanings

When Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools hook up on the local court tomorrow afternoon one of the greatest displays of school spirit ever staged in this city is due to be put on. Recognizing the fact that physique is but one-half the battle and spirit the other half, both schools have organized cheering sections that will keep things humming in the vicinity of West Ninth street and Arlington avenue from noon until nightfall tomorrow. The old adage "shop early and avoid the rush" will be adhered to by the swains and lassies who contemplate gaining points of advantage from which to view the conflict and it is safe to predict that the capacity of the new gymnasium will be well tested on the occasion of the second meeting between the two schools. If North Plainfield wins the nerve-racking rubber engagement will be necessary to decide the title but if the locals snatch their second verdict a demonstration such as has never before been seen in this city will be in order tomorrow night to celebrate the coming of the championship.

We've only one kick to lodge at feminine basketball engagements of an independent nature in this city and that is the habit female managers have in booking contests that infringe on the season allotted to baseball. The Plainfield Five appears to be just starting its campaign and if present plans mature it is one safe bet that we'll be publishing basketball scores all summer.

Local Elks motored it to Rutherford Tuesday night and upon arrival at their destination found that the pinners of that place were scattered about the four corners of the city, the impression prevailing that the matches had been postponed. The failure of a letter to reach Captain Nash, of the locals, caused the mixup and for a time it looked as though the Plainfielders' trip would be all in vain. After much dickering the visitors finally rounded up the stray Rutherford pin-knights and the games were sent underway at 10:30. According to those who "enjoyed" the auto trip across the Newark meadows at 3 P. X. Jack Frost reigned supreme yesterday morning.

Captain Chauncey Stout and his Elks' colts got in a little revenge at the expense of the Elizabeth Juniors Tuesday night by hanging up two out of the series at the expense of the Betsytowners. Although the Plainfielders cannot poke their heads through the counterpane that covers the top rung they have garnered a little satisfaction in being the last team to take a double fall out of the league champions.

Another evidence of what suffragettes can do to sports. The K. of C. carnival devotees and their women friends have occasioned a lull in Columbus Club basketball, the ban being placed on the sport at that rendezvous this week in order to give the indoor fete an opportunity to shine.

Reports from up Grant avenue way say that Jack Martin's baseball duds are hanging on the family washline. Jack is getting ready to depart for the sunny south February 27 with the Phillies, and during the past week has spent some spare moments in resurrecting old paraphernalia.

Present indications do not point to much activity on the part of Martin in the North Plainfield High School baseball camp this spring. The boroughites will have to start tossing the ball around within the next two weeks in order to avail themselves of an opportunity to glean some pointers from Jack's store.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time: by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Adv.

DRESS WARM AND KEEP FEET DRY

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts and Get Rid of Uric Acid

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure, and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

BORO FRESHIES LARRUPED BY PLAINFIELD RIVALS

The Plainfield High School Freshmen basketball team had little difficulty in beating the N. P. H. S. Freshmen five, yesterday afternoon, the score being 37 to 4. The score at the end of the first period was 8 to 4 in favor of Plainfield.

In the second half the borough team was whitewashed. It was unable to score a point, while the Plainfield boys caged the ball for twenty-nine. O'Donnell, at forward, was the high score man, with seven field goals. He was closely followed by Mills, with five field goals. A return game will be played on Saengerbund Hall court later in the month.

ANYTHING FROM GRAMMAR SCHOOL TO N. P. H. S. TEAM

Basketball promises to be a stranger, to the Perth Amboy H. S. girls unless something unusual happens pretty soon. The game scheduled to take place yesterday with Rahway had to be cancelled for good reasons and at present there is nothing further in sight.

To avoid becoming rusty from their long rest the girls engaged in practice yesterday afternoon, and in the event of a challenge will be ready to tackle anything from grammar school to North Plainfield, it is claimed.

TABS SMOTHERED UNDER AVALANCHE OF POINTERS

The St. Joseph's Boys Club won its initial basketball game, last night, by defeating the Tabs, on the West Fourth street court, by a score of 77 to 13. The Tabs were completely outplayed by the North Plainfield aggregation and were never in the running. P. H. S. WILL MEET TEAM REPRESENTING MONTCLAIR

Manager Peyton Schenck, of the Plainfield High School track team, this morning, arranged a dual athletic meet with the athletes of the Montclair High School to be staged in the local gymnasium, Saturday afternoon. Montclair and Plainfield have been rivals in basketball and football in previous years and the establishment of a track meet is a popular one in both institutions.

Coach Jack Fritts has had his men working out every afternoon for the past two weeks in anticipation of scheduling an engagement of this kind and the Plainfielders will no doubt show to their best advantage.

FOX HUNTING IN JERSEY.

Hammonton, Feb. 11.—Fox hunting parties have been the rage at Hammonton during the last week. The county pays a bounty of $3 for each fox killed.

ELIZABETH VS. ST. JOSEPH'S.

The St. Joseph's Boys' Club will play the Hope Memorial seconds, of Elizabeth, Monday night, on the T. A. B. court, on West Fourth street.

SPECIAL MEETING.

A special meeting of the Plainfield Typographical Union will be held next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock sharp. A meeting of the ball committee will also be held.

FATHER AND SON ARE RETURNED WINNERS

They Prove Their Superiority in Lodge Card Tourney.

Charles L. Holstein, Sr., has proved that he is an expert at shuffling the pastboards in winning with his two partners both the pinochle and euchre contest which have been conducted by Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M. Holstein, Sr., and Holstein, Jr., won the pinochle tournament with four games in the lead of their nearest competitors, Flynn and Meyers, with a total of sixteen games won to twelve won by the latter team. Juilliard and Pearson came third with a total of ten games won, while Forgerson and Lund were fourth with but four games won.

In the euchre tournament, Holstein Sr., and Charles Meyer came out ahead with a total of seventeen games won. Doeringer and Wilson were second with fifteen games to their credit, with Flynn and Pearson a close third with fourteen games. Green and Sheridan won eleven games; Mundy and Bahm, nine; Forgerson and Holstein, Jr., eight, and Juilliard and Lund, four.

Prizes are given for first and second place in both contests and these will be awarded at the meeting of Miantonomo Tribe next Wednesday evening. The contest has been a warm one from start to finish and true sportsmanship has been the attitude of all contestants.

SMALL SCORE FEATURES SOPHOMORES' TRIUMPH

The Sophomores girls' team, of North Plainfield High School, won over the first year maidens in Saengerbund Hall, yesterday afternoon, the final score being 11 to 7. Miss Griffiths and Miss McCullough played the best game for the losers, while Miss Spencer and Miss Chandler starred for the winners.

LOCAL AND ELIZABETH T. A. B. TEAMS TO ROLL

Bowling sharps representing the T. A. B. Society of St. Mary's church have engaged the Eagle alleys, on East Second street, for Tuesday night when a return engagement with the Elizabeth T. A. B. quintet will be staged. Two weeks ago the Plainfielders were the guests of the county seat athletes at a bowling match and social time, a big delegation accompanying the team from this city.

Following the matches on the East Second street lanes the Elizabethans and their supporters will be entertained by the localites.

ASKS FOR CO-OPERATION.

During the morning exercises of the North Plainfield High School today, Supervising Principal D. Fred Aungst and Principal Albert Early made speeches about the basketball game tomorrow. Both men gave the team much encouragement and asked for co-operation of the pupils by attending the game. Miss Gladys Sullivan, '16, recited "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address."

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY GIVE A "DUTCH SUPPER"

The annual "Dutch Supper," of the Young People's Society of St. Peter's Lutheran church, was held last night in the church and was very successful. There were about two hundred suppers served and a large sum was realized by the society. The waitresses were attired in Dutch costume with wooden shoes and the supper was served in Dutch style. The rooms were decorated with German and American flags.

The committees in charge were as follows: Supper committee, Miss W. Guttenberger, chairman; Miss S. Faber, Miss E. Schurig, and Rudolph Heinold; wardrobe, Oscar Heinold; tickets, Richard and Theodore Moldenke; waitresses, Miss Ernestine Richter, Miss Hetwig Grottman, Miss Louise Grothman, Miss Clott, Miss E. Schurig, Miss Burgiss, Miss Emma Kotte and Miss Emilie Eckhart.

CHAPTER VI.

A House of Cards.

KINGSNORTH sank into a chair. The letter slipped from his fingers. All his dreams had vanished in a moment. His house of cards had toppled down. His ambitions were surely and positively destroyed at one stroke. He mechanically picked up the letter and reread it. Had it been his death sentence it could not have affected him more cruelly:

Dear Nathaniel—I scarcely know how to write to you about what has happened. I am afraid I am in some small measure to blame. Ten days ago your sister showed me a letter from a man named O'Connell—

Kingsnorth crushed the letter in his hand as he read the hated name—the name of the man who had caused him so much discomfort during that unfortunate visit to his estate in Ireland. How he blamed himself now for having ever gone there! There was indeed a curse on it for the Kingsnorths.

He straightened out the crumpled piece of paper and read on——a man named O'Connell—the man she nursed in your house in Ireland after he had been shot by the soldiers. He was coming to England and wished to see her. She asked my permission. I reasoned with her, but she was decided. If I should not permit her to see him in my house she would meet him elsewhere. It seemed better the meeting should be under my roof, so I consented. I bitterly reproach myself now for not acquainting you with the particulars. You might have succeeded in stopping what has happened.

Your sister and O'Connell were married this morning by special license and left this afternoon for Liverpool en route to America.

I cannot begin to tell you how much I deplore the unfortunate affair. It will always be a lasting sorrow to me. I cannot write any more now. My head is aching with the thought of what it will mean to you. Try not to think too hardly of me and believe me, always your affectionate cousin,

MARY CAROLINE WREXFORD.

Kingsnorth's head sank on to his breast. Every bit of life left him, everything about his feet ashes, the laughingstock of his friends.

Were Angela there at that moment he could have killed her.

The humiliation of it! The degradation of it! Married to that lawless Irish agitator! The man now a member of his family! A cry of misery broke from him as he realized that the best years of his life were to come and go fruitlessly. His career was ended. Despair lay heavy on his soul.

* * * * * * *

Standing on the main deck of an Atlantic liner stood Angela and O'Connell.

They were facing the future together.

Their faces were turned to the west.

The sun was sinking in a blaze of color.

Their eyes lighted up with the joy of hope.

Love was in their hearts.

* * * * * * *

A year after the events in the preceding chapter took place O'Connell and his young wife were living in a small apartment in one of the poorer sections of New York city.

The first few months in America had been glorious ones for them. Their characters and natures unfolded to each other as some wonderful paintings, each taking its own hues from the adoration of the other.

In company with a noted Irish organizer O'Connell had spoken in many of the big cities of the United States and was everywhere hailed as a hero and a martyr to English tyranny.

But he had one ever present handicap—a drawback he had never felt during the years of struggle preceding his marriage. His means were indeed small. He tried to eke out a little income writing articles for the newspapers and magazines. But the recompense was pitiful. He could not bear without a pang to see Angela in the dingy surroundings that he could barely afford to provide for her.

All His Dreams Had Vanished In a Moment.

On her part Angela took nothing with her but a few jewels her mother had left her, some clothes and very little money. The money soon disappeared, and then one by one the keepsakes of her mother were parted with. But they never lost heart. Through it all they were happy. All the poetry of O'Connell's nature came uppermost, leavened, as it was, by the deep faith and veneration of his wife.

This strangely assorted fervent man and gentle woman seemed to have solved the great mystery of happiness between two people.

But the poverty chafed O'Connell—not for himself, but for the frail, loving, uncomplaining woman who had given her life into his care.

His active brain was continually trying to devise new ways of adding to his meager income. He multiplied his duties. He worked far into the night when he could find a demand for his articles. But little by little his sources of revenue failed him.

Some fresh and horrible agrarian crimes in Ireland, for which the home rule party was blamed, for awhile turned the tide of sympathy against his party. The order was sent out to discontinue meetings for the purpose of collecting funds in America—funds the Irish Americans had been so cheerfully and plentifully bestowing on the "cause."

O'Connell was recalled to Ireland. His work was highly commended.

Some day they would send him to the United States again as a special pleader. At present he would be of greater value at home.

He was instructed to apply to the treasurer of the fund and arrangements would be made for his passage back to Ireland.

He brought the news to Angela with a strange feeling of fear and disappointment. He had built so much on making a wonderful career in the great new world and returning home some day to Ireland with the means of relieving some of her misery and with his wife guarded, as she should be, from the possibility of want. And here was he going back to Ireland as poor as he left it, though richer immeasurably in the love of Angela.

She was sitting perfectly still, her eyes on the floor, when he entered the room. He came in so softly that she did not hear him. He lifted her head and looked into her eyes. He noticed with certainty what had been so far only a vague, ill defined dread. Her face was very, very pale and transparent. Her eyes were sunken and had a strange brilliancy. She was much slighter and far more ethereal than on that day when they stood on the deck of the ship and turned their faces so hopefully to the new world.

He felt a knifelike stab startle through his blood to his heart. His breath caught.

Angela looked up at him radiantly.

He kissed her and with mock cheerfulness he said laughingly:

"Such news, me darlin'! Such wondherful news!"

"Good news, dear?"

"The best in the wurrld," and he choked a sob.

"I knew it would come! I knew it would. Tell me, dear."

"We're to go back—back to Ireland. See, here are the orders," and he showed her the official letter.

She took it wonderingly and read it. Her hand dropped to her side. Her head drooped into the same position he had found her in. In a moment he was kneeling at her side.

"What is it, dear?"

"We can't go, Frank."

"We can't go? What are ye sayin', dear?"

"We can't go," she repeated, her body crumpled up limply in the chair.

"And why not, Angela? I know I can't take ye back as I brought ye here, dear, if that's what ye mane. The luck's been against me. It's been cruel hard against me. An' that thought is tearin' at me heart this minnit."

"It isn't that, Frank," she said faintly.

"Then what is it?"

"Oh," she cried, "I hoped it would be so different—so very different."

"What did ye think would be so different, dear? Our going back? Is that what's throublin' ye?"

"No, Frank, not that. I don't care how we go back so long as you are with me." He pressed her hand. In a moment she went on: "But we can't go, we can't go. Oh, my dear, my dear, can't you guess? Can't you think?" She looked imploringly into his eyes.

A new wonder came into his. Could it be true? Could it? He took both her hands and held them tightly and stood up, towering over her and trembling violently.

"Is it—is it"— he cried and stopped as if afraid to complete the question.

She smiled a wan smile up at him and nodded her head as she answered:

"The union of our lives is to be complete. Our love is to be rewarded."

"A child is coming to us?" he whispered.

"It is," and her voice was hushed too.

"Praise be to God! Praise be to his holy name!" And O'Connell clasped his hands in prayer.

In a little while she went on: "It was the telling you I wanted to be so different. I wanted you when you heard it to be free of care—happy. And I've waited from day to day, hoping for the best—that some good fortune would come to you."

He forced one of his old time, hearty laughs, but there was a hollow ring in it:

"What is that yer sayin' at all? Wait for good fortune? Is there any good fortune like what ye've just told me? Sure I'm ten times the happiest man since I came into this room." He put his arm around her and, sitting beside her, drew her closely to him. "Listen, dear," he said, "listen. We'll go back to the old country. Our child shall be born where we first met. There'll be no danger. No one shall harm us with that little life trembling in the balance—the little precious life. If it's a girl child she'll be the mother of her people, and if it be a man child he shall grow up to carry on his father's work. So there—there, me darlin', we'll go back—we'll go back."

She shook her head feebly. "I can't," she said.

"Why not, dear?"

"I didn't want to tell you, but now you make me. Frank, dear, I am ill."

His heart almost stopped. "Ill? Oh, my darlin', what is it? Is it serious? Tell me it isn't serious!" And his voice rang with a note of agony.

"Oh, no, I don't think so. I saw the doctor today. He said I must be careful, very careful, until—until our baby is born."

"An' ye kept it all to yerself, me brave one, me dear one. All right. We won't go back. We'll stay here. I'll make them find me work. I'm strong. I'm clever, too, and crafty, Angela. I'll wring it from this hustling city. I'll fight it and beat it. Me darlin' shall have everything she wants. My little mother—my precious little mother!"

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 11—Jane Noria of operatic fame, born Josephine Ludwig, of St. Louis, and Countess di Centanini by marriage, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Louis Barklage. When not on tour Mme. Noria makes her home in Paris, and came to America on account of the war.

New York—Homer Croy, the Missouri humorist, married last Sunday the girl who cabled him money when he "went broke" in Constantinople at the outbreak of the war. This was Miss Mae Sarvel, of Bagdad Fla., with whom he had entertained only a casual friendship before the incident. Mr. and Mrs. Croy had their wedding snapped by a "movie" operator and on their return from California will give a reception to show their friends the pictures of their wedding party.

Indianapolis, Ind.—To avenge herself on the child's father, because she had been defrauded by him in a business transaction, Mrs. Helen Civin on her own avowal, kidnapped 13-year-old Mary Folkman and brought her from Austria to America. Mrs Civin is now held on the charge of violating the immigration laws in swearing that the Folkman girl was her daughter, and will probably be deported.

Philadelphia—The war was the indirect cause of the unusually early engagement of Miss Cordelia Biddle, one of Philadelphia's richest heiresses, who is to marry Angier B. Duke, of New York. Miss Biddle is only 17. Like her father, A. J. Biddle, philanthropist and author, Miss Biddle is of studious turn and had intended spending this year studying in Europe, but her plans were upset by the war.

The marriage of Miss Sarah Lippincott, of the famous family of publishers, and Nicholas Biddle, of the well-known family of bankers, took place today, uniting two of the Quaker City's oldest families.

Boston—Miss Louise Hope Thacher, daughter of Congressman Thomas C. Thacher, will be married here Saturday to Bernard Shirley Carter, of London. The ceremony will be performed at Trinity church in the presence of hundreds of guests from Washington, New York and Boston.

Altoona, Pa.—Mrs. Lillie Tucker, well-known here as a church and temperance worker, has willed her $15,000 estate to her divorced husband, George Tucker, a New York manufacturer, now on a Southern yachting trip with his second wife. She says he was "never unkind to her."

Portland, Ore.—Mrs. Marie Krok has filed suit for divorce against John Krok, hunchback, claiming to have been lured to Vancouver and deceived by Krok, who had carefully padded his clothing to disguise his infirmity.

Helena, Mont.—The bliss of wifelessness is variously estimated by Montana solons. Representative Fishbaugh would tax bachelors $100 annually for the joy supposed to be theirs, while Rep. Mackel, of Butte, thinks that $2.50 is all it is worth The great majority of the House agrees on $5 as a fair estimate, and the Bachelor Tax Bill now pending has been recommended for passage with that fee fixed.

Detroit, Mich.—Miss Lillian H. Schneider, 17, an exceptionally brilliant mathematician, recently electrified her proud papa by asking for a sewing machine when he offered her a gift for being honor pupil at the High School.

Elgin, Tex.—Miss Ethel Sowell, who was to have been married recently to Ernest Byers, went to the church with her intended husband, but instead of a wedding, came her public declaration to the assembled guests of her intention to become a missionary instead of a bride.

San Francisco—The innovation of the jitney bus has opened a new field for feminism and incidentally added a new word to the slang lexicon. Mrs. Mary Andrews, whose example has since been followed both here and elsewhere, enjoys the distinction of having been the first "jitneyette," as the women jitney drivers are called. All "jitneyettes" are enthused over the work, which they declare is the most profitable women can engage in without the training required for professional pursuits.

Miss Esther Widing is to wear a $2,000 gown tonight as queen of the Mardi Gras ball of the Native Sons of the Golden West.

Over 2,500 women will be engaged Saturday in a "Dollar Day" canvass of the city, collecting alms for the poor. Every door-bell will be rung, with the slogan, "A Dollar a Door-bell."

MANY BUTTONS LEND A MILITARY TOUCH TO THIS COAT.

Very rough, loosely woven worsted mixture in blue and white tone is the material in this good-looking sport coat for Aiken wear. The broad belt confines the flare below the waistline and in the belt are set little pockets whose location is emphasized by bright nickel buttons. More of the buttons on sleeves, collar, belt and coat-front, give the blue and white a military suggestion that is very modern.

MEETINGS TONIGHT.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M.

Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P.

Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W.

Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, R. A. M.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

Trafalgar Lodge, No. 506, Order Sons of St. George.

Sir knights from Elizabeth visited Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, at the meeting Tuesday evening. The second degree was administered to two candidates by the degree team of the Elizabeth Castle.

Perseverance Lodge, Knights of Pythias, "ladies' night" will be observed in the lodge rooms, Babcock building, Friday evening, Lincoln's Birthday. A euchre contest will be among the features of entertainment. The committee has provided for refreshments to be served late in the evening. The euchre has been arranged for the entertainment of members and their friends.

Several members of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, attended a dance in Westfield last evening, given by the K. of C. council of that place. Many of those present participated in a euchre contest.

Washington Camp, P. O. of A., is holding a regular meeting this afternoon.

Plainfield Council, Royal Arcanum, will hold an important meeting this evening.

There is going to be a general good time at the reception and dance to be held under the auspices of Plainfield Lodge, L. O. O. M., in the lodge hall, formerly Abrams' Hall. Many invitations have been issued for the dance and a large crowd of members and guests is expected to be present. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

That inimitable comedian, Max Figman, who delighted thousands of theatre goers in all parts of the country with his clever work in Harold McGrath's likable story, "The Man on the Box," appeared before local audiences in a new role at the Plainfield Theatre, yesterday afternoon and last night. He was seen for the first time as a "movie" actor in Jesse L. Lasky's feature film production of "What's His Name," one of the most interesting films that has been seen in this city for a long time. This photo-play carries a plot that is easily understood and Mr. Figman's work in the principal role of "Harvey" had the watchers laughing and crying by turns. "What's His Name" will be shown at the Plainfield Theatre again this afternoon and tonight. Don't miss it or you will regret it. The attraction at the Second street playhouse tomorrow afternoon and night and also Saturday afternoon and night will be the screen production of "Alice in Wonderland," the immortal dream of childhood with which everybody is familiar. You have read it in the book, you have heard it recited or seen it acted; now come and watch Alice go through her wonderful adventures through the medius of the camera man. Messrs. Counihan and Shannon are handling this picture throughout the country for the Nonpariel Feature Film Company and in almost every house where it has been shown once, the managers have asked for return dates.

ANNUAL MASQUE BALL.

The Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein Society will hold its annual masque ball in Saengerbund Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. The committee in charge has completed arrangements and a good time is assured all who attend. Prizes will be awarded for the best dressed and most comical guests. Music will be furnished by Halbfoerster's orchestra.

Animal Jingles

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

By ALICE CREW GALL

Mother McGrew and Daniel Donkey.

I wonder if you know what eavesdropping is;
It isn't a nice thing to do.
It's listening at windows and doorways to hear
The things that are not meant for you.

Now young Daniel Donkey had this dreadful fault,
He always would try to find out
Whenever he saw people standing around,
Just what they were talking about.

And Mother McGrew often said to him, "Dan,
As sure as I'm living some day
You're bound to hear unpleasant things of yourself
If you listen to all that folks say."

But that made no difference to Daniel at all;
Whenever a door was shut tight,
He'd put his ear up against the key hole,
And listen with all of his might.

And Mother McGrew, when she finally saw
That all of her scolding was vain,
Said, "I'll have to take severe measures to cure
Young Dan of eavesdroping, that's plain."

So next time she caught him listening at doors
She ran up behind him, right quick,
And before Daniel Donkey could even turn round,
She tapped him three times with her stick.

"Now then, Daniel Donkey, I've cured you I hope;
I've made both your ears very long,
So that, in the future you will not forget
That eavesdropping always is wrong."

And right to this day Donkeys all have long ears,
Of which they're ashamed, I've no doubt;
So let us be careful as careful can be,
And not go eavesdropping about.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Dick was refreshing Nell's memory as to how it came about.

"'Would you like to go to the auto show some afternoon, take dinner downtown and go to the theater in the evening?' was just what I said," declared Dick.

"You replied, 'I think it awfully dull standing around looking at machines all the afternoon, but the theater sounds good.' On the strength of that I got the theater tickets and went with Farley to the auto show. What can you object to in that?" and Dick sank into a chair with a gesture of despair. "I positively think sometimes that you are jealous of Farley," he added.

Nell tossed her head. "You will admit that you had such a good time with Jack that you came home late, and that we missed part of the first act and disturbed a whole row of people getting our seats. We wouldn't have gone at all if you hadn't bought the tickets, I suppose. And I had my heart set on having dinner downtown that night, too."

"Well, why didn't you accept my invitation, then? You just said you didn't care for the auto show. And when we come right down to the history of this stirring event, I asked you the second time if you would like to go down for an hour or two and see the three or four machines really worth seeing. I can't remember that you accepted this second invitation. You either turned it down or said nothing, I don't recall which."

"I know I didn't refuse, for I wanted to go. I thought that last proposition very attractive," said Nell, surveying the lost pleasure from the most attractive angle, the angle of the unattainable.

"Well, dear," and his tone was irritatingly patient, "not being a mind-reader, I did not know that, and I still had the idea that you did not care to go."

"You might have found out before the thing was all over," said his wife moodily.

"Lord! Nell, you are like Tennyson's brook. You 'go on forever.' If we could ever finish with a subject and consign it to oblivion it would be such a relief. Instead we spend precious hours hashing and rehashing some insignificant thing till my nerves are all of a frazzle," and Dick hung his hands over the chair arms as if reduced to pulp.

"Of course you are the judge of what is significant, and when enough has been said on the subject," retorted Nell. "I hope I can learn to regulate my conversation to please you in time," and she looked out of the window with an injured air. Dick closed his eyes wearily and silence fell.

"See here, dear," he finally said, reaching for her hand and pulling her onto his knee, "the trouble is that when a woman loves a man she loses her infinitesimal sense of humor, as far as the man is concerned."

"What do you mean?" asked Nell, prepared to combat the statement.

"A sense of humor is seeing things in proper perspective. Women make so much of trifles. Kipling hit it when he said of one of his heroines that 'she had no varioloid symptoms.'"

"I don't see what he meant," said Nell, beginning to believe that she was being made fun of.

"Simply this: varioloid is a lighter form of a serious ailment, and the heroine never took anything in any way but the most serious. Every grain of sand in the inclosure of her life was magnified and worried over. Try and see that particles of sand are not large and need not be irritating if you keep them where they belong," explained Dick.

"I suppose you think this affair of your going to the auto show with Farley after inviting me is a grain of sand," Nell said, looking soberly at him.

"That's just it. You are putting it in your eye and it has become very painful. It's such a very little thing, dear," and he drew her head to his shoulder. In the loving silence they smoothed all the wrinkles from their consciousness.

"Don't you want to get your work and let me read to you?" he asked after a time.

Household Hints

PUMPKIN DELICACIES

Pumpkin Timbales—One cup stewed pumpkin; add to it the yolks of two eggs, a little salt and pepper and a little grated nutmeg. Then beat whites (beaten stiff) into this mixture and put in molds or custard cups. Bake twenty minutes. Serve plain or with a creamy sauce.

Pumpkin Fritters—Sift together one cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon ginger, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder. Beat two eggs, add to one cup milk, then stir in one cup cooked pumpkin. Add this to dry ingredients so as to form a batter; beat light. Put in one tablespoon molasses or sugar. Bake as you would any griddle cakes.

Pumpkin Muffins—Sift together all dry ingredients; two cups flour, one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder. Beat two eggs and add two-thirds cup milk, then add one cup stewed pumpkin. Make a batter of it, then add one-fourth cup melted butter. Beat well and turn into greased pans. Bake twenty minutes.

CANNING AND PRESERVING

Pepper Pickles—Cut the stem cap from green peppers, remove seeds, put peppers in strong salt water, let remain three or four days. Then chop cabbage and onion (one onion to each good head of cabbage) fine; put two tablespoons salt to each cabbage, mix well and let it drain for a short time to get rid of extra juice. Now put in two tablespoons sugar, mix well and stuff peppers with mixture. Shut your hand around the pepper pod and stuff it as full as you can—press the cabbage down hard; when full, tie a soft piece of cabbage leaf over top of pepper to keep cabbage in. Fill and pack peppers small end down in a crock, put a clean white cloth over peppers and a plate over the cloth, so pickles cannot float. Now cover with cold cider vinegar; keep them cool. They will be ready for use in two weeks. They are very fine and, if well filled, you can slice them round ways of the pepper when you serve them. Of course remove the piece of cabbage leaf when you serve them.

Delicious Jelly and Marmalade from a 15-cent basket of quinces—Wash quinces, cut out all imperfections and core, but do not pare. Cut in small pieces, cover with cold water and boil until fruit is tender; drain in jelly bag over night. Do not squeeze bag, as the jelly will be clearer. Measure juice and boil ten minutes. Skim and add a little less than cup for cup of granulated sugar; boil until a little in a saucer will jell—usually ten or fifteen minutes. This will make six glasses of beautiful, clear jelly. Now take contents of bag, add more cold water and boil until smooth, add the grated yellow rind and juice of three medium-sized oranges. Measure and add cup for cup of sugar and boil until desired thickness. This will make three pints and three glasses of marmalade.

THE TABLE

Potato Soup—Three medium-sized potatoes; peel, boil and mash fine. Stir into one quart hot milk, thicken with two level tablespoons flour and four of butter stirred to a cream; add salt, pepper and a little minced parsley. Boil until creamy.

Beefsteak Rolls—Cut round steak into pieces three by six inches. On each piece lay a thin strip of bacon. Salt and pepper. Roll up with bacon inside and tie firmly with a string. In the frying pan have hot bacon fat and sear the rolls over quickly. Then cover with boiling water and let boil fifteen minutes. Then cook slowly several hours. An onion fried with it gives a delicious flavor. When rolls are done remove to platter and remove strings. Thicken gravy, first straining it, if you have browned the onion with it.

Cheese Toast—Cut bread as for toasting. Toast one side, then butter the other side and cover with cheese cut very thin or grated; now put back in oven and brown. Simple but very tasty.

HATRED FOR U. S. STILL GROWING

So Declares Miss Janet Richards in Her Seventh "Public Question" Talk.

WAR COMPLICATIONS

German Aim Is to Starve the English—No Excuse for Lusitania to Fly United States Flag for Protection.

"There is less danger of our being at war with Japan than there is of our being involved with her ally Great Britain," said Miss Janet E. Richards in her seventh talk on "Public Questions," in the Hartridge Auditorium, yesterday afternoon, before a large and select audience of women.

Miss Richards' talk dealt primarily with the recent war zone declaration of the Germans. She also read a number of editorials from the leading newspapers and periodicals of the day on the subject, discussing each.

In part, she said:

"On February 18 the German Admiralty's proclamation goes into effect, and all ships belonging to merchant marine, whether enemies or neutral, which are found within the war zone drawn by the German Admiralty around the British Islands, will be destroyed, without any guarantee of the salvage of cargo or passengers. The war zone covers the entire English Channel and high sea waters around Great Britain. These waterways have been neutral for 300 years, and naturally a great cry of protest arises.

"There really was no need of the Lusitania having raised the U. S. flag for protection, as the message distinctly said 'no action would be taken until February 18, but after that date things would be uncertain, and the destruction of an American vessel by the Germans in the war zone would lead to serious complications.'

"The great antagonism between England and Germany is one of the principal reasons for the issuance of the declaration. The former buys articles from America and confiscates articles ordered by Germany, naturally Germany says, 'I am going to convert these waters into a war zone, and after the 18th of this month I shall extend my warfare and destroy all ships of commerce.' The main view of the Germans is to starve the English. The natural resources of Great Britain are limited, while Germany is a great agricultural country and has been saving and preparing for this war for a long time. England's great estates are used for hunting deer by the noblemen. One progressive Britisher recently said: 'England could not feed her population for more than three weeks without importation.' Germany has food supplies for three years.

"Germany says it is a violation of neutrality to raise the flag of a neutral nation over a belligerent ship. Each side deals in reprisals to the other, and, putting ourselves in the position of peace maker, we incur the hatred of the German and British press. Hatred for us is growing everywhere.

A world government was urged by Miss Richards, and President Wilson was the man she hoped would take the responsibility of the work, being the best fitted for the position.

Miss Richards also read the five resolutions adopted at the recent conference in Washington which constituted the platform on which every American should stand, urging the public to do away with the hyphenated American.

SANITY TEST FOR MAN WHO ADVERTISED FOR A WIFE

Action in the case of the State against Carmon Ritzo, of Plainfield, who pleaded non vult to a serious charge preferred against him by Chief Kiely two weeks ago, was postponed by Judge James C. Connolly in the Union County Court of Quarter Sessions yesterday. The authorities intend to inquire into his mental condition before passing sentence.

While employed as an orderly in Muhlenberg Hospital he attracted some State-wide attention by advertising for a wife in the Plainfield newspapers. He was arrested by Detective Sergeant Maurice Higgins following a long investigation.

EXCHANGE FUND GROWS WITH EACH DAY'S MAIL

More Contributions Received This Morning—Smaller Sums Welcome.

Contributions or pledges of $10 each to make it possible to keep up the work of the Woman's Exchange continue to come to the Daily Press office, in the campaign for $1,000 for the cause. Thirty dollars more was received this morning, the contributors being O. T. Waring, Mrs. John Lefferts Ludlum and Mrs. Walter Scott. This makes the total to date $335.

While the campaign was originally started with an idea of getting 100 people to contribute $10 each, the directors of the Exchange are now urging that sums in any amount be turned in. They realize that there are many friends of this worthy work who do not feel that they can give quite so much, but are willing to help the cause along with smaller sums, and any person wishing to make a contribution, no matter how small, will find that it is welcomed.

The list to date is as follows:

Mrs. C. W. McCutchen	$25
"A Friend"	$20
W. L. Smalley	$10
George S. Clay	$10
Mrs. R. A. Claybrook	$10

JAIL SENTENCES FOR TWO LOCAL THIEVES

Harry Griffen and His Youthful "Pal" Convicted in County Court.

Found guilty in the Court of Quarter Sessions at Elizabeth, yesterday, on indictments charging them with looting several stores in the business section of Plainfield, Harry P. Griffen and his "pal," Jacob Overland, an eighteen-year-old local boy, were given sentences of six months each in the Union county jail. It was alleged that Griffen and Overland met in the Elizabeth jail while serving short terms for larceny and conspired to commit depredations at the store of the Singer Sewing Machine Company and the James A. Laurie store in the business section.

The two were arrested by Detective Sergeant Higgins, of the local force, an ash marked overcoat leading to the identification of Griffen. The two were living at the boarding house of Mrs. Joseph Penz, at 145 West Second street, and Mrs. Penz also alleged that they stole chickens from her coop and after killing and dressing them, sold them back to her. Overland is a Plainfield boy who has given the local police considerable trouble and has several times been found guilty of larceny.

MEMBER OF LOCAL FIRM HONOR GUEST AT BANQUET

James J. Higgins, one of the members of the undertaking firm of J. J. and C. A. Higgins, of this city, and who is a member of the Elizabeth Board of Works, was the guest of honor at a dinner tendered him in the Hippodrome Hall last night. More than 200 persons were present.

The speakers were General Dennis Collins, Mayor Mravlag and Walter B. Timms.

WAR QUESTION DISCUSSED.

The Polish Falcons held a meeting Wednesday night in the John Sobelski Hall on East Second street. Routine business was discussed and it was voted to have free entrance into the society for the next two months. A sum of $31.35 was sent to the national headquarters in Chicago for the benefit of the Fatherland, and the war situation was discussed.

CRAFTS-SHOP AT GLEN GARDNER

Intended for Employment of Tubercular Patients at State Sanatorium.

TRADES TO BE TAUGHT

George A. Rutherford, of the Adirondack Cottage Sanitorium, Engaged as Instructor—Dr. F. J. Hughes Member of Board of Managers.

Upon one of the garden spots of New Jersey, in the highlands of our State, at an elevation of about one thousand feet above sea level, there will be formally opened on February 10, a Crafts-shop for diversional or recreational employment for the patients of the State Sanatorium for Tuberculosis. The sanatorium is located nearly on the top of Mt. Kipp in the Musconetcong range of mountains, about two miles from the village of Glen Gardner. No more favorable location for a sanatorium of this class could be found in the entire State, than this beautiful place, overlooking a rich, fertile valley, and possessing peculiarly varied climatic advantages.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Knox Taylor, of High Bridge, chairman; Dr. Samuel B. English, resident superintendent; Walter Kidde, of Montclair; Professor Elmer H. Loomis, of Princeton, and Dr. Frederick J. Hughes, of Plainfield, all members of the board of managers of the sanatorium, had had the project in view for some time. After making a care-

JOHN COOLEY WEDS MISS HELEN O'KEEFFE

Ceremony Performed by Father Bernard M. Bogan Yesterday Afternoon.

Miss Helen Josephine O'Keeffe, daughter of Mrs. Annie O'Keeffe, of West Fourth street, and John Cooley, of Fritz place, the borough, were married at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's church. Father Bernard M. Bogan performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

Miss Elizabeth O'Keeffe, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid, and William E. Day, Jr., the best man. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, James A. O'Keefie. Both the bride and the bridesmaid were gowned in white broadcloth with hats to match, the former carrying white roses and her sister carrying pink roses.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bridal party and a few friends went to New York for a wedding supper. Later the couple left for Atlantic City, where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside on West Fifth street. Both the bride and bridegroom are well-known in this city. Mrs. Cooley is a graduate of St. Mary's Parochial School. Mr. Cooley holds a position with the Saurer plant of the International Motor Company in this city.

"BUDDY" PAGLIUCA TO DANCE AT JUNIOR FAIR TONIGHT

Charles Pagliuca, Jr., better known on the vaudeville stage as "Buddy," will be the entertaining feature at the Jr. O. U. A. M. fair in Sebring's Auditorium this evening. A program of songs and dances which will please everyone will be given by this youthful vaudeville artist.

Jr. O. U. A. M. members from out of town attended the fair last evening. The fair will close tomorrow evening with a big dance. There will also be dancing this evening. The fair has been well attended throughout the week, and will be a financial success.

LINCOLN DAY BANQUET.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12.—The elaborate annual banquet of the Lincoln Centennial Association will take place tonight. United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman will be the principal speaker. Others will be Archbishop John J. Glennon, of St. Louis; Gutzon Borglum, the New York sculptor; Bishop Samuel Fallows, of Chicago, and United States Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois. Members of the Legislature and State officers will be guests at the dinner. The event is annually the biggest gathering of prominent men in Illinois, and this year the memory of Lincoln will draw an unusually large and distinguished group to the banquet board.

HONEST "ABE" LINCOLN
is the subject of the contributed editorial for this week, which will be found in this issue of The Daily Press, instead of that of tomorrow, as is customary. The author is Judd Stewart, a well known North Plainfielder, and an authority on the subject he discusses.

COUPLE WEDDED A HALF CENTURY

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Titsworth Dunn Celebrate Notable Event.

REUNION OF RELATIVES

Husband a Civil War Veteran and Home Decorating Scheme Was Set Off With American Flags in Honor of Lincoln's Birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Titsworth Dunn, of 151 Grove street, are today celebrating their golden wedding anniversary at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Alfred K. Willett, of 28 Craig place. During the day out-of-town relatives arrived and a reunion was held. The home was decorated in yellow and white in one room and another was bedecked with American flags, in honor of Lincoln's birthday, and because Mr. Dunn is a veteran of the Civil War.

Mr. Dunn was born in New Market and has always lived in this section of the State. When the Civil War broke out, Mr. Dunn enlisted in Company E. Fifteenth Regiment of New Jersey Volunteers, and served throughout the entire conflict. He took part in many battles and was with General Sheridan in the Shenandoah Valley campaign, where he was wounded and remained in the hospital for some time. In 1865, just at the close of war, Mr. Dunn married Miss Alletta A. Schenck, of Neshanic, and as the war was over did not return to his company. The couple lived in Neshanic, where they had a farm until thirty-one years ago, when they moved to the borough, where they have lived ever since.

Coming to this city Mr. Dunn was appointed a letter carrier at the local postoffice and held that position for seventeen years, when he retired. The couple had four children, of whom two are living, Mrs. Willett and Mrs. J. Albert Love, of East Orange.

The aged couple have been receiving congratulations all day and tonight there will be a reception. About one hundred invitations have been issued for the affair and tonight a delegation of local postmen will be present. A large anniversary cake, with the date, 1865-1915, in orange icing, was cut and the couple were presented with a guest book for registering names and today's guests signed their names. Vocal and instrumental music were features throughout the day and Mr. and Mrs. Dunn, who are still very active, joined in the happy festivities of the occasion.

COMMITTEE FIXES OFFICIALS' SALARIES

City Clerk MacMurray to Receive $1,200 and Geo. Wean $600 Per Annum.

The councilmanic finance committee, following a conference last night, fixed the salaries of City Clerk James T. MacMurray and George B. Wean, the city stenographer, as well as those of Miss Mary Dunham and Miss Ora Bush, the assistant in the office of the city clerk and street commissioner. The recommendations of the committee will be presented at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council Monday night, when they will undoubtedly be approved and passed upon through a resolution.

Mr. MacMurray is to continue to receive $1,200 a year, and he will turn all fees which have heretofore been paid to him over to the city treasurer. Mr. Wean's salary will be $600 a year. Previously he received an additional $200 from Mr. MacMurray, who also paid half of Miss Dunham's salary of $70 a month and Mish Bush's salary of $30 a month.

Hereafter the city will pay Miss Dunham and Miss Bush their salaries, and their services will be available for the Mayor or any other official for city business, including the tax collector, street commissioner or any of councilmanic committee. The new arrangement will go in effect after Monday night's meeting.

SANTA CLAUS HAD BUSY CHRISTMAS

Plainfield's Community Xmas Brought Happiness to 871.

INSTITUTIONS VISITED

Where the Funds Came From—Articles Distributed to the Needy—Committee Extends Thanks to the Public.

The Community Christmas Committee, which had charge of the distribution of good cheer during the holidays, presents the following interesting resume of its work:

Plainfield's Community Christmas brought happiness to 871 children who would otherwise have waited in vain for Santa Claus. Children and grown-ups at Bonnie Burn to the number of 132, and all the old people at the Industrial Farm were also added to the Old Saint's list. Anxiety was relieved in 50 families by the gift of a 24-pound bag of flour. A half a ton of coal added comfort to fifty other families, while 51 pairs of blankets went to 47 families as lasting remembrances of the season of "loving and giving."

Just as each of us in his own family tries to see that the children get what they want most, so the Community Santa Claus had an extra soft spot in his heart for the children. He took care of 171 more this year than last and every one of the 871 children received either 2 shirts or 2 pairs of stockings, a pair of gloves,

DESERTS BABY AFTER HUSBAND'S SCOLDING

Reprimanded for Devotion to "Movies" Young Mother Flees From Home.

Admonished by her husband, William Chamberlain, for her inveterate devotion to motion pictures, Mrs. Mabel Chamberlain, twenty years old, of 669 West Third street, left the family home Monday night under the pretense of going to a local playhouse, and has not been since seen or heard from by relatives. She is the mother of a two-year-old child and her husband has become greatly alarmed over her continued absence.

Mr. Chamberlain appealed to Chief of Police Kiely this morning to aid him in the quest for his young wife and everything possible is being done by the local authorities to ascertain her present whereabouts. She is described as being five feet, three inches in heighth, and when last seen wore a blue skirt, white shirtwaist, plaid coat, plush hat and cloth-top shoes.

Although he has frequently spoken to her about her devotion to the "movies," Mr. Chamberlain says that his wife appeared to be unable to give up the habit and his reprimand Monday night led her to leave the house in an angry frame of mind. Her husband could give the police no information concerning her possible hiding place. Before her marriage Mrs. Chamberlain was Miss Mabel Leppert, of New Brunswick.

REFORATORY TERM FOR BOY WHO ROBBED UNCLE

Harry Lewis, a youth who stole $60 from the pocket of his uncle while the latter was visiting at his home on West Third street, was sentenced to the Rahway Refomratory by Judge James C. Connolly in the Court of Quarter Sessions yesterday. Lewis has been a wayward youth for a number of years and has given the local police much trouble.

In referring to the charge Prosecutor Stein said that he thought the defendant was mentally unbalanced and advised a sanity test. He has caused Warden Dodd considerable trouble while awaiting trial in the Union county jail.

GET JAIL SENTENCES.

Tony Annetti, a Plainfield Italian who was found guilty on an indictment charging him with stabbing a conductor on a Main Line trolley car, near Terrill road, in the Court of Quarter Sessions, was sentenced to one month in the county jail by Judge James C. Connolly yesterday. Dominick Bosco got five months in the county jail for carrying a concealed weapon in Westfield.

DEATH OF MRS. JULIA MORRIS VANBUREN

Well Known Resident Passes Away at Her Home on Central Avenue.

Mrs. Julia Morris Van Buren, aged 82 years, widow of General Daniel T. Van Buren, died last night at her home on Central avenue following an illness of two months with complications incident to infirmities of advancing years. Her failing health had prevented her from taking an active interest in many things which for many years had occupied her time and attention, and her presence had been greatly missed by those with whom she had been associated.

Mrs. Van Buren was a devout Christian, and was beloved by all who knew her for her unusual womanly qualities. She was devoted to her home and family, as well as her church and several charities in which she was so deeply interested. During the thirty years she had resided here she was a communicant of Grace Episcopal church, and also gave much of her time to Muhlenberg Hospital, being a member of the Woman's Auxiliary for several years, and the Plainfield Exchange for Woman's Work, of which she was a director. She worked unceasingly in the interest of both the hospital and exchange.

Mrs. Van Buren was born at Belleville, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ludlum Morris, and when she was 11 years of age she removed to New York with her parents, and remained there until she was married to General Van Buren. The latter was graduated from West Point in the class of 1847, and served with distinction in both the Mexican and Civil Wars. The family removed to this city about thirty years ago. General Van Buren died in 1890. He was a native of Kingston, N. Y.

There survives two sons, Edward M. Van Buren and Laurens H. Van Buren, both of this city. Mrs. Van Buren was the last of a family of seven children, six sisters and one brother.

The funeral will be held at Grace church, Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, and the burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

MANY DANCE FOR HOSPITAL BENEFIT

Large Number of Guests Attend Affair at Plainfield High School.

The second of the series of dances for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital given at Plainfield High School, last night, was a great success, more than three hundred people being present to enjoy the affair. The details were arranged by a large and efficient committee and several features added to the pleasure of the dancers.

The music, which was also a feature, was furnished by Frantzen's orchestra, of New York, and the program was an unusually popular one, including many encores. The dancing began about 9 o'clock and continued until 1 o'clock this morning.

During the evening a buffet supper was served in the basement of the school, the committee arranging an appetizing "spread" for the guests. Mrs. William B. Tyler was chairman of the general committee, and she was assisted by Mrs. Daniel Runkle, Mrs. Lewis E. Waring and Mrs. R. Story Rowland.

There was a large floor committee comprising C. Ames Brooks, James M. Charles, R. Story Rowland, Arthur M. Collens, Henry Brower, John Valiant, Murray Rushmore, Mellick Tweedy, J. Hartley Mellick, Harvey Fisk, William B. Tyler, Daniel Runkle, Lewis E. Waring, Thomas M. Day, 3d, Walter L. Righter and Charles L. Dana, Jr.

CHILD, ALMOST NAKED, FOUND ON PARK AVENUE

Clad only in a thin shirt that covered part of her body, a three-year-old girl was found standing in front of the Plainfield Trust Company this morning by Fred Ivamy, shivering from the effects of the cold. She was unable to tell where she lived and after being wrapped in a banklet at the Queen City Hotel was taken to police headquarters.

Later in the morning Mrs. Kearns, of 152 North avenue, notified the authorities that her little daughter was missing and identified the child as belonging to her. The infant got out of bed and started on a trip through town without the knowledge of her parents.

EXPECT FALL OF PRZEMYSL SOON

All Inhabitants Have Left and Food Supply of Garrison is Reported Low.

KAISER PLANS STRIKE

Will Seek Vulnerable Spot in Russian Line Other Than at Warsaw—Turks to "Relieve Egypt of British Tyranny.

Petrograd, Feb. 12.—The capture of Przemysl is believed to be imminent. The city, which has been invested by the Russians virtually since the collapse of the first Austrian advance on Lemberg, is abandoned by its population, and only the Austrian garrison remains. The food supply is reported to be exceedingly low. The fall of the city to its besiegers is expected to bring to Austria a realization that she cannot much longer endure the struggle and it is believed will precipitate overtures for a separate peace.

Attempts are being made by the Germans to cajole Russian soldiers to surrender by offering them seven roubles for their rifles and assuring them work at good wages. Packets of proclamations have been thrown from aeroplanes which read: "We will feed you well and treat you well."

The advance of the big new German army in Eact Prussia before which the Russians are slowly retiring, is regarded in military circles here as a futile attempt to force the Grand Duke Nicholas to check the Russian force in North Poland, which is pressing against the frontier of West Prussia toward Thorn. A curious incident is reported from the Carpathians. During a recent engagement there a young Russian officer left the trenches hurriedly and without weapons. Rushing forward at the head of his men he met an Austrian officer who drew his revolver. The Russian grappled with him and seized his revolver, whereupon the Austrian smilingly offered his captor a white object and said: "My visiting card." The Russian brought the Austrian into camp a prisoner.

Amsterdam, Feb. 12.—After a hurried consultation with General Von Moltke, Count Von Aulenberrg and other members of the German General Staff, the Kaiser again left last night for the eastern front, says a despatch from Berlin. The Kaiser is impressed with the need for immediate and effective action against the

FANNY CROSBY, BLIND HYMN WRITER, DEAD AT 95 YEARS

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 12.—Fanny Crosby, well-known blind hymn writer, died today at her home in her ninety-fifth year.

Eight thousand hymns of Christian worship sung in Protestant churches throughout the world are the work of Fanny Crosby. No one since the days of Charles Wesley or Isaac Watts has made anywhere near as large a contribution to the gospel song book as she.

DEMONSTRATIONS GIVEN BY BOY SCOUTS OF TROOP 7

Members of Troop 7, Boy Scouts of America, gave interesting and instructive demonstrations of practical work at a scout meeting at Bethel chapel, last night. Demonstrations were given in making fire without matches, hand and head bandaging, fracture of the leg, pyramid building, signaling and resuscitation. The scout drum corps also entertained.

William D. Murray conferred second class honors on Miles Barnes, William Jeter, Richard Nichols and Andrew Hunt and Lyan Shipley was sworn in as a tenderfoot. A collation was served during the evening and a general good time was enjoyed.

PRESIDENT MAY POSTPONE TRIP TO PACIFIC COAST

Washington, Feb. 12.—President Wilson's trip to San Francisco and his speaking engagements through the country on the way back may be cancelled. At the White House today officials said that the entire plan is unsettled on account of the possibility of an extra session of Congress. It was broadly hinted that the necessity for an extra session would be deemed by the President sufficient reason for postponement of his trip to the coast and cancelling temporarily his speaking engagements.

MRS. E. L. FIELD REVIEWS WORK OF BOY SCOUTS

In a letter, dated February 10, which Mrs. E. L. Field, of Fourth street, who will remove to New York soon, has written to Mayor E. B. Latham in connection with the money and property of the disbanded organization of Boy Scouts, which she had in her possession as treasurer. She enclosed a check for the balance of the organization, $93.03, and states that the property is being handed him herewith. Mrs. Field states that she had endeavored to call meetings of the parents to wind up the affairs of the organization, but that they failed to respond or appear at the meetings.

As to the disposal of the money she does not favor the advanced suggestion of having it divided among the cadets, but thinks on account of most of the money having been raised at the Cadet Fair, that the citizens of the borough are entitled to the benefit of the money and she therefore proposes that it be donated to some worthy or charitable cause, that is, unless there is some prospects of the cadets reorganizing again.

Her report showed receipts of $145.43, $121.66 of which was the proceeds of the fair. Disbursements were $56.40, leaving a balance of $93.03.

The handsome banner made from white silk, trimmed with gold cording and lettered "Dusel Troop," in gold, which Mrs. Field presented to the cadets at the time they held their fair, is not considered by Mrs. Field the property of the disbanded organization. She feels by reason of the organization having disbanded that the banner reverts back to her, the donor. It is not Mrs. Field's intention to keep this banner, however, so she has presented it to her son, Stanley, who will give it as a souvenir to Scout Commissioner E. J. Dusel to use as he may see fit.

John Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Rogers, of First street, has the measles.

Fred Oakley, of Front street, has recovered from a recent indisposition.

Miss Florence Smalley, of Jackson avenue, who has been ill with muscular rheumatism for the past three days, was better yesterday.

John Fedderman spent Wednesday in New York in connection with a large real estate deal which he expects to close by tomorrow night.

Bertram Walters, the eight-month-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Hervey Walters, of Washington avenue, who underwent an operation in the Muhlenberg Hospital four weeks ago for mastoiditis, is getting along very nicely.

J. J. de Castales, of Washington avenue, has been ill with the grip for the past two weeks.

Scout Commissioner Edward J. Dusel is suffering with a heavy cold.

Mrs. A. L. Barton, who is spending the winter in New York, is spending a few days at her home on Front street.

Miss Helen Williams, daughter of Councilman and Mrs. H. D. Williams, has been ill since Monday with the measles.

The Smith Auto Express has carted in the neighborhood of 150 tons of coal for the Dunellen Coal and Supply Company to Muhlenberg Hospital at Plainfield during the present week.

WILL CONTINUE BUSINESS.

John P. Hill, the proprietor of the Park Hotel stables, which will be sold at public auction on Monday morning, has rented the barn in the rear of the Linke building and was fixing it up yesterday. Mr. Hill will continue to engage in trucking and the answering of hack calls as heretofore.

J. Russell Garretson, of Front street, is planning to spend the week-end in visiting friends up through Pennsylvania.

COMPLETE 24-TON PRESS.

The Hall Printing Press Company has completed another 24-ton press for a concern on William street, New York city. The huge press will be carted in pieces to New York next week by the Smith Auto Express. It will probably take three or four trips to completely transfer it.

JESSE ROGERS TO ENTERTAIN.

Jesse Rogers, of First street, the well-known prestidigitator, will present an original act of legerdemain, this evening at the first annual turkey supper of Lincoln Chapter affiliated with the International Correspondence School to be held in the Kandy Shope on Front street, Plainfield.

SELLS GROCERY.

Mrs. James Whitney, of Green brook, has sold her grocery business to J. M. Newmark, formerly of Plainfield. Mrs. Whitney is desirous of living in Plainfield and she is endeavoring to exchange the three-acre farm which she is now occupying for property in that city.

Recorder David S. Campbell, who has been ill, was able to take advantage of the fine weather of yesterday and spent the major portion of the day out of doors.

MISS GARRETSON ENTERTAINED.

Miss Lillian Garretson, of Front street, entertained a party of friends at her home Monday evening. The guests of honor were two gentlemen from upper New York State, whom Miss Garretson met while on her summer vacation. The evening was pleasantly passed with music and playing 500, after which refreshments were served.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The members of the Sunshine Weavers met in the lecture room of the Baptist church last evening and sewed for the foreign and domestic missions. At the close of the meeting the girls enjoyed a banquet, during which plans were made for the conducting of a candy booth at the musical in the church next week for the benefit of the home department.

A business meeting of the vestrymen of the All Saints Episcopal Church was held at the home of the senior warden, H. P. Robinson, last evening.

The Misses Kyte, of Martine avenue, entertained the members of the Belgian Society at their home yesterday afternoon, when a profitable time was spent in knitting socks and making other things for the Belgian war sufferers and soldiers.

Miss Dorothy Beeken, a student at Vassar College, is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Beeken, of North avenue.

The committee in charge has completed the program for the musical to be held in the Baptist church on next Wednesday evening.

Most of the local members of the Westfield Golf Club enjoyed a dance held in the clubhouse last night.

Fanwood Township schools will receive the sum of $6,743.30 as the share of the State school tax for 1915, which is practically the same as last year.

As the social that was to have been given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church has been indefinitely postponed, the members of the Epworth League are making arrangements for the holding of a valentine social in the church on Monday evening.

The weekly meeting of the Altar Guild will be held in the Episcopal church tomorrow.

A number of books have been added to the Fanwood Library. A book on "Sunday Schools," by the Rev. Oscar S. Michaels, pastor of the Episcopal church of this place, has been put on the shelves, with several written by George Battell Loomis, now dead, the only author who lived in the borough.

About twenty couples enjoyed the third of the series of dances under the auspices of the Sunshine Club, which was held in the Fanwood firehouse last night. Music was furnished by Victrola, and all the latest steps were danced. The club plans to continue the holding of at least one dance a month until spring.

Work has been completed on the erection of a two and a half story shingle and stone dwelling for a New York man by the name of Houn, and the owner moved in a few days ago.

Miss Grace Thompson has been entertaining Miss Katherine Phelps, of Westfield, at her home on Martine avenue.

Rutgers Neilson, superintendent of the Fanwood Township Sunday School Association, has called a meeting of the executive board for the evening of February 20, in the lecture room of the Baptist church. It is still undecided as to when the religious canvass will be held here, as there has not been any meeting since the movement was started at the "open meeting" held in the Episcopal church last month.

One of the pleasing social events of the season was a dance given at Excelsior Hall last night, under the patronage of Mrs. E. L. Hand, Mrs. Frank Weldon, Mrs. William Ward and Mrs. William Buckley. The decorations were pink. There were guests present from Cranford, Rahway, Westfield, Plainfield and this place. A feature was the music by an orchestra.

YOUNG WOMEN'S MISSION BAND GIVE A TEA

A delightful tea was given by the members of the Young Women's Missionary Band, at the home of Mrs. T. R. VanZandt, on Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. E. D. Young sang several selections in a very pleasing manner. Miss Margaret Mead gave a very instructive talk on her recent travels through China and illustrated her address with curios and photographs.

She also spoke of the "tract society" formed in China and illustrated a great many of the parables which even the missionaries in that country knew nothing about. At the conclusion of her talk tea was served and a social hour enjoyed. Mrs. George Mantz and Miss Winifred Rapalje poured tea and Miss Helen Smith, Mrs. Leslie Crane, Miss Helen Crane, Miss Ethel VanZandt and Mrs. William Carhart served.

MRS. MICHAEL RIMMER HOSTESS OF CHURCH GUILD

The Women's Guild, of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, and a number of friends were entertained at a home "dime" social by Mrs. Michael Rimmer, of Essex street, yesterday afternoon. There were about forty present in all and several hours were passed in the enjoyment of a program of music and recitations, after which refreshments were served. Those contributing to the program were Miss Elizabeth Forster, who gave two vocal selections; Mrs. Charles Chapman, recitations; Mrs. Kate Rose, piano selections, and Mrs. William Grannatt, readings.

Mrs. Rimmer was assisted in receiving and serving by her sister, Miss Julia Praed; her daughter and daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Slorah and Mrs. Frank Rimmer; Mrs. James Chamberlain and Mrs. Augustus W. Corbin. The Women's Guild has an affair of this kind every alternate Thursday, and the proceeds are added to the general fund of the Church of the Heavenly Rest.

FIRE COMMITTEE FIXES DATE OF NEW ENGINE TEST

At the meeting of the fire and buildings committee of the Common Council, last night, Saturday afternoon, February 20, was fixed upon as the date for the official test of the new triple combination Nott engine, which arrived a few days ago. The engine is now located at No. 4 house at Netherwood, and between now and the date mentioned it will be given a series of trial runs under the direction of a demonstrator from the manufacturing plant at Minneapolis, Minn. The latter will also instruct several of the firemen in the intricacies of the machine with the idea of preparing them for drivers. The test will be under the supervision of Chief T. C. Doan, and will be witnessed by fire chiefs and other officials from nearby towns.

Several other business matters were taken up at the meeting last night, one of which was the acceptance of Harold Gloak's resignation as a hose man in the department. Edward Mosher, Jr., was appointed a member on probation to fill the vacancy.

PLAINFIELDERS ATTEND ALFRED ALUMNI BANQUET

The annual meeting and reunion of the New York Alumni of Alfred University was held in the Hotel McAlpin, New York, last night. Covers were laid for one hundred and the gathering included Mr. and Mrs. John B. Cottrell, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Titsworth, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Rogers, Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Clawson, Mr. and Mrs. Asa R. Randolph, of this city, and Oscar Ellis, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Bound Brook.

John B. Cottrell [illegible] of the association and acted as toastmaster at the banquet, introducing the following speakers: Booth Colwell Davis, president of Alfred University; Dean James Earl Russell, of the Teacher's College; Dr. Heinrich Stern, of New York; Leonard W. Gibbs, of Buffalo; Frank Sullivan Smith and Judge Hatch, of New York. During the evening several vocal solos were given by Mrs. Edward A. Kendrick. A pleasing feature of the gathering was a souvenir placed at each plate in the form of a photogravure reproduction of the campus at Alfred University.

HEAVENLY REST MEN'S CLUB PLANS MEMBERSHIP CONTEST

The Men's Club, of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, held a meeting in the parish house, last night, and made arrangements for a membership campaign, it being decided to award a fountain pen to the member bringing in the largest number of new workers between now and June 1.

At the next meeting of the organization, to be held February 25, George Pentecost, of Warren chapel, one of the officers of the Federation of Men's Clubs, will deliver a short talk to the members, taking for his subject a topic of interest to the church organization. Following last night' disposal of accumulated routine business the members enjoyed a social hour.

BEST MAN AND BRIDESMAID MARRIED AFTER A WEDDING

Miss Grace Stodd, daughter of Mrs. Lydia Stodd, of 934 West Fourth street, and Daniel J. Duhamill, of Central avenue, were married by Father B. M. Bogan in St. Mary's church rectory yesterday afternoon, the ceremony being witnessed by only the immediate relatives of the couple. John C. Stavish acted as best man, and Miss Mary Rose Walsh was bridesmaid.

Following the Duhamill-Stodd ceremony, Mr. Stavish and Miss Walsh were married in St. Mary's church by Father Bogan. The newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Duhamill, acted as best man and matron of honor. Both couples left on a short honeymoon trip, after which they will reside in this city.

$5 FOR A CLEAR CONSCIENCE.

Howard Power, colored, who has been a fugitive from justice since the police raided Albert Rodgers' pool room on West Third street several months ago, gave himself up last night, and when arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning was fined $5. He left the court room declaring it was worth $5 to again possess a clear conscience.

NEW Y. M. C. A. SECRETARY WAS TENDERED RECEPTION

Alfred Estes, who will take up his new duties as general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. to succeed Herbert E. Parker next Monday, was tendered a farewell reception at his present charge in Atlantic City, Wednesday night, the affair being arranged by the association of that place. He has been an officer of the Atlantic City Y. M. C. A. since the middle of December and his work has been subjected to the highest of commendation from those who have come in touch with him.

As a token of esteem in which he is held the boys of the association presented him with a gold watch fob, set with a diamond. Mr. Estes is a native of Orange, and went to Atlantic City from the Newark association.

DENTAL SOCIETY MEETING.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Plainfield Dental Society, in the Rose Tea room of Truell Inn, Wednesday night, Dr. L. H. Waugh, of New York, gave an address on "The Treatment of the Root Canals." It was followed by a general discussion. During the business session it was decided to fittingly observe the fiftieth anniversary of Dr. Frank Wells as a practicing dentist and a committee was appointed to make all arrangements. It is composed of Drs. Stelle, Clawson, Whitford and B. F. Leonard. At the next meeting in March, Dr. Seymour, of the University of Pennsylvania, is expected to make an address.

DUTCH ARMS SOCIETY TO GIVE A MOCK TRIAL

The Dutch Arms, of Trinity Reformed church, will present a mock trial next Monday night in the Sunday-school rooms. Rehearsals have been held for some time past and the finishing touches has been put on. The trial is known as the great pumpkin case and is entitled "Guff vs. Muff." There are about thirty persons in the cast. It will be "ladies' night" and an evening of fun is assured all who attend.

HONEST "ABE" LINCOLN.

Infrequently and at irregular intervals there is born on earth some one character whose influence is felt for all succeeding time, and as the years pass by the deeds of mediocre men and of men of temporary prominence are forgotten and only these supermen are remembered. A few such characters have combined the wisdom of the sage with the leadership of great armies. Moses, Marcus Aurelius and our own Lincoln are names connected with great battles but remembered by reason of their wisdom and philosophy, and of these who can say that in the years to come Lincoln's homely honesty, wise patriotism and simple manhood will not have influenced the progress of the race more than either of the others. The law giver Moses is remembered not as the military leader, but as an intellectual leader; Aurelius' battles are forgotten, but his philosophy is treasured by all peoples and although Lincoln has been dead but half a century his memory is sacred not on account of his political or military position, but because of his inherent honest manhood and the wisdom of his utterances.

The fame that attaches to leadership in battle is ephemeral when compared to the fame that comes from honest thoughts; as the race progresses it draws farther and farther away from the physical and nearer to the intellectual and spiritual. A great thinker is called an intellectual giant and one intellectual and spiritual leader of men impresses posterity and influences the progress of civilization infinitely more than a host of military geniuses.

The physical man is nearly akin to the beasts and as man is lifted into the intellectual world he widens the gap between man and brute creation and approaches the spiritual.

A careful study of Lincoln's life as described by his associates, his thoughts as shown in his letters, speeches and State papers, shows him to be one of the few truly great men that the race has produced. In the midst of a war that was a far greater tragedy than the present European conflict, just as fraticide is more horrible than homicide, the greatness of Lincoln's soul showed forth in his sacred second inaugural when he said:

"Fondly do we hope, fervently do we pray, that this mighty scourge of war speedily pass away."

Never in history has a ruler under such awful circumstances spoken with such love and kindness.

For over a quarter of a century I have been collecting the books, pamphlets and other materials about this great man, until now I have such a very large library about him that it would be an easy matter to occupy this space so kindly offered by the Press with incidents of his career many perhaps unknown to many readers, but it seems to me that his meeting with Jeff Davis in the Black Hawk War, the fact that Columbia University conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws and many such insignificant, although perhaps interesting, incidents should be put aside, and in honoring his birthday we should focus our attention on the quality that made him immortal. Primarily his greatness came from that which everyone may have—HONESTY! Honesty of purpose! Honesty of heart! Honesty of thought! Honesty of action! Honesty deep seated and in every fibre of his being—honesty combined with a marvelous spirituality! He honestly swore to uphold the Constitution and although it led him into a war that all but broke his heart he never swerved from his honest oath of office. His simple honesty dictated the matchless Gettysburg speech. All that he said at Gettysburg he honestly felt. His letter to the father and mother of Col. Elsworth and also the letter to Mrs. Bixby expressed the honest feelings of a sympathetic heart. On this anniversary of his birth, which will be remembered and honored so long as this nation endures, we should all hark back to his honest prayer that "Government of the people, by the people and for the people should not perish from the earth."

SUPPER AT WARREN CHAPEL A SUCCESS

More Than Three Hundred People Enjoy the Annual Affair.

The annual turkey supper of Warren chapel, held under the auspices of the Women's Missionary and Aid Society, was held last night in the chapel, and was a success. There were 375 suppers served during the evening, and the society realized a substantial amount, which will be placed in the mortgage fund of the church. Mrs. J. O. McKelvey was the general chairman of the entire affair, and she was assisted by several large committees.

The church was decorated with American flags and on every table was a bouquet of red artificial roses and neat menu cards appropriate for Valentine's Day. During the evening an entertainment was given consisting of instrumental and vocal music. Those who assisted in the entertaining were Bert Harold, Whitney Frazee, Elmer Wheeler and Arthur Mosher. John Richards rendered two bass solos.

In connection with the supper, Emerson E. Parvin, teacher of the Men's Bible class, of Warren chapel, entertained his class in the men's parlors. There were forty-two present, and during the evening speeches were made by Howard Williams, of this city; Charles Place, of the borough; Mr. Parvin and Rev. J. O. McKelvey. Mr. Parvin was presented with a handsome silk umbrella, the presentation being made by the president of the class, George Zimmer.

The committees follow: Upstairs dining room, Mrs. E. G. Smith, assisted by Mrs. William Newmiller, Mrs. Alfred Causbrook, Mrs. William Bacon, Mrs. A. J. Stiglitz, Mrs. H. Mitchell, Mrs. E. PRIZE FOR BEST GOWNED GRADUATE

But According to the Conditions Cost of Dress Cannot Exceed $5.

William D. Murray, of this city, addressed the North Plainfield Parent-Teacher Association yesterday afternoon on the subject of "Sex Hygiene in the Home." Mr. Murray's talk was very interesting and helpful to parents. There was a large atendance present, and the business meeting was presided over by the president of the association, Mr. M. H. Ewart.

During the meeting the subject o presenting a banner to the valedictorian of the senior class was discussed, but it was voted not to give it. The association also announced that a $5 prize will be given to the girl of the senior class having the most attractive dress, the cost not to exceed $5. Refreshments were served by a committee composed of Mrs. L. B. Van Camp, Mrs. D. E. Hutchinson and Mrs. A. S. Olmsted. At the next meeting, which will be held March 25, Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, formerly of Scotch Plains, will speak.

TWO NEW MEMBERS FOR N. P. H. S. GIRLS' "FRAT"

The Mu Eta, a girls' "frat" of North Plainfield High School, held a meeting last night at the home of Miss Bertha Keller, of Harrison avenue.

The Misses Theresa McCullough and Dorothy Lee were admitted to membership. After the initiation of the new members the remainder of the evening was spent in the enjoyment of music and singing. Those who were present are the Misses Margaret Brizzle, Edith Dalley, Bertha Keller, Gladys Sullivan, Marian Avery, Dorothy Lee, Theresa McCullough, Marian Blair and Murielle Dunham.

MASQUERADE BALL GIVEN BY GESANG AND TURN VEREIN

The annual masque ball, of the Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein Society was held in Saengerbund Hall last night, and proved to be a very successful affair. There was a large attendance and the unknown guests had much fun before it was time to unmask. Prizes were awarded for the best and most comical costumes and they were awarded to Charles Halloway and Miss Sophia Wick, respectively.

Music was furnished for dancing by Halbfoerster's orchestra, of Elizabeth. The committee in charge was J. Schlick, chairman; G. Bremmer, secretary; J. Bauer, treasurer; C. Meyer, Jr., H. Theis, B. Vali and H. Klinsman, Jr.

GERMANS HAVE HELD UP VAN DYKE'S MAIL

Government Sends Sharp Protest Against Stopping of Letters to Legation.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Sharp protest against German interference with mail matter directed to the United States Legation at The Hague was sent by this government today to the Berlin Foreign Office. Secretary Bryan refused to make public the text of the note, but it was said to put the matter squarely up to the German Government.

The note, it was said, was dispatched at the personal request of American Minister Van Dyke, who complained that the German censors were violating his diplomatic rights by opening detained official communications from Washington.

WOMEN'S GUILD GIVE A VALENTINE SUPPER

The Women's Guild of Holy Cross church held a successful Valentine supper last night in the parish house from 6:30 to 8:30 o'clock. There was a large attendance. Music was furnished throughout the evening, and there were booths, with valentines and candy for sale. The place was attractively decorated.

The committees in charge of the supper were as follows: Supper, Mrs. Samuel Townsend, Miss Miriam Carmen, Mrs. Frank Ball, Mrs. Fred Ball, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Charles B. TEMPLE BAPTISTS WIN C. E. BANNER

Had 88 Per Cent. of Members at Rally of Societies Last Night.

The mid-winter rally of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Societies was held in the Temple Baptist church, last night, with a large representation from the ten societies. The attendance banner, which is given for the largest per cent. of members present at the rally, was won by the Temple Baptist society, which had a percentage of 88. Hope chapel was second with 73 per cent.

Theodore Day, of Dunellen, president of the Plainfield Union, presided at the meeting. It was decided that the various societies should take charge of the Rescue Mission meetings every month, the Trinity society taking the first on February 26. It was announced that the State convention will be held at Elizabeth on October 6, 7 and 8, and there will be a county rally in the First Presbyterian church, of Roselle, on February 25.

Rev. E. C. Conover led the devotional exercises, and Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson offered prayer. Miss Ruth D. Sadler, of the First Presbyterian church choir, rendered solos and there were also selections by a male quartet. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong was the main speaker of the evening and he took for his subject, "C. Y. Z." The first letter stood for Christ, the second for youth, and the last for zeal. The societies represented were First Baptist, Seventh-Day Baptist, Trinity, Hope, Evona chapel, Netherwood Reformed, Temple Baptist, Park Avenue Baptist, New Market Seventh-Day Baptist and Dunellen Presbyterian.

TRINITY CHURCH SUBJECTS.

"Impressions of Billy Sunday," by request, and "Why I believe in the Bible," are the subjects on which Rev. John Y. Broek will preach this Sunday at the Trinity Reformed church—the former at the morning service and the latter in the evening.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Adv.

CREAM FOR CATARRH OPENS UP NOSTRILS

Tells How To Get Quick Relief from Head-Colds. It's Splendid!

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness, no struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh will be gone.

GOVERNOR FIELDER SIGNS PAPERS FOR EXTRADITION

Governor Fielder has approved the papers for the requisition of Richard Von Krebs, the alleged lunatic now under arrest in New York and wanted in New Brunswick for the murder of Annie Riehl. Von Krebs shot both the woman and her husband while they were standing in their front yard. He escaped and was arrested a few days ago in New York city.

Von Krebs was an inmate for a time of the State Hospital for the Insane in Trenton. He was involved in a litigation in the courts and upon one occasion he threatened Peter Backes, the lawyer, with death. Later he called upon Mr. Backes and told him he had changed his mind.

ALLEGED LOCAL SWINDLER NOW IN THE COUNTY JAIL

In default of $2,500 bail fixed by City Judge William G. DeMeza, C. Edward Schumacker, of this city, has been committed to the Union county jail at Elizabeth to await extradition to Queens County, New York, where he is wanted for an alleged land fraud. Since being taken into custody by Detective Sergeant Higgins the prisoner has steadfastly denied any knowledge of the fraud and claims he is being "railroaded."

Schumacker will remain in the county jail for a thirty-day term during which Governor Charles S. Whitman, of New York State, will make application for requisition papers to Governor James F. Fielder.

W. R. TOWNSEND TO SPEAK AT CIVIC CLUB'S MEETING

Tax Collector William R. Townsend will speak at the meeting of the West End Civic Association in the Washington School Auditorium tonight, giving some "inside information" on the routine of work in the city departments with which he is affiliated. Mr. Townsend is familiar with the city government "machinery" and his talk will be of great interest to those active in the promotion of civic welfare in Plainfield.

Indications point to a large attendance at tonight's session of the West End body, which is probably the most active civic organization in the community, and several important questions will come up for disposition.

FREE ACRES AMUSEMENT CLUB GIVES A DANCE

The Free Acres Amusement Club of Berkeley Heights, has just given its first dance and supper at the residence of Bolton Hall, 33 East Sixty first street, New York. This winter entertainment is a new feature though Free Acre Folk keep up quite a social life all the season with their monthly meetings, preceded by a dinner followed up a "stand up" supper.

Miss Lois Hall received the guests Mrs. Furth, of Newark, and Mrs. Fisher, of Orange, showed some new dances, and Mrs. Moore, of Brooklyn made even those dance and enjoy themselves, who did not know how. About half of the Fair Acres residents attended. John F. Tucker, secretary of the Twilight Club, has offered his residence for the next meeting.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Frank Mobus, of Watchung avenue, is able to be out again after having been confined to her home for the past few weeks by illness.

Mrs. C. P. Leggett, of Madison avenue, fell down the stairs in her home on Monday, breaking her leg, and is now detained at the hospital. An X ray of the fracture was taken yesterday.

A. I. Codington, of Osborn avenue is able to return to his work after having been confined to his home for the past six weeks by illness.

Mrs. Garret Van Winkle, of Madison avenue, is confined to her home by illness.

COULD NOT PROVE CASE.

Elizabeth, Feb. 12.—The State Board of Pharmacy was unable to prove yesterday, in the Elizabeth District Court, that John Rubin employed a non-licensed drug clerk in his Plainfield store, so Judge David rendered judgment for the defendant. A similar judgment was rendered in favor of Mr. Rubin November 16. The board brought its action through Attorney-General John W. Wescott, and there were many witnesses.

PRINCETON ALUMNI DAY.

Princeton, Feb. 12.—Lincoln's Birthday was set apart at Princeton University for the observance of Alumni Day, and special exercises were held, in which the many visitors took part. At 11 this morning President John G. Hibben delivered the annual alumni address, and other speakers were heard. President and Mrs. Hibben will give a reception to the alumni this afternoon at 5.

RESUME OF STUDY BOOK GIVEN FOR HOPE SOCIETY

The Young Women's Westminster Guild, of the Crescent Avenue church, entertained the members of the Hope Chapel Women's Missionary Society, at the latter's annual gathering in the chapel, yesterday afternoon, with a resume of the study book, "The Child in the Midst." It was interpreted by the members of the Guild attired in the native costumes of married women of various nations who told of their home life to the American missionaries, represented by Miss Mary Rushmore. The different recitals were given with the elaborate detail of the book and proved to be one of the most interesting portrayals the society has ever enjoyed. Visitors were present from Missionary Societies in Warren chapel and the Crescent Avenue church, the total attendance being quite large.

At the conclusion of the resume, refreshments were served by the society's standing committee, of which Mrs. William Doig is chairman. The society will hold its annual business meeting on March 11, at which time officers will be elected and the year's work reviewed.

WAR NEWS

Russians, and a new movement against some part of the line less well defended than that before Warsaw is expected.

A proclamation has been issued by the Sultan in which he states that he is only awaiting favorable moment to end the British tyranny over Egypt, says a despatch from Constantinople. The Sultan is convinced that his armies will deliver Egypt from the foreign yoke.

The Austro-Hungarian army has pierced the Russian line in the Stryj region, and the Russians are retiring to Skile, in Galicia, on the railway line across the Carpathians from Stryj to Munkacs, says a despatch from Vienna. The Austrians have erected entrenchments in the region of Dukla pass, and have repulsed Russian attacks on their positions there.

Eight million tickets, each good for two kilograms of bread a day for one week, will be issued by the Bread Organization Committee in Berlin on February 22, says a despatch from the German capital. Without one of them no diner at a cafe or hotel will be entitled to have bread served to him, even though he pay for it. The tickets will not be transferable and will be good for but one week, for which they will be dated.

The paper, Der Tag, publishes an article by Herr Erzberger, an influential member of the Reichstag, in which he declares that neutral nations have no rights nor claim in any manner regarding Germany's blockade of England's ports, but that Germany might concede something in their favor, says a despatch from Berlin. The blockade, Herr Erzberger declares, is no splendid bluff but is in bitter earnest. No modification of it can be obtained by threats or protests, but solely by the free will of the German government.

London, Feb. 12.—Messages received at Amsterdam from Louvain, within the German lines, tell of big movements of German troops through that city in an easterly direction. It is believed that in the last few days considerable forces have been withdrawn from the western front, which will be sent to the battle lines opposing the Russians.

Paris, Feb. 12.—The War Office issued the following statement this afternoon:

"Between the sea and the River Somme there were artillery conflicts yesterday. To the south of La Boisselle the enemy exploded a mine at the end of one of our trenches, but we nevertheless maintained our position. From the Somme to the Argonne there is nothing to report except the bombarding of Tracy LeMont by the enemy, and the activity of our artillery in the sections of Rheims and Soissons.

"In the Woevre there was rather vigorous cannonade on the part of the Germans before Rambucourt and the woods of La Hazelle. We bombarded the railroad depots of Thiaucourt and Arnaville."

Falmouth, Eng., Feb. 12.—Captain Brewer, of the American steamer Wilhelmina, states that he was ordered to take his vessel to a British Channel port. The steamer is now in charge of the customs authorities, but it must undergo repairs before it will be possible to leave.

Rome, Feb. 12.—The captain of the Dutch steamer Tabanan, who has arrived in Italy, reports that he passed through the Suez Canal immediately following the battle between the British and the Turkish army of invasion, and counted 200 bodies in the water, the greater part of them were apparently those of Germans. He says that four British torpedo boat destroyers were slightly damaged.

THE DAILY PRESS IN DUNELLEN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by Edward Pennock, druggist and newsdealer.

Jack Todd's Elk pinners copped two games last night, in the regular matches of the house tourney and advanced up a peg in the team standings. The two victims of this aggregation were the Hoyt team, which is still the undisputed holder of last place, and the C. Woolston five, which falls to a tie with the Causbrook aggregation.

Todd and Hoyt came together in the first game, which was won by 12 pins. Captain Hoyt was handicapped in only having one other player present, which made it necessary to give averages. Demler, Allen and Wescott were given marks of 145, 125 and 115 respectively. Todd made a 155, while Hoyt scored 166.

In the second game, Sabocker, of the winning team, registered 198, while Harry Blimm hit for 193.

Bowling on their own alleys in an Elks' League match, last night, the members of the Rahway quintet were able to take two games out of three from the New York team. The pinning, as a rule, was ordinary. In the first contest the home team was there for 864 and had an advantage of sixty-four pins. The visitors came back strong with 924 and won by a big margin, the Rahway bowlers stopping at 782. In the final and deciding contest there was an interesting battle, the Rahway team, with 893, having an advantage of twenty-four pins. Starr rolled 220 for the New Yorks and A. Westphal was there for 200.

ODD FOR RUTHERFORDS ON THEIR HOME ALLEYS

Two games out of three went to the credit of the Rutherford bowlers last night in an Elks' League match on their own alleys with the Hoboken pin knights. The first contest was a close affair, the Hobokens, with 867, having an advantage of ten pins. In the next game the home five advanced to 918 and won by fifty-eight pins. The final and deciding game saw the Rutherfords total 906, and this was sufficient to give them the game by twenty-nine pins. Miller was high for Hoboken with 220 and 211, having an average of 206-2. A. Walter rolled 204 for the Rutherfords and Clark was there for 203.

YALE NAVY GETS BUSY.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 12.—The Yale crew candidates were called out for active service yesterday by Captain Bayne Denegre. There was an eager crowd of candidates on hand, for the Yale navy has extended its plant to attract. New buildings mark the most elaborate lot of rowing equipment in any American college. The navy now has a handsome dormitory for the varsity, accommodating some 30 oarsmen, a large farmhouse adjacent for the freshmen, a clubhouse at the wharf, and finally a new boathouse capable of housing and repairing all the shells. During Easter vacation, the first and second varsity eights will go to Philadelphia, meeting the University of Pennsylvania on the Schuylkill on Saturday, April 3. Yale has lost the main dynamo that propelled the varsity eight to victory last year, through the graduation of Jack Appleton. Henry Coe, of New York, has the call for the stroke oar to replace him. Sturtevant, Sheldon, Meyer and Adams are veterans sure of places, and there is much other excellent material this year.

FORM A SECOND TEAM.

The Boys' Club of St. Joseph's church held its monthly meeting in the basement of the church last night. Purple and white were the colors voted upon to be the official emblem of the club. A second team to represent the church was organized, with Harold Meade as manager.

Y. M. C. A. GAME.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team will meet the Sewaren Five on the association court tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock. The locals are now playing at their best and are looking for their fifth straight win.

COUNTY SCHOOLS ARE CLASSED FOR MEET

Plainfield High Athletes Will Compete in Seventh Group.

Union county High Schools have been placed in the various classes for the High School relay race to be held under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia on April 23 and 24. There are twenty classes, following the championship group in which the best and largest High Schools are put. Brooklyn Manual Training School is the only one in this vicinity.

Plainfield is ranked third among Union county schools, being placed in class 7, after New Brunswick H. S., which is in class 5, and Rahway High School, which is between the two, in class 6. The local institution has never sent a representative team to this meet, which is an unusual affair, but may do so this year, as track work has been taken up to a greater extent than ever before.

Four other Union county schools have been listed as follows: Class 8, Elizabeth; class 16, Westfield, Somerville, Bound Brook.

HOPE TOOK A FALL OUT OF ANTLER BASKETEERS

The Hope Chapel Juniors defeated the Antlers, last night, in an exciting game of basketball, the final score being 20 to 11. Schlick and McAfee starred for the Hopes, while Barton and Connors tallied the largest number of baskets for the Antlers.

PEERLESS "MEL" SHEPPARD QUITS THE SPORT GAME

Melvin W. Sheppard, hero of the 1908 Olympic games, and for ten years America's best middle distance runner, said yesterday he has run his last race. The peerless Mel was limping around New York as the result of a fall at the N. Y. A. C. games on Wednesday night. Sheppard ran his first race on August 2, 1902.

His victory on that occasion was the forerunner of many successes in championship events. At the London Olympics Mel won the 800 and 1,500 meter races. Perhaps his greatest achievement was in running 1,000 yards in 2:12 2-5.

WON PINOCHLE TITLE.

In a pinochle contest held last night for the championship of the Reminiscent Club, D. J. Galbraith and George Houseman, the West End team, defeated Frank J. Shattle and I. B. Kogon, the East End team. A total of seven games was played and the winners won four. Shattle and Kogon have held the laurels for the past five months, and their defeat last night was a great surprise to the members of the club.

PITCHER A STRONG MAN.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 12.—George A. Davis, of the world's champion Boston National League team, who pitched a no-hit, no-run game last year, broke all strength test records at Harvard College yesterday. Davis, who is a student in the Law School, scored 1,437 points. The best previous mark was 1,381, set by Huntington R. (Tack) Hardwick, the football star.

Roselle High School Squad Shows Some Classy Playing.

The Plainfield High School girls' team played the girls' five of Roselle Park High School, at Roselle Park, yesterday afternoon, tasting a 36 to 11 defeat. The local team was allowed but two field goals during the contest, Miss Crane and Miss Norris each caging one. Both of these goals came in the first half.

Miss Hale and Miss Holland, for Roselle Park, dropped the ball in from all angles, caging five apiece in the first half, which ended with a score of 22 to 8.

OPEN CRAFTS-SHOP

ful study of similar workships in private sanatoria throughout the country and after thorough investigations by Dr. English, it was decided to open the shop for trial of limited compass, capable of growth as the plan becomes developed. The committee were fortunate in securing at the outset George A. Rutherford, an instructor from the Adirondack Cottage Sanatorium, founded by Dr. E. L. Trudeau, at Trudean, New York, the pioneer station in tuberculous work in America. It was here that the first workshop of this nature was established, and Mr. Rutherford, in taking charge of the shop, brings experience which will insure success from the start. He has had some ten or twelve years' experience in this work, and being himself an ex-patient he has the welfare of the patients at heart, and takes a keen interest in the development of such workshops. The industries first taken up will be basketry, leatner work, and picture framing, and it is hoped to add a number of others in the near future. The present housing is in a recently converted "shack" which has been provided with sliding glass windows. Benches and tables are also provided and the room is heated. A nearly complete line of tools for present needs has been supplied.

So many of the patients have expressed pleasure at the prospect of a workshop where they will find relief from the dull tedium of "taking the cure" that it is hoped to find a ready response from them to the facilities which have been provided to afford recreation in various pleasant employments. Materials may be had at about cost, to be made up under free instruction, and useful articles will be made either for the patient's own use or for sale for his benefit.

This is probably the first workshop of this kind to be opened in any State Institution for Tuberculosis in the United States, and its outcome will be watched with much interest by those who are laboring for better "atmosphere" or encouraging surroundings in the anti-tuberculous crusade. Especially those who have in mind the possibilities of this branch of sanatorium treatment will be attracted by the innovation. Only those who have passed through the experience can know what relief and pleasure it is to "have something to do" during the enforced idleness of months, and sometimes years. The effect upon the patient is salutary both from a physical as well as a moral standpoint.

This measure has the endorsement of Governor Fielder, and, indeed, it was partly due to his interest as well as the untiring energy of the committee, in collaboration with Dr. English that the "Craftshop" has been made possible here.

There is something more in the idea of this shop than just what the work will bring; it is purposed to further add to present sociability at the sanatorium, bringing the patients together in a way to have common interests under pleasing surroundings; where an occasional talk on art and good craftsmanship may be given, and where the best literature on the subjects in hand will be found, which will be made clear to the patients through explanations and illustrations by the instructor.

Dr. Samuel B. English is to be congratulated in adding this bit of administration work to the roster of his many duties, for not only does he show his devotion to medical work but he demonstrates the wider usefulness of the professional man in aiding in social welfare of his patients, who soon after arriving at Glen Gardner learn to appreciate the value of sympathetic and helpful care of the institution.

SANTA HAD BUSY XMAS

2 toys, a box of candy and an orange.

At the Industrial Home everyone was remembered. Mrs. Alice S. Rowland, who had charge of arrangements there, said recently: "Never before have the old people at the home had such bountiful cheer as this Christmas brought them. Seventeen dollars was raised and in addition, kind friends supplied candy, ice cream, fruit, and last but not least, a couple of shining silver quarters for each man's empty pocket. The money raised was spent in supplying warm felt shoes, aprons, a dress, and a few longed-for articles for one who has been bed-ridden many years.

"My only regret is that those who so kindly contributed could not see the happiness of these poor old people."

Bonnie Burn had a real celebration arranged so that not only the patients who were able to be up and about, but those in rolling chairs and many in bed were able to enjoy the pleasure.

Thanks to the generous check from the Community Christmas Fund and $15 from the Anti-Tuberculosis League, of Elizabeth, presents and candy were provided for 132 persons. No one was forgoten, and patients, nurses and attendants all shared in the big tree's bounty.

Dr. Buchanan again played the role of Santa Claus, and distributed the gifts.

The Hartridge School and Mrs. William G. Cooke cared for the children, sending toys and warm clothing and stockings full of goodies. There was singing of carols, and a beautiful Christmas story told by Dr. Zelie.

Mrs. William A. Coddington gave great pleasure by her singing, and the Committee desires to thank her and Miss Drake, her accompanist, Dr. Zelie and Dr. Buchanan, and all the rest who did so much to make the celebration a success.

Our Community Christmas was a success because so many people remembered that "it is not what we give but what we share, for the gift without the giver is bare." Those who made it possible gave not only of their money ($1,424 was received), but just as generously of their time at the season when everyone is sure to be more than busy with his own Christmas shopping. While Mrs. William B. Tyler and her committee were purchasing the gloves, toys, etc., for the children, and Mrs. William H. Murray and her committee were getting the surprises ready at Bonnie Burn, Walter H. P. Veysey and his distribution committee were finding forty automobile owners who wanted to lend their cars for use as Santa Claus sleighs. Even school children caught the spirit and sent in stockings full of good things.

James R. Joy, Leslie R. Fort and Charles H. Frost, as the publicity committee had the task of letting Plainfield know about the Community Christmas plans so that as many "good neighbors" as wished could help. Church bulletins, pulpit notices and a private mailing card were used. The Daily Press and The Courier-News generously opened their columns and put the force of their editorials squarely behind the enterprise. The publicity committee felt that its expenses must be kept at the minimum and secured special donations to cover printing and mailing the post-cards.

Those who worked hardest for the Community Christmas are the ones most anxious to have another. The days have passed when those who are warm and comfortable can shut themselves up and forget the others. At Christmas at least we cannot help remembering that all men are brothers.

NEW BRUNSWICK PARTY ATTENDED LOCAL AFFAIR

A delegation of young people from New Brunswick came to this city, last night, to attend the indoor carnival of the Knights of Columbus, making the trip by auto bus. They were given a cordial reception by the general committee of the Knights' affair and after enjoying the various attractions until 11:30 adjourned to the home of Miss Mary Wilson, of West Third street, in company with a number of local friends. Two hours were spent in a social way, after which refreshments were served. The New Brunswickers started for home about 2 o'clock this morning.

Those in the visiting party were the Misses Mary Griffen, Kathryn Garrigan, Helen Moore, Madeline Travers, Julia Sullivan, Mary McElhaney, Arintha Hyle and Elizabeth Griffen and the Messrs. Thomas Short, Raymond Lyons, Raymond White, Timothy Kane, Frank Devine and George Thomas. The Plainfielders who assisted Miss Wilson were Miss Mary Duncan, Miss Ellen Regan, Miss Nora Regan, James Lynch and "Al" Brynairski.

Scattered Sport Gleanings

Apparently brimming over with some sort of good news which he seemed anxious to expel from his system one of our West End sport notables blew into the office this morning and tapping a basketball writer on the shoulder exclaimed in a breezy fashion:

"Say, old top, that certainly was some come-back you handed those Westfield High School kids the other day. Serves them good and right for swelling up and thinking they could beat a team of Plainfield girls in basketball."

"Thanks," said the sport writer, grinning from ear to ear and moving restlessly in his seat.

"Do you know, I can't see where those Westfielders are in it with Plainfield," continued the enthused visitor. "You certainly are on the job with that live-wire column and that story must have made the Westfielders beat it to cover."

"Glad you think we handed to them," replied the scribe, at the same time attempting to get back to the typewriter keys.

"Say, you've got that Westfield crowd beaten to a frazzle when it comes to writing, why they coudn't touch your argument with a ten foot pole," went on the praise distributor.

"We think so ourselves," was the retort of the scribe who had begun to get restless.

The reporter was starting for a door under the pretense of an urgent errand when the visitor called out: "Say, "June," old scout, you don't happen to have a pair of passes for the Plainfield-North Plainfield game this afternoon, do you?"

"Just gave the last one to the kid that sweeps the office," replied "June.

In ten seconds the visitor had placed a block and a half margin between himself and the Press office.

Perth Amboy High School feminine forces claim they are ready to meet any basketball rival from a grammar school contingent up to the squad that represents North Plainfield High School. Placing the boroughites at the top-most point of the comparison indicates that the "Canadian" reputation has reached Middlesex county.

Basketball fans of the thirty-second degree variety began to swarm to the Plainfield High School gym at 1 o'clock this afternoon. During the time intervening before the arrival of the combatants several articles of wearing apparel were added to the Belgium relief stock by the knitting societies represented.

Speaking of knitting as a pre-exhibition pastime we're reminded of the story related by the West End sage. He claims to have acted as escort for a red-blooded American who fell asleep in the bleachers while nibbling peanuts and waiting for two baseball teams to warm up and slumbered throughout the whole nine innings. Two bits for an hour's snooze.

Battin's defeat over the Westfield High School basketball players Wednesday afternoon came as a rude jolt to the Mt. Ararat performers who aspire to run next to Plainfield for county honors this year. The suburbanites will have to do better than this against the Elizabethtans this afternoon in order to make us believe that they really have a live-wire contender down that way.

Plainfield High School's baseball schedule for next year is one of the longest that school has ever had and the new schools added to the athletic list of the red and blue are of high calibre. We're rather doubtful, however, as to whether or not the Plainfielders can keep up a pace of three and four contests a week.

LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE GIVE PLEASING RECEPTION

The reception and dance held under the auspices of Plainfield Lodge, L. O. O. M., last evening in the lodge hall was attended by about three hundred members and guests. Professor Glover furnished the music for dancing. The guests were entertained with a demonstration of modern dancing by Thomas Duffy and Miss Walsh, of North Plainfield, and "Buddy" Pagliuca pleased the audience with a program of songs and dancing. Refreshments were served at 12 o'clock, after which dancing continued until after 1 o'clock. The hall was decorated in red, and a big electric sign, "L. O. O. M.," was included in the decorations.

The committee comprised: James T. McCarthy, chairman; Charles Pagliuca, Harry Dahl, John Dahl, George Egel, Frank Ferraro, Dominic Muldowney, Nelson Johansen, Martin Whelan, Frank Caruso, George Hall, G. Freese and George Beggo.

The neighborhood prayer meeting, under the auspices of the Park Avenue Baptist Church, will be held tonight at the home of Mrs. E. V. Waldo, 134 Crescent avenue.

CRANFORD GRADE CROSSING MUST GO

Public Utility Commissioners Orders Removal of Danger Point.

Trenton, Feb. 12.—The dangerous grade crossing on the Central Railroad of New Jersey at Union avenue, Cranford, Union county, was ordered removed today by the State Board of Public Utility Commissioners. After a hearing and an exhaustive investigation, the State Board finds that the crossing is both dangerous to public safety, and public travel is impeded thereby, and that on these grounds it comes within those grade crossings which should be removed under the Fielder grade crossing act of 1913. The Board directs that the crossing shall be eliminated according to a plan proposed by Cranford township, which it is estimated will cost $420,000. Under the provisions of the Fielder act, this entire expense must be borne by the railroad company, except the cost of removing or relocating municipal water pipes, sewers, etc.

The Board will fix a date for a hearing upon the question of the time reasonably required in the execution of the plan for the removal of the crossing, and at the conclusion of this hearing will make its order in accordance with the conclusions therein reached.

Mrs. William Campbell, of Hillcrest road, has been visiting in New York city.

Skating has been very good on Burnhead Lake, on Valley road.

A representative number attended the parent-teacher meeting in the Watchung School last evening. President Mrs. Henry R. Kennedy presided. The educational lecture committee reported that lectures on "Poultry" and "Market Gardening" would be given in the school auditorium in the near future. Miss Harris told of her sewing class for twenty-six girls. A handsome new piano, purchased by the Board of Education through the efforts of the Parent-Teachers' Association, was very much admired. Albert A. Earley, principal of North Plainfield High school, gave a spledid address on "Education and the Kind of Education Individuals Should Have." After the meeting a half hour of old-time songs was enjoyed. Charles E Spier presided at the piano.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the North Plainfield Township Improvement Society plan to give a valentine lunch box dance in "the mill" tomorrow evening. The women are to furnish lunch for two, while the men are assessed a small sum. Invitations for friends of the members of the auxiliary may be obtained through the committee in charge.

M. Ramsey, of Princeton, will preach in the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Union church Sunday.

CHAPTER VII.

A Communication From Nathaniel Kingsnorth.

THE months that followed were the hardest in O'Connell's life. Strive as he would, he could find no really remunerative employment. He had no special training. He knew no trade. His pen, though fluent, was not cultured and lacked the glow of eloquence he had when speaking. He worked in shops and in factories. He tried to report on newspapers. But his lack of experience everywhere handicapped him. What he contrived to earn during those months of struggle was all too little as the time approached for the great event.

Angela was now entirely confined to her bed. She seemed to grow more spirit-like every day. A terrible dread haunted O'Connell waking and sleeping. He would start out of some terrible dream at night and listen to her breathing. When he would hurry back at the close of some long, disappointing day his heart would be hammering dully with fear for his loved one.

As the months wore on his face became lined with care and the bright gold of his hair dimmed with streaks of silver. But he never faltered or lost courage. He always felt he must win the fight for existence as he meant to win the greater conflict later—for liberty.

Angela, lying so still, through the long days, could only hope. She felt so helpless. It was woman's weakness that brought men like O'Connell to the edge of despair. And hers was not merely bodily weakness, but the more poignant one of pride. Was it fair to her husband. Was it just? In England she had prosperous relatives. They would not let her die in her misery. They could not let her baby come into the world with poverty as its only inheritance. Till now she had been unable to master her feeling of hatred and bitterness for her brother Nathaniel, her intense dislike and contempt for her sister Monica. From the time she left England she had not written to either of them. Could she now? Something decided her.

One night O'Connell came back disheartened. Try as he would, he could not conceal it. He was getting to the end of his courage. There was insufficient work at the shop he had been working in for several weeks. He had been told he need not come again.

Angela, lying motionless and white, tried to comfort him and give him heart.

She made up her mind that night. The next day she wrote to her brother.

She could not bring herself to express one regret for what she had done or said. On the contrary, she made many references to her happiness with the man she loved. She did write of the hardships they were passing through. But they were only temporary. O'Connell was so clever, so brilliant, he must win in the end. Only just now she was ill. She needed help. She asked no gift—a loan merely. They would pay it back when the days of plenty came. She would not ask even this were it not that she was not only ill, but the one great, wonderful thing in the world was to be vouchsafed her—motherhood. In the name of her unborn baby she begged him to send an immediate response.

She asked a neighbor to post the letter so that O'Connell would not know of her sacrifice. She waited anxiously for a reply.

Some considerable time afterward—on the eve of her travail and when things with O'Connell were at their worst—the answer came by cable.

She was alone when it came.

Her heart beat furiously as she opened it. Even if he only sent a little it would be so welcome now when they were almost at the end. If he had been generous how wonderful it would be for her to help the man to whom nothing was too much to give her. The fact that her brother had cabled strengthened the belief that he had hastened to come to her rescue.

She opened the cable and read it. Then she fell back on the pillow with a low, faint moan.

When, hours later, O'Connell returned from a vain search for work he found her senseless with the cable in her fingers. He tried to revive her without success. He sent a neighbor for a doctor. As he watched the worn, patient face, his heart full to bursting, the thought flashed through him what could have happened to cause this collapse. He became conscious of the cable he had found tightly clasped in her hand. He picked it up and read it. It was very brief. All it said was:

You have made your bed. Lie in it.
NATHANIEL KINGSNORTH.

Toward morning the doctor placed a little mite of humanity in O'Connell's arms. He looked down at it in a stupor. It had really come to pass—their child—Angela's and his! A little baby girl! The tiny, wail from this child, born of love and in sorrow, seemed to waken his dull senses. He pressed the mite to him as the hot tears flowed down his cheeks. A woman in one of the adjoining flats who had kindly offered to help took the child away from him. The doctor led him to the bedside. He looked down at his loved one. A glaze was over Angela's eyes as she looked up at him. She tried to smile. All her suffering was forgotten. She knew only pride and love. She was at peace. She raised her hand, thin and transparent now, to O'Connell. He pressed it to his lips.

She whispered:

"My baby. Bring me—my baby."

He took it from the woman and placed it in Angela's weak arms. She kissed it again and again. The child wailed pitifully. The effort had been too much for Angela's failing strength. Consciousness left her.

* * * * * * *

Just before sunrise she woke. O'Connell was sitting beside her. He had never moved. The infant was sleeping on some blankets on the couch, the woman watching her.

Angela motioned her husband to bend near to her. Her eyes shone with unearthly brightness. He put his ear near her lips. Her voice was very, very faint.

"Take—care—of—our—baby, Frank. I'm—I'm leaving you. God—help—you—and—keep—you—and bless you—for—your—love—of me." She paused to take breath. Then she whispered her leave taking. The words never left O'Connell's memory for all the days of all the years that followed.

Peg—Pure as a Mountain Lily.

"My—last—words, dear, the—last—I'll—ever—speak—to—you. I—I—love—you—with—all—my heart—and—my soul—husband! Good—goodby, Frank." She slipped from his arms and lay, lips parted, eyes open, body still.

The struggle was over. She had gone where there are no petty trencheries, no mean brutalities—where all stand alike before the throne to render an account of their stewardship.

The brave, gentle little heart was stilled forever.

* * * * * * *

And now Peg appears for the first time and brings her radiant presence, her roguish smile, her big, frank, soulful blue eyes, her dazzling red hair, her direct, honest and outspoken truth, her love of all that is clean and pure and beautiful—Peg enters our pages and turns what was a history of romance and drama into a comedy of youth.

Peg—pure as a mountain lily, sweet as a fragrant rose, haunting as an old melody—Peg o' Our Hearts comes into our story even as she entered her father's life, as the savior of these pages, even as she was the means of saving O'Connell.

And she did save her father.

It was the presence and the thought of the little motherless baby that kept O'Connell's hand from destroying himself when his reason almost left him after his wife's death. The memories of the days immediately following the passing of Angela are too painful to dwell upon.

They are past. They are sacred in O'Connell's heart. They will be to the historian.

Thanks to some kindly Irishmen who heard of O'Connell's plight, he borrowed enough money to bury his dead wife and place a tablet to her memory.

He sent a message to Kingsnorth telling him of his sister's death. He neither expected nor did he receive an answer. As soon as it was possible he returned to Ireland and threw himself once again heart and soul into working for the "cause." He realized his only hope of keeping his balance was to work. He went back to the little village he was born in, and it was Father Cahill's hands that poured the baptismal waters on O'Connell's and Angela's baby, and it was Father Cahill's voice that read the baptismal service.

She was christened Margaret.

Angela, one night, when it was nearing her time, begged him if it were a girl to christen her Margaret, after her mother, since all the best in Angela came from her mother.

O'Connell would have liked much to name the mite Angela. But his dead wife's wishes were paramount. So Margaret the baby was christened. It was too distinguished a name and too long for such a little bundle of pink and white humanity. It did not seem to fit her. So "Peg" she was named, and "Peg" she remained for the rest of her life.

Looming large in Peg's memories in after life was her father showing her St. Kernan's hill and pointing out the mount on which he stood and spoke that day, while her mother, hidden by that dense mass of trees, saw every movement and heard every word.

Then somehow her childish thoughts all seemed to run to home rule—to love of Ireland and hatred of England—to thinking all that was good of Irishmen and all that was bad of Englishmen.

"Why do ye hate the English so much, father?" she asked O'Connell once, looking up at him with a puzzled look in her big blue eyes and the most adorable brogue coming fresh from her tongue.

"Why do ye hate them?" she repeated.

"I've good cause to, Peg, me darlin'," he answered, and a deep frown gathered on his brow.

"Sure wasn't me mother English?" Peg asked.

"She was."

"Then why do ye hate the English?"

"It 'ud take a long time to tell ye that, Peggy. Some day I will. There's many a reason why the Irish hate the English, and many a good reason too. But there's one why you and I should hate them and hate them with all the bittherness that's in us."

"And what is it?" said Peg curiously.

"I'll tell ye. When yer mother and I were almost staarvin', and she lyin' on a bed of sickness, she wrote to an Englishman an' asked him to assist her. An' this is the reply she got: 'Ye've made yer bed. Lie in it.' That was the answer she got the day before you were born, and she died givin' ye life. And by the same token the man that wrote that shameful message to a dyin' woman was her own brother."

"Her own brother, yer tellin' me?" asked Peg wrathfully.

"I am, Peg. Her own brother, I'm tellin' ye."

"It's bad luck that man'll have all his life!" said Peg fiercely. "To write me mother that—an' she dyin'! Faith I'd like to see him some day—just meet him—an' tell him"— She stopped, her little fingers clinched into a miniature fist.

JUST VELVET AND A PLUME.

A dashing shape of black velvet which would be becoming to many types is sketched here. It is unusual in line partaking somewhat of the English walking shape, but much idealized. It depends for its trimming on a single white ostrich plume gracefully springing from the centre of the crown.

SCHOOL BOARD PROTESTS.

Columbus, O., Feb. 12.—Protests against any reduction in the tax rates that will tend to reduce the revenues of the common schools of the State were voiced at today's meeting of the Association of School Board Members. It is feared that proposed reductions might cramp the school appropriations, and the school heads suggest that the educational interests be allowed to name the tax assessment for schools. The members from various cities believe the State should aid the city as well as the rural schools, and a suggestion was made that a teachers' pension fund be established to separate teachers from the operation of the workmen's compensation act.

REPUBLICANS BOOST DICKEY.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 12.—The big banquet of the Association of Young Republicans, held tonight in celebration of Lincoln Day, will be the occasion of the launching of a senatorial boom. Walter S. Dickey, of Kansas City, will be put before the young Republicans as the logical man to succeed Senator James A. Reed, when the latter retires in 1917. Enthusiasm reigns in the camps of the Republicans, who foresee the chance for a Republican member of the Senate from Missouri. The supporters of former Governor Herbert S. Hadley are aroused over the boom, for Hadley had been picked by the old-line Republicans for the office. Incidentally, Thomas J. Akins has hinted that he would like another whirl at the Senatorship, and several other candidates have cropped up.

Animal Jingles

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

BY ALICE CREW GALL

Mother McGrew and Emily Eel.

I'll tell you the story of Emily Eel
And when I am through I am sure you will feel
So sorry for Mother McGrew, you'll declare
That she did just right about Emily's hair.

Each morning the children of Mother McGrew
Had their hair brushed and combed, as all nice children do;
And none of them cried except Emily, and she
Had tantrums, and acted disgracefully.

She wouldn't stand still, but would hop all about
And scream, "You are trying to pull my hair out!"
And then she would cry just as loud as she could,
Till Mother McGrew felt like spanking her good.

There wasn't a reason for her acting so,
For Mother McGrew didn't hurt her I know,
But she kept right on till she finally got
A good severe lesson, which helped her a lot.

One morning when she'd been unusually bad,
(I'd hate to say how many tantrums she'd had)
Old Mother McGrew exclaimed in despair,
"You do not deserve to have one single hair!"

And Miss Emily stopped crying just long enough,
To say, "Well I wish you would cut the old stuff."
And sure as you live old Mother McGrew
Said, "That is exactly what I'm going to do."

So she tapped her three times with magical stick,
And Emily's head became p-e-r-f-e-c-t-l-y s-l-i-c-k.
She felt awfully bad, when she looked in the glass,
And wished for her hair, but 'twas too late, alas!

And to this day you can't find an Eel anywhere,
In all this wide world, that has one smidge of hair!
For my part, I think it's a much safer plan
When our hair's being combed, to stand still as we can.

..FUR SALE..

GOING ON FOR ALL THIS WEEK

Never before at this time of the year was our fur stock so great as it is now, and we are taking drastic measures to turn our entire fur stock into money, as we must raise money to meet business obligations. Not connected with any other store in the city.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Why Nell, you're out early for a housekeeper," remarked Mrs. Reeves, as her daughter came into the kitchen one morning. "Is anything out of joint?" she added, noticing the gloom that surrounded her usually sunny daughter.

"I'm tasting the joys of temporary widowhood," remarked the young woman. "Dick took wing to New York last night. I was made aware of his departure by receiving a telegram."

"A telegram! Did he have to go in such haste that he couldn't phone?" asked her mother.

"So it seems," replied the young wife. "It left me in a pretty mess. We were invited to the Thompsons' for dinner and I got the telegram when I was about ready to start. I had to go to the dinner alone and make smiling apologies for Dick. I hope they didn't see how disturbed and angry I was," said Nell, sinking into a chair by the window.

"What did he say in the telegram?" persisted her mother.

"Here it is," and Nell handed over the slip of yellow paper, which read: "Called to New York on business. Address me as usual."

"Well, I suppose the morning's mail will bring a letter explaining everything. Have you written to him?"

"Yes," was the laconic answer.

"I hope, my dear, that you have said nothing that will hurt, you seem so—so upset over it," said Mrs. Reeves, looking anxiously at the girl.

"Upset! Why shouldn't I be? Here I was looking for Dick every minute and the phone rang and this message was delivered, sent from a station along the road, saying he was off to New York for goodness knows how long."

"Well, is that anything to be upset over? Of course it isn't pleasant to have him gone but he did not go for a pleasure trip. A man must attend to business," said her mother calmly.

"Business!" exclaimed Nell; "that's always the excuse. I am nothing; my happiness is nothing. I can be brushed out of his path any minute when this important 'business' demands his attention," and a sob broke her voice.

"Nell, tell me," demanded her mother, "did you write any such stupid nonsense to Dick?"

"I told him what I thought about it," flared Nell. "I want him to know he can't do just what he pleases without any reference to me, as if I were a desk or a stool. He knew I would have to go to that dinner alone and make excuses about that everlasting business. He could have gone this morning just as well. He thinks I can stand anything. He'll find out differently when he gets my letter."

"Have you sent such a letter as that?" said the mother, going up to her, anxiety on her usually cheerful face.

"Yes, it's gone," said Nell, quieted by her mother's gaze. "I came down purposely to give it to father to mail."

"I am ashamed of you," said her mother, sitting down in a chair nearby. "You know Dick is trying to get ahead, to make good, even aspiring to a partnership, and when some unexpected emergency arose he responded at once, thinking of course his wife, who is as much interested in his business as he, would understand. He treated you as if you were a grown-up individual and it turns out you are a child, peevish because your plans have been disturbed."

A spasm of pain crossed the girlish face as the rugged sentences of arraignment ended, and she began to sob.

Her mother took out Nell's hat pin, laid the hat on the table and sat down beside the girl.

"If you expect to keep Dick's love, my dear, you must learn to control yourself. There are some things you can't say to a man; they hurt more than you can ever make up to him with your sorrow; they hit his self-respect."

"What can I do?" cried the girl.

"Go home and get his letter. If he is to stay long enough, write him and undo as far as posible the harm you've done. That's all there is left to do now."

The afternoon mail brought a letter from Dick, saying he would be able to start for home in a few hours. She could not write. She dreaded to meet him. Just before dinner was served she walked into her mother's dining room and answered her look of inquiry with, "Oh, mother, such a dear letter from Dick; he starts for home tonight."

Mr. Reeves, with a start, put his hand in his pocket. "I'm sorry, Nell," he said meekly. "I entirely forgot to mail your letter this morning. I hope it was not important."

He was entirely unprepared for the wild hug his laughter gave him. "Give it to me! Give it to me, father, dear. Oh, mother, it didn't go! Everything is as it was," and she ran out of the room.

"You're a nice little baggage," said Dick the next night, as he clasped Nell in his arms, "not to write to me."

"I did write, but father forgot to mail the letter," said Nell, resting contentedly with her head on his shoulder.

Household Hints

USES FOR PINE PITCH

First—We use it for cuts or sores of any kind, in place of salve. Heat and apply as hot as possible without burning the skin.

Second—Use on a pail that leaks. Heat and pour on leaky spot, let cool and pail is ready to use.

Third—For a burst water pipe: wind with cloth and pour on some pine pitch. This will not allow pipe to leak if pitch is put on thick and smooth.

UP-TO-DATE RECIPES.

Orange Puffs—Oranges are in their best just now. Work one-third cup butter until creamy, add one cup sugar gradually, while beating constantly; then add two eggs well beaten. Mix and sift 1¾ cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder and a few grains of salt, and add alternately with half cup milk to first mixture. Fill buttered and floured cup cake tins two-thirds full of mixture and bake in moderate oven 20 minutes. Serve with orange sauce: Beat whites of two eggs until stiff, add one cup powdered sugar gradually, while beating constantly; add juice and grated rind of two oranges and juice of one lemon.

Vanilla Tart Pie—Top mixture: One and one-half cups sugar, one-half cup lard or butter, one egg, three cups sifted flour, one cup sour milk or buttermilk, one teaspoon soda, one teaspon vanilla.

Bean Soup—Take a ham bone after all the meat is used. Get one pound navy beans, one onion, small piece celery and a little tomato. Boil all three hours on slow fire. If one likes, when done beat up one egg in. Good way to use an old ham bone that might be thrown away.

Mexican Rice—One slice uncooked ham cut into inch-wide pieces, with two finely sliced onions; brown slightly in frying pan; add one cup rice (uncooked and well washed), sugar, salt and pepper to taste, cover with water, set on back of range until rice is thoroughly cooked. Enough for a good-sized family.

Beet Relish or Salad—Two quarts chopped cabbage in bowl, one glass horseradish; sugar, salt and vinegar to taste. This makes a nice salad for large suppers where one cannot make fancy salads. It can also be made when the vegetables are fresh from the garden, and canned in glass jars.

TO SAVE WHITE FLOUR

Corn Puff—Two cups corn meal, one cup flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, one cup sugar, teaspoon butter. Mix well.

Good Corn-Pone—Two cups corn meal, one cup sugar, teaspoon soda, one cup flour, tablespoon butter, one cup sour milk. Bake in a hot oven.

Dutch Pancakes—Grate two large potatoes. Use two teaspoons baking powder, flour enough to make a good batter, cup of milk (if you can spare it; if not, use warm water). Cheap and good.

Bran Bread—One quart of coarse mill bran and cup white flour mixed. In another bowl put one pint milk (sweet), one-half teacup molasses, two tablespoons sugar. Keep out one-half cup above mixture, add one teaspoon baking soda to it, pour liquid over bran and mix. Add soda mixture and one-half box raisins. Bake slowly 1½ hours.

CANDY COLORING

For yellow: The grated rind of a deep colored orange worked to a pulp.

For green: Use spinach and beet leaves crushed and boiled in a little water.

For pink: The juice of strawberries, raspberries and blackberries, or elderberries, may be used in summer. In winter use the juice of cranberries. A few drops of prepared cochineal will also give pink.

For amber or light brown: Use a few drops of caramel.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"Alice in Wonderland," reproduced in amazing and startling moving pictures, will be the attraction at Plainfield Theatre this afternoon and tonight, and also tomorrow afternoon and night. During every night next week, with the exception of Thursday, big feature photo-plays will hold the board. The announcements include the following: Monday and Tuesday, Edward Abelles' highly interesting play of five reels of tense dramatic action, "Ready Money;" Wednesday afternoon and night, Robert Edeson with Clara Whitney, in David Belasco's play, "The Girls I Left Behind Me," as produced by Charles Frohman; Friday and Saturday, John Barrymore, in H. A. DuSouchet's comedy triumph, "The Man From Mexico." Each one of these pictures is produced with absolute regard for the stories that are familiar to patrons of letigimate productions, and they have lost none of their "punch" by their transmission to the screen. The attraction at the Plainfield Theatre Thursday afternoon and night will be Harry Hastings' musical burlesque, "The Tango Queens." It is chuck full of music, comedy and novel situations.

COMMISSIONERS NAMED.

Chancellor Walker in Trenton yesterday announced the appointment of Charles P. Russ, a Democrat, as jury commissioner of Union county, and Eugene V. V. Cruser, also a Democrat, to serve in a similar capacity in Somerset county.

Greatest Sale of Silk Petticoats Newark Has Ever Seen!

1,000 Brand New Garments at 1-2 Price!

$5 to $7.50 Silk Petticoats at $2.48 A Famous Trade-Marked Petticoat

—A celebrated maker of a famous brand of petticoats sold us his entire surplus stock—to sell at our own price—provided we did not mention his name and trademark in our advertisement.

—This splendid lot includes the very best messalines, taffetas, jerseys and crepe de chines—black and all good colors. Instead of $5 to $7.50—the entire lot will be cleared away at $2.48 each.

—The petticoats fasten on the side—in front—by simply snapping together four little glove clasps, which close the opening so smooth and well that you scarcely realize it is there.

—A strip of tension tape ingenuously woven in the waistband at the back of every petticoat allows the band to "give" easily to the required waist measure. Always a perfect fit—never an alteration—a wonderfully simple device.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Beginning tomorrow afternoon for the first time, Proctor's Theatre wil offer what is undoubtedly the greatest moving picture feature secured for local patrons within the past season; in other words, Charles Chaplin's initial appearance as a star under the Essanay management. He will be seen in one of those ludicrous comedies which have made him famous the world over, and which is bringing him the largest salary that has ever been paid a moving picture actor. The title of the offering is "His New Job," and the comical situations follow each other so closely, the spectators are kept in one uproarious laugh from start to finish. "His New Job" will be shown at all performances tomorrow afternoon and night, and thereafter each Saturday Mr. Chaplin will be seen in a two-reel comedy guaranteed to assassinate the most chronic case of blues that mortal man ever developed. Keep in mind that this is an exclusively Proctor feature, provided for the patrons of the Front street playhouse at a figure equaling practically the entire cost of other shows. The change of vaudeville at the theatre yesterday brought another diversified bill, headed by a one-act melodramatic playlet "Be Game." It is presented by Charles Ayres and company, and teems with thrilling moments. Miss Isabelle Feltcher, as the heroine, portrays the role of a woman placed in a terrible situation to prove her "gameness," interprets the part with such true-to-life ability that she gets several curtain calls at the finish.

COUPLE MARRIED FOR FIFTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Herold Observed Their Golden Wedding Yesterday.

LIVED HERE LONG TIME

Marriage Ceremony Performed at Stony Hill—Mr. Herold Once Proprietor of Hotel Business in Somerset Street.

Fifty years of happy wedded life were completed yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Herold, the parents of Mrs. Henry Windham, of East Front street, and numbered among Plainfield's best known old time residents. The half century anniversary was observed quietly, but many relatives and friends who were aware of it extended flowers and congratulations. Numerous telegraph messages were received from distant points.

Mr. and Mrs. Herold were married in the Stony Hill church on February 12, 1865, and the nuptial mass was witnessed by a large gathering of guests from that section, Plainfield, New York, Brooklyn and other places. Only a few of those present are surviving today. Mr. Herold was a native of Stony Hill, his father having been a pioneer farmer of the township, but Mrs. Herold was a Brooklyn girl. Her maiden name was Frances Butscher, and she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Butscher. Shortly after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Herold removed to this city and the former engaged in the hotel business on Somerset street. He erected the building just north of Front street, now occupied by Samuel Smelson, as a restaurant. The place was one of the most prominent in the city during its day, but about thirty years ago other matters engaged Mr. Herold's attention and he gave up the business. Since that time he has lived a semi-retired life, but recently has been associated with Mr. Windham, acting as manager of the Waldorf pool room and cigar stand.

Beside Mrs. Windham, the couple have two other children, a son and a daughter, Albert Herold and Miss Clara Herold. The parents make their home with the latter two in Brooklyn, although Mr. Herold is in Plainfield every day except Sunday. Mrs. Herold came to this city yesterday in order to join in the golden wedding observance at Mrs. Windham's home, and will remain here for a week or ten days. Although she is seventy-nine years old, she thought nothing of making the trip, and, in fact, goes about everywhere, being in full possession of all her faculties. Mr. Herold is also very active for one of his years and is able to discuss the affairs of the day as ably as when he was one of Plainfield's young business men and taking an active part in its civic life.

CONSUMERS LEAGUE TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING HERE

The annual meeting of the Consumers' League of New Jersey will be held in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Friday, February 26. The business meeting will be held at 2:15 p. m. and will be presided over by Mrs. G. W. B. Cushing, of East Orange, the president. The open meeting will be at 3 o'clock, and it is especially urged that all employers attend, as the subject to be discussed will be the minimum wage. The speakers will be Mrs. Frederick Nathan, president of the New York City League, and Miss Rose Winslow, of the Women's Trade Union League.

STORAGE CO. INCORPORATES.

The Plainfield Storage Company filed articles of incorporation in the county clerk's office, yesterday. The capitalization is $50,000, divided into 500 shares, valued at $100 each. Clifford D. Manning is the agent and the office of the concern is 106 Depot Park. The incorporators are Clifford D. Manning, James C. Manning and Walter F. Manning, five shares each; Harold E. EXCHANGE FUND NOW TOTALS $350

"H. E. M." Contributes $5 and D. W. Martine $10.

"H. E. M." contributes $5 and D. W. Martine gives $10 today to the Woman's Exchange fund, bringing the total up to $350. It is desired that $1,000 be secured to put the Exchange on a sound financial basis and insure its success in the future, and there is an urgent appeal that the friends of the institution rally to its support. While the fund was originally started with $10 subscriptions, any sum will be acceptable to the Exchange, no matter how small.

It is the belief that there are a sufficient number of people in the city and borough who can and will raise the required $1,000, and subscriptions in any amount will gladly be received by The Daily Press and promptly acknowledged. The list of contributors to date is as follows:

LAWRENCE H. FRENCH IN RUTGERS' PLAY

"Drifting" Presented at the Junior "Prom" Festivities This Week.

The Junior "Prom" festivities of Rutgers College were begun Thursday evening by the production of the play, "Drifting," in the New Brunswick Opera House. The theatre was crowded to its doors by a large and enthusiastic audience who were unanimous in proclaiming the comedy a big sucess. The scene and action were laid on the Rutgers College campus and the story was woven around student life. The cast of characters included Lawrence H. French, of Plainfield; Anton A. Raven, of New Brunswick; Harry N. Blue, of New Brunswick; George Whisler, of Newark, Roy Richardson, of Bound Brook, William Ainsworth, of Rahway; William N. Packard, of Montclair; Robert A. MacKensie, of Metuchen, and Norman K. Eypper, of Hackensack. The play was written by Earl Reed Silvers, of Rahway, and produced under the direction of Miss Edna L. Barbour, of New Brunswick.

All of the fraternities held house-parties over the week-end. On Friday afternoon the annual concert of the Glee and Mandolin Clubs was held in Kirkpatrick chapel, and in the evening the Junior Promenade took place in the Ballentine Gymnasium. This is the social event of the year in New Brunswick, and was well attended. The chairman of the committee was George Wisler, of Newark. On Saturday afternoon a basketball game was played between Rutgers and Union. Fraternity teas completed the festivities.

Among those present from Plainfield and vicinity were Miss Gladys Herbert, of Bound Brook, at the Zeta Psi House; Miss Marguerite Bellman, and Miss Frances R. Pierce, of Westfield, at the Chi Phi House; Miss Mildred Terrill, of Rahway, at the Delta Phi House; Miss Viola Little, of Bound Brook, Miss Lillian Horning, of Roselle Park, at the Lambda Chi Alpha House.

LINCOLN RECEPTION FOR LOCAL CHAPTER

I. C. S. Fraternity Enjoyed Banquet and Speech Making.

Sixty members of the Abraham Lincoln Chapter, No. 122, I. C. S. Fraternity of the World, attended the first annual Lincoln Day dinner of the organization in the Kandy Shope, last night, the affair being the most auspicious yet undertaken by the chapter. Men prominent in the business world and representative of every commercial enterprise and profession were present.

Following the dinner an excellent program of after dinner speaking was enjoyed. The officers of the chapter are: President, A. V. Searing, Jr., who acter as toastmaster; vice-president, F. Robert Shaw; second vice-president, R. W. Aldrich; secretary, Alexander D. Doig; assistant secretary, William Le Poidevin; treasurer, C. E. Varian. The banquet committee included Raymond W. Aldrich, chairman; F. Robert Shaw, Harry W. Swivel, C. E. Varian and John R. Barnes. Assemblyman William N. Runyon was the principal speaker and he took occasion to euologize the work of the statesman and patriot after whom the chapter has been named.

Assemblyman Runyon said in part:

"When we look upon the great men of the world we are prone to think that our great men loom up with any of them. There are out outstanding figures, the Father of the country and the Savior of the country. For the work given to George Washington, he was the one man assigned by God to do it. We have made Washington almost demi-God.

"The humanity of Lincoln was one of his greatest human attributes. It was his great humanity which brings us close to him in the page of history today. He accepted each day with its responsibilities and its burdens and in doing all things that came his way. The keenness he learned by the firelight stood him in good in learning to grasp opportunities as they presented themselves. The great war made it necessary for a great leader to save what Washington had brought to birth.

"His life was no sham, only a sweet life. His character occupies a bigger place in the minds of those who come after him and those who were his contemporaries. It is a great thing for humanity and the country that such a man once lived. He was a man of sorrow and by his stripes are we healed; by the travail of his soul which was his portion, and by his death we are healed, and when time has passed away then indeed, and not until then, will the world be prepared to acclaim its debt, not only Americans but the entire world owes to the commoner, the great Christian, Abraham Lincoln."

Other speakers and entertainers were Rev. Charles M. Anderson, who delivered the invocation; Paul H. Burns, who spoke on "Lincoln the Magnanimous;" Frank W. Wadsworth, Newton B. Smalley, Supreme Worth Protarch J. D. Jones, Supreme Registrar W. S. Gould and Jesse Rogers.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR RUTHERFORD V. DALLEY

Rutherford Vandeventer Dalley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford H. B. Dalley, of West Front street, was given a birthday party yesterday afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock, he being ten years old. The affair was arranged by his mother and it was very enjoyable. There were eighteen boys and girls present to congratulate the celebrant.

The afternoon was spent playing all kinds of games, and another feature was vocal and instrumental music which helped to entertain the young folks. Later in the afternoon the guests enjoyed a fine "spread" prepared by Mrs. Dalley. The celebrant received a number of useful gifts in honor of the occasion.

VALENTINE SENT BY STAGE COACH

Eighty-five-Year-Old Heirloom Valued by Frank C. Burner, of the Borough,

AN ANCIENT TRADITION

Custom Prevailed Before Time of Penny Postage—Celebration of the Day Has Long Been on the Decline.

Although the practice of sending valentines to members of the opposite sex has lost some of its old-time prestige, bashful swains and winsome lassies will tomorrow celebrate the feast of the saint of the Roman calendar in a manner not unlike that in practice a century ago. With cupid playing the role of postman, anonymous communications and illustrative missives will be in circulation. Housewives will answer doorbells only to find inanimate callers in the guise of artistically designed envelopes lying on the door-mats. Some will become vexed after making several futile visits to the front door, and if a bill collector chances along he may have to ring for an extra half hour in order to produce the required response. He may also be swooped down upon by a joyous lassie who mistakes him for a valentine deliverer.

The custom of choosing valentines has been accidentally associated with the name of a saint on the Roman calendar, said to have been martyred in 306 A. D. On the eve of St. Valentine's Day young people of both sexes used to meet, and each of them drew one by lot from a number of names of the opposite sex, which were put into a common receptacle. Each gentleman thus got a lady for his valentine, and became the valentine of a lady. The gentlemen remained bound to the service of their valentines for a year. A similar custom prevailed in the Roman Lupercalia, to which the modern custom has, with probability, been traced. The day is now celebrated by sending anonymously through the post sentimental or ludicrous missives specially prepared for the purpose. But this practice is also on the decline.

One of the interesting bits of history connected with the day is an heirloom in the possession of Frank C. Burner, of North Plainfield, who is the proud owner of a valentine sent by his mother, then Miss Elizabeth Bonstow, to Henry Pillar, February 14, 1840, eighty-five years ago tomorrow. The missive was sent by stage-coach, at that time the only mail delivery, from Dartmouth, Devon, to Torquay, Devon, a distance of thirty-four miles. A fee of two shillings (forty-eight cents) was charged for delivering the remembrance, and it was francked by members of Parliament.

The valentine itself is a work of art, probably entailing many weeks of handiwork on the part of the sender. It folds up in the shape of a dart, and when unfurled the valentine resembles a scalloped circle, with eight darts arranged in pivot fashion. Each one of the darts has a large heart at the top and a small heart at the apex, and birds and other figures are cut out by hand. The missive, although of a fragile nature, has been remarkably well preserved by the owner by whom it is highly treasured.

On each of the larger hearts a verse, composed by the sender, is written in script and each of the eight smaller hearts bear capital letters, which probably bear some significance which cannot be deciphered today.

DUNCAN BULKLEY WILL GIVE MUSICAL PROGRAM

At the meeting of the literature department of the Monday Afternoon Club on Monday, to which all the club members are invited, a musical program will be presented by Duncan Bulkley, of New York, consisting of songs of Kipling and the Hindu poet, Tagore. Mr. Bulkley is already well-known to Plainfield people, and the club considered itself fortunate in having this opportunity to hear him. A paper on Kipling will be given by Mrs. Charles Waltenback.

UNION PLACES "BAN" ON SEBRING'S HALL

Building Trades Council Warns "Typos" as to Holding Dance There.

The fact that the local Typographical Union has announced a ball to be held in Sebring's Hall this month, was the subject of consilerable discussion at the meeting of the Building Trades Council, last night, for the reason that the council has placed a "ban" on that auditorium. It was finally decided that if the "Typos" insist on holding its dance in Sebring Hall, the printing of the labor directory which is now in the hands of a local union printer will be given to some out-of-town concern.

It was learned today that the Typographical Union will hold a meeting Monday night to discuss the above matter. The council also took up the question of Halbtoerster's orchestra playing for a dance in Sebring's Hall recently, it being explained that the orchestra at the time did not know of the "ban" on the hall. The council reported that a motorcycle had been purchased for the business agent, William Lunger, and would be delivered within a short time.

COLLECTOR TELLS ABOUT TAX OFFICE

W. R. Townsend Brings Out Interesting Facts in Address.

An interesting meeting of the West End Civic Association was held last evening in Washington School, at which time Tax Collector William R. Townsend was the speaker, his subject being "The Tax Question as Viewed from the Tax Collector's Office." Many questions were asked, all of which Mr. Townsend answered in a satisfactory manner. Among the things suggested was that one assessor with a regular salary, and an office with the other city officials who could be seen at any time, would be far better for the taxpayers than the present system.

The speaker is a strong advocate of Plainfield having its own City Hall, and gave figures to show that a building costing $60,000 would not be any more expensive to the people than the present method of paying rent.

After many members of the association had asked more questions to all of which replies were given, a rising vote of thanks was extended to Mr Townsend. Other routine business matters were transacted, among them being a resolution being passed to extend an invitation to all the labor organizations of the city to have a delegate attend the meetings of the association, Mr. Harding, of the Carpenters' Union, being present.

It was suggested that a representative committee attend all of the meetings of the Common Council and also those of the finance committee. Two new members were admitted.

R. S. Lewis, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced that the next regular meeting, which will be held March 12, Howard Williams will address the association on Commission Form of Government.

PRISONER TO LEAD MEETING.

C. Edward Schumacker, of this city, who was committed to the county jail on a charge of embezzlement in default of $2,500 bail, informed Sheriff Otto today that he would lead the religious meeting in the jail's assembly room tomorrow afternoon. The holding of a Sunday service for the prisoners is one of the innovations introduced in the new jail reform movement. Mr. Schumacker has had considerable experience in religious organizations and stated that it would not be necessary to have an outside leader. His offer was accepted.

TO HOLD A PEACE MEETING.

Under the auspices of the Religious Society of Friends, a peace meeting will be held in the meeting-house on Watchung avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. Francis R. Taylor, an earnest and magnetic speaker of the other branch of Friends, will address the meeting. Everyone interested is urgently invited to attend. Mr. Taylor also expects to attend the regular meeting for worship to be held at the meeting-house at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

BEATRICE HERFORD DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

Famous Monologues Enjoyed by Large Audience at the High School.

Miss Beatrice Herford delighted an audience of five hundred or more well-known Plainfielders, last night when she delivered a number of her famous monologues at the High School Auditorium. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Cupbearers' Circle of King's Daughters, and the treasury of the organization will be enriched materially as a result.

Miss Herford gave four monologues: "In A Restaurant," "The Cook," "The Discontented Voter" and "In an Intelligence Office," as the regular program, and in response to repeated encores to the second and third, "Choosing the Wallpaper" and "The Pay Station Girl" were selected. From the minute that the entertainer appeared on the stage until her last monologue, the audience was kept in continual laughter by the true to life depictions of the various characters. "The Discontented Voter" was probably the most popular of all for as may be surmised by the title it dealt with the subject of "Votes for Women" in an amusing manner.

During the evening a number of young women of the circle sold candy to those in the audience, and this added to the evening's receipts. The president of the circle is Miss Edith Griscom; Mrs. Brown Rolston is vice-president; Miss Helen Adams is secretary, and Miss Katherine Titus is treasurer. Mrs. E. P. Sharretts is an honorary member and the trustee is Mrs. Archibald Cox. The other members are Mrs. Douglas Anderson, Mrs. Clifford Baker, Mrs. Edward Booth, Miss Marion Brown, Miss Dorothy Burke, Miss Louise Booth, Miss Marguerite Carpenter, Mrs. Gifford Cooley, Miss Mary Faber, Miss Elizabeth Flanders, Miss Charlotte Finch, Mrs. Leslie Hallock, Miss Leontine Huntsman, Miss Hope Ivins, Miss Lillian King, Miss Caroline Martin, Miss Gabrielle McQuade, Miss Edith Mellick, Mrs. Hartley Mellick, Miss Ethel Most, Mrs. Maxwell E. Perkins, Miss Mary Runkle, Miss Florence Stuart, Mrs. Edward C. Suffern, Miss Alice Titus, Miss Marguerite Townsend, Miss Ruth Waldo, Mrs. Arthur Wharton-Bickey.

BROTHERHOOD HOLDS A LINCOLN AFFAIR

Large Gathering in First M. E. Church Enjoys An Appropriate Program.

Under the appropriate title of "An Evening With Lincoln," the Brotherhood of the First M. E. church and the Epworth League held a combined gathering in Vincent chapel, last night. A timely program dealing with the observance of the martyred President's birthday was enjoyed by an attendance numbering nearly two hundred. A feature of the affair was the presence of Judd Stuart's notable collection of Lincolnia, which many of those present had never seen before.

Samuel Bingaman, president of the Brotherhood, presided over the gathering, and introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Dr. Addison W. Hayes, of Madison. The latter gave a highly interesting address on "Lincoln, the True American." A musical program was rendered by the Dutch Arms Band and refreshments were served in conclusion. In keeping with the patriotic spirit of the occasion, the ice cream was in a combination color of red, white and blue. Mr. Bingaman was assisted in arranging the conducting the affair by a committee selected from the members of the Brotherhood.

PYTHIANS HOLD EUCHRE.

At the conclusion of its regular business session last night, Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., and a gathering of friends enjoyed a euchre. Following the play prizes were awarded and a social hour with refreshments was enjoyed. The affair was in charge of the good and welfare committee of the lodge.

LYDIA CHAPTER OBSERVANCE.

Lydia Chapter, No. 41, Order of the Eastern Star, celebrated Lincoln's Birthday by holding a banquet and social after the regular meeting last night. Several vocal selections were contributed by Miss Myrtle M. Kipsey, of the borough, and Worthy Patron, Guy D. Peck, gave a history of the American flag.

CZAR'S LOSSES HEAVY

Germans Violently Bombard Nieuport and Region of the Great Dune—Squadron of Aeroplanes Appear Over Verdun Region.

Paris, Feb. 13.—The French War Office gave out the following statement this afternoon:

"From the sea to the Lys the Germans violently bombarded Nieuport and the region of the Great Dune. Their artillery also fired upon Ypres during the night of February 11 and 12, and upon our positions to the east of Ypres. During day of the 12th our artillery effectively replied to German cannonade. From the Lys to the Somme there have been intermittent cannonades in the region of Arras, near Carency. We exploded two mine chambers in the enemy's minor advance posts on the Somme. Between the Oise and the Aisne, as well as in Champagne, there has been great artillery activity on both sides. A squadron of ten aeroplanes appeared in flight over the Verdun region, but the bombs they dropped caused no damage. In Lorraine the German attack upon our outposts at Arracourt, mentioned in the report of yesterday evening, was lost by one company, while another company attempted, but without success, to seize our outposts at Ranzey. In Alsace the enemy bombarded the positions which we captured on February 12 in the region of Sudolkoff."

Scarborough, Eng., Feb. 13.—The new cargo steamer Torquay, of Dartmouth, was towed into Scarborough harbor last night, in a sinking condition, after either striking a mine or having been torpedoed eight miles east of this port. The damage was amidships, one boiler having been penetrated. One man was killed and two were injured.

Havre (via Paris), Feb. 13.—It is now considered certain that the British steamers Oriole and London Trader have been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine. The last time the vessels are known to have been seen was at 2 p. m. January 30, near Dungeness.

Rome, Feb. 13.—One hundred and seventy million lire ($34,000,000) has been appropriated by royal decree to be put at the disposal of the Minister of War to meet necessities of the international situation. A despatch to the Giornale D Italia from Ancona states that two steamers laden with cereals for Italy have been stopped by Austrian torpedo boats and taken to Trieste.

Constantinople, via Amsterdam, Feb. 13.—The Sublime Porte will present a note of protest to neutral governments against the sinking of the steamship Washington, partly owned by American interests, by the Russians in their bombardment of Trebizond.

Athens, Feb. 13.—Turkey has accepted in full the terms of the strong note sent the Porte by the Greek government demanding an apology, both personal and in public, by the police prefect of Constantinople in connection with the insult by a Turkish police agent to a Geek naval attache at Pera.

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN ADVERTISING MANAGER

Miss Emma B. Winter, advertising manager for James A. Hearn & Son, died on Thursday evening at her home, 52 West Ninety-second street, New York, after a brief illness.

Miss Winter was born in Philadelphia and at an early date took a position with the firm in whose employ she spent nearly her entire life. She was widely known among publishers and advertising representatives. She enjoyed in a marked degree the friendship of all the employes of James A. Hearn & Son. She was a believer in and worker for co-operation between employers and employe, and had been since its formation secretary of the employes' organization. Miss Winter leaves four sisters, Miss Mary Winter, Miss Annie L. Winter, Mr. Robert H. Crozier and Mrs. E. D. Jones.

BAPTISTS PLAN FOR MISSIONARY RALLY

National Officers to Address Gatherings in This City February 17.

All interested in the cause of missions will be glad to know that Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery and Mrs. Henry W. Peabody will address the Women's Missionary Societies of this city and vicinity at the First Baptist church, Wednesday afternoon, February 17, at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Montgomery is president of the Woman's American Baptist Foreign Mission Society and Mrs. Peabody is vice president of the same society.

Mrs. Montgomery's addresses were so full of force at the time of the Interdenominational Missionary Jubilee that she received the name of the "Dynamo." Mrs. Peabody, known for years as Mrs. Lucy Waterbury, always wins the hearts of her hearers.

A Baptist rally will begin with a devotional service at 2 o'clock in the lecture room of the church. Rev. Dr. Claire, of East Orange, will make a short address. All Baptist women in this vicinity are urged to be present. Tea will be served at the close of the meetings.

MISS MEAD TO SPEAK.

Miss Margaret Mead, who has just returned from a trip to China, will tell the Warren chapel Sunday-school tomorrow about the missionary work her sister, Miss Fredericka Mead, is doing in that country. Miss Mead was a teacher in Warren chapel and head of the mission work of the school before she left for the foreign work. All persons interested are invited to hear Miss Mead speak.

WILL OBSERVE "BOYS' DAY" AT 'PLAINS BAPTIST CHURCH

The services at the Scotch Plains Baptist church tomorrow will be of special interest. It will be "Boys' Day." The Boy Scouts are placing a neat card of invitation in the hands of each boy and his big brothers and fathers, inviting them to the service at 10:45 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The Boy Scouts will have a part in the service. Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the church, will preach a special sermon on "Lincoln, the Ideal Scout." A cordial invitation awaits every boy and his friends. The Bible school will meet at 9:30 o'clock in the morning and the young people's service will be held at 7 o'clock in the evening.

NEED LARGER DONATIONS.

The Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild are greatly in need of larger donations of fruit, vegetables, delicacies and anything suitable for the sick. With the increasing cold the list of sick persons grows larger. We do not want to neglect anyone, but have been obliged to do so on account of not having sufficient supplies to meet the demand. Donations may be sent to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union rooms, 10 Madison avenue, Babcock building, on Monday afternoon, from 4 to 6, and Tuesday morning, from 9 to 10:30.

TO TAKE PART IN PLAY.

Harold Seals, of Front street, and Richmond Ritterbusch, of Dunellen avenue, have been given roles in the play, "Strong Heart," to be given by the Junior class of Plainfield High School in the auditorium of the school on Saturday evening, March 6. The author of the play is the well-known playwright, William DeMile. The play was run successfully in New York for two years, the leading parts being taken by actors of note. It is a regular Columbia College play and is based on the football team that the college once possessed. The casting of the play is said to be excellent.

GETS P. O. PLUM.

James H. Trewin, brother of Robert Trewin, the North avenue restaurant man, has been appointed postmaster at Flemington for the regular term of four years.

TENNIS CLUB MEETING.

At the annual meeting of the Crescent Tennis Club held Thursday evening at the home of former Mayor William Wyckoff, where one of the members of the club, Emanuel Appert, boards, Alton Eckert was elected president; Ralph Eckert, vice president; Earl Wescott, treasurer, and Arthur Bogardus, secretary. Among other business was the decision to make extensive improvements on the Madison avenue courts for the coming season. The meeting was in the nature of a farewell affair to Emanuel Appert, who moves to New York for business reasons the first of the month. During the social hour which followed the transaction of business this aspect of the meeting was fittingly borne in mind. Mr. Appert has lived in Dunellen for the past five years and during his short residence here has made numerous friends.

SUCCESSFUL DANCE.

The old fashioned dance held in the local theatre on Thursday evening was a real successful affair. Over one hundred invited guests were present and all the old time dances indulged in to music furished by Prof. Smith, of Belle Meade. The affair was arranged by a committee composed of Postmaster Henry S. Garretson, George W. Day, of the Weekly Call, and Republican Committeeman Albert N. Randolph.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society, of the Presbyterian church, will be held at the home of Mrs. C. B. Mattis, on Washington avenue, on Tuesday afternoon of the coming week. All members of the society are urged to be present.

An adjourned meeting of the Mayor and Common Council will be held in the Council chambers Monday evening.

Benjamin Dodwell, of Jackson avenue, entertained Prof. Charles Cregar, of Plainfield, yesterday.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Trade will be held in the Borough Hall on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dilts, of Second street, entertained Miss Elizabeth Effing, of New York, yesterday.

JAMES EVERETT.

James Everett, aged 84 years, died at the farm of Benjamin Bays in Piscataway at 9 o'clock Thursday night. Mr. Everett came to this country 46 years ago from England and had lived on the Bays farm during that period. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Bays residence. Rev. Dr. Poland, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, New Market, will be in charge of the service. Interment will be at the Seventh Day Baptist burial grounds on the Stelton road.

'Plains & Fanwood.

As the topic of his sermon tomorrow, Dr. H. K. Carroll, pastor of the Methodist church, has chosen "Peace." The Epworth League will meet at 7:15 in the evening and the Sunday-school in the afternoon at 3 o'clock.

About forty young people of Scotch Plains enjoyed a Lincoln social held in the lecture room of the Baptist church, last night, and passed a pleasant evening playing various games. Toward the close of the affair the committee in charge of the entertainment served refreshments. The entertainment next Friday will be in observance of Washington s Birthday, and it is possible that it will be postponed from the regular meeting night to Monday evening.

At the 10:45 morning service in the Baptist church tomorrow, the Rev. J. Madison Hare will preach on "Lincoln, the Ideal Scout." The two local Boy Scout patrols will attend the service in uniform and the parents and friends are also invited to be present. Sunday-school will be at 9:30, as usual, and the B. Y. P. U. will meet in the lecture room at 7:45 in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Albert, of Westfield road, are entertaining their nephew, Raymond Ross, of Astoria, L. I.

Mrs. J. Hudson Thompson will entertain the choir of the Episcopal church at her home on Martine avenue, this evening, for the weekly rehearsal.

Sunday-school will be held in the Episcopal church at 10 tomorrow morning, and the morning service, which will be conducted by the Rev. Oscar Stuart Michaels, will be at 11 o'clock.

The Willow Grove chapel and St. John's Baptist church meet tomorrow afternoon for services at the usual hours.

Although organized but a short time, the Sunshine Weavers are already doing very good work. It was started as a branch of the Lend-a-Hand Society and Home Department of the Baptist church, and is composed of the young girls of the church. Mrs. John Z. Hatfield, Mrs. J. Madison Hare and Mrs. George Dunn meet with the girls and articles are made for the foreign and domestic missions.

Following the next meeting of the Belgian Society, to be held in two weeks, it is expected to have enough garments to fill a large case to be sent to Europe for the relief of the war sufferers. Since the organizing of the society shortly after the start of the war, between thirty and forty women from Fanwood and Scotch Plains have met at the home of the Misses Kyte, on Martine avenue, and sewed on various forms of wearing apparel to send to Europe. Letters from those who received the gifts have been sent to the society, and at a recent meeting communications were read from the London Times' Red Cross Relief station at London, the Maternity Hospital at Folkstone, England, and Belgian Clothes Relief Society, stating how the donations from the local society were distributed and who received the benefits.

Joseph C. Rhodes, of Midway avenue, is on a two weeks' business trip to the Bermuda Islands.

James Devine, of Tillitson road, is on a business trip to Florida, where he will inspect wood for railroad ties. On his return he will have three or four hundred ties cut by local men and piled at the local station, to inspect.

Miss Helen Hoar, of Martine avenue, is spending sometime with friends in Washington, D. C.

John R. Stevens is quite ill at his home on Martine avenue.

Bound Brook.

The services in the Methodist church tomorrow will be as follows. Sunday-school at 9:45 a. m.; morning worship at 11 o'clock, sermon by Rev. Daniel C. Dorchester, subject, "The Church and Its Relationship to Jesus Christ." This will be the first of a series of special messages to the church. Epworth League meeting at 6:30 p. m.; evening service at 7:30 p. m., preaching by the pastor, theme, "Abraham Lincoln."

At the annual meeting of St. Paul's Choir Association the following officers were elected: President, Rev. Arthur S. Phelps; vice president, Charles F. Fisher; secretary, William H. Ford; treasurer, Charles E. Phelps. At this meeting Harold Cressingham was elected manager of St. Paul's basketball team, with William H. Fort as captain.

Fred [illegible] has returned from a business trip of several months in Cuba.

At the Congregational church tomorrow the pastor, Rev. William T. Boult, will preach the second sermon in the series on the general topic, "Encouragement for the New Recruits." His subject will be "Growing a Great Soul." At the evening service he will preach the second sermon of the series of "Some Strange People I Have Met." His topic will be "The Man Who Has Lost His Religion and Does Not Miss it." The Sunday-school will meet in the chapel at 10 a. m.; the Men s Class at 10 a. m. in the church; the Y. P. S. C. E. will meet in the chapel at 6:30 p. m.

The meeting of the Woman's Literary Club will be held at its rooms in the Public Library on Monday afternoon, in charge of the department of literature and art. The following papers will be read, "The Afro-American On Literature," by Mrs. W. W. Smalley; "American Composers of Music," by Mrs. L. N. Wood, "Art and Articles," Miss Augusta Tappan.

Watchung.

The monthly meeting of the North Plainfield Township Committee was held at the Town Hall on Thursday, W. de LaR. Anderson presiding. In order to expedite the business of the township and enable the members of the Committee to scrutinize the various bills more closely, it was decided that these must be in the hands of the clerk by the third of the month. Among other matters that received careful consideration were complaints about some vicious dogs that attack pedestrians on Johnston's Drive and vicinity; the question of eventually opening up some of the old wood roads on the first and second mountains that have been lately closed up by the owners; an attempt to straighten out a legal tangle with reference to a quit claim and tax release on certain parcels of land in the township, being the result of a partial repeal of the current laws on the subject by the Legislature; and the enforcement of an ordinance of 1911 directing property owners to remove trees, bushes and obstructions standing on the side lines of the public roads in the township. The annual report of the Committee for 1914 is just being distributed to the taxpayers. Total receipts from all sources were $11,151.65. This does not include the school receipts of $5,995,-71, nor the tax levied and immediately paid for county and State purposes. Disbursements for 1914 were as follows: Township purposes, $5,854.58 (not including a bill of the township counsel which was presented too late for the report); roads, $1,922.25; poor, $989.51; Board of Health, $457.90; police, $170.90; fire department, $10; fire warden, $261.75; sidewalks, $16.10; electric lights, $1,694.92; telephone, $9.65; total, $11,087.56, leaving a balance of $64.-09. The next meeting of the Committee will be held on Thursday, March 11, at 2 p. m. Taxpayers are urged to attend these meetings, as the Committee cheerfully invites all advice and criticism.

M. Ramsey, of Princeton, will conduct the services in the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Union church tomorrow. Douglas W. Demler will conduct the evening song service.

Miss Edith Lane, of Ridgefield, is the guest of her classmate, Miss Elsie F. Schmidt, over the week-end.

Rev. and Mrs. Phinneas B. Kennedy, of Bloomsbury, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Kennedy, at Hickory Knoll.

William H. Demler, who has been confined to his home for the last week, is convalescing.

The Ladies' Auxiliary, of the North Plainfield Township Improvement Society, have made elaborate plans for their Valentine lunch box dance in the "Mill" this evening.

WILLING TO BE KIDNAPPED SHE TELLS BROTHER RESCUER

Somerville, Feb. 13—Pretty Annie Vistuk, sixteen years old, and Abralin Ally, a West Indian, were placed in the Somerset county jail, Thursday night, after they had attempted to elope from Manville, where Ally is employed in a manufacturing plant. The elopement was frustrated by the girl's brother, Michael Vistuk, who came here and informed the authorities that Ally had kidnapped his sister.

It was learned later that the girl was willing to be kidnapped and that Ally had telephoned to Recorder Sutphen here earlier in the day for a marriage license. He was referred to Walter French, license clerk of the township, in which the girl lives. The elopers drove across country to French's office near Millstone, but failed to get a license because of the girl's age. The two were found Thursday night at a store near Manville by the county authorities.

Vistuk made a charge against Ally and his sister and they were held for the Grand Jury.

S. S. ASS'N MEETING.

The Plainfield Sunday-school Association will meet on Monday night, April 12, at the First Presbyterian church. It is planned to have a few short addresses by prominent Sunday-school workers and there will also be an attractive program of music.

The Car That Makes Both Ends Meet

The Saxon Has Removed the Last Objection Anyone Ever Had to Own an Automobile--the Price Reason.

$395

In Detroit

What it Costs to OWN One

New improved body, genuine streamline effect — identical in style with high priced two-passenger cars. Wood or wire wheels. Electric lights and starter, $70. Standard or 60-inch tread.

1-2 cent Per Mile

What it Costs to RUN One

For the first cost of the Saxon places this sturdy car within reach of everyone. Its price is $395.

And the after cost of the Saxon keeps it within the means of everyone. Owners are amazed at the economy records of their Saxons—28 to 36 miles per gallon of gasoline; 75 to 100 miles per pint of oil; 3,500 to 5,000 miles on a set of tires. Saxons average half a cent a mile in operation cost—one-fourth of a cent per mile per passenger.

And the Saxon stands up. It endures the hardest kind of usage without flinching. Many thousands of Saxons now in use all over the United States, in Canada, and in foreign countries have proved the sterling goodness of Saxon construction.

HOW WE CAN DO IT.

Some folks wonder how we can possibly build for $395 a car that will do the things a Saxon will do. Good design is the answer—knowing how—having the right idea of what a light car should be and do, and then figuring out the best way to get these results at the lowest cost consistent with quality.

Our engineers had at their disposal all that has been learned about automobile building. They started from the beginning to design a light car for economical manufacture and upkeep. They adopted nothing freakish; but they found new ways to use many standard features. They also were first to use some brand-new things of proved efficiency.

For instance, they used, perhaps for the first time in this country, a high-speed motor. A few years ago it would have been impossible to build a motor the size of the Saxon and have it deliver adequate power. Today we know how to do it. Saxon engineers have designed a motor that is at once light, powerful, efficient and very durable.

SAVING 45 PARTS AT A STROKE.

Saxon engineers found a method of spring suspension that makes a light car exceedingly comfortable to ride in and at the same time saves 45 parts. Think of it 45 parts saved by one idea of design. By so doing they not only cut down manufacturing expense, but reduced weight and complications, and entirely eliminated noise.

And still more wonderful—the Saxon type vanadium springs provide the fullest riding comfort. No less than 15 higher priced cars have already adopted this type of springs.

In the Saxon Roadster our engineers use one large steel stamping as motor base, subframe, sod pan and dust apron, saving another two score parts, providing a better construction and reducing expense. Right design, again.

And so on all through the car. By taking thought, we are able to offer for $395 a better automobile than could be bought only a few years ago for five times the price. Saxon is the modern car.

The same thing has happened—though less rapidly—in other industries. You can buy today a better watch, a better locomotive, a better typewriter, a better sewing machine, for less money than you would have paid for an inferior article in the earlier days of those industries. Manufacturers have learned how to build better—at less cost.

WHAT SAXON OWNERS SAY.

A year ago some might have called the Saxon "an experiment." But not today. It has made good. Read what these owners say:

"Today the Saxon is the car of the rich and the poor man alike. It has come to stay and I will always own a Saxon. I have driven enough to know how reliable it is everywhere."—Father McCabe, St. Columbus Rectory, Stonesboro, Pa.

"I am using my Saxon over rough roads which one week will be very muddy and the next sandy. It is standing up and is doing splendid work."—W. H. Hudson, Hereford, N. C.

"My Saxon has been driven 1,800 miles—mostly through heavy sand and mud. I have only spent 15c for repairs. I average about 33 miles to the gallon. Recently I went through a mud hole where three large cars had been stuck and pulled out with horses."—George L. Jacobs, Marengo, Iowa.

"My Saxon has given perfect satisfaction. I have been able to get 28 to 29 miles per gallon on an average run of 600 miles. Oil consumption runs from a pint to a quart to each 150 miles."—Mrs. L. A. Gulley, Champaign, Ill.

"As an automobile man for a number of years, I think the Saxon car is the best mechanical buy on the market within $400 of its price."—P. L. Landis, Chicago, Ill.

"We have driven our Saxon 230 miles over rough roads, using 6¾ gallons of gasoline and one gallon lubricating oil; driver inexperienced."—Havre Commercial Co., Havre, Mont.

SAXON "SIX" $785.

For those who want a touring car, this 5-passenger six-cylinder Saxon is truly an unusual value. It is generously roomy—in no sense a small car. It has 112-inch wheelbase, 32x3½ inch tires, 30-35 horsepower, high-speed motor, electric lights and starter as regular equipment, and many other unexpected features. And the price, too, is unexpected—$785 fully equipped.

See the Saxons at your dealer's or send to us for the latest issue of "Saxon Days."

CHANGE S. P. C. A. LAWS.

Indirect tribute to the common sense method in which local S. P. C. A. cases are handled comes from the fact that there is no complaint about injustice in prosecuting offenders hereabouts, while in other sections of the state there is continual complaint. So great has been the trouble in Newark that the Evening News of that city has begun a vigorous campaign against some of the practices of the organization. In Ocean county the society for years has been dictatorial and unreasonable, and has brought about convictions before justices of the peace which have been a mere travesty on justice.

To do away with some of the practices which would disgrace Russian justice, two amendments to the S. P. C. A. laws are now pending before the Legislature at Trenton. One would take the handling of such cases away from the "nearest justice of the peace," and put the trial of cases on the police judge or recorder in municipalities where there are such officials, and where there are none, the district court would have jurisdiction. The other bill would change the method of disposing of the fines, half going to the municipality where the arrest is made and the balance to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, thus giving publicity to the collection and disposal of the money. Under the present law the society gets all the money, except the fees which go to the justices of the peace. The duties of the latter officials have been so restricted by legislation that many of them seek election, so that can get the "pickins" incident to the work for the S. P. C. A.

Both changes in the law are good ones. They will not interfere with the legitimate work of the Society where there is real prosecution and not persecution, and they will eliminate to a large extent the unjust convictions which the News and other papers are exposing at the present time.

ADORNING A STATE.

Like all the other western States, California is noted for the hustle and push of its residents. Just now, when all eyes are turned to the Golden Gate because of the Panama Pacific International Exposition, the State will attract more attention than ever before. The other States, New Jersey included, may take a hint from the plans that have been used to make California more attractive than ever to visitors.

With an idea of beautifying all the State before the opening of the fair the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce offered large money prizes for the best gardens planted and maintained by schools of California. Every city and town in the State was eligible to compete for the prizes, which ranged from $400 to $150. By the plan the elementary schools were placed in districts, eight in a group. Intermediate schools, special schools and colleges, as well as home gardens were provided for in the list of prizes. Judges visited every garden in the State which was entered in the contest.

The important feature of the California plan was that it offered an impetus for beautification to country schools and to towns of medium size. Thus all the publicity for beauty was not confined to the large cities. The California plan is adaptable to any State. The New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, for instance, could gain more friends and make more of a name for itself by adopting some such method, than in any other way of which we know. Instead of envying California, New Jersey might thus copy after it for the benefit of both rural and big and little urban communities.

HUNTING FOR MORE REVENUE.

When the taxpayers read that the newly-organized New Jersey League of Municipalities is "busying itself mainly with the new income and increased revenue questions," and that the members of the league admit that the problem of increasing municipal incomes is a most serious one, they are apt to wonder as the Trenton Times does, why some of the gray matter and energy are not used in reducing expenditures.

Of course it will be necessary, as the Times says, to persuade the voters that they should not be too quick in falling for the schemes of agents and promoters who are to be benefited by the adoption of improvements that, while desirable, are not absolutely necessary. The dancers must pay the fiddler, and the people who sign petitions and clamor for public improvements, must help pay for them.

The nation, states, counties, cities and towns have forgotten what prudence and economy mean. All are concerned in finding new sources of revenue without resorting to direct taxation. A little more preaching and practicing of economy and retrenchment will serve a good purpose while waiting for the discovery of something new to tax.

In the death of former State Senator Isaac T. Nichols, of Cumberland county, there is closed an active political career which has extended over a half century. He will long be remembered in New Jersey as the author of the Widows' Pension Law, which is helping hundreds of worthy women.

Commission government won out by three votes in Hoboken. Now all the Democratic machine needs to do to continue in control of the city is to win over three more people to vote for its candidates for commissioners.

The real estate men expect a record rental season along the Jersey coast this summer because the war interferes with European travel.

"It's an ill wind, etc."

Thehonorablejimsmith made a speech the other night in which he lauded President Wilson. Wonder what he's looking for now.

FUNERAL OF FLORET WURMSER

The funeral of Floret Wurmser was held in St. Joseph's church this morning in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The requiem mass was said by Rev. Father Hart. Numerous floral tributes were given by friends, several of them being large set pieces. Burial was made in St. Mary's cemetery, the pall bearers being George Zeller, Frank Zeller, Theodore Zeller, Frank Sprague, Augustus Failer and Mr. Dennis.

ATTEND CONVENTION.

L. B. Woolston and Charles E. Conover, of this city, attended the convention of the International House Painters and Decorators at Washington this week, the event being the thirty-first annual gathering of delegates from all parts of the world. The sessions were held in Hotel Raleigh and an interesting question—one which required the assistance of the Secretary of State to unravel—confronted the members.

EDITOR THOMSON TO SPEAK.

Arthur Thomson, of New York, editor of the "Thinkers World," will address the meeting at the Waldorf, 134 Crescent avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. His subject will be "The Fundamentals of Practical Christianity."

FRIENDS SURPRISE MR. DENTZ ON BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Robert Dentz, of Duer street, was given a birthday surprise by thirty friends who called unexpectedly at his home, last night. Mrs. Dentz was out at the time, but was reached by telephone, and coming back joined in the festivities. Several hours were spent in playing games, dancing and enjoying music, refreshments being served in conclusion. The rooms were decorated for the occasion with flags and patriotic colors. Mr. Dentz received numerous appropriate gifts as mementoes of the occasion.

The affair was arranged by Mr. Bungart, Miss C. Dentz and Mrs. Frank Leviers. Guests were present from Newark, New York and this city.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS WERE GUESTS OF MISS BLANCHARD

A number of young people from the Plainfield High School enjoyed an evening of "500" at the home of Miss Marion Blanchard, last night. Refreshments were served and dancing was a feature.

The following were present: The Misses Gladys Chickering, Mildred Burnett, Juliet Chamberlain, Elizabeth Moyer, Elizabeth Martin, Elizabeth Mumford, Jennie Peacock, Elsa Palmer, Edith Peacock, Dorothy Simons, Dorothy Peacock, Jean Peacock, Marion Blanchard, Marion Lockwood, Irma Good, and Fred Chamberlain, Herbert Peacock, David Blanchard, Edward Ryder, Robert Moyer, Charles Phelps, Roscoe Blanchard, Philip Schuyler, William Peacock, Daniel McNamee, Warren Mumford, Edward Crone, Eugene Martin.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

PATRIOTIC WELCOME FOR NEW CITIZENS

S. A. R. President Urges Such Ceremonies When Papers Are Granted.

Patriotic welcomes to naturalized citizens when they receive their papers is part of the program for the year's work of the Sons of the American Revolution, as outlined in a letter sent to the New Jersey society by R. C. Ballard Thruston, president-general of the national society, of Louisville, Ky. He sent a letter to the board of managers, which met Thursday at the headquarters, in Newark, asking that steps be taken in New Jersey to acquaint newly-made citizens with some of the duties of citizenship.

Too often, it is pointed out by the president-general, aliens become citizens without a proper knowledge of their duties. The communication was held until further advices are received from Mr. Thruston, outlining a program he has in mind.

Dr. George H. Richards, registrar, reported the membership steadily increasing. It is now 866. Fourteen additions were made yesterday. The total enrollment at the end of the fiscal year, March 31, will be over 300, as over forty applications are now in hand.

Herbert R. Crane, secretary of the dinner committee, reported that the idea of having a dinner on the evening of Washington's Birthday had been abandoned, and that it would be held instead on the evening of March 6, eve of the twenty-sixth anniversary of the society. A Washington's Birthday observance had been planned because it falls on the fiftieth birthday of W. I. Lincoln Adams, State president. He was compelled to sail for Bermuda today on account of his health, and will not arrive home until February 23. An innovation will therefore be made in the arrangements. Instead of having the dinner for men only, as proposed, it will also be for women of the members' families, and will be given at the Washington.

Preceding the banquet, a special meeting of the society will be held for the purpose of acting upon several amendments to the bylaws.

President Adams announced that he had been invited to the twenty-fifth anniversary banquet of the Empire State Society, to be held at the Hotel Marimique on Tuesday night, February 16, and also to a service in memory of Washington at the Orange Valley Congregational church, on Sunday afternoon, February 21, under the auspices of Orange Mountain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

NONPAREIL CLUB GIVES MINSTRELS AND DANCE

The Nonpareil Social Club attracted a large crowd to its clubhouse on St. Mary's avenue, last night, when it gave an entertainment and dance, the feature of which was a first-part minstrel show. Members of the club formed the cast and chorus and when the curtain went up, showing the end men in full dress attire, and the other participants garbed as sailors, they were greeted with rapturous applause.

Verona Marcelius acted as interlocutor and Eddie Ford, J. Taylor, Fred Cline, Roland McCrea, Wesley Saunders and Julian Smith were the end men. Arthur Venable presided at the piano. The work of the principles was appreciated by the audience and reflected credit upon the work of the coaches, William Jones, John Murray, William Grobes and Robert Stevens. The entertainment was followed by a dance which continued until after midnight.

OFFER WILL FOR PROBATE.

Elizabeth, Feb. 13.—The will of James Stewart, who died in Plainfield about three weeks ago, was offered for probate in the office of the surrogate here yesterday by City Judge W. G. DeMeza. Mrs. Stewart, the widow, is named as executrix and the entire estate valued at several thousand dollars is left to her. Mr. Stewart was well known in Plainfield and throughout the county.

PARENT-TEACHER ASS'N PLAN INTERESTING SERMON

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Plainfield High School will meet at the High School at 8 o'clock Monday evening, when reports of the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations held at Atlantic City in November will be presented and there will be an informal discussion of them during a business session.

Miss Ann Miller, the Latin teacher, will explain Latin work in the High School showing its practical application. This will be the first meeting since the mid-year examinations and parents will be given an opportunity to consult with teachers in reference to the school work of their children. All persons interested whether they have children in school or whether they are members of the association are invited to the meeting.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY GIVE A DUTCH SUPPER

The Ladies' Aid Society, of Grace M. E. church, gave a "Dutch" supper, last night. The church was decorated in red, white and blue, and on the tables were candles and cut flowers. There was a large attendance from 6 to 8 o'clock, when the supper was served. Those in charge of the various tables were attired in Dutch costume.

The following members of the society had charge of the affair: Mrs. J. C. Darby, general chairman, dishes and napkins, Mrs. Andrew Lutkins, Miss Carrie Barnes; meat, Mrs. E. A. Vermuele; frankfurters, Mrs. F. Schuck and Mrs. W. J. Conroy; butter, Mrs. Henry DeMott and Mrs. Lippincott; salad, Mrs. Charles Force and Mrs. Andrew Vanderbeck; baked beans, Mrs. G. C. Nelson and Mrs. Walter Smalley; coffee and crullers Mrs. H. Apgar and Mrs. E. Terry; pie, Mrs. Charles Harden, Mrs. Dyckman VanWinkle and Mrs. Bauersachs.

CARNIVAL MINSTREL MADE A BIG HIT WITH VISITORS

Those who attend the Columbus Club indoor carnival tonight will be provided with a special program of entertainment arranged for by the committee as a finale to one of the most successful events ever run under the club's auspices. Dancing will be the principal feature with the usual last night occurrences.

Thursday night a minstrel show was put on and proved a big hit, in fact it took so well that a black-face presentation representative of the club's talent is being arranged for in the near future. Those who provided the merriment included: End men, J. R. Sullivan, J. J. Green, L. W. Harding and J. J. McCarthy; chorus, J. F. Murray, P. J. McDonough, F. E. Frazier, J. J. Casey, J. J. Kyle, John Caffrey, P. J. Powers, E. J. Harding, J. J. Duffy; interlocutor, H. P. Greenwood. F. Otto Linke was the musical director, and solos were rendered by E. J. Harding, P. J. Powers, J. J. McCarthy, J. J. Green, L. W. Harding and J. R. Sullivan.

MANY FRIENDS ATTEND FUNERAL OF MRS. REMPPIES

The funeral of Mrs. Della Theresa Remppies, wife of John Remppies, who died suddenly at her home on Madison avenue Tuesday night, following an attack of heart failure, was held in St. Mary's church this morning. It was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends, all of whom deeply mourned the young woman whose life had been so unexpectedly terminated. A solemn high mass of requiem was said by Rev. Vincent Sciolla and Rev. Father B. M. Bogan spoke on the life of Mrs. Remppies, taking occasion to draw a lesson from the circumstances of her demise. There were numerous floral tributes.

Burial was made in St. Mary's cemetery and a large delegation from the Ladies' Auxiliary to St. Joseph's church, of which Mrs. Remppies was a member, acted as an escort. The pall bearers were Frank Donnelly, William Burke, George Webb, Patrick Waldron, Michael Waldron and Edward Kelly.

"RELIGION OF THE RAZOR,"

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, preaches tomorrow evening the first of two special sermons to men, the topic tomorrow evening being "The Religion of the Razor." The following Sunday he will preach the companion sermon entitled "Sack-Coat Saints." These sermons, while especially for men and of peculiar interest to them, will be of general interest to all, both men and women, old and young, and a cordial invitation is extended the public to attend.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL SOCIAL.

A Sunday-school social was held in the First Baptist church, last night, which was thoroughly enjoyed by those present. The birth of Abraham Lincoln (105 years ago) was celebrated in an appropriate manner with speeches and recitations, followed by an instrumental and vocal program. Miss Roberts, of New York, an elocutionist, gave several recitations, and Mrs. A. B. Price, of Westfield, sang a number of solos. Refreshments were served in conclusion.

Annual Sale of Publishers' Overstocks

At 50 to 80 Per Cent. Below Publication Prices

Every year about this time the best-known publisers—such as Century Co., Scribner's, Putnam, etc.—come to the Wanamaker Book Store as the outlet for their overstocks.

Books that have to make way for newer publications, that are sold down to too few to catalogue, that are over-produced or over-imported, and that are not to be issued again—these are the books which publishers have to dispose of regardless of price.

One publisher (the Century Co.), as result of moving to new quarters, decided reluctantly to let us have some of its

HEAD OF S. P. C. A. DEFENDS METHODS

Col. E. S. Edwards Calls Proposed Changes in Humane Law Vicious.

Colonel Edward S. Edwards, of Newark, president of the New Jersey Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, defended the society's methods Thursday and voiced his opposition to two bills, Nos. 58 and 59, now pending before the Legislature. The bills are amendments of the act under which the society operates.

Opinions differ on the effect of the proposed amendments. On one hand, claims are made that their passage will be the death knell of the S. P. C. A. in this State, while others assert the only effect will be to remove the alleged abuses of the present system. That the society is in need of money is controverted by the discovery that the State society is worth about $100,000.

The bills take the power of magistrate in S. P. C. A. cases from justices of the peace, giving the jurisdiction to the police court judges, town recorders or District Court judges; permit one three-day adjournment if requested, and provide that the fine be divided between the society and the municipality in which the offense was committed, instead of all going to the society as now. When reported to the Assembly, a recommendation that they apply only to first and second-class cities probably will be made.

The bills are being opposed and the present system defended by the officers of the S. P. C. A. Colonel Edwards calls the proposed legislation vicious and declares the change will work a great hardship on the society.

PRESSURE BROUGHT TO PASS ANTI-PRISON GOODS LAW

Washington, Feb. 12.—Extreme pressume is being brought to bear upon Senators by the National Consumers' League, and other interested associations, to force the passage in the Senate of Senator Hughes prison contract labor bill. This bill will, when enacted, check the practice of pumping prison made goods from other States on the market in States which abolished prison contract labor within their own borders. Twenty-one States have abolished such labor, but under the United States Constitution they cannot shut our prison-made products of other States.

FOURTH HOME SOCIAL.

Women of the Church of the Heavenly Rest and their friends have been invited to attend a "Home Social" at the residence of Mrs. William G. Hutchcroft, 221 Clinton avenue, next Tuesday night. The affair is the fourth one of the series for members of this church and the program followed will be similar to that of preceding events.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL CLINCHES INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP FOLLOWING FIERCE GAME WITH THE BOROUGHITES

PLAINFIELD WINS THE LEAGUE TITLE

Final Score Favored Home Team by Margin of One Point, Reading 24 to 23.

Four rapid-fire shots, verging on the spectacular and executed by "Bill" Peacock, in the Interscholastic League game, on the Plainfield High School court, yesterday afternoon, clinched the league championship for the local players, the defeat being the second administered to the North Plainfield High School representatives. As in the previous contest the verdict was of the one point variety, Plainfield being on the larger end of a 24 to 23 score when the battle was culminated. Plainfield won, but North Plainfield was glorious in defeat and the league title has never been decided by a closer margin. Two more evenly matched combatants could not be singled out and their even calibre, together with the keeness produced by meetings of these aggregations, made the fracas a nerve racker.

Plainfield's one point advantage when the final whistle blew fails to indicate just how much superior the locals were on their home court. An eleventh hour spurt brought the boroughites to within striking distance of the red and blue tally in the last two minutes of play. Until that time Plainfield had enjoyed a comfortable lead and when the flash of speed was put across by the rival faction the tally card read 24 to 15. A series of foul shots caged by "Wren" Townley from the fifteen foot mark and a couple of field goals brought North Plainfield up almost on a par with the opposition.

Yesterday's encounter was one of the slam-bang, tooth-and-nail variety with Plainfield playing the pace-setter's role because of her familiarity with the home court. Two field goals in the opening minutes of play, one by Rosenson and the other by Chamberlain, oppeared to bewilder the boroughites and from that point until within two minutes of the end they were never really dangerous. There was not an instant's let-up in the battle from the time the opening signal was sounded until the curtain was drawn and 600 fans surged on the gym floor.

Meetings of local and borough rivals is always productive of good basketball and keen competition, but the engagement yesterday was a little above the ordinary. Every man on the floor performed in his best style; few opportunities to chalk up points were let slip and the passing of both sides was splendid. In fact, it was passing that gave Plainfield a chance to hang up a commanding lead in the opening minute of play and throughout the forty minutes of competition the Plainfielders gave one of the greatest exhibitions of sphere manipulation ever witnessed by an interscholastic gathering.

Unlike the previous meeting this game was one in which fouling was inconspicuous. Plainfield High School was called for thirteen violations while the boroughites were penalized but six times. In the latter part of the encounter, with Plainfield enjoying a seemingly comfortable advantage, every semblance of a doubt was decided in North Plainfield's favor, while the Plainfielders fought to a finish against a handicap that came within an ace of costing them the game.

Plainfield's victory was not registered on fouls, but one of the clean-cut undoubtable kind, the field goals standing eleven to eight in favor of the victors. North Plainfield, through the expertness of "Wren" Townley, made good on six free throws, while Plainfield could turn but two of its six attempts into points.

FINE EXHIBITION OF TEAM PASSING

North Plainfield's Eleventh Hour Flash of Speed Threw a Big Scare.

Beyond Peacock's whirlwind act in the second half there was little individualism displayed. It was a case of captain against captain, well matched and spured on to scrap to a finish; Conroy against Peacock, both assisting in the scoring; VanMater against Chamberlain, with the boroughite holding the better end of the jump at center, but with Chamberlain bagging a quintet of field goals; Wheelan against Townley, the latter because of his experience and versatality having the better of the fight, and Rosenson against Hebert, the last named fighting a battle the exact replica of that staged by the two captains.

"RED" WALLER, FORMER LOCAL TWIRLER, HAS STRUCK OUT FOR THE LAST TIME

John F. ("Red") Waller, one of the best known athletes that ever tossed a baseball, died at his home, 311 Ege avenue, Jersey City, yesterday, following a long illness. Before signing a contract to perform for Johnny McGraw's New York Giants, Waller twirled for many semi-professional teams in the Metropolitan district, principal among which were Plainfield, Westfield, New Brunswick and Elizabeth clubs. Although he annexed his John Hancock to a New York National League contract, Waller never took the mound for the Gothamites, balking at the deal a electing to continue in the semi-pro pastime. He afterwards joined the Jersey City team in the International League, and pitched sterling ball for the Skeetertown club.

One of the best games of his career was pitched at Westfield against the Plainfield Baseball Club, September 3, 1904. He allowed Plainfield but three hits in eleven innings and brought in the run that won the game for the Mt. Ararat club in the last frame. During the month of September, 1904, the Westfield and Alis Club team, of this city, engeged in a four-game home and home series with "Red" on the mound for Westfield. In the first game Waller allowed ten hits, but Westfield won by a score of 8 to 6. Plainfield came back in the second and beat Waller to the tune of 3 to 0 and repeated in the third engagement by a margin of 6 to 0. Plainfield wound up the series with a 3 to 0 verdict.

Waller's work in the Westfield-Alis series typified his ecentric career as a ballplayer. One afternoon the brick-topped port-sider was practically invincible and in the next he was pounded to the four corners of the lot.

Paterson bowlers had a chance to tie the New Brunswicks for first place in the Elks' League last night, but, to turn the trick, they needed to hand a triple defeat to the Plainfield pin-knights in a match that was decided at Paterson. They only got two games and are still third, one game each day behind the leaders, the Elizabeths being in between. New Brunswick has won thirty-one games and lost seventeen, the Elizabeths have captured twenty-nine games and been beaten in sixteen and the Patersons have won thirty games and lost eighteen. The match last night was a remarkably close one. The Patersonians, with the modest total of 848, got the first game by two pins and they lost the last game by six pins, the Plainfield bowlers turning in 919, while the Silk City pin-knights were there for 913. Johnny Campbell was the star performer in this contest, accounting for a mark of 255. It was the only score above the double-century mark to the credit of the visitors. Harry Taylor rolled 207 and 204 for the home five and averaged a pin less than 200.

PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL THROWS DEFY AT Y. M. C. A

Following their victory over North Plainfield yesterday afternoon, the Plainfield High School players announced that they were ready to issue a defy to the Y. M. C. A. basketball aggregation for a series to decide the city championship, the association boys at present claiming that honor. The challenge will probably be accepted by the Y. M. C. A. and a home and home series started.

Games between the local teams would be productive of some keen enthusiasm and good basketball and it is hoped that the project goes through.

LEAL SCHOOL TEAM WON CLOSE DECISION

Four Points Separated Locals From Home Performers Last Night.

The Leal School basketball team added another victory to its list yesterday when it defeated the Staten Island Academy five at that place. The final score was 19 to 15. The game was hard fought throughout, neither team doing much scoring in the first half.

The local guards kept their opponents from shooting a basket in the first half and the only counts the home team made were two fouls and an awarded point; Garrigues and Schneider each tallied on field goals which made the score 4 to 3 at the ned of the initial period. Stewart was the whole show in the last period, scoring three field goals and five fouls. The score follows:

BIG GATE RECEIPTS.

Manager Nicholas Zelmas, of the Plainfield High School basketball team, has announced that there were exactly 500 paid admissions at yesterday's interscholastic battle, the city school athletic association realizing the sum of $125. There were, of course, many officials and the total attendance was probably about 525. This amount is almost as large as that made by the borough school in the first game.

SCORE WAS 43 TO 1.

A novelty was sprung at Kearny, last night, when the Kearny High School team defeated the Linden High School team, of Linden, in a basketball game, 43 to 1. Even the point credited to the Linden quartet was not scored by the visitors, it being awarded them when a class B foul was called on one of the home players.

BASKETS GALORE BUT TEAM WON BY TWO POINTERS

The North Plainfield Crimson Club basketball team defeated the K. B. seconds of Westfield, at that place last night, the final count being 55 to 53. The game was a close and exciting one throughout, the boroughites leading at the end of the first half by five points.

In the last period the Westfielders outscored their opponents by three points but could not get the needed two points to tie the score. Every player on the local team had a hand in the scoring. The scores follow:

R. E. A. L. ASS'N ENJOY A BANQUET

Men's Class of First Presbyterian Church Hold First Annual Affair.

INTERESTING SPEECHES

S. S. Swackhamer, Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring and F. L. Palmer Respond to Toasts—City Judge W. G. DeMeza Toastmaster.

The first annual banquet of the R. E. A. L. Men's Association of the First Presbyterian church, which was held last night in the Sunday-school rooms, was largely attended and was a successful function. There were about eight present and a bounteous six-course dinner was enjoyed by all. The repast was served by members of the class. During the meal Suhr's orchestra entertained with musical selections and the guests joined in singing 'It's a Long Way to Tipperary," "When You Wore a Tulip," "The Watch on the Rhine," "America" and other popular songs.

City Judge William G. DeMeza, president of the association, acted as toastmaster and made a speech prior to introducing the speakers of the evening. The first speaker was S. S. Swackhamer, of the borough, and he took for his subject a topic well selected for the occasion, "Lincoln." He told humerous stories and then shifted his comments to "Abraham Lincoln, the Man." He gave many illustrations of his wonderful character and gave an example of him in connection with his debates with Stephen Douglas. His famous Gettysburg address is only surpafsed by the divine sermon on the Mount, said Mr. Swackhamer.

Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church was the next speaker. He urged his audience to strive for high ideals and said that ideals are relentless pacemakers. A person without ideals of his own will always be back of the crowds and will make no progress in his work. The speaker emphasized the ideals of brotherhood, that of cooperation between churches of different denominations.

Frederick L. Palmer gave a very interesting and helpful talk on "A Word for Young Men," and urged all men starting out for a successful life in business to keep clean and always be with God. Keep your business free from sin and success is bound to come. H. W. Herrman, who is the teacher of the R. E. A. L. class, spoke on the meaning of the letters which formed the name of the association. He said that R stood for religion, E for efficiency, A for alive and L for loyal, four parts which are bound to make up a real class.

The class meets in the First Presbyterian church every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock and there are at present about eighteen members. Mr Herrman is the teacher and any man is cordially invited to join the class and enjoy the hour every Sunday.

MR. STULTZ'S PNEUMONIA A MISCREANT'S CANARD

Martin Stultz, of Mt. Bethel, was in town this morning and was way late doing his shopping because every other man he met expressed surprise at seeing him around. It seems that several newspapers printed an item the other day that Mr. Stultz was seriously ill with pneumonia and it took all his time telling people that there was nothing to it. Mr. Stultz was emphatic in his declaration that for many years he has been free from rheumatism, chill blains, berri-berri, housemaid's knee, epizootic and all the other peculiar ailments to which human flesh is heir.

"In fact," said Mr. Stultz, as the hundred and forty-fifth friend approached at Front and Somerset streets to ask how we was getting along, "if I was feeling any better than I am right now, I wouldn't be able to stand it."

Mr. Stultz asked the newspaper men if they would spread the glad tidings that he was looking after his farm as usual, that he never had pneumonia, either tertiary or secondary, and if he gets half a chance between now and the time for spring planting he is going to run down the miscreant who started the rumor. Without going into detail he hinted that the canard originated in the fertile brain of a Warren township ex-official and it was sent broadcast to suit one of the latter's numerous political plans.

DR. COBB TO PREACH.

The pulpit of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow will be occupied at both morning and afternoon services by Rev. Dr. Henry Evertson Cobb, minister of the West End Collegiate church, 77th street and West End avenue, New York city. Services will be as usual at 10:30 and at 5 o'clock, with an organ recital at 4:45. Dr. Zelie will exchange pulpits with Dr. Cobb.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The Nonpareil Feature Film Company's production of "Alice In Wonderland" delighted large audiences at the Plainfield Theatre, yesterday afternoon and last night, delighting the young folks and pleasing their elders. Every scene in the five reels was hugely enjoyed, surprise after surprise occurring with great rapidity. "Alice In Wonderland" will be repeated this afternoon and tonight, affording a last opportunity for Plainfielders to see the greatest screen novelty that has yet been produced. Every day next week, with the exception of Thursday, the Plainfield Theatre will offer photo-plays second to none. The announcements include the following: Monday and Tuesday, Edward Abeles in James Montgomery's highly interesting play, "Ready Money," filled with tense dramatic action in every one of its five reels. Wednesday, matinee and night, Robert Edeson and Claire Whitney in David Belasco's spectacular drama, "The Girl I Left Behind Me," as produced by Charles Frohman; Friday and Saturday, John Barrymore in H. A. McCouchet's comedy triumph "The Man From Mexico." 'Ready Money," which is to be shown Monday and Tuesday, tells a story dealing with western mining operations, New York stock speculating, and the social life in the "White Way," intermingled with persistance on the part of the hero to secure money enough to develop a valuable vein which he has discovered and which in the end brings him a fortune and a bride. There is action in every moment of the play and the interpretation of the leading role as given by Mr. Abeles grips the spectators with vise-like tenacity. Mr. Abeles has been a prominent figure in the legitimate theatrical world for many years, one of his greatest successes being the role of "Monty Brewster" in the comedy drama, "Brewster's Millions." In "Ready Money" he ably demonstrates that he is fuly as capable when posing for the camera as he was when he was at the crest of the New York dramatic wave a few seasons ago.

The Plainfield Theatre will have an attraction distinctly out of the ordinary for matinee and night performances next Thursday, February 18, when Harry Hasting's big musical burlesque production, "The Tango Queens," is presented. It is described as the fastest, jolliest and most tuneful burlesque performance produced in years, a gale of laughter, a wealth of song, and a genuine treat for everybody. Tom Coyne, one of the best known comedians in the business, heads the big company of forty people, which also includes twenty-five Tango Queens. Princess Zemoa, an actress gifted with both histrionic and vocal ability, will be seen in the leading feminine role. No expense has been spared in giving the production a proper scenic mounting and the costumes are among the handsomest carried by any road company out this season. This will positively be one of the best musical attractions at the Plainfield Theatre the present winter and to miss it means letting an unusual opportunity go by.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Flawless photography; a strong story, and an adequate cast, with the incomparable star, Beatriz Michelena in the name part; these are the distinguishing characteristics of the 5 part photo-play "Mignon," produced by the California Motion Picture Corporation and to be shown at Proctor's Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

In all essentials "Mignon" is a classic photo-play—classic in origin of them; in its history; in its widespread popularity; classic in respect of those who have been associated with it. Some stories there are which seem destined to remain immortal. "Mignon" is one of them.

Motographic art has advanced to the point where people of education are demanding on the screen something more than photographed histrionics; the want sentiment, feeling, thought; they want the evident interpretation of the emtions described in and by the story. Hence the urgent call for artists of the first rank and quality; artists by nature, intuition conviction, instinct; training, thought and temperament. The formula is familiar enough, but the finished product is comparatively scarce.

Beatriz Michelena is an artist of the character described—she might fairly be considered as the living embodiment of the character conceived by the great writer, Goethe; by the operatic maestro, Ambroise Thomas and by numerous grand opera stars in the last fifty years who have impersonated the character on the stage. This girl has a singularly beautiful person, quite in keeping with one's ideal of what the young gypsy may be supposed to have been; she has starred in the opera, has stage craft at her finger tips, and has learned the stage business of the part so thoroughly that she is always, instantly, letter-perfect. An ideal Mignon in every respect.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

A contract was awarded by the public buildings and grounds committee of the Board of Freeholders yesterday afternoon to the Elizabeth Cornice Company to provide shields above the steam radiators in the new grand jury room in the courthouse and in the courthouse law library. The successful bidder's figure was $88. The H. A. Rath Company bid $91.

TELLS ON THE KIDNEYS.

Plainfield People Have Found This to be True.

The strain of overwork tells on weakened kidneys. The hurry and worry of business men, the heavy lifting and stooping of workmen, the women's household cares, tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they can no longer filter the poison from the blood and the whole body suffers from the waste matter that accumulates. Weakened kidneys need quick assistance. Doan's Kidney Pills are prepared especially for weakened kidneys; tired, worn out backs—have proven their merit in thousands of such cases. Convincing proof of their worth in a Plainfield citizen's statement.

Mrs. C. B. Coriell, 60 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered from kidney disorder for years and the principal symptom was a severe backache. Since I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills I have taken them off and on and they have always acted like magic, giving me prompt relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Coriell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY IN PLAINFIFLD

ACTIVE BUILDING SEASON PROMISED

Practically Every Material Distributor Ready for Spring Specifications.

BUILD NOW MOVEMENT

Contractors Anticipating New Business Have Placed Supplemental Reserve Orders to Give Customers the Advantages of Low Prices.

New York, Feb. 13.—Practically every building material distributor in the Metropolitan district is ready for spring specifications. A tour of the leading yards in New York and East New Jersey this week indicates that preparations are being made for an active building season. Some dealers, anticipating that the "Build Now" movement which has been underway for several weeks, will catch them short of certain materials like yellow pine, common brick, sand and crushed stone, have placed supplemental reserve orders, so as to give their customers the advantage, as long as possible, of the present low price of materials.

Manufacturers' agents, however, are beginning to make restrictions in the matter of long term deliveries. Portland cement agents are not quoting $1.37 except for immediate or thirty-day options. Yellow pine interests are even more rigid and will not make quotations at present list longer than ten days. An advance in price is expected at any time so quotations on this commodity are made subject to change without notice. A tighter discount on window glass is also expected, owing to increasing foreign orders.

The increased capacity reported by the United States Steel Corporation, and the re-employment of more men at some of the independent steel companies have given rise to the rumor that quotations on structural steel will not long remain at the present low level of $1.85 for shapes and sheets and $1.80 for bars at Waverly. At least a five-cent advance in the pound is considered possible.

Suburban architects are authority for the statement that the "Build Now" movement is bearing fruit. Jersey City, Newark, Paterson, Elizabeth and Plainfield are all centres of improved activity in residential building. New York, especially above 125th street, is showing signs of much greater activity in speculative construction, especially in the eastern portion. Brooklyn is reported to be developing a larger quantity of two-family and small tenement houses, with here and there a notable apartment house, operation along the line of the new subway developments. Queens building material interests are reporting an improved activity in fireproof house construction.

The situation with regard to crushed stone and gravel in this market is attracting attention. Some sizes are not being quoted. Quarries are being operated as full as weather conditions have permitted, but even so the demand is considerably above the supply. Sand, however, is weak, because it is a by-product of the gravel output and as gravel is in greater demand than sand, owing to heavy subway requirements, the price is weaker than it normally would be.

Slate is also another commodity that is moving up. Genuine Bangor stiffened this week, subject to delivery conditions. Linseed oil is holding well despite the fluctuating condition of the flaxseed market at Duluth.

Common brick, for this time of the year is doing well. The price levels now ruling seem to be well sustained, considering weather conditions, and riding is proceeding quite in conformity with that of last February. The next price movement promises to be upward. Most dealers are riding from stocks which may account for the light buying and unloading reported by the big distributors. This is particularly true of the section north of the Harlem River and in such cities as Newark and Jersey City.

Another sign of an improving market was noted in the action of the National Tube Company in opening the week with a reduced discount on wrought iron pipe. The reduction was only one point, which is equivalent to an advance of $2 per ton for April delivery and a reduction of two points, or an advance of $4 a ton for May and June delivery. Announcement was made that Levering & Garrigues will furnish the 500 tons of structural steel for the Joseph T. Ryerson warehouse in New York. Pending steel orders that have developed since the first of the month aggregate about 9,000 tons.

Building projects actually are going ahead and the trend of prices is unmistakably upward on deliveries covering periods longer than 60 days.

WEST END TRACT TO BE DEVELOPED

J. S. Dahl Purchases 12 Acres on W. Seventh St. That Will Lead to Building Boom.

John S. Dahl, the local contractor and builder, has purchased from Richard H. Hood, through the latter's partner, Brandt Rehrer, two parcels of land on West Seventh street, that will lead to a brick building boom in that section during the coming spring and summer. One parcel aggregates seven acres and is located on the south side of West Seventh street, adjoining the Harris property at Clinton avenue. The other parcel is situated on the north side of West Seventh street, intersected by Evona avenue, and has a total area of five acres. The property is admirably situated for development and it is Mr. Dahl's intention to do so as soon as the weather permits. Each tract is to be properly mapped into desirable building lots and placed on the market. Mr. Dahl will retain several desirable lots on which he will erect moderate priced houses, also intended for speculative purposes.

The land in the vicinity of these two parcels has been gradually building up during the past five years and the additional boom will bring a very noticeable increase to the population of that section. The location is convenient to the Fourth street trolley, also the West End factories and the new Piscataway township school at Brunswick avenue. The Church of the Heavenly Rest is also within a stone's throw of the entire parcel.

Mr. Dahl at the present time is doing some developing in the western end of Dunellen and next week will start the erection of three houses on Chestnut street, a short distance from the Levgar Steel Works. They will cost about $2,000 each, exclusive of the lot, and as soon as rented or sold, similar ones will be started.

CONTRACTS FILED WITH COUNTY CLERK CALVERT

Operations throughout the county hold their own through the entire territory, with all parts of the county represented in the nine contracts filed with County Clerk James L. Calvert during the week ending last Saturday. The contracts as filed call for the expenditure of $28,487.

Two of the contracts are of interest to this city, one being between Hugh T. Treacy with Willard D. Bird for the erection of a building on Darrow avenue at a cost of $595. The other is the contract between the Kenilworth Methodist church, of Kenilworth, and John Hiller, Jr., covering a new edifice for that congregation. The cost of the latter building is placed at $3,415. George Fisher, Jr., of Manson place, this city, is the architect of the church building.

BUILDING OPERATIONS FALL OFF IN ELIZABETH

According to the Construction News for last week, building operations in the city of Elizabeth for the year 1914 decreased $282,529 in value over the operations of the previous year. Of six New Jersey cities, Elizabeth, Newark, Passaic, Paterson, Trenton and Hoboken, only two, Paterson and Hoboken, show an increase over the 1913 building.

Construction News gives a long statement showing the building operations in 103 cities, month by month. The majority of cities report a falling off in building although some increased despite the war and the financial depression. It is noticeable that much of the increase in building comes from the Middle West. Some of the far Western cities, too, show increases.

SECURING ESTIMATES.

The Public Service Corporation is securing estimates for a slight alteration to be made to the old electric light station on Madison avenue, made necessary by the proposed widening of that thoroughfare. The wall of the boiler room encroaches on the new line about eighteen inches and it will be necessary to take this much off the front of that part of the structure. The main building will not be touched when ith widening is started.

PITTIS' CONTRACTS LET.

James W. Carter has been awarded the contract to do the carpentering work in repairing the Pittis building on East Front street, which was recently damaged by fire. The painting will be done by James C. Hansen and a number of other contracts are pending. The insurance adjusters allowed about $1,000 in settling the loss on the structure.

BUILDING CONDITIONS CONTINUE STEADY

Four Permits Calling for Expenditure of $5,775 Issued by Inspector Doane.

Quiet reigned in local building circles during the course of the past week, when four permits were issued by Inspector T. O. Doane, the documents covering one dwelling, one lumber storage shed and two garages at a total cost of $5,775.

Notwithstanding the quiet week, indications still hold fast for an early spring opening of the building season in this city, as several of the city's architects report that a number of plans are now in the course of preparation. The recent developments and movements in the real estate market, both in this city and the surrounding towns, indicate that money is being invested right and left in unimproved property suitable for building sites.

The permits as issued during the past week are as noted below:-

First Ward.

The Plainfield Ice & Supply Company is to erect a 16x18 foot lumber storage shed at their plant at North avenue and Berckman street. The added facilities to the concern's yard has been necessary by the many building activities of the East End of the town. The estimated cost of the structure has been placed at $800. M. D. O'Keeffe has been awarded the general contract.

Second Ward.

Charles E. Loizeaux is having a 12x18 foot frame garage erected at 1008 Helene avenue, where Mr. Loizeaux recently erected a dwelling. The cost is estimated as being $225. Stahl & Kinney, borough contractors, will care for the construction work.

Third Ward.

A two-and-half-story dwelling is to be erected on Irving place by Dr. Guy H. Hillman, of Park avenue. The structure will be of frame construction, with a frontage of twenty-nine feet, and a depth of thirty-four feet, and will cost in the vicinity of $4,500. The base course will be of concrete with a brick foundation, hemlock frame work and a shingled roof. A hot-air heating system is to be installed. Alexander Milne has been awarded the carpenter contract, while Frank McInerney will care for the masonery work.

C. E. Thompson is having constructed a frame garage in the rear of 820 West Fifth street, at a cost of $250. The building will measure 16 by 18 feet. Joseph Brandt has been awarded the mason contract, while Stahl & Kinney will care for the carpentry work.

JUST NOTES

The bids for the work on the proposed Harrison Avenue School, the borough, will be received and opened by the North Plainfield Board of Education, Monday evening of next week. It is expected that a large number of bids will be received by the educational body, and that the prices asked will meet the needs of the borough. Just how soon the contracts will be let and signed is not definitely known at this time, although it is probable that work will be started on the new building shortly after the first of the coming month.

The realty boom has already struck this section of the State, and the tightness of the money market appears to be fast disappearing. There is no doubt in the minds of local contractors that the long looked for building boom will follow closely at the heels of the rally in the realty market.

Many plans for new buildings in various sections of the city appear to be hanging fire at this time, with the probabilities bright for the letting of the contracts on many of them in the near future.

Many repair and small alteration jobs are occupying the attention of contractors at the present time, pending the official opening of the spring season.

Two weeks of February gone, and bids for the work on the new postoffice building not advertised for yet. Possibly someone is waiting for another political campaign to roll around.

TENEMENT HOUSES.

Tenement house construction took a drop throughout the State last week, when eleven permits were passed upon by the State Board of Tenement House Supervision, calling for the total expenditure of $110,200. This record is against thirteen permits and an aggregate expenditure of $123,400 for the preceding week.

LOCAL ARMORY A NEAR POSSIBILITY

Assemblyman Pierson to Introduce Bill Calling for the Needed Appropriation.

HOME FOR COMPANY K

Captain Peterson and Major Martin Present Argument for the Needed Structure to the Joint Appropriation Committee.

An armory building in this city as a home for Company K is a possibility for the near future if plans now under way are not circumvented. Captain Charles A. Peterson, who is the head of the local militia organization, and Major William B. Martin, of Elizabeth, were given a hearing by the Legislative Joint Appropriation Committee the past week, receiving assurances that Plainfield would be given every consideration when the State military expense budget is made up. With the idea of having the idea coming to a head as soon as possible, a bill calling for a Plainfield armory will be introduced in the lower house by Assemblyman Arthur Pierson sometime during the present session. It is understood that it will receive the ardent support of the other Union county legislators, and also those of Somerset county, because of North Plainfield's proximity.

A State law passed some years ago fixes $25,000 as the maximum amount that can be given by the State for an armory. This is exclusive of the site, which the Board of Freeholders must provide for, the militia measure making it compulsory. In one sense of the word, $25,000 would hardly be sufficient to provide a suitable asylum for Company K, as the prices of both labor and material have increased fully twenty-five per cent. since the figure was fixed. The armory at Somerville cost approximately $24,000 when it was erected a few years ago, and could not be duplicated today under $30,000. In many instances throughout the State, public spirited citizens have contributed large sums to make the armories more adequate and complete, and when the opportunity arises, there is no doubt but what numerous Plainfielders possessed of civic pride will assist in giving this community the kind of a military home its size demands.

In speaking of the armory matter yesterday, Captain Peterson informed a Daily Press reporter that he felt much encouraged after his talk with the appropriation committee, but there is still a lot of work to be done before the structure is a reality. The idea kept uppermost in designating which companies shall be granted an appropriation is to give it those having the best record. As far as this is concerned Company K has no qualms of conscience. It will be fourteen years old the twenty-seventh of this month, and during that time has been well to the front in everything pertaining to its conduct. Its personnel is made up of young men of the highest type, while it stands out prominently in the records as having the best average in the State for rifle work. Company K marksmenship has come to be a byword from one end of New Jersey to the other and she has been represented at nearly every national tourney since it was first put into commission. The record of Major Martin, who was captain of Company K for several years, is only too well known to Plainfielders and the Adjutant-General has frequently commended the Plainfield boys for their martial fitness.

"If we are to have a good company," concluded Captain Peterson, "we must have the right kind of men in it, and the only way to get them is to make the organization attractive. With a modern and well equipped home, suitable for both military and social purposes, the right kind of inducement can be made. I firmly believe that Plainfield will soon have an armory and the time is opportune for young men to become State militiamen, as later on when the appropriation is made there will be a rush for enlistment that will have to be curtailed."

REMODELING WEST END HOUSE.

Donald McInnes, of West Third street, who recently purchased from Samuel Sabocher, what is known as the Traynor property at 322 Grant avenue, has commenced the work of altering the building to a two-family up-and-down house. The contract for the work has been given to Henry H. Hoffman, who has already torn out the interior. The two apartments will be made strictly modern, with all interior improvements and will have several features not usually found in two-family houses in that section of the city. Mr. McInnes will occupy one of the apartments as soon as they are completed.

PEG O' MY HEART

CHAPTER VIII.

For the Cause.

O'CONNELL had changed very much since the days of St. Kernan's hill. As was foreshadowed earlier, he no longer urged violence. He had come under the influence of the more temperate men of the party and was content to win by legislative means what Ireland had failed to accomplish wholly by conflict, although no one recognized more thoroughly than O'Connell what a large part the determined attitude of the Irish party in resisting the English laws, depriving them of the right of free speech and of meeting to spread light among the ignorant, had played in wringing some measure of recognition and of tolerance from the English ministers.

What changed O'Connell more particularly was the action of a band of so called "patriots" who operated in many parts of Ireland—maiming cattle, ruining crops, injuring peaceable farmers who did not do their bidding and shooting at landlords and prominent people connected with the government.

He avoided the possibility of imprisonment again for the sake of Peg. What would befall her if he were taken from her?

The continual thought that preyed upon him was that he would have nothing to leave her when his call came. Do what he would, he could make but little money, and when he had a small surplus he would spend it on Peg—a shawl to keep her warm or a ribbon to give a gleam of color to the drab little clothes.

On great occasions he would buy her a new dress, and then Peg was the proudest little child in the whole of Ireland.

Every year on the anniversary of her mother's death O'Connell had a mass said for the repose of Angela's soul, and he would kneel beside Peg through the service and be silent for the rest of the day. One year he had candles blessed by the Archbishop lit on Our Lady's altar, and he stayed long after the service was over. He sent Peg home. But, although Peg obeyed him partially by leaving the church, she kept watch outside until her father came out. He was wiping his eyes as he saw her. He pretended to be very angry.

"Didn't I tell ye to go home?"

"Ye did, father."

"Then why didn't ye obey me?"

"Sure an' what would I be doin' at home, all alone, without you? Don't be cross with me, father."

He took her hand, and they walked home in silence. He had been crying, and Peg could not understand it. She had never seen him do such a thing before, and it worried her. It did not seem right that a man should cry. It seemed a weakness, and that her father of all men should do it, he who was not afraid of anything or any one, was wholly unaccountable to her.

When they reached home Peg busied herself about her father, trying to make him comfortable, furtively watching him all the while. When she had put him in an easy chair and brought him his slippers and built up the fire she sat down on a little stool by his side. After a long silence she stroked the back of his hand and then gave him a little tug. He looked down at her.

"What is it, Peg?"

"Was my mother very beautiful, father?"

"The most beautiful woman that ever lived in all the wurrld, Peg."

"She looks beautiful in the picture ye have of her."

From the inside pocket of his coat he drew out a little beautifully painted miniature. The frame had long since been worn and frayed. O'Connell looked at the face, and his eyes shone.

"The man that painted it couldn't put the soul of her into it. That he couldn't; not the soul of her."

"Am I like her at all, father?" asked Peg wistfully.

"Sometimes ye are, dear, very like."

After a little pause Peg said:

"Ye loved her very much, father, didn't ye?"

He nodded. "I loved her with all the heart of me and all the strength of me."

Peg sat quiet for some minutes; then she asked him a question very quietly and hung in suspense on his answer:

"Do ye love me as much as ye loved her, father?"

"It's different, Peg, quite, quite different."

"Why is it?" She waited.

He did not answer.

"Sure, love is love whether ye feel it for a woman or a child," she persisted.

O'Connell remained silent.

"Did ye love her betther than ye love me, father?" Her soul was in her great blue eyes as she waited excitedly for the answer to that, to her, momentous question.

"Why do ye ask me that?" said O'Connell.

"Because I always feel a little sharp pain right through my heart whenever ye talk about me mother. Ye see, father, I've thought all these years that I was the one ye really loved"—

"Ye're the only one I have in the wurrld, Peg."

"And ye don't love her memory betther than ye do me?"

O'Connell put both of his arms around her.

"Yer mother is with the saints, Peg, and here are you by me side. Sure there's room in me heart for the memory of her and the love of you."

She breathed a little sigh of satisfaction and nestled on to her father's shoulder. The little fit of childish jealousy of her dead mother's place in her father's heart passed.

She wanted no one to share her father's affection with her. She gave him all of hers. She needed all of his.

When Peg was eighteen years old and they were living in Dublin, O'Connell was offered quite a good position in New York. It appealed to him. The additional money would make things easier for Peg. She was almost a woman now, and he wanted her to get the finishing touches of education that would prepare her for a position in the world if she met the man she felt she could marry. Whenever he would speak of marriage Peg would laugh scornfully:

"Who would I be afther marryin', I'd like to know? Where in the wurrld would I find a man like you?"

And no coaxing would make her carry on the discussion or consider its possibility.

It still harassed him to think he had so little to leave her if anything happened to him. The offer to go to America seemed providential. Her mother was buried there. He would take Peg to her grave.

Peg grew very thoughtful at the idea of leaving Ireland. All her little likes and dislikes, her impulsive affections and hot hatred, were bound up in that country. She dreaded the prospect of meeting a number of new people.

Still, it was for her father's good, so she turned a brave face to it and said:

"Sure it is the finest thing in the wurrld for both of us."

But the night before they left Ireland she sat by the little window in her bedroom until daylight looking back through all the years of her short life.

It seemed as if she were cutting off all that beautiful golden period. She would never again know the free, careless, happy-go-lucky, living from day to day existence that she had loved so much.

It was a pale, wistful, tired little Peg that joined her father at breakfast next morning.

His heart was heavy too. But he laughed and joked and sang and said how glad they ought to be—going to that wonderful new country and, by the way, the country Peg was born in too! And then he laughed again and said how fine she looked and how well he felt and that it seemed as if it were God's hand in it all.

And Peg pretended to cheer up, and they acted their parts right to the end—until the last line of land disappeared and they were headed for America. Then they separated and went to their little cabins to think of all that had been. And every day they kept up the little deception with each other until they reached America.

They were cheerless days at first for O'Connell. Everything reminded him of his first landing twenty years before with his young wife—both so full of hope, with the future stretching out like some wonderful panorama before them. He returns twenty years older to begin the fight again—this time for his daughter.

His wife was buried in a little Catholic cemetery a few miles outside New York city. There he took Peg one day, and they put flowers on the little mound of earth and knelt awhile in prayer. Beneath that earth lay not only his wife's remains, but O'Connell's early hopes and ambitions were buried with her.

Neither spoke either going to or returning from the cemetery. O'Connell's heart was too full. Peg knew what was passing through his mind and sat with her hands folded in her lap—silent. But her little brain was busy thinking back.

Peg had much to think of during the early days following her arrival in New York. At first the city awed her with its huge buildings and ceaseless whirl of activity and noise. She longed to be back in her own little green, beautiful country.

O'Connell was away during those first days until late at night.

He found a school for Peg. She did not want to go to it, but just to please her father she agreed. She lasted in it just one week. They laughed at her brogue and teased and tormented her for her absolute lack of knowledge.

Peg put up with that just as long as she could. Then one day she opened out on them and astonished them. They could not have been more amazed had a bomb exploded in their midst. The little, timid looking, open eyed, Titian haired girl was a veritable virago. She attacked and belittled and mimicked and berated them. They had talked of her brogue! They should listen to their own nasal utterances, that sounded as if they were speaking with their noses and not with their tongues! Even the teacher did not go unscathed. She came in for an onslaught too. That closed Peg's career as a New York student.

Her father arranged his work so that he could be with her at certain periods of the day and outlined her studies from his own slender stock of knowledge.

One wonderful day they had an addition to their small family. A little, wiry haired, scrubby, melancholy Irish terrier followed O'Connell for miles. He tried to drive him away. The dog would turn and run for a few seconds, and the moment O'Connell would take his eyes off him he would run along and catch him up and wag his overlong tail and look up at O'Connell with his sad eyes. The dog followed him all the way home, and when O'Connell opened the door he ran in. O'Connell had not the heart to turn him out, so he poured out some milk and broke up some dry biscuits for him and then played with him until Peg came home. She liked the little dog at once, and then and there O'Connell adopted him and gave him to Peg. He said the dog's face had a look of Michael Quinlan, the Fenian. So Michael he was named, and he took his place in the little home. He became Peg's boon companion. They romped together like children, and they talked to each other and understood each other.

The days flowed quietly on, O'Connell apparently satisfied with his lot. But to Peg's sharp eye all was not well with him. There was a settled melancholy about him whenever she surprised him thinking alone. She thought he was fretting for Ireland and their happy days together and so said nothing.

He was really worrying over Peg's future. He had such a small amount of money put by, and working on a salary it would be long before he could save enough to leave Peg sufficient to carry her on for awhile if "anything happened." There was always that "if anything happened" running in his mind.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

Anti-Suffrage News and Views.

Various speakers who are presently trying to influence public sentiment towards woman suffrage in New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, make the plea that "votes for women" are needed to obtain remedical and protective legislation.

A cold comparison of recent reform legislation in this country shows that it has been initiated and established, almost without exception, in states where only men vote, before its enactment in states where women also vote.

The apologists for woman suffrage refer broadly to mothers' pensions hours and conditions of labor, and various acts to protect industrial workers as practically unattainable without "votes for women." When confronted with the facts of legislation under "man-made laws," however, they either profess ignorance of better laws in male suffrage States, or admit that such statutes have been enacted because industrial conditions revealed the necessity.

History of Mothers' Pensions.

The movement to obtain pensions for mothers originated in male suffrage States because of the popular conviction that the child is better cared for by its mother in the home than in public institutions.

Such legislation provides regular income from public treasuries for worthy and destitute mothers, and was first established in Missouri, in April, 1911, and in Illinois, in July, 1911, two years before women obtained limited suffrage in the latter State. Colorado, where women have voted 21 years, adopted this legislation in November, 1912. In 1913, in response to public appeal, and regardless of partisan politics and the attitude of voters at the polls, ten more man suffrage states—Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, New Jersey and New Hampshire—through their Legislatures, adopted mothers' pensions. In the same year, five more equal suffrage states—California, Idaho, Utah, Washington and Oregon—enacted similar legislation. Wyoming, where women have voted forty-five years; Arizona and Kansas, also equal suffrage States, have no mothers' pensions. In all these 19 States, except Colorado, mothers' pensions came about through action by their Legislatures, and cannot be traced to electoral influence at he polls.

"Atlantic City, N. J., January 17—Members of the board of managers of the National Mothers' Congress, at the closing session today of the three days' conference at the Chalfonte, voted to press at once for the enactment of mothers' pension laws in every State of the Union.

"Investigation has convinced us that the Pennsylvania Act is the best of the many pension statutes now effective, and we want to see it copied or improved upon by every commonwealth without a statute for the protection of its widows,' said Mrs. Frederic Schoff, of Philadelphia.

"Decision to force this issue through State branches and by direct appeals to Governors and Legislatures was impelled, the national board reported, by statistics showing that a large percentage of the men in the prisons of the country were started on the downward path because their home were broken up when they were very young."

No "votes for women, were urged, we notice, but on the contrary it was proved that a male suffrage State leads in this legislation and furthermore that the broken up home leads to crime.

A Southern Judge, traveling on a railroad train in Alabama with his young niece, a suffrage convert, was asked by her: "Don't you think, Uncle Harry, that women will purify politics when they get the vote?" The mature, world-wise jurist smiled, tore a white edge from his newspaper, rubbed it against the car window and presented the soiled side to her as an answer.

The incident recalls the statement by Cardinal Gibbons, when asked his opinion of woman suffrage: "If woman enters politics, she will be sure to carry away on her some of the mud and dirt of political contact."

Judge Lindsey, of Colorado, says:

"Women in politics are no better and no worse than men. If a woman wants a political job, she'll stand for iniquity as quickly as a man. If she is afraid of losing her job, she'll do the same thing."

Why lower the higher moral plane of our womanhood to the level of man's by thrusting the better sex into politics?

Martin Dies, of Texas, said in a speech in the House of Representatives, on January 12, in opposition to the proposed Mondell Bill: "It may be that the entrance of pure women into dirty politics would have a cleansing effect upon the politics, but I cannot believe that it would have that effect upon the women."

Early and mid-Victorian styles are the vogue for spring and here are several hallmarks of the mid-Victorian period; the knotted tie, the bell sleeve with wrist-banded undersleeve and the gathered skirth with tucks. The house frock is of Copenhagen blue crepe de chine with underwaist and sleeve of flowered taffeta and small silver finished buttons.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.—Adv.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

It happened in the regulation way. She was cleaning and mending his coat, and the letter fell out of his pocket. She did not pay any attention to it at first. When she picked it up she opened it to see if it was something to be saved. The first thing she noticed was the ending, "Your own little girl."

She stood riveted to the spot, paralyzed with surprise. "Who could have written it? Perhaps it was not meant for him." She turned to the salutation, "Dearest." No news from that quarter. She longed to read it, but resolutely folded the paper and tucked it into a pigeon hole of her desk.

"I will think no more about it," she resolved. "When John comes I will show it to him and ask for an explanation." Nevertheless her hands shook so she could not thread her needle.

"What if some woman is writing to him like that? How could he have anyone else's letter, carrying it around?" she thought.

She was too nervous to sew. It was raining hard and she could not go out.

By thinking of nothing else all the afternoon she had worked herself up to a fine state of frenzy by supper time. Her face was flushed, her eyes snapped and she was so nervous that she dropped everything she touched.

She had decided to put the letter under his napkin, and see if he had a guilty look when he found it.

John came breezily in, stood his dripping umbrella in the rack and entered the bright living room, rosy and fresh from his brisk walk.

"My, home looks good to me! It's a beastly night out. Supper about ready? I could eat nails."

"Could that man be deceitful?" she asked herself. "Could be carry on a secret correspondence with a woman?" Her answer was "No" when she looked at him, but there was the letter.

"What are you thinking about so hard?" he remarked gaily. "You haven't spoken since I came in," and they sat down to the table.

She did not answer, but fixed her eyes on his napkin. When he took it up he lifted the letter off onto the floor and stooped to pick it up. Her heart beat so fast it nearly choked her as he opened the paper.

"Well," he exclaimed, sticking it in his pocket, "where did that come from?"

"It fell out of your coat when I was mending it today. I thought you would want to keep it," she replied in a strained voice.

"I see what you think," he said, looking straight into her eyes, "but it is nothing that concerns us, nothing you need care about. You'll just have to believe me when I tell you it's all right."

"Oh, it doesn't concern me?" her voice trembled so that she could hardly speak.

"I said it did not concern us, either of us. Really, everything is all right."

"Tell me about it. You have no right to keep it from me when I need an explanation," she said passionately.

"Dear, you are excited," he said, going around to her chair. "Can't you believe me?" He tried to draw her to him, but she pulled away from him.

"Tell me your story and let me judge," she said.

"I told you I couldn't. Perhaps if I did you would think I was making it up, if you can't believe my word," he replied.

She rose from the table and rushed upstairs. He heard the key turn in her door. He ate his supper and then ascended the stairs.

"I'll tell you about it, wifey, dear!" he called through the door. "When you got suspicious it irritated me, but I guess it's best to tell now."

A muffled sound from within showed that his wife was interested.

"That letter," he went on, "was written by Mary, the cook, for her young man friend. She asked me to mail it, but forgot to address or close the envelope and I was bringing it back to her. I forgot to hand it to her, and you found it."

"That sounds pretty thin!" came from behind the door.

"Well, if you won't believe me, I suppose Mary will have to reassure you. She can, if you insist."

And of course there wasn't anything for wifey to do but to make peace on the best terms she could.

Household Hints

WHITE FLOUR SAVERS

Bean Muffins—One cup mashed beans (baked), one egg, one cup flour, half cup Indian meal, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup milk, half cup sugar, one small spoon salt. Beat well and cook in muffin tins in quick oven.

Potato Biscuit—Two cups flour, three tablespoons shortening, three teaspoons salt, two cups mashed potatoes, about two cups milk. Mix as ordinary biscuit and roll thin. Bake in quick oven.

Crackling Bread—For four persons take one egg, one pint of buttermilk, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon table salt, one teacup crushed cracklings, enough white corn meal to make a batter. Bake fast in hot oven until brown with crust.

Bran Bread—One cup molasses, two teaspoons baking soda (dissolved in hot water and added to molasses); stir well until batter foams, then add one pint sweet or sour milk, one quart bran, two cups wheat flour, one teaspoon salt. Mix well and bake one hour in slow oven. Makes two good-sized loaves of fine health bread.

German Potato Dumplings—Grate or put through vegetable press about six medium-sized cold boiled potatoes, add a little salt, one egg and one cup flour; mix thoroughly (if necessary add a little more flour in handling). Take a little at a time, roll in palms of hands either lengthwise or into balls and drop into boiling salted water. Skim out when they come to the top and let drain. Pour over them cracker crumbs browned in butter. Save some for breakfast and fry a little, then pour a couple of beaten eggs over them. They are delicious either way; also very nutritious.

Mountain Dew Pudding — Beat yolks two eggs, add three tablespoons granulated sugar, one cup cocoanut (fresh or prepared), one-half cup cracker crumbs, one pint milk, one-half teaspoon vanilla. Put in baking dish, dot with bits of butter, bake until set, then spread beaten whites of two eggs with five tablespoons granulated sugar over top and brown in oven.

UP-TO-DATE RECIPES

Bisque or Cream Tomato Soup—One quart can tomatoes; heat and strain, add one-fourth teaspoon soda. In another pan heat one quart milk, add three tablespoons flour mixed in cold water, one tablespoon butter. Have tomato juice boiling, add to milk, which must be boiling; salt to taste after removing from fire. It never fails.

Good Simple Pudding—One-half pound potatoes (boiled and mashed), one-half pound suet, one-fourth pound sugar one-fourth pound flour, one-fourth pound currants, one-fourth pound grated carrots, one-half of a candied lemon, one teaspoon mixed pudding spice. Chop suet fine. Mix all ingredients together, pour mixture into greased mold or prepared pudding cloth and boil 2½ hours. Inexpensive, as it has no eggs or milk.

Animal Jingles

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

BY ALICE CREW GALL

Mother McGrew and William Woodpecker.

Your mother has told you, I haven't a doubt,
That there really is nothing more shocking
Than to go in a room, when you find the door shut,
Without first stopping and knocking.

Now William Woodpecker was most impolite,
Because he was always neglecting
To knock at closed doors, before he went in;
He needed a lot of correcting.

And Mother McGrew told him most every day
To mend this bad fault or he'd rue it;
But knocking on doors was a nuisance to him,
And Will Woodpecker just wouldn't do it.

At last when her patience was clear at an end,
Old Mother McGrew said one morning,
"The next time you forget what I have said,
I'll teach you a lesson—take warning!"

And the very next day Will Woodpecker forgot
Entirely, the things she had told him,
So she touched him three times with her magical stick,
Without even stopping to scold him.

"To be perfectly sure that you'll not annoy
Folks who go to their room without locking
Their door, I will make your beak grow long,
And hereafter you'll use it for knocking."

And since then, all Woodpeckers knock with their beaks,
They knock on whatever is near them,
It's terribly tiresome to them I've no doubt,
It really is tiresome to hear them.

Now knocking on doors may at first seem to you,
A most unimportant proceeding,
But folks who are older and wiser than you,
Will say it's a mark of good breeding.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples Are Impurities Seeking an Outlet Through Skin Pores.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually makes pimples disappear; cleanses the blood and is excellent for the kidneys as well.—Adv.

SYMPATHY, no matter how sincere, does not help, in a material way.

It pays no bills, educates no children, does not take the place of the bread-winner.

Life Insurance does all these things, is doing them today for others, will do them for your family when the need arises.

Leave your family a more substantial heritage than the sympathy of neighbors.

THE RELIABILITY OF ANY INSTITUTION

can be pretty accurately gauged by the character and ability of the men behind it.

A study of the personnel of our Board of Directors, composed of successful local as well as New York business men, will convince you of the reliability and conservatism of the management.

As evidence of their conservatism, we point to the fact that this institution carries at all times a cash reserve considerably in excess of the percentage required by the Department of Banking. Furthermore, its assets are kept in such shape that its demand deposits can be liquidated in 24 hours.

Additional patronage is solicited, based on service and responsibility.

23D ANNIVERSARY OF GRACE CHURCH

Special Sunday Services Mark Week's Observance in Boro Edifice.

HISTORICAL REPORTS

Rev. Dr. Franklin G. Ream, Rev. Dr. Herbert F. Randolph and Dr. H. K. Carroll Make Interesting Addresses.

The first services in connection with aniversary week being observed by the Grace M. E. church were held yesterday afternoon and evening and were largely attended. The Sunday-school session in the afternoon had a record attendance, there being 262 members present. There was special music under the leadership of V. T. Heath and Dyckman Winckler. Benjamin Schuck, who for the past fifteen years has been secretary of the Sunday-school, read an interesting review of the growth and work of that branch of the church since its organization.

The Sunday-school was organized on February 15, 1893, and Mr. Schuck read the names of the original officers and teachers. Two of these are still teachers of the school, they being Miss Alice Carroll and Miss Emma Smalley.

The school has had four superintendents during its twenty-three years, two of whom served but one year. They were Andrew Wilson and Mr. Water. John Valiant, the first superintendent, served for eleven years, and William J. Conroy, who at present holds that position, has had it for the past decade. The list of the secretaries and treasurers were also read. In the review, the growth of the attendance was mentioned and also that the Sunday-school is self-supporting, besides giving aid at various times to the church and missions.

Rev. Dr. G. Franklin Ream, of Westfield, gave a talk on "The Progress of Sunday-schools Religious Education in Twenty-three Years." Dr. H. K. Carroll, who was one of those interested in the founding of the church, also made an address, and Superintendent W. J. Conroy spoke and read an original anniversary poem. At the evening service Rev. Dr. Herbert F. Randolph, first pastor of the church, but now of Montclair, preached an interesting sermon. Dr. Randolph was pastor of the Grace M. E. church from April, 1893, to April, 1895.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society will hold its anniversary tonight. Owing to the ill health of the president, Mrs. V. T. Heath, Miss Emily March will preside. Miss Mary Steiner, who is secretary of the society, will read a history of the work of the society. Rev. D. B. F. Randolph, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will make the address.

PARTY GIVEN IN HONOR OF MISS ELEANOR LOWE

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Burtis, of Fairview avenue, gave a party at their home Saturday night, in honor of Miss Eleanor Lowe, of Montpelier, Vermont. There were sixteen present and the evening was spent in dancing and a musical program was enjoyed. During the evening, Miss Lowe rendered several pleasing vocal solos including "A Perfect Day."

Shortly before midnight refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Eleanor Lowe, Lucy Douglas, Jubilee Rowley, Ann Hull, Edna Green, Lillian Spencer, Margaret Ewart, Marjorie Burtis, and Franklin Lowe, Frank Dunning, Lester Chandler, Warren Townley, William Taylor, Hoyt Tomkinson, Addison Newkirk and Ralph Smalley.

BOROUGH FIREMEN ENJOY FINE TURKEY DINNER

The members of the North Plainfield fire department gave a turkey dinner in the engine house on Somerset street, Saturday night, there being about twenty present. A very enjoyable evening was spent in singing and speech-making and all present did full justice to the repast that was served.

Fire Chief Walter Chandler acted in the capacity of toastmaster and made a short speech. Several other speeches were made and music was furnished by Messrs. Paroulek and Weber.

LAST CHANCE TO SAVE MONEY FOR NEEDY

Contingent Offer to Give $100 if Three Others Will Expires Today.

Are there four individuals or institutions in Plainfield, not already contributors, who will give $100 each to the Commission for the Relief of the Unemployed?

If not, are there four who will give $50, or even $25 each?

These questions are agitating the finance committee at the moment, in view of the letter published in last Thursday's paper in which the writer offered to give one of the above amounts if four other persons or institutions would equal his gift. By this offer an immediate contribution of one of these amounts will net the Commission 120% of the sum actually given. As the time is limited, the response must be prompt.

Out of 30,000 people, about 11s have so far contributed to a work which is assuredly for the good of the whole city. The relief is going only to residents of Plainfield, the money is being spent in Plainfield, and is being paid out in wages, not as a dole. The recipients are working for what they get. They are not accepting charity. Their self respect is maintained; they are not being pauperized; and they are being tided over a serious industrial crisis. Can anything be more deserving of interest and support?

Besides this, the work is directed by a large number of representative men of the city, after a careful investigation of the entire situation and study of the methods in other places which are meeting a similar situation at this time. A very great amount of help has already been given, and the end is by no means in sight.

While there is a special appeal now for large amounts because of this special fund, many subscriptions of $1 have been received and are sincerely welcome at all times. The Commission thinks everyone in the community who can give anything ought to take part in this work.

Up to and including February 9, contributions not previously acknowledged have been received from the following: H. B. Newhall, Golden Rule Circle, King's Daughters; E. H. Booth, R. A. Pruden, W. R. Cook, W. G. Besler, Alexander Millar, Dr. C. W. Leonard, Two Friends, "Central Avenue," Morris Deitch, Carrie DeRonde, F. L. Blendinger, Lewis W. Willis, Mrs. Samuel Milliken, W. H. P. Veysey, Guests of Truell Court, Mrs. T. E. McDonald, Will F. Williams, A Friend, J. A. Church, H. A. Pope. Total number of subscribers to date, 111; total amount of subscriptions, $3,042.48.

JAIL SENTENCES FOR MEN WHO FOUGHT STREET BATTLE

Several impromptu rounds of slam-bang fistic tactics resulted in the arrest of John Boyle, of Manson place, and William Madden, of West Fourth street, in the business section Saturday night, by Patrolmen Kelly and McIntyre. In the city court, this morning, the two pugilists pleaded guilty to a charge of fighting and were given sentences of $10 or forty days in the county jail by Judge William G. DeMeza.

The fracas started on West Front street and the combatants continued their argument to the other side of the brook and then back to Plainfield terra firma. Up to noon neither one had paid the fine and they will probably elect a sojourn in the county jail as an alternative.

YOUNG GAMBLERS ARRESTED.

John Kane, of West Third street, and John Gleason, of Madison avenue, were arrested by railroad detectives in the rear of the Public Service power plant, yesterday afternoon, charged with shooting crap. They were reprimanded in the city court, this morning, by Judge DeMeza, who impressed them with the point that gambling has ruined many a young American. They were allowed to go under suspended sentences of $10 or forty days in the Union county jail.

SOME TRIP FOR SAUSAGE.

The fame of Smalley Brothers sausage has gained it a reputation in a good many places in this country, but now the shipments have become international. This morning a package was sent by parcel post to Mrs. C. E. Wheeler, in Paris, Ontario, Canada. David Smalley says that this is the longest trip that any of the sausage has ever taken, and that its reputation as a traveller has it all over that of a good many Plainfielders.

OPEN AIR PLAN PROVES BENEFICIAL

Predicted That Schools in the Future Will Include This Feature.

One of our prominent citizens, who has been specially interested in the work of the Open-Air School, which the Anti-Tuberculosis Society has operated in co-operation with the Board of Education for the past few years, remarked the other day that it was quite possible that another decade would see a large part of the new schoolhouses all over the country build and run on the open-air plan.

The increased health of the children attending them and their more rapid progress in their studies was the cause of the prognostication, and when his statement was doubted by a sceptical auditor he was able to adduce some very interesting and convincing figures to sustain his side of the argument.

The last report of the Open-Air School showed not only that the children who were sent there because they were considered too delicate to attend the regular schools were improving in health, but also that they were gaining weight and growing faster than their brothers and sisters in the other schools and were beating them in their lessons right along.

Weak, pale children, who seemed hardly equal to the slightest work, either physical or mental when they first took to open-air study, were, at the end of the year actually stronger than the normal child of their age in the city schools.

While the Open-Air School is still in the minds of most an experiment it looks like a successful one.

FORTY DAYS' FAST BEGINS WEDNESDAY

Episcopal and Catholic Congregations Plan Observance of Lenten Season.

Christian churches will observe the opening of the Lenten season of penance Wednesday with the usual Ash Wednesday services. In the local and borough Episcopal and Catholic churches ashes of blessed palms will be distributed among the members of the congregations, each receiving a mark on the forehead as a reminder of man's creation from dust and of the body's return to dust.

Ash Wednesday is not a holy day of obligation in the Roman Catholic churches, on which all members are obliged to attend mass, but it is recognized as a day of devotion. The usual masses will be held in St. Mary's and St. Joseph's churches. Masses will be celebrated in St. Mary's church at 6:30, 7:30 and 8 o'clock Wednesday morning and every other morning during Lent. Devotional services will also be conducted in the church every Wednesday, Friday and Sunday evening.

CITY FIRE DEPARTMENT RESPONDS TO TWO CALLS

The city fire department was called out twice last night, once on a box alarm and the other by telephone. In neither case did the blaze amount to anything.

The first call came in at 7.40 from box 63 and was for a supposed fire in the foundry of Grove Hinman at East Seventh and Berckman streets. The glow from a large open stove gave neighbors the belief that flames were raging. The department found nothing to do on its arrival. Among the apparatus that answered the call was the new Nott engine, which came down from the Netherwood house in charge of Robert Woodhouse. This will be counted as the first run of the big vehicle, although it has not officially been placed in commission.

The second alarm was telephoned in at 10:15 from the home of George Clark, 951 Park avenue. A barrel of rubbish in the cellar had gotten ablaze in some unknown manner, and was just spreading to nearby beams when discovered by Mr. Clark. Two extinguishers were used in putting out the flames. At the time the blaze was discovered a small boy and an invalid woman were asleep in the second floor of the house. Neither suffered any injury as the result of the fire.

DINNER IN HONOR OF ANNIVERSARY

Fifty Years of Married Life Marked by Reception to Celebrants.

A FAMILY REUNION

Touching Tribute Paid to Couple—Presentations Made at Dinner—Many Guests Present, Some of Whom Were Old Acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Herold, whose fiftieth wedding anniversary was reached on Friday last, were given a reception and dinner at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Windham, of East Front street, yesterday afternoon. The affair was in the nature of a family re-union and a total of sixty-three persons sat down to an elaborate dinner served in the banquet room of the Hotel Waldorf, commencing at 4 o'clock. Fifty-eight of the diners were related to the celebrants in some way, while the other five were close friends. Mr. and Mrs. Herold were aware of the fact that a formal observance was to be made of their golden wedding, but had no idea that it would reach such proportions.

The banquet hall was elaborately decorated with palms and plants and with all manner of cut flowers. Big bunches of chrysanthemums were all about, and with the general attractive effect as arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Windham, who were host and hostess of the occasion, the scene was one long to be remembered by those present. Former Mayor James F. Buckle, who had known Mr. and Mrs. Herold for 40 years, presided as toastmaster and introduced the speakers. When the guests first sat down a benediction was pronounced by Father John Butscher, of Paterson, who is a nephew of Mrs. Herold. He afterwards made an excellent address in which he traced the life of the couple who had reached the event longed for by every man and wife, and related many anecdotes that he had remembered from the time that he was a boy. He extended his congratulations and also spoke on behalf of all the other relatives in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Herold many more years of happy married life. The celebrants were so affected when Father Butscher concluded that neither was able to respond. The remarks by Mr. Buckle were of a humorous nature and caused numerous hearty laughs.

Mr. and Mrs. Herold were the recipients of scores of presents, most of them being gold coin. One gift especially noteworthy was a beautiful gold locket, suitably engraved, and bearing the pictures of the happy couple. This came from a nephew and niece living in New York. The dinner itself was a great success and Mr. and Mrs. Windham were warmly complimented for the manner in which it was arranged and conducted.

The guests present, in addition to those from this city, were from New York, Brooklyn, Long Island, Philadelphia, Paterson, Dunellen and Point Pleasant.

JUNIOR FAIR ENDS WITH CAPACITY CROWDS PRESENT

The fair of Company H, Uniformed Rank, Jo. O. U. A. M., came to a finish Saturday night, with a crowd in attendance that taxed the floor space to its capacity. Dancing was the feature, as usual, but so many couples participated elbow room was at a premium. It was only through the skillful efforts of Floor Manager Charles Wilson and his assistants that everybody managed to have a good time. Beside the patrons from Plainfield, there were delegations present from Liberty Fife and Drum Corps, of Newark; the Fourth Regiment of the Uniformed Rank, which includes councils from Garwood to Newark and Good Intent Council, of New Brunswick.

The proceeds from the undertaking will surpass the expectations of its promoters, and will place a substantial sum to the credit of the company. Much credit for the brilliant finish is due William Hartpence, who was general chairman, and his special aids, Charles Wilson and Forster Hartpence. The response to the company's social activity has so encouraged the members that they are already talking of conducting some other kind of an affair during the coming summer and it will probably be in the form on an outdoor carnival.

FAREWELL DINNER TO H. E. PARKER

Retiring Y. M. C. A. Secretary Guest at Affair Held at Truell Inn.

The board of directors and secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. tendered a farewell dinner to Secretary H. E. Parker, who went to the Passaic Y. M. C. A. as general secretary, at Truell Inn, Saturday night. There were about eighteen guests, including Alfred C. Estes, the new secretary who succeeds Mr. Parker.

William D. Murray, president of the Y. M. C. A., was toastmaster and there were speeches made by several of those present. Mr. Murray also made a speech and was followed by Mr. Parker and Mr. Estes. James E. Kimball, Joseph Gavett and Mr. Murray all spoke of the good work that Mr. Parker had accomplished during the seven years of his connection with the local association and expressed regrets at his leaving. H. O. Newman also spoke along the same lines and the good work that Mrs. Parker has done in and out of the Y. M. C. A. was also commented upon.

Mr. Parker left today for Passaic, where he will assume his duties immediately, but his wife and daughter will remain in this city until the first of April. Mr. Estes came to this city Saturday and took up his work today. Those who were present at the dinner were Herbert E. Parker, Alfred E. Estes, Robert Meermans, Edward Glaentzer, William D. Murray, R. H. Stevens, F. O. Dunning, James Kimball, Fred E. Smith, J. O. Gavett, Howard McWilliams, Frank Hubbard, I. B. Hill, John McLaughlin, James McClymont, Joseph Sandford, H. O. Newman.

VIVID WAR SCENES FOR LOCAL OPTICS

Real, authentic pictures of the terrible war now being waged in Europe, not those showing merely a few buildings blown up by mines, have been secured by H. S. Sanderson, for presentation at Proctor's Theatre. In the few places where they have been seen so far, experts have declared them to be the most wonderful demonstrations of motographic art that have ever come to this country. The pictures were taken by Roy Chandler, the only official photographer recognized by the heads of the allied armies and in transferring the actual scenes to moving films, he incured risks even greater than those to which the men in the trenches are subjected. Advances, retreats, charges, artillery duels and all the dread grimness of legalized carnage is shown with such startling vividness that the spectators involuntarily jump as the shells explode and cannons roar.

These war pictures have been released within the past two days and they will be shown at Proctor's Theatre in two special series, of a bi-weekly service, one running Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays and then a complete change on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The initial film will be shown this afternoon and tonight and will continue thereafter until further notice. The service is international and will be a feature at the Front street playhouse as long as they meet with popular favor.

MRS. VAN BUREN'S FUNERAL ATTENDED BY MANY FRIENDS

The funeral of Mrs. Julia Morris Van Buren, widow of General Daniel T. Van Buren, was held in Grace church, yesterday afternoon, in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends that filled the edifice to its capacity. The service was in charge of Rev. John G. Currier, of Philadelphia, a former curate of Grace church, and it was at Mrs. Van Buren's request previous to her death that he participated. The rector, Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, assisted Mr. Currier. The choir boys of the church rendered several selections, one of them being "Lead Kindly Light," a special favorite of the deceased. There were scores of floral tributes from relatives and friends, several of them being immense set pieces.

The body was taken to Brooklyn this morning where burial was made this afternoon in the family plot in Greenwood cemetery.

G. O. KELLER DIES IN HIS 47TH YEAR

Was Successful Business Man Here for Many Years.

Following an illness from which he had been ailing for the past year and which became acute several weeks ago, Gustav Otto Keller died Saturday night at his home on Watchung avenue. Heart failure was the primary cause of death, but complications were in evidence towards the last. He had failed rapidly during the preceding ten days and his family and relatives were prepared for the end.

Mr. Keller was born in Stuttgart, Germany, in 1868, and after completing his education, was apprenticed to his uncle, an expert in the dyeing and color trade. After acquiring a thorough knowledge of the business he entered the employ of a color firm in Switzerland, which afterward sent him to Rio de Janiero, Brazil, to establish and conduct a big plant. The enterprise was successful, but yellow fever attacked Mr. Keller, and he resigned his position in order to come North. He located in Plainfield in 1894, coming here through a sister, Mrs. Marie Wegle, a resident of Springfield.

Mr. Keller purchased the cleaning and dyeing business which had been conducted for many years by the late Christian Becker. The office was then located on West Front street where Abrams' shoe store now is and the workshop was in the hollow off Washington avenue. The new owner removed the business to 117 Park avenue and conducted it with great success until a year and a half ago when he sold out to Ysbrand de Dood. Since that time Mr. Keller had lived a retired life. He was a man of genial and social disposition and his death at so early an age is considered doubly untimely inasmuch as he was in a position to enjoy the fruits of his labor.

Beside his wife, who was Miss Haurand, sister of Henry and Frank Haurand, Mr. Keller is survived by one son, Otto Keller; a step-mother now living in San Antonio, Texas; his sister, Mrs. Marie Wegle, of Springfield, and one brother, Carl Keller, of Germany. He was a member of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E. and the Gesang and Turn Verein, in both of which he was active while his health permitted.

The funeral will be held in St. Joseph's church tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and burial will be in St Mary's cemetery. The members of the Elks will meet at the clubhouse on Watchung avenue at 8 o'clock tonight and proceed in a body to the Keller home where a fraternal service will be conducted with Esteemed Leading Knight Alfred A. Prudhon in charge.

MISS ANN HULL ELECTED PRESIDENT OF BORO CLUB

The Sigma Beta Girls' Society, of North Plainfield, held its annual meeting at the home of Miss Marjorie Burtis, of Fairview avenue, Saturday night. Miss Margaret Ewart, the president, presided at the meeting and the election of officers for the ensuing year was held. All of the members were present and Miss Ann Hull was chosen president.

The other officers elected were as follows: Miss Lillian Spencer, vice-president; Miss Dorothy Martin, secretary, and Miss Marjorie Burtis, treasurer. Other business was transacted after which a collation was served by the hostess' mother. Those who were present are the Misses Margaret Ewart, Marjorie Burtis, Ann Hull, Edna Green, Dorothy Martin, Jubilee Rowley, Lillian Spencer and Lucy Douglas.

SEEK CENSOR BOARD FOR MOVING PICTURES

The members of the Plainfield Ministers' Association, believing that there should be a more strict censorship of the motion pictures exhibited in this city, have sent a communication to the Common Council which will be read tonight, requesting that a committee of censors be named to keep "tabs" on these pictures and see that none of an objectionable character are shown here.

One of the ministers, in referring to the matter, said that recently objectionable pictures had been shown in this city which were decidedly objectionable and in his opinion they do much harm, especially among the young people. Sometime ago a board of censors was named by Mayor C. J. Fisk, but it died a natural death.

ARTILLERY DUELS UNINTERRUPTED

In Belgium and France Bombardment Has Been Kept Up Incessantly.

FINANCE PLANS MADE

England, France and Russia Will Provide Funds for Smaller Nations on Their Side—Germans Continue in Russia.

Paris, Feb. 15.—The French War Office gave out the following statement this afternoon:

"In Belgium there was an uninterrupted bombardment of our trenches in the region of the Dunes yesterday. Our heavy artillery overpowered the motors of the enemy. We captured a trench about 250 yards long established against the Bethune-La Bassee highway.

"There was a very sharp cannonade in the region of Lens, around Albert, between the Avre and the Oise, in the environs of Soissons, and at Vermeuil, which lies northeast of Vailly.

"In the Argonne toward Bagatelle and Marie Therese there was a very violent fight from trench to trench, but there was not a single infantry action between the Argonne and the Meuse.

"In Lorraine the enemy, after having rolled back our heavy guards, has succeeded in occupying the heights of Dignal and the village of Norroy.

"In the Vosges the German offensive which had been manifested on the two banks of the Lauch, was not continued yesterday. Our ski forces executed a very brilliant counter attack upon the sloop of Langenseld Kopf. There was a tremendous snowstorm in the afternoon."

London, Feb. 15 (Central News Cable).—England, Russia and France will issue no joint loan to finance the war, but each will expect to extend aid to smaller countries which are involved. This decision was arrived at at the conference between P. Bark, the Russian minister of finance; Alexander Ribot, the French minister of finance, and David Lloyd George, chancellor of the British exchequer, according to an announcement by Lloyd George in the House of Commons today.

A message to the Times from Petrograd says the Bourse Gazette's Tiflis correspondent declares that the capture by the Russians of Gorcha, a village beyond the River Chorukh, Asia Minor, opens the road to the Zanzal Copper Smelting Works, which the Turks seized at the beginning of the war and were holding for the Germans. It is a valuable property upon which the Germans had cast a longing eye before the war.

A despatch from Cettinje, Montenegro, says that an Austrian fleet yesterday morning, moved out from the Gulf of Cattaro and began shelling the port of Antivari.

Berlin, Feb. 15 (by wireless).—The following statement was given out at German headquarters today:

"Western war theatre—South of Ypres, near St. Elot, we captured about 900 metres of the enemy's positions. Counter attacks upon our troops were unsuccessful. An attack by our opponents, southwest of La Bassee failed. We took a few dozen prisoners. We have captured the outer trenches we lost at Sudlkopf on February 12. The enemy was driven out of Seugeru, in the valley of the Lauch. The enemy then voluntarily evacuated the village of Rensbach.

"Eastern theatre—North of Tilsit the enemy was driven out of Pykulpoenen, being forced back in the direction of Taurogen in Russia. On both sides of the frontier east of the plain of the lakes, battles and pursuits continue. Our troops are everywhere progressing quickly. German divisions are advancing from Kolno against the enemy coming from Lonza. We gained further ground in the Vistula district. Our troops occupied Ractong, north of the Visutla. In the battle preceding the occupation we took six cannon and numerous prisoners. On the left bank of the Vistula there are no important changes."

Amsterdam, Feb. 15.—A despatch to the Telegraaf from Seizaete states that the Germans have seized all ore and coal from the important aluminum factories there. Machinery, copper boilers and other metal articles are being sent from Belgium into Germany.

New bodies of German troops from garrisons in the interior of Germany are being sent to Tamasvar and southeastern Banat, in Hungary, according to private advices received from Berlin. This is accepted as an indication that Germany and Austria have not abandoned the plan for another invasion of Servia.

DUNELLEN

All the Happenings of the Day In Plainfield's Hustling Suburb.

THIS BARBER SHOP HAD A CLOSE SHAVE

Dunellenites "Leary" of Ringing Fire Bell for Fear of Being "Jugged."

Great excitement was occasioned on North avenue at 8:45 last night, when certain churchgoers coming from the Presbyterian services, upon turning from Washington avenue into North, discovered what apparently was a serious fire in the vicinity of the Standard Investment Company building, the ground floor of which is occupied by Marien's drug store.

The witnesses hurried to the scene, headed by Borough Engineer Churchill, who comprehending at a glance the possible serious consequences of a conflagration in the heart of Dunellen's business district, immediately assumed charge of the situation. Dense smoke was pouring apparently from the roof of Tozze's barber shop and also from the first floor of the Standard Investment's tenement.

Churchill turned to the little group crying, "Whatever you do, remember women and children first."

Then he started on a Paul Revere toward the borough fire bell. Out of breath, but with his face aglow with that pride which comes only from a realization of a duty well done, Churchill reached the front of Winter's Hotel and there spying Edward Woods, a young man for whom excitement has no allurements, the following colloquy took place:

Churchill, gasping excitedly—"Ed, ring the fire bell."

Ed replied laconically—"Not on your life, I rang that fire bell once and got jugged for it."

Churchill—"Man alive! The town is on fire, pull that bell."

Ed—"If I get jugged will you bail me out?"

Churchill—"Yes, yes, anything; only pull that bell."

Ed walked thoughtfully across the street and tolled the bell.

Let us now retrace our steps to the scene of the fire. Following the disappearance of Churchill the other members of the group attempted to locate the fire, but their efforts were without success. John Peters, Jr., observing that the volume of smoke appeared to be decreasing, looked about for a possible solution of the mysteriously hidden fire and seeing some of the members of the Montross family leaning from the window in their flat over the National Beef Company store, asked them whether they were starting a new fire in their stove and when they answered "yes," John knew that the mystery was solved.

John immediately started on a run toward fire headquarters, but he was too late to save the fire ladies from a muddy trip down Dunellen's main thoroughfare. Assistant Chief Maier, with about twenty of his men, dragged the engine to the scene of the excitement, but a rapidly assembled crowd was the only unusual feature which greeted them.

The fire department feels that Mr. Churchill did it a well merited service in showing to the people of the town how quickly it responds to a call and it is probable that the borough engineer will be elected a honorary member at the next meeting.

As the crowd dispersed a facetious wag was heard to remark: "Rather a close shave for Tozze's barber shop."

PLEASURE PARTY FAILS TO REACH DESTINATION

A party of pleasure seekers from Plainfield, New Brunswick, New Market and this place, which left the borough at 9 o'clock Friday evening, in Bennett's auto truck for Pittstown, where they had planned to attend a party, never reached their destination. While passing through Whitehouse the magneto of the machine refused to perform its functions. Mr. Bennett, who was driving, jumped to the ground to correct matters.

After vainly endeavoring for an hour to do this he told the members of the party that the machine would be unable to go any further in either direction that night. Whereupon the dejected group started for the railroad station to take the first train home. Alas, upon their arrival there they found that the next train did not leave until after 5 o'clock in the morning. They passed the night in the depot.

VALENTINE M'LAUGHLIN CELEBRATES HIS BIRTHDAY

Yesterday was "St. Valentine's Day," and Valentine McLaughlin, the right-hand man in the barber shop of Assessor J. H. L. Peters, who, as his Christian name indicates, was born on that day, lavishly celebrated the anniversary of his birth with a few friends. These friends saw to it that Valentine was greeted with showers of valentines when he called at the postoffice Saturday for his evening mail. There were fully two hundred valentines and Valentine was compelled to make two trips to transfer them.

Last evening Mr. McLaughlin was the guest of honor at supper given by these friends at Churchill's in New York. Today these friends have been showing him the sights of the Metropolis of the World. The festivities will end tonight with the taking in of one of the popular plays of the day and Mac, as he is commonly called by his numerous friends, will be back at his post early tomorrow morning.

Mr. McLaughlin was born in the city of Dublin, Ireland, fifty-three years ago. He came to this country at the age of nineteen and located in Chicago and was in that city at the time of the World's Exhibition. From Chicago he went in turn to Indianapolis, Denver and New Orleans.

MRS. E. L. FIELD IS GUEST AT A KOFFEE KLAKT!

Mrs. E. L. Field, of Fourth street, who is shortly to move away from the borough, was entertained at a "Kaffee Klatch" on Friday afternoon, in the Lincoln School, after school hours, by Supervising Principal Rentschler and some of the teachers of the school.

Mrs. Field, as a token of the esteem in which she is held by the teachers, was presented with six beautiful pieces of cut glass. The presentation speech was made by Miss Mabel Bennett, who spoke of the sorrow of the teachers in losing Mrs. Field, who has worked for the pleasure of the teachers and also for the Parent-Teacher Association. Miss Bennett also said that all of the teachers would miss Stanley, Mrs. Field's son, of whom them were justly proud. She said that it was the hope of the teachers that he would continue to shine as a scholar.

Mrs. Field, in replying in part, said that words could not express her gratitude for being thus honored. She said that she regretted leaving the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Barton, who have been spending the winter in New York city, will move from the apartment which they have been occupying on Eighty-fourth street, just off of West End avenue, back to the borough on March 1.

BARACAS TO BOWL.

The Baracas will bowl the crack Pathe Freres' "5," of Bound Brook, on the Presbyterian alleys this evening. The Baracas will roll in the following order: Parker, Zink, Voorhees, Oakley and Braun.

Mrs. Z. P. Osmun is spending a few days with relatives at Jutland.

Mrs. Hattie Apgar, widow of J. Newton Apgar, suffered a nervous attack Saturday morning. She is very much broken up over her recent sad bereavement.

COLUMBUS TROOP NOTES.

Columbus Troop, of the local organization of Boy Scouts, enjoyed a hike to New Brunswick, Saturday. The troop held a meeting in the rectory of St. John's church, yesterday afternoon. Scoutmaster Edward Gray, Jr., presided over the meeting, and gave the members of his troop an impressive five-minute heart-to-heart talk. Arrangements were made at the meeting to hold an athletic meet on Maurer Oval, Saturday afternoon. Other business was routine.

The Walter G. Runyon store on North avenue, adjoining the postoffice, has been rented by an electrical shoe repairing concern, which will take possession shortly.

Miss Lillian Garretson, of Front street, and Miss Sadie Horn, of Paterson, witnessed "Watch Your Step," at the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York city, Saturday evening.

Benjamin Cole, of Washington avenue, visited friends at Manville, Friday evening.

J. P. McGOVERN'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of John P. McGovern, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McGovern, of Greenbrook road, was solemnized at the late home Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, and in St. John's church at 9:30 o'clock, where a solemn requiem mass was said. The funeral was a large one, friends of the deceased and family coming from points as far distant as Mauch Chunk and Easton to attend. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. The pall bearers were: John Gallagher, Emile Vogel, John Stillger and three Ancient Order of Hibernians men from Bound Brook. Interment was at St. Mary's cemetery, Plainfield.

IMPOSED FINE OF $3.

John Wysosky, aged 18, of 517 North avenue, was arraigned in the borough court before Recorder David S. Campbell, Saturday afternoon, on a charge of stealing coal from the premises of the Central Railroad, made by Detective Laterette, of the railroad's police. The defendant admitted his guilt and was fined $3 by the court, which was paid.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Todd, of Front street, attended the funeral of Mrs. Todd's brother-in-law, James Beekman, father of ex-Assemblyman Beekman, of Somerset county, at Martinsville, yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. J. M. Bodine, of Plainfield, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Albert Osmun, of New Market road, for the past ten days, has departed for Quakertown, where she will visit relatives.

Contractor Fred Oakley has been doing some work in the redecorating line in the residence of J. E. Haynes, on Dunellen avenue.

Adam Dealaman, of Washington avenue, attended a bridge party at Plainfield, Friday evening, and took first prize.

Neal Newman, of Grove street, entertained two friends from Easton, Pa., last evening.

Mrs. Bridget Boyle, of Bound Brook road, who has been quite ill, was better yesterday.

C. Lou Wahl and Kasper Fuchs visited friends in Brooklyn, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jatson Van Arsdale, of Front street, entertained their daughter, Mrs. Albert Reamer, of Brooklyn, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Craig, of Second street, entertained Mrs. Craig's sister, Mrs. Lillie Faust, and sons, Cortland and Leslie, of Newark, yesterday.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Trade will be held in the Borough Hall, this evening.

An adjourned meeting of the Mayor and Common Council will be held in the Council chambers tomorrow evening.

$5 FOR DISORDERLY ACT.

Edward Manning, of 1215 West Front street, Plainfield, was arrested by Marshal W. H. Snyder, Saturday evening, for being drunk and disorderly. Manning, who had been forcibly ejected from one of the cafes, was expressing his feelings in vile language at the corner of North and Prospect avenues when Marshal Snyder happened along. When arraigned before Recorder Campbell in the borough court, yesterday, he was sentenced to pay a fine of $5 or be sent to New Brunswick for ten days. He decided to pay the fine.

Gilbert Bolard, son of former Councilman and Mrs. John J. Bolard, who has been quite ill with the measles, is now able to be up and about his home.

Mr. and Mrs. George K. Fost, of New Market road, entertained their niece, Miss Margaret Richards, of Newark, over the week-end.

John F. Dineen, of Brooklyn, spent the week-end in the borough as the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dineen, of Washington avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Weiner, of Prospect avenue, entertained Joseph J. Smith, of Raritan, over the week-end.

Ellsworth Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Day, of Dunellen avenue, has recovered from an attack of the measles.

William Connolly, of Glen Gardner, a former resident, visited friends in the borough Saturday.

Beatrice and Ruth Coriell, daughters of Charles A. Coriell, Jr., of Front street, have the measles.

Mrs. Clarence T. Voorhees, of Lincoln avenue, spent Lincoln's Birthday in Jersey City, visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles B. Lake.

Mrs. John H. Schneidler, of Washington avenue, has fully recovered from the effects of her recent operation.

Carl Marx, of Dunellen avenue, has purchased a new Ford touring car.

Mrs. Paul Ratti, of North avenue, visited her sister-in-law, Mrs. S. Tarantola, at New Brunswick, on Saturday.

George Voehl, of Washington avenue, has returned from East Arcadia, North Carolina, where he has been spending the major portion of the winter in hunting, as per an annual custom.

RESUMES SERVICE.

The Smith Auto Express Company has resumed its service to New York for the F. O. Pierce Varnish Works at Rock avenue. During the winter months when business is slack the company ships its products to the city by freight.

John P. Faber, of Washington avenue, has been ill for the past two days with a liver complaint.

ILLNESS UPSETS PLANS.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Elston Lowrie, who had planned to move to New London, Conn., on Friday of last week, were unable to do so on account of their baby being taken ill with an abscess of an arm. Mr. Lowrie was due at New London on Saturday to assume his new duties in a wallpaper establishment and he was obliged to go alone.

Treasurer B. K. Burke, of the Dunellen Lumber and Stone Company, spent the week-end at Hopewell.

Plains & Fanwood.

A large number of people, including the local Boy Scouts, attended the morning service at the Baptist church yesterday, when the Rev. J. Madison Hare preached a very interesting sermon on "Lincoln, the Ideal Scout."

The February meeting of the Fanwood Fire Company will be held in the firehouse tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

George Eberle, of Martine avenue, has just received his new Dodge Brothers' automobile.

Maurice Hall, a soldier stationed at Fort Hamilton, spent yesterday visiting friends in town.

John A. Thompson, of Plainfield, visited his uncle, J. Hudson Thompson, of Martine avenue, over the week-end.

A valentine social will be held in the parlors of the Methodist church this evening, under the auspices of the Epworth League.

Miss Virginia Glover, of New York, spent the week-end with Miss Elsa Palmer, of Tillitson road.

A regular meeting of the Junior League Society is being held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Hudson Thompson, on Martine avenue.

- Proctor's Theatre -

Scene from "Mignon," the Feature Photo-play at Proctor's Theatre, Today and Tomorrow.

Rex's Marionettes, one of those novelty acts that held the children spellbound and tickled the risibles of the old folks, will be one of the features of the new bill at Proctor's Theatre commencing today. There are numerous marionette productions on the vaudeville circuits at the present time, but Rex's is second to none. The act is one big laugh. The Palace girls, direct from the leading houses in New York city, will delight all with their comedy harmony, as another big number, and a surprise awaits the patrons in the dancing act to be given by La Salle & Raymond. The bill will be rounded out by the Leon Sisters, expert slack wire artists, and Edith Mote, singing comedienne. The photo-play portion of the program today and tomorrow will be the five-part production of "Mignon," with Beatriz Michelena in the title role. This picture is conceded to contain more scenic representation than any other feature film produced in recent years. The movie feature Wednesday afternoon and night, will be the continuation of "Zudora" which is now known as "The Twenty Million Dollar Mystery," a new author is now writing the various episodes of this great serial and it is rapidly forging to the head as the best of the continued stories. Charles Chaplin was seen at the theatre, Saturday, in the first of his new series of two-reel films under the title of "His New Job" and it corroborated all the flattering advance notices. Mr. Chaplin, who is justly called the "Funniest man in picturedom," will hereafter be seen in a two-reel comedy at Proctor's every Saturday afternoon and night.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Lena Daley, with Harry Hasting's "Tango Queens," at Plainfield Theatre, Thursday Night.

During all the present week, with the exception of Thursday, the Plainfield Theatre will offer the very latest and best phto-play productions, based on legitimate attractions that were whirlwinds of success when first shown on the dramatic stage. Today and tomorrow, the offering will be Edward Abeles in James Montgomery's interesting play, "Ready Money." Wednesday afternoon and night the attraction will be Robert Edeson and Claire Whitney in David Belasco's masterpiece, "The Girls I Left Behind Me,' as originally produced by Charles Frohman. After the gap on Thursday caused by the appearance of Harry Hasting's musical burlesque, "The Tango Queens," pictures will again hold the boards Friday and Saturday, when the program will be headed by John Barrymore in H. A. Bu Souchet's perennial comedy, "The Man From Mexico." Despite the great expense incurred by the Plainfield Theatre management in offering these feature productions, popular prices will prevail at both afternoon and night performances. Keep the fact uppermost in your mind that the best there is in the moving picture world is none too good for the Plainfield Theatre, and by watching these columns close tabs can be kept on all the announcements.

DOROTHY KEARNS.

Dorothy Kearns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Kearns, of Dupont street, the borough, died Saturday afternoon. The child had been ill with scarlet fever and had practically recovered when penumonia developed, causing her death. She was two years and eleven months old. The funeral was held at the parents' home this afternoon at 2:30 and was in charge of Rev. Father Hart, of St. Joseph's church. There were numerous beautiful flowers contributed by friends. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

MRS. GEORGIANA KELLY.

Mrs. Georgiana Kelly, wife of David Kelly, died early this morning, at her home on Summit avenue. She had been ill for the past six months with Bright's disease. Beside her husband she is survived by her father, Albert Taynor, and a sister and brother, Mrs. Edward Edell and Albert Taynor, all of this city. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

"LADIES' NIGHT" AFFAIR.

The Elizabeth T. A. B. Society will pay a fraternal visit to the local society tomorrow night, it being a return visitation of the Plainfielders a few weeks ago. It will be a "ladies' night" affair.

—At Westfield, C. F. Wittke has the Daily Press on sale each day.

JOHN DALY'S DEBUT WAS AN AUSPICIOUS EVENT

The entrance of John Daly, of this city, into the theatrical managerial field began under auspicious circumstances at Allentown, Pa., Saturday. His production of the musical comedy, "The Red Rose," was greeted by two packed houses at both matinee and night performances. Mr. Daly received scores of congratulatory and well wishing messages from New York theatrical men and numerous friends in Plainfield. Among the latter were optimistically worded letters from Michael Shanon, William Counthan and John A. Gaffney.

The show will be seen at Pottstown, Pa., today, and after appearing at Dubois, Scranton, Dunkirk, N. Y., Buffalo, Niagara Falls and St. Catherines, Ontario, will proceed straight west on a tour across Canada.

BOUND BROOK AUTHORITIES THINK THEY HAVE THIEVES

Bound Brook authorities are investigating the activities of three Airedale terriesr which were found Saturday morning on Greenbrook road, that place. It is thought that the large number of chicken thieveries committed in that section lately can be charged up to the canines.

One of the dogs, said to belong o a Dr. Borden, of Bound Brook, was shot by Chief Edward T. Canning, of the North Plainfield township police. If the owners of the dogs are located they will be made to pay for the damage done to several private poultry yards.

IT'S ON THE WAY.

Local option is again a subject for discussion before the Legislature this year, and if reports which come from Trenton are to be believed, there is not much prospect of the people being granted the right to vote on the liquor question. Its friends expect that it will secure more votes this year than in the past, but a careful "sizing up" of the legislators, and their known individual attitudes on the subject makes it pretty certain that the bill will not become a law.

The belief is becoming more and more general that it will not be longer than the lifetime of the people of the country before the nation becomes dry. Arkansas is the sixteenth State to vote for prohibition, the change going into force after this year. The Newark News points out that the lower house of the Montana Legislature has passed a bill for statutory State-wide prohibition while the Senate has adopted a resolution for prohibition by Constitutional amendment. In Iowa the Senate has passed a repeaser of the mulct law under which liquor is now sold, to take effect the first of next year, and has also favored a prohibition amendment to the Constitution. A similar amendment has been put through the Senate in Utah by an overwhelming majority, and it is nearly sure to pass the House. The Alabama Legislature has passed over Governor Henderson's veto a bill to prevent liquor advertisements in newspapers circulating in the State and a bill is pending before the Wisconsin Legislature giving the people there the right to vote on two questions—whether they will prohibit the sale of whisky and other liquors containing more than six per cent. of alcohol, and whether the sale of beer shall be barred.

Whether we favor or oppose prohibition or local option, all must admit that it's on the way. Recent developments lead to no other conclusion.

City Collector William R Townsend's suggestion that there be but one assessor in the city, and that he be on the job all the time at the same place where other city officials are to be found, is a good one. The tendency in this age is to centralize government, and it will be only a matter of a few years before city managers will be found in office everywhere, and no better way to aid him in his work can be found than in the establishment of single-headed commissions to do the work now done by larger boards.

That Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, former pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, is making good in Boston is very evident. We reprint in another column an article from the Boston Transcript of Saturday night, in which is described the wonderful work which the former Plainfielder has done in the few months he has been from here. He is peculiarly fitted for the work at the great church to which he has gone, and all will wish him continued success.

One of the most gratifying things about the war lies in the fact that no matter what may be the outcome nationally, the condition of the Jewish people will be greatly improved. They have shown patriotic allegiance to the various nations in which they have taken up their homes, and have gained the respect of the rulers in every country.

It cost a couple of men who went sight-seeing in the Hotel DeGink, and who did not observe the rules which hve been laid down in that institution, $5 each, when they were brought before a magistrate in New York. All of which goes to prove that privileges in the hobo hostelry are fully as expensive as on Broadway.

Spain, having kept out of the war in Europe, is now thinking of mixing it up with Mexico. It is certainly to be hoped that with all the wars and rumors of wars, the United States will be able to keep out of any of the trouble. We have enough to think about now, without having to raise an army.

One of the speakers at the Traffic Club dinner in New York on Saturday night, said that "down in Mexico everybody runs twice—once for President and once for their lives." That is about the best summing up of the condition south of the Rio Grande that we have heard yet.

Former Congressman Charles N. Fowler is out with another six-column blast against the Wilson administration, furnished to the newspapers in boiler plate form, all expenses prepaid. We are almost led to believe that Mr. Fowler expects to run for office again.

"The Frankfurter Zeitung" says that the Kaiser cannot be held responsible for the war. Now that they have settled the question, perhaps they will explain to a waiting world who did start it.

Over in New York State the attorney-general thinks that he has discovered a conspiracy to raise the price of bread. Isn't it nearly time for the New Jersey officials to get busy?

"In agin', out agin', gone again', Finnegin," seems to describe the operations of the Russian army on German soil.

MAGUIRE MAKING GOOD IN BOSTON CHURCH

Big Growth in Membership and Interest Under Former Plainfielder.

The Boston Transcript of Saturday contained the following interesting account of the great progress that has been made by the Ruggies Street Baptist church in Boston, under the leadership of Rev. G. R. Maguire, who left Plainfield a few months ago:

"The coming of Gabriel Reed Maguire as pastor to the Ruggies Street Baptist church, in September last, seems to have marked an epoch in the history of this noted institutional church. Not in all its long and somewhat unique history has this church been in a more prosperous condition than it is today. Known for years throughout New England as the recipient of from $25,000 to $45,000 a year from the late Daniel Sharp Ford, owner of The Youth's Companion, the church still has a large income from his estate and it still carries on its institutional and charitable work on a large scale. For years it had a most remarkable quartet and choir, and it now has the largest vested choir at its evening service of any church in Boston.

"The church suffered a good deal of a relapse from the high tide of its prosperity after the death of Mr. Ford, because of a greatly decreased income and the changed condition of the neighborhood. The expediency of seeking another location has often been discussed, but the coming of Mr. Maguire with his activity seems to have demonstrated that the church could not well find a better field than the one in which it is located. There have been nearly 200 additions to the church since last October, sixty new members having been received last Sunday morning.

"The Sunday-school has regained its standing as the largest in the State, there having been 1,242 in attendance last Sunday. Mrs. Maguire, the wife of the pastor, has one of the most remarkable Bible classes. Beginning in October last with fifty present the class for a number of Sundays has had more than 200 present, and last Sunday there were 273 women in the class besides a number of visitors in the gallery. By far the greater number of these women are working women. There is also a Men's Brotherhood with a membership of more than 300. This is led by William T. Bone. Miss Etta Rutherford has a class of nearly 100 young women.

"Adjoining the church is a building in which is located a branch of the Y. W. C. A. under the direction of the church. Miss Frances Bennett and Miss Etta Rutherford have charge of this work. About thirty-five girls live in this house, and it is hoped that at some time during the present year a building will be erected giving this branch of the work greatly increased facilities. Through this building Miss Bennett and Miss Rutherford come into contact with at least 300 young girls each work week and they direct the work of a number of girls' organizations.

"The church has evening industrial classes of different kinds. A fine gymnasium with shower baths forms a part of its equipment, and it has for several years conducted a branch Y. M. C. A. half a block distant on Tremont street, the funds for this coming from the Ford estate. The church has a corps of six salaried workers and to these will be added a man assistant for the pastor on the first of April.

"Rev. Mr. Maguire and his wife spent a number of years as missionaries in Africa. Both are of sturdy Scotch-Irish descent. Mr. Maguire is well-known as a lecturer on the Chautauqua course, his lecture "With an Irishman Through the Jungles of Africa," having had wide vogue. Five weeks of his summer vacation will be spent on the Chautauqua circuit. He has the mental and physical vigor, executive ability and heart qualities needed in a church of such great activities, and the influence of the revived Ruggles Street church is being felt all over Roxbury."

WHY PERCY HEMUS SINGS AMERICAN SONGS

Percy Hemus, "America's baritone," who will be heard in recital with Ethel Kinnaman, contralto, at the Park Club, Thursday evening, says: "Millions of Americans speak but one language, and they all love understandable singing—why should they not hear programs in their own tongue? The day has passed when you can fill the concert halls by newspaper stories of stolen jewels or photographs taken aboard ship—singing to the steerage passengers, etc. People want to understand singing and I predict a great change in our concerts. My singing all American programs comes from a love to create, I am not content to be a parrot and sing nothing but traditional programs when I know that most of my hearers do not understand them.

"Then in singing American songs that are seldom used, I find pleasure in seeking the hidden beauties that have not been brought out. To say you understand the art of singing when you cannot speak the language is a farce—it is saying that the art of singing means no more than the development of a voice. If you think words mean nothing in singing, try Yankee Doodle to the tune of Nearer My God to Thee, and ponder a moment—then ask yourself the honest question—just what do I get in the way of a message or thought when i hear singing in a language that I cannot understand? The 'made in America' songs are good and Americans need not be ashamed of their mother tongue."

HISTORIC LECTURE GIVEN IN FRIENDS' MEETING HOUSE

Lecturing on the subject of "Sovereignity," Francis R. Taylor, of Philadelphia, gave a historic account of the development of the United States and of the biographies of great men associated with the nation's progress in the Friends' Meeting-house yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Taylor reviewed the outstanding features in America's development since the time of the formation of the thirteen original colonies and associated the names of famous men with each progressive step. He declared the wisdom exercised by our forefathers may be duplicated in Europe at the termination of the present conflict and that the stricken countries may become amalgamated into one United Europe with a constitution similar to ours.

WILL INSPECT BOUND BROOK PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Supervising Principal Dr. Fred Aungst, of the North Plainfield schools, will meet with the other supervising principals of Somerset county, tomorrow, at Bound Brook, and an inspection of the schools will be made. County Superintendent H. C. Krebs, of the borough, will be present together with the principals of the Somerville, Raritan, Bound Brook and Bernardsville schools.

The first meeting of the principals was held last Tuesday in the North Plainfield schools and other schools in the county will be visited.

MRS. MARY MURTAGH DIES IN MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL

Mrs. Mary Murtagh, wife of James Murtagh, of 711 South Second street, died in Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday. She had been a patient in the maternity ward for several weeks. Beside her husband, Mrs. Murtagh is survived by two children, one an infant two weeks old; also six sisters, the Misses Bessie, Delia and Nellie Quigley, of this city, Catherine Quigley, of New York, and Norah and Alice Quigley, of Ireland; a mother in Ireland, and three brothers, Michael Quigley, of Staten Island, and Martin and Thomas Quigley, of Ireland.

Mrs. Murtagh was a communicant of St. Mary's church, where the funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

MARIA TESTE.

Maria Teste, the eight-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Teste, of 642 South Second street, died Saturday afternoon. The funeral was held this morning and the burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

CREDIT ASSOCIATION MEETING.

An important meeting of the Business Men's Credit Association will be held in the Frost building on Park avenue at 8 o'clock tonight. A full attendance of members is desired.

—Few classified advertising tasks are easier to accomplish than the renting of desirable property.

COLUMBUS CLUB CARNIVAL RECEIPTS TOTALLED $300

Members of the local Columbus Club brought their seven-day carnival to a close Saturday night, with a final program of merriment and dancing. A large throng was present and dancing proved the leading attraction.

As the result of the week of indoor festivities the club will net close to $300. Each night a large attendance was present and the expectations of the committee in charge were fully rewarded.

RECEPTION TENDERED TO REV. AND MRS. MESIER

The wardens and vestrymen of St. Stephen's church tendered a reception to the new rector and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Henry Mesier at the rectory on Woodland avenue, Saturday afternoon. It was in progress between the hours of 4 and 7 and during that time fully two hundred parishioners and friends called to pay their respects. Music was furnished by a New York orchestra and refreshments were served.

The rooms were very prettily decorated in honor of the occasion, chrysanthemums predominating among the cut flowers. There were also groups of palms and potted plants placed in conveinent corners.

WRIGHT IS LEADING MASONIC LEAGUERS

Tyrian Team Looks Like the One Best Bet for the Championship.

Wright, of the Essex team, continues to lead the individual records in the Masonic Bowling League with a mark of 174.31, according to the official averages made public by Secretary W. B. Martin today. The Tyrian team still holds forth on the top rung and the Anchor lodge quintet, of this city, is fifth.

JOHNSON FACES THE AGE HOODOO

Champion Must Be Freak to Win at Thirty-seven.

WOULD SET RING RECORD.

Dopester Figures Willard's Chances Excellent and Cites History to Prove It—Sullivan Was Through at Thirty-four and Corbett at Thirty-one.

Should Jack Johnson succeed in defeating Jess Willard at Juarez he will have accomplished a feat that has not been equaled in ring history. The nearest approach to it was when Bob Fitzsimmons, at the age of thirty-five, conquered Jim Corbett at Carson City.

Whatever may be said against Willard, it is a fact that he is the best white heavyweight who has come to the front during the past ten years. Yet a supposedly high living negro, at the age of thirty-seven, is picked to beat him. On the face of it there must be something wrong with such a conclusion.

In order to win Johnson must perform what past pugilistic history shows is in the nature of a miracle. With the exception of Fitzsimmons, who was an all round freak, no ring champion since the time of Sullivan has been able to defend his title at the age of thirty-seven, and even Fitzsimmons met defeat at that age. Today there is not a first class man in any division as old as Johnson or even near his age.

There are very few men now before the public who are even thirty years old. None of them is anywhere near his best form. Among the heavyweights Joe Jeannette, at thirty-five, is the oldest. For years Jeannette has been going back. He is no longer a card, and he devotes his attention to fourth raters. He has not stopped a good man for so long that his last decisive victory has been forgotten. Sam McVey, at thirty, is next. McVey is still a formidable fighter, but he reached the height of his career several years ago. The rest of the heavyweight stars are under the thirty-year mark.

The other classes show an even greater scarcity of thirty-year men. Johnny Conlon, at twenty-five, was forced to relinquish the bantam title. Abe Attell, now thirty-one, is out of the ring. He was only twenty-eight when he lost his title, and he had been slipping for several years before that.

Freddie Welsh, the present lightweight champion, is twenty-seven and is about ready to fall, judging by his recent form.

The only prominent welterweight of any age at present is Packey McFarland, who has retired. McFarland is only twenty-seven, but he must have seen the handwriting on the wall or he would not have dropped out.

Only youth is represented in the middleweight division. Frank Klaus, twenty-eight, retired two years ago, and Billy Papke, twenty-nine, has not donned the gloves for an equal length of time. Mike Gibbons is twenty-seven and Jimmy Clabby twenty-five, while Eddie McGoorty is twenty-six.

John L. Sullivan was thirty-four when he succumbed to Father Time, aided by the light taps of Jim Corbett. Sullivan was a physical wreck at that age and would have lost the honors years before he did had he met a first class man.

Corbett's finish came when he was thirty-one. Corbett continued in the ring for some years after he lost the title, but the rest of his pugilistic career was marked by an almost uninterrupted list of defeats.

Bob Fitzsimmons, the most remarkable figure in ring history, came into possession of the title at thirty-five, and lost it at thirty-seven. Fitz was the exception that proves the rule in the case.

Fitzsimmons lost to Jim Jeffries, a giant, whose size, youth and strength more than offset the veteran's cunning ring generalship and terrific hitting. Size, youth and strength are the qualities upon which Willard will rely to prevent Johnson from surpassing Ruby Robert's wonderful feat.

Jeffries was twenty-nine when age and rapidly accumulating flesh warned him that it was time to retire. Six years later, when he was dragged out of retirement to face Johnson, he was but a pitiful wreck.

SURPRISE PARTY.

Mrs. Irene Irving and Mrs. Melissa Cook, of the Endress apartments, were given a suprise by their friends upon their return home Friday evening. The evening was pleasantly spent with games and vocal and instrumental music. Refreshments were served in the dining room, the decorations were red and very artistic. Besides the guests from here they were others from Newark and Bound Brook.

POULTRY ASS'N MEETING.

The next meeting of the New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement will be held in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Park avenue, Wednesday night. The meeting will be of interest to local poultrymen as well as the members as the report of the winnings of the Madison Square show will be read. There will be a question box and any questions pertaining to poultry will be answered.

Mrs. Morris Abrams, of Grove street, who underwent her third operation at Muhlenberg Hospital last Tuesday, is reported to be improving rapidly.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Germany issued its decree establishing a war zone purely as a retaliatory measure to offset Great Britain's refusal to permit foodstuffs to reach the civilian population of Germany. This was the burden of a note delivered to the State Department today by Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador. The note declared that if the neutral nations would induce Great Britain to raise its blockade Germany would at once rescind its war zone order. Secretary Bryan made no reply.

WILL OPEN BIDS TONIGHT.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

TENTATIVE PRIZE LIST FOR ELKS' JUNIOR LEAGUE INDICATES THAT ELIZABETH WILL BE THE TOP-NOTCHER FOR THE SEASON

Playing Off of Newark-Paterson Tie Will Probably Not Affect Standings.

Plainfield Gets But One Prize in the Inaugural Year of Junior Bowling.

What will probably remain as the final statistics for the year in the Junior Elks' Bowling League were issued by Secretary V. W. Nash, Jr., today, and indicate the tentative prize list for the first year of competition in the infant organization. By virtue of her berth on the top rung in the league standings, Elizabeth will receive the Miller Cup, donated by Louis Miller, of Elizabeth Lodge, No. 289. The Betsytown pinners will hold the trophy for one year, it becoming the permanent property of the lodge annexing it three years (not in succession). The champions enjoyed a comfortable advantage at the culmination of the schedule, having won twenty-three contests and dropped but seven. Beside the Miller cup the players on the victorious aggregation will divide $35 given as first place money and will also receive the I. H. Hall trophy, donated by I. H. Hall, of Paterson Lodge, No. 60. The cup will become the permanent property of the team winning it three times (not in succession). Elizabeth will hold it for the first year.

Plainfield bowlers faired poorly in the melon cutting and when the prizes are distributed at the banquet at Jersey City, but one Plainfielder's name will be mentioned. W. R. Causbrook, with a mark of 178.5, leads the Plainfield team in the individual average race, and will receive a junior league fob. By dropping into fourth place during the last few games, the Queen Cityites lost an opportunity to annex the $15 third place prize money.

Newark and Paterson are tied for second place, but no matter how the play-off results, these two teams will be in possession of second and third places. There is a team prize of $20 for second place, and $15 for third place. It is not expected that the play-off will affect the awarding of the other prizes, but in the event of any sensational pinning a revision will have to be made. No date or place has been set for the rubber match, but the Plainfield lodge, through Secretary V. W. Nash, Jr., has offered the local alleys for the match, and it is not unlikely that Newark and Paterson will elect to come to Plainfield, as the by-laws make it compulsory to stage the games on a neutral alley.

Captain Blythe, of the Elizabeth team, came through the fray with the highest individual average, setting up a 184 as a final. He will receive the Warren Wood gold fob. The gold fob offered by Chauncey Stout, captain of the local team, for the individual rolling high score, goes to Van Bergen, of Elizabeth, with a mark of 239.

A gold junior league fob will be awarded to the leading average man in each team, the following being the winners: Plainfield, Causbrook; Elizabeth, Blythe; Newark, Haggerty; New Brunswick, Harding; Paterson, O'Gorman, and Jersey City, Hudson.

On the whole the junior league race has been a success during the inaugural year and has weathered the difficulties always attached to a new league in excellent shape. Now that the project has been sent under way it will be a permanent fixture in B. P. O. E. activities, and it is probable that a longer schedule will be played next year.

The officers of the league during the first year are: President, Alexander P. Hinton, Newark Lodge; vice president, Harry W. Lawrence, Paterson Lodge; treasurer, Walter L. Burton, New Brunswick Lodge; secretary, V. W. Nash, Jr., Plainfield Lodge. The executive committee, composed of Charles E. Scott, of the Elizabeth Lodge; Charles Jarchow, of the Jersey City Lodge, and Harry W. Lawrence, of the Paterson Lodge, has been notified to sit in Newark next Sunday to decide matters pertaining to the first annual banquet and the playing off of the existing tie for second place.

MONTCLAIR TEAM PROVES EASY PREY

Plainfield High School Track Men Overwhelm Their Rivals.

In a dual track meet against Montclair High School, in the local gym, Saturday afternoon, the Plainfield High School team defeated its opponents by the score of 44 to 19. The only first places which Montclair was able to win were in the 50-yard dash and the standing hop, step and jump.

In the preliminary heat of the 20-yard dash Mills and Forstall ran even; but in the final Mills outdistanced his opponent by several inches, Forstall capturing second place and O'Leary third.

The results:

20-yard dash—First, Mills (Plainfield); second, Forstall (Montclair); third, O'Leary (Plainfield).

Running high jump—First, Runyon (Plainfield), 5 ft. 6 inches; second, Daniels (Plainfield), 5 ft. 1 inch; third, Schenck (Plainfield), 4 ft. 11 inches.

12-pound shotput—First, Daniels (Plainfield); second, Runyon (Plainfield); third, Noonon (Plainfield). Distance, 35 ft. 10½ inches.

Running broad jump—First, Runyon (Plainfield); second, Daniels (Plainfield); third, Schenck (Plainfield). Distance, 19 ft. 2 inches.

Standing broad jump—First, Trowbridge (Plainfield); second, Fickinger (Montclair); third, Daniels (Plainfield). Distance, 9 ft. 4½ inches.

Standing hop, step and jump—First, Fickinger (Montclair); second, Runyon (Plainfield); third, Trowbridge (Plainfield). Distance, 25 ft. 2 inches.

50-yard dash—First, Ames (Montclair); second, Forstall (Montclair); third, Mills (Plainfield). Time, 5½ seconds.

ANOTHER N. P. H. S. TEAM DEFEATED BY RED AND BLUE

The Plainfield High School freshmen girls' basketball team defeated the North Plainfield High School sophomore girls' team in the Plainfield High School gymnasium, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 19 to 11. The score:

HARNEY'S NEW BERTH.

Percy Harney, of Bound Brook, who played with the Plainfield baseball team last season, has taken a position with the firm of Kirkman & Son, as salesman. Harney, who has done much mound work in this city, will probably become a member of the fast baseball team which represents that establishment every season.

P. H. S. MEETS LEALS ON SCHOOLBOY COURT

Interscholastic Match Tops the Week's Basketball Menu.

WEEK'S BASKETBALL SCHEDULE.

MONDAY.
Battin H. S. at P. H. S.
Westfield at Leal's.

TUESDAY.
Plainfield Five vs. Battin H. S. Girls, Columbus Club (night).
Columbus Club vs. Battin H. S., Columbus Club (night).
St. Christopher's vs. All Stars, at Saengerbund Hall(night).

WEDNESDAY.
N. P. H. S. vs. Rutgers "Prep," at New Brunswick.

FRIDAY.
Montclair Girls at P. H. S.
N. P. H. S. Girls at Summit.
Battin H. S., at Westfield (night).

SATURDAY.
Leal's at P. H. S.
Summit at N. P. H. S.
Y. M. C. A. vs. J. and C., of New Brunswick.

Leal's and Plainfield High School basketball teams will meet for the second time this season in an Interscholastic League contest on the Ninth street court, Saturday afternoon. Plainfield need only get this game and then order the medals that go with the championship, which has been practically won. Leal's defeated the city school boys last year in the last game, but it will be next to impossible to defeat Plainfield this year on their home court. In the event of Plainfield's losing, they would have to meet North Plainfield again.

WON POULTRY PRIZES.

The Scotch Plains Poultry Farms was awarded two prizes in the poultry and pigeon show now in progress in Madison Square Garden. First prize was given this farm for a young gander in the Tolouse goose class and second prize was also won in the same class by the same farm.

GIRLS WILL PRACTICE.

The Plainfield Five will hold a light practice in the Columbus Club tonight in preparation for its game tomorrow night, when it will lineup against the Battin High School girls from Elizabeth.

Plainfield Elk pinners, of the Senior League, are booked to meet Hoboken at that place, Thursday night. This will be the next to the last week of bowling in this league, the last games being scheduled for Thursday, February 25, when three matches will be played. The regular competition will take place at the Park Club, Thursday and Friday nights.

HERON TALLIES 19 TIMES ON FOULS

Hope Chapel Captain's 23-Point Score, However, Was Too Small.

The Hope Chapel basketball team met its match Saturday night, when the Empire Five, of Tottenville, took the larger end of a 47 to 37 score in the Chapel gym. The Fourth street team put up a good fight for the game, but their opponents gradually drew away from them in the second half. Both teams were guilty of many fouls, which made the game of a rough nature, and Captain Tommy Heron starred at the fifteen foot mark, tallying 19 points for his team, besides the two field goals he caged. The first half ended with the visitors leading by three points, the scores being 22 to 19.

In the last period the Empire players scored seven points more than the Chapelites, which gave them a ten-point lead when the final whistle blew. Walls and Snyder each counted for three field goals, while Wardrop dropped in one from the field. For the visitors H. Price made five of the two-point variety and also nine fouls.

The scores follow:

PLAINFIELD FIVE WILL LINEUP IN PRELIMINARY

The Plainfield Five will lineup tomorrow night in the preliminary game on the Columbus Club court against the Battin High School girls, of Elizabeth. The Battin girls have not lost a game this season and no doubt they will give the local girls a close fight for the verdict. The Plainfield Five has played one game this season thus far, which resulted in a forfeiting after a big lead had been run up.

The Plainfield girls will lineup as follows:

Helen Hummel	forward
Ida Hummel	forward
Helen Brynairski	centre
Clara Smith	guard
Marion Mair	guard
Mildred McAuliffe	side centre

IT'S A GOOD THING TEAM DIDN'T COME

If Y. M. C. A. Played Sewaren Like It Did the Scrubs, Well—Here It Is.

Y. M. C. A. basketball team and fans were disappointed Saturday night by the non-appearance of a team scheduled to play here. The Sewaren Five did not show up and sent no word of its intentions of not coming. The association team, however, played a game against a "scrub" aggregation that was picked up in a minute. It consisted of members of the Color League and other stars. The Y. M. C. A. team won the verdict by a score of 30 to 18.

In the first half the scrubs were held to four points, one field goal and two fouls. Taylor scored six field goals during the game and Moulton registered four in the second half.

PROVIDE RAINCHECKS FOR COURT PASTIME

Encounter Will Be Postponed if Old "Jup" Pluvius Holds Forth.

A big basketball attraction is booked for Saengerbund Hall, tomorrow night, when the Plainfield All-Stars will meet the strong St. Christopher colored five, of New York. The colored team played in the borough a short time ago and trounced a local team. In the preliminary game, the Nonpariel team, of this city, will meet the Speedboys, of Elizabeth.

Dancing will follow the games with music by the New Amsterdam orchestra, of New York. In case of rain the games will be postponed.

EAGLES PLAN BANQUET.

The bowling team that represents Newark Aerie, No. 44, F. O. E., is planning a big time to take place in the near future when the presentation of the bowling trophy, which was won by the Newark pinners, will be made. The trophy, which has to be won twice in succession to become the permanent property of a team, stands twenty-seven inches in heighth. It consists of three silver pins upon which rests a silver bowling ball twelve inches in diameter. The ball can be used for a punch bowl.

Y. M. C. A. ACCEPTS SCHOOLBOYS' DEFY

Plainfield High School League "Champs" After More Honors.

Arrangements for a series of games for the championship of Plainfield are now being made by the managers of the Plainfield High School and Y. M. C. A. basketball teams. The schoolboys have practically won the interscholastic championship, while the association players are city "champs."

Manager Nicholas Zelmas, of the High School team, has issued a challenge which has been accepted by the Y. M. C. A. management and a series of games will be played in the near future. The first one was tentatively arranged for Washington's birthday night, but the school champions will be unable to play because of a dance which is to be held that night. The games will be played at the Y. M. C. A. and High School and if necessary a deciding match will be played on a neutral court.

There has been much interest taken in a series between these two teams and it is likely that a cup may be donated for the winner. Announcement of the dates will be made later.

WHITES HAD A NARROW ESCAPE IN SECOND HALF

The Reds and Whites, of the Y. M. C. A. Color League, played a fast and close game Saturday night, the final score being 17 to 16 in favor of the White aggregation. The Reds were off their stride in the initial period of play and scored only three points, while their opponents were making 10.

In the last half the Whites were completely outplayed and were lucky to get away with the large end of the score. In this half Phillipson, Newmiller and Ricketts each scored two field goals.

EAST END'S SAY THEY WON MARATHON PINOCHLE GAME

The following communication was received from members of the East End pinochle team, this morning, regarding an article published in Friday night's paper:

Sporting Editor of Daily Press:

Noticing your article in Saturday evening's paper in reference to our being defeated at pinochle Friday night, by Messrs. D. J. Galbraith and George Houseman, representing the West End, we would say your writer was very badly misinformed as to the result. We played five games and we won three out of the five, which were very hardly contested, it taking four hours and ten minutes to decide the winner of the final game. This was the second meet of a series and we have now won both. The only reason we can see for the misstatement was that the writer of the same must have belonged to the West End.

Yours truly,
B. J. KOGON,
F. J. SHATTLE.

PLAINFIELD SQUASH PLAYERS TOOK FIVE

Locals Made a Clean Sweep at the Expense of Morristown Performers.

Squash, an athletic event that has only recently started to "come into its own," was introduced to Plainfield sportsmen in an auspicious fashion Saturday afternoon, when the exponents of the racquet pastime representing the Queen City, made a clean sweep at the expense of their Morristown guests and rivals. The engagement was staged on Henry L. DeForest's court and some lively combats with plenty of good playing were in evidence.

Plainfield's victories in the five sets were of a decisive nature and left little doubt as to the superiority of the home wielders. C. B. Tyler, Butler Ducknick, W. S. Tyler, Henry L. DeForest and W. L. Righter represented the Plainfield Squash Club and their inter-club competition gave evidence of bringing squash laurels to Plainfield in future games scheduled.

The results:

C. B. Tyler (Plainfield), defeated Gilbert Jones (Morristown), 15 to 10, 15 to 7.

Butler Ducknick (Plainfield), defeated Josiah Tacy (Morristown), 15 to 10, 15 to 6.

W. S. Tyler (Plainfield), defeated James H. McLean (Morristown), 15 to 3, 15 to 10.

Henry L. DeForest (Plainfield), defeated R. A. Grainuss (Morristown), 15 to 8, 15 to 3.

W. L. Righter (Plainfield), defeated Albert Swords (Morristown), 15 to 8, 15 to 6.

OMAHA ENTERTAINED.

The Omaha team, of the Y. M. C. A. Indian League, entertained the Iroquois team at lunch last Saturday morning after the class work. Benjamin Doane, of the Omaha team, was toastmaster, and called on Warren Moyer, Walter Brown, James Brownlee, Henry Welle, Boys' Secretary Edward Glaentzer and Physical Director Robert Meermans, for speeches. Next Saturday the Wawayanda team will "feed" the Sioux in a similar manner. Arthur Krausse will be the toastmaster.

SOME MISUNDERSTANDING.

According to New Brunswick sport writers the Hope Chapel team is scheduled to meet the Phantom Triangles at that place, tonight, and Battin High School will play the St. John Scouts in the "prelim." Information dealt out by the Hope manager indicates that the contest is one carded for Wednesday night with the Hope Chapel juniors. The Battinites are scheduled to meet P. H. S. here this afternoon, and it is not likely that they will perform in Brunswick tonight.

ONE MAN TOURNEY.

George Gates, owner of the Somerset street bowling alleys, has started a one man tournament, the first match to be played tomorrow night. At that time Menzenback and Kunzman will play first, followed by Walt Conover and Snyder. The schedule for the remainder of the week follows: Thursday, J. Connolly vs. Squiers, Art Thorn vs. George Conover; Friday, Baker vs. C. Smalley, and McKenzie vs. Voorhees.

CONTESTANTS TO DINE.

Twenty-three members of the boys' department who have entered the membership contest will have dinner tonight in the association rooms. This dinner will be served by the ladies of the Women's Auxiliary, and this fact alone promises a good "feed."

RUNAWAY JUNE

BY GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER AND LILLIAN CHESTER

Copyright, 1915, by Serial Publication Corporation

By special arrangement for the Daily Press a photo-drama corresponding to the installments of "Runaway June," may now be seen at Proctor's Front Street Theatre each Thursday. By arrangement made with the Mutual Film Company it is not only possible to read "Runaway June" each week, but also afterward to see moving pictures illustrating our story.

FIFTH EPISODE.

A Woman In Trouble.

CHAPTER I.

FAT old black Aunt Debby was dressed in her best marketing clothes, the green percale with the big yellow flowers, and the little blue hat with the nodding red poppies was set far forward on her kinkless wig. The marketing trip to the city had been one of Aunt Debby's chief joys, but today the buoyancy and the high pitched laugh of excitement were absent.

"You'll stop at Ned's for Mr. Moore, Debby," said Mrs. Moore.

"Yassum." Aunt Debby stole a glance at June's portrait on the wall. "You—you ain't heard nothin' yet of Miss Junie?"

At the sound of that name Bouncer rose instantly, head up, ears perked, tail wagging, eyes eager, mouth open. He was at the window with his paws on the sill and ready to bark. He whined instead and dropped his paws to the floor.

Where was June? That puzzling problem filled the entire mind of Aunt Debby as by the side of the driver she spun into the city in the Moore limousine. And that puzzling problem filled the entire mind of John Moore as he sat in his office.

Where was June? A dozen private detectives were scouring the city of New York for her, and they reported to a stern faced young man who sat in the lonely apartments which June and he had fitted up to be their nest, his only companion a miniature of his lovely bride.

Where was June? Who was this mysterious Gilbert Blye? What was his power over Ned Warner's bride?

Ned seized his hat and strode forth into the streets in his never ending search for June.

At that moment the door of a strange house had slammed abruptly behind beautiful June Warner. And Gilbert Blye had furnished this address to June's employment agency.

A blase looking page girl inspected June impudently in the dim light of the hall, then with a significant grin left June standing there and swaggered through a door at the end of the hall. June was startled as that door opened and a blaze of light came out with the chatter of many shrill voices. In there, amid wreaths of curling blue smoke, moved handsomely gowned women, and many of them nonchalantly puffed at cigarettes. At that instant the smiling Gilbert Blye's key grated in the lock.

A large yellow haired woman came hurrying from the salon with June's employment agency card in her hand.

"Right this way, honey," she rasped in a voice to which the honey was foreign, and she led the way to a small side room at the left of the salon. As June reluctantly entered the strangely furnished little room at the left Gilbert Blye came in at the front door.

With a smile upon his lips and glinting in his dark eyes he hurried straight back toward the little room in which stood June, now alone and frightened.

At that instant a huge, clumsy maid came tumbling up from the basement, followed by a puff of yellow smoke. With her eyes distended and her mouth open, ready for the yell of "Fire!" she rushed to the door of the salon, but before she could reach it Gilbert Blye had her roughly by the arm and pushed her through the door which led to the basement. He stood staring at the smoke which came curling ominously through that opening, glanced again toward June's room and dashed down the stairs.

* * * * * * *

That was a strangely furnished little room in which June found herself. There were two desks and a filing cabinet and some office chairs, but there were a luxurious couch and dainty hangings, a soft rug and pink paneled walls and ceiling. It was all so incongruous. And the work—it was queer too. The yellow haired woman came in from the parlor presently and explained the posting into small blank books of many memorandum slips. Each slip contained the name of a woman and a sum of money. There were no slips for men, but there were index cards about men. June puzzled as to what sort of business this might be.

The page girl swished in with one of the memorandum slips. The yellow head, whose face was puffy and more highly colored than was wholesome, took the slip, looked at the name on it, frowned, shook her head and went out with the girl. She entered the salon and stood surveying the scene with cold abstraction. Around a long table sat the women whom June had seen. They all had cards in front of them and stacks of playing chips, and a rawboned woman sitting on a higher chair than the rest was dealing. The yellow haired woman fixed her attention on the gambler next to the dealer. She was a fluffy blond with a feverish glitter in her eyes, and she was bent so intently upon the fall of the cards that she did not notice the door open and close.

Poor June! She glanced about her with growing repugnance. She was abjectly miserable, and suddenly she was sobbing.

Ned! Why had she run away from him?

In the gambling room the fluffy blond who had played so feverishly staked and lost the last chip in front of her. She turned impatiently to look for the page girl. She met instead the cold, hard eye of the yellow haired woman, who quietly motioned her. The player rose reluctantly, and fright came into her face as she followed into the hall and to the little office where June had been installed.

"You've reached the limit, Mrs. Perry," announced the yellow haired woman, turning on the unlucky one sharply as she closed the door. "Here is the I. O. U. Belle brought to me. I have not O. K.'d it."

"It's only for $50," faltered Mrs. Perry.

"I wouldn't O. K. it for 50 cents," snapped the other. "Now, I want action. You'll telephone your husband from this room."

"No, no!" The woman wrung her hands. "I'll talk to him tonight!"

"I know that game," she scorned, and from June's desk she took an index card.

"Eight-o-eight-o Garden," she told the new secretary. "Ask for Mr. Perry, and say that his wife wishes to speak with him."

"No!" cried Mrs. Perry hysterically, and reached over June's shoulder to take the phone. The new secretary had made no move toward the phone. She was staring at the yellow haired woman in astonishment. That determined person was not one to wrangle in emergencies. She snatched up the phone herself and called the number.

"You women think I'm a mark," she scornfully stated to Mrs. Perry while she waited. "You'd sting me for a thousand dollars rather than sting your husband for it. See this card?" She held it out. It contained the name of Jackson W. Perry, his business address, his home address, his financial rating, probable income, clubs and telephone numbers. And the unfortunate Mrs. Perry seemed to shrink into hopeless despair as she realized the implacable organization against which she had pitted herself. "Mr. Perry, please." The yellow haired woman's voice had undergone a complete change. It was very pleasant of inflection, though it rasped. "His wife wishes to speak with him." She handed over the telephone, and June, seeing Mrs. Perry's unsteadiness, rose and compassionately gave the woman her chair. The yellow haired one walked calmly over to her own desk and took up the extension phone.

June looked at her hat and coat. She seemed quite bewildered. She could not quite understand what this was all about, but she did know that it was all unpleasant and heartless and degrading. She was starting to go when something on Mrs. Perry's face touched her sympathies and held her.

"Yes, it's Gwen," trembled Mrs. Perry, her nervous fingers clutching desperately to keep the quaver from her voice. "I—I hope I haven't interrupted anything important."

"Not very." The man's voice could be heard distinctly outside the phone.

"Jack"—the voice was full of pleading—"I—I have to have some money."

The frown of the yellow haired woman deepened as she listened to the man's reply.

"I know it's a week before my allowance is due," urged Mrs. Perry, and now she turned her eyes imploringly toward the stony, yellow haired one.

"But I just must have it! Eight hundred dollars!"

The man's voice boomed an incredulous exclamation over the wire; then a sharp question.

"Why—why, it's to pay bills! Yes, yes, Jack, I know I was supposed to keep them paid out of my allowance! I didn't want to tell you this until we could sit down quietly together, only they're pressing me for payment! And the allowance isn't enough, Jackson! Yes, I know you've raised it—oh!"

The man's heavy voice had interrupted her calmly, coldly. She sank back limply in the chair.

June hung up the receiver. She was surprised to see the yellow haired woman put up her own phone and come across the room with a benign expression.

"Cheer up," she advised. "Hubby's all right."

Mrs. Perry straightened up.

"Yes," she said and moistened her lips, "he said that he'd go over those bills with me tonight."

"I heard him myself." And the yellow haired woman grinned across at June. "Here's your I. O. U., dearie. I've O. K.'d it. You better go in and play awhile for your nerves."

The terrified little blond looked up incredulously. It was as if she had been given a drink of some strong stimulant, and she clutched eagerly at the memorandum slip. Perhaps with that she could win back all that she had lost!

"Thank you!" she gasped and hurried from the room.

The other woman grabbed her phone.

"Eight-o-eight-o Garden!" she called. "Hello! Mr. Perry, please. This is his wife's friend."

June moved for her hat and coat.

"Hello, Mr. Perry! Say, your wife is at 48 Kingsley court gambling, and she's going to be exposed in half an hour if you aren't here to pay her debts."

The man at the other end of the wire apparently took a moment to gasp for breath; then the wire boomed.

"All right, bring the police if you want," snapped the yellow haired woman. "I guess I can stand the notoriety if you and your wife can. And, say, checks don't go. Bring cash. It's eight-fifty now."

June stood aghast. A gambling house!

CHAPTER II.

ON the corner near Mrs. O'Keefe's home Officer Grady walked over to lift his cap politely and to help Marie across the street with her empty market basket. Two blocks up Officer Dowd carried her basket two blocks off his beat to where Officer Kernan held up the traffic both ways while she described the chicken potpie she intended to make for dinner. All this was, first, because the Widow O'Keefe's husband had been the most popular man on the force and, second, because Marie, plain of feature though she was, had found in herself an unexpected knack for pleasing policemen.

In the market June's maid, companion and protector wandered from stall to stall, selecting her tiny purchases of fruit and vegetables. She was just deciding on the tremendously important selection of the chicken itself when suddenly an avalanche of flaming color fell upon her and a voice cried:

"You, Marie? Wha's Miss Junie? I say, wha's Miss Junie?"

Aunt Debby! Her two fat black hands were gripped on Marie's arm. A crowd began to gather immediately. Marie straightened herself stiffly.

"I do not know you!" she declared.

"You don't know me!" Aunt Debby wheezed, her broad bosom jumping up and down. "You say you don't know me! Ain't I Debby? Ain't you Marie?"

Marie with a sudden jerk freed herself from that earnest grasp and would have been far down the street had it not been for the thickening crowd. Aunt Debby, plunging forward with unbelievable agility, threw both arms around her.

"What's the matter here?" The gruff voice of a big policeman.

"I want that woman took in charge!" panted Aunt Debby, and she rolled her eyes.

"Oh, you do!" And the officer of the law turned on Marie an eye which was perfectly ready to be suspicious in spite of its disinclination. "What's the charge?"

The voice of Aunt Debby rose shrilly triumphant:

"She done stole my pocketbook!"

It was Marie's turn to look astounded.

"Oh, she did! When? Here in the market?"

"Yas, sir, she did. Right up hyah at the chicken stand!"

"Well, what's that on your arm?" And Aunt Debby's eyes dropped as she saw the stern gaze of the policeman fixed on the rusty old hand bag which gripped her thick forearm. She had forgotten that detail in her planning. "Open it up," ordered the officer, who opened it himself. It had bills and silver in it. Aunt Debby's reading spectacles and her farsighted ones, some peppermint lozenges, brunette face powder and a tea biscuit.

"Well—well—well!" gulped Aunt Debby, her eyes batting. "She done stole my other pocketbook!"

"That's enough!" growled the officer. "No negro ever had two pocketbooks. What have you got to say, miss?" And he was quite respectful to Marie.

"I don't know her, Mr. Officer," smiled Marie.

While She Described the Chicken Potpie.

"You, Marie," screamed Aunt Debby, "you say you don't know me?"

"Go on about your business," ordered the big policeman.

"I don't leave this spot without that girl!" declared Aunt Debby, planting her fists on her hips and spreading her feet apart. Then the outraged majesty of the law asserted itself.

"Hey, Billy! Call the wagon!" he yelled.

"Please don't arrest her!" begged Marie.

She was too late; the wagon had been called.

"Sorry, miss," said the officer who had first interfered, "but this party went too far." And he turned to help toss the culprit in.

"Oh, Mr. Dowd!" The voice of Marie was suddenly bright and care free.

The three policemen who had been assisting Aunt Debby turned quickly as Officer Dowd pushed smiling through the crowd to the side of Marie.

"What's the trouble?" he inquired.

Marie whispered her explanation.

"Let the smoke go, boys," requested Officer Dowd carelessly. "It's all a mistake."

"Now you hike!" ordered the policeman and gave Aunt Debby a poke in the ribs.

Slowly she waddled to the chicken market, where she found her basket intact in the stall of the poultryman, and slowly she walked up a block to the adjacent avenue, where stood the Moore limousine.

"Jerry," she called as she climbed breathlessly to her seat by the driver, "I done seed Marie! And whah she goes Miss Junie is!"

The car was already started.

"Where?" asked Jerry, all quivering eagerness.

Aunt Debby's eyes rolled. She could talk no more, but she made a circular motion with her hand, and Jerry understood.

There seemed to be small profit in circulating, and after a few minutes of this tedious process Aunt Debby, who seemed to be tremendously prolific of ideas today, said:

"Mistah Ned!"

To Ned's they drove, and within five minutes after Aunt Debby's excited report Ned Warner and John Moore and three long and lanky detectives were headed for the market, with Jerry and Aunt Debby up in front. At that point they scattered, and it was Ned whose inquiries after Marie led all the way to Officer Dowd.

CHAPTER III.

A HEAVY jawed, firm mouthed, square headed and level eyed man stopped at the door of 48 Kingsley court and rang the bell with a vigorous jerk.

"Mr. Perry," he announced bluntly.

"Yes, sir," replied the impudent page girl, by no means abashed, and she threw open the parlor door. "Right in here." She grinned as she switched on the lights for him and saw that he was oppressed by the fact of the drawn curtains.

The yellow haired woman found him standing solidly in the center of the room, facing the door.

"Where is my wife?" he loudly demanded.

"Don't bark at me!" snapped the yellow haired woman.

The man abated none of its intensity as he repeated his demand.

"In a minute." The yellow haired woman was quite calm and collected. "I don't mind turning over a parlor to settle a domestic scrap, but I want my bill settled first. Eight-fifty."

"How do I know that she is guilty of gambling? How do I know that she is here?"

The woman's lip curled.

"Want to see her with the goods? Well, Jackson, if you'll promise to behave I'll show her to you through a peephole."

The man's fists clinched convulsively.

"You'd better pass over my eight-fifty first," said the yellow haired woman.

"Just a minute, please." A sweet voice, low, gentle, cultured—no such voice as the man had expected to hear in this place. He was equally impressed when he turned and saw the beautiful young girl who had glided through the rear door, her face full of serious purpose.

"Who rang for you?" spapped the yellow haired woman, her eyes flaming with instant resentment.

"I stayed in this house for no other reason than to see Mr. Perry," announced June, with no trace of timidity about her.

"What do you know about this?"

"Mrs. Perry is in deep trouble and needs your help."

"She had no reason to be in trouble. I give my wife an ample allowance." The man turned from June.

"You give it." Across June's mind there flashed again the whole of her own vital problem—that whatever the wife has must come from the husband in the nature of charity. She saw herself again as the piteous little beggar before Ned, whom she loved, and she saw Mrs. Perry in that same attitude before this stern husband. "What right have you to call it a gift?"

The man stopped and turned to June with a puzzled brow. She had set astir in him a new thought.

"This angel of mercy stuff is bad for profits," rasped the voice of the yellow head. "But I can't overlook a chance like this. I know your kind, Jackson Perry. You give your wife an allowance that covers everything but emergencies. You figure the plumber to come in three times a year, and if he comes in four she loses. If she has a mad passion to treat a few of her friends to ice cream sodas she has to wait till next month's allowance day. If she ever saved $25 you'd reduce her pay. I'll bet this poor little wife of yours first got into trouble through losing $2 in a friendly penny auction game, and she's been trying to overtake it ever since."

A gentle hand was laid on the man's arm.

"You will help her?" The low, sweet voice was full of more than appeal: it was full of trust and confidence.

There was a slight convulsive heaving of Perry's shoulders, but that was all. He drew out a pocketbook and counted some money into the yellow haired woman's hand.

"Now, bring Gwen to me," he said, and his voice had no harshness, his eyes no sternness, his smile no bitterness.

With moist eyes June hurried from the room. She was glad that she had stayed here, glad that she had come, very glad indeed, but now she was in a hurry to go! The yellow haired woman overtook her in the hall, and she patted June on the shoulder.

"You're all right, Peachie," she approved, "but remember this, the fixer gets the blisters."

June was putting on her hat and coat when Mrs. Perry wonderingly followed the yellow haired woman through the hall. It was yellow head's regular plan of campaign to confront people without previous explanation. It saved wear and tear on the nerves.

A moment later there was a shriek, and as June came to the door Mrs. Perry, her eyes wild and her hair flying, came rushing back through the hall. She had gone only as far as the parlor door and at the first sight of her husband had run, overwhelmed with unreasoning terror. Back into the salon Mrs. Perry fled and to her place next the dealer. With snakelike swiftness she jerked open the money drawer beneath the dealer's card box and snatched from it the shining revolver which she had so often seen there. There was an instant's commotion, shrieks of fright, an overturning of chairs, as with a wild cry the woman swiftly raised the revolver to her temple. Before she could press the trigger, however, June's strong young arm had thrown up the woman's wrist, and the bullet which would have ended Mrs. Perry's life went into the ceiling.

Jackson Perry came bursting through the door and found June in the midst of the pandemonium, with the limp Mrs. Perry in her arms.

"Gwen!" cried the man, and the call came from his heart. He had feared that she was dead, but she opened her eyes as he took her in his arms, and there in the midst of that frantic commotion their lips met in the kiss of a new betrothal.

The yellow haired woman had waited only to see Perry clasp his wife in his arms; then, leaving wide the salon door, she rushed toward the basement door.

"Ready with that fire?" she yelled.

"It's ready, all right," replied the page girl, bursting out of the basement door, and with her came a tremendous cloud of smoke. It poured into the hall and into the salon. The page girl was choking with it. "They foozled the first one, and the boss has been fighting ever since, trying to keep the shack from burning down."

June rushed out through the hall.

"Not that way!" called the page girl. "The cops are at the door! Wait for the firemen!"

The explanation of that was slow in coming to June. When the yellow haired woman sent for a husband she had always to fear the police, and the only way to foil a raid was to confuse it with a fire.

Thoroughly frightened, June turned back toward the salon, and as she passed the basement door she saw coming up through the rolling yellow smoke the dark, black vandyked face of Gilbert Blye!

"This way!" called the yellow haired woman and with a jerk of a tasseled curtain cord drew aside the great yellow hangings of the salon windows, which ran to the floor.

The terrified women threw open the windows in an instant and were out on the latticed balcony, down the steps and through the yard to the walled park fronting on the other side.

As June sped away she heard the clang of the fire engines and the hoarse shouts of the gathering crowd in front of 48 Kingsley court.

Blye had dashed after her, but he reached the street only in time to see her boarding a downtown car. He caught the next one.

All unconscious that she was pursued and grown careless by her three days of safety in the Widow O'Keefe's thoroughly protected house, June alighted at her usual corner and hurried down the cross street. At an irregular corner, where half a dozen dingy streets and alleys plunged together and, apparently dizzied by the impact, wandered angularly and aimlessly off, June met on a narrow crossing a being fairly jiggling with alcohol. Her heart popped into her throat, and she was about to turn back, for she would have died rather than to have brushed clothes with the object, when the creature, catching sight of her, immediately stepped far over into the mud, jerked off his battered cap and with it made a courtesy so sweeping that he was unable to rise up for five minutes afterward.

That was enough for one day, and June ran down the street, past the little fountain, into the sanctuary of the Widow O'Keefe's house, up the two flights of stairs and dropped into the wicker chair.

"Slippers," was all she said.

Marie was on her knees in an instant, showing every gum.

"Aunt Debby!" she cried, and from then on until long after the wonderful chicken potpie had been consumed the conversation flowed with never an ebb.

It was good to have found a refuge like this. It seemed far, far away from the New York which these two knew, and it was as if no one could ever find them here. They were safe. Safe!

Is one ever safe? As Ned Warner stood trying vainly to extract information from Officer Dowd June's car flashed by him and he caught a glimpse of her.

Officer Dowd was astonished to have his particularly insistent questioner stop abruptly in the middle of a sentence and go dashing madly after a street car. In half a block the young man gave up that absurd chase.

The traffic thickened just beyond, so that for three or four blocks Ned was able to keep sight of the car as it stopped and started. Finally it was blocked, and Ned was able to catch up with it. June was no longer among the passengers!

"There was a girl on your car wearing a fur cap with a green tassel!" breathlessly said Ned to the conductor.

"Bet your life."

"Where did she leave your car?"

"On the track."

Ned dropped off the car, left to his own logic. June had alighted somewhere within these last two blocks. One going farther west would in all probability have taken a more convenient car line. To the east lay a tenement district of old, small houses. On the chance Ned struck east.

"Have you seen a girl wearing a fur cap with a green tassel?"

The young man with the yellow derby over one ear shifted his cigarette.

"I'll be the Patsy. What's the answer?"

He asked that question of countless people. On a corner where half a dozen streets and alleys had staggered themselves by running into each other Ned found a human being swaying gently in the breeze.

"Have you seen"—

Ned stopped after one glance into that vacuous face and one whiff from that far from vacuous breath.

"Pipe up, pal," husked the jiggled one. Ned went over his formula.

"Have you seen a girl wearing a fur cap with a green tassel?"

"Well, what do you think of that?" And it stopped swaying for a moment.

Blye Had Dashed After Her.

"A guy with black whiskers," and the human being illustrated the Vandyke by a motion of his hand, "asked me the same thing!"

Blye again! Ned clinched his fist. "Did you see the girl?"

The object winked.

"'S none of your business!" he answered with great dignity and reeled away.

Ned gazed after him in perplexity. There was no use to question that fellow any further, but it was certain that the man had seen June. She had passed this way then. She was somewhere near. And Blye! Blye, too, had passed this way! Ned chose the most direct street, the one which led to a little fountain, where another street angled sharply into it. And this fountain was visible from the third floor windows of the Widow O'Keefe's house. Ned Warner's heart was full of murder.

Blye had passed that way, but he had gone up another street. Now he, too, in his wandering search for the runaway bride came down toward the little fountain from the other angle.

June looked out of the window. In the gathering dusk she saw without recognizing them the two men approaching each other, with the sharp cornered building between.

At the point and under the light they would meet, Gilbert Blye and Ned Warner. And the husband of June had murder in his heart!

PEG O' MY HEART

CHAPTER IX.

Peg's Future.

ONE day the chance of solving the whole difficulty of Peg's future was placed in O'Connell's hands. But the means were so distasteful to him that he hesitated about even telling her.

He came in unexpectedly in the early afternoon of that day and found a letter waiting for him with an English postmark. Peg had eyed it curiously off and on for hours. She had turned it over and over in her fingers and looked at the curious, angular writing and felt a little cold shiver run up and down her as she found herself wondering who could be writing to her father from England.

When O'Connell walked in and picked the letter up she watched him excitedly. She felt, for some strange reason, that they were going to reach a crisis in their lives when the seal was broken and the contents disclosed. Superstition was strong in Peg, and all that day she had been nervous without reason and excited without cause.

O'Connell read the letter through twice, slowly the first time, quickly the second. A look of bewilderment came across his face as he sat down and stared at the letter in his hand.

"Who is it from at all?" asked Peg very quietly, though she was trembling all through her body.

Her father said nothing.

Presently he read it through again.

"It's from England, father, isn't it?" queried Peg, pale as a ghost.

"Yes, Peg," answered her father, and his voice sounded hollow and spiritless.

"I didn't know ye had friends in England," said Peg, eying the letter.

"I haven't," replied her father.

"Then who is it from?" insisted Peg, now all impatience and with a strange fear tugging at her heart.

O'Connell looked up at her as she stood there staring down at him, her big eyes wide open and her lips parted. He took both of her hands in one of his and held them all crushed together for what seemed to Peg to be a long, long while. She hardly breathed. She knew something was going to happen to them both.

At last O'Connell spoke, and his voice trembled and broke:

"Peg, do ye remember one mornin', years an' years ago, when I was goin' to speak in County Mayo, an' we started in the cart at dawn, an' we thraveled for miles an' miles, an' we came to a great big crossin' where the roads divided an' there was no signpost, an' we asked each other which one we should take, an' we couldn't make up our minds, an' I left it to you, an' ye picked a road, an' it brought us out safe and thrue at the spot we were makin' for? Do you remember it, Peg?"

"Faith I do, father. I remember it well. Ye called me yer little guide and said ye'd follow my road the rest of yer life. An' it's many's the laugh we had when I'd take ye wrong sometimes afterward." She paused. "What makes ye think of that just now, father?"

He did not answer.

"Is it on account o' that letther?" she persisted.

"It is, Peg." He spoke with difficulty, as if the words hurt him to speak. "We've got to a great big crossin' place again where the roads branch off, an' I don't know which one to take."

"Are ye goin' to lave it to me again, father?" said Peg.

"That's what I can't make up me mind about, dear, for it may be that ye'll go down one road and me down the other."

"No, father," Peg cried passionately, "that we won't. Whatever the road we'll thravel it together."

"I'll think it out by meself, Peg. Lave me for awhile—alone. I want to think it out by meself—alone."

"If it's separation ye're thinkin' of make up yer mind to one thing—that I'll never lave you. Never!"

"Take Michael out for a spell and come back in half an hour, and in the meanwhile I'll bate it all out in me mind."

She bent down and straightened the furrows in his forehead with the tips of her fingers and kissed him and then whistled to the wistful Michael, and together they went running down the street toward the little patch of green where the children played and among whom Michael was a prime favorite.

Sitting, his head in his hands, his eyes staring into the past, O'Connell was facing the second great tragedy of his life.

While O'Connell sat there in that little room in New York trying to decide Peg's fate a man who had played some considerable part in O'Connell's life lay in a splendidly furnished room in a mansion in the west end of London—dying.

Nathaniel Kingsnorth's twenty years of loneliness and desolation were coming to an end. What an empty, arid stretch of time those years seemed to him as he feebly looked back on them!

After the tragedy of his sister's reckless marriage he deserted public life entirely and shut himself away in his country house, except for a few weeks in London occasionally when his presence was required on one or another of the boards of which he was a director.

The Irish estate, which brought about all his misfortunes, he disposed of at a ridiculously low figure. He said he would accept any bid, however small, so that he could sever all connection with the hated village.

From the day of Angela's elopement he neither saw nor wrote to any member of his family.

His other sister, Mrs. Chichester, wrote to him from time to time telling him one time of the birth of a boy, two years later of the advent of a girl.

Kingsnorth did not answer any of her letters.

In no way dismayed Mrs. Chichester continued to write periodically. She wrote him when her son Alaric went to school and also when he went to college. Alaric seemed to absorb most of her interest. He was evidently her favorite child. She wrote more seldom of her daughter, Ethel, and when she did happen to refer to her she dwelt principally on her beauty and her accomplishments. Five years before an envelope in deep mourning came to Kingsnorth, and on opening it he found a letter from his sister acquainting him with the melancholy news that Mr. Chichester had ended a life of usefulness at the English bar and had died, leaving the family quite comfortably off.

Kingsnorth telegraphed his condolences and left instructions for a suitable wreath to be sent to the funeral. But he did not attend it, nor did he at any time express the slightest wish to see his sister, nor did he encourage any suggestion on her part to visit him.

When he was stricken with an illness from which no hope of recovery was held out to him he at once began to put his affairs in order, and his lawyer spent days with him drawing up statements of his last wishes for the disposition of his fortune.

With death stretching out its hand to snatch him from a life he had enjoyed so little his thoughts, colored with the fancies of a tired, sick brain, kept turning constantly to his dead sister Angela.

From time to time down through the years he had a softened, gentle remembrance of her. When the news of her death came, furious and unrelenting as he had been toward her, her passing softened it. Had he known in time he would have insisted on her burial in the Kingsnorth vault. But she had already been interred in New York before the news of her death reached him.

The one bitter hatred of his life had been against the man who had taken his sister in marriage and in so doing had killed all possibility of Kingsnorth succeeding in his political and social aspirations.

He heard vaguely of a daughter. He took no interest in the news.

Now, however, the remembrance of his treatment of Angela burnt into him. He especially repented of that merciless cable, "You have made your bed; lie in it." It haunted him through the long hours of his slow and painful illness. Had he helped her she might have been alive today, and those bitter reflections that ate into him night and day might have been replaced by gentler ones and so make his end the more peaceful.

He thought of Angela's child and wondered if she were like his poor dead sister. The wish to see the child became an obsession with him.

One morning, after a restless, feverish night, he sent for his lawyer and told him to at once institute inquiries—find out if the child was still living and if so where.

This his lawyer did. He located O'Connell in New York through a friend of his in the Irish party and found that the child was living with him in rather poor circumstances. He communicated the result of his inquiries to Kingsnorth. That day a letter was sent to O'Connell asking him to allow his child to visit her dying uncle. O'Connell was to cable at Kingsnorth's expense, and if he would consent the money for the expenses of the journey would be cabled immediately. The girl was to start at once, as Mr. Kingsnorth had very little longer to live.

When the letter had gone Kingsnorth drew a breath of relief. He longed to see the child. He would have to wait impatiently for the reply. Perhaps the man whom he had hated all his life would refuse his request. If he did—well, he would make some provision in his will for her in memory of his dead sister.

The next day he altered his entire will and made Margaret O'Connell a special legacy. Ten days later a cable came:

I consent to my daughter's visiting you.
FRANK OWEN O'CONNELL.

The lawyer cabled at once, making all arrangements through their bankers in New York for Miss O'Connell's journey.

That night Kingsnorth slept without being disturbed. He awoke refreshed in the morning. It was the first kindly action he had done for many years.

How much had he robbed himself of all his life if by doing so little he was repaid so much!

O'Connell had a hard struggle with Peg before she would consent to leave him. She met all his arguments with counter arguments. Nothing would move her for hours.

"Why should I go to a man I have never seen and hate the name of?"

"He's your uncle, Peg."

"It's a fine uncle he's been to me all me life. And it was a grand way he threated me mother when she was starvin'."

"He wants to do somethin' for ye now, Peg."

"I'll not go to him."

"Now listen, dear; it's little I'll have to lave ye when I'm gone," pleaded O'Connell.

"I'll not listen to any talk at all about yer goin'. Yer a great, strong, healthy man—that's what ye are. What are ye talkin' about? What's got into yer head about goin'?"

"The time must come some day, Peg."

"All right. We'll know how to face it when it does. But we're not goin' out all the way to meet it," said Peg resolutely.

MANY DETAILS OF NOTABLE SMARTNESS HAS THIS SILK GOWN.

Austrian blue taffeta with a bodice of chiffon in the same shade mounted over white, was used for this new Southland costume which has the dashing military suggestion now in vogue. The sleeves are long, but the collar is high only at the back. The sloping skirt-yoke and flare skirt beneath give a graceful silhouette. The bolero of silk over the chiffon bodice is particularly attractive.

"THE $20,000,000 MYSTERY"

Formerly Called ZUDORA

Eleventh Episode Shown at Proctor's February 17, 1915, "A MESSAGE FROM THE HEART."

Soon after the robbery of Zudora's apartment, as set forth in Episode Ten, which she had taken after the fire that had destroyed her house, circumstances arose which made it necessary for her to change her quarters. In some mysterious fashion her income is cut off, which, as its sources have already been something of a mystery to her, made it difficult to trace. John Storm and Jim Baird, however, have taken the task upon themselves, while the strangely missing Hassam Ali, whom many believe dead, but whose remains were not found in the burned house, is not there to answer the many pertinent questions, which the young lawyer and the newspaperman would have liked to have asked. So it happens that Zudora, refusing all financial aid from her friends, goes to live with a certain Mrs. Ramsey, a kindly woman, and an old friend of her mother's. And there Zudora, for the first time in many days, finds rest and contentment.

In the meantime the affairs of Madame Duval and her band of conspirators have prospered. Having identified Zudora as the daughter of the owner of the Zudora claim, they plot against her, as they have designs of their own on this fabulously wealthy mine. Baird and Storm, both suspect that she had a principal part in depriving Zudora of her fortune, but as yet neither of them has obtained the slightest evidence against this beautiful but extremely dangerous woman. In her wonderful Grecian salon, Madame Duval is constantly surrounded by a veritable court, her satellites being her principal aids in the numerous evil schemes in which she is the central figure.

It happens that on this particular day the band are gathered together for an especial purpose. As they chat, the cleverly constructed fountain in the centre of the salon, signals that a newcomer is about to enter, and Captain Radcliffe, most favored of Madame Duval's many suitors, steps to the secret elevator, behind the portieres, and admits three of the rougher members of the band. Hat in hand the three confer with their fair chieftainess. Then Madame Duval steps to a secret vault, adroitly hidden in a pillar, and brings forth a bag which fairly bulges with diamonds. They are the gems which Bruce has brought. The brilliants are spread upon a table, where they glisten and glow like living things.

"And these are but a part of the spoils," almost whispers Madame Duval, as the others draw around her. "There is more—much more to be had. Nor shall we have to wait long."

While she speaks, Captain Radcliffe draws a heart with a dagger through it on a piece of paper. This he passes around the circle, and each member holds it, while their beautiful leader writes her initials within. She gives a few brief instructions to the three newcomers, who then take their departure. They do not know that Jim Baird has trailed them thither, nor that he again follows them as they leave the house. For Baird has hit upon a clue. He knows that Bruce, who he sought to trail from the steamer, later being made captive by some of the band, as told in Episode Ten, has brought to America diamonds from the Zudora properties in South Africa. So when he trails the three men to a diamond cutter's, he feels that he is close to a solution of the mystery. How to observe their dealing with the diamond cutter is a problem, but Baird, never at a loss in time of need, procures a rope, ascends to the roof of the building, and lowers himself down to a point, where he can peer in through the window at the doings of the trio.

Meanwhile John Storm, also following the devious paths of the conspirators, might have been found in the office of Tom Hunt, the detective, carefully scrutinizing some scraps of burned paper which Zudora had found in an old trunk, one of the few things rescued from the fire. He gets some information, which he sends to Tom Hunt, which interests that astute individual mightily. Straightaway, the detective sets forth on another line of inquiry.

While all these things are happening, Zudora, never suspecting the vital events that are taking place, sits safe at home, toying thoughtfully with a bracelet, which has just been given her by John Storm. Suddenly, there appears at the window a startling apparition, bearing a heart-shaped shield, on which is written a warning message, bidding her to flee the country on pain of worse befalling her. But before the girl can call for aid, the spectre vanishes.

In the meantime Tom Hunt has not been idle. Acting on the information he has received, he trails two of the band to the hunt, where he had rescued Baird and Zudora from their clutches a short time before. And there ensues another encounter, which is even more desperate than the first. At last, however, Hunt, by his superior agility, overcomes both burly ruffians, and covering them with his revolver, puts handcuffs on their wrists. Then, having safely disposed of them, he goes to find Zudora, whither Storm and Baird have already gone, to tell her of their respective discoveries.

Animal Jingles

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

BY ALICE CREW GALL

The Discontented Honey-Bee.

A discontented Honey-Bee sat down before the door
Of her bee-hive and said, "Oh, dear! my life's an awful bore!
I'm tired to death of working hard, I wish that I could be
An Elephant; I'm sure that life would suit me to a T."

A Fairy heard her wish and said, "For one day you shall be An Elephant; you may begin when I count one, two, three."
Then suddenly that little Bee found she had grown immense,
And all about on every side were woods and jungles dense.

"Hurrah!" she said, "I know that I am going to find this fun,"
And just as she said that she saw a big man with a gun.
She knew that he would shoot her, and was almost scared to death,
And so she ran and ran and ran till she was out of breath.

And as she ran she thought, "This life is not the one for me;
It is too dangerous by far; I'd rather be a Bee."
Then all at once she found herself a little Bee once more,
A-sitting in the sunshine, before the bee-hive door.

She rubbed her eyes and said, "I may have dreamed a dream just then.
At any rate I will not be dissatisfied again.
I can't see why I ever wished to change, I really can't;
I'd rather be a SMALL live Bee than a LARGE dead Elephant!"

Of Interest to Women and the Home

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Mother, I stopped on the way home from Ann Arbor and saw Marie," said Stanley Forbush, seating himself on the radiator by the window in his mother's room.

Mrs. Forbush stopped in the act of spreading up a sheet to look at him, but he was looking down at his shoes and industriously following the design of the carpet with his cane.

"Well?" came encouragingly.

"I told her, mother."

"Told her what?" asked his mother in a startled tone.

"That I loved her; asked her to be my wife," answered the youth.

Mrs. Forbush sat down on the edge of the bed and her trembling lips refused to speak.

"Aren't you glad, mother?"

"Certainly, Stanley; but, oh, my boy, you are such children, both of you, and it means war, you know. Her mother is determined that Marie shall marry money."

"Yes, I know, and I am ready for battle," he said defiantly.

"What did Marie say?"

"She said nothing definite, but I am sure of her. Mother, you don't seem glad. I thought this news would make you especially happy." He slipped his arm around his mother's waist.

"Stanley, dear, if it had only come two or three years later I would have been very happy; but you have nothing; you are only a boy. I don't believe in taking a plunge like this till you have something back of you," said his mother earnestly.

"Now, mother, dear, don't give a preachment in this happiest time of my life. I have a good position for a fellow just out of school. Marie has three more years of college and by the time she graduates I shall be ready to claim her."

The pleasant vacation days slipped by. The young folks, by dint of great strategy, saw each other often, but Marie's mother had no notion of having her plans for her pretty daughter upset by any "poverty-stricken youngster" like Stanley Forbush. Marie had to listen to fierce tirades against him almost daily, and her younger brother was set to watch her movements and report on them. He came unexpectedly upon the lovers in the arbor the evening before her departure for school, and in the scene that followed the frightened child was made to promise to have nothing whatever to do with Stanley in the future. Young Forbush sent flowers and rained letters upon her, but no answer came. Finally the girl nerved herself and wrote to her father, directing the letter to the office to keep it out of her mother's hands. The letter read:

"Dear Father: I want to be released from my promise not to write to Stanley. I was frightened when I made it and I cannot keep my word. You gave no real reason except that we are young. All we want now is a chance to correspond. By the time we are old enough to marry we shall have found out our mistake, if it is one."

No answer came to the letter, but the girl felt that she had done her part in notifying her father, and the young folks corresponded during the next two years. Stanley secured a better position in an eastern city and he and his mother moved from the village.

In the spring vacation before her graduation, Marie visited the Forbushes, and in the peace and quiet of the pretty home she felt she could face the gale that was coming, when her approaching marriage was announced.

"I feel that we must get the thing safely over before commencement or they may whisk you away from me for good," said Stanley; so he wrote soon after to her father, telling of his business prospects and his desire to marry Marie shortly after her graduation. A prompt reply informed him that the matter was not to be thought of; that they had other plans for their daughter.

Stanley appeared in the parlor of the girls' dormitory the afternoon following the arrival of this letter and Marie came in pale and trembling with two letters in her hand.

"They are so terrible," she whispered, handing them to him to read.

"Child, you are trembling from head to foot. They do not love you or they could not tyrannize over you this way," he said, holding the cold little hand. "Let's end the whole horrible mess by going into the city this afternoon and getting married. I will bring you back here and write to your father what we have done. If they make it too unpleasant for you, come right home to us."

"I'll do what you want me to do," she said, raising her blue eyes to his.

"Get permission for this afternoon, then. We will be back by six," and he released her to make hurried preparations for the trip. And so they were married.

Household Hints

CANDIES

Puffed Rice Candy—Put half box puffed rice in shallow buttered pan and place in hot oven until crispness is restored. Boil together half cup sugar, one-eighth cup molasses, half tablespoon vinegar, one tablespoon boiling water, one-fourth cup butter, until a little tried in cold water forms a soft ball. Remove from stove and pour over puffed rice. Mix until all of rice is covered with taffy. Set aside to cool and break into pieces. The more you eat of this the more you want.

Nut Candy—Take two cups sugar, butter size of egg, one cup milk; boil until a soft ball will form by dropping into cold water. Chop one cup nut meats, spread on greased platter, pour candy over and, when cold, cut in bars; or put nut meats in and stir until cold.

Chocolate Drops—One-half pound sugar, whites of two eggs beaten stiff, one ounce chocolate. Mix well, drop on buttered tin, bake in moderate oven.

Maple Wax—Boil two cups maple syrup (fill a large pan with packed snow), keep on back of stove where syrup will just keep warm; pour syrup over panful of snow, little at a time. Take off in small pieces with a silver fork. If there is no snow, use a cake of ice.

Maple Candy—Crush one pound maple sugar, stir in two cups hot milk, place on fire, stir until sugar is dissolved. When candy is done add one tablespoon butter. Pour out on buttered plate.

Maple Sea Foam—Three cups maple syrup, one-fourth teaspoon cream of tartar, white of an egg. Boil syrup and tartar until it forms soft ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from fire. Beat white of egg until stiff, pour syrup on slowly, beating all the time until cool enough to dip with fork on greased plate. The pieces will be different shapes.

This little case proves its value if you happen to tear a hole in a dress or stocking while out walking.

EMERGENCY CASE FOR PURSE

This emergency case is small enough to be carried in the purse or shopping bag. The case is made needlebook fashion, folded at the top and tied together with ribbon. The closed case measures two inches long and an inch and a half wide. The cardboard foundation is padded with wadding and then covered with flowered ribbon. The inside leaves are cut from flannel, with edges buttonholed in white or colors.

The case contains the following: One large safety pin, one small safety pin, several assorted black and white-headed pins, two needles, one threaded with white and the other with black darning cotton, and wound around common pins are lengths of white and black thread and silk to match the colors of the owner's different dresses.

SAUSAGE MADE OF RICE

The Japanese eat sausage that is absolutely free from dog, cow, pig, horse or other animal that is popularly supposed to enter into the construction of the common sausage.

Instead it is made only of rice, which is well boiled—usually in water, but sometimes in milk—until the entire mass has reached the proper consistency.

After being cooled the rice is molded into sticklike lengths with the fingers. These are put in oil paper cases instead of the skin used in the regulation sausage.

This nonmeat sausage is served either whole, or cut up and eaten along with other foods.

FLOUR KEEPS SILVER BRIGHT

Place in a cardboard box a layer of ordinary flour, then lay the forks and spoons upon it, and cover thickly with flour. They will remain quite bright for any length of time.

..FUR SALE..

GOING ON FOR ALL THIS WEEK

Never before at this time of the year was our fur stock so great as it is now, and we are taking drastic measures to turn our entire fur stock into money, as we must raise money to meet business obligations. Not connected with any other store in the city.

THE RELIABILITY OF ANY INSTITUTION

can be pretty accurately gauged by the character and ability of the men behind it.

A study of the personnel of our Board of Directors, composed of successful local as well as New York business men, will convince you of the reliability and conservatism of the management.

As evidence of their conservatism, we point to the fact that this institution carries at all times a cash reserve considerably in excess of the percentage required by the Department of Banking. Furthermore, its assets are kept in such shape that its demand deposits can be liquidated in 24 hours.

Additional patronage is solicited, based on service and responsibility.

PROPOSALS.

For Furnishing Crushed Stone and Materials For Culverts and Crosswalks.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield at the adjourned regular meeting held January 25, 1915, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, on Monday evening, March 1, 1915, at 8 o'clock p. m. at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for furnishing crushed stone, and for furnishing materials for culverts and crosswalks as follows:

For crushed stone for the remainder of the year 1915, with the privilege on the part of the city to continue until new contract is made in 1916, the bids to state the prices per ton of 2,000 pounds, for furnishing the following sizes, namely:

"Binder Dust," or stone dust with an admixture of not more than 50 per cent of clay;

"Screenings," or stone which will pass through a one-half inch mesh;

"½ inch," or stone which will pass through a 1 inch and not through a ½ inch mesh;

"1 inch," or stone which will pass through a 1½ inch and not through a 1 inch mesh;

"1½ inch," or stone which will pass through a 2 inch and not through a 1½ inch mesh;

"2½ inch," or stone which will pass through a 3 inch and not through a 2 inch mesh;

In such quantities, and delivered at such times and places in the City as the Street Commissioner may direct.

The approximate quantities of the several kinds of crushed stone, as estimated by the Street Commissioner, are as follows:

Binder Dust	100 tons
Screenings	500 tons
½ inch	800 tons
1 inch	700 tons
1½ inch	200 tons

and such estimated quantities may be taken into account in awarding bids.

The above must be of the best quality trap rock, free from soft stone, dirt or other foreign matter, and each bidder shall submit with his bid or bids samples of the crushed stone to be furnished if such bid or bids is or are accepted and guarantee that the crushed stone to be furnished shall in every instance be equal in quality and practically equal in size to the samples submitted with the bid, the Common Council reserving the right to pass on the quality of the crushed stone as well as on the prices bid.

The stone must be weighed on such scales as the Street Commissioner may direct, and a voucher or weigh bill must be delivered with every load to the said Street Commissioner or his authorized representative.

Also for furnishing the following materials for culverts and crosswalks:

Cover stone for culverts not larger than 4 feet by 3 feet by not less than 3½ inches in thickness, per square foot.

Curbing 20 inches by 4 inches, 3 to 5 feet long, per linear foot.

Crosswalk stone 24 inches by not less than 5 inches, 3 to 4½ feet long, Belgian edge, per linear foot.

The approximate quantities of the several kinds of materials for culverts and crosswalks, as estimated by the Street Commissioner, are as follows:

Cover Stone	300 square feet
Curbing, 20 inches	300 linear feet
Crosswalks, 24 inches	1,000 linear feet

and such estimated quantities may be taken into account in awarding bids.

All to be of the best hard blue stone equal in quality and durability to stone from the Hudson River quarries.

No bid for crushed stone will be considered which does not include prices for all sizes of stone, and all bids must be submitted on forms which can be obtained from the Street Commissioner.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals at the time and place appointed, the Common Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or their agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Common Council.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

By order of the Common Council.

LOOK FOR BREAK IN UNION RANKS

Plainfield "Typos" Slighted by Building Trades Council Last Night.

"PRINTS" IGNORE RULE

Decide to Hold Their Reception In Sebring's Auditorium Despite Unexplained "Ban" Levied by Superiors—May Enforce Threats.

In view of the fact that the Building Trades' Council sanctioned the dance conducted under the auspices of the Allied Trades' Committee in Sebring's Auditorium New Year's Eve and the failure of representatives from the council to appear at the meeting of the Typographical Union No. 399, last night, to offer suitable explanation, the members of the latter organization decided to carry out the plans for their reception in the "condemned" hall Monday night. At the Building Trades' meeting Friday night a "ban" was placed on the West Front street auditorium because of the allegation made against the proprietor to the effect that he was employing non-union labor in construction work in various parts of the city. This would indirectly affect the hall, according to the council. It was also decided that if the "Typos" insist on holding their dance Monday night (as they now do), the printing of the labor directory, which is now in the hands of a local union printer, would be given to an out-of-town concern.

The printers at their meeting last night stamped the action of the union labor directors as "inconsistent" and feel that they have been slighted by the superior body. The printers declare that they were entitled to a least an explanation out of courtesy and the action of the Building Trades' Council in neglecting to have a delegate at the meeting last night was a subject for considerable adverse criticism.

The fact that the Allied Trades Committee held its reception in the same hall New Year's Eve with an apparently clear conscience led the printers to believe that the place was a proper one in which to conduct their dance and no plausible or direct explanation has been offered to the contrary. Complete arrangements have been made for the affair next Monday night, and it would involve considerable expense to transfer the dance to another hall at the present time.

The following communication has been received from Harry W. Thomas, secretary of the local Typographical Union:

"Owing to the failure of representatives from the Building Trades Council or the Musicians Union to appear before the members of the Typographical Union, No. 399, at their meeting, last night, no other course was open to the printers except to carry out the arrangements for the dance to be held on next Monday night. The printers felt that as long as the Building Trades Council had permitted the Allied Trades' Committee to conduct a dance in the Sebring Auditorium on New Year's Eve, that they should be permitted the same privilege, especially as no notice, either officially or otherwise, had been given to the officers of the Typographical Union to the effect that the hall had been placed on the unfair list.

"Had the Trades' Council had a representative at the meeting to offer the printers some other hall or remburse them for the expense which they had incurred, some different action might have resulted.

"The members of the Typographical Union, No. 399, feel that they have been very unjustly treated by the Trades' Council in this matter. If the Trades' Council had been just they would not have permitted the Allied Trades' Committee to hold their New Year's Eve dance, which gave the printers the impression that the hall was all right, no notice having been given of the placing of the hall on the unfair list.

"The dance will be held on next Monday night, and it is to be hoped that the Trades' Council will in a spirit of fairness, explain their action in discriminating against a small union, while favoring the larger one, viz.: The Allied Trades Committee."

MULFORD DARLING NOW A BENEDICT

Well Known Plainfield Young Man Weds Miss Anna M. Albert, of Martinsville.

William Mulford Darling, son of Mrs. Mary E. Darling, of Lyman place, this city, and Miss Anna Martha Albert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Albert, of Martinsville, were united in marriage last night. The ceremony was performed at the couple's future home, at 185 West High street, Bound Brook, by Rev. Cortlandt H. Mallery, rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, of Plainfield. The nuptial event was witnessed by fifty relatives and friends from this city, Bound Brook, Martinsville and other places.

Miss Albert wore a becoming gown of white charmeuse and chiffon, and was attended by Mrs. Charles Landon, of Bound Brook, as matron of honor, while Mr. Langdon was best man. The bride carried a bouquet of carnations and the matron of honor carried the same flower. James Hallard and Frank Grossman, of this city, were the ushers. There were also two little flower girls, and Miss Myrtle Darling, sister of the bridegroom, played the wedding march.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding supper and reception after which Mr. and Mrs. Darling left for Niagara Falls on a two weeks' trip. The home where the ceremony took place has been completely furnished and was a gift to the bridegroom from his grandfather, John Darling, of this city. The couple received numerous other presents of silverware, bric-a-brac and furniture. Mr. Darling is widely known in the city and borough, having always resided here, but recently has made his home in Bound Brook where he is connected with the State Centre-Record, the weekly newspaper.

APPROVE BUDGET FOR NEW SCHOOL

Council Authorizes $100,000 Bond Issue for Land and Building.

TO BE SOLD MARCH 1

Corporation Counsel C. A. Reed Instructed to Look After Certiorari Proceedings In Madison Avenue Matter.

The Common Council at its adjourned meeting, last night, approved through a resolution offered by R. A. Claybrook, the appropriation of $100,000 for the purchase of land and the erection of a new public school on Evergreen avenue. This amount was recently certified to the Council by the Board of Education. The resolution provided for the issuing of one hundred bonds of $1,000 denomination each.

These bonds will be offered for sale at the meeting of the Council on Monday, March 1, and will be delivered ten days later. All the necessary resolutions providing for the issue of the bonds were presented by Mr. Claybrook and adopted. They will run from 1943-1965.

The West End Civic Association invited the Mayor and members of the Council to attend the meetings of the association, the same being filed, after President Clay had called the attention of the members to the invitation.

The contracts of the city with Frank J. Hubbard, one for $410 and the other for $490, for the making of the city maps were filed as was also Mr. Hubbard's oath of office as a member of the Board of Education. The resignation of Harold Gloak as a

FINAL SAD RITES FOR G. O. KELLER

Large Gathering of Relatives at Requiem Mass in St. Joseph's Church.

In the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, the funeral of Gustave Otto Keller, whose death occurred Friday night, was held in St. Joseph's church this morning. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Father P. J. Hart with Rev. Father Baldwin, of Mt. St. Mary's College, as deacon, and Rev. Father McGrath of Stony Hill, as sub-deacon. During the service Mrs. Alfred Seidel sang a solo, "We Shall Meet Him Face to Face." Many handsome floral tributes were presented, among them set pieces from Plainfield Lodge of Elks, the singing section of the Gesang and Turn Verein, the German Beneficial Society and the Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H.

Burial was made in St. Mary's cemetery, the pall bearers being Peter Delyger, Ysbrand deDood, August Wolfe, John Retzer, B. A. Paroubek, and Alfred Seidel. A fraternal funeral service was held at Mr. Keller's late home on Watchung avenue, last night, by Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E. It was conducted by Esteemed Leading Knight Alfred A. Prudhon, and was attended by a delegation of members.

NO CHANGE IN GEORGE H. POUND'S CONDITION

There is practically no change in the condition of George H. Pound, who about a week ago was severely injured at the South Plainfield crossing of the Lehigh Valley Railroad while driving to his farm at South Plainfield. He has had brief spells of consciousness. What was at first thought to be only a concussion of the brain has since developed into a fracture on the floor of the brain.

When Mr. Pound failed to improve the family physician, Dr. Thomas Blair, called in Dr. Helmuth, a New York specialist, and he decided that there was a fracture, and said that an operation would be impossible. Mr. Pound's mind is perfectly clear and can understand what is said to him, but is unable to talk. The physicians in charge believe there is a slight chance for recovery.

Dr. and Mrs. Ellis W. Hedges have returned from their honeymoon spent at Old Point Comfort, and are now at their home on Watchung avenue.

BOARD APPROVES OF CITY SURVEY

Special Committee Assured of Co-operation of School Commissioners.

PUBLICITY IS FAVORED

Revision of By-laws is Completed and Will Be Adopted Later—President Cox Names Committees for the Year.

The Board of Education held its mid-month meeting at the High School, last night. A delegation representing a committee of citizens who are attempting to raise funds for a general survey of the various activities of the city and school government appeared before the Board to inquire whether the Board would facilitate their work.

It received assurance that such a survey, by any expert experienced in school work, would receive the hearty co-operation of the Board in getting all the data as to school management, both from the teaching and administrative side, required for the survey and report.

The Board also took up the recent communication of the Common Council inviting the members of the finance committee to be present at the preparation of the city budget, and requesting that the Board also allow them to be present when the school budget is prepared; and decided that a special invitation should be extended to the Common Council to attend the meetings of the Board when the preparation of the budget was undertaken, and that the public be urged to attend the meetings.

Appropriate resolutions to this effect were passed and will be certified by the secretary to the Common Council, and advertisement of the meetings will be made in the newspapers.

A revision of the by-laws under which the Board has operated for the past thirteen years, which has been under consideration for the past few months, was completed by the committee having it in charge and the new bylaws submitted to the meeting for approval. They will probably be adopted at the next meeting.

New committees were appointed by the president as follows: School committee, Messrs. Cox, Woodhull and Hedges; building committee, Messrs. Woodhull, Tilney and Hubbard; finance committee, Messrs. Tilney, Hedges and Hubbard.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF MISS FLORENCE NICHOLS

The engagement of Miss Florence E. Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Nichols, of Grove street, and Harry H. Schuck, of Vine street, was announced last evening at a surprise shower party in honor of Miss Nichols, given by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe A. Nichols, at their home, 12 Linden avenue. The affair was a complete surprise to Miss Nichols, who was greeted by a merry party of friends and extended best wishes and hearty congratulations and received a large number of handsome and useful presents.

A buffet lunch was served and with vocal and instrumental music and a general good time, the evening was passed to the enjoyment of all. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Harden, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nichols, Mrs. C. S. Maltby, Mrs. J. A. Schneider, Mrs. J. S. Darby, Misses Dela Voehl, Grace Clark, Mary Steiner, Jennie Geibeier, Margaret Darby, Ethel Ball, Florence Nichols, Ruth Nichols, Mary Nichols, Doris Nichols, Adel Nichols; Messrs. Frank Schuck, Benjamin Schuck, Harry H. Schuck, G. Bremmer, and Masters Douglas Maltby and William Nichols.

FUNERAL OF MRS. MURTAGH.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Murtagh, wife of James Murtagh, was held in St. Mary's church this morning in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives. A requiem mass was said by Rev. Father B. M. Bogan. The flowers contributed were both many and large, two handsome set pieces being presented by members of the family. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, the pall bearers being Ernest Neal, Thomas Coulter, Patrick Jennings, Cornelius Hennessy, James Gearthy and Stephen Waldron.

GRACE LOUISE RASMUSSON.

Grace Louise Rasmusson, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martine C. Rasmusson, of 731 East Sixth street, died last night. The child was four months and twenty-five days old. The funeral service will be private.

OUTLINES VALUE OF LATIN STUDY

Miss Anna K. Miller, of P. H. S. Faculty, Reads Paper at P. T. A. Meeting.

CHARTS ON EXHIBITION

Instructive and Interesting Comment on Study of "Dead" Language—Mrs. Voorhees Reports on Mothers' Congress Work.

An exhibition of Latin charts loaned to the Plainfield schools by the faculty of the Girls' High School of Philadelphia, was the feature of the meeting of the Plainfield High School Parent-Teacher Association held in the Ninth street institution last night. The maps were described by Miss Eggerton and Miss Anna K. Miller, Latin instructors in the High School, and proved of an interesting as well as of an instructive nature to parents and friends of the pupils now pursuing this course in the High School.

The chart idea originated with the faculty of the Chicago High School and has proven vastly popular in the west. There has been a great demand for the chartings and the Plainfield institution has been fortunate enough to secure a short lease on the assets to Latin teaching. The charts indicate just what proportion of English words have been derived from the so-called "dead language" and just how many are in active use.

Miss Miller read an interesting paper on the subject "What is the use of teaching Latin in schools?" At the culmination of the carefully prepared article those present were convinced of the need of this form

COUNTY COMMITTEE HONORS MR. SMITH

Former G. O. P. Chairman is Presented with an Engrossed Set of Resolutions.

At a meeting of the Union County Republican Committee at the Republican headquarters in Elizabeth, last night, Frank H. Smith, of this city, who was county chairman for ten years, was presented with a handsomely engrossed set of resolutions. They were bound in a light leather covering and contained excerpts from the minutes from some of the most important meetings of the committee over which Mr. Smith presided. In the absence of the present chairman, William Newcorn, of Plainfield, Donald McLean was in the chair and made the presentation speech. Mr. Smith made a timely response. The resolutions were prepared by a committee composed of Henry Krouse, County Clerk James C. Calvert and County Auditor Benjamin King.

The session was in the nature of an open meeting and during the evening the privilege of the floor was given Mrs. Frank Goodwin, of Westfield, who spoke against the granting of suffrage to women. At the next regular meeting of the committee, a representative of the New Jersey Suffrage Association will speak in behalf of equal suffrage.

Frank H. Smith relinquished the duties of county chairman last year, after a decade in the harness. During his regime, Mr. Smith successfully conducted numerous strenuous campaigns and the progress of the party in Union county is ascribed to his doing the right thing at the right time. In State political circles Mr. Smith is regarded as one of the ablest chairmen in New Jersey and the set of resolutions presented last night, were in a measure intended to convey to him the feeling which exists among those who have been his associates within the ranks of the G. O. P.

BEAULAH FARMS FILES PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY

Codington & Blatz, of this city, today filed a petition in bankruptcy for the Beaulah Farms located at Oak Tree, and a hearing will be given before Atwood L. DeCosta, at Elizabeth, on Friday, March 5. Mrs. Beaulah Tompers conducted the farms, raising poultry and vegetables, but the venture was not a success.

The assets are small, but the liabilities will total several thousand dollar. The heaviest creditor is Gilbert Murray, to whom the concern is in debt to the extent of $700.

ELIZABETH FIRM HAS LOWEST BID

L. Dulluccio and Company's Figure the Best for Boro School Construction.

ON GENERAL CONTRACT

Many Local Contractors Make Proposals for Plumbing and Ventilating—Latter Contract Will Probably go to G. W. Stillwell.

With a bid of $21,575 the firm of L. Dulluccio and Brother, of Elizabeth, was awarded the general contract for the construction of the new Harrison Avenue School at a special meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Education, last night, the county seat firm being the lowest among eleven aspirants for the work. Other bids for the general contract follow: Michael Burns, $23,685; J. C. Abbott, $26,979; George F. Wilson, Perth Amboy, $25,003; I. R. Krouse, $25,960; John Lowrie, $28,200; William H. Pangborn & Son, $25,996; W. H. Demmick, $23,331; E. M. Waldron & Company, Newark, $24,270; Smith & Austerguard Company, Fords, $23,210; Harmon Construction Company, Harmon, N. Y., $28,-121.

There were six proposals offered for the plumbing and ventilating, the majority of which were from local contractors. The lowest figure, $2,-588, was made by G. W. Stillwell, an out of town bidder. Other bids for the heating and ventilating included George Tobin, Plainfield, $3,037; M. J. Callahan, $3,000; Den. J. Galbraith, $3,068; C. H. Dutcher, $2,-910, and C. W. Krausse, $2,867.

The Board deferred the awarding of the contracts until next Tuesday and during the time intervening the committee on buildings will inquire into the responsibility of the concerns after the work.

The maximum amount allotted by the budget for the erection of the new graded school in the borough is $27,500 and the low bidders' figures were well below this mark. Eighteen plans were submitted by firms in this city, Perth Amboy, Elizabeth, Newark and New York State.

LARGE GATHERING AT SOCIAL AFFAIR

Euchre and "500" in St. Joseph's Social Hall Enjoyed by 300 People.

A progressive euchre and "500" arranged and conducted by Mrs. Cormick McDonough and Mrs. Jas. Hurley, was given in the social hall of St. Jospeh's church, last night. It was attended by fully three hundred people, practically all of whom participated in the card playing. Phonograph music enlivened the occasion and refreshments were served in conclusion. Decorations of palms and plants transformed the rooms into a semi-conservatory effect, and a number of booths used as refreshment stands were tastefully draped in white and green.

At the conclusion of the games, prizes were awarded as follows: Euchre, first prize, two and half gold piece, M. C. Ewen; "500", first prize, two and a half dollar gold piece, Miss Helen Meaney; door prize, a handsome palm, Mrs. Julius Stahl.

The affair was voted a great success, both socially and fianacially, and the substanial sum realized will be added to the general fund of the church.

Mrs. McDonough and Mrs. Hurley were assisted by a number of women from St. Joseph's in caring for the attendants. These were Mrs. Alfred Seidel, who acted as chairman in serving refreshments, Mrs. Catherine Ryan, Mrs. George Aller, Mrs. Pasch and Miss Lacey.

PUPIL NURSES ENTERTAIN WITH A VALENTINE DANCE

The pupil nurses of Muhlenberg Hospital's Training School, entertained their friends at an informal valentine dance in the Nurses' Home, on Park avenue, last night. A large number of young people enjoyed the affair. Phonograph music supplied the accompaniment for dancing and refreshments were served at midnight. The assembly room was prettily decorated with flags and bunting.

Miss Adeline Sutphen was chairman of the reception committee and she was assisted by the Misses Isabel Knox, Elsie McCullough and Mildred Sellery. Miss Cornelia Conover was in charge of the refreshments.

SNOW INTERFERES WITH FIGHTING

German Offensive Said to Have Been Stopped in Upper Alsace by Weather.

FRENCH ON OFFENSIVE

Thought to Be Preparing to Retake Ground Lost When Floods Forced Retreat—Artillery Bombardment Begins at Soissons.

Paris, Feb. 16.—A statement issued by the French War Office this afternoon indicates that heavy snow has again interferred with fighting in upper Alsace and in the Vosges. The attempted German offensive is declared generally to have been stopped in that region. Along the remainder of the front there have been artillery duels and both sides suffered from destroyed advanced trenches.

Extensive movements of troops are reported to be in progress along the line from the Aisne northward, and it is believed in Paris that an effort to retake the ground north of the Aisne conceded to the Germans because of floods will soon be undertaken.

The German artillery continues its bombardment of Soissons and through the use of inflammable shells has been able to destroy several blocks of ruined buildings in the centre of the city. At La Bassee the British heavy mortars have compelled the Germans to withdraw some of their artillery and replace it with pieces of heavier calibre.

The statement further says: "The British troops recaptured yesterday the two trenches which they had lost the night before between St. Eloi and the Ypres Canal. On the battle front of the French army the day of February 15 was generally calm. No infantry actions were reported. Our artillery won successes particularly important."

Berlin, Feb. 16 (Wireless to London).—An official statement was issued in Berlin today reading as follows:

"Insomuch as it is to the interest of Great Britain that conflicts arise between Germany and neutral powers, it is thought in German shipping circles that English submarines, in order to bring about this end, may purposely sink one or more neutral ships.

"It is known also in the shipping circles that Great Britain has laid large quantities of mines against German submarines."

The following statement was also given out at German headquarters today:

"Western war theatre—The enemy's attack against the trenches taken by the Germans from the English near St. Loi was repulsed resterday. Otherwise there were no important events.

"Eastern theatre—Our pursuit of and continuous fighting with the enemy on and beyond the East Prussian frontier are progressing very favorably."

The statement further says that in Poland, north of the Vistula, the Germans occupied Bielska and Plock, after a short fight. One thousand prisoners were taken. South of the Vistula no important events occurred.

The General Staff added denial of the Russian claim that the German forces suffered terrible losses in the fighting east of Blimow, early in February. The official denial says:

"The most absurd rumors are circulated in the foreign press about the immense German losses in the fighting east of Bolimow at the beginning of February. The German losses in these attacks were small in proportion to the success which they obtained."

FORMER PLAINFIELD WOMAN DIES IN SOUTHERN FRANCE

Mrs. Terresita Senior, wife of Jacob M. Senior, and a former resident of this city, died Sunday at her home in Menton, southern France, where she and her husband had been living for the past two years. News of her death was cabled to Plainfield and was received by her son, Leopold D. Wolff, of Martine avenue. No details were given.

Mrs. Senior resided for several years on Union street, and had many friends in the city and borough. She was a native of Germany where she leaves two daughters. Mr. Wolff cabled instructions to have the body placed in a receiving vault at Menton, and after affairs in Europe assume normal conditions, burial will be made in the family plot in Germany.

BUSY SESSION OF BOARD OF TRADE

Dunellen Civic Body Discusses Interesting Topics at Monthly Meeting.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather only fourteen members of the Board of Trade attended the monthly meeting held last evening in the Borough Hall. But what the meeting lacked in numbers it made up in enthusiasm, the volume of business transacted and the new ideas presented indicating very clearly that the progressive spirit, which has animated this wideawake body since its organization, is more alive than ever.

It was voted to amend the constitution of the Board by increasing the membership of the executive committee to seven. Messrs. Frank H. Fuller and John Fedderman being elected to fill the new positions thus created.

On the recommendation of the civic committee it was decided to take up with the Board of Health the question of using greater precaution against the spread of measles and to suggest that a quarantine card of some sort be adopted as is now used in Plainfield.

It was reported that a large tugboat is at present under construction by the Jersey Central Railroad and the necessary action was taken to petition that this boat be named Dunellen.

Secretary Deering spoke of the serious illness of Dr. Hogan, and the great work performed by the doctor as the prime mover in the organization of the Board of Trade. It was voted to send Dr. Hogan a bouquet of flowers and a letter expressing the appreciation of the Board for his efforts in past years. It was likewise decided to write Mrs. Hattie Apgar a letter of condolence expressing the high esteem of the Board for her late husband, J. Newton Apgar.

The matter of the lax enforcement of the snow ordinance was discussed at length and the Board voted to immediately take up this important matter with the Borough Council and see that the necessary steps were taken to secure prompt and thorough compliance with this ordinance. Also in the event of non-compliance that the borough itself attend to clearing the walks and assessing the charge against the property-owner.

The Paterson Chamber of Commerce called the attention of the Board to the bill which comes up in the Assembly tomorrow for the greater protection of the traveling public at grade crossings. The secretary was instructed to telegraph the Assemblymen representing this district that the Board was strongly in favor of the passage of the bill.

The discussion of this bill brought up the question of the local grade crossings and the railroad committee was asked to do its utmost to have some action taken on the matter.

The committee on arrangements for the celebration of the twenty-ninth anniversary of the borough reported excellent progress. The present plans include the engagement of the theatre for the evening of March 22, with a free entertainment for the people of the borough including a short history of the growth of the town by some of the most eloquent of the older residents. Following the entertainment refreshments will be served and dancing enjoyed.

President Walton submitted for the consideration of the Board the organization of a Borough Improvement Society to be composed of the public spirited women of the town. This matter was referred to the executive committee.

In Edwin H. Dean, chairman of the executive committee, the Board has secured a live wire, his many suggestions being both timely and of great merit.

SCANDELL AND HAIGHT PURCHASE PARK STABLES

The property of the Park Hotel Stables was purchased in bulk yesterday, at a sheriff's sale by Scandell & Haight, who recently sold the Borough Garage at North Plainfield, to John Garret, of Jersey City. The property was sold for $1,050, a sum sufficient to satisfy the chattel mortgage held by George Vandetta, of Somerville, and cost of proceedings. The sale was in charge of Robert LeRoy Pierce. Mr. Vandetta was represented by Judge Rene P. F. von-Minden.

Immediately after the sale the new owners took possession. To the present service it is the intention of the new owners to add an automobile hack. Hiram J. Scandell will be the active partner in the new acquisition and he will be assisted by his son, LeRoy Scandell, of Front street.

INDUSTRIAL PLANT TO LOCATE AT NEW MARKET

At the Board of Trade meeting held last evening, a prominent member of the association said that New Market is to have a new factory which would be running full time by the first of July, giving employment to between four and five hundred men.

It is said that the Hayes Structural Iron Company, of Newark, is to erect this plant, the site of which is understood to be the forty-acre Castle farm adjoining the Lehigh Valley Railroad tracks west of Prospect avenue.

Rev. E. R. Brown, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will exchange pulpits at both morning and evening services Sunday with Rev. F S. Johnson, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Rahway. Mr. Brown attended this church when a boy.

Adelaide Ramsey, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. D. W. C. Ramsey, who is attending the Blairstown Academy spent the week-end with her parents.

James Y. Wilson, of New Market road, was a visitor in New York, yesterday.

HOME-MADE SALE.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold a home-made sale in the basement of the church on Saturday afternoon. The sale will commence at 2 o'clock and will continue until all of the goods have been disposed of. It had been hoped to hold the sale somewhere along the main thoroughfare, but the women were unable to secure a store for the purpose.

The death of Fannie Crosby, the blind hymn composer, was recognized at both services in the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday. At the morning service all of the hymns sung were written by Mrs. Crosby while at the evening service William Giddes, soloist, sang her famous hymn, "Saved by Grace."

Mrs. George W. Churchill, of Washington avenue, has been ill since Friday.

Mrs. Sarah Fenner, of Plainfield, was entertained by Mrs. Goldson Smalley, of Fairview avenue, yesterday.

R. Longfellow Brakley has purchased a valuable Irish Setter pup.

"John Barleycorn," Jack London's life story, will be shown in six reels in the local theatre this evening.

Richard Schworer has accepted a position with the Saurer Motor Truck Company.

BASKETBALL GAMES.

Two basketball games will be played on the Presbyterian courts Thursday evening. The main game will be the regulars of Scout Troop No. 1 vs. the North Plainfield High School freshmen five. The other game will be the second team of Scout Troop No. 1 vs. the Allies, of Plainfield High School.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Frescolm, of New Market road, entertained Mrs. McGarrity and daughter, of New York city, on Friday and Saturday. On Sunday, Mrs. McGarrity and daughter were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Miller.

Miss Kathryn Samson, of New Market road, entertained a few of her friends at a "500" party yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Mohan, of North avenue, spent yesterday in New Brunswick.

Peter Benson, of Washington avenue, was entertained by George Vliet, of Greenville, a former resident of the borough, over the week-end.

Frank Day, of Grove street, has accepted a position with the new Somerville branch of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company. He assumed his duties today.

Miss Jacinthia Frescolm, of New Market road, attended a card party in North Plainfield, Friday night.

An adjourned meeting of the Mayor and Common Council will be held in the Council chambers this evening.

Edward Reusch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reusch, of Washington avenue, who has been ill with a sore throat, is now able to be about.

BIG REALTY DEAL.

The firm of Haight & Scandell, composed of Clarence M. Haight, of New Market road, and Hiram J. Scandell, formerly of New Market, but now residing in Plainfield, have purchased a twenty-nine-acre tract of land at Cranford. The tract is unimproved and is located between the Lehigh and Central Railroad tracks It is the intention of the firm to make a quick turnover of the property if they can, failing to do this they will cut streets through the tract and develop it. The deal was made through John Brower, a real estate broker at Plainfield.

John Tinsman, the two-year-old son of Real Estate Agent and Mrs. Charles E. Tinsman, is ill with bronchial trouble.

H. A. Althoen, of Mountainview Terrace, who is employed as salesman by the Hamilton Cotton Company, of Hamilton, Ontario, spent the week-end at his home.

'Plains & Fanwood.

A musical will be held in the Baptist church at 8 o'clock this evening. The program will include numbers by local talent, as well as New York musicians, and will be rendered in two parts, as follows: Part 1—Miss Florence Nicholl, piano; the Polcanis Trio, consisting of Mr. Polcanis, piano; Mrs. Polcanis, 'cello, and Mr. Windward, violin; Mr. Simpson, who made an appearance at the Parish House last winter, and Miss E. Dummel, a soprano soloist in a Jersey City church, will contribute several numbers; Robert Dowry, of New York, will sing a baritone solo, and Miss M. Tice, also of New York, will sing several contralto solos. The second part will consist of a series of recitations by Miss Geglio, of New York. A sale of home-made candy will be held during the evening under the auspices of the Sunshine Weavers, a group of the young women members of the church.

At the last meeting of the board of trustees of the Fanwood Public Library it was decided to furnish means for borough residents to receive more benefits from the library and pamphlets have been printed and sent to nearly all of the residents in which the rules, as governing the usage of books, and other essentials, are stated, together with the hours which the library is open. Heretofore it has been accessible every afternoon, holidays and Sundays excepted, between 3 and 4 and, in order to give those working during the day a chance to take out books, it will be open every Friday night from 7:30 to 8:30. The library is situated in the postoffice building and comprises 1,527 volumes, including representative works on subjects of a scientific, historical and biographical nature as well as the up-to-date fiction. In the past the juvenile department has received the largest circulation and it is on the theory that the afternoon hours are not suitable to the older residents that the board has instituted the additional hours.

Tomorrow, Ash Wednesday, will mark the beginning of the Lenten season. During the ensuing forty days services will be held in most of the local churches. At 10:30 tomorrow morning, the Rev. Oscar Stuart Michaels will conduct the first of a series of devotional readings. The Holy Communion will be celebrated. The pastor will also conduct weekly services in the church on Saturday afternoons.

Nearly all of the members of the local Epworth League enjoyed a valentine social held in the Methodist church, last night. The time was spent playing games and everyone received and gave a valentine. Later in the evening refreshments were served.

A party of local men attended a smoker held in the Parish House at Stony Hill, last night. The trip was made in a taxicab belonging to John Ford.

There promises to be considerable fun in store for those who attend the "lunch box social" to be held in Excelsior Hall tomorrow night, under the direction of the "Old Guard" of the local Jr. O. U. A. M. A rare exhibit of auctioning off will doubtless be witnessed as some of the men already know what the luncheon, prepared by their wives, contain, and will try to bid them in.

The February meeting of the Ladies' Sewing Circle, of the Willow Grove chapel, will be held in that edifice tomorrow afternoon.

A meeting of the Junior League Society was held at the residence of Mrs. J. Hudson Thompson, yesterday afternoon, and was in charge of Miss Elizabeth Babcock. The time was spent in sewing for the foreign and domestic missions.

The weekly meeting of the Boy Scouts is scheduled for this evening.

The Misses Dorothy and Ruth Hyatt have returned to their home in Rutherford, after visiting relatives in the township.

Richard Tull, of North avenue, is beginning to improve from his long illness.

Clinton Reeder, of Rahway road, has been entertaining George Lusk of New York city.

Master Raymond Sherwood, of Martine avenue, is entertaining his cousin, Miss Ena Genns, of Brooklyn.

An Open, Square, Aboveboard, Direct Appeal to the Intelligence and Judgment of the People

The railroads of Pennsylvania and New Jersey believe that the public should be fully advised concerning the Full Crew laws in these states. Costly experience has demonstrated that these laws have worked to the detriment of public interest and that their repeal would redound greatly to the advantage of the people.

Not a Fight On Trainmen

The railroad companies making this announcement wish the public to clearly understand that this appeal is in no way to be construed as being aimed at the trainmen in their employ, nor is it an effort to curtail operating expenses at the cost of public safety or service.

The companies point to the fact, with justifiable pride, that whenever public safety and convenience demanded an increased number of employes the necessary men were put on trains. Behind this statement is a record of advancements and improvement achievements which is a most vital factor of calm and dispassionate consideration of the laws in question.

But when arbitrary laws are passed which compel these railroad companies to burden their payrolls with some $2,000,000 annually for wasted, unwarranted extra labor, and which actually means a decrease, rather than an increase, in operating efficiency, together with heavier casualty lists, it is undeniable that the public should be put in full touch with existing conditions that the people may judge wisely for themselves should an effort be made to impugn the sincere motives which prompt this educational campaign.

How Full Crew Law Works

A twenty-nine-car freight train can be operated with five men. Add a car and an extra man must go on. The law requires no larger crew on a hundred-car train.

A four-car passenger train can run with five men. On a five-car or longer train there must be an extra man. Even if all the cars are Pullmans, with porters and a Pullman conductor, a six-man railroad crew is required.

A milk or express train of twenty or more cars, running through, sealed, and virtually without stops, must carry a crew of six. The only place four of them would ride would be in the end car.

When the Full Crew law became effective in Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania Railroad Lines East of Pittsburgh and Erie were operating in Pennsylvania 2,971 weekday trains. Of these, 1,198 passenger and 1,061 freight trains were manned up to or beyond the law's requirements.

The 1,198 passenger trains which were provided with crews equal to or in excess of the law's requirements consisted principally of local or semi-local trains, making frequent stops and handling a large number of passengers. The second brakeman was employed to expedite the departure of trains from stations and to assist conductors in collecting tickets.

The 1,061 freight trains on which the law required no additional men consisted of local freight trains carrying package freight, on which brakemen were required to load and unload cars; road shifters, doing a large amount of work, necessitating the throwing of switches and much hand braking on cars; mine trains, placing empty cars and picking up loaded cars, and through slow freight trains of heavy tonnage on the Philadelphia and Middle Divisions on which the brakemen riding on the front part of the trains were required to assist the firemen.

Official Casualty Statistics

The effect of the Full Crew laws in forcing extra men into already adequate train crews, thus dividing responsibility, has been to increase the hazard of operation. This fact is conclusively proved by the official figures of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The great number of persons killed who were neither employes nor passengers have not been included, for it is obvious that extra men on trains are powerless to prevent such casualties.

The Pennsylvania Full Crew law took effect on July 19, 1911. The Commission's figures show that for the three-year period preceding this date 10,186 employes and passengers were killed. Since the law became operative, the total number killed shows an increase, or 10,372 persons.

The casualty list of the Pennsylvania Railroad for the six months preceding the enactment and the first six months of 1914, when the law was in full force and effect, discloses the following startling comparison:

	Before Law, First half 1911		Under Law, First half 1914
	Killed	Injured	Killed	Injured
Trainmen	15	1046	16	1699
Passengers	1	99	*2	141
	16	1145	18	1840

*Fell from train.

What the Extra Man Costs

Twenty Railroads in Pennsylvania and New Jersey last year paid in employment of superfluous brakemen . $2,000,000
That would have bought . . . . . 200 steel coaches
It would have bought . . . . . 80 locomotives
It would have paid for . . . . . 67,000 tons of rails
It would have returned 5% on $40,000,000
It would have block signaled . . . . . 800 miles of track
It would have eliminated . . . . . 65 grade crossings

Rejected by Other States

A Full Crew law was enacted in Missouri and signed by the Governor in April, 1913. In November, 1914, it was submitted to a referendum vote. The people repudiated the law by a vote of 324,085 against 159,593.

A proposed Full Crew law for Texas failed to pass owing to the popular protest against it, led by the farmers.

In 1907, Governor Charles E. Hughes, of New York, vetoed an attempt to enact a Full Crew law in that state.

In 1912, Governor John A. Dix, of New York, also vetoed a Full Crew measure. Governor Foss, of Massachusetts, vetoed a Full Crew bill passed by the legislature.

In 1913 the State Assembly wisely referred a Full Crew law to the Railroad Commission of Connecticut, who promptly condemned it.

Governor Cruce, of Oklahoma, vetoed a Full Crew bill in 1913.

Attempts to enact Full Crew laws in Colorado, Delaware, Virginia, and Ohio were defeated.

In Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, and Maryland such laws are in force. In the interest of the public, the railroads, and the great body of railroad employes, these burdensome laws should be repealed. In Pennsylvania, approximately 65,000 men are employed in train service. Only 2,500 of these are extra brakemen.

Will Wage a Just Fight

Railroads operating in Pennsylvania and New Jersey are determined to place their case squarely and fairly before the people of those states. They are firmly convinced that the people—all of whom, without exception, are affected more or less directly by the imposition of this annual $2,000,000 burden, and thousands of whom are direct sufferers—will, knowing what a continuation of these harmful laws means to them, voice their wishes in no uncertain way to their elected representatives at Harrisburg and Trenton.

This campaign of public enlightenment will be waged by the railroads in a manner that cannot possibly be legitimately assailed. There will be no lobbying, no star chamber conferences, or private deals to influence public opinion or legislative action. The campaign will be fought in the open, purely on its merits.

Railroad Pledge to Trainmen and Public

Definitely and finally to give public notice that the railroads ask only a square deal all around in this matter, the presidents of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Philadelphia & Reading Railway Company and Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, in announcing on February 9 that the railroads intended to work for repeal of the Full Crew laws, pledged themselves as follows:

"Let us add that if there shall be evidence that without such laws the railroads would underman trains, to the hardship of employes or the detriment of or danger to the public, that, assuming the present Public Service acts do not give to the commissions ample powers to determine what crews are necessary on different trains and to compel the railroads to man trains as ordered, we will openly support such amendments to the present acts as may be necessary to give such assurance."

The railroads now appeal directly to the people, who demand the greatest safety at all times and who realize that a policy of wise economy, and not one of wasted revenue, will enable the railroads to adequately fulfill their obligations and meet those demands as they should be met.

R. L. O'DONNEL,
Chairman, Executive Committee, Associated Railroads of Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Sunday with Mrs. M. McDonough.

P. H. S. AUDITORIUM A POPULAR CENTRE

Many Activities Have Set Seal of Social Approval on the Hall.

The popularity of the High School Auditorium as a place where large entertainments may be given is proving a surprise even to those who from the first have favored the policy of throwing open the High School to public uses when not needed for school purposes.

This season, the fact that the Yale Club New Year dance, the hospital dances and the Masons' reception have been successfully handled in the auditorium, has set the seal of social approval on it, and the vacant dates are filling up rapidly.

In the course of the year it is expected that a very substantial sum will be realized from such rentals, which will help keep down the cost of maintaining the building.

The swimming pool is also proving a popular feature, and practically every evening in the week has been engaged by classes formed among Plainfield residents.

Those who regard a school as a place to be closed when not in use by the children and teachers at first looked on this innovation with some misgiving. There is, however, sound sense in the argument of the Board of Education that having provided at a large expense our school buildings, it is foolish to lock them up except for six hours a day for five days a week, when money can be saved and a public use served by opening them when not needed for the children.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The Plainfield Theatre will have as its offering tomorrow the screen production of David Belasco's masterpiece, "The Girl I Left Behind Me," as originally produced by Charles Frohman. Neither effort nor money has been spared in preparing this photoplay for the moving picture devotees. The scenes of the play are laid in and around a lonely frontier army post in the old Indian days, and in order that the vivid atmosphere of the piece be retained to the fullest extent, the entire company was sent to Fort Assinaboine, Montana. There, amidst the rugged Western scenery, with real cavalry troopers, and with real Indians, the scenes of this virile military drama were enacted for the camera. Robert Edeson, who has been secured to lead in "The Girl I Left Behind Me," is universally known to the theatre-going public, as the star of the many Broadway successes. As Lieutenant Hawksworth in the present production, Mr. Edeson has a part well fitted to his exceptional abilities, and the dashing manly courage with which the young officer meets the many difficulties and dangers that confront him make a way for him into the heart of the spectator as well as into the heart of the heroine, who is most charmingly portrayed by Claire Whitney, the talented leading lady of the William Fox Stock Company. The offering at the Plainfield Theatre, Thursday afternoon and night, will be Harry Hasting's "Tango Queens," and on Friday and Saturday the attraction will be the photo-play production of "The Man from Mexico," with John Barrymore in the leading role.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The first reel of the absolutely authentic war pictures of the European war, which will hereafter be shown in a bi-weekly series, were presented at Proctor's Theatre, yesterday afternoon and last night. They are undoubtedly the most vivid and realistic "movies" ever presented, and held the spectators enthralled from the initial to the concluding scenes. Those flashed upon the screen yesterday were by the only official war photographer, Roy Chandler, and they will be repeated today and tomorrow. An absolutely new reel will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The five-part feature photoplay, "Mignon," pleased large audiences yesterday and will be repeated at all performances this afternoon and tonight. Miss Beatriz Michelena, who portrayed the title role, tightened the grip which she has secured with her Plainfield friends. Yesterday's change of vaudeville brought five excellent acts to the theatre. The headliner was Rex's Manikins, a ludicrous production of marionette comedy that kept the house in roars of laughter. The other numbers were La Salle & Raymond, novelty singing and dancing act; the Leon Sisters, a company of four presenting a thrilling tight wire offering; the Palace Trio, comedy singing, and Edith Mote, in a protean singing and quick change act.

THE SHIP PURCHASE BILL.

The long and determined opposition to the ship purchase bill has surprised no reflecting observer. However urgent may have been or still may be the need of facilitating the export of American goods, the proposition for the Government to go into the shipping business would be startling at any time, and under existing circumstances the most ordinary prudence would seem to demand very careful consideration before inviting such hazards as are likely to be involved.

The sober sentiment of the country that supported President Wilson in his veto of the immigration bill with its short-sighted literacy test, has at no time since last August seemed to approve his efforts to push the ship purchase bill. In some parts of the country there may still be a desire to see the Government do something to meet a crisis presented by a temporary scarcity of ships, but there has been no indication of a great popular demand. The proposition appears to be an artificial creation of the Administration rather than an expression of the popular will. About the only thing that the people have unmistakably demanded during recent months is that the ship of State shall be steered clear of the whirlpool of war, and there have been marked evidences of wide apprehension lest the adoption of this proposition should lead toward the very danger which the country as a whole earnestly desires to avoid.

We hear of no ships immediately available for purchase except interned vessels flying the German flag, and thus the scheme is confronted by international complications at the outset. In recent years we have relied on the more or less well founded impression that England would endure much before going to war with the United States, but England is only one of several allies, including Japan, and these several allies, engaged in a life-and-death struggle with the German military power, will hardly be inclined to place the needs of American commerce above their own supposed interests. The possibility of grave complications leading to serious trouble with one or all of the allied powers is not a matter to be dismissed with a wave of the hand. Already the seizure of privately-owned American ships has caused much disturbance and there is no telling where the seizure of Government-owned ships might lead.

There has been frequent assertion that the danger is imaginary but no conclusive argument. Unfortunately the merits of the question have been to a large extent lost sight of in a struggle of parties. The Republicans have appeared to be almost frankly partisan and the Democrats have seemed to fight for their power to pass the bill rather than for the bill itself.

Even were the dangers of international complications removed, a Government shipping trust with which privately owned vessels could not compete would still appear to be a more than questionable proposition. This no doubt in part explains the opposition on the Democratic side. The Democrats of former times would certainly not have approved the bill's proposal to repeal the navigation laws and to put the framing of "all rules and regulations" affecting shipping and commerce within the discretion of a Government shipping board; for this involves not only an enormous grant of uncontrolled power but a long step forward in the process of weakening the co-ordinate legislative branch of the Government and further strengthening the Executive, in this instance through his influence as the appointing power.

And, after all, what is to be said of the alleged urgent need of this experiment in State socialism? The project came to life last August when ocean navigation was almost completely suspended, and since then the conditions have greatly changed. Even before the end of September grain shipments were very large. For the month of December cotton shipments exceeded those of the previous year. Now the exports of both grain and cotton are reported as far above the figures for a year ago. In view of these facts and of the hazards involved, it is difficult to understand the Administration's persistence in this matter.

It is true enough that if Germany's "war zone" decree can be made effective American exports will again be reduced, but the creation of a Government marine could not of itself remove embarrassing conditions of this or any other similar kind.

It would seem to us that the ministers are unduly alarmed about the moving pictures that are being shown in Plainfield. The theatres here are all conducted by men who realize that the sensational and vulgar type of pictures do not appeal to their audiences, and so far as it is within their power they try to keep all objectionable pictures off their programs. At times reels are sent on from the exchanges, and are run once before their real character is understood, and frequently they are immediately dropped for the day, emergency reels being carried to run in their places. The proprietors of the theatres are glad to have criticism of the pictures shown, and to co-operate with the ministers, or anyone else in suppressing objectionable ones, and the clergymen could probably have accomplished as much by going direct to the managers, as by taking appeal to the City Council.

The longer the matter of securing a city building is delayed, just so much greater will become the expense when the work is put under way. The same thing is true in the matter of public parks. Aside from the need of these two features Plainfield is well up with other cities of similar size, or at least will be when the new postoffice is finished. There will aways be people who will kick about the expense of such improvements, and those people can never be satisfied, but if the Council goes ahead and plans for them in the near future, they will have the support of the large majority of Plainfielders.

If it takes a postal card four days to come from California and three days to come from Dunellen, how long will it take for one to go from East Fourth street to Front street?

OUTLINES VALUE OF LATIN

of instruction in the local institution and many heretofore objectionable points were cleared up by arguments presented by the author of the paper. It was stated that ninety per cent. were used in the "manufacture" of French, Italian and Spanish.

Mrs. Stephen Voorhees, of the local association, made an exhaustive report of the work at the recent Congress of Mothers, in Atlantic City, which she attended as a delegate from the Parent-Teacher Association. She outlined the points raised at the sessions and described their adaptabiltiy to local work along similar lines.

The Plainfield High School Association last night by an unanimous vote, decided to join the Plainfield Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations.

Miss Miller's paper in part follows:

"Several very striking carts illustrate the supreme nature of the classics and a mastery of the literary English. The number of inferences in English history is astonishingly large as is also the number of English poems on classical subjects with a Latin title. When considering this same topic from the other point of view it is certain that transiation affords an opportunity of daily practice in the use of precise and vigorous English. Since a Latin word often has many meanings and shades of meanings in English it is sometimes a very difficult matter to translate and choose the right one and the exercise of this critical faculty may be made a very practical training in the way of English expression.

"The students of modern languages—French, Spanish and Italian—are quick to testify to the help Latin is to them. Sometimes pupils studying German, a language which of course has no etymological connection with Latin, speak of a 'language sense' they have acquired from their study of Latin.

"Among the very highest benefits derived from the translation of Latin and the writing of prose is the habit of 'mental accuracy' that is thereby developed. The power of voluntary attention, which means control of the will, will necessarily be heightened by nice discrimination which is demanded by this exercise.

"The immense help in the spelling of the English language is a phase we must not overlook. A student of Latin can scarcely fail to spell correctly many words that might otherwise be puzzling; such as separate, calendar, increditable, pessimist and very many others.

"Other charts show how an understanding of art and decorative designs in general is vastly broadened; and how at the same time the terminology of science is made infinitely clearer to the student of classics; and how in such professions as low theology, medicine, architecture, etc., the use of classical terms is very common.

"In innumerable other ways Latin proves itself every day of constant help. In our new school there is a steadily growing tendency to broaden the classical course. Last year we introduced a new author in the translation work of each year. No student can now complete the Latin course in the Plainfield High School with the impression that Cicero, Caesar and Virgil constitute all Latin literature."

member of the fire department was received and accepted. Mayor Leighton Calkins appointed former Police Captain Christian Frederickson a special officer thereby giving him the power of arrest and an opportunity to act as a watchman in his neighborhood in the Netherwood section. The appointment was confirmed.

Councilman Francis J. Blatz reported back the communication from the Government in connection with the proposed widening of East Second street; also Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed's report on the certiorari proceedings instituted by Fred Endress in the matter of widening Madison avenue, with instructions that he take such action as he may think best.

Mr. Blatz also stated that in connection with complaints about driveways and sidewalks out of repair, that he proposed to take this matter up in the near future and arrange for public hearings. It is the desire of the street committee that as far as possible concrete take the place of flagging in laying walks.

A communication from the East End Civic Association requested the Council to have walks laid on Leland avenue, East Second street and other thoroughfares in the East End. This was referred to the street committee. The report of Overser of the Poor Garret T. Dunham was received and filed.

NATIONAL OFFICERS TO SPEAK AT RALLY

Missionary Societies to Gather at First Baptist Church Tomorrow.

Missions form such a vital part of church activity, that leaders like Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody and Rev. Arthur C. Baldwin should attract many hearers in the community. Mrs. Montgomery and Mrs. Peabody will address the Missionary Societies of this city and vicinity tomorrow afternoon at the First Baptist church at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Montgomery is president of the Woman's American Baptist Foreign Mission Society and Mrs. Peabody is vice president of the same society. Both speakers have a national reputation for eloquence and force.

A Baptist rally will begin with a devotional service at 2 o'clock in the lecture room of the church. Rev. Dr. Claire, of East Orange, will make a short address. All Baptist women in this vicinity are urged to be present. Rev. Arthur C. Baldwin, associate foreign secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, will be the speaker in the evening. All the services promise unusual interest. The public is invited to attend the services in the main part of the church.

EXCHANGE FUND CONTINUES TO GROW

A Total of $405 Has Been Subscribed to Aid the Institution.

The Plainfield Exchange for Woman's Work at a meeting this morning elected Mrs. Frederick Goddard president, Mrs. Horace N. Stevens treasurer, and Mrs. Edward J. Patterson recording secretary, thus completing the election of last week. The Exchange is greatly encouraged over the prospects of securing the needed support to continue the institution and the new officers have taken hold with much enthusiasm and the outlook for the year is promising.

The special fund being raised to aid the Exchange was increased today by three additional subscriptions, one of $25 from Mrs. Jabez Gilbert, one of $15 from Mrs. Wilbur H. Rogers, and $5 from a "Friend." This makes the total to date $405. It is hoped that other friends will come to the aid of the Exchange and thus help to raise the fund of $1,000, which will put the institution on a good financial basis.

There are 90 consignors in this city and vicinity whose families are helped by the Exchange and last year they received a total of $6,623.42. There are 58 out of town consignors who received $900, showing that the greatest benefit is going to Plainfielders.

The subscriptions to date are as follows:

Mrs. C. W. McCutchen	$25
Mrs. Jabez Gilbert	$25
"A Friend"	$20
Mrs. Wilbur H. Rogers	$15
W. L. Smalley	$10

Corporation Notice.

NOTICE OF SALE OF $100,000 SCHOOL BONDS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That on Monday, the first day of March, 1915, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, Plainfield, N. J., the Common Council of said City will receive sealed bids for the purchase of $100,000 School Bonds of said City, dated March 1st, 1915, bearing interest at the rate of four and one-half per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, and maturing serially, $3,000 on March 1st in each of the years 1943 to 1954, both inclusive; $4,000 on March 1st in each of the years 1955 to 1961, both inclusive; and $9,000 on March 1st in each of the years 1962 to 1965, both inclusive. The bonds will be coupon in form but may be registered as to principal only or as to both principal and interest. A certified check for two per cent. (2%) of the par value of the bonds bid for, payable to the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield, must accompany each bid.

No bid less than par and accrued interest will be accepted.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

All proposals or bids must be submitted on forms of proposal especially prepared for that purpose; copies of which may be obtained from the City Clerk or from the United States Mortgage and Trust Co., New York city.

The legality of the issue has been examined by Messrs. Hawkins, Delafield & Longfellow, whose favorable opinion will be furnished to the purchasers. The bonds will be prepared and certified as to genuineness by the United States Mortgage and Trust Co., of New York city, and the bonds will be delivered to the respective purchasers on Wednesday, the tenth day of March, 1915, at the office of the City Treasurer of Plainfield, N. J., unless another time be mutually agreed upon.

Bids will be received for all or any part of such issue.

Dated, February 15, 1915.

By order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

2 16-2-tu

SALARIES OF OFFICIALS FIXED BY THE COUNCIL

Through resolutions offered by Councilman R. A. Claybrook the Common Council at its adjourned meeting, last night, fixed the salaries of City Clerk James T. MacMurray and those of Miss Mary H. Dunham and Miss Ora Bush, the assistants in the clerk's office.

Mr. MacMurray's salary was fixed at $1,200, that of Miss Dunham at $70 a month and that of Miss Bush at $30 a month. The clerk is to turn over all fees coming to his office to the city treasurer, and in the future the city will pay the salary of George B. Wean, city stenographer, which is $600, as well as those of Miss Dunham and Miss Bush.

AUTO BUS LICENSE IS REDUCED TO $5

The much-discussed auto bus ordinance was adopted on second reading at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, after being amended so as to change the license fee from $15 to $5 a year. Councilman Thomas F. Hylan reported on the amendment and it was promptly adopted without any dissenting votes.

It is understood that the local auto bus company is now satisfied with the ordinance and will offer no further objections to its passage. The $15 license fee was objected to on the ground that it would seriously interfere with the company's business.

DEMOCRATS TO RALLY IN PLAINFIELD TONIGHT

Under the auspices of the Union County Democratic Committee the first of a series of meetings throughout the county will be held in the local organization's rooms tonight. It is expected that nearly the entire committee will attend and a cordial invitation is extended to all interested to be present. There will be several short addresses by prominent Democrats after which refreshments will be served.

These meetings are intended to arouse and maintain the interest of Democrats throughout the county and will be held at some central point easy of access. The sessions are in addition to regular monthly gatherings held in Elizabeth.

NEWS AND VIEWS

Conducted by

THE W. C. T. U.

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 16.—Both houses of the Alabama Legislature have passed over the Governor's veto a bill to prohibit newspapers published in the State from printing liquor advertisements, and to prevent circulation in the State of papers published outside Alabama carrying such advertising.

This new act, which goes into effect immediately, also prohibits liquor advertising by circular, billboard display or otherwise.

"Varsity athletes at the University of Michigan have, as a body, taken a stand for temperance and clean living among students.

"Several years ago the fraternities, in the interest of good fellowship united in an attempt to suppress the drink evil. Rules were adopted prohibiting the use of intoxicants in fraternity houses, and freshmen were forbidden to frequent saloons. A no-treat rule was also passed.

"Besides the reforms accomplished by the fraternities, the student body has been signally benefitted by the good offices of the University Health Service in throwing light upon the inevitable penalties that follow in the wake of evil practices. As a result of these sane endeavors in the interest of physical and moral health the drink habit among students has decreased 25 per cent. annually during the last three or four years."

Says Lewis C. Reiman, '17 L. member of the football team: "Any practice that dissipates our energies and lowers our efficiency can mean only one thing—a lower standard of school work and athletics."

The Boston (Mass.) Post of January 17 contained the following interesting article regarding the stand taken by Harvard students recently:

"A protest against the serving of beer at the annual banquet of the freshman class was made in an open letter to the Harvard Crimson by F. Treadwell Smith, one of the leading members of the senior class and a member of the Harvard chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa. The prohibitionists admit that their first attempt to shut off the supply of beer in the freshman class is only the first step in the campaign that is to sweep through all the classes and abolish beer at class meetings, smokers and the like. The Harvard Student Council, made up of the leading undergraduates and forming the most powerful student organization at Harvard, has been called upon to stop beer at the freshman banquet.

"An indication that the Harvard square tradesmen are fearful of the spread of the prohibition movement to the university is shown by the fact that one of the students' shops recently packed its show windows with beer steins of all sorts and announced a clearance sale of those articles. The merchant wishes to rid himself of all quaffing paraphernalia in case the millennium arrives and Harvard students swear off on beer."

Prophesying that victory for the woman suffrage movement was assured and stating it as his conviction that the Democratic party cannot afford to line up with the liquor trade, Secretary of State Bryan denounced John Barleycorn in a speech at a banquet of Democratic editors in Indianapolis, on the evening of February 4.

"I want to tell you Democratic editors that the Democratic party cannot afford to stand with the brewer and saloonkeeper as against woman suffrage," Mr. Bryan is reported to have said. "A man is known by the company he keeps, and I want to tell you now that the man who prefers the saloonkeeper's company to that of his wife will not be in the Democratic party long. If we are going to favor woman suffrage, we might as well go the whole hog and drive the saloon out of politics."

On January 1, 1916, Arkansas becomes a prohibition State. On February 1, the lower house of the Legislature by a vote of 74 to 22 passed a bill providing for State-wide prohibition, and on February 5, the measure was passed by the Senate by a vote of 33 to 2. The house bill provided for its going into effect on June 1, 1915, and as amended by the Senate the date is fixed at January 1, 1916. The measure as amended has been concurred in by the house. Governor Hays, in his recent inaugural address, strongly recommended the passage of this law.

On the same day that the house acted on the prohibition bill, the Senate by a vote of 23 to 12 adopted a woman suffrage resolution, which at a special night session on February 5, by a vote of 51 to 19 was approved by the vote of the lower house.

PRAISEWORTHY WORDS FOR BOARD OF ASSESSORS

Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed called the attention of the Common Council, last night, to the great amount of work performed this year by the Board of Assessors, as well as his own office in the matter of making the tax assessments and then looking after the city's interest in the 678 appeals made to the Union County Board of Taxation, in each case the city being represented by someone from the office of the corporation counsel.

Mr. Reed stated that in the majority of the assessments from which an appeal was taken, the findings of the local assessors were sustained, and in his opinion the assessors deserve much credit for the great amount of work done by them which was without any compensation, as the assessors agreed to give their salaries this year to the city. The communication was referred to the finance committee.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

FIRST GAME FOR THE CITY CHAMPIONSHIP IN THE Y. M. C. A. GYM MONDAY MORNING

The Plainfield High School and Y. M. C. A. basketball teams will meet in the first game for the championship of Plainfield in the P. H. S. gym on Washington's Birthday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The second game is booked for Saturday night, March 13, at the Y. M. C. A., and a third game, if necessary, will be played on a neutral court, to be decided on later.

The reason for staging the game in the morning is because Manager Zelmas, of the school team, has his schedule full up to March 13, and much interest would be lost in the game after the middle of next month. These two dates are the only two that could be settled upon and although there is an interscholastic game in the afternoon at Saengerbund Hall, a good crowd is expected.

James J. McNamee, who officiated in all of the interscholastic games, has been selected to handle the whistle and there will be no umpire. The team winning two games will be awarded eight gold medals.

WESTFIELD BEATEN WITH OWN REFEREE

Old Excuse of Unfairness of Plainfield Officials Not Applicable in This Case.

Westfield High School basketball players' dope on Plainfield officials went completely wrong yesterday afternoon when the Westfield quintet with its own referee, was forced to take the short end of a 25 to 20 score by the Leal aggregation on the Y. M. C. A. court. The local team outplayed its opponents in every department of the game and, although the game was very close, the home players managed to maintain a lead of several points. The private school team had not forgotten the defeat at Westfield some time ago and went into the game determined to win. They took the lead at the start and at the end of the first half were leading by a margin of four points, the score being 14 to 10.

Both teams started a defensive game at the start of the second half, but the home team again outscored its rivals, this time by one point. Stewart and Schneider were the best scorers for Leal, while Captain Traynor did the best work for Westfield.

LISTLESS VICTORY FOR RED AND BLUE

Plainfield High School Players Trim Battin Basketeers.

The boys' basketball team, of the Plainfield High School, defeated the basketball team of Battin High School, of Elizabeth, in the local gymnasium yesterday afternoon by the score of 42 to 28. The game was slow and uninteresting, with Plainfield High School holding the upper hand all the way. Several baskets in quick succession at the beginning of the game gave the local team a comfortable lead, which was never in danger of being overcome by their opponents.

McNamee, Chamberlain and Rosenson each caged the ball six times from the field. The first half ended with the score at 24 to 16 in Plainfield's favor.

Tomlinson starred for Battin. He caged the ball for seven field goals, several of them being from near the centre of the court.

THREE EVEN BREAKS IN HOUSE TOURNEY

Todd, Townley and Cose Teams Are the Participants.

Three even breaks were registered in the Elks' House Tourney, last night, when the Todd, Townley and Cose teams each won and lost a game. All of the three games were closely contested, the largest margin being 17 pins, in the first game, when Townley's men took the game from J. Todd and his pinners, the scores being 773 to 756.

The Townley combination met defeat at the hands of the John Cose aggregation and in turn the Cose men were vanquished by the Todd five.

PLAINFIELD GIRLS WILL USE BORO RIVALS' COURT

The members of the Plainfield High School girls' basketball team have accepted an invitation extended by the borough school manager to practice on Saengerbund Hall court before the second game of the series between these two teams for the interscholastic championship of the city. The city girls will use the borough hall Wednesday afternoon. The game will be played next Monday afternoon, and the boroughites need a victory to get a chance at the title, now held by Plainfield.

The North Plainfield team practiced today and as they will be unable to have the hall at all on Wednesday, Manager Lillian Spencer is trying to arrange a game with Roselle, to be played at that place.

THREE LOCAL PLAYERS OUT FOR S. T. S. TEAM

Plainfield's representatives at Springfield Training School are getting their first taste of baseball this year, the initial call having been made a few days ago for all candidates for the nine. There are three local athletes who hope to get places on the squad, "Hub" Stine, "Don" Sminck and George Townley. Townley and Stine played on the team last year and stand a fine chance of getting places, while Smick, the former High School star twirler, is working his hardest to get his left wing into shape for mound duty.

The representative squad will take a southern trip this spring and all of the candidates are anxious to be chosen for it. Stine is again out for a backstop berth, while the other two local boys are working as pitchers. There are a large number of students out for pitcher's berths, and thirteen of the number are post-siders, so Townley and Sminck will have a little competition in getting picked for the team. The squad now practices daily in the gym.

ELIZABETH T. A. B. TO MAKE FRATERNAL VISIT

Members of the Elizabeth T. A. B. Society will come to this city this evening, when they will pay a fraternal visit to the local society, returning the call of the Plainfielders of a few weeks ago. The occasion will take on the nature of "Ladies' Night," the feminine friends of the Queen City organization having been invited to attend the social event.

The forepart of the evening will be spent in rolling off a bowling match, when the local abstainers will endeavor to right themselves with their followers for the defeat suffered at the hands of the county seat team when they last journeyed to Elizabeth. Dancing will form the feature of the evening, to be followed by a social hour and refreshments.

The Elizabeth delegation will make the trip to this city by special trolley, while a short parade will be made prior to their going to the hall on West Fourth street. Special music has been engaged for the occasion.

PLAINFIELD "PRINTS" AGAIN VANQUISHED

TENURE OF OFFICE FOR OVERSEERS IS OPPOSED

The Common Council at its adjourned meeting, last night, went on record as opposing the proposed legislative bill planned to extend the terms of overseers of the poor, expressing the belief that such action would be unwise and the Union county representatives in the Legislature will be requested to oppose the adoption of this bill.

The above action was taken through a resolution offered by Councilman R. H. Cox, chairman of the laws and ordinance committee. At the recent State meeting of the overseers of the poor in Newark the association decided to seek legislation which would give the overseers tenure of office.

PROTEST AGAINST MOTION PICTURES AND POSTERS

The Plainfield Ministers' Association, through Rev. Lewis Bond, secretary, communicated with the Common Council at its adjourned meeting, last night, requesting the appointment of a Board of Censors for the moving picture theatres in this city. Attention was called to the fact that there are three theatres here where motion pictures are shown and that these pictures are not always of the highest moral tone, but on the contrary many of them are morbid in character.

Protest was also made concerning the style of posters displayed advertising these pictures and the association asked that a Board of Censors be appointed to supervise the pictures shown as well as the posters displayed at the various theatres. The matter was referred to the public affairs committee.

HERE'S THE BIG SONG-HIT IN THE COLUMBUS CLUB MINSTRELS.

"Packey" McDonough, of the star pin-knights in the Columbus Club, has written the following parody on the popular song hit "On the 5:15." It was rendered by "Lou" Harding in connection with the Columbus Club's black-face show Thursday night.

Talk about our bowlers, how their averages fell;
Talk about our basketball team as well;
Moynihan, Howe and Pasch are some team,
Together they averaged 'bout 5:15.
They left the clubhouse at five o'clock,
Told us not a game they intended to drop.
The Elizabeth papers and magazines
Say even the pin boys beat this team.

CHORUS (ON THE 5:15).

Otto Linke's a bowler, member of the Parrots,
Before he joined the team they were 18 karat;
He gets a loving message on the telephone,
You better bowl your tournament games alone.
Robert McCormack is the next I'd like to mention,
Robert went to Westfield and learned the hesitation;
He's the finest dancer I've ever seen
He danced all night till 5:15.

Everybody's happy, everybody's glad,
It's the finest meeting the Sunday Club had;
Sullivan says we'll not go home
While Carty is praising the telephone.
Doc Greenwood leaves at half past eight,
Finds the Arlington car is 30 minutes late;
He curses the service up and down,
We expect any day to see him move to town.

PAPER ON KIPLING WAS A REAL GEM

Monday Afternoon Club Enjoyed a Highly Interesting Literary Program.

A highly enjoyable musical and literary program was offered the members of the literary department of the Monday Afternoon Club and their friends in the Congregational church parish house, yesterday afternoon. Kipling was the subject in story and song. Mrs. Charles Kaltenbach, of Cranford, read a paper on Kipling's aims to permanency, and she brought up in a delightful way the distinction, pathos, newness, humor, realistic and sombre writings of the great English author and poet.

Duncan Bulkley, of New York, sang a number of songs of Kipling and the Hindu poet, Tagore. He was most generous in his offering, singing seven of Kipling and three of Tagore. His interpretation of the songs was of a high nature, singing each with all the feeling and sympathy that the poet meant should be expressed.

The program follows: "The Young British Soldier," by Cobb; "Manadalay," by Prince; "Rollin' Down Rio," by Edward German; "Seals' Lullaby," by Helen Wilkinson; "Mother O' Mine," by Frank Tours; "The Smuggler," by Klernochan; "The Recessional," and three songs from Tagore.

Harry Gilbert, of New York, accompanied Mr. Bulkley on the piano.

PRESIDENT HAS MAJORITY OF 60 ON SHIPPING BILL

Washington, Feb. 16.—In accordance with the desire of President Wilson the House today began consideration of the Administration shipping bill for the purpose of giving him moral support in his effort to break the coalition of Republicans and insurgent Democrats in the Senate.

The first test vote on the bill came upon a motion made by Representative Henry, of Texas, to limit debate on the bill. The motion was carried by a vote of 181 ayes to 126 noes. This shows that when the measure passes tonight it will have a majority of about 60 votes.

WILSON GIVES JOLT TO SENATE

Says That Debates Should Be Limited, Something New to Washington.

'TIME TO TURN OFF GAS'

Byran in Conference With Executive for Long Period on War and Mexican Situations—Expect Action Soon on Latter.

Washington, Feb. 16.—President Wilson came out flatly today in favor of a limitation of debate in the Senate through the adoption of a rule that would rescind the prerogative of unlimited talk. Unrestricted debate has been a sacred privilege jealously defended by the Senate ever since the foundation of the Government. The President made it plain to callers that he cared nothing for the sanctity of the Senate. He indicated that so far as the Senate was concerned it was time to "turn off the gas" in the legislative chambers.

The President expressed confidence that both the ship purchase bill and the appropriation bills would be put through the Senate before March 4, and that an extra session would not be necessary. He branded as absurd a report that he was anxious to call an extra session to amend the tariff. The tariff, he said, was working admirably and there was no legitimate criticism of it to be found.

Secretary Bryan made a hurried call early today on President Wilson at the White House, where he was closeted for nearly an hour. It is said that he laid before the President the official text of the note of the German ambassador delivered yesterday. It was intimated, however, on good authority that this Government cannot consistently take any further steps in the premises than it already has taken, in protesting to England against its seizure of American noncontraband cargoes.

Any further effort to modify or direct the naval policies of either belligerent nation, it was pointed out, could well be regarded as unwarrantable interference by the United States.

The Mexican situation also was touched on briefly by Secretary Bryan in the course of the conference. The situation there is giving concern and some sharp action, it is believed, will be taken by this Government within the next few hours.

FOREIGN MISSION SOCIETY OBSERVES ITS ANNIVERSARY

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Grace M. E. church held an anniversary service, last night. It was largely attended in spite of the inclement weather conditions. Miss Emily March presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. V. T. Heath. Miss Mary Steiner read the history of the society and there were solos by Mrs. E. D. Young. Rev. D. B. F. Randolph, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, made the address and he gave a splendid tribute to the work of the Women's Missionary Society since its organization in 1866.

The Ladies' Aid Soecity will have charge of the services tonight. A history of the organization will be read and Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, will be the speaker of the evening. The public is cordially invited.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF JAMES BEEKMAN

The funeral of James Beekman, the former postmaster at Martinsville, was held at the late home in the latter place, Sunday afternoon, Rev. James Hill, pastor of the Mt. Horeb M. E. church, officiating. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. During the service Mrs. Carrie Davis, Miss Jose Waldron, Elmer and Raymond Vactor and Edward Davis sang "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and "Abide With Me."

The burial was in the Mt. Horeb cemetery and the bearers were William Bartle, John Roberts, George Goltra, John Toms, Theodore Abbott and John Zimmerman.

MRS. VAN VLIET BURIED HERE.

The burial of Mrs. Anna Van Vliet, widow of Clinton Van Vliet, of Douglaston, L. I., took place in Hillside cemetery, yesterday. Mrs. Van Vliet, who formerly lived here, died last Thursday while attending a church entertainment. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at Douglaston. Mrs. Van Vliet's husband was president of the Goodyear Rubber Company and he was a cousin of Mrs. J. K. Arnold, of the borough.

CONTRIBUTIONS NEEDED.

Persons wishing to contribute to the fund being raised for the assistance of the unemployed people of Plainfield can send money to Arthur M. Harris, treasurer, of Central avenue. The need of money for this work is very urgent as there are many men out of work and the commission in charge of the relief would appreciate donations of any amount in aid of the fund.

DUTCH ARMS CLUB IN A MOCK TRIAL

Appearing in a mock trial in which the jury rendered a verdict without deeming it necessary to leave their seats in the court room, the Dutch Arm Men's Organization, of Trinity church, scored a big hit before an audience that packed the Sunday school room of that church to the doors last night.

The trial, which was placed on the court docket as the "Great Pumpkin Case of Guff vs. Muff," was a "scream" throughout and everyone of those who took part were especially well fitted for their respective parts, particularly the leads. The argument for which the defendant was brought to court was a complicated affair and had to do with a pumpkin seed, a valuable pumpkin and a cow.

C. M. Dolliver took the part of Judge Fobb, L. Bennet was the complainant and Ralph P. Gay was the defendant. W. E. Moke and F. J. Borrup as witnesses, gave out testimony which practically settled the minds of the jury of wiseacres.

After the case had been heard Judge Fobb charged the jury and ordered the jurors out to decide on the verdict. Millard McAfee, the foreman, arose and told the judge that it was not necessary to debate over the verdict. It was a double decision, declaring Muff innocent and his opponent Guff, guilty.

PRESBYTERIAN CLASSES HOLD VALENTINE SOCIAL

The members of several classes of the First Presbyterian church Sunday-school and their friends held a meeting in the Sunday-school rooms, last night, in the nature of a valentine social. The evening was spent in playing parlor games and refreshments were served. There were about fifty present.

The committees in charge follow: General, A. V. Searing, Jr., chairman; Miss Laura Knight, Miss Leah Hammond, Miss Addie Dietrich, Mrs. T. C. Bodine, Dr. T. Blair, Miss Adriadna Bicknell, Leontine and Dorothy Huntsman, Henrietta Englehardt, Harold Lounsbury, Ray Boice, F. O. Dunning; decorations, Miss Leontine Huntsman, chairman; Misses Dorothy Huntsman, Irene Dunham, Ariadna Bicknell, Leah Hammond; refreshments, Miss Helen George, chairman; Miss Laura Knight.

BIBLE CLASS PLANNING ITS ANNUAL PRODUCTION

The monthly meeting of the Probasco Bible class was held in the Baptist church, last night, and preparations were made for the annual play which will be given during the first part of April. It was decided to give Anthony E. Willis' three-act play entitled "A Regiment of Two." There are ten characters in the cast, six males and four females, all to be taken by the members of the class.

The place in which to present the play has not yet been decided upon, but it will be given in either the Park Club, Plainfield Theatre or Plainfield High School. Francis K. Anderson will act as coach and rehearsals will begin soon. Those who have been chosen to take parts are Fred Serrell, Earl Pierson, Randolph Chandler, Ben Harris, James Dunwell, Hamlet Lucky, Harry Downes and Bob Mitchell. There are still some to be filled.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS LAUNCH MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

The membership campaign of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., was launched last night at a chicken dinner held in the association parlors, at which the boys who have entered into the contest were present. The dinner was served by the Women's Auxiliary. After dinner, James McClymont, chairman of the boys work committee, made a speech in which he outlined the plans.

Those who will strive for the awards were divided into four teams which will be under the leadership of James McClymont, Douglas Anderson, F. N. Genung and Edwin Glaentzer. The contest will close March 15. Besides the team prizes which will be announced later, there are two individual prizes. A free year's membership in the association will be given to each boy counting for five new members and for ten new members one boy will receive in addition to a free membership, $5.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Lustre and Abundance.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its apppearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—Adv.

PROPOSALS

For furnishing crushed stone and materials for culverts and cross-walks, to the Borough of North Plainfield:

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield at the regular meeting, February 5, 1915, notice is hereby given that the Mayor and Council will meet at the Council Chamber, Somerset Street, in the said Borough, on Friday, March 5, 1915, at 8 o'clock P. M., at which time and place said Mayor and Council will receive sealed proposals for furnishing crushed stone, and for furnishing materials for culverts and cross-walks as follows:

For crushed stone for the remainder of the year 1915, the bids to state the price per ton of 2,000 pounds, for furnishing each or any of the following sizes, the bid on each size to be independent of bids on any other size, viz:

Fine screenings of crushed stone, one-half inch crushed stone, one inch, one and one half inch and two and one half inch crushed stone.

In such quantities, and delivered at such times and places in the Borough as the Street Commissioner may direct.

The above must be of the very best quality trap rock free from weathered stone, dirt, clay, or other foreign matter, and in every way acceptable to said Street Commissioner.

All stone furnished must be weighed on such scales as said Street Commissioner may from time to time direct and a voucher or way-bill must be delivered with every load to the said Street Commissioner or to his authorized representative.

Every bidder to whom any contract for crushed stone is awarded, must enter into written contract to furnish and deliver the same in strict compliance with the aforesaid terms and must furnish bond satisfactory to said Council, in the sum of $1,000 for the strict performance thereof.

At the same time sealed proposals will be received for furnishing the following materials for culverts and crosswalks:

Cover stone for culverts not larger than 4 feet by 3 feet by not less than 3½ inches in thickness, per square foot.

Curbing 16 inches by 4 inches, 3 to 6 feet long, per lineal foot.

Curbing 20 inches by 4 inches, 3 to 6 feet long, per lineal foot.

Cross-walk stone 24 inches by not less than 4 inches, 3 to 4½ feet long, Belgian edge, per lineal foot.

Cross-walk stone 30 inches by not less than 4 inches, 3 to 4½ feet long, Belgian edge, per lineal foot.

All to be of the best hard blue stone equal in quality and durability to stone from the Hudson River quarries.

Upon receipt of such bids or proposals the Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or their agents desire to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes.

The right to reject any and all bids is expressly reserved.

By order of the Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield, February 5, 1915.

PEG O' MY HEART

By J. Hartley Manners

A Comedy of Youth Founded by Mr. Manners on His Great Play of the Same Title—Illustrations From Photographs of the Play

Copyright, 1913, by Dodd, Mead & Company

CHAPTER X.

Peg Away From Home.

FOR the next few days Peg was busy preparing herself for the journey and buying little things for her scanty equipment. Then the cable came to the effect that a passage was reserved for her and money was waiting at a banker's for her expenses. This Peg obstinately refused to touch. She didn't want anything except what her father gave her.

When the morning of her departure came poor Peg woke with a heavy heart. It was their first parting, and she was miserable.

O'Connell, on the contrary, seemed full of life and high spirits. He laughed at her and joked with her and made a little bundle of some things that would not go in her bag and that he had kept for her to the last minute. They were a rosary that had been his mother's, a prayer book Father Cahill gave him the day he was confirmed and lastly the little miniature of Angela. It wrung his heart to part with it, but he wanted Peg to have it near her, especially as she was going among the relations of the dead woman. All through this O'Connell showed not a trace of emotion before Peg. He kept telling her there was nothing to be sad about. It was all going to be for her good.

When the time came to go the strange pair made their way down to the ship—the tall, erect, splendid looking man and the little red haired girl in her simple black suit and her little black hat, with red flowers to brighten it.

O'Connell went aboard with her, and an odd couple they looked on the saloon deck, with Peg holding on to Michael, much to the amusement of the passengers, the visitors and stewards.

Poor, stanch, loyal, honest, true little Peg, going alone to—what? Leaving the one human being she cared for and worshiped—her playmate, counselor, friend and father—all in one!

O'Connell never dropped his high spirits all the time they were together on board the ship. He went aboard with a laugh, and when the bell rang for all visitors to go ashore he said goodby to Peg with a laugh, while poor Peg's heart felt like a stone in her breast. She stood sobbing up against the rail of the saloon deck as the ship swung clear. She was looking for her father through the mists of tears that blinded her.

Just as the boat slowly swept past the end of the dock she saw him right at the last post so that he could watch the boat uninterruptedly until it was out of sight. He was crying himself now—crying like a child—and as the boat swung away he called up: "My little Peg! Peg o' my heart!" How she longed to get off the ship and go back to him! They stood waving to each other as long as they remained in sight.

While the ship plowed her way toward England with little Peg on board the man whom she was crossing the Atlantic to meet died quietly one morning with no one near him.

The nurse found Mr. Kingsnorth smiling peacefully as though asleep. He had been dead several hours.

Near him on the table was a cable dispatch from New York:

My daughter sailed on the Mauretania today at 10 o'clock.

FRANK OWEN O'CONNELL.

Mrs. Chichester, whom we last saw under extremely distressing circumstances in Ireland, now enters prominently into the story. She was leading a secluded and charming existence in an old and picturesque villa at Scarborough, in the north of England. Although her husband had been dead for several years, she still clung to the outward symbols of mourning. It added a softness to the patrician line of her features and a touch of distinction to her manner and poise. She had an illustrious example of a lifelong sorrow, and, being ever loyal, Mrs. Chichester retained the weeds of widowhood and the crape of affliction ever present.

She was proud indeed of her two children, about whom she had written so glowingly to her brother Nathaniel.

Alaric was the elder. In him Mrs. Chichester took the greater pride. He was so nearly being great—even from infancy—that he continually kept his mother in a condition of expectant wonder. He was nearly brilliant at school. At college he almost got his degree. He just missed his "blue" at cricket, and but for an unfortunate ball dribbling over the net at a critical moment in the semi-final of the tennis championships he might have won the cup. He was quite philosophic about it, though, and never appeared to reproach fate for treating him so shabbily.

He was always nearly doing something, and kept Mrs. Chichester in a lively condition of trusting hope and occasional disappointment. She knew he would "arrive" some day—come into his own. Then all these half rewarded efforts would be invaluable in the building of his character.

Her daughter, Ethel, on the other hand, was the exact antithesis to Alaric. She had never shown the slightest interest in anything since she had first looked up at the man of medicine who ushered her into the world. She regarded everything about her with the greatest complacency. She was never surprised or angry or pleased or depressed. Sorrow never seemed to affect her—nor joy make her smile. She looked on life as a gentle brook down whose current she was perfectly content to drift undisturbed. At least that was the effect created in Mrs. Chichester's mind. She never thought it possible there might be latent possibilities in her impassive daughter.

While her mother admired Ethel's lofty attitude of indifference toward the world, a manner that bespoke the aristocrat, she secretly chafed at her daughter's lack of enthusiasm.

How different from Alaric, always full of nearly new ideas, always about to do something. Alaric kept those around him on the alert. No one ever really knew what he would do next. On the other hand, Ethel depressed by her stolid content with everything about her. Every one knew what she would do—or thought they did.

Mrs. Chichester had long since abandoned any further attempt to interest her brother Nathaniel in the children.

Angela's wretched marriage had upset everything—driven Nathaniel to be a recluse and to close his doors on near and distant relatives.

Angela's death the following year did not relieve the situation. If anything, it intensified it, since she left a baby that, naturally, none of the family could possibly take the slightest notice of—nor interest in.

It was tacitly agreed never to speak of the unfortunate incident, especially before the children. It was such a terrible example for Ethel and so discouraging to the eager and ambitious Alaric.

Consequently Angela's name was never spoken inside of Regal Villa.

And so the Chichester family pursued an even course, only varied by Alaric's sudden and definite decisions to enter either public life, or athletics, or the army, or the world of art—it was really extremely hard for so well equipped a young man to decide to limit himself to any one particular pursuit. Consequently he put off the final choice from day to day.

Suddenly a most untoward incident happened.

Alaric, returning from a long walk, alone—during which he had almost decided to become a doctor—walked in through the windows from the garden into the living room and found his mother in tears, an open letter in her hand.

This was most unusual. Mrs. Chichester was not wont to give vent to open emotion. It shows a lack of breeding. So she always suppressed it. It seemed to grow inward. To find her weeping—and almost audibly—impressed Alaric that something of more than usual importance had occurred.

"Hello, mater!" he cried cheerfully, though his looks belied the buoyancy of his tone. "Hello! What's the matter? What's up?"

At the same moment Ethel came in through the door.

It was 11:30, and precisely at that time every morning Ethel practiced for half an hour on the piano—not that she had the slightest interest in music, but it helped the morning so much. She would look forward to it for an hour before and think of it for an hour afterward, and then it was lunchtime. It practically filled out the entire morning.

Mrs. Chichester looked up as her beloved children came toward her, and real tears were in her eyes, and a real note of alarm was in her voice:

"Oh, Ethel! Oh, Alaric!"

Alaric was at her side in a moment. He was genuinely alarmed.

Ethel moved slowly across, thinking vaguely that something must have disagreed with her mother.

"What is it, mater?" cried Alaric.

"Mother!" said Ethel, with as nearly a tone of emotion as she could feel.

"We're ruined!" sobbed Mrs. Chichester.

"Nonsense!" said the bewildered son.

"Really?" asked the placid daughter.

"Our bank has failed! Every penny your poor father left me was in it!" wailed Mrs. Chichester. "We've nothing—nothing! We're beggars!"

A horrible fear for a moment gripped Alaric—the dread of poverty. He shivered. Suppose such a thing should really happen! Then he dismissed it with a shrug of his shoulders. How perfectly absurd! Poverty, indeed! The Chichesters beggars? Such nonsense! He turned to his mother and found her holding out a letter and a newspaper. He took them both and read them with mingled amazement and disgust. First the headline of the newspaper caught his eye:

"Failure of Gifford's Bank."

Then he looked at the letter:

"Gifford's bank suspended business yesterday." Back his eye traveled to the paper:

"Gifford's Bank Has Closed Its Doors!"

He was quite unable at first to grasp the full significance of the contents of that letter and newspaper. He turned to Ethel:

"Eh?" he gasped.

"Pity," she murmured, trying to find a particular piece of music among the mass on the piano.

"We're ruined!" reiterated Mrs. Chichester.

Then the real meaning of those cryptic headlines and the businesslike letter broke in on Alaric. All the Chichester blood was roused in him.

"Now, that's what I call a downright, rotten, blackguardly shame—a blackguardly shame!" His voice rose in tones as it increased in intensity until it almost reached a shriek.

Something was expected of him—at any rate, indignation. Well, he was certainly indignant.

"Closed its doors, indeed!" he went on. "Why should it close its doors? That's what I want to know! Why—should—it?" And he glared at the unoffending letter and the noncommittal newspaper.

He looked at Ethel, who was surreptitiously concealing a yawn and was apparently quite undisturbed by the appalling news. He found no inspiration there. Back he went to his mother for support.

"What right have banks to fail? There should be a law against it. They should be made to open their doors and keep 'em open. That's what we give 'em our money for—so that we can take it out again when we want it."

Poor Mrs. Chichester shook her head sadly.

"Everything gone!" she moaned. "Ruined, and at my age!"

AN EFFECTIVE BLOUSE.

Today's sketch pictures an effective blouse of crepe de chine in delicate pink; at least the back, sleeves and little inverted boleros are of this material, but it is helped out and elaborated by cream lace and net of the same shade. Net forms the vest dotted on its closing edge by tiny black velvet buttons, these same trimming the lace cuffs which lengthen a plain crepe sleeve.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD.

"I have a letter from Mrs. Thorn. You know she lives in the district where I taught last year. Let me read what she says, mother," said Muriel, coming into the kitchen on her return from school. She read:

"Surely Joe Morse had a touch of the real thing in your case, my dear. He has never called on our new teacher nor paid her the least attention. She is the first pretty girl in five years that he has not made love to. It is causing much amused comment, you may be sure. It would be a fine thing if the jolt your refusal gave him should be the means of changing him. There are plenty of things to be said in his favor, when all the truth is told, besides the fact that he has money."

"That is interesting. How old do you think he is?" asked the mother.

"Oh, about thirty," replied the girl. "I received a letter from him, too. He says he has so much time on his hands evenings that he has taken up the study of sociology."

"Everyone will agree that he will get more benefit from that than from making love to the new teacher," replied her mother, laughing. "How did school go?"

"All right. I have such dear little people. It is much more interesting than the ungraded work out in Mr. Morse's district," and Muriel ran upstairs to her room.

Joe Morse came down to spend Sunday at the Fisk cottage in October and everything went beautifully. Just before Thanksgiving he received an invitation to spend the week-end with Muriel, and accepted with evident delight. He arrived Thursday noon in his new automobile and as the day was fine he persuaded Mr. Fisk to go for a ride with the rest of the family after dinner.

Muriel thoroughly enjoyed the three days. They walked and rode together. On Sunday evening the young folks were alone in the parlor. Mrs. Fisk was helping her invalid husband to bed.

"I like my new friend immensely," she said in a bantering tone. "I feel as if we had met for the first time. Really, you have conversational powers undreamed of."

"Do you think you can ever learn to care for me?" he asked earnestly.

A keen sense of disappointment held the girl silent for a time. "After promising to say nothing on the subject for a year," she thought. "He is the same irresponsible fellow after all."

"Mr. Morse," she finally said in a grave voice—she had called him Joe before—"I am very much disappointed in you. I had begun to think that after all you possessed force of character, but I must return to my old opinion that you just can't stop trying to make love all the time. You promised not to mention the subject for a year, and now you break your promise at the first opportunity."

He rose and went to the window and stood looking out at the dark fringe of the tree branches outlined against the sky. The clock ticked noisely on the mantle and the sap sang in the green log on the andirons. Finally he turned.

"I think I realize now that I can never make you care for me. I might better try forgetting you, Muriel."

"Probably you are right," said the girl quietly. They shook hands and said good night. Neither of them slept much. Both had been greatly disturbed by the occurrences of the evening.

Morse left early the following morning, leaving the breach as wide as it was the evening before. Neither he nor Muriel was in a mood to give in.

(Further developments in Joe's courtship of Muriel will be related in an early issue.)

SIMPLE HOME REMEDIES

For Sore Throat That Comes With a Cold—Dissolve one teaspoon table salt in two-thirds cup water; into this drop three drops turpentine. Gargle often as desired until relieved.

Cough Syrup—Slice two or three onions into a bowl, cover well with granulated sugar, then set in a warm place for a few minutes or until sugar is dissolved and a thick, clear syrup formed; give frequently. Especially good for small children, as it is perfectly harmless. Many cough syrups are dangerous to give to a little baby, but this may be given as often as required without any fear of bad results.

Cold on Lungs—Take two carrots and grate finely into one cup of clean, pure lard heated in iron skillet. Fry gently until carrots are slightly brown, but do not burn. Strain through fine sieve, then again through fine cheesecloth until all grease is pressed out. Into this golden grease beat one teaspoon aqua ammonia and one tablespoon of camphor, until of a creamy consistency. Pour into clean receptacle and when cold apply by rubbing well onto the chest. Cover chest with warm flannel. This has been used with great success.

Swollen Corn or Beginning Bunion—Cut small onion in half, take inner part and bind tightly around sore. When going to bed is preferred. It will cure in two or three days.

TO USE BAKING SODA

Do NOT mix your soda with a liquid and allow it to effervesce half its strength before getting it into the batter. Whatever you are mixing, baking powder, by sifting it with the flour. In this way only half the soda is needed, as you lose none of its strength. Half of a level teaspoon of soda to one cup of liquid is sufficient. The residuum left after effervescence is not wholesome and turns the cake yellow, therefore the less of it the better.

When making cookies, add soda when dough is about the consistency of cake batter, beating well, afterwards putting in remainder of flour with as little mixing as possible.

If these directions are followed, your cakes, cookies and biscuits will be as white as though made with baking powder and no one will know from the flavor that soda was used.

UP-TO-DATE RECIPES

Fried Cakes—One and one-half cups sugar (soft "A" or pulverized preferred), two-thirds cup sweet milk, three eggs, 1½ tablespoons melted lard, one teaspoon salt, three teaspoons baking powder, nutmeg to taste, flour to make soft dough. Mix sugar, lard, yolks of eggs, salt and nutmeg to a cream; add milk. Put baking powder in flour and sift several times. Have whites of eggs whipped to froth and beat in. When almost as stiff as it can be made with spoon, roll and cut one-half inch thick, cook in boiling lard and roll in pulverized sugar. When cooking run toothpick through each one to see when done.

Fresh Cocoanut Layer Cake—One and one-half cups sugar, one tablespoon butter, two eggs, one cup cocoanut milk, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder. Frosting: One-fourth cup milk, add confectionery sugar until it will spread nicely

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

BY ALICE CREW GALL

The Discontented Ant.

One day a tiny little ant, while working in the sun,
Sighed, "Oh, dear me! I'm tired of this; I want to have some fun.
I hate this stupid ant-hill in which I work all day;
It is not right that I should have so little time for play.

"I'm meant for better things, I know; I wish that I could be A lovely, idle Butterfly; that is the life for me."
A Fairy overheard this wish, and said, "I'll let you try."
She waved her wand, and, lo! the Ant became a Butterfly.

And as she spread her silken wings and [illegible],
She said, "I pity those poor Ants who have to work all day."
Before she'd gone so very far it happened that she met
A boy who carried in his hand a most peculiar net.

The Butterfly said, "Oh, dear me! what is he going to do?"
The boy said, "My collection will be just complete with you."
And as he spoke he waved his hand, and quicker than a thought,
Within the meshes of the net the Butterfly was caught.

She struggled hard to get away, but it was all in vain.
"Oh, dear!" she said, "I wish I were a little Ant again!"
And as she spoke she found herself a tiny Ant and thought
"I must have had a little nap, the sun's so very hot."

And as she hustled off to work, she said, "It's very true
That Butterflies are beautiful and haven't much to do.
But as for me, I'd rather be a homely Ant and crawl,
Than be a lovely Butterfly that's pinned upon the wall."

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE ON THE PANAMA EXPOSITION

The residents of Plainfield who are intending to visit the Panama Exposition in California, this year, will have a chance to learn in advance some of the leading features of what promises to be the finest of all the industrial and artistic events of the decade, when Robert G. Weth, Jr., gives his lecture at the High School, Thursday night. The lecture, which is one of the free entertainments which the Board of Education is offering the public this winter, will be given in the High School Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

It will be illustrated by many specially taken stereopticon views of the buildings and exhibits of the great Exposition, and will cover the most interesting features planned by the managers. Mr. Weth is a lecturer of note and, aside from its valuable educational features, the lecture is certain to be entertaining as well as instructive.

MOST folks when buying their life insurance are too cautious.

Their tendency is to buy as little as possible instead of all they can afford.

Almost every man who is carrying $1,000 insurance should have and can afford $2,000 or $3,000.

Your life insurance may have to take your place some day.

Don't value yourself cheaply.

can be pretty accurately gauged by the character and ability of the men behind it.

A study of the personnel of our Board of Directors, composed of successful local as well as New York business men, will convince you of the reliability and conservatism of the management.

As evidence of their conservatism, we point to the fact that this institution carries at all times a cash reserve considerably in excess of the percentage required by the Department of Banking. Furthermore, its assets are kept in such shape that its demand deposits can be liquidated in 24 hours.

Additional patronage is solicited, based on service and responsibility.

Amid the greatest excitement shoe selling circles have known for some time, this "Clear the Track" Sale is speeding along, smashing up winter stocks with the force of sensational price reductions.

Sensational in the better sense, however, because the shoes offered are as clean, new and desirable as the prices are deep cut.

This is certainly the time to buy Shoes. Three pair for the usual price of two, in many cases.

"Economy and Efficiency" Plan Criticised by N. B. Smalley.

AN ATTRACTIVE TITLE

Former Mayor Says That If Economy Is Desired Legislature Has But to Look Around the State House and a Few Departments.

In view of the fact that the Legislature is now considering measures under an "Economy and Efficiency" plan, former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, takes the opportunity to make some timely comments regarding such legislation. In an interview Mr. Smalley said:

"The Legislature, in both branches, is now devoting a great deal of time to the consideration of bills under the general name of 'Economy and Efficiency.'

"Some two or three years ago this agitation was started and a great deal of time was spent by a so-called economy and efficiency committee in hearing the testimony of the different departments of the State on the subject of their administration, and although the political complexion of this committee has changed, the work resulted in the formulation of certain bills looking to radical changes.

"The title had an attractive sound for political purposes; both parties made free use of it and are interested in the carrying out of some of the pledges made during the campaign.

"Hearings have been had by legislative committees on most of those bills, and enough information has been secured by the Legislature now in session to convince a number of the members of both houses that while the title of these bills is a good one, the bills in themselves will not accomplish the objects named in the title, either in economy or in efficiency, and such members are beginning to realize that they have been

"PEG O' MY HEART" RECITAL FOR HOLIDAY PROGRAM

The Public Recreation Committee announces an enjoyable program for Washington's Birthday evening at the Washington School. There will be a recital of the popular play, "Peg o' My Heart," and an unusual feature in the form of interpretive solo dancing introduced between the acts of the play.

The program is designed to please young and old, and every member of the family will be made welcome. "Peg o' My Heart" is a quaint and humorous story of the experiences of a little Irish girl who went to England to visit wealthy and titled relations. Peg and the little dog Michael meet with many strange experiences, which, when presented in the charming manner of the author, make a most absorbing drama.

The solo dancing will be of a free and joyous type. There will be the "Dryad Dance," which portrays a winged dryad stealing through the woods in search of a playmate; the "Shepherd Dance," which expresses the joy and freedom of life on the fields and hills, and is danced with great abandon of spirit, and the "Golden Butterfly," which is very light and dainty, as suggested by the name.

PROGRAM ALL-AMERICAN AND SUNG IN ENGLISH

The program that Percy Hemus, America's baritone, and Ethel Kinnaman, contralto, will present at the Park Club, tomorrow evening, under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, will be all American and sung in English. Percy Hemus is conceded by many to be the most versatile singer before the public.

The February issue of the Chicago "Musical Monitor," says: "Think of your favorite tragedian singing the softest notes of the greatest singer you have ever heard - and you will gain but a glimpse of the surprising art of the versatile actor-singer, Percy Hemus. Charles Gilbert Spross is right, 'America should be proud of him.'"

CAMP MIDDLEBROOK ENTERTAINED HERE

Arrangements Completed For a Colonial Tea on Washington's Birthday.

Mrs. William E. MacClymont and mother, Mrs. J. H. Vail, of Woodbine avenue, entertained the members of Camp Middlebrook Chapter, D. A. R., at their home yesterday afternoon, the gathering being a delightful one for the large number present. The chapter decided to give a colonial tea at the Middlebrook Country Club, on Washington's Birthday.

Miss Anna C. Todd, the regent, assisted by Mrs. C. R. Banks, regent of Continental Chapter, of this city, and Mrs. E. W. Vail, regent of Royal Blue Chapter, of New Brunswick, will receive at the tea and all the members will appear in colonial costumes.

The proceeds from the tea will be used for the scholarship fund in connection with the work among the Mountain Whites and for the support of the nurse in Bound Brook. Following the business session, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. C. R. Banks, who was a guest, gave a delightful talk. There were twenty-six members present. A social hour followed during which the hostesses served refreshments.

TO SELL TICKETS FOR P. H. S. DANCE

Alumni Association Affair On Washington's Birthday Will Be Open to Subscriptions.

At a meeting of the committee having in charge the reception and dance of the Plainfield High School Alumni Association, to be held next Monday evening, it was decided last night, to make it a subscription affair, with tickets at one dollar. All arrangements for the dance were completed last night, the order for caterer's services being placed and the musical program being discussed.

The decision to permit the purchase of tickets at one dollar each was made on account of the fact that the guest privilege of one to each association member will not encompass the large number of people who would like to attend. Therefore, instead of making the dance entirely an invitation affair, supported only by membership dues, it was thought best to put a definite price upon tickets.

Any graduate of the school who has not as yet received tickets may secure same, together with the privilege to invite a guest, upon application to any of the following. Howard H. Craig, Myrtle avenue; Benjamin Cooley, 517 Watchung avenue; Chauncey Murphey, 22 Watchung avenue; F. K. Anderson, 114 Richmond street, or the secretary of the association, Mrs. A. I. Codington, Osborn avenue.

The purchase of tickets by subscription may be made at Walsh's pharmacy, Watchung and North avenues, where tickets will be on sale until 8 p. m. Saturday.

PLEASING ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN BY MISS GIGLIO

Miss Josephine M. Giglio, formerly of Plainfield, but now of New York, being a pupil of Mrs. Minnie Marshall-Smith, who is so well-known here, was a feature of the musical and literaary program given in the Scotch Plains Baptist church last night. She gave a number of recitations in a manner that pleased the large audience. She is exceptionally clever as an elocutionist and her work won much praise.

Miss Giglio recited "The Singing Leaves," "Tit for Tat," "Side Lights on Carving," "In the Department Store" and "The Delusion of the Ghost." Clifford A. Braider, of this city, accompanied Miss Giglio at the piano.

PYTHIANS' GRAND LODGE

The New Jersey Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias will hold the annual grand lodge session at Trenton today and tomorrow. The delegates from this city will be Monroe Staats and John Bicknell from Perseverance Lodge, and Charles Nichols and Jeremiah Van Winkle from Unity Lodge.

DR. W. J. MURRAY TO SPEAK.

Dr. W. John Murray, of the Church of the Healing Christ, New York, will give a lecture at the Waldorf, 134 Crescent avenue, Thursday night, February 18, at 8:15. His subject will be "The Message of the Truth." All persons interested are invited to attend, and a voluntary contribution will be received.

SOCIAL VISIT OF ELIZABETH T.A.B.'S

Delegation of Two Hundred Members Royally Entertained Here.

BOWLING A FEATURE

Informal Program of Music and Dancing Enjoyed—Bountiful Collation Served By the Local Society.

St. Mary's T. A. B. Hall, on West Fourth street, held one of the largest crowds in its history, last night, when the local T. A. B.'s entertained a big delegation from the Elizabeth society. The affair was given in return for one which the Plainfielders enjoyed at the county seat about three weeks ago. The Elizabethans came in two special trolley cars two hundred strong, and were headed by the Nonpariel Fife and Drum Corps, which discoursed martial airs as the big column marched in. Both societies combined the gathering with a "Ladies' Night" and the fair sex was much in evidence.

John J. Hines, chairman of the entertainment committee, welcomed the visitors and practically presented them with the keys to the city. He announced that the purpose of the Plainfield T. A. B.'s was to give them a good time and if anybody failed to get it, no blame could be attached to either he or his associates. The county seaters took him at his word and informal sociability was supreme all evening. Dancing was a feature, excellent music being provided by Manchester's orchestra.

During intermissions an entertainment program was given to which the principal contributors were Miss Anna Shannon and Frank Turley, of Elizabeth, and Patrick Powers and John Norris, of this city, who rendered solos. Michael Conway, of Elizabeth, also delighted everybody with an exhibition of step dancing. A bountiful collation was served at midnight and the return trip to Betsytown was commenced at 1 o'clock. While the majority of the merrymakers were enjoying themselves at T. A. B. Hall, two bowling teams representing the entertainers and the entertained, competed on the Eagles' alleys on East Second street. The Plainfielders los two out of three games, but had the satisfaction of making a better showing than they did at Elizabeth as the scores were close in every instance. They will be found in full on the sporting page of this issue.

It was estimated that the attendance at the hall totaled about 500, but none of those present were more pleased than Father B. N. Bogan, who dropped in for a short time during the evening. He was unable to stay, but congratulated the members of the committee on the success of their undertaking and expressed great satisfaction that the two visits that have already been held are to be the forerunners of many more. Plainfield is shortly to go to Elizabeth again, although no date has been set as yet.

Mr. Hines was assisted in making arrangements and caring for the big delegation by a committee composed of Joseph Roche, Joseph McCue, John Force, Frank Donnelly and William Mahoney.

PARTS ASSIGNED FOR N. P. H. S. ATHLETIC ASS'N PLAY

The members of the cast for "Teddy," which is to be presented by the Boys' Athletic Association of North Plainfield High School about the 1st of April, have been chosen, with the exception of one part.

The play is a comedy in three acts and is one that is sure to please its audience.

Those who will play the parts are: Gladys Sullivan as "Texana," the girl of the Golden West; Helen Schmitt as "Jen MacClean," or "Little Miss Fixit;" Anne Hull as "Victoria," the girl in the taxi; DuClos Van Mater as "Max Juniper," the perplexed husband; Elmer French as "Ted Keegan," the fortune-hunter; Ralph Smalley as "Sheriff Jim Larrabee." The part of Mrs. Juniper, a young wife, is still open, and tryouts will be held for this part immediately. Day and Townley will probably take minor parts as two deputy sheriffs.

COUNTY DEMOCRATS HOLD RALLY HERE

First of Series of County Meetings Proves Great Success.

The recently adopted plan of the Union County Democratic Committee to hold the business session in other parts of the county besides Elizabeth, was started off in this city last night, when the first gathering under the new idea took place in Democratic headquarters at Park and North avenues. Chairman Lucius T. Russell presided, and the wisdom of the innovation was plainly evident, as the attendance was over 100, all parts of the district being represented. Great enthusiasm was displayed, and if the succeeding meetings are as successful, Jeffersonian principles will advance many pegs.

One of the paramount reasons for holding the meetings outside of the county seat is to give party members a chance to exchange ideas. Chairman Russell called at random for speeches, and the ready response made by those named showed that there is lots of oratorical material among the committee members. Several of the speakers reeled off addresses that would have done credit to seasoned spell-binders, and memorandum was made of their names for future reference in campaign days. The spirit of most of the speeches was one of confidence in the future, pride in the President, and a hearty endorsement of President Wilson's policies, praising his accomplishments and defying his critics. Refreshments and cigars were distributed by a committee supervised by James Prindell. The place and date for the next meeting was not decided upon last night, but it will probably be at either Westfield or Rahway.

THREE BOYS MASTER 21 SCOUT SUBJECTS

Examinations For Merit Badges Held In Local Headquarters.

The Court of Honor of the Plainfield Boy Scout Council met, last night, in scout headquarters, the First Presbyterian chapel, and examined three of the nine applicants for merit badge promotion. Caryl C. Dunavan and Clifton Wiggins, of Troop 9; Dr. Raymond S. Stevens, scoutmaster, and Edwin Addis, of Troop 10; W. R. Kriney, scoutmaster, passed in twenty-one subjects, including art, first aid, machinery, first aid to animals, electricity, public and personal health, camp sanitation, surveying, handicraft, signalling, painting, firemanship, cycling, pioneering, cooking, business and carpentry. Examiners were Frederick Martin, J. W. Aughiltree and the commissioners.

The court has 29 examinations pending. These examinations will take precedence at the next meeting, which will be Tuesday evening, March 2. The council meets at the Y. M. C. A. parlors Monday evening, March 8. Examiners will be F. M. Genung, J. W. Aughiltree, H. W. Satterfield, C. L. Bond and the commissioners.

Edwin Glaentzer, boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has taken the scoutmastership of Troop 8, of Crescent Avenue church. A rally meeting of the members of this troop will be held in the church parlors tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

R. D. Rice, of 947 West Seventh street, is organizing Troop 15 in the Congregational church. This is the tenth troop of scouts to be organized in this city. The maximum troop membership is 32 boys.

ELKS' MINSTREL REHEARSAL.

The 1915 minstrel troupe of Plainfield Lodge of Elks will hold its first rehearsal in the clubhouse tonight, following the regular weekly business session. Harry Wetton, of Roselle, who has coached the local boys on several previous occasions, has been engaged as musical director, ad will start things going at once. William Mulvey is chairman of the minstrel committee, and V. W. Nash, Jr., is secretary. The latter has sent out unique notices to all the members, in the form of a legal subpoena commanding them to appear before the director, bringing their voices with them.

FOOLISH BET MAY RESULT FATALLY

Marion Taliaboschi Poisoned By Eating Wild Parsnip Roots.

REMOVED TO HOSPITAL

Young Man, Who Is Employed at Woodbrook Farms, Eat Vegetation As a Joke—Physicians Say Chances of Recovery Are Slight.

Marion Taliaboschi, a twenty-two-year-old young man, whose home is in Metuchen, is lying in Muhlenberg Hospital between life and death as the result of a foolish bet which he made this morning on the Woodbrook Farm, on lower Park avenue, where he is employed.

In company with Fred Peters, the farm foreman, and several other men, Taliaboschi was doing some ditching, when they turned up a quantity of wild parsnip roots. One of the men remarked that they were dangerously poisonous, whereat Tariaboschi laughed and offered to bet any sum of money there was no truth in the statement. He found no takers, but in order to prove that he really believed what he said, he ate several pieces of the vegetation. Almost immediately afterward he was taken with severe pains in the stomach, and ran to a nearby brook to get a drink of water. The other men paid no attention to him, and Foreman Peters turned around just in time to see Taliaboschi tumble headlong over the bank into the stream. The fact that he was quickly pulled out is all that saved him from drowning, as he was totally unconscious when placed on dry ground.

Dr. Hofer, of Metuchen, was summoned by John Wendell, of Arlington avenue, who is manager of the Woodbrook Farm, and when the physician arrived, he declared Taliaboschi to be in a serious condition. Mr. Wendell had previously administered home emetics, but he had failed to respond to the treatment. Former Councilman William S. Tyler, now the acting head of the Woodbrook Farms, happened to be nearby with his automobile, and the unconscious form was placed in it to be taken to the Muhlenberg Hospital. The institution was reached shortly before 1 o'clock, but at 3 o'clock this afternoon Taliaboschi was still unconscious, and the chances for his recovery are not yet known.

Taliaboschi has been employed at the Woodbrook Farm for the past year and a half, and had been considered an especially careful and trustworthy man. His family lives at Metuchen, and several of his relatives were called to his bedside in the belief that the poisoning he had received might prove fatal.

MRS. H. C. DURAR DIES AFTER TEN DAYS' ILLNESS

After an illness lasting for only ten days, Mrs. Madeline Woodward Durar, wife of Harold C. Durar, of 556 Ravine road, died at her home at 4 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Durar was a native of Philadelphia, but had resided in this city for the past eighteen years. She was a member of All Souls' Unitarian church and a faithful attendant until failing health prevented.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Durar is survived by three sons and a daughter, Miss Madeline Durar, George H. and Huston Durar, of this city, and William Durar, of Ithaca, N. Y. She also leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woodward, of Philadelphia, and three sisters, living in other places. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.

WILLIAM ARMSTRONG.

William Armstrong, aged 27 years, died at Bonne Burn early this morning, following an illness of two years. He had resided in this city practically all his life and was employed for a time as conductor on the local street railway system, also on the Main Line of the P. S. R. He is survived by a wife and one child, and a sister, Mrs. George Townley, of Netherwood avenue. The funeral and burial will be private.

TABLEAUX VIANTS.

The Woman's Association, of the Congregational church, has arranged to give an exhibition in "Tableaux Viants," the cradle songs of many nations. A great many of the nations to be presented are now engaged in war abroad. This unique entertainment will be given the afternoon and evening of March 5, in the Congregational church parish house and the proceeds will be used for the expenses of the association.

ALLEGED WIRE THIEF CAUGHT IN A CELLAR

Put to Flight in the Borough and Later Rounded Up By Sergeant Higgins.

Discovered in the act of cutting copper wire belonging to the Public Service on Mountain avenue, this morning, an Italian was put to flight by George Andrews, James Ellis and Walter Wolp, employes of the concern. He was chased for some distance, but successfully eluded his pursuers, who notified the police. Detective Sergeant Higgins was detailed to the case and located the man hiding in the cellar of a house at East Second and Berckman streets.

He was taken into custody, but has refused to give his name or address to the police. Inasmuch as the offense was committed in the borough the local authorities have no jurisdiction and he will be turned over to Chief Weiss this afternoon.

The Public Service has been troubled considerably of late by foreigners who have been making a practice of stealing wire for the purpose of disposing of it to junkmen. It is proposed to press the charge against this individual.

CHANGES PROPOSED IN THE SCHOOL LAW

Suggested that the Teachers' Retirement Fund Be Abandoned.

Trenton, Feb. 17—The Federation of School Boards of New Jersey, which is an organization made up of representatives of the dierent school districts, proposes that the Teachers' Retirement Fund shall be abandoned; also that the teachers' tenure of service act be repealed. The federation's bills have not been introduced, but Senator Mathis, of Ocean county, has a repealer for the tenure of service act and another for the teachers' pension act.

Miss Elizabeth A. Allen, of Hoboken, is responsible for the retirement fund law. For years she persisted, bringing down delegations by the trainload, until finally the Legislature gave way. That was in 1896, and the same persistence has been exercised ever since until the teachers have what may be regarded as a very liberal law.

ROY LOVE ENTERTAINS PHI PI PSI FRATERNITY

Roy L. Love, son og Mr. and Mrs. James L. Love, of Duer street, entertained the members of the Phi Pi Psi, a borough greek letter fraternity, at his home last night. It was the monthly meeting of the society and Duclos VanMater, president, presided. The general routine business was transacted and matters of importance discussed.

After the business meeting a social time was held and the monthly "feed" served by the hosts' mother. Those who were present were Henry Newton Spencer, Duclos VanMater, Roy Love, Ralph Smalley, Frank Dunning, Franklin Lowe and Charles Beckman.

FIGHTERS ARE SENTENCED.

Nichols Gurky, Frank T. Y. Bursky, Jacob Guit and Alexander Bolesky, all living in the rear of 215 West Front street, were arrested last night charged with fighting in Exchange alley, and when arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, they were given the option of liquidating a $3 fine or going to the county jail for ten days. According to the defendants the argument had been brewing since a "keg was tapped" earlier in the evening and came to a head when the amber fluid began to dull the celebrants senses.

ONE BOTTLE DID THIS.

An argument over a bottle of beer landed Joseph Conklin and Frank Nordolle, of 655 South Second street, in the police toils, last night, and when arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, the men were given the option of paying fines of $3 or sojourning for ten days in "Charlie Dodd's headquarters" at Elizabeth.

STORE WAS ENTERED.

The butcher and grocery store of Sylvester Sharkey, located on Richmond street, was broken into by thieves, last night. A quantity of cigars and cigarettes and a small amount of cash were stolen. Entrance was gained through a rear door.

ALLIES' ATTACK BITTER

German Statement Says That Both English and French Troops Waged Hot Fight—Russians Resume Offensive in Bukowina.

Berlin, Feb. 17 (by wireless)—Fifty thousand prisoners and many canon and machine guns were taken by the Germans when the Russian Tenth Army Corps was defeated in the Mazurian Lake district, in East Prussia, according to a statement issued by the general staff today.

The following statement was also given out at German headquarters today:

"Obviously induced to take the offensive because of our great successes in the east, the English and French troops, yesterday and also last night, commenced especially stubborn attacks in the western theatre. In their unsuccessful attempts to recapture the positions which they lost Sunday, the English lost four officers and 170 men whom we took prisoners. Northeast of Rheims attacks by the enemy were repulsed. We took two French officers and 179 men.

"There is no news from the Alsace-Lorraine front.

"In the east north of the Menel our troops have followed the enemy who had been defeated everywhere in the direction of Taurggen. There is no news from the Vistula."

The defeated Russian army in Bukowtna, reinforced by reserves, is making headway against the Austrian forces in the neighborhood of Czernowitz, capital of the crownland, according to a despatch to the Berlin PageBlatt from the front.

Paris, Feb. 17—German submarine torpedoed the British steamer collier Dulwich, bound from Hull to Rauen, 20 miles northwest of Cape de La Heve, at 6 o'clock last night, sending the collier to the bottom of the sea. 22 members of the crew of 31 men were picked up by the French destroyer Areubuse and brought to Havre. Seven others rowed to Fecamp. The fate of the other two is unknown.

Rome, Feb. 17—Four Austrian cruisers bombarded Antiwari on Sunday, doing serious damage to the forts there, says an official communication received by the Italian government from Scutari.

The Austrian and German ambassadors in Constantinople have urged the Grand Vizier of the Sultan to give satisfaction to Greece and to avoid a conflict at all costs, according to a despatch to the Messagero, from Vienna. To this the porte has agreed.

London, Feb. 17—Lloyds is issuing policies that the war will not end before June 30 at a premius of 25 per cent. That it will not end before September, the rate is 50 per cent; and the rate on policies guaranteeing against loss by the end of the war before December 31, cost 75 per cent.

MISSING NEW MARKET MAN COMMUNICATES WITH WIFE

A letter received by Mrs. Herbert L. Pierce, of New Market, from her husband, who has been missing for several days, today allayed the fear entertained for the safety of the man. The communication did not disclose the present whereabouts of Mr. Pierce or his reason for remaining away.

Mr. Pierce, who is president of the Dunellen Roller Mills Company, and is the proprietor of a butcher and grocer store in that place, left home under mysterious circumstances, and his absence caused considerable alarm among relatives.

GAVE BENEFIT SOCIAL.

Mrs. W. J. Hutcheroft, of Clinton avenue, gave a social at her home last night for the benefit of the Women's Guild of the Church of the Heavenly Rest. There was a large attendance, and the hours were passed in playing "500," listening to an informal musical program and dancing. Light refreshments were served in conclusion. Mrs. Hutchcroft was assisted by Mrs. Alice Skinner, of Dunellen, in entertaining.

TEACHERS HOLD RECEPTION.

The teachers of the Plainfield High School gave an informal tea to the teachers of the grammar school in the library of the High School yesterday afternoon. This was in the form of an "Acquaintance Party." Miss S. Lena Bass was in charge.

QUITS AS PRESIDENT OF HEALTH BOARD

Edward Pennock Resigns After Long Service in Dunellen.

Edward Pennock, the North avenue pharmacist, who for the past four years has been president of the Board of Health, submitted his resignation by letter at an adjourned meeting of the Mayor and Council, last evening. The only reason that Mr. Pennock gave for his action was his length of service which he thought privileged him to ask to be relieved. Speaking of Mr. Pennock, Mayor Latham said that he had always done the best he could while president of the Board of Health and while some had found fault with the work done by the Board during his term the fault finding was unmerited, the Mayor stating that he had been in close contact with the Board and knew that they had always handled all matters with alacrity and to the best of their ability.

A communication was received reminding the Council that the terms of Dr. T. H. Platt and Dr. Hogan expire on March 16.

G. Sumner Smith, of Grove street, complained of the sidewalks in front of the old J. R. Campbell property at Grove street and Prospect avenue not having been cleaned off following the recent snow storm, and asking that the snow ordinances be enforced hereafter. Mayor Latham explained that this had not been done because the snow had packed so hard that it could hardly have been removed with a pick and it had remained in that condition until the rain which came three or four days after the fall of snow. Chairman Ryan, of the laws and ordinance committee, said that it was not fair to have some of the citizens clean their walks while others pay no attention to theirs and it was therefore the intention of the Council under normal conditions to rigidly enforce the ordinance which provides that snow must be removed from all walks within 24 hours after the fall at the penalty of having the borough do the work and assessing the cost against the property.

A reply was received to Clerk Deering's communication to Assemblyman Quinn, asking that the various bills as passed by the Legislature be mailed to him for the use of the borough, in which the assemblyman said that he regretted that he was unable to comply with this request owing to a passage of a joint resolution by the Legislature which calls for the receipt of a remittance of $10 to cover mailing expenses. The Mayor remarked that he was glad to know that the State governing body had commenced to economize. It was the general opinion that the privilege of receiving these bills would not be worth $10 to the borough and the communication of Mr. Quinn's was placed on file.

The Council receded from its action of last meeting in regards to having the ditch north of Walnut street between New Market road and Washington avenue cleaned out, the Mayor stating in this connection that he had since gone over the ground and things now appeared in a different light. The ditch is of no advantage to the borough, the Mayor said, and any dispute over the matter by interested property-holders should be settled between themselves.

M. F. Gano, president of the S. I. R. Realty Company, of Plainfield, was present in regard to having some improvements made about the extensive tract owned by his company in the southwesterly portion of the borough. If these improvements are made, Mr. Gano said, his company would erect in the neighborhood of ten or twenty houses this year, to the advancement of tax receipts of the borough. His petitions for the improvements will be attended to. Bills aggregating $71.29 were ordered paid.

EXHIBITION OF PHOTOGRAPHS AND STEEL ENGRAVINGS

The exhibition of pictures to be held in the Lincoln School on the afternoons and evenings of February 24 to 27, for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of pictures for the walls of the Lincoln School, is being looked forward to with much anticipation by the citizens.

The exhibition of pictures is one of more than ordinary interest. It consists of carbon photographs and engravings, loaned by the Elson Art Publishing Company, Inc., of Belmont, Mass. The collection is a large one and contains only the very best reproductions of the masterpieces of art of different countries and periods. Nearly every gallery and country in the world would have to be visited to see the original pictures which are here brought together in one collection.

The collection comprises two hundred subjects representing the principal schools of art and including many reproductions of sculpture, architecture and important views from nature. Few collections have ever been brought together which so completely cover the history of art of all times as this.

No community, it is urged, should be indifferent to the culture and refinement of its people. It is part of the school work to inculcate these qualities in children through whatever means it has at its disposition. The wholesome and refining influence of pictures of the right sort on the school walls is now generally recognized as one of the most valuable means of securing this end. The funds for purchasing such pictures, as well as an opportunity to make a selection from a very large number, is secured by means of the exhibition. The larger the attendance the greater the number of pictures that can be secured for the schools.

It is hoped that many will visit the exhibition The price of admission to the exhibition will be normal. The exhibition will be open in the afternoons of the above dates between the hours of 3 to 5 and in the evenings from 8 to 10.

The new henneries of C. L. Wahl, Sr., of Washington avenue, have been completed and Mr. Wahl expects a shipment of a large flock of White Leghorns today, purchased from a poultryman located at Stirling, who has the reputation of raising high-class stock.

TENNIS CLUB DANCE.

The annual dance of the Crescent Tennis Club held in the local theatre, Monday evening, was a splendid success. Fifty couples, mostly from Plainfield and this place, were in attendance at the dance and an elaborately arranged program was enjoyed by all. The theatre was artistically decorated for the occasion with pink crepe paper and the pennants of the club. The affair was formal. The gentlemen in full dress coupled with their lady partners in beautiful evening costumes as they glided and tangoed over the floor to well-timed music by Squires' and Paroubek's orchestra created a very pretty scene and a charming atmosphere. Refreshments consisting of punch and cake were served during the evening from a prettily decorated stand in charge of Miss Elmira Ratti. Emanuel Appert and Ralph Eckert, the committee in charge, deserve credit for the splendid success which the club achieved.

SUMMER DANCE.

Invitations are out for a new and old-fashioned summer dance that Mrs. Ford Eckerson has arranged to be held in the local theatre on Washington's Birthday night. The invitations are inscribed on an elaborate program of the dances to be held. The special features of the program are the requests that the ladies wear summer dresses and the gentlemen soft shirts with coats omitted. In addition each lady is requested to bring a gentleman's fancy colored necktie wrapped in paper and wear a wrap of the same material.

BICYCLE STOLEN.

Leslie Apps, a clerk in the grocery store of D. T. Heaume & Son, had a bicycle stolen Friday afternoon. The wheel when it was taken was standing near the Washington avenue entrance to Heaume's store. It was practically a new wheel and cost Mr. Apps $30. It was a Royal roadster with a green finish and yellow stripes. The case has been placed in the hands of the local police.

Mrs. C. Wesley Blaine, who has been indisposed, is feeling considerably better.

The monthly meeting of the board of trustees of the Free Public Library will be held in the library rooms on Friday.

Mrs. Hattie Apgar, of New Market road, who has been suffering with a nervous attack, is considerably better.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Dusel, of Walnut street, entertained Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Field and son, Stanley, at a farewell dinner last evening.

EMPLOYE TRANSFERRED.

Charles Wyhuskey, a former resident of the borough, has been transferred from the iron gang of the Central Railroad under Joseph Hill, to the pumping station of the road at Whitehouse, and Arthur Vail, of Front street, who has been idle for some time, owing to slack times, will be placed back in service, taking the position which Mr. Wyhuskey vacates.

Mrs. Paul Ratti, of North avenue, was at Eatontown, yesterday, attending the christening of a baby of Antona Ratti, a brother-in-law.

Mrs. Margaret Touzeau, of Front street, is suffering from a severe cold.

Editor George W. Day, of the Weekly Call, who has been somewhat indisposed since Friday, is improved.

Miss Louise Trust, who has been spending the winter with her mother at one of Newark's prominent hotels, is ill with scarlet fever.

Otto Rice, of Fairview avenue, has resigned his position with Frank Broshart, the plumber. It is said that Mr. Rice contemplates starting in the plumbing business on his own account.

Edward Parker, son of Mrs. Lydia Parker, of Second street, has been confined to his bed since Monday, when he was taken suddenly ill. The nature of his ailment is not known.

Mrs. William Huff, of North avenue, who has been ill for the past few days, was able to sit up yesterday for the first.

Weimer Snyder, Jr., son of Marshal and Mrs. Weimer Snyder, has the measles.

Constable and Mrs. C. Wesley Blaine entertained their son, Alderman Henry Blaine, of New Brunswick, on Sunday.

Elna Apgar, the five months' old baby of Mr. and Mrs. George I. Apgar, Jr., is ill with bronchitis.

Mrs. George W. Churchill, of Washington avenue, who has been ill for the past week, continues to be quite ill.

John P. Faber, of Washington avenue, who has been ill for the past four or five days, is much better.

Borough Engineer L. T. Churchill spent yesterday in Garwood.

FALSE REPORT.

A report to the effect that John W. Moynihan, one of the pioneer residents of the borough, had dropped dead at his home on North avenue yesterday morning, spread rapidly through the borough. This report was happily, untrue. The false report came as a result of Mr. Moynihan's wife suffering a stroke. She was assisted to a couch and a physician was summoned. Mrs. Moynihan was reported as resting quietly last evening.

The monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at Miss Lizzie Dunham's home on Walnut street, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. A. F. Samson, of New Market road, spent yesterday in New York.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED.

At the annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C.B. Mattis, on Washington avenue, the following were re-elected as officers for the coming year: Mrs. C. B. Mattis, president; Mrs. Harry Swackhamer, vice-president; Mrs. Arthur S. Gaston, secretary; Mrs. Maurice L. Rarick, treasurer, and Miss Lizzie Dunham, secretary of literature.

GENERAL SUMMARY OF TOWNSHIP REPORT

Resume of What Has Been Done During the Past Year.

An interesting resume of the work of the North Plainfield Township Committee for the past year has just been made public through the chairman, W. de La R. Anderson. It is stated that owing to unsettled conditions the Committee has decided not to plan any extension of service or improvement for the coming year. The report follows:

"The township business for the year 1914 has been successfully closed. The prediction made in the report of the preceding year that the citizens would begin to enjoy the benefits of the work brought to successful termination in that year has been borne out to a large extent in the very material reduction of over thirty points in the tax rate. This has been accomplished without sacrificing any good business principle, and the reduction was only made when the township had reached a condition of financial soundness and strength, both in its school and general departments, which made the borrowing of money in anticipation of taxes practically unnecessary, the only money practically borrowed being to an amount of only a little more than that outstanding and owing to the township by delinquent taxpayers, a position, so far as can be learned, not enjoyed by any other community in the State. The township has no bonded debt.

"The efficiency of the various departments has been of a high standard during this past year and extension of improvement, both physical and in method, has ruled.

"Your Committee has successfully obtained the proper taxation of certain property heretofore unassessed, by an appeal from the local and county authorities where their contention for assessment was sustained. The taxes on this property, both for 1913 and 1914, have since been paid.

"This and other various matters have been accomplished without payment of attorneys' fees as your Committee has acted itself as attorney for the township.

"It will be noted that the township is spending a generous amount for the care of its poor, within a few hundred dollars of the amount appropriated by the Borough of North Plainfield.

"The fire department has, during the year, secured without public aid, by private subscription, an up-to-date automobile chemical apparatus which is now at the service of the township.

"The police department has been operated economically and efficiently. In conjunction with the recorder's court and counting the fines imposed and due, the cost has been under one hundred dollars to the township.

"The Board of Health has found little to be done as the health of the community remains at its proverbial high standard.

"Any suggestion for the betterment of conditions or improvement of system will be welcomed by your Committee as an intelligent constructive criticism by the citizens of the township is a necessary aid to public officials in successfully handling public affairs.

"Owing to the unsettled and depressed conditions which exist at the present time, with the very slight hope for betterment in the near future, the policy of those who handle the affairs of the township will be to maintain efficiently and economically the departments of the township for this coming year, and forego for the present any extension of service or improvement which would tend to place a burden of increased taxation upon the community during this trying period."

It is said that Plainfield has the largest number of fraternal orders of any city its size in the State. Fraternally speaking, are the members living up to their obligations in contributing toward making local lodges the most successful in the State? Get busy in this direction.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The Rev. J. Madison Hare will conduct the prayer meeting in the Baptist church tonight.

The postponed meeting of the executive board of the Fanwood Township Sunday School Association will be held in the lecture room of the Baptist church on Saturday night. Among matters to be brought up will be that of holding a religious canvass in the township and borough.

The musical arranged for last night by a committee connected with the Baptist church was given in that edifice before a large and appreciative audience. The numbers rendered by the Polcanis Trio, were exceptionally well received, and the others who contributed to the entertainment were repeatedly encored. C. A. Braider, of Plainfield, was accompanist. A considerable sum was realized by the Sunshine Weavers at the candy sale conducted during the musical.

A routine meeting of the Fanwood Fire Co. was held in the company's firehouse last night. The committee appointed to arrange a celebration for next fall, in observance of the twentieth anniversary, reported progress, and a communication was received from S. G. Van Hoesen asking that he be placed on the list of active exempt firemen. Mr. Van Hoesen has been a member of the company for the past twelve years, and until last month, when he resigned the office, was secretary.

The Rev. Oscar Stuart Michaels, pastor of All Saints' Episcopal church, will conduct services at the Bonnie Burn Sanitorium this evening in observance of Ash Wednesday. The motor bus which makes the regular trips will leave the trolley corner at Park avenue and make the return trip for those wishing to attend the service.

The Ladies' Aid Society of All Saints' Episcopal church is holding its weekly meeting this afternoon on North avenue, at the home of Mrs. Harry P. Robinson.

The road committee of the Borough Council was forced into action yesterday for the first time this year, when steps were taken to repair North avenue, where it effects a junction with Martine avenue. At the first sign of wet weather it becomes a regular mudhole, and the water from Martine avenue only helps it along. A foundation of heavy crushed stone is being laid, and a surface of fine stone will be used.

It is the hope of the Westfield authorities that they may be able to get an act through the State Legislature during the present session which will enable that town to annex twenty-eight acres of ground in Fanwood township, to be used as part of their new disposal plant.

The Boy Scout meeting scheduled for last evening was postponed until Thursday evening, owing to the musical held in the Baptist church.

Bound Brook.

The first annual banquet of the Somerset County Past Councilors' Association, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be held in the Bound Brook Methodist church Friday night. The speakers of the evening will be former Governor E. C. Stokes and Senator William W. Smalley.

Paul Daniel and family, of Dunellen, moved into the Voorhees house at Beechwood Heights, on Monday.

PUBLIC SERVICE A "CLOSE SECOND"

Given Honorable Mention In Contests Among Street Railway Companies.

In a contest among the street railway companies of the country, conducted under the auspices of the American Museum of Safety, an "honorable mention" award has just been made to the Public Service Railway Company for its efforts to conserve the lives and safeguard the safety of its passengers and employes. What is known as the Anthony N. Brady medal was offered last year for the first time by the American Museum of Safety for the American railway that would show the greatest advance in "safety first" endeavors. The Public Service, which had inaugurated a systematic work for the safeguarding of passengers and employes several years ago, determined to enter the contest, which was limited to the advances made during the year ending June 30 last. Work accomplished or steps taken prior to June, 1913, did not count in the award.

The conditions of the contest included the submission of data covering all casualties to passengers, employes and others on the cars or property of the company; accidents of all kinds arising out of the operation of street railways; reports of the various measures taken during the year to conserve safety and health; the observance of high standards with regard to the inspection, maintenance and improvement of rolling stock and other equipment, and measures taken to alleviate the effect of accidents, including the instruction and training of employes.

A large number of companies competed for the prize. A committee of five was appointed to make the award, and these men gave the award to the Boston Elevated Railway System, and in announcing their decision said that the Public Service Railway "was a close second," and accorded it honorable mention.

CELEBRATE TWENTY-FOURTH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Bender, of 712 West Third street, celebrated the twenty-fourth anniversary of their wedding at their home on Monday night, entertaining a large number of guests, including their daughter, Mrs. A. R. Schutinsky, of Brooklyn. The couple was married in Moscow, coming to this country soon afterward. They have lived in this city for several years.

The couple have four children, Mrs. Schutinsky, of Brooklyn; Miss Lena Bender, Abram and Louis Bender, of this city. The celebrants received a number of gifts in honor of the occasion.

HOLY CROSS CHURCH CHOIR GIVEN A DINNER

The vested choir of Holy Cross church, together with a number of invited guests, was given a dinner in the parish house, last night. The affair was arranged by the music committee of which Herbert Langford is the chairman, and it was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. The Women's Guild prepared and served the dinner, being assisted by the Altar Chapter. There were about forty guests.

After the dinner there were short addresses by Rev. C. H. Kues, the rector, George O. Stevens, Herbert Langford and several others. There was also an informal progrm of entertainment, including vocal and instrumental numbers.

RECREATION NOTES

The public speaking class, under the direction of Prof. Biddle, will meet at the Stillman School tonight. New members are welcome.

The High School "gym" and swimming pool will be open to the women tonight.

The regular Wednesday evening dance will be held at the Franklin School tonight.

WALTER MILLER.

Walter Miller, a farmer, whose home was at Stony Hill, died in Muhlenberg Hospital, this morning, following a short illness. He was fifty years old and so far as known leaves no local relatives. The body was taken to the undertaking parlors of J. J. and C. A. Higgins, on West Fourth street, where the funeral was held this afternoon. Burial was made in the cemetery at Samptown.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Schnieper, of Dunellen.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY OBSERVES ITS ANNIVERSARY

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the Grace M. E. church, held its anniversary services in the church, last night, and Mrs. Joseph Darby, president of the society, presided. Mrs. George Nelson, secretary, read an interesting review of the history of the society since its organization. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First Methodist church, was the speaker of the evening and gave a very interesting talk.

The Epworth and Junior Leagues will observe their anniversary tonight, and J. R. Harden, president of the society, will have charge. Dr. Edward L. Earp, formerly a pastor of the church, but now professor of sociology in Drew Theological Seminary at Madison, will speak. After the service a social time will be held at which time an informal reception will be held for Dr. and Mrs. Earp.

PERSONAL.

Miss Esther Biddelman, of Montreal, Can., has been visiting in this city and is now the guest of Miss Rose Davies, of Westfield.

Leonce Texier, who is connected with Proctor's Theatre, is detained at his home in the New Madison apartments, by illness.

Wilbur J. Young, of Jersey City Heights, has returned after spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Loomis, of John street.

Mrs. A. J. Stiglitz, of Allen place, is visiting her sister, who is very ill at her home in Brooklyn.

Mrs. William Bergman and children, of Pasaic, have returned home after visiting her parents, Captain and Mrs. William C. Smith, of Grandview avenue.

Frank J. Shattle, of Washington street, left Monday for a combined business and pleasure trip to Cleveland, O. He will stop at Washington, D. C., and several other places of interest before returning.

George Hook, of South Second street, who has been in the cavalry service of the United States Army, completed his enlistment at Columbia, N. M., last week and has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Colsworthy, of East Front street, are the parents of a daughter, born to them a few days ago.

Mrs. William N. Runyon, of East Ninth street, who has been quite ill for the past week, has practically recovered and will be about again in a few days.

MRS. ADELBERG ENTERTAINS.

A most enjoyable afternoon was spent yesterday at the home of Mrs. Hyman Adelberg, of East Second street, when Mrs. Adelberg entertained a few of her friend at a whist party. A most dainty feast was served in which Mrs. Adelberg was assisted by her daughter in serving. Those present were the Misses Lillian Berger, Mirian Sachar, Bessie Adelberg, and Mrs. B. Kline, Mrs. S. Schwartz, Mrs. L. Levine, Mrs. J. Fass, Mrs. V. Drellich, Mrs. J. Schwartz, Mrs. Adelberg and Mrs. Hirsch.

EVANGELISTIC SERMONS.

A series of special evangelistic sermons has been arranged for the Sunday evening services at Hope chapel during the next six weeks, continuing throughout the entire Lenten season. Rev. Frederic L. Greene, the pastor, will deliver the sermons, and it is expected that Holy Week will be observed with services each evening during that time. Ten minute prayer meetings, following the Sunday evening services during Lent, have also been arranged.

WILL ATTEND UNION SESSION.

Old Glory Council, No. 62, D. of L., has arranged to go to Rahway tomorrow night, to attend the combined union meeting. Westfield, Cranford and Rahway will be represented at the meeting beside the local delegation. The bus will leave the Babcock building tomorrow night at 7 o'clock, and any members who wish to go are cordially invited.

PLAN LONG HIKE.

Hope Boy Scout Troop, No. 12, held its business meeting Monday evening, when routine affairs were transacted. Plans for a hike to take place Washington's Birthday were made. This arrangement was made owing to the marked success of the first hike held Lincoln's Birthday.

WASHINGTON CAKE SALE.

A Washington Birthday cake sale will be held at the Suffrage headquarters, 110 Depot avenue, Saturday, February 20, at 10 o'clock, to be continued until all the cakes are disposed of. A large variety of cakes will be on sale and the proceeds from the sale will be used for the expenses of the organization.

A MARTHA WASHINGTON TEA.

The Woman's Relief Corp, auxiliary to Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will hold a Martha Washington tea and entertainment in Reform Hall, West Second street, February 22. The committee has secured some excellent talent and an enjoyable program is a certainty.

A TIMELY GIFT.

It Wasn't Much, but It Meant a Great Deal to Dr. Anna Shaw.

When Dr. Anna Howard Shaw was studying theology in Boston she was very poor and had to depend on the little preaching she did to pay her expenses. After a week's hard work at a revival, for which she received no money, she was heartsick and discouraged. She tells the story thus in the Metropolitan Magazine:

I was friendless, penniless and starving, but it was not of these conditions that I thought then. The one overwhelming fact was that I had been weighed and found wanting. I was not worthy.

I stumbled along, passing blindly a woman who stood near the church entrance. She stopped me timidly and held out her hand. Then suddenly she put her arms around me and wept. She was an old lady, and I did not know her, but it seemed fitting that she should cry just then, as it would have seemed fitting to me if at that black moment all the people on the earth had broken into sudden wailing.

"Oh, Miss Shaw," she said, "I'm the happiest woman in the world, and I owe my happiness to you! Tonight you have converted my grandson. He's all I have left, but he has been a wild boy, and I've prayed over him for years. Hereafter he is going to lead a different life. He has just given me his promise on his knees."

Her hand fumbled in her purse.

"I am a poor woman," she went on, "but I have enough, and I want to make you a little present. I know how hard life is for you young students."

She pressed a bill into my fingers. "It's very little," she said humbly; "it is only $5!"

I laughed, and in that exultant moment I seemed to hear life laughing with me. With the passing of the bill from her hand to mine existence had become a new experience, wonderful and beautiful.

"It is the biggest gift I have ever had," I told her. "This little bill is big enough to carry my future on its back!"

WANT TO WRITE A NOVEL?

Well, Here's Your Plot All Ready For the Little Details.

Take one ocean liner plying between San Francisco and the Philippines. Add a young man going to Hawaii on business and an heiress and her aunt going nowhere in particular. Mix the two young folk gradually among the other passengers, with an occasional half hour alone away from the watchful eye of the aunt. Turn the ship into the center of one tropical storm. Mix gradually until they come to a froth, the sea and the howling of the winds.

Beat the vessel slowly against jagged rocks until it is well pounded up. Throw in looks of despair to suit the taste. Add one blinding flash of lightning "that rent the heavens" to a "convulsive heave of the stout old hull that had braved the southern seas for years."

Pour a wave mountain high on the ship, mixing the passengers briskly together; then turn the entire mass suddenly into the sea. Put the young man's arm providentially against a floating spar, chicken coop or a door torn off a stateroom. Have another convenient wave sweep the maid in his direction. Put in a "strong young arm." Add "then all grew black."

Drop in a sandy beach unexpectedly. Put the hero on the beach. Have him "come to" with the sun shining bright or brightly. Close by put the maid, a la the daughter of the skipper of the schooner Hesperus, minus the salt sea being frozen on her breast.

Inject into the situation at this point one handy cave, with another ditto near by. Add signals daily to passing ships. After baking thoroughly for six months on the island put in a rescue after hope had been abandoned, a trip to the good old U. S. A. and one church close to the corner. Mix in sufficient detail to suit, place in an attractive cover and serve to the public at $1.35 per serve.—Indianapolis News.

He Took It.

While James H. Beard, the artist, was painting a portrait of Zachary Taylor he said to him, "Well, general, I suppose you are to be our next president?"

"I hope not," grunted the bluff old hero. "No military man has any business in the presidential chair, but if they offer it to me I suppose I'll be fool enough to accept it."

And he was.

MOTHER'S BIBLE LOST IN BATTLE

Returned to Civil War Veteran After Fifty Years.

PROFESSOR TRACES OWNER

Picked Up on Field by Soldier Who Later Loses Life—Identity Made Known by Name on Fly Leaf—Letter Brings Delightful Response From Old Soldier's Daughter.

A little pocket Bible, a mother's parting gift to her soldier boy as he marched off with his regiment on Christmas day, half a century ago—a Bible in which loving hands had written the inscription, "Edgar J. Snow, Dec. 25, 1861," has been returned to its owner just fifty years after it was lost on a battlefield, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

It was through Professor A. L. Keith of Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., in whose possession the Bible is now, that the owner was traced and his heart gladdened by the news that his mother's farewell gift, lost when he was taken prisoner by the Confederates and his knapsack taken away, would be placed in his hands.

Edgar J. Snow, who lives with his daughter, Mrs. Fannie Dustan, at 4627 Seventy-second street, Portland, Ore., is an old man now, and, though his body is crippled with rheumatism and his hand shaky, his memory is still remarkably vivid.

Snow remembers that Christmas day fifty-three years ago, when he marched off with his regiment, the Fifty-first Illinois volunteers, his father's silver watch in his pocket and his mother's Bible in his knapsack. He remembers the many weary hours in the trenches and in the camps at night when, after the day's hard marching or still harder fighting had been done, reading the well thumbed Bible carried him back in spirit to that Illinois farmstead where the mother and father waited anxiously for tidings of their boy.

Bible Cast Away.

And then came the battle of Franklin, when General Schofield's army was hurled against the pick of the Confederate force under Hood.

The day before the big battle, Nov. 28, 1864, Corporal Snow (he had been promoted for valiant service) was helping a wounded officer, a Lieutenant Waterman, off the field. The "reb" cavalry swooped down on them, and he was taken prisoner. Stripped of everything he had save the clothing on his back, his father's watch was taken from him, and the Bible he carried through the three years' fighting was thrown aside.

Marching over the same spot early the following morning as his regiment swung into battle line, a soldier picked up the Bible from where it lay on the muddy road. He placed the Bible in his pocket.

Along in the afternoon, when the battle was at its height, a Confederate bullet found its lodging place in his body, and he sank to the ground mortally wounded. Then came the rush of the Fifty-first Indiana men, the rush that helped win the day for the Union cause. With the Indiana soldiers was Private John L. Keith. As he passed his dying comrade the latter turned and, stretching forth his hand, in which was tightly clasped the little testament, gasped out a dying message.

"Give Back to Mother."

"Give back to mother," was what he heard.

The three years that the Bible had been in use had left their mark on the little book and the name was barely decipherable. There was no address that would help in the search, and Keith was finally compelled to give up the quest.

Many years passed and to Private Keith came the last summons. Into his sister's hand Miss Sallie Keith of Vincennes, Ind., aunt of Professor Keith, the Bible passed.

Professor Keith had none of his father's belongings, and he wrote and asked his aunt if she had some little trinket or keepsake he could have. She sent him back the Bible. Then Professor Keith found the name on the flyleaf, and from his aunt learned of the circumstances under which his father had obtained possession of the volume.

He got in touch with the war department and the record of the rightful owner, Corporal Edgar P. Snow, was sent to him.

From the pension department he learned that Corporal Snow was living in Portland, Ore., and a letter sent there brought a delightful response from the old soldier's daughter.

So the Bible was sent to Portland.

Lost Seven Sons In War.

Seven sons of an elderly blind Frenchman named Chopard of the village of Chauffort, near the Swiss frontier, have been killed for France. All seven marched away to join the colors last August. One by one letters came from the French headquarters. Two gave their lives in the retreat from Mons, two died on the Marne, two died storming breastworks on the Aisne, and the seventh perished on the bloody Yser in Flanders. Four of them leave widows and fourteen children. Though grief stricken, their father is glad they gave their lives for France.

UNION COUNTY ORPHANS' COURT.

In the Matter of the Application of William S. Van Nest, administrator of the estate of George W. Van Nest, Deceased, for sale of Land to Pay Debts. | Order to Show Cause

William S. Van Nest, administrator of the estate of George W. Van Nest, deceased, having exhibited to this Court under oath, a just and true account of the personal estate and debts of said deceased, whereby it appears that the personal estate of said deceased is insufficient to pay his debts, and requested the aid of the Court in the premises: It is, on this twenty-second day of January, nineteen hundred and fifteen, ordered that all persons interested in the lands, tenements, and real estate of said George W. Van Nest, deceased, appear before the Court, at the Court House, in the City of Elizabeth, on the twenty-sixth day of March next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause why so much of the said lands, tenements, hereditaments, and real estate of the said George W. Van Nest, deceased, should not be sold as will be sufficient to pay his debts, or the residue thereof, as the case may require. And it is further ordered, that this order be set up and published in one of the newspapers of this State, as by the statute directed.

Corporation Notice

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 15, 1915.

AN ORDINANCE

To License and Regulate Omnibuses, Stages and Other Vehicles Used for the Transportation of Passengers In or Through the City of Plainfield in Connection With Any Omnibus Line or Stage Line.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Sec. 1. No person, persons or corporation shall either as principal or as agent or employe of another, drive, run or operate in or through the City of Plainfield, any omnibus line or stage line for the transportation of passengers without first obtaining a license for each vehicle so used for that purpose, as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2. Any person, persons or corporation may make application, written or printed, or partly written and partly printed, to the Mayor of said City for license to drive, run or operate in or through said City, an omnibus or stage line, but every such application shall be signed by the applicant or a duly authorized agent of the applicant, and shall designate the particular description of vehicle or vehicles intended to be so used. Whenever any such application is granted as hereinafter provided, the City Clerk shall cause the same to be endorsed with the date of the grant and the number of the license granted, and filed in his office.

Sec. 3. The Mayor shall have the power to grant, and to refuse in his discretion, any such application, but every such license granted by the Mayor shall state the object for which it is given, the number and description of vehicles licensed thereunder, the name or names of the person, persons or corporation to whom the license is granted, the number of the license, the date of its expiration, and it shall be signed by the Mayor, attested by the City Clerk and countersigned by the Chief of Police before it shall become operative.

Sec. 4. Every such license shall expire on the first day of March following the date on which it is granted, and no such license shall be granted except upon the payment by the applicant therefor to the City Clerk for the use of the City, of a license fee of Five Dollars ($5.00) for each vehicle to be used thereunder, and no vehicle shall be used thereunder other than a vehicle specified therein.

Sec. 5. The Common Council may, from time to time, by resolution, forbid the use of any particular street or streets, avenue or avenues, highway or highways, or portion or portions thereof, in said City by any vehicle or vehicles licensed under this ordinance and, after the adoption of any such resolution and before the same is rescinded, no vehicle licensed under this ordinance shall use or pass through or along any street, avenue or highway or portion thereof, the use whereof by such vehicle is forbidden by any such resolution.

Sec. 6. Every omnibus, stage or other similar vehicle, the use whereof may be authorized by any license granted under this orinance, shall at all times have displayed on each side of the outside thereof, in a conspicuous place, the number of the then current license under which it is being used in said city; also another numeral sufficient to distinguish it from every other vehicle used under such license.

Sec. 7. Every vehicle used by virtue of any license granted under this ordinance shall be subject to every ordinance of the City of Plainfield, and every regulation of the Board of Police of the City of Plainfield, touching upon or regulating street traffic or the standing or movement of vehicles in public streets or highways.

Sec. 8. Any license granted under this ordinance may be suspended or revoked by the Mayor or City Judge upon proof to his satisfaction that such licensed person, persons or corporation, or any person acting in his, their or its behalf, has violated this ordinance or any other ordinance of the City of Plainfield, or regulation of the Board of Police aforesaid, provided, that no license shall be so suspended or revoked without reasonable opportunity first afforded to the licensed person or corporation to be heard in his or its own behalf; and no person or corporation shall, during the suspension or after the revocation of his or its license, use any vehicle so licensed, in the operation of any such omnibus line or stage line.

Sec. 9. Each and every person or corporation who or which shall violate, and each and every person or corporation who shall direct, assist in or connive at the violation of this ordinance shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine not exceeding Twenty Dollars for each offense.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is yours.—Adv.

Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 17, 1915.

AN UNUSUAL TOWNSHIP.

Claim to financial and economic distinction made by the North Plainfield Township Committee is probably one that is not equalled in this State. According to statistics recently made public the tax rate is more than thirty points lower than that of 1913, the police court costs less than $100 a year to maintain, the fire department has been equipped with a chemical apparatus without any cost to the township, and there is no bonded debt. This condition is a truly remarkable one and probably has no parallel among New Jersey municipalities.

The committee, composed of former Assemblyman William de La R. Anderson, Albert Brokaw and Alexander S. Archbold, has accomplished a number of notable things during the past year, but at the same time has successfully maintained the financial status. A report, indicating the efficiency of their administration, has just been made public and it might be well for the governing bodies of other municipalities to review the various steps taken by the committee during 1914.

The resume shows that in 1914 no money was borrowed against the anticipation of taxes in an amount in excess of what was due the township from delinquent taxpayers and other sources. The committeemen assert that all of these things were accomplished without the sacrificing of any business principle. During 1914 a revaluation of properties, a commendable step in municipal development, has been undertaken and some additional taxes were obtained from properties that had heretofore been unassessed.

Much credit is due the residents of the township for the enviable position it occupies because of their co-operation with the committee on all important phases of work attempted.

THE BURDENS OF NEUTRALITY.

The burdens of neutrality are not to be mentioned in the same breath with the calamities of war, but they are nevertheless exceedingly heavy. Americans of all classes or previous nationalities, in view of the problems and hazards faced by our State Department, ought to be sympathetic and helpful rather than captious in their attitude, offering only criticism that is really constructive.

The challenged sailing of the interned Dacia after being transferred to American ownership, the employment of the American flag by the British captain of the threatened Lusitania, the "war zone" announcement of the German government with the increased danger to American vessels involved, the seizure of American ships suspected of carrying contraband, the lack of absolute certainty as to what is lawfully contraband, the need of devising means of facilitating the export of American goods, the indefiniteness of international "laws" or regulations as applied to neutrals in time of war—these are but a few of the perplexing questions now engaging the attention of the President and his advisers.

Even more troublesome and embarrassing perhaps are the activities of certain classes of German-Americans whose complaints against and attacks on the authorities at Washington indicate that they are more devoted to the alien aspiration of "Deutschland ueber alles" than to the patriotic sentiment supporting "America before all." Some of these misguided people have even gone to the extreme of pledging their organizations to seek to make Germany's cause the issue in the American political campaign of 1916, virtually serving notice on the party in power that it will be made to suffer if its course meanwhile should not be such as the protesters can heartily approve, and apparently being too highly wrought up to reflect that the Democrats are likely to gain more friends than enemies by refusing to be influenced by such threats. The attitude is not that of sympathetic Americans of German birth or parentage but of subjects of the Kaiser who happen to be living in the United States. Some of the utterances from these sources suggest that the persons quoted are victims of the vain imagination that they can prod our government into becoming a virtual ally of a foreign nation at war.

To the more or less inevitable burdens of neutrality is thus added a domestic disturbance due solely to the fact that our flag shelters large numbers of the blood kindred of one of the warring powers. For this reason the situation in which the United States finds itself is more difficult than that of any other neutral nation, with the possible exception of Italy. Hyphenated residents of our country who are really worthy of American citizenship ought to bear this in mind and exercise self-restraint accordingly.

There are many Americans who openly champion the cause of the Allies, but President Wilson and his associates are strictly and even anxiously neutral. To labor for the best interests of the United States, to be just to all nations and to favor none, to make no mistakes, and to keep from being drawn into the whirlpool of war—that, as is plain to every one except the violent partisan, is the earnest, watchful and sleepless endeavor of our heavily-burdened government.

Steps should be taken by North Plainfield officials to establish an attendance limit for Saengerbund Hall, a place that has been much in use during the past two years for basketball engagements. An interscholastic match, which will probably bring an attendance of 600, will be played there on Monday afternoon, and it is claimed that the galleries should not be used to support the weight. In previous league matches it has been necessary for the officials to notify the "rooters" not to stamp on the floor and lean against the railings in the galleries, but this warning is soon forgotten. Should one of the supports give way it would probably result in the loss of a number of lives.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press

A large number of taxpayers in Plainfield are wondering what the year 1915 will bring forth from a taxpayer's point of view. The year 1914 has been a record year in almost every respect. In the first place it was the worst year Plainfield has ever experienced from a financial point of view. Less buildings erected during the year than any year since 1872. More people needed help than any year within the memory of the present generation. Taxpayers who had houses to rent could not get their rent in a great number of cases. Small taxpayers who had families in some cases had to deny themselves the necessities when the head of the family was out of work to get money to pay their taxes. Some of the owners of the empty houses had to mortgage their holdings to raise tax money. This state of affairs was not only in Plainfield but all over the country. The above state of affairs being the case, has Plainfield conducted its affairs accordingly?

Let's review the doings of 1914. The first deal that Plainfield had on hand in was the purchase of 90 acres of swamp land for a sewer disposal plant for $36,000. Just think of it! Why wasn't the land appraised and condemned according to law in such cases as will be done where the sewer goes through private property and the owner wants too much money? Would any three disinterested men allow more than $10,000? According to the price of land in that vicinity, I think not.

Did any one ever hear tell of a city of 22,000 inhabitants, even in the best times, purchasing two $2,030 fire engines, thereby spending $18,000 for that purpose when one engine even in the most prosperous year would have been enough? Now there is talk of another $9,000 engine for the West End. Where are we going to stop? It seems to a great many taxpayers we are building the most expensive schoolhouses that can be built. An eight-room school building costing $80,000, or $10,000 for each room.

To pay for all the above mentioned "necessities?" the tax rate was increased 4 points on an increased valuation of $3,000,000. The most Plainfield's tax valuation was ever raised in one year. It looks as though all new buildings constructed during 1914 would come nearer $300,000 than $3,000,000. It seems as though the taxpayers don't have much to say how much money should be spent. We have a bonded indebtedness of over $1,000,000, making interest to be paid at 4 per cent. over $40,000 before any money can be used for other purposes. If the taxpayers had a vote on the expenditures would they have voted for all the money that was spent during 1914? I think not.

committed to a name—the name of bills the substance of which their better knowledge and judgment does not approve; but still the cry is heard 'We must carry out our campaign pledges or suffer politically.'

"It has developed in the hearings that except in one instance, the proposed measures have had the united disapproval of all of the interests which said measures are proposed to conserve; and in one notable instance, the Labor Department, both the labor and capital of the State, and the remedial and corrective societies of the State, have joined in a protest to the Legislature against the proposed substitution of an unwieldy board of eight non-salaried members, for the direct and effective control of one man, and in all of the hearings it has been brought to the attention of the legislative committees that the boards and their heads, of long experience and fidelity, who have weathered the storms of political life and change, are better fitted to carry out the work that is entrusted to them.

"The change proposed is that practically all the administrative boards of the State shall be merged in about five, each one consisting of eight non-salaried members, with a high-priced expert specialist in control, and under him the actual working force.

"This proposed change would be wholly subversive of economy and efficiency. Take the case of eight non-salaried commissioners for each of the boards—forty in all. Is it conceivable that forty men can be found in the State of New Jersey, of ability, of character and of leisure, who could or who would give the time and the attention to the duties of the different departments. If so, then why have under each unit of eight commissioners a highly paid professional expert intervening between the experienced and working heads of the departments. If the commissioners are competent and fitted, they would control properly his expert; if they are not competent, then the expert would control them; in either case resulting in an absurdity, because the men who do the work would have to report to one or the other of these authorities.

"One exception to the general and effectively presented opposition to these bills, is that of a board already in existence consisting of a number of non-salaried commissioners, who expressed their approval of the proposed consolidation of four boards into one, with a non-salaried commission of eight commissioners, but the striking fact is presented of one of the most effective and forceful members of this present non-salaried board appearing at the hearing on the Labor Bill, marshalling the most effective and representative body of men and women, representing as they did capital and labor and the corrective and remedial institutions and societies of the State, and opposing most effectively and convincingly the adoption of the bill purposing to place a non-salaried commission of eight members over the labor department. When, however, he appears in relation to the bill affecting his own commission, which is non-salaried, there he approves the bill—showing how much interest may divide the activities of the best of men.

"The bills are not in the interests of economy and efficiency. Take the Riparian Commission, for instance. Here is a board of five men, which includes the Governor, who is by act of the Legislature de facto a member of the Commission, but without additional salary. This Board, having control in the nature of real estate agents, of the disposition of the riparian lands of the State for commercial development and under the legal supervision and advice of the Attorney General, has made a study of the subject and by experience and actual practice has brought results unequaled by any other Board in the State. The proceeds from the operations of this Commission for the past ten years have been two million seven hundred thousand dollars, at a minimum cost for administration of about 3 per cent. This, it is submitted, is the best productive administration in the State of New Jersey. Go back no farther than the terms of Governors Fort and Wilson, who, when they came into office, had in their minds, and so expressed, the belief that the work of the Riparian Commission should be differently administered. Both of these Governors, after sitting effectively in the deliberations of the Commission, expressed themselves as being greatly pleased with the work of the Riparian Commission and endorsed it fully.

"Governor Fielder had the same laudable desire to improve, if possible, the administration of the riparian interests of the State; but after careful study agreed with the Board in reaching the conclusions that have been so productive of good, and placed the stamp of his approval by signing every grant that has been passed and delivering the same under the seal of the State. And it would be a reflection upon the integrity and the intelligence of Governor Fielder to say now that after taking part in the deliberations of this Board, having heard the presentations of the applicants, having known of the examinations and having heard the opinions of the Commissioners, after all this that he does not approve now of the administration of this Board. It is now proposed to change this administration and place in charge eight non-salaried members, with the dangerous power attempted to be conferred by the bill of creating all the departments at all the expense they may see fit.

"If economy is desired, the Legislature has but to look around the State House and what few State departments are administered outside of it, to make a greater saving in expenditure than any even claimed for by these so-called economy and efficiency measures.

"The political slogan so effective in a campaign should not be carried into the actual administration of the State. Men who have been appointed to positions by reason of their fitness and standing in the community should not be legislated out of office in obedience to this cry. Actual information gained by the Legislature in these important hearings should control them, because no political exigency will blind the people to the actual purpose of these bills when their effect is so disastrous."

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The bi-weekly changes of bill at Proctor's Theatre will bring the following vaudeville program for the last half of the week, commencing tomorrow: Hoey and Mozar and their company of merry maids in a girlie musical comedy which combines tuneful lyrics, beautiful costumes and special scenery; Jones and Walton, presenting a comedy skit, "Our Country Cousin;" Billy Rogers, the inimitable and classy entertainer; the International Trio, parallel bar artists, and Hogarth and company, in the screaming farce, "Her First Case." The picture portion of the program today will include the current episode of "Zudora," now being written by another author under the title of "The Twenty Million Dollar Mystery." The change of authorship has injected a noticeable increase of virility in the absorbing story and its popularity is proving even greater than before. The continuation of "Runaway June" and the Pathe Weekly will be shown tomorrow afternoon and night, and on Friday the feature film will be the succeeding episode of the "Exploits of Elaine." The first series of authentic European war pictures, which have been on for the first half of the week, will be succeeded tomorrow by another reel of entirely different scenes, this service having been arranged for by Messrs. Proctor and Sanderson to be shown regularly in a bi-weekly service.

THE DAILY PRESS IN SOMERVILLE will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon after 4:30 by Jacob Gernert, the Main street newsdealer.

THE DAILY PRESS IN DUNELLEN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by Edward Peterson, druggist and newsdealer.

FIVE TONS OF OINTMENT FOR SOLDIERS' FEET WEEKLY.

An "eyewitness" at the British general army headquarters in France pays a tribute in an article given out by the official press bureau to the work of the army supply departments. He calls the ordnance department a "military universal provider." He says in part:

"The vastness of the work of maintaining a modern army may be gauged by the fact that during the past month the supplies furnished included 450 miles of telephone wire, 530,000 sand bags and 10,000 pounds of shoe blacking, while in ten days the ordnance department supplied 120,000 fur waistcoats and 300,000 flannel belts. The average weekly issue of ointment for feet is five tons.

"The complexity of the work is illustrated by the fact that the index of the stores include 50,000 separate kinds of articles. Most of these still are obtained from England, but some are being manufactured by the ordnance department in its own workshops in France."

SARAH BERNHARDT YEARS AGO PREPARED HER TOMB.

Once Thought of Giving Up Profession and Keeping Candy Store.

Some years ago Sarah Bernhardt, the celebrated actress, prepared her tomb in Belle Isle, off the Brittany coast. For years La Divine spent her holidays there, fishing among the rocks near her home, playing tennis, going for long walks and generally living the simple life. Though she purchased the land about her house to keep out the intrusive neighbor, she could not bribe away the tourist, who came on bicycle or on foot to gaze at her original residence and sometimes stood sentinel by the hour before the door in the hope of seeing the great actress.

Her house, which was besieged, in other than the old sense, by a friendly "enemy," with camera and guide book, was a fort a few years ago. Being no longer of use to coast defense, it was dismantled and then purchased by the great Parisienne, who turned it into a summer abode. It stands four square to the winds of heaven, and its rude, crenelated walls shine with yellow ochre, with which contrast the green slats of the window shutters.

Gil Blas tells the following story in regard to the theatrical debut of Sarah Bernhardt, showing how she once seriously thought of giving up the dramatic profession and keeping a candy store:

"On a certain Jan. 15 when the artists reunited in the green room of the Theatre Français in order to do honor to the anniversary of Moliere the young sister of Sarah stepped on the dress of Mme. Nathalie, societaire, grande dame and a person greatly to be feared by ingenues.

"The aged actress became very angry and reproved the girl, who replied in the same language, until Sarah intervened by slapping the face of the veteran societaire of 1852.

"There was a terrible scandal, and Sarah received from the administrator, Edouard Thierry, a command publicly to apologize to Mme. Nathalie before all the societaires who had witnessed the affair.

"In her despair she wished to go into business and was tempted to purchase the good will of a candy store in the boulevards, but the gloomy aspect of the shop when she examined it deterred her.

"Soon after, with her savings almost gone, she found an engagement at the Gymnase de Montigny, where she made her first real success."

ROAD WINS SAFETY MEDAL.

Not a Passenger Killed on the New York Central in Four Years.

In recognition of the fact that not a single passenger has been killed on the New York Central lines in the last four years the E. H. Harriman memorial steam medal for safety and industrial hygiene has been formally presented to that railroad.

With appropriate ceremonies at the United Engineers' building in New York city the medal was presented on behalf of the American Museum of Safety by President Williams of that institution. It was accepted by President A. H. Smith on behalf of the New York Central lines.

A number of passengers twice as great as the total population of the United States was carried by the New York Central lines in the four year period in which there was not a single passenger killed. The number of passengers carried, nearly 200,000,000, is said to establish a record for the railroad systems of the country, and the fact that not one was killed in wreck or accident was stated by the officials of the American Museum of Safety to establish a new standard of safety and efficiency.

The Harriman memorial steam medal was designed to encourage such safety and efficiency, and the committee of prominent men which makes the award includes Edgar E. Clark, one of the members of the interstate commerce commission. A large gathering of railroad men and city and state officials witnessed the presentation of the medal and applauded the acceptance speech of Mr. Smith, the president of the New York Central lines.

FANNY CROSBY'S SPLENDID CAREER

Blind, She Was Author of 8,000 Hymns.

WAS IN NINETY-FIFTH YEAR

Composed "Safe In the Arms of Jesus" In Fifteen Minutes—Was Skilled Player on Guitar and Piano—She Wrote First Hymn When She Was Forty-five Years Old.

Fanny Crosby, the blind hymn writer, who died at her home in Bridgeport, Conn., at the age of ninety-four years, was the author of more than 8,000 hymns which have been sung in the Protestant churches through the world, her contributions being so numerous that a quarter of a century ago hymn book makers gave her 200 different pen names in order to make it appear that the hymns were the work of other authors. No single person had anywhere near as large contributions to the gospel song books since the days of Charles Wesley or Isaac Watts.

Miss Crosby, as she was best known, although she was married in 1858 to Alexander van Alstyne, a blind teacher, who died in 1902, was born in Putnam county, N. Y., on March 24, 1820. She was christened Frances Jane Crosby. Her blindness was said to be due to the error of a physician who ordered the application of hot poultices to her eyes when she was six months old, thereby destroying the optic nerves.

But the fact that she was blind did not depress the child, and Miss Crosby has said that despite her affliction she could "climb a tree or ride a horse as well as any one." When she was only eight years old she first displayed her talent by this bit of verse:

Oh, what a happy soul am I!
Although I cannot see,
I am resolved in this world
Contented I will be.

How much blessings I enjoy
That other people don't;
To weep and sigh because I'm blind,
I cannot and I won't.

Instructor of the Blind.

At the age of nineteen Miss Crosby was sent to the New York Institution For the Blind and became so proficient that she was made an instructor. She never learned to read by the raised letters, however. For twelve years she taught English grammar, rhetoric, Greek, Roman and American history. It was while at the institution that she met Mr. Van Alstyne. During this period of her career she wrote poetry and secular songs, one of the most popular of the latter being "Rosalie, the Prairie Flower." Several of her volumes of poetry were published.

Fanny Crosby was forty-five years old when she wrote her first hymn. Some of the most beautiful and popular of these came to her as if by inspiration. It is said that one of her best known hymns, "Safe In the Arms of Jesus," was composed in fifteen minutes, while W. H. Doane, who had written music for many of her hymns, was waiting to take a train. He played on the piano the music for which he wished her to compose the words.

The blind hymn writer had a strong feeling for rhythm and a keen enjoyment of music, and in her time had been a skilled performer on the guitar and piano. In the case of some of her songs and hymns she composed both words and music. She used to have a sweet soprano voice, and her sense of harmony was so strong that anything like a discord jarred on her ear and would even awaken her from sleep.

Some of Her Best Known Hymns.

Some of Miss Crosby's best known hymns are "Saved by Grace," "Blessed Assurance," "Rescue the Perishing," "I Am Thine, O Lord," "Just a Word For Jesus" and "Jesus, Keep Me Near the Cross." She composed with great rapidity and always had her verses complete in her mind before committing them to paper. Many years ago Phillips Brooks gave her seventy-five topics and asked her to write verses based on them. She composed every one of the hymns before a line of any of them was placed on paper.

Miss Crosby's songs and hymns were translated into every language and have been sung in every country of the world where the Christian religion has reached. Hundreds of thousands who sang her songs, so many of which were published under pen names, did not know that it was a blind woman's inspiration which they employed to express their Christian faith and hope in song. Among her songs other than hymns which were very popular fifty years ago were "Proud World," "Good-by: I'm Going Home," "Hazel Dell," "The Honeysuckle Glen" and "Never Forget the Dear Ones."

Throughout her life Miss Crosby's cheerful spirit was unaffected by her affliction. She once said: "I do not know but that on the whole it has been a good thing that I have been blind. How in the world could I have lived such a helpful life as I have were it not that I am blind? I am very well satisfied."

She remained active almost until her death and in May, 1911, when she was ninety-one years old, attended a mass meeting arranged by the evangelistic committee at Carnegie hall, in New York city. Miss Crosby's mother lived to be 102 years and her grandmother to be 106 years.

Plainfield Girls Invincible On Columbus Club Court.

The Plainfield Five girls' basketball team won its second consecutive game this season, last night, when it defeated the T. A. M. team on the Columbus court by a score of 44 to 8. The local girls were scheduled to lineup against the Battin High School girls, but owing to the illness of several of the Elizabeth players, the game was cancelled and the T. A. M., a composition of North Plainfield High and Plainfield girls, appeared against the locals in the preliminary. The game was a closely guarded affair from the beginning and numerous fouls were called on both sides.

The Plainfield sextet acquired an early lead which its opponents were never able to pass. Helen and Ida Hummel divided the scoring for the locals, the former caging seven field goals and ten from the fifteen foot line out of fifteen tries; the latter tallied nine goals. Lillian Spencer and Adelaide Ricketts scored for the T. A. M.'s. The first half was played with lines and side centers and the score resulted 17 to 5 in favor of the local team. The second half was played without lines. During this half the Plainfield Five showed its superiority over the visitors, in team work, guarding and shooting, the score being 27 to 3 in its favor.

MOBILIZATION ORDERS FOR CATCHER FRANK BRUGGY

Frank L. Bruggy, who is well-known among baseball fans of this city, has received his orders to start on Sunday, February 28, for the South. He will go to Manager George T. Stallings' plantation in Georgia, where the Boston Braves, world's champions, will go their spring training.

He will make the trip with Dick Rudolph, the pitcher, whose home is in the Bronx. Bruggy is in splendid shape. He has played enough basketbal to be ripe for the coming season and he is going to hustle to make the team. Bruggy was catcher on the Lawrence champion team of the New England League, last year.

BORO GIRLS AT SUMMIT.

The North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team will go to Summit, Friday afternoon, by automobile and a large delegation of rooters will accompany the players. The crowd will start shortly after 1 o'clock, the game being scheduled for 3:45 o'clock.

EXPECT SOME PASTING.

The Janeway and Carpenter basketball team, of New Brunswick, will be the attraction at the Y. M. C. A. next Saturday night. The rival squad represents a wall paper manufacturing concern.

SWEET REVENGE FOR COLUMBUS CLUB

Elizabetheans Vanquished In Second Appearance On Local Court.

With practically the same lineup with which they appeared here two weeks ago, the Madison A. C., of Elizabeth, went down to defeat at the hands of the Columbus Club five, last night, the score being 28 to 22. The former game resulted in a win for the Elizabethians, who defeated the locals by a score of 32 to 25. The Plainfield team showed much improvement last night in passing, team work and shooting.

Linke was the high score man for the club while Broome was the principal point getter for the visitors. The work of the two local guards, Carty and Caulfield, was exceptionally good, the former keping his man to two goals while Caulfield's man got one. The score at the end of the first half was 17 to 11 in favor of the locals.

FIRST CITY TITLE GAME ON HIGH SCHOOL COURT

Efforts are being made by the managers of the Plainfield High School and Y. M. C. A. basketball teams to get a trophy for the city championship series, the first game of which will be played in the Plainfield gym at 10:30 Washington's Birthday morning. The members of the winning team will be rewarded with medals and a cup.

Manager Zelmas is trying to arrange to have the association players use the High School court some time this week in order that they may become familiar with it and the High School team will be granted the same privilege before the second game, which takes place in the association gym on Saturday night, March 13.

THIS SPORT ENTHUSIASM IS DUE TO BURST FORTH

Spurred on by the success they have gained on the basketball court, a squad of feminine athletes, under the watchful eye of Coach "Joe" Sullivan, took to the Columbus Club bowling lanes following their court triumph last night, and rumor has it that a team of pin-knights will be organized among the fair sex. The versatile misses practised on the drives last night, and several splits were recorded by the more adept at the pastime. Wrestling with the heavy "male pills," the girls did some good pin-splitting during a half-hour's instruction under the watchful eye of "Sully," and so enthusiastic were they over their success that the team idea is now being agitated.

Among those who tried their hand at spilling the wooden images with the dum-dum bullets were the Misses Marion Mair, Mildred McAuliff, Helen Brynairski, Dorothy Crane, Marion Chandler and Clara Smith. According to the coach, if initial appearances are to be taken as a criterion, great things may be expected of the lassies in the future.

The Daily Press will be glad to have its attention called to any misleading or untrue statement if such should appear at any time in an advertisement in its columns.

VARDON ONLY ENGLISHMAN TO TRY FOR AN INTERNATIONAL TITLE THIS YEAR

Left to right: Chick Evans, Francis Ouimet and Harry Vardon.

England will bid for just one athletic title this year, according to word relayed here from London. Participation in practically all sport branches is knocked out by the war, but Harry Vardon will try to grab the national open golf championship. Only Francis Ouimet and Chick Evans are conceded chances of beating the English man.

LOCAL T. A. B. S. PINNERS DROP PAIR TO ELIZABETH

The Elizabeth T. A. B. Society bowling team came to this city last night and captured the odd game from the local pinners. The Plainfield five won the middle game, dropping the first roll by nine pins and the last by seventy-six. In the middle game the Elizabethans were only seven pins in the rear.

Moran, of the visiting team, scored the highest mark of the match when he rolled a 205 in the second game. Scott rolled a 192 for Plainfield, while Skinner hit for 184 and 182. The results follow:

NO OFFICIAL STATEMENT FROM JUNIOR LEAGUERS

Members of the executive committee of the Junior Elks' Bowling League met in the Newark Lodge last night for the purpose of deciding on a neutral alley for the playing off of the tie existing for second place between the Newark and Paterson teams. A lengthy session was held, but no official announcement was made by the officers, although it is rumored that Jersey City will be selected for the important match.

Further details concerning the matters up for settlement last night will be given out for publication tomorrow. The Plainfield Lodge, through Secretary V. W. Nash, Jr., of the Junior League, extended an invitation to the contending forces to play the deciding series here.

Blossom Seeley and Rube Marquard.

Some National league partisans assert that Rube Marquard's jump from the Giants to the Brooklyn Feds was done solely in behalf of publicity for the vaudeville team of Rube Marquard and Blossom Seeley, Rube's wife, now playing in the west. If that is the case, Marquard may find in the end that the publicity wasn't worth the price. The Giants in particular, and major league magnates in general, are pretty sore at Rube.

Vast City, Extending Two and a Half Miles Along Shores of San Francisco Bay, Presents Scene of Unparalleled Brilliancy and Interest.

Forty-two Foreign Nations and Forty-three States Are Officially Represented by Exhibits at Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

Two Hundred and Fifty Buildings In All and Sixty Thousand Individual Exhibitors Combine to Present Grandest Epitome of World's Progress Ever Celebrated.

To give an adequate word picture of the mighty Panama-Pacific International Exposition is almost impossible, particularly when one comes to a consideration of the color scheme and the indirect lighting system by which neither arc nor incandescent is present to affront the eye. And yet, approaching the Exposition either from the bay of San Francisco or from over the hills on any of the car lines that travel to its gates, these are the first features that thrill with wonder and anticipation.

Like a Dream City.

Looking down on the hundreds of acres of gleaming domes and lofty spires, mammoth arches and extended colonnades, lawns and flowers, noble palms and forestation, with the kaleidoscope of colors blending over all, the vision is one to recall some dream city. Looking down on this same vision by night, with the subdued effulgence of millions of concealed lights investing the whole with an incomparable radiance, one in very truth seems to view the realization of a glorious dream. Two miles and a half in length and a half a mile in width, this spread of beauty curves in a demilune in a sheltered hollow along the shores of San Francisco bay. The heights of San Francisco are back of it, the bay before and across the bay the Marin hills, with Mount Tamalpais, the majestic, rising in grandeur. This is the great panorama that frames the Exposition, situate just inside the Golden Gate.

This $50,000,000 Exposition is built to a general ground plan, the plot being laid out by Edwa[illegible] F. Bennett, the noted city planner [illegible] York. From the main group of [illegible] exhibit palaces, covering eigh[illegible] [illegible]cres, to the remotest picture po[illegible] [illegible]oth on the amusement zone ea[illegible] [illegible]250 structures of the Expositi[illegible] [illegible] relation to each other and to [illegible]evards in the general plan.

Grand Radiating Cent[illegible]

The grand radiatin[illegible] [illegible] the grounds is the Court [illegible]erse, 900 feet one way an[illegible] [illegible] the other, located in the ce[illegible] unit formed by eight of the eleven main exhibit palaces. Entrance to this court is by the tower gate, the great arch beneath the Tower of Jewels, the highest tower on the grounds, rising 435 feet in scintillating grandeur.

The Tower of Jewels is directly opposite the Scott street or main entrance gates to the Exposition, the South Gardens, 500 feet across, extending from the entry gates to the tower and along the frontages of the four palaces of the main group, which faces south.

Dominating the east side of the gardens is the great Festival Hall, suggested by the Theatre des Beaux Arts type of French architecture. In this hall is the greatest pipe organ in the world. Here will be held the musical, literary and dramatic features, and the congresses of the world—400 in all will meet at the Exposition—will hold their sessions. Particular attention has been paid to the acoustic properties so that each person in the 3,000 seats of the auditorium is assured of hearing distinctly everything from the stage.

Mighty Palace of Horticulture.

Nine hundred feet across the South Gardens, on the west end, is the mighty Palace of Horticulture, its great dome of glass, 152 feet in diameter, being a reproduction of the dome on the mosque of Ahmed I. at Constantinople. Here will be assembled what experts have declared to be the most complete exhibit of horticultural products ever gathered under one roof in the world.

The Palace of Horticulture cost $341,000.

The four exhibit palaces fronting the South Gardens are, in the order they appear as one faces them from the gardens, the Palace of Varied Industries to the extreme right, next the Palace of Manufactures, Tower of Jewels, Palace of Liberal Arts and Palace of Education. The four palaces that complete this group face San Francisco bay. They are the Palaces of Mines and Metallurgy, Transportation, Food Products and Agriculture.

These eight structures are bounded by four great boulevards, the Avenue of Palms on the south, the Avenue of Progress on the east, the Esplanade on the bay shore and the Avenue of Administration on the west.

Facing this group from the east, across the Avenue of Progress, is the Palace of Machinery, the largest frame building under one roof in the world, 967 feet long by 367 feet in width and costing $659,665. Here will be assembled everything in the world of machinery. A better idea of the dimensions of the behemoth of buildings than figures convey may be gained when the fact is recited that Lincoln Beachey made an exhibition flight with his aeroplane inside the building.

Four carloads of nails were used in its construction and 1,500 tons of nuts, bolts and washers.

Palace of Fine Arts.

Facing the main group of palaces from the west and across the Avenue of Administration and the Fine Arts Lagoon is the Palace of Fine Arts, curving around the lagoon one-fifth of a mile in length. This building is of steel and concrete, thoroughly fireproofed in order to protect the masterpieces of the world's art which will be on exhibition. The lagoon is one of the beautiful features of the outdoor decoration scheme. Thousands of birds, both wild fowl and tame, are already making it their home, while graceful swans and birds of plumage will glide over its limpid surface or preen in the flowers, shrubs and trees of its shores.

The Palace of Fine Arts cost $580,000.

The Fine Arts Palace, Machinery Palace and the Horticultural Palace comprise, with the eight other exhibit palaces and Festival Hall, the main architectural grouping of the central area of the Exposition grounds.

The dimensions of the buildings of the unit of eight are:

Palace of Varied Industries, 414 feet by 541 feet long, floor area 219,000 square feet, height 67 feet, cost $312,691.

Palace of Education, 394 feet by 526 feet, 205,100 square feet in floor area, cost $425,610.

Palace of Mines and Metallurgy, 451 by 579 feet, floor area 252,000 square feet, cost $359,445.

Palace of Transportation, 579 by 614 feet, 314,000 square feet floor area, cost $425,610.

Palace of Food Products, 424 by 579 feet, 328,290 square feet of floor area, cost $342,550.

Palace of Manufactures, 475 by 552 feet, 234,000 square feet in area, cost $341,069.

Palace of Liberal Arts, 475 by 585 feet, 251,000 square feet of floor area, cost $344,180.

Palace of Agriculture, 579 by 639 feet, 328,633 square feet of floor area, cost $425,610.

Sixty Thousand Exhibitors.

Within these eleven exhibit palaces are the displays of 60,000 exhibitors. Here will be presented the knowledge of the world today in practically every line of human endeavor. The Exposition will present the best that has been produced during the past decade by creative minds.

The exhibit palaces comprise the main or central group of buildings. The west group is composed of the pavilions of the foreign nations, of the states and the live stock section. The east group is the amusement Zone, where 100 concessionaires are located who were selected out of 7,000 applicants for space.

An Epitome of Progress.

The Exposition is in every sense contemporaneous. No exhibit will be considered for an award by the International Jury of Award that has not been produced since the St. Louis exposition. It therefore is an epitome of the progress of the world during the last decade—a decade which accomplished more for material advancement than did all the decades of the century, just as the last century produced greater achievements than all of the centuries preceding it.

Facts About the Panama-Pacific International Exposition

It represents an investment of $50,000,000.
It celebrates the completion of the Panama canal.
It is the first world's exposition in color.
It covers 635 acres, with all main exhibit palaces closely connected.
It has forty-seven miles of exhibit aisles in the eleven main exhibit palaces.
It is twenty minutes' ride from the heart of the downtown district of San Francisco.
It enjoys unexampled transportation inducements.
It contains the largest frame building under one roof in the world today, Machinery Hall, 968 by 368 feet.
It will be the mecca for over 400 conventions during the year.
It established a record in exposition history by being ready in advance of the opening day.

1.—Court of the Four Seasons, showing western portals, to the left, and, to the right, courts extending to the Marina and San Francisco bay. There are many of these beautiful sunken pools in the various courts, reflecting, mirror-like, the splendor of the architectural and sculptural adornment. The facade extending toward the bay is that of the Palace of Food Products.

2.—The marvelous effects in the night illuminations can be appreciated from this picture taken of the Greco-American colonnade of the Palace of Fine Arts. Facing the limpid waters of the Fine Arts Lagoon, the bases of these mighty columns bedded in the foliage that fringes its shores, the effect by night is a vision of beauty long to linger in the memory. The north and south wings of this colonnade extend 1,100 feet along the Fine Arts Lagoon.

3.—The great triumphal arch, the Arch of the Rising Sun, surmounted by a symbolical sculptured group, "The Nations of the East." The howdah upon the elephant rises 186 feet above the floors of the Court of the Universe.

4.—Among the rare exhibits in the Exposition's continuous live stock show are these long tailed Japanese chickens, which are bred especially for the emperor of Japan and whose valuation runs to as high as $2,000 for a single bird. These chickens are housed in glass, this precaution being necessary to preserve the fine quality and sheen of their wonderful feathers.

5.—On the left in this view of the Avenue of Palms is the stupendous Tower of Jewels, 435 feet high, or as high as the average thirty-five story building. This tower is in seven successive terraces and is crowned by a great globe, symbolizing the world. The tower is adorned with 125,000 cut glass prisms that tremble with the wind. At night they scintillate with all the colors of the rainbow as flashlights play upon them. On the right is seen the imposing doorway of the Palace of Liberal Arts, after the famous portal of the Santa Cruz hospice at Toledo, Spain.

CHAPTER XI.

The Chichesters.

ALARIC sat on the edge of her chair and put his arm around her shoulder and tried to comfort her.

"Don't you worry, mater," he said. "Don't worry. I'll go down and tell 'em what I think of 'em—exactly what I think of 'em. They can't play the fool with me. I should think not, indeed. Listen, mater. You've got a son, thank God, and one no bank can take any liberties with. What we put in there we've got to have out. That's all I can say. We've simply got to have it out. There! I've said it."

Alaric rose and, drawing himself up to his full five feet six inches of manhood, glared malignantly at some imaginary bank officials. His whole nature was roused. The future of the family depended on him. They would not depend in vain. He looked at Ethel, who was trying to make the best of the business by smiling agreeably on them both.

"It's bankrupt!" wailed Mrs. Chichester.

"Failed!" suggested Ethel cheerfully.

"We're beggars," continued the mother. "I must live on charity for the rest of my life, the guest of relations I've hated the sight of and who have hated me. It's dreadful—dreadful!"

All Alaric's first glow of manly enthusiasm began to cool.

"Don't you think we'll get anything?" By accident he turned to Ethel. She smiled meaninglessly and said for the first time with any real note of conviction:

"Nothing!"

Alaric sat down gloomily beside his mother.

"I always thought bank directors were blighters. Good heavens, what a mess!" He looked the picture of misery. "What's to become of Ethel, mater?"

"Whoever shelters me must shelter Ethel as well," replied the mother sadly. "But it's hard—at my age—to be—sheltered."

Alaric looked at Ethel, and a feeling of pity came over him. It was distinctly to his credit since his own wrongs occupied most of his attention. But, after all, he could buffet the world and wring a living out of it. All he had to do was to make up his mind which walk in life to choose. He was fortunate.

But Ethel, reared from infancy in the environment of independence—it would come very hard and over on her. Alaric just touched Ethel's hand, and with as much feeling as he could muster he said:

"Shocking, tough, old girl."

Ethel shook her head almost determinedly and said somewhat enigmatically and for her heatedly:

"No!"

"No?" asked Alaric. "No—what?"

"Charity!" said Ethel.

"Cold blooded words," and Alaric shuddered. "What will you do, Ethel?"

"Work."

"At what?"

"Teach."

"Teach? Who in the wide world can you teach?"

"Children."

Alaric laughed mirthlessly. "Oh, come, that's rich! Eh, mater? Fancy Ethel teaching grubby little brats their A B C's! Tush!"

"Must!" said Ethel, quite unmoved.

"A Chichester teach?" said Alaric, in disgust.

"Settled!" from Ethel, and she swept her fingers slowly across the piano.

"Very well," said Alaric determinedly, "I'll work too."

Mrs. Chichester looked up pleadingly.

Alaric went on: "I'll put my hand to the plow. The more I think of it the keener I am to begin. From today I'll be a workingman."

At this Ethel laughed a queer, little, odd, supercilious note, summed up in a single word, "Ha!" There was nothing mirthful in it. There was no reproach in it. It was just an expression of her honest feeling at the bare suggestion of her brother working.

Alaric turned quickly to her.

"And may I ask why that 'Ha!' Why, I ask you? There's nothing I couldn't do if I were really put to it—not a single thing. Is there, mater?"

His mother looked up proudly at him.

"I know that, dear. But it's dreadful to think of you—working."

"Not at all," said Alaric. "I'm just tingling all over at the thought of it. The only reason I haven't so far is because I've never had to. But now that I have I'll just buckle on my armor, so to speak, and astonish you all."

Again came that deadly, cold unsympathetic "Ha!" from Ethel.

"Please don't laugh in that cheerless way, Ethel. It goes all down my spine. Jerry's always telling me I ought to do something—that the world is for the worker—and all that. He's right, and I'm going to show him." He suddenly picked up the paper and looked at the date. "What's today—the 1st? Yes, so it is—June the 1st. Jerry's coming today—all his family too. They've taken 'Noel's Folly,' on the hill. He's sure to look in here. Couldn't be better. He's the cove to turn to in a case like this."

Jarvis, a white haired, dignified butler, who had served the family man and boy, came in at this juncture with a visiting card on a salver.

Alaric picked it up and glanced at it. He gave an expression of disgust and flung the card back on the salver.

"Christian Brent."

For the first time Ethel showed more than a passing gleam of interest. She stopped strumming the piano and stood up, very erect and very still.

Alaric Drew Himself to His Full Height.

Mrs. Chichester rose too. "I can't see any one," she said imperatively.

"Nor I," added Alaric. "I'm all strung up." He turned to Jarvis. "Tell Mr. Brent we're very sorry, but"—

"I'll see him," interrupted Ethel, almost animatedly. "Bring Mr. Brent here, Jarvis."

As Jarvis went in search of Mr. Brent Mrs. Chichester went up the great stairs. "My head is throbbing. I'll go to my room."

"Don't you worry, mater," consoled Alaric. "Leave everything to me. I'll thrash the whole thing out."

As Mrs. Chichester disappeared Alaric turned to his calm sister, who, strangely enough, was showing some signs of life and interest.

"Really going to teach?"

"Yes."

"Right! I'll find something, too—very likely a doctor. We'll pull through somehow."

Ethel made a motion toward the door as though to stop any further conversation.

"Mr. Brent's coming," she said, almost impatiently.

Alaric started for the window leading into the garden.

"Jolly good of you to let him bore you. I hate the sight of the beggar myself. Always looks to me like the first conspirator at a play."

The door opened, and Jarvis entered and ushered in "Mr. Brent." Alaric hurried into the garden.

A few words of description of Christian Brent might be of interest since he represents a type that society always has with it.

They begin by deceiving others; they end by deceiving themselves.

Christian Brent was a dark, tense, eager, scholarly looking man of twenty-eight years of age. His career as a diplomatist was halted at its outset by an early marriage with the only daughter of a prosperous manufacturer. Brent was moderately independent in his own right, but the addition of his wife's dowry seemed to destroy all ambition. He no longer found interest in carrying messages to the various legations or embassies of Europe or in filling a routine position as some one's secretary. From being an intensely eager man of affairs he drifted into a social lounger—the lapdog of the drawing room—where the close breath of some rare perfume meant more than the clash of interests and the conquest of a woman greater than that of a nation.

Just at this period Ethel Chichester was the especial object of his adoration.

Her beauty appealed to him.

Her absolute indifference to him stung him as a lash. It seemed to be little his powers of attraction. Consequently he redoubled his efforts.

Ethel showed neither like nor dislike—just a form of toleration. Brent accepted this, as a dog a crumb, in the hope of something more substantial to follow. He had come that morning with a fixed resolve. His manner was determined. His voice wooed as a caress. He went tenderly to Ethel the moment the door closed on Jarvis.

"How are you?" he asked, and there was a note of subdued passion in his tone.

"Fair," replied Ethel without even looking at him.

"Where is your mother?" suggesting that much depended on the answer.

"Lying down," answered Ethel truthfully and without any feeling.

"And Alaric?"

"In the garden."

"Then we have a moment or two—alone?" Brent put a world of meaning into the suggestion.

"Very likely," said Ethel, picking up a score of "Boheme" and looking at it as if she saw it for the first time, all the while watching him through her half closed eyes.

Brent went to her. "Glad to see me?" he asked.

"Why not?"

"I am glad to see you"—he bent over her—"more than glad."

"Really?"

He sat beside her. "Ethel," he whispered intensely, "I am at the crossroads."

"Oh!" commenced Ethel, without any interest.

"It came last night."

"Did it?"

"This is the end—between Sibyl and myself."

"Is it?"

"Yes—the end. It's been horrible from the first—horrible. There's not a word of mine—not an action—she doesn't misunderstand."

"How boring!" said Ethel blandly.

"She would see harm even in this!"

"Why?"

"She'd think I was here to—to"— He stopped.

"What?" innocently inquired Ethel.

"Make love to you." And he looked earnestly into her eyes.

She met his look quite frankly and astonished him with the question. "Well, aren't you?"

He rose anxiously. "Ethel!"

"Don't you always?" persisted Ethel.

"Has it seemed like that to you?"

"Yes," she answered candidly; "by insinuation, never straightforwardly."

"Has it offended you?"

"Then you admit it?"

"Oh," he cried passionately, "I wish I had the right to—to"— Again he wavered.

"Yes?" And Ethel looked straight at him.

—"make love to you straightforwardly." He felt the supreme moment had almost arrived. Now, he thought, he would be rewarded for the long waiting—the endless siege to this marvelous woman who concealed her real nature beneath that marble casing of an assumed indifference.

He waited eagerly for her answer. When it came it shocked and revolted him.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"I am glad you are working on your quilt, Aunt Mary," said Irene Barrett, seating herself in the wooden rocker with its feather cushion. "You always think of some nice story to tell me; the silk pieces bring back people and circumstances to you."

"Yes, indeed they do. I take a sight of comfort sewing on them. You see before mother died the silk crazy quilts began to be the fashion, and all her friends sent pieces of their dresses to her. They thought so much of mother she was a rare one for friends. So you want a story. Let me see——" and she fingered the silk scraps in her lap.

"I guess I'll tell you about Ezra Armstrong's wedding. This blue silk was a piece of his wife's wedding dress. I can see her just as plain when I look at it. No queerer fellow than Ezra ever trod sole leather. He was nicknamed 'Hesitating Ezra,' because he never could make up his mind about anything. If you asked him if he was going to do the simplest thing he'd say, 'Well, mebby, and mebby not; a feller never knows.' It came to be a byword. His mother said he had that hesitating way from babyhood.

"It was the same when he came to getting married. There were two girls, his near neighbors; one was Lucy Spencer and the other Susanne North——"

"How did it come that so backward a fellow had two girls? I should have thought one would have been perplexing enough for him," interrupted Irene.

"He couldn't make up his mind about the matter, so he asked just which girl he happened to meet first to any apple bee or church social there was going on. It was a blessing to the young folks, for it furnished amusement. Bets used to be up as to which he'd take.

"Things went on that way till the apple paring at Mark Saunders'. Ezra had been asked over to supper to help Mark get things ready, so the girls came with their folks. Then the bets were changed as to whom he'd dance with first.

"I think Lucy had an idea that if she could make Ezra jealous she would hurry things along a little. But, land! she should have known that Ezra was not the one to overcome obstacles; his road had to have the roller run over it to make it fit for him to travel.

"The fiddle was striking up for the dance. Susanne North was upstairs. I think she was about certain she'd be passed by for Lucy and she couldn't bear to face it out. Lucy, you see, had frizzed her hair and had on a new dress. A young fellow from a neighboring town was shining up to her that night and asked her for the first dance. When Ezra saw them whirl away together I guess he thought fate had decided the thing for him. He began to look around for Susanne and as soon as she came downstairs he was ready. He never went with Lucy again.

"Three weeks later, Mrs. Jones, the M. E. minister's wife, came running over one evening just after supper; she had a shawl over her head and was laughing so she could hardly talk. When she saw we all wanted to hear about the fun she began.

"'Did you see the horse hitched out in front of our house all the afternoon?' she asked. We nodded. 'Well, it was Ezra's horse. When he and Susanne first came in I thought of a wedding at once, but when he sat there hour after hour answering "yes" and "no" so solemn I thought may be 'twas his soul's salvation he'd come for and the fewer around the better, so I went out.

"'Poor James was working so hard to keep up any show of conversation that he was nearly black in the face and not one word, good, bad or indifferent, would Susanne say. When it got dark James excused himself to feed the critters, and, bless you, if Ezra didn't follow him to the barn. Out there he managed to worm it out of himself that they'd come to get married.

"'James hurried in, called me for a witness and tied them with neatness and dispatch.'"

"What became of them; could he make a living?" laughed Irene.

"Yes, they farmed it around here for a while, then went to West Virginia. Susanne made him a good wife; she was good tempered and his slowness never worried her," replied Aunt Mary.

"She surely possessed strong nerves or he would have driven her crazy," observed the girl.

Household Hints

WORTH KNOWING

Embroidery Tracing Table—How many lady readers who do embroidery and like to draw their own designs or trace them, have had aching arms from holding the pattern on the glass of the window at the same time trying to trace them? Try this: Take a shoe box, cut a hole in the end, put an electric drop light through the hole into the box, switch on the light, put a piece of window glass on for a cover and as a result you will have a nice little lighted tracing table with a hundred uses.

To Wash Bed Comforters—Make a nice warm soap suds in bathtub. Put comforter in. Take scrubbing brush and scrub soiled ends, using washboard to scrub on. After soaking and stamping, let water off and drain, then fill tub with clean water and rinse. Let the water off and drain. Don't try to wring. Put on line; when almost dry beat with carpet beater. It will be as light and fluffy as new and no muss to clean up.

EXCELLENT DESSERTS.

Apple Dumplings. Peanut Butter Crust—Sift together one pint flour, two level teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt; rub in lightly one-half cup peanut butter, then moisten with ice water as for pie crust. Roll out and cut into large squares. Lay on each square a pared and cored apple over which sugar and cinnamon have been sprinkled. Wet edges of crust and press together over apple. Bake as usual.

Orange Cream—Cover one-fourth cup gelatine with four tablespoons water. Soak half hour. Add one-half cup sugar and one-half pint orange juice. Stand gelatine over teakettle for a few minutes to melt. Add the orange juice and sugar, strain, turn mixture into pan and stand in cool place. Very delicious put over slices of angel food or in sherbet glasses with whipped cream on top.

Apple Roll—Make rich biscuit dough, roll out about one-half inch thick, spread thickly with finely cut apples, roll up, and cut into one-inch slices, like cinnamon rolls. Lay in baking pan. Now make a sauce of one-half cup sugar, one heaping tablespoon butter, one teaspoon cinnamon, two tablespoons flour, add one cup hot water, pour over rolls, then bake 25 minutes. Serve with cream or milk and sugar, or any preferred sauce.

TO PRESERVE RABBITS

Go to the commission house, get one dozen rabbits or more at $1.75 or $1.50 a dozen, wholesale price. Dress, wash well, cut in pieces as for table. Take three quarts white vinegar, one quart onions, half root celery, pinch allspice, salt, a little red pepper; let come to a boil, put the dozen rabbits in at one time, let boil 15 minutes—do not cook rabbits tender so meat will fall from bone. Put meat in hot mason jars like fruit. Next summer you can cook, any way you want, just like fresh rabbit. The meat is not sour; keeps all summer; delicious and cheap.

Animal Jingles

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

BY ALICE CREW GALL

The Discontented Blackbird.

A saucy young Blackbird sat up in a tree;
Said he: "I'm as unhappy as I can be.
The things that I do are a terrible bore:
I don't care a worm for this life any more.

"I really just hate my old rusty black clothes,
And how tired I am of my voice, no one knows.
I would be contented and happy, I know,
If I could just be a Red Rooster and crow!"

A Fairy who heard him said: "Oh, very well,
I'll let you try being a Rooster a spell."
She gave him a tap with her magical stisk
And the Blackbird turned into a Rooster that quick!

He flapped his red wings and he crowed very loud;
He strutted about and was terribly proud.
Then all of a sudden he saw with dismay
A man with a great ax coming his way.

"Good gracious!" the Rooster said. "He's after me;
I wish I were safe at home, up in my tree!"
And then in a twinkling he found himself back
In his favorite tree, in his old suit of black.

"I may have dropped off, for a minute or two,
And dreamed," said the Blackbird, "but this much is true:
I find I prefer by black clothes, and I know
I'd rather have safety and not so much 'crow.'"

POCKETS AN IMPORTANT FEATURE OF SPRING SUITS.

The huge pocket sections extending back to form a buttoned belt are strikingly modish additions to this well-cut spring suit of pepper and salt checked worseted. The skirt has a decided ripple flare and is short enough to show the feet. A new straw sailer trimmed with a deep pink popy and green leaves accompanies the trig costume.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Evidence Needed—Not Prophecy.

The debate on woman suffrage in the New York Times has attracted a great deal of attention to the subject and in so much Suffragists are indebted to the editors of the paper. We shall quote only two of the replies to the Times editorial, which editorial was—at is needless to say—extremely anti-suffrage, and antiquarian in tone.

Mrs. Gillman refers to the prime mistake of nearly all Anti-Suffragists that of claiming in the future tense bad results of woman suffrage of which there is evidence in the past. She then goes on to say:

There is just one strong ground of opposition to this extension of political liberty, and this so able a paper as yours should take—and hold—if it can.

That is to present a mass of evidence, clear and incontrovertible, to show that in the forty-four years of woman's exercise of suffrage in our country, or in the experience of other countries, it has resulted as you predict, "either in a needless political muddle or in a social and political turmoil," tending to weaken the State, to stir up discord in society and in the home, and put obstacles in the way of progress which the wisest statesmanship might fail to overcome.

Can you show these results in the past?

If not, why do you assume them in the future?

In lighter vein Alice Duer Miller address a poem to

The Times Editorials.

Lovely Antiques! breathing in every line
The perfume of an age long passed away,
Wafting us back to 1829
Museum pieces of a bygone day,
You should not languish in a public press,
Where modern thought might reach and do you harm,
And vulgar youth insult your hoariness
Missing the flavor of your old-world charm,
You should be locked where rust cannot carrode
In some old rosewood cabinet, dimmed by age,
With silver lustre, tortoiseshell and Spode
While all would cry, who read your yellowing page:
"Yes, that's the sort of thing that men believed Before the First Reform Bill was conceived."

Another poem of Miss Miller's is worthy of quotation. It is like passing from the ridiculous to the sublime, however, to read the serious and stirring verses, called forth by the birthday of Susan B. Anthony, on February 15.

To Susan B. Anthony.

Something there was that you imagined not,
For all your wisdom, temperate and high,
How unto us, to whom the kinder years
Secure a fairer fight, an easier lot,
Your name would be a creed, a battle cry,
A silver trumpet blowing to the sky,
Steeling our hearts, filling our eyes with tears,
Giving us fire and fortitude and love;
This was, alas! a thing you never guessed—
How younger women whom you knew not of
Would rise and call you blessed.

News and Notes.

Suffragists and Anti-Suffragists, alike, are looking forward with interest to the suffrage debate which will be held in the High School Auditorium on the evening of February 25. The debate has been arranged by the Democratic Club, of Plainfield, with a view to presenting both sides of the suffrage question "fairly and squarely" and thus preparing the local electorate to hold an informal opinion when they vote on the suffrage amendment next September.

About one hundred of the men's organizations of Elizabeth have allowed or invited Suffragists to present the cause of woman suffrage at their meetings. All the labor unions of that city have endorsed Equal Suffrage. Miss Ogden, of the Suffrage League, of Elizabeth, tells of the remark of one of the leading citizens upon returning from a visit to California: "Anyone who goes to California and does not come home a Suffragist is a fool," he said.

"Certainly in those States which have adopted woman suffrage and given it a fair trial the experiment has been reasonably successful. So far as questions of morals in social practice are concerned, and this can be affected by lawmaking, it is quite a matter of certainty that the woman vote will go right." (Says the Montclair Times.)

Friends Endorse Suffrage.

At the yearly meeting of the Friends of the five State of Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland and Ohio, woman suffrage was endorsed and meetings were urged to further the movement. The Friends have always been staunch supporters of the suffrage movement. It is expected that they will be a special help this year in bringing in New Jersey and Pennsylvania under the suffrage banner.

A Lesson in History.

(From the Woman's Journal.)

The Anti-Suffrage Associations have circulated widely a statement that woman suffrage originated in Utah, that the suffrage law of Wyoming, passed in 1869, merely gave women a vote for a few school officers. This is wholly without foundation. The Wyoming bill of 1869 gave women the full ballot. Anyone can obtain the text of the law by writing to the Wyoming Secretary of State.

Anti-Suffragists also claim that the women's vote is the main support of Mormonism. This is disproved by the history of equal suffrage in Utah. Julia Ward Howe wrote in the Woman's Journal of January 30, 1909:

"In Utah the full franchise was granted to women by the Territorial Legislature in 1870, and the women exercised it for seventeen years. Opponents of woman suffrage at the East affirmed that the supremacy of the Mormon Church was due to the women's vote, and the National Congress in 1887 made the experiment of taking the ballot away from the women of Utah, in the hope of thereby crippling the political power of the church. It is of interest to recall the fact that the Women's Anti-Polygamy Society of Utah passed a resolution protesting against this action. The prevailing opinion among the Suffragists outside of Utah was that all persons implicated in polygamy, whether men or women, might properly be disfranchised as lawmakers, but that to disfranchise Gentile women while Mormen men were still allowed to vote was inconsistent and unjust.

"The experiment proved a failure. The Mormons were found to have an ample majority in Utah, upon a vote of the men alone; and when in 1895 the Territory became a State, after drawing up for itself a State constitution, which had to be submitted to Congress for approval, Congress made no opposition to the restoration of suffrage to women. The men of all parties in Utah united in giving back to their wives and daughters the right of which they had been deprived. There was no dividing line on the subject between Mormons and Gentiles. The leading opponent of woman suffrage in the Utah Constitutional Convention was the well-known Mormon polygomist, Brigham H. Roberts. In his speech against it he urged exactly the same objections that are brought forward by the Anti-Suffragists in England and America. But the Constitutional Convention adopted woman suffrage 75 to 6, and the constitution providing for it was afterwards ratified on a popular vote by an enormous majority."

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Among the stellar burlesque shows that are attracting particular attention this season is Harry Hastings' "Tango Queens," which is billed to appear at Plainfield Theatre, Thursday, February 18, matinee and night. In putting his company together this year Mr. Hastings has used particular care and judgement, which has brought him very gratifying results wherever his company has appeared. Their show this year opens with a rollicking first part called "The Talk of the Strand," affording the ladies of the company exceptional opportunities for the display of many handsome gowns. Among the prominent principals in the large cast are: Tom Coyne, the ever-popular Irish comedian; Mabel Leslie, prima donna; the eccentric duo, Kohn and Nugent; Mildred Delmonte, the character songstress; Harry Harvey, the German and Hebrew comedian; Lena Daley, the dainty soubrette, and a host of others that make up a combination of talent seldom gathered together in one burlesque show. Princess Ozara is the special extra attraction.

The feature photoplay, "The Girl I Left Behind Me," based on David Belasco's great play, which had a record-breaking run throughout the country a few years ago, will be the attraction at the Plainfield Theatre this afternoon and tonight. It will have only the one day's showing, owing to the fact that Harry Hastings' "Tango Queens" will hold the boards tomorrow. On Friday and Saturday another of those desirable screen productions based on legitimate plays will be presented in the form of H. A. DuSouchet's comedy triumph, "The Man from Mexico." John Barrymore, a brother of the famous Ethel Barrymore, and one of America's leading character actors, posed for the title role. Every one of the five parts of "The Man from Mexico" is loaded with laughs, and numerous novelties are introduced that make it one of the greatest films brought to Plainfield. Moving pictures will form the greater part of next week's offerings at the Plainfield Theatre, being shown every night with the exception of Saturday, February 27, when Margaret Mayo's screaming farce, "Twin Beds," will play a return engagement. Remember that popular prices prevail during all moving picture performances at the Second street playhouse.

can be pretty accurately gauged by the character and ability of the men behind it.

A study of the personnel of our Board of Directors, composed of successful local as well as New York business men, will convince you of the reliability and conservatism of the management.

As evidence of their conservatism, we point to the fact that this institution carries at all times a cash reserve considerably in excess of the percentage required by the Department of Banking. Furthermore, its assets are kept in such shape that its demand deposits can be liquidated in 24 hours.

Additional patronage is solicited, based on service and responsibility.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS MOOSE

Attorney Francis J. Blatz Secures Reversal of Elizabeth Judge's Decision.

BROUGHT AS TEST CASE

Higher Court Rules That By-laws of Plainfield Lodge, No. 310, Loyal Order of Moose, Were Not Followed in Judgement.

Appearing before the Supreme Court, in Trenton, yesterday, Francis J. Blatz, of this city, representing the Plainfield Lodge, No. 310, Loyal Order of Moose, secured a reversal of the judgment handed down by Judge Abe David in the Elizabeth District Court, in favor of Vincenzo Tozze against the local fraternal order. The judgment amounted to $91 and an appeal was taken by the Plainfield attorney with a view to ascertaining the validity of the rules of the order, which were not followed in giving the judgment.

Tozze sued for sick benefits which he claimed were due him from the lodge. He testified to being indisposed for thirteen weeks and demanded remuneration at the rate of $7 a week, the usual sick allowance paid by the order.

Dr. Carl A. Gesswein, the lodge physician, testified at the trial in Elizabeth and rendered a professional opinion to the effect that the illness was not of a nature to warrant payment of back invalid dues to the amount of the sum requested by the plaintiff. The physician, upon examination, diagnosed the compliant as catarrhal trouble and advised the court that the ailment was not sufficiently severe to render the plaintiff inactive for thirteen weeks.

According to testimony, Tozze made a trip to Italy during the time he claimed to have been ill and it was contended by Mr. Blatz, for the defense, that a man justly entitled to sick benefits would not be able to make such a journey. Upon his return he presented two certificates from Italian medical practitioners testifying to the severity of the illness. According to the rules of the order such certificates, made by outside physicians, must be passed upon by the lodge physician. This procedure was ignored by Tozze, but in rendering the decision, Judge David ruled that the lodge by-laws would cut no figure in a case like this and gave the verdict without considering the main point of defense.

A verdict of this kind aroused an agitation among the lodgemen regarding the validity of the by-laws in the eyes of the court and the decision yesterday comes as an endorsement of the lodge's rules.

WILL HOLD HOSPITAL DANCE EASTER WEEK

Plans are under way for the third dance of the winter to be given by the Women's Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital, which will be held during Easter week, the exact date to be set later. The last dance, held on Thursday night of last week, netted about $230 for the work of the auxiliary.

ELKS' LEAGUE PLAY-OFF ON JERSEY CITY ALLEYS

Announcement was made today by President Alexander P. Hinton, of the Newark Lodge, that the Elks' Junior Bowling League had authorized the playing off of the second place tie between the Newark and Paterson teams on the Jersey City alleys Monday night, March 1. He designates the competing clubs' scorers as officials for the roll-off.

Much interest centres around this post-season attraction, and a large number of B. P. O. E. bowling enthusiasts from Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, are planning to visit the Skeetertown chutes on that date. The drives at the Watchung avenue club were offered for the match, but the executive committee decided in favor of the Jersey City rendezvous. The league trophies will be awarded at a dinner to be held in connection with the Senior League wind-up at a date to be announced later. The melon-cutting of both organizations will take place at that time.

SEEK ADOPTION OF CURFEW LAW

Committee From W. C. T. U. Confer With Mayor Calkins On the Subject.

Impressed with the fact that there are too many young people of tender years allowed to run the streets of the city at all hours of the night, Mrs. A. G. Negley and Mrs. T. C. Bodine, representing the Women's Christian Temperance Union, called on Mayor Leighton Calkins, today, by appointment to confer with him relative to the introduction of a curfew ordinance in Plainfield. Many instances were called to the attention of Mr. Calkins to show the need of such an ordinance here, and the latter assured the women that he would consider the matter carefully and make a thorough investigation.

In the opinion of Mrs. Negley and Mrs. Bodine there are many parents in Plainfield who care little where their children spend their evenings and they are permitted to remain away from home all hours of the night. The evils attending such practice was brought to the attention of Mr. Calkins and he was much impressed with what the women had to say on the subject and no doubt steps will be taken to correct some of the things complained of whether a curfew ordinance is adopted or not.

Mayor Calkins, in speaking of the matter afterward, said that he had not given much thought to the advisability of having a curfew ordinance here, but now that it had been brought to his attention he proposed to look into it and if there is any way to improve the conditions complained of it would be done. Mrs. Negley and Mrs. Bodine were much pleased with the way they were received by Mr. Calkins and his assurance to aid them in any way possible in their laudable efforts to improve conditions in Plainfield.

JUNIORS CELEBRATE LEAGUE ANNIVERSARY

Services Held in Grace M. E. Church Last Night With Many Features.

The Epworth and Junior League of Grace M. E. church held its anniversary services in the church last night. There were about two hundred present. J. R. Harden, president of the Epworth League, presided at the meeting. He also read the review and history of the society. Mrs. Robert Love read the historical sketch of the Junior League. After the reading, the Junior League sang "Oh, I'm Glad to be a Junior." Mrs. Alice Carroll presided at the pipe organ and Mrs. Grant, of Grove street, rendered a solo.

Rev. Edwin L. Earp, a former pastor of the church, but now professor of sociology in Drew Seminary, at Madison, made the address of the evening, and related many humorous incidents.

At the close of the exercises, a social hour was enjoyed, and refreshments were served, Miss Lillian Breaky having charge of the serving. An informal reception to Dr. and Mrs. Earp followed.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the church will have charge of the meeting tonight. Mrs. Addison McDowell will preside. A history of the society will be read by the secretary. Former pastor Rev. Henry J. Johnston, D. D., now pastor of the Park Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, East Orange, will make the address. Everybody is cordially invited to meet Dr. and Mrs. Johnston.

Tomorrow night the choir will celebrate its anniversary and the members consider themselves particularly fortunate in having Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, to make the address of the evening. The choir will render musical selections, the program being in charge of Miss Alice Carroll. A history of the choir will be read and a delightful time is assured all who attend.

FINAL DIVORCE DECREE.

RENEW LITIGATION IN WILL CONTEST

Petitioners Say Settlement Made of Fair Estate By New Market Woman Was Small.

Another chapter in the long drawn-out litigation for the $10,000,000 estate of the late Charles L. Fair, of California, who, with his wife, was killed in an automobile accident in France, was resumed before Justice Gavegan in the Supreme Court of New York yesterday. The contestants are George E. Lefler, of Union township, N. J., and Mrs. Mabel E. Towle, of Concord, N. H.

The petitioners have just come of age, and they assert that the settlement made by their grandmother, Mrs. Hannah Nelson, of New Market, amounting to $400,000 was too small. The New Market woman, being the nearest kin to the Fairs, was entrusted with the settlement of the large estate. It is alleged that in Mrs. Nelson's distribution the children received $6,500 each. Counsel for Mrs. W. M. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, sisters of Fair, between whom his estate was equally divided by the California courts, sought to nullify the efforts of the heirs-at-law of Mrs. Fair to recover what they allege to be their share of the estate.

It was argued that since the California courts already had divided the estate, the New York courts had no right to step in and review the decision. Attorneys for the heirs-at-law, children of Mrs. Fair's sister, replied that it had been proven that Mrs. Fair survived her husband, and that as she was alive for a short time after he died, the estate belonged to her and properly should pass to her heirs. Justice Gavegan gave each side until March 1 to file briefs, reserving his decision.

EMPLOYED BOYS' CLASS GUEST AT A SOCIAL

The members of the employed boys' class of the Y. M. C. A. held a social hour in the boys' rooms, last night, after the class period. There were about twenty present and the evening was spent in playing games and singing. Secretary Edwin Glaentzer told several interesting stories about camp life.

F. E. Smith, a member of the boys' work committee, was present and assisted in entertaining. Refreshments were served and it is planned to hold similar affairs every Wednesday night.

HOPE CHAPLE Y. M. A. TO GIVE 'THE DEACON ENTANGLED'

Rehearsals for "Deacon Entangled," the second annual play to be given by the Hope Chapel Y. M. A., are being held regularly, and with the date for the production only one week off, the finishing touches are all that are left. The cast has been practicing hard for the past three weeks and expect to give a fine performance.

The entertainment will be held Thursday, February 25, in Hope Chapel. Baseball fans will be especially interested in this production, as the diamond sport plays a large part throughout the entire performance.

SUNSHINE MISSION BAND TO GIVE TWO PLAYS

The Sunshine Mission Band, of the Crescent Avenue church, will present two plays in the chapel of the church tomorrow at 3:15 o'clock in the afternoon and at 8:15 o'clock in the evening. The plays will be "The Frog Fairy" and "Little Men." The cast for "The Frog Fairy" is as follows:

The Frog Fairy, Stella Butler; the three Princesses, Helen Voorhees, Frances Shaw and Mary Genung; the King, Jessie Fullerton; a soldier, Jean Runyon; the executioner, Julia Hall; a herald, Frances Abbe.

The cast for "Little Men" is as follows: Mrs. Bhaer, Adelaide Harper; Daisy, Frances Shaw; Nan, Jane Stout; Teddy, Margaret Harper; Tommy, Martha Williams; Demi, Sarah Johnson; Nat, Julia Hall; Dan, Marian Van Zandt; Mr. Bhaer, Margaret Stout. The price of admission is nominal. Tickets may be obtained from members of the band or at the door.

DR. WORRAL TO PREACH.

Rev. Dr. Thomas Worral, of New York, will be the special Lenten preacher at Holy Cross church tonight at 7:5. There will be special music.

FEDERATION MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Newark Diocesan Federation of the Holy Name Society will be held in St. Rose of Lima's Auditorium, Orange and Gray streets, Newark, Sunday afternoon at 2:45 oclock. Each society is entitled to a representation of two delegates and two alternates. The Holy Name Society of the this city has received a notice from the Union County Federation, of which Daniel J. Courain, of Plainfield, is president, to send representatives to the federation meeting in Newark.

PARSNIPS VICTIM IMPROVING.

The condition of Marion Tallaboschi, the Woodbrook Farm employe, who was almost fatally poisoned yesterday by eating wild parsnips, was reported at Muhlenberg Hospital, today, as being much improved. The patient recovered consciousness at 3 o'clock last night and the physicians now believe he will survive. Tallaboschi's case is one of the most peculiar of the kind that has come to the notice of local medical circles and his progress will be closely watched.

PARLOR MEETINGS.

Mrs. Frederick Conlin, of Kensington avenue, entertained the members of the W. C. T. U. at her home yesterday afternoon. There were about fourteen present, and a general discussion of the work of the organization was held. Readings were made by several of the members. Singing was also enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostess during the afternoon.

FIRST OF LENTEN TALKS.

Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, gave the first of a series of Wednesday evening Lenten talks at the church last night on "Christian Problems of the Day," the initial talk being in the nature of a statement of the problems. In the succeeding talks Mr. Stevenson will discuss the problems in detail.

EDUCATIONAL LECTURE

The continuance of the Board of Education's free lecture series will take place in the High School Auditorium tonight, when Robert G. Weyh will tell about "California and the Panama Exposition of 1915." Many beautiful and instructive pictures will be shown to illustrate the talk.

Dr. W. J. Murray to Speak.

Dr. W. John Murray, of the Church of the Healing Christ, New York, will give a lecture at the Waldorf, 134 Crescent avenue, Thursday night, February 18, at 8:15. His subject will be "The Message of the Truth." All persons interested are invited to attend, and a voluntary contribution will be received.—Adv. ***

NURSES' ALUMNAE GIVE BIRTHDAY TEA

Charming Social Function Nets $200 For a Special Fund.

The Alumnae Association of the Muhlenberg Hospital Training School for Nurses conducted a very successful birthday tea in the Nurses' Home on Park avenue, yesterday afternoon. More than 200 persons attended and a profit of about $200 will be realized, this sum being used as a nucleus for a fund recently established to provide for nurses who are incapacitated.

Miss Elizabeth Wilson was general chairman in charge and she was assisted in receiving the visitors by a committee composed of the Misses Catherine Knox, Elizabeth Randall and Isabel McNicol. Tea was poured by Mrs. Ralph Davison and Miss Louise Gould. Informality was the keyword of the occasion and everybody enjoyed each moment of the visit. The tea continued between the hours of 3 and 6 and during all that time a musical program was provided by the Plainfield High School orchestra. The efforts of the association met with such a hearty response from all its friends that the young women feel highly elated and will probably arrange similar affairs to be held in the near future. The fund that is being secured will pay for a Muhlenberg bed, arrangements for which have met with the sanction of the hospital board of governors.

In making the arrangements and conducting the tea, Miss Wilson was assisted by a committee composed of the Misses Olga Anderson and Minnie Kyle and Mrs. Frank McInerney, Jr.

"QUESTION BOX" FEATURE OF POULTRY MEETING

A "question box" was a feature of the monthly meting of the New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement held last night. A number of queries were placed in the box before the meeting and were answered by William F. Isenmann and Joseph R. Wiener, of Dunellen. The idea proved to be so popular that it will probably be a feature at every meeting.

Plans were discussed for the March meeting to be held at the Plainfield High School. A stereopticon lecture will be given on the subject of "Poultry," slides having been secured from the Government.

BISHOP DAVID H. GREER TO PREACH IN THIS CITY

Bishop David H. Greer, of New York, will be the special Lenten preacher at Grace church, Sunday morning, the service being held at 10:30 o'clock. This will be the first time in a number of years that Bishop Greer has visited Plainfield and his presence here should be of unusual interest not only to Episcopalians, but others who know of the great work accomplished by Bishop Greer in New York.

Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, the rector of Grace church, feels especially fortunate in being able to secure Bishop Greer for the Sunday morning service and is sure that a large congregation will be present to hear the distinguished preacher.

TEST OF NEW ENGINE IS INDEFINITELY POSTPONED

It was announced by Chief T. O. Doane today that the official test of the new Nott fire engine, scheduled for Saturday, had been indefinitely postponed. The change of plan is due to the breaking of a cam in one of the pumps, which was discovered after the engine had been run constantly for six hours a few days ago. The Nott factory at Minneapolis was wired for a duplicate part, and it has already been shipped by express. It will reach here tomorrow, but no new date for the test can be made until the mechanism has been tested out by the company's demonstrator. The latter came to Plainfield yesterday.

The Netherwood Resident's Association has been making plans to hold a celebration in connection with the test, a feature of the program being a buffet lunch. This plan has also been of a necessity abandoned for the present, but will be held when the test is made.

MRS DURAR'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Madeline Durar, wife of Harold C. Durar, who died early yesterday morning, will be held at the late residence on Ravine road, tomorrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in the cemetery at Linden.

HORSE'S SHORT RACE CAUSED EXCITEMENT

Pedestrians On North Avenue Had Some Narrow Escapes.

While standing at the North avenue depot platform at 10:15 this morning a horse belonging to the Welsh Farms Dairy was frightened by a passing Philadelphia express and started at breakneck speed down the incline and into North avenue, which at that time was crowded with vehicles and pedestrians. As the frenzied animal raced out of the depot driveway Elijah Dufford, who was in charge of the horse and delivery wagon, managed to grasp the bridle and held on in a perilous fashion while the equine sped on.

The momentum gained as the wagon was drawn down the hill caused it to swing to one side of the street, and it struck the curb in front of Smalley's butcher shop with great force. The impact caused the heavy wagon to turn over, and in its fall it scraped the nose of another horse attached to a lighter vehicle. The latter animal turned around and started up on the sidewalk, the shafts grazing the butcher shop window.

When the milk wagon overturned the horse was thrown and the driver gained control of his steed. The second horse was caught a moment later. Fortunately Dufford had just started preparations to load milk on the wagon, and had not secured his supply when the runaway occurred. When the vehicle turned over several panes of glass were smashed and the body of the wagon was scratched. Aside from this, no damage was done in the wild flight.

Pedestrians in the immediate vicinity at the time had a narrow escape from injury. The frightened animal raced out of the driveway and down to the curb without warning, and there was some wild scurrying to shelter.

SHUMACKER LEADS RELIGIOUS SERVICE

Hailed By Co. Authorities As a Regular "Billy" Sunday to Jail Birds.

Prisoners in the Union county jail at Elizabeth, numbering 150, heard a sermon delivered by C. Edward Schumacher, of this city, at the Wednesday afternoon religious exercises yesterday. Schumacker, who is an inmate of the jail awaiting extradition to New York State, where he is wanted on a land fraud charge, has created a sensation among the county authorities by his introduction of semi-weekly meetings of this nature and all prisoners are allowed to attend the sessions if they so desire. A number from Plainfield were in the audience, yesterday, and all appeared to be keenly interested in what the speaker had to say.

Schumacker is an exponent of the "Billy Sunday style of delivering the Gospel and held his listeners from the start to finish of an eloquent half hour's demonstration of his preaching ability. He described the bright side of life to the inmates and endeavored to make them realize that society was not against them. He urged them to turn over a new leaf at the expiration of their sentences and to forsake evil for the true and righteous path. At intervals during the service Schumacker led in the rendition of hymns in which all of the prisoners joined.

Included in the audience were county officials, newspapermen and hardened criminals.

SPRAINED HIS ANKLE.

David T. Kenney, of the borough, is suffering from a severely sprained ankle which he sustained yesterday while inspecting Harry Payne Whitney's recently completed yacht at Elizabethport. The accident was caused by a misstep. Mr. Kenney returned to Plainfield as soon as possible and had the injury treated at Muhlenberg Hospital, afterward returning to his home on Rockview avenue. He will be kept indoors for a few days.

DEATH OF CHARLES DOW.

Charles Dow, a well-known Elizabeth business man, who had many friends and acquaintances in this city, died at his home in the former place yesterday afternoon. Mr. Dow leaves a wife, who was Miss Mary Overbaugh, of Plainfield, sister to Mrs. Amos Gray, and Tenador Overbaugh and the late Charles and Herbert Overbaugh. Mr. Dow was about fifty years old and was a native of Raritan.

KOLOMEA TAKEN BY AUSTRIANS

Vienna Reports Victory In Kukowina Came After Two Days' Fighting.

DROP BOMBS IN FRANCE

Montbeliard Latest City to Be Attacked By Germans, But No Damage Is Caused—Turkish Commander Injured.

London, Feb. 18—A despatch from Vienna says that an official report says that Kolomea, in Bukowina, was taken after two days of hard fighting. "We drove the enemy in spite of his stubborn resistance out of his last positions in front of Kolomea, thus reaching the town at one operation. We prevented the Russians from blowing up the bridge over the River Pruth. The town, cleared of Russians, was occupied by us. We captured 2,000 prisoners and several machine guns and light cannon."

In the Carpathian section as far as Vyschkoff, the fighting continues with great ferocity. Four thousand additional prisoners have been brought in.

Petrograd, Feb. 18—The Russian general staff issued the following today:

"On the right bank of the Vistula fighting has been going on in almost the same localities with great ferocity. In certain sections, near the Niemen River, we have found only patrols of the enemy. On the left bank of the Vistula there has been no change.

"In Galicia we repulsed an attack on the Khava-Vikorotsch front with great losses to the enemy. Further east the enemy endeavored to attack us in the region of Loubnestoudenne, but without success. In repelling this attack we made prisoners of ten officers and 1,400 soldiers and captured three machine guns. There is no change in Bukowina."

Berlin, Feb. 18 (by wireless)—The following was given out at German headquarters today:

"The attacks of the enemy reported yesterday in the western theatre of war continued but with the same lack of success. On the road from Arras to Lille, fighting continues for a small section of a German trench, which the enemy entered on February 16. The number of prisoners taken yesterday northeast of Rheims has been increased. The French losses were especially heavy. Their attacks have ceased in the Champagne region.

"North of Perthes fighting continues. East of Perthes the French were repulsed.

"Nothing new is reported from Poland south of the Vistula. The engagements near Plock and Racionc have been decided in favor of the Germans with the result that we now have 3,000 prisoners from that region. The results near the East Prussian frontier have increased until now we have taken 64,600 prisoners, guns, more than 100 machine guns, three hospital trains, some aircraft, 150 cars filled with ammunition and countless cars with loads of war munitions and horses. A further increase of this booty can be expected."

Paris, Feb. 18 (via London)—Two German aeroplanes yesterday, dropped several bombs on Montbeliard, none of which caused any damage. The aviators escaped.

The French war office gave out the following this afternoon:

"From the sea to the Oise there was nothing new during the night. It is now learned that the successful surprise attack which made us masters of two lines of German trenches to the north of Arras, northeast of Roclincourt, caused heavy losses to the enemy. We captured a bomb thrower and several hundred bombs.

"In the valley of the Aisne and in the sector of Rheims there were artillery combats in which our batteries gained the advantage. In Champagne in the region of Perthes all the ground gained yesterday and the day before has been held.

"Among the prisoners which we captured on February 16 and 17 are officers and men of the Sixth and Eighth Corps of the active army and of the Eighth, Tenth and Twelfth Reserve Corps.

"In the Argonne we have likewise maintained a gain realized in the forest of Grurie, to the south of La Fontaine Aux Charmes. We have on the other hand made some progress in the region of Boureuilles, against Hill 263.

"Our success between the Argonne and the Meuse reported in the communique of the night of February 17 made us masters of a wood to the south of the forest of Cheppy.

"From the Meuse to the Vosges

NEW MARKET TO HAVE BIG INDUSTRY

Brooklyn Iron Works to Build Large Plant There.

For the past week rumors have been current that a large factory was to locate at New Market and today they were verified by Real Estate Agent John Fedderman, announcing that he has sold the Mrs. Bessie Blackford farm on the road to South Plainfield to George W. Harris, of the firm of Harris, Silver, Baker Company, which is operating a large structural iron and steel plant at Brooklyn and will transfer their business to New Market.

Work will be started on the erection of the plant as soon as the weather permits and it is hoped that the work will have advanced to such a stage as to be able to move the business at an early date.

It is said that the firm will commence operations on its new site with a force in the neighborhood of 100 men. As additional factories are erected more men will be taken on until the employment list will total between four and five hundred.

The Blackford farm will give the works a frontage of 1,600 feet on the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

JOHN FEDDERMAN EFFECTS SETTLEMENT IN SUIT

John Fedderman has received a settlement in the case in which he sued the Watchung Investment Company for the commission amounting to $142.50 alleged to be due him on the sale of the company's house to Mrs. Annie Rinehart, through the John P. Fenner agency on August 31. The case was heard before Judge Woodbridge, in the District Court, at New Brunswick, on December 31. The plaintiff was represented by Assemblyman George L. Burton and the defendant company by Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of Plainfield. The sum and substance of the case was this: The defendant company contested the payment of the commission on the ground that the plaintiff was in no way responsible for the sale while the plaintiff on the other hand produced a contract showing that the house had been placed in his hands for sale and then endeavored to show how he had worked the sale up. The jury after deliberating a few minutes brought in a verdict of $130 and costs against the defendant company.

The case was appealed on January 9 and the defendant company given ten days to file a brief of facts. On the expiration of the ten days a continuance of fifteen days was asked and granted. At the end of the fifteen days the defendant company decided to go no further with the appeal and a proposition was made by their attorney to Mr. Fedderman which was accepted.

James J. Dawson, principal of the public schools at South Amboy, was entertained by Harold O'Neil, of Washington avenue, over the week-end.

Louis Feldman, the North avenue shoe dealer, spent yesterday in North Plainfield attending to important business.

Miss Rita Brokaw, who teaches in the Whittier School, is recovering slowly from her trying illness. She has been ill for the past four weeks.

Mrs. C. B. Mattis, of Washington avenue, and Mrs. Walter S. Craig, of New Market road, spent yesterday in New York.

Charles Cregar's dancing class, which on account of the special dances that have been held in the local theatre has not been meeting on the regular night for the past two weeks, will resume the old schedule this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Day, of Dunellen avenue, are on a trip to Washington.

William B. Smith, of Caldwell, a former resident of New Market, was a visitor in the borough yesterday.

Charles Wyckoff and son, William, of Front street, visited Mr. Wyckoff's sister, Miss Margaret Lett, of New York city, yesterday.

Emanuel Appert, who has been making his home at the residence of former Mayor William Wyckoff for the past five years, moved to New York, yesterday.

Miss Mabel Noyes, teacher of manual training in the local schools, has returned from Copenhagen, N. Y., where she was called two weeks ago by the serious illness of her father. Miss Noyes left her father slightly improved.

SPRAINS HER ANKLE.

Miss Edna Burdick, teacher of the Third grade of the Whittier School, sprained her ankle at her home on Prospect avenue, Tuesday morning, and has been unable to teach her class. Miss Grace Parker, of Second street, is substituting for Miss Burdick.

SELLING PEANUTS.

The pupils of the various grades of the schools are selling peanuts in an endeavor to raise money for the purchase of talking machine records. Although the sale only started yesterday they have sold over 100 quarts. They have 250 quarts to sell altogether.

The George Naylor house on Orange street, formerly owned by Peter Ratti, has been rented through the John Fedderman agency to Ralph Sabin, of New York, who has taken possession.

Miss Mabel Bennett, who teaches in the Lincoln School, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bennett, at Bloomfield, over the week-end.

Mary Pfeister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pfeister, of Front street, has the measles.

Miss Florence Smalley, daughter of Street Commissioner and Mrs. I. V. Smalley, who is suffering with muscular rheumatism, is better.

Mrs. John Moynihan, of North avenue, who suffered a stroke on Tuesday morning, is very low.

Mrs. George W. Churchill, of Washington avenue, who has been ill since last Thursday, is better.

Dr. Thomas J. Hogan is reported as being very ill and his relatives and friends are manifesting grave concern over his condition.

TURKEY SUPPER.

The postponed turkey supper of the Y. P. S. C. E. will be held on Friday evening, March 12.

ELECT SCOUT LEADERS.

Scout Troop No. 1, held a meeting in the Presbyterian chapel on Tuesday evening, at which time Harold Seal and DeWitt Swackhamer were elected patrol leaders. Other business was the decision to take a long hike on Washington's Birthday. The Scouts will leave the borough at 8 o'clock in the morning. They will be in charge of Assistant Scoutmaster Adam Dealaman.

TO PLAY TWO GAMES.

Scout Troop No. 1 will play two games of basketball on the Presbyterian court this evening. The main game will be the regulars vs. the North Plainfield High School freshmen, and the other game will be between the seconds and the Allies, of Plainfield High School.

TABLETS ARRIVE.

Two tablets have been received by the Board of Education to be placed in the walls of the new Lincoln School. One of the tablets bears the inscribed names of the members of the Board of Education and the other the names of the contractor and subcontractors. Two mistakes have been made in the spelling of the inscribed names and the tablets will be returned for correction.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The postponed meeting of the Boy Scouts will be held in the lecture room of the Baptist church tonight. The subject of the lecture to be given on Washington's Birthday will be announced at the meeting and instruction will be given in witchcraft to prepare the boys for the examinations to be held the last of the month.

The February meeting of the Ladies' Sewing Circle of the Willow Grove chapel was held in that edifice yesterday afternoon. The time was spent sewing and later the committee in charge served tea.

Mrs. Harry P. Robinson entertained the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Episcopal church at her home on North avenue, yesterday afternoon, for the weekly meeting. The business session was followed by sewing.

One of the most successful events in Scotch Plains in a long time was given in Excelsior Hall, last night, when a "Lunchbox Social" was conducted under the auspices of the "Old Guard" of the Jr. O. U. A. M. The hall was crowded with dancers during the forepart of the evening and when the auctioning off of the lunch boxes prepared by the wives of the members began some lively bidding resulted and a considerable sum was realized to bear the expense of new uniforms for the "Guard."

The borough library will be open tomorrow night between the hours of 7:30 and 8:30.

Holy baptism will be administered at the 11 o'clock morning service in All Saints' Episcopal church on Sunday, when several new members will be received into the church.

William Strong, of Martine avenue, is on an extended business trip in the Eastern States.

Mrs. E. J. Reeder, of Martine avenue, is slowly recuperating from a severe attack of plural pneumonia.

Exercises appropriate to Washington's Birthday will be conducted in the various classrooms of School No. 1 tomorrow noon.

Miss Ethel Gennis, of Brooklyn, has returned home after a short visit with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sherwood, of Martine avenue.

Miss Bertha Clifford, of the township, has returned from visiting her uncle in Columbus, Ohio, for several weeks.

The choir of the Episcopal church meets at the home of Mrs. J. Hudson Thompson tonight.

The weekly meeting of the Lend-a-Hand Society of the Baptist church will be held in the parlors of the church tomorrow afternoon.

Warrenville.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cooper entertained the Coontown Ladies' Aid at their home Tuesday night. Fifteen dollars was realized and a good time was enjoyed by all. A feature of the evening was the distributing of keys and hearts, the men receiving keys and the women the hearts. The men had to find the heart that fitted the key which he had. Several selections were sung by Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. John Cooper, Eugene Bowers and the Rev. George Bowers. The next social will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams, of Mountain boulevard.

Gerald Bowers, while playing on the school grounds yesterday, fell and sprained his wrist. He was taken to the home of Mrs. John Cooper, where she dressed it. Later he was taken to a doctor.

Miss Anna Conlan, of Pennsylvania, who has been visiting Mrs. W. Howard Toms, will return to her home this week.

The Misses Vera and Dolly Paulson, of Brooklyn, will spend the week-end with Miss Minnie Steffens, of Mt. Bethel.

Tomorrow and Saturday the attraction will be the five-part photoplay, "The Man from Mexico," with John Barrymore in the title role. An additional number tomorrow will be the continuation of the great serial, "The Trey of Hearts," the continued story which has set the whole town talking. Popular prices prevail at the Plainfield Theatre during all picture engagements, and the program provided gives the best money's worth in town.

Harry Hastings' "Tango Queens" is the offering at the Plainfield Theatre this afternoon and tonight, being presented by the Harry Hastings Amusement Company in a brilliant offering of the latest craze in burlesque. Hastings' "Tango Queens" is the latest addition to the Columbia circuit of burlesque theatres, and is classed as one of the best shows that the "wheel" contains. It is principally a laugh-producing show, but there are plenty of dance numbers and melodies scattered throughout the action to please the senses while one is resting between the gales of laughter. The chorus, which contains some twenty beauties, is one of the big features.

The "Tango Queens" has a notable cast, headed by Tom Coyne, the ever-popular comedian, and Princess Ozara, the sensational Egyptian dancer, whose offering, "Ten Minutes Among the Pyramids," is a decided novelty, and will be seen for the first time here. Others in the cast are Harry Harvey, who works opposite Coyne in the laugh-producing lines; Mabel Leslie, the well-known prima donna; Jack Martin, Kahn and Nugent, Lena Daley, Mildred Delmonte and Mlle. De Vere. Completing this notable array of talent the chorus is especially attractive and given the most bewitching costumes ever designed for burlesque. As one of the scenes is a bathing pavilion, it is easy to imagine the latitude permitted in the preparation of the wardrobe for this scene.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The wardrobe which the association is working on for the Panama Exposition is very nearly completed. The articles will be on exhibition in the association the latter part of this month before being sent to the headquarters in New York.

The Glee Club will meet next Wednesday night, instead of Monday night, owing to the fact that Monday is Washington's Birthday.

The swimming and dressmaking classes will meet as usual on Monday night.

GOSPEL ADDRESS.

The gospel address to be given by Samuel Ridout, at 209 East Front street, at 8 o'clock this evening, will be on "The Coming of the Lord in the Light of the Scriptures and Present Conditions." The subject will be "The Close of the Present Day of Grace."

FEB. 18TH IN HISTORY.

1546—Died, Martin Luther, church reformer, ager 63. Was street singer in youth, translated the Bible, a task of 13 years, and shook the papal throne to its foundation.

1652—Died, at Rome, Gregorio Allegri, music composer, who wrote "Miserere," still used in churches. The Gregorian Chant is named for him.

1815—President Madison signed the treaty of peace with England.

1853—Emperor Francis Joseph barely escaped assassination.

1861—Jefferson Davis inaugurated President of the Confederate States of America, at Montgomery, Ala.

1863—Southern newspapers indignant over peace propositions of the French minister of foreign affairs., declared their only peace commissioners were Lee and his fellow generals.

1867—Maximilian and the French army entered Quaretaro, Mexico.

1871—The powers recognized the Republican Government of France.

1887—United States Senate passed an anti-polygamy bill.

1904—Lord Roberts retired from the office of commander in chief of the British army.

1914—Congress passed bill for construction of Government railroad in Alaska.

Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 18, 1915.

IMPROVING POLICE SERVICE.

Plainfield's police department is equipped with a call-box system that should be brought up-to-date in the immediate future to meet the demands of the municipality. When the present system was installed, at the time of the erection of the present headquarters, provision was made only for call-box reporting, there being no "calling" facilities. Frequently the desk man at headquarters desires to get into touch with a copper on a certain beat and under present conditions he is forced to dispatch an extra man to notify the one sought. This requires the stationing of an extra man at the police station night and day, and it is a well known fact that men are none too plentiful, especially at night.

Perth Amboy and other nearby towns have recently installed a system of modern police signalling, that has proven highly successful and could be added to the present signal board at a comparatively small expenditure. At night a red light is flashed at points along a patrolman's beat to notify him that he is wanted. The officer seeing the red light then calls headquarters. In the day-time a siren whistles replaces the light. This siren can be heard for some distance, and the officer hearing it knows that he is being sought.

The system now in use here makes it impossible for headquarters to notify a patrolman that he is needed, and sometimes a wait of nearly an hour is entailed before he calls headquarters. There is no means by which he can be attracted unless another officer is sent from headquarters to hunt him up.

CONGRESS AND THE EXECUTIVE.

When summoned with others into the presence of the Chief Magistrate recently, in order to take part in a White House consideration of a bill before Congress, Senator Clapp, of Minnesota, is reported to have told the President, as soon as the bill was mentioned, that he "could not discuss the matter" and to have "intimated clearly his disapproval of Executive interference in legislative matters."

Moses Edwin Clapp may be an intellectual pygmy beside Woodrow Wilson or may not. In any case he has set an excellent example to the other members of the legislative branch of the government. While it is possible to understand a weary and burdened President's desire to expedite the passage of a favored bill by every means he regards as legitimate, we must not lose sight of the fact that the Constitution has ordained three separate and co-ordinate departments of the Federal government and that the Executive is thereby stopped from active participation in legislation, his power of veto being his only recognized resource when he wishes to control the action of Congress.

Unquestionably there is need in our time of a limitation of the Executive's activities to the Constitutional functions of his office and a restoration of the original balance of power among three co-ordinate departments of the Federal government. The tendency toward Executive aggression at the cost of the co-ordinate powers dates back far beyond Woodrow Wilson's time. It has been a gradual growth of years, and it may be said to have reached the greatest extreme yet witnessed when Theodore Roosevelt put a treaty with San Domingo into operation months before the Senate knew of its existence, gave the Steel Trust permission to absorb the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, and "took Panama and then let Congress debate."

Perhaps the growth of this tendency has been due less to the desire to dominate on the part of personally powerful Presidents than to the willing subservience of patronage-seeking representatives in the Senate or House and to an increasing disposition among the people themselves to look to a single strong man at Washington as the means of securing desired reform. However that may be, the tendency toward Executive aggression is a distinctly unwholesome one, involving danger to the very life of our existing institutions.

Rumor has it that the councilmanic fire committee is contemplating motorizing one of the present pieces of horse-driven fire apparatus. When the trouble the department has experienced in a previous case is taken into consideration, the report, if true, is surprising. The headquarter's chemical was motorized two years ago and the city has been compelled to pay out large sums on several occasisons for repairs. Making over a second-hand piece of apparatus so that it will serve the city economically and efficiency is a problem that looms up as being well nigh unsolvable, and it would probably prove more satisfactory in the end to wait until sufficient funds are forthcoming for the purchase of a new and modernly equipped vehicle for fire-fighting purposes.

Former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, in his interview in the Daily Press last night, had some things to say about the economy and efficiency bills now before the Legislature. It is true that the former Mayor is an "interested party," as it were, for the Riparian Commission, of which he is a member, would be legislated out of office and he would lose a nice salary with none too arduous duties to earn it. At the same time he hit the nail squarely on the head when he spoke about the possibilities for economy in the State House. While many of the departments are running with forces which are only large enough for their work, there are others that employ entirely too much help for the amount of work done.

The contributing editor for Saturday will be a new comer to Plainfield, but one who is by no means a stranger, for in the few months he has been here he has made hundreds of friends. His subject will be a timely one of interest to all of our readers.

JUNIOR'S GUESTS ENJOY AN EVENING WITH CARDS

The Junior Club of the Jr. O. U. A. M., conducted a very successful progressive euchre and pinochle party in Junior Hall, on East Front street, last night. The attendance was about 100, and twenty tables were used in the play. All the games were hotly contested and the winners of the various contests had to use "science" to make their points. The prizes awarded were as follows: First prize, euchre, Mrs. Latourette and Harry Thomason; second prize, euchre, Mrs. Switzer and W. J. Hartpence. First prize, pinochle, Mrs. Sutton and Frank Legge; second prize, pinochle, Miss Enander and Andrew Palmer. Refreshments were served in conclusion.

The committee which arranged and had charge of the affair was composed of Albert Snoden, chairman; C. J. Sheats, W. J. Hartpence, Thomas Leacock, John Kliner, Charles S. Wilson and Frank Farnam.

BAPTIST WOMEN HOLD A RALLY

National Officers of Foreign Missionary Society Speak at Gathering Here.

INSPIRING ADDRESSES

Mrs. Helen B. Montgomery and Mrs. Henry W. Peabody Tell of Progress of Missions—Rev. Dr. A. C. Baldwin Also Speaks.

An audience of more than 300 women, representing the various missionary societies of the city and vicinity, attended a missionary rally held in the First Baptist church yesterday afternoon, the affair being arranged under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Circle of the First Baptist church, to hear Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery, president, and Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, vice-president, of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, who are making a tour of the country in the interest of foreign missionary work.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the church, opened the service, following a prayer-meeting held in the lecture room of the church, and Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, read the Scripture lesson and offered prayer.

Mrs. Martin I. Cooley presided and gave a brief address of welcome to those present. The addresses of the afternoon were greatly enjoyed, both Mrs. Montgomery and Mrs. Peabody holding the attention of their listeners throughout as they told of the great work done in the East by the missionaries.

Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Peabody and their two daughters took the trip a year ago, visiting many of the Oriental countries and the mission stations in each. The work being done in Egypt and India was told in a graphic way by Mrs. Montgomery. The beautiful faith in Christ and deep work of the women and hunger for learning is raising Egypt up. India is a world in itself, having a population of 350,000,000 people, with twenty different languages. Christianity is making great strides in India, although the prejudices and customs of the nations had to be combatted, such as poverty, child marriage, perpetual widowhood and seclusion. India is a nation of men born from a nation of children, and these evils are a part of their religion which had to be overcome. Hinduism is one of the principal evils they have had to overcome. There are women in America, women of high society, who are dabbling in Hinduism. President Elliott, on his return from India, said, "Hinduism is spiritually nauseating." Mrs. Montgomery especially dwelt on the Christian school in India and the marvelous system of education. The natives are very quick to learn, and the only illiterate class of people is mostly among the nobility and those in seclusion. India needs leaders, women of high training, and Mrs. Montgomery urged the American women to unite and help their sisters in the Orient. It is wonderful to see those girls how they love the gospel and the church and their enthusiasm.

Mrs. Peabody went on from India and told of the progress the missions are making in China, the Hawaiian Islands and Japan. The Chinese girls have a tremendous strength of character, and China wants her youth educated, and is sending many to this country to be imbued with its ideals.

Following the afternoon meeting tea was served in the lecture room. Mrs. Arthur M. Harris and Miss Ida Yerkes poured, and they were assisted by a number of young women of the church. This afforded an oportunity for those present to meet Mrs. Montgomery and Mrs. Peabody.

The services were continued in the evening, when Rev. Dr. Arthur C. Baldwin, associate secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, made the address. He said that there were three things that a church must be to be successful, that is self-governing, self-supporting and self-propogating. He said that it is God alone who can convert a nation, it being the duty of the church and its missionaries to sow the seed.

Dr. Baldwin told of the work being done by missionaries in India, China and Japan, and emphasized the importance of evangelism and education, especially among the natives in these foreign countries, so that they will be able to assist in the mission work. He said that it was a traveling man's business to make people buy goods, and it is also the business of missionaries to reach the unconverted and bring them to Christ. The speaker made a strong appeal for continued support of the mission work, telling briefly of the great needs for the coming year.

FREDERICK PAULDING IN A RECITAL OF "HAMLET"

Frederick Paulding in "Hamlet," at Columbus Club, Feb. 22, 8 p. m.

Frederick Paulding, whom many theatre-goers remember for his romantic "Romeo," as acted to the late Margaret Mather's "Juliet," during the famous one hundred night run at the old Union Square Theatre, New York, in 1885, will give a dramatic recital of "Hamlet" at Columbus Auditorium, on Washington's Birthday night at 8 o'clock. The proceeds from the affair will be given to local charity.

These reviews are a novelty in the way of literary entertainment, in that they combine not only the data instruction and anecdote of the lecture platform, but the dramatic interpretation of the works of the author under consideration. It is thus that Mr. Pauiding utilizes the experience and training of his long career as an actor and his association with the greatest dramatic stars of the past thirty years.

WILLIAM WENDELL ENTERS EMPLOY OF CUBAN PAPER

William Wendell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wendell, of Arlington avenue, left New York this afternoon on the Ward Line steamer, Morro Castle, for Havana, Cuba, where he will take a position with the La Noche Publishing Company, which issues La Noche, Havana's leading newspaper. He will serve in the capacity of assistant pressman, under William Newmiller, a former Plainfielder, who began the duties of pressman several months ago. Both Mr. Newmiller and Mr. Wendell are graduates of the Scott Press Works, which furnished a modern web press for La Noche last fall. The former installed the machinery, and after a short visit home, returned to Cuba under a three-year contract with the printing firm.

Mr. Wendell has been employed in the Scott shop for nine years, and also goes to Havana under a three-year contract. He has many friends throughout the city and borough who wish him success in his new venture, and a large delegation wished him bon voyage from the Ward Line pier today. He will arrive in Cuba Sunday and begin work Monday morning. It is conceded among the machine men of Plainfield that with two such employes as Mr. Newmiller and Mrs. Wendell, La Noche will have as capable a supervising press staff as there is in the country.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The absolutely authentic European war pictures which have been introduced at Proctor's Theatre as another big, daily feature, have attracted widespread local interest and are drawing many new patrons to the popular playhouse. The first series, which was presented Monday, Tuesday and yesterday, will be succeeded today by another reel displaying actual scenes that have been mentioned in the newspaper accounts as having taken place during the past month. They will be shown also tomorrow and Saturday and from now on until further notice there will be a bi-weekly service at the theatre. The Proctor photo-play program today will include the succeeding episode of "Runaway June" and the Pathe weekly. The current episode of "The Exploits of Elaine" is scheduled for tomorrow, and on both Monday and Tuesday of next week the big picture feature will be Lillian Russell's own production of "Wildfire." This play as a legitimate stage vehicle gave Miss Russell one of the greatest successes of her career and in presenting herself as a screen artist she has lost none of the charming vivacity that has made her name a byword in America. "Wildfire" is in five parts, every one of which holds the spectator with breathless interest.

MOSQUITO FIGHTERS MEET.

Atlantic City, Feb. 18.—It was no peace conference that gathered here today for the annual conference on the mosquito. In fact, it was decided that the war must go on without mercy. Not only are the big buzzers of the Hackensack, known the world over for their high efficiency in the mosquito world, doomed forever, but the messages brought to the conference indicates the death-blow has fallen on his tribe wherever found. Dr. W. C. Gorgas, surgeon general of the United States Army, who exterminated the disease-breeders from Havana and the Panama Canal zone, was one of the principal speakers today. He took for his subject the general relations of mosquitoes to mankind, and illustrated the great results from the protective measures which he introduced so successfully. Many other speakers were heard. The session will be continued tomorrow.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

LOCAL FANCIER ADVOCATES FIELD TRAILS FOR SPORTING SPANIELS IN NEW JERSEY

There is now some hope that the sporting spaniel as a sporting spaniel will be fostered and encouraged in America. A. Clinton Wilmerding, of this city, one of the earliest members of the old established Spaniel Club, said last week that he had been promised certain support that ought to guarantee field trials for spaniels; and there can be no reason why these should not be as popular as the beagle trials held in New Jersey.

Those who desire to see field trials for pointers and setters are catered for by close to New York events, as Winthrop Rutherfurd has offered the advantages of his all-round sporting and game estate, Alamuchy, near Hackettstown, for the purposes of spaniel trials. It has been remarked by those who are aware of what is required for spaniel trials, that better all-round rough shooting could not be found anywhere than on the combined Stuyvesant and Rutherfurd estates that lie at the base of the Alamuchy mountains, one part of these being an immense enclosed deer park, where elk and white tail deer roam as in the wild state, beaver thrive and the ponds are alive with mallards, pintail ducks and other wild fowl. Rabbits abound; and thousands of English pheasants were reared every year until recently, and it can be well understood that the Alamuchy estates are ideal for the purposes of spaniel trials, where spaniels are required to hunt close to the guns and retrieve what is shot to them.

These spaniel trials have been of enormous service on the other side. They have regenerated the springer and working cocker spaniels, and to a certain extent they have had much to do in bringing about a spaniel of common sense build—a spaniel that is able to accomplish an honest day's work, be of much consequence and a source of pleasure and profit to his owner. Moreover, this class of spaniel is always salable.

It cannot be said that the show spaniel of today, if he be not a really first class show dog, is a marketable animal, whereas an on the leg, short in body and even curly coated broken springer or working cocker is always salable at a considerable price. The amounts that were obtained for the Eversfield springer spaniels at auction in London are not yet available, but they probably will be large, as they are working spaniels, for in Europe these dogs are recognized as worthy animals. When it is stated that the American hunting country offers every opportunity for the peculiar working powers of the sporting spaniels, and that they probably would be of much more service than the other dogs now in use, it is evident that the spaniel field trials of 1915 in the United States will not come any too soon.

Mr. Wilmerding, who regularly shoots over spaniels, said that he had some difficulty in getting support from some of the members of the Spaniel Club, who perhaps preferred not to bother with their show dogs and make working dogs of them. Many persons had not the time, and with others game was scarce, and they had not any liking for the sport of hunting. Mr. Wilmerding had, however, more hopes from men who owned working setters. Many sportsmen had begun their shooting careers as spaniel owners. Mr. Wilmerding pointed to the fact of Mr. Purcell-Llewellin's remarks in the London Field of January, 9, 1915.

"Eversfield I did not know even by sight, but as an old spaniel man myself (the spaniel was my first love and I took up the setter because it was merely the larger spaniel) and as a member of the Sporting Spaniel Society, I was always interested in the doings of the Deune spaniel." The Lewellin setter is justly celebrated in America, and here is the evidence that the man who founded this strain is still a spaniel man at heart. Referring to his spaniel days, Mr. Purcell-Llewellin was thinking of the old rough shooting days of Tregwynt.

It is said that E. Berwind Chase, of Philadelphia, a large owner of pointers and setters, and one who shoots over them besides sending them to the best shows, will take an interest in this new movement toward the introduction or putting to work the spaniel as found in North America today. It must not be forgotten that the bench show classes of cocker spaniels in the United States and Canada are larger than in any other places in the world. That they are beautiful and handsome dogs no one can deny, but it has been said that there could be more sport had out of them.

Spaniels break themselves; they require only to be restrained to make them drop to hand, wing, fur and shot. The sporting spaniel is a good tempered dog and as willing as a poodle. He can be taught to retrieve on an old stuffed skin of a rabbit indoors; he soon will recognize what is meant when he is told to retrieve a newly shot cottontail or bird when in the open. And then the dog is of real service to his owner, and the man will be even more proud of him if Beppo can win prizes in the show ring. The chief drawback to the holding of field trials of any kind is often a scarcity of game. For spaniel field trials the best of mixed shooting is desired and necessary. Happily, therefore, the offer of the Alamuchy estates has aroused the greatest enthusiasm in Mr. Wilmerding and his associates. It may be regarded as certain that once these spaniel tests have been tried in Warren county, N. J., or elsewhere, they will remain among the chief sporting competitions in America.

ARMY-NAVY FOOTBALL GAME IN NEW YORK

Arrangements completed in New York Tuesday to hold the next Army-Navy football game at the Polo Grounds, on November 27, are identical with those which prevailed when the game of 1913 was played there.

West Point and Annapolis will divide 25,000 seats, while the New York National League Club will give $24,000 from its receipts to the army and navy charitable institutions, which annually get the proceeds of the game.

Secretary Foster, of the Giants, said the club contemplates installing extra seats so that about 45,000 may be accommodated.

BROWER'S POINTS WON FOR FRESHIES

First Year Aquatic Star Took First In All Swims.

The freshmen class of the Plainfield High School, had an easy time winning the first annual interclass swimming meet held in the High School pool. Lorenzo Brower, of the freshman class, was the individual star of the meet, winning first place in all the swims and taking second place in the dives. Brower won first place in the 50-yard, 100-yard and 220-yard swims. Tomlinson was the second highest point winner, coming in second in the 100-yard and 220-yard swims, and taking third place in the dives.

The results of the meet are as follows:

50-yard dash—First, Brower; second, Zeek; third, Apgar; time, 34 4-5 seconds.

100-yard dash—First, Brower; second, Tomlinson; third, Alpaugh; time, 1 minute 21 4-5 seconds.

220-yard dash—First, Brower; second, Tomlinson; third, Rosenson; time, 3 minutes 46 1-5 seconds.

Diving for form—First, Manley; second, Brower; third, Tomlinson.

Points scored by each class: First, Freshmen, 25 points; second, Juniors, 6 points; third, Sophomores, 4 points; fourth, Seniors, 1 point.

GIVEN INSTRUCTION IN USE OF GUNS

Lieut. Phillips Addresses the Members of the Plainfield Rifle Club.

The Plainfield Rifle Club, a new organization composed of Plainfield and North Plainfield High School boys, met in the armory of Co. K, Tuesday night, and were given an interesting talk by Lieut. Arthur L. Phillips, of Co. K, on the use of guns and practical instruction. There was a little shooting done by the members under Mr. Phillips' direction.

The club has not as yet joined the National Rifle Association, but probably will in the near future. The officers of the club are: President, LeRoy Apgar; vice-president, Cortlandt Fleming; secretary, Harold Miller; treasurer, Fred Chamberlain; executive officer, Clinton Berrien.

Among those who are now members are LeRoy Apgar, R. Apgar, Thomas Apgar, Chester Alpaugh, William Bird, C. BOYS' A. A. SELECTS MANAGERS FOR PLAY

Hoyt Tomkinson Elected to Lead N. P. H. S. Tennis Team.

The Boys' Athletic Association of North Plainfield High School, at a meeting yesterday noon, appointed the managers and committees for the annual A. A. play, 'Teddy, to be presented by the association in the Park Club, March 26. The following were appointed by President Smalley: Business managers, Augustus VanDeventer and Hyman Abrams; advertising and programs, Hoyt Tomkinson and Russell Lee; property managers, Charles Roll and Roscoe VanCamp; stage managers, Tom Ball and Edson Day, music committee, Warren Townley and Ronald Conroy.

The subject of a tennis team to represent the High School was also brought up and it was unanimously voted that the A. A. support a tennis team. Hoyt Tomkinson was appointed acting captain.

N. P. H. S. FINDS GOING TOO SWIFT IN FINAL

Rutgers "Prep" Five Sweeps Floor—Borough's Pivot Again Weak.

After having led its opponents and given a good account of themselves in the first half, the North Plainfield High School basketball team met defeat at the hands of the Rutgers "Prep" quintet, at New Brunswick, yesterday afternoon, by the score of 31 to 15.

In the opening session of the game things looked rosy for the locals who led by one point.

In the second period, however, they suffered a relapse, which enabled the home team to run away with the game. Rutgers scored ten field goals and a foul to the visitors lone basket and two fouls.

Townley played a good game for the losers, making seven out of ten trys good from the fifteen foot mark. Conroy scored two baskets and a foul. Hasbrouck, who played the pivot position for the winners, was the star of the game.

FEMININE SPORT NOTES BY "HAB"

A new feminine basketball umpire made her initial debut before the Plainfield public, Tuesday night, in the game on the Columbus Club court. Keep the good work up "Lucy," we thing you are O. K. even if your own team did dispute your decision.

The Columbus Club court proves more popular with each game and there has also been an increase in spectators. We wonder why? Evidently the fair sex are exercising their charms.

The girls are certainly entering every line of work. If you don't believe it, take a trip to the West Front street rendezvous and you will see the fair young lassies taking up bowling, basketball and pool, and making great strides in every line of sport. Refreshments are provided by male members. They can make good sandwiches and all that, but when it comes to coffee, it might be well to get one f the ladies to help out.

ST. JOSEPH'S BOYS' PRACTICE.

The St. Joseph's basketball team, of North Plainfield, will hold an important practice in the T. A. B. Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to be present. The next game is with the Hope Memorial team, of Elizabeth, on Washington's Birthday night, in the local hall.

Y. M. C. A. TRIP.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team will go to Trenton on Saturday, February 27, and meet the Central Y. M. C. A. team of that place. In the first game between these two teams on the local court the visitors were beaten by two points, and they are looking for revenge.

Scattered Sport Gleanings

In keeping with the reputation established by local basketball managers in previous years, the Y. M. C. A. and Plainfield High School gamebookers are advertising an eleventh-hour makeshift league to decide the city championship. In view of the fact that several ball clubs have already been commanded to mobilize and the coming of spring it might be well to affix a "Rush" tag to the schedule. Interest appears to be at the zenith notch just at present and it's up to the magnates to keep it boosted on high.

As a place for sport activity the Columbus Club leads the pack just at present. The West Front street rendezvous has been harboring male and feminine athletic squads of the "57" varieties lately and its popularity increases at every turn. You've got to hand it to the "big ginks" who are handling the athletic reins in the local club for the business-like and acceptable policy being pursued.

Aquatic competition in the Plainfield High School tank yesterday brings the possibility of Plainfield becoming a prominent factor in this sport one step nearer to realization. The young huskies in the Ninth street institution exhibited some clever work in water navigation and should make a bid for interscholastic honors in the near future.

Those who have their doubts about the advisability of expending money to give the younger generation a place in which to expel surplus energy should take a trip to the High School some week-day afternoon or evening. Red-blooded young Americans spend their leisure hours cavorting about the gym floor and exercising in the tank, as young Americans should. If enthusiastic activity may be taken as a criterion, the money has certainly been spent to good advantage.

Coach Jack Fritts, of the Plainfield High School athletic forces, is rounding a team of field and track beauties into shape for the Union county meet here on Decoration Day. In view of the fact that Plainfield will get its initial taste of county competition and the calibre of athletic talent in the local institution, we look forward to the homecoming of the bacon this year.

No greater testimonial to the true North Plainfield High School spirit of good sportsmanship could be given than the tribute paid by Captain Abrams to those in charge of athletics in a rival institution. In the Daily Press office yesterday afternoon, Abrams frankly and openly admitted that his disappointment over losing the interscholastic basketball title had been somewhat healed by congratulatory remarks passed by Plainfield High School teachers following the hard-fought game on the red and blue court.

Although North Plainfield can glean some satisfaction in knowing two defeats at the hands of Leal's will mean that Plainfield will have to meet the boroughites in a deciding title match the chance is about parallel to the possibility that snow will fall on the Fourth of July. If the inevitable happens and the private school youngsters manage to turn the trick it will be high time for the red and blue squad to close up shop.

Rumor has it that Plainfield's representative basketball team is planning to enter the bowling ranks. It might be well for these misses to substitute the alley pastime for the less strenuous "basketballing" and give other deserving contingents a chance to hang up a scalp once in a while.

The local girls have rival quintets scared stiff, even as far distant as Trenton. The Trentonians are afraid to stir away from Capitol city terra firma for fear of having their reputation kidnapped.

Plainfield has recently been turned into a mecca for Elizabeth athletic forces. Two Tetsytown basketball teams and a set of pin-knights from the county seat performed here Tuesday night. A casual survey brings to light the sad news that the visitors got the lion's share of the returns.

Now that the Columbus team has succeeded in stringing up a notable victory the "clubbers" have designs on the city title. Yea, Bo! This means another summer league for basketball rooters.

Haven't heard a whimper in so long from that State copper ball league that we've begun to think the bluecoats are asleep on their beats. It's high time someone gave the policemen's league a little boost into the arena of sportdom.

"RUS" BEATTY STILL IN COLUMBIA'S TRACK TEAM

Although Russell Lawrence Beatty, a product of the Leal School in this city, was slated to receive his sheepskin from Columbia University last June, he appears to be still connected with the New York institution, for Coach Bernie Wefers yesterday sent Beatty's name to the manager of the intercollegiate field and track championships to be held at Madison Square Garden, March 6. Beatty, who is the intercollegiate champion in the shotput event, has been entered in this attraction and will compete for Columbia.

In his senior (last year), Beatty was captain of the Columbia team, and when his term expired Frank Brady was chosen as the head of the aggregation.

WHITE SOX OFF TO COAST.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 18—The White Sox team will embark in its train de luxe tonight for Paso Robles, Cal., where the early training will begin on the 23d. Charles Comiskey, the "Old Roman," was the most enthusiastic of the bunch which gathered today at the club headquarters. Washington's Birthday will be spent by the squad in San Francisco, and all hands will watch the Vanderbilt Cup Race. Joe Benz had gone ahead to the training camp, but Big Ed Walsh is on deck, seriously declaring himself a come-back.

JACK MARTIN GOES SOUTH WITH PHILLIES FEB. 26

Jack Martin, of this city, who is a member of the Philadelphia Baseball Club of the National League, has but one more week in these parts as he has been notified to start for the South, Friday, February 26, one week from tomorrow. According to reports eight of the Philadelphia team will leave on the steamship Apace from New York on that date. The majority of the players will go to St. Petersburg, the training camp in Florida, by rail.

Martin, who played shortstop for this club during the latter part of last season, will have to show his best in practice as he has two opponents for the shortfield position this year. They are Bancroft and Fletcher, recently purchased from the Syracuse team of the New York State League.

IS BAKER TRYING TO GET INTO PUBLICITY CLUB?

Philadelphia, Feb. 18—"Home Run" Baker, the star third baseman of the Philadelphia American League baseball team, has decided to retire from the diamond, and will not appear with the team next season, according to announcement made here by Manager Connie Mack, at a dinner of the Philadelphia Sporting Writers' Association.

Baker last year signed a three-year contract with the Athletics. Mack stated that the third baseman is not dissatisfied with the terms of this contract, but wants to devote his time to his farm in Maryland.

Baker is less than 29 years old, and has been a member of the Athletics since 1908. His batting average in that year was .307. He was the hero of both the 1911 and 1913 world's series with the New York Giants. In 1911 he knocked home runs in two games at critical periods, and in 1913 put the ball over the fence in the opening contest. Last year his batting average for the season was .366 and he made twelve home runs, but, like the other members of the team, appeared to be in a slump in the crucial series with the Boston Braves.

More than 400 diners were present at the dinner, which was given in honor of Larry Lajoie, who returns to the Athletics after an absence of thirteen years. "Wild Bill" Donovan and Pat Moran, new managers, respectively, of the New York Highlanders and the Philadelphia Nationals, were present.

WHIST TOURNEY OPENS.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 18—The sixteenth annual mid-winter meeting of the Chicago Whist Association will begin tonight at the Hotel La Salle, and a tournament of the best players of the Middle West is in prospect. COMMISSION GOV. PLAN IS FAVORED

Mayor Calkins Suggests That Council Meet Every Monday.

MORE EFFECTIVE WORK

Also Recommends That All Committees Sit In Together, Holding One Meeting After Another Until All Business Is Disposed of by Council

Mayor Leighton Calkins, in considering plans for disposing of the city's business more expeditiously and at the same time making the work of the various committees less arduous, believes that if arrangements could be made to have the Common Council meet every Monday night during the first five months and the last three months of the year, the problem would be solved. In speaking of the matter to a reporter for the Daily Press today, Mr. Calkins said that although the year is less than two months old, the Council has already held five meetings, to say nothing of the many committee meetings. Mr Calkins, of course, does not favor weekly sessions during the summer months. Explaining his ideas, he said:

"I think that the plan would make the duties of councilmen easier, and also that city business could be more promptly dispatched, if the Council would hold sessions regularly every Monday evening, at least during the first five and the last three months of the year. With the Council in session regularly on Mondays, most of the meetings would be short, and all new business, on being referred to the various committees, could be taken up by the several committees the same evening as soon as the Council adjourned.

"It is true we have only one committee room at our inadequate city building; but the committees may always have my office, and in addition there is a room occupied by the overseer of the poor which could be commandeered. City business will be much better transacted if taken up promptly. I think most councilmen would rather work from 8 to 12 on Mondays than from 8 to 10 or 11, and then for an hour or two several other evenings.

"Furthermore, as meetings are called in the discretion of chairmen, many meetings fall on nights when some committeemen cannot attend. With Monday night regularly set apart by the Mayor, Council and heads of departments, an enormous amount of good, effective work could be accomplished; and it would be an advantage having several committees at work at once, because many matters overlap.

"In fact, I am not sure that it might not be a good plan to have all committees sit in together, holding one committee meeting after another until the business is cleared off the slate. This would facilitate a conference or caucus of the whole Council, on any important matter, and do away with the many special conferences held prior to Councnli meetings. On occasions, in special matters, a committee might need to meet again, later in the week. But, as a rule, a four-hour session on Mondays would wipe the slate pretty clean."

ROBERT PIERCE SAYS SON IS IN THE WEST

But Rumor Connects Visit of Railroad Auditor With the Case.

Robert Pierce, of New Market, father of Herbert L. Pierce, whose absence from his home has caused various rumors to be circulated, called at the Plainfield Daily Press office, today, and stated that the family has been in touch with him and that he is at present in the West. The son is the president of the New Market Roller Mills Company and is proprietor of a butcher store at that place. Business is going on as usual at both places.

Rumor had it that his absence was a cause for alarm among relatives and that fear for his safety had been entertained. Nothing definite could be learned from his father concerning the probable return of the young man to New Market.

Despite Mr. Pierce's statement about his son, there are all sorts of rumors about the case, but aside from the fact that an automobile belonging to Potts & Kaufman, a Perth Amboy wholesale grocery firm, went to New Market yesterday, and took a load of goods out of the store which Pierce owned, nothing has happened as yet. Auditors were working today on the books of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and a rumor had it that Pierce had gotten nineteen carloads of flour from the agent of the company without delivering the bill of lading, as is usually done The officials of the road would neither confirm or deny this report.

Although the father says that the son is in the West, another man connected with the Roller Mills is said to have stated that he went down East.

GIVEN A SURPRISE ON WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

About sixty friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Dr. and Mrs J. Hervey Buchanan, on Duer street last night, the occasion being the seventeenth wedding anniversary of the couple. A pleasant evening was spent in a social way and at a late hour refreshments were served. The affair was arranged by Mrs. F. W Bailey and Mrs. W. W. F. Randolph

SOLO DANCES AT RECITAL.

The recital of the popular play "Peg o' My Heart," which is to be given in the Washington School Auditorium next Monday night, under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee, has already attracted much local attention, and indications point to a very successful affair. Admission is to be free, but children not accompanied by parents will not be admitted. A feature of the program will be interpretive solo dances, which will be given between the acts of the play by Miss Mildred Brownlee. Miss Lillian Lamson will take the part of "Peg o' My Heart."

TWO SMALL FIRES.

A slight fire required the attention of the apparatus from headquarters at 1:30 this afternoon in a vacant house on Park avenue, opposite Laramie road. The blaze was started by mechanics working in the cellar, and was extinguished with little damage resulting. A grass fire was put out on Kensington avenue this morning by the department.

WILL GO TO RAHWAY.

Old Glory Council, No. 62, D. of L., have made arrangements to go by bus to Rahway tonight to attend the combined union meeting. Delegations from Westfield, Cranford and Plainfield will be present. The bus will leave the Babcock building at 7 o'clock and any member who wishes to go is cordially invited.

William Taylor, of Fairview avenue, is detained at his home with an attack of the grip.

CHARGE FOUR WITH "WILDCAT" FRAUDS

Witnesses Say Prize Puzzle Scheme of Selling Lots Was a Fake.

James Bottenus, president of the James Realty Company, operating in the Watchung Mountain district and in "Bound Brook Manor;" Mrs. Rose Stack, one of the company's agents, and James Seifferth and H. S. Jahne, alleged employes, were up for trial yesterday, before Judge Neterer in the New York City Branch of the United States District Court, on a charge of using the mails to defraud investors.

More than a score of witnesses, many of whom live in this vicinity, and a majority of whom appeared to be of meager circumstances, were on hand to tell how they were defrauded of sums ranging from $40 to $50 by purchasing alleged fancy sub-division real estate in the Watchung Mountains. The hearing is being continued today.

BROUGHT HOME FROM WORK IN A PRIVATE AMBULANCE

Harry Conley, of 116 North avenue, was brought to his home this morning from Martinsville in an ambulance, suffering from a severe attack of intestinal indigestion. He is a bricklayer by trade, and had been working on some property at Martinsville.

The sick man was attacked with a sudden illness last night, and it was deemed advisable to remove him to his home.

SUSPECTED WIRE THIEF GIVES POLICE HIS NAME

After being put through an examination by the police, the Italian who was caught hiding in a house at East Second and Berckman streets by Sergeant Higgins yesterday as a suspected wire thief, furnished the authorities with his name and address. He is now lodged in the borough lockup under the name of Salvatore Avindora, and says he lives in an Italian settlement in North Plainfield.

The Public Service Corporation, from whom the wire is said to have been stolen yesterday morning on Mountain avenue, will appear as complainant against the prisoner in the borough police court tomorrow morning.

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON DIES AT DAUGHTER'S HOME

Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, widow of James Thompson, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Malachi H Watson, 963 South Second street, at 10 o'clock this morning. She had been ill for about two weeks, death being due to the infirmities of age Mrs. Thompson was a native of Scotland, but had resided in Plainfield for the past twenty-five years. Beside Mrs. Watson, she leaves one other daughter, Mrs. John Miles, of this city, and four sons, John Thompson of this city, and David, William and James Thompson, living in Scotland

The funeral will be held at Mrs Watson's home Saturday afternoon at 2:30 and will be in charge of Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel. Burial will be made in Hillside cemetery.

FUNERAL OF MRS. KELLY.

The funeral of Mrs. Georgiana Kelly, wife of David Kelly, was held at her late home on Summit avenue at 10 o'clock this morning. The service was in charge of Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, and was attended by a gathering of relatives and friends. There were numerous floral tributes. The body was afterwards taken to Newark for burial in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

ELKS' DANCE TONIGHT.

Those who enjoy dancing will be accorded a good time in the new home of the local lodge of Elks on Watchung avenue tonight, when the sixth of a series of pleasing indoor winter socials will be held. The entertainment committee in charge has arranged for a pleasant evening and Van Eps' orchestra will render the music.

DUNELLEN MAN CHARGED.

Michael T. Moynihan, of Dunellen; Francis W. Holbrook and Arthuur C. Fike, borrowers from the Roseville Trust Company, of Newark, will be placed on trial, March 3, in the Quarter Sessions Court, to face charges of conspiracy. These are three of the remaining cases resulting from the collapse of the Newark banking institution.

WILL REPAIR BRIDGES.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders held a short meeting in Hotel Chatham, the borough, this morning, and it was decided to repair two bridges in Warren township. No other business of importance was transacted.

WAR NEWS

there is nothing to report."

Rome, Feb. 18 (via London)—The correspondent of the idea Nazoniale at Cairo, says that Djemel Pasha, commander of the army which was sent against Egypt, has returned to Constantinople in consequence of a broken leg caused by an exploding bomb. It is not known whether the bomb was thrown from an aeroplane or whether it was the work of attempted assassins.

Liverpool, Feb. 18—The White Star liner Adriatic from New York arrived safely today. She encountered no hostile shipping on the trip across. The Adriatic was in touch with British war vessels throughout her trip across the Atlantic.

New York, Feb. 18—Regarding the reports from Buenos Aires that several British vessels had been sent to the bottom by a German warship, despatches from the Argentine city today indicate that the vessels sunk were the Highland Brae, 4,824 tons; the Potaro, 2,810 tons; the Hemisphere, 2,230 tons, and the Semantha, 1, 811 tons, and four masted schooner Wilfred M., 199 tons. The vessels were sent to the bottom by the German converted cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm.

SURPRISE PARTY GIVEN TO NEWTON LAMBERT

A delightful surprise party was tendered Newton Lambert, of Westfield, at the home of Mrs. Hattie Demler, at 68 Grove street, last night. The guests gathered at the home of Miss Lillian Spencer, of 129 Grove street, and then all went down to the Demler house, where Mr. Lambert was pleasantly greeted. Each guest har a favor for Mr. Lambert and each was given with an appropriate limerick. "500" was the feature of the evening, Miss Milwood Lutz and Miss Gladys Marsh winning the first and second prizes for the girls and Dudley Green and Richard Doerer winning the first and second for the boys.

The dining room table was beautifully decorated with pink and white carnations. Dancing, games and singing were enjoyed by those present and the Misses Lillian and Helen Lambert sang a number of solos Among the Plainfielders present were the Misses Ruth Day, Gladys Marsh, Lillian Spencer, Aeta Spencer, Anna Boume, Elizabeth Smalley, and Caroline Demler; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Taylor, Charles Boume Eugene Spencer and Joseph Chilton. The Westfielders included Richard Richar dDoerer, Dudley Green, Doerer, Charles Tice, Percy Lamber and Newton Lambert; Mission Marion Tice, and the Misses Lillian and Helen Lambert, and Miss Milwood Lutz, of Cranford.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wipsy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.—Adv.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the partnership lately subsisting between Morgan Turton and George W. KEEP URIC ACID OUT OF JOINTS

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grape and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

CHAPTER XII.

Ethel and Brent.

ETHEL dropped her gaze from his face and said, with the suspicion of a smile playing around her lips:

"If you had the right to make love to me straightforwardly—you wouldn't do it."

He looked at her in amazement.

"What do you mean?" he gasped.

"It's only because you haven't the right that you do it—by suggestion," Ethel pursued.

"How can you say that?" And he put all the heart he was capable of into the question.

"You don't deny it," she said quietly.

He breathed hard and then said bitterly:

"What a contemptible opinion you must have of me!"

"Then we're quits, aren't we?"

"How?" he asked.

"Haven't you one of me?"

"Of you? Why, Ethel"—

"Surely every married man must have a contemptible opinion of the woman he covertly makes love to. If he hadn't he couldn't do it, could he?" Once again she leveled her cold, impassive eyes on Brent's flushed face.

"I don't follow you," was all Brent said.

"Haven't you had time to think of an answer?"

"I don't know what you're driving at," he added.

Ethel smiled her most enigmatical smile.

"No? I think you do." She waited a moment. Brent said nothing. This was a new mood of Ethel's. It baffled him.

Presently she relieved the silence by asking him:

"What happened last night?"

He hesitated. Then he answered:

"I'd rather not say. I'd sound like a cad blaming a woman."

"Never mind how it sounds. Tell it. It must have been amusing."

"Amusing!" He bent over her again. "Oh, the more I look at you and listen to you the more I realize I should never have married."

"Why did you?" came the cool question.

Brent answered with all the power at his command. Here was the moment to lay his heart bare that Ethel might see.

"Have you ever seen a young hare, fresh from its kind, run headlong into a snare? Have you ever seen a young man free of the trammels of college dash into a net? I did! I wasn't trap wise."

He paced the room restlessly, all the self pity rising in him. He went on:

"Heavens, what nurslings we are when we first feel our feet! We're like children just loose from the leading strings. Anything that glitters catches us. Every trap that is set for our unwary feet we drop into. I did—dropped in, caught hand and foot, mind and soul."

"Soul?" queried Ethel, with a note of doubt.

"Yes," he answered.

"Don't you mean body?" she suggested.

"Body, mind and soul!" he said, with an air of finality.

"Well, body anyway," summed up Ethel.

"And for what?" he went on. "For what? Love! Companionship! That is what we build on in marriage. And what did I realize? Hate and wrangling; wrangling, just as the common herd, with no advantages, wrangle and make it a part of their lives, the zest to their union. It's been my curse."

"Why wrangling?" drawled Ethel.

"She didn't understand."

"You?" asked Ethel, in surprise.

"My thoughts, my actions!"

"How curious!"

"You mean you would?"

"Probably."

"I'm sure of it." He tried to take her hand. She drew it away and settled herself comfortably to listen again:

"Tell me more about your wife."

"The slightest attention shown to any other woman meant a ridiculous, a humiliating scene."

"Humiliating?"

"Aren't doubt and suspicion humiliating?"

"They would be a compliment in some cases."

"How?"

"They would put a fictitious value on some men."

"You couldn't humiliate in that way," he ventured slowly.

"No. I don't think I could. If a man showed a preference for any other woman she would be quite welcome to him."

"No man could!" said Brent insinuatingly.

She looked at him coldly a moment.

"Let me see—where were you? Just married, weren't you? Go on."

"Then came the baby." He said that with a significant meaning and paused to see the effect on Ethel. If it had any Ethel effectually concealed it. Her only comment was:

"Ah!"

Brent went on:

"One would think that would change things. But no. Neither of us wanted her. Neither of us loves her. Children should come of love, not hate. And she is a child of hate." He paused, looking infently at Ethel. She looked understandingly at him, then dropped her eyes.

Brent went on as if following up an advantage: "She sits in her little chair, her small, wrinkled, old, disillusioned face turned to us, with the eyes watching us accusingly. She submits to caresses as though they were distasteful, as if she knew they were lies. At times she pushes the nearing face away with her little baby fingers." He stopped, watching her eagerly. Her eyes went down.

"I shouldn't tell you this. It's terrible. I see it in your face. What are you thinking?"

"I'm sorry," replied Ethel simply.

"For me?"

"For your wife."

"My wife?" he repeated, aghast.

"Yes," said Ethel. "Aren't you? No? Are you just sorry for yourself?"

Brent turned impatiently away. So this laying open the wound in his life was nothing to Ethel. Instead of pity for him, all it engendered in her was sorrow for his wife.

How little women understood him!

There was a pathetic catch in his voice as he turned to Ethel and said reproachfully:

"You think me purely selfish?"

"Naturally," she answered quickly. "I am. Why not be truthful about ourselves sometimes? Eh?"

"We quarreled last night—about you!" he said desperately.

"Really?"

"Gossip has linked us together. My wife has heard it and put the worst construction on it."

"Well?"

"We said things to each other last night that can never be forgiven or forgotten. I left the house and walked the streets—hours! I looked my whole life back and through as though it were some stranger's." He turned abruptly away to the windows and stayed a moment, looking down the drive.

He Impulsively Stretched Out His Arms, Embracing Her.

Ethel said nothing.

He came back to her in a few moments.

"I tell you we ought to be taught—we ought to be taught, when we are young, what marriage really means, just as we are taught not to steal, nor lie, nor sin. In marriage we do all three—when we're ill mated. We steal affection from some one else, we lie in our lives, and we sin in our relationship."

Ethel asked him very quietly:

"Do you mean that you are a sinner, a thief and a liar?"

Brent looked at her in horror.

"Oh, take some of the blame!" said Ethel. "Don't put it all on the woman."

"You've never spoken to me like this before."

"I've often wanted to," replied Ethel; then she asked him, "What do you intend doing?"

"Separate," he answered eagerly. "You don't doctor a poisoned limb when your life depends on it; you cut it off. When two lives generate a deadly poison, face the problem as a surgeon would—amputate."

"And after the operation—what then?" asked Ethel.

"That is why I am here facing you. Do you understand what I mean?"

"Oh, dear, yes—perfectly! I have been waiting for you to get to the point."

"Ethel!" and he impulsively stretched out his arms, embracing her.

She drew back slightly, just out of his reach.

"Wait." She looked up at him quizzically. "Suppose we generate poison? What would you do—amputate me?"

"You are different from all other women."

"Didn't you tell your wife that when you asked her to marry you?"

He turned away impatiently. "Don't say those things, Ethel; they hurt."

"I'm afraid, Christian, I'm too frank. Am I not?"

"You stand alone, Ethel. You seem to look into the hearts of people and know why and how they beat."

"I do—sometimes. It's an awkward faculty."

He looked at her glowingly. "How marvelously different two women can be! You—my wife!"

Ethel shook her head and smiled her calm, dead smile: "We're not really very different, Christian. Only some natures like change. Yours does. And the new have all the virtues. Why, I might not last as long as your wife did."

"Don't say that. We have a common bond—understanding."

"Think so?"

"I understand you."

"I wonder."

"You do me."

"Yes—that is just the difficulty."

"I tell you I am at the crossroads. The finger board points the way to me distinctly."

"Does it?"

"It does." He leaned across to her. "Would you risk it?"

"What?" she asked.

"I'll hide nothing. I'll put it all before you—the snubs of your friends; the whisper of a scandal that would grow into a roar; afraid to open a newspaper, fearing what might be printed in it; life at first in some little continental village, dreading the passers through, keeping out of sight lest they should recognize one. No. It wouldn't be fair to you."

Ethel thought a moment, then answered slowly:

"No, Chris, I don't think it would."

"You see I am a cad—just a selfish cad!"

"Aren't you?" and she smiled up at him.

"I'll never speak of this again. I would have spoken now—only—I'm distracted—completely distracted. Will you forgive me for speaking as I did?"

"Certainly," said Ethel. "I'm not offended. On the contrary. Anyway, I'll think it over and let you know."

"You will, really?" he asked greedily, grasping at the straw of a hope. "You will really think it over?"

"I will, really."

"And when she sets me free," he went on, "we could, we could"— He suddenly stopped.

She looked coolly at him as he hesitated and said, "It is a difficult little word at times, isn't it?"

"Would you marry me?" he asked, with a supreme effort.

"I never cross my bridges until I come to them," said Ethel languidly. "And we're such a long way from that one, aren't we?"

"Then I am to wait?"

"Yes; do," she replied.

VELVET AND SILK CREPE.

Turkey seems to have served as the inspiration for this unusual gown. Both in line and coloring is this the case. A jacket in bolero effect shows between its edges at the front just a piece of chiffon blouse beneath, a wide band of Oriental embroidery outlines the neck—this with brown, gold and red predominating. This same embroidery serves as a girdle, which is merely a wide loose band hanging well out from the figure, from which depends a tunic of the crepe in copper color. The sleeves and blouse are of copper-colored chiffon, the jacket of brown velvet.

CAL. NIGHT IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, Feb. 18—Tonight is California night in Washington, when a big banquet will be held to celebrate the opening of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Hon. Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the interior, will preside, and the Senators and Representatives from the Golden Gate will be speakers.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Nell, I have spent a whole half hour looking for a paper I left on my desk," said Dick one Sunday morning. "I wish you could bring yourself to let the stuff on my desk alone."

"I did not destroy anything," and Nell hurried to the bedroom to aid in the search. "Every paper is in the right-hand drawer. Why don't you file them away? Then you could find them."

"I bought this desk and cluttered up the bedroom with it because I could see that papers could not be piled on the library table, and——"

"Oh! even a man can see that," laughed Nell.

"Well, a man surely fails to see why he must spend half the valuable time he has for a piece of work looking for material his wife has tucked away somewhere. I wanted it right where I left it, so I could go on with my work without loss of time."

Dick was going over the papers again with his wife's help and their united efforts failed to bring it to light.

"Look in the paper basket," suggested Nell. "Papers were blowing all over the room yesterday. Your beautiful system fails to provide for airing the room, and I like my bedroom to look as neat and orderly as the living room."

"This everlasting order gets on my nerves." Dick was pawing in the basket trying to discover something that resembled the missing paper. "It is not there," he announced belligerently. "I guess I made a mistake in not getting a closed desk, so I could lock it up to prevent its being dusted, and then perhaps I could keep my important papers."

"I surely wish you had; it would have been easier for me. I am held responsible for papers I haven't touched. You have a clutter of all sizes and colors of papers, many of them loose, on top of your desk. They get brushed off, blown off, and destroyed, and as I am the only one in the house, I did it. That desk surely is a trial. Move it out and look behind it," she suggested, as Dick plumped the basket down on the floor after the unsuccessful search.

"It is so heavy I can't move it to clean behind it."

"That's fortunate. I'll rig up a secret pocket back there where you can't molest things."

"Now, see here, Dick Morton," Nell turned on him with flashing eyes.

"There, there, keep your shoes on, dear," he interrupted patronizingly. "It's my turn to be up in the air, for I am the one inconvenienced. We mustn't both fly the track at once, you know. It delays traffic too much.

"Oh, here's the blooming thing. I had tumbled down behind the desk."

"The country's saved," said Nell, fervently.

"And the honor of the lady of the house is vindicated," added Dick.

"Now, Dick, I think even you will see that some different arrangement must be made about your papers." She was straightening the disordered room. This place looks as if it had been visited by a tornado."

"You always say 'even you can see' as if I had the worst eyesight in the world," laughed Dick.

"You have, when it comes to taking in disorder. Some men," she added with impressive emphasis, "are orderly about their desks, but you make so much work for me——"

"Is thy servant a dog, that he should do this thing?" said Dick, rolling up his eyes.

Nell laughed a little in spite of herself, but added, returning to her judicial air: "There's always a right way to do things."

"How platitudinous!" exclaimed Dick in a tone that always closed the conversation as far as Nell was concerned.

"Now I am open to suggestions, but I don't agree to follow them," announced Dick, after a pause during which order had been restored.

"Why don't you clear out the wide front drawer for papers you are working on? They will be out of the dust and all ready to go to work on without any delay. Any special little paper might be slipped under the big blotting pad to be kept separate."

"Great head," he said, patting the pretty breakfast cap and kissing her. "Now, I have hindered you long enough; run on to your dishes," and he seated himself at his desk.

Animal Jingles

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

BY ALICE CREW GALL

The Discontented Tortoise.

One day a little Tortoise while crawling on the ground
Stopped in his tracks and shook his head, and gave a sigh profound
Said he, "I have the dullest life of anyone I know,
And it is most provoking to have people call me slow.

"I'd like to have adventure," and he sadly shook his head,
"But I crawl round and live inside this silly shell instead.
If only I could be a Fox, how happy I would be;
His must be an exciting life and full of fun," said he.

A Fairy heard his wish and said, "All right, I'll let you be
A little Fox, but if you get in trouble, don't blame me!"
She touched him with her fairy wand, and, lo! the deed was done,
That Tortoise turned into a Fox, and started in to run.

And as he ran he said, "This is the way I like to go;
I guess if people saw me NOW they would not call me slow."
Just then he saw a pack of hounds come dashing down the hill,
And at the sight this little Fox turned positively ill.

"Those dreadful hounds will capture me, I know it very well!
Why did I ever wish to leave my cozy little shell?"
And as he said this and as he'd given up all hope he found
He was a Tortoise once again, a-crawling on the ground.

Said he, "On sober second thought I find it's just as well
That I should keep my peace of mind by living in my shell.
And furthermore I've changed my mind about my rate of speed;
It's more important to go far than fast; it is, indeed!"

Household Hints

GOOD WHITE BREAD

Get 2 or 3 cents' worth dry yeast the night before you want to bake. In the morning pare and boil two medium-sized potatoes. While they are cooking put two big granite spoons (twice the size of teaspoon) of flour in dish, one-half spoon salt and one-half spoon sugar. When potatoes are done mash fine (or put through ricer) and add. Add enough water to potato water to make one quart, let come to boil and add one quart cold water.

Put one teaspoon sugar in one-half cup lukewarm water and put in yeast broken up. When potato water is lukewarm and yeast is light, add.

Put about three sifters of flour into bread pan, add sponge, put in handful of salt, mix and knead till it is quite stiff and real smooth. Let raise an hour.

Grease hands with lard and knead real good. Use no flour. Let raise till it gets very light, put in pans and raise again. Bake one hour.

Follow this and you will have good bread.

UP-TO-DATE RECIPES

Banana Cream Pie—Beat four eggs (reserving the white of two) with half cup sugar until thoroughly mixed, then add tiny pinch of salt and pulp of two very ripe bananas pressed through a sieve. Stir in one pint hot milk gradually, so as not to coo keggs, then add a few drops of vanilla. Pour into deep pie tin lined with rich pastry and bake in moderate oven until custard is firm in center. When done cover with meringue made of the whites of the eggs and two tablespoons pulverized sugar; beat very stiff and set in oven to brown.

Steamed Molasses Pudding—One egg, one-half cup molasses, one-half cup cold water, one cup raisins, 1½ cups flour, one teaspoon soda, a little salt. Steam thirty minutes. Sauce for above: Make a syrup by boiling one cup sugar, one-fourth cup water; beat one egg light and gradually add syrup. This makes a delicious dressing for the pudding or for any kind of cake when you wish to serve it as a dessert. The pudding is mixed in the usual way.

Salmon Paste—Get one small can salmon, one egg, piece butter size of walnut, one small cup bread crumbs; season with pepper and salt and beat up to a paste. This makes very delicious sandwichs for a school lunch.

Good Eggless Cookies—One cup sugar, two-thirds cup shortening creamed together; add one cup sweet milk in which is dissolved half teaspoon soda; sift two teaspoons baking powder with flour enough to make nice soft dough for rolling out. Vanilla or other flavoring may be added if desired.

SNOW ICE CREAM

When the snow is light and dry, good ice cream can be made very easily.

Beat together three-fourths cup sugar, one tablespoon flour, one egg, one cup milk, pinch of salt. Cook until thick and, when perfectly cold, stir in enough nice clean snow to make thick; beat well.

This is fine and can hardly be told from any home-made ice cream.

Milady's Mirror

The Beautiful Profile.

It is in profile that the features show perfection or defect. A face that to front view appears symmetrical may in profile present angles and hollows and features that are too sharply delineated for beauty. So study your side view in the mirror.

Note whether the side line of the head is too long. If it is draw the hair a little farther down over the temples and if the line of the face is too long bring the hair forward a bit.

Carrying the chin uptilted ever so slightly diminishes the apparent length of the facial outline and seems to elongate the curve of the throat. If the head is tipped a trifle to the side and back, presenting a broad side face, a good shoulder line is effected, but if either throat or face is thin beware. Hollows will deepen, and the line of the jaw will become a sharp edge.

If the neck and face are too fat the fat is apt to accumulate at this particular point. Sometimes the neck is flat in front and bulging at the sides. Here the side view is distinctly not beautiful. To correct either of these defects practice the head bending exercise. Bend the head from the base of the neck first to one side as far as possible and then to the other, repeating the movements several times.

Removing Dust.

Dust is insidious. A wash cloth and warm water at best remove but little of it from the face. If you really wish to see how much dust the face can take up in a walk take a damp wash cloth when you arrive home and dip it in your cold cream jar. Then scrub face and neck. The wash cloth will be so black that one is horror struck to think that so much dust has been carried on the face even for a short while.

For some reason soap and water do not seem to remove the dust as well as cold cream and warm water. The face should then be sponged off with cold water to tighten the pores, which have been opened by the warm water and dusted with powder that has been chosen to match the color of the skin as nearly as possible. This powder should be wiped off till not a bit of it shows, for nothing is more disagreeable than smears of it on the face.

Drink Plenty of Water.

If you would have a clear complexion drink plenty of water between meals and exercise out of doors every day.

Cold water stimulates the membranes of the stomach, and hot water soothes them.

Sipping either is better than swallowing rapidly, and when the taste of hot water is unpalatable a pinch of salt or a dash of lemon juice will improve it. A pinch of soda with the lemon juice is even better.

A rational habit of drinking water will not only improve the health, but will preserve it. Water and milk are both very good to keep the kidneys acting well.

For Tender Feet.

Carbolated vaseline, well rubbed into the skin, is said to be excellent for frostbites.

Where the skin is broken zinc oxide is sometimes very healing.

White cotton stockings should be drawn on the feet, when any cream is used.

Massage after a warm foot bath helps to stimulate the circulation where there is a proneness to cold feet and is a preventive of frostbite.

A little salt added to the foot bath will harden too delicate skin.

When Hair Darkens.

Light hair grows darker as one grows older. The woman who is troubled by her hair darkening might add the juice from half a lemon to next to the last rinsing water when she washes her hair. If her hair is not too dry it will not harm it to put a teaspoonful of borax in the shampoo bath.

A hair restorer is composed of twice as much Jamaica rum as castor oil and a few drops of either oil of roses or lavender. Rub it will into the scalp, being careful not to have any more than possible touch the hair.

Sties on the Eyelid.

Sties are occasioned by the irritation of the hair follicle out of which an eyelash springs. They should be opened as soon as the pus is formed, for they will not get well as long as the pus remains.

For inflammation of the follicles and scaliness add to an ounce of vaseline fifteen grains of precipitated sulphur. In applying this ointment it is well to warm it a little.

Unconscious Frowns.

Don't narrow your eyes when you wish to be impressive. If you draw your mouth into a button and allow deep lines to pucker between your eyes you will acquire a habitual cross expression. Is anything more unpleasant than an angry face with its features tied in veritable knots?

Hair Curlers.

Curlers of any description are none too good for the hair, but the kinds where the hot iron does not come in contact with the hair itself are best. Then the kid one, where no iron at all is used, is better still.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Paris, Feb. 18—Running a city "without men" is the novel experience of Paris today. The women are managing the railways, hospitals and hotels; move baggage, serve as conductors, chauffeurs and cab drivers, and even clean streets, do carpenter work and handle the pick and shovel.

London—Mrs. J. C. Jenkins, an American woman from Minneapolis, aided by a coterie of American women here, has opened a factory where the unemployed are given work. It is a knitting mill; and gloves and socks are being turned out for the soldiers.

Louisville, Ky.—Mrs. W. B. Dixon, known to every child in Louisville as the "story lady," has talked to over 6,000 school children in and near Louisville. Kindness to animals is her theme, and her work is being supplemented in other parts of the State by the Women's Auxiliary of the Kentucky Humane Society.

Boston—One of the most interesting of the European women who have come to America in the interests of the sufferers of the war zone is Countess Dumas. Although she is American born she has lived since childhood in Paris. Her husband is the great-great-grandson of Count Dumas, who was a friend of Lafayette and the aide of Count Rochambeau in the Revolutionary War. She is pleading the cause of war sufferers in France.

Atlantic City—That 100,000 babies have been saved in the United States through a nation-wide campaign of education of mothers, was one of the important reports submitted to the National Mothers' Congress.

New York—Arrangements are already being made for the biennial convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held here in May, 1916. The council will be held at Portland, Ore., in June.

New York—Mrs. Archibald Alexander, of Hoboken, friend and associate of Miss Anne Morgan, in her civic uplift work, is to marry again. The bridegroom will be H. Otto Wittpenn, now a naval officer, and formerly Mayor of Jersey City. The romance is said to be a direct result of association in welfare work.

San Francisco, Cal.—Miss Greta Johnson, 18 years old, who won the world's championship for grace in high diving at the Olympic games in 1912, has been appointed a member of the department of physical education in the University of California. She will teach the co-eds the art of swimming.

The opening conference of American women working for peace in Europe and for the abolition of war among all civilized nations will be held here July 4. It is hoped to make Independence Day more notable by the steps for peace to be taken at that time.

St. Louis, Mo.—A fashion show for the women of the South, West and Southwest will open here on March 15.

Although her father opposed, Miss Marjorie Bell, known as the "million dollar princess," will wed next June. She is only 17. She will be the bride of Richard Hinrichs, of St. Louis.

Springfield, Ill.—One of the most sensational statements in regard to eugenics is that which accompanies the bill for the adoption of a eugenics law in Illinois. Records of examinations at the Coulter Settlement in Chicago showed that 65 to 70 per cent. of operations on women are for diseases that would cause marriage licenses to be withheld. The Wisconsin law is causing a decrease in weddings, and the Oregon law is being dodged by residents who go to neighboring States to wed. The Indiana Senate recently passed a eugenics bill, and other States are tackling the problem.

Wellington, New Zealand—An election joke was recently perpetrated on the politicians by the brown-skinned Maori women, who put up their own candidate and elected him over seven candidates of the regular politicians. The women frankly admit that it was because their favorite was young and handsome that they thrust greatness upon him.

Washington—A statue of William Pitt, the great English statesman and friend of America during the revolutionary days, will be unveiled here next October. It is the gift of American women living in England.

Minneapolis, Minn.—One of the most touching appeals from the war zone is that of Mrs. D. W. Shurtleff, formerly of Minneapolis. She is devoting herself to caring for the blind who have been driven from the fighting area of France. Dr. Cyrus Northrup, of the University of Minnesota, is heading the list of subscribers to a fund to aid her work.

STATES TO SWAP ISLANDS.

La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 18—A bill providing for the ceding of an island opposite Red Wing to the State of Minnesota, was introduced in the Wisconsin Legislature this week. Minnesota has agreed to the exchange of islands, and it is expected the Wisconsin legislators will also agree.

SCOOP, THE CUB REPORTER — WHY BE SO DISCOURAGING? — BY "HOP"

LITERARY

Of all periodicals of national influence, none has been more steadfast in its support of the cause of suffrage than Puck, the famous humorous weekly; and the announcement now comes that the publishers of this celebrated periodical have turned the entire direction of their issue of February 20 (on sale February 16) over to the suffrage party.

The number will be in charge of an editorial board of prominent suffragists composed of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Mrs. Norman De. R. Whitehouse, Mrs. Anne O'Hagan Shinn, Mrs. Margaret Ayer Cobb and Mrs. Alice Duer Miller. These leaders have in turn enlisted the editorial support of some of the greatest literary and artistic celebrities of the day, including George Ade, R. L. Goldberg, Richard Le Gallienne, Norman Hapgood, Peter Finley Dunne, Charles Hanson Towne, Gertrude Atherton, "F. P. A.," James Huneker, Irving Cobb, John Kendrick Bangs, Wallace Irwin, Julian Street and a host of others. Unquestionably, the number will carry contributions from the most brilliant galaxy of literary "stars" ever assembled in a single issue of an American periodical.

Local suffrage leaders are enthusiastic over winning the support of a national periodical to the extent of controlling its editorial destinies for a special issue, and a number of comely young suffragists will sell the issue on the streets, recognizing its powerful propaganda possibilities.

Newsdealers declare that the advance orders for the number indicate an enormous interest in the suffrage movement, and they anticipate no little difficulty in supplying the greatly increased demand for the Suffrage Number of Puck.

"So far as I know," writes the editor of Puck, "no other periodical of national scope has ever donated an entire edition to the cause of equal suffrage, and we are proud to say that this number is the most brilliant we have ever turned out."

can be pretty accurately gauged by the character and ability of the men behind it.

A study of the personnel of our Board of Directors, composed of successful local as well as New York business men, will convince you of the reliability and conservatism of the management.

As evidence of their conservatism, we point to the fact that this institution carries at all times a cash reserve considerably in excess of the percentage required by the Department of Banking. Furthermore, its assets are kept in such shape that its demand deposits can be liquidated in 24 hours.

Additional patronage is solicited, based on service and responsibility.

I know that we cannot continue to increase this business unless we give the people an honest, square deal.

It makes no difference whether you buy a sponge or cigar, a box of our fine chocolates, a man's size fine comb or a glass of soda water. We want you to be satisfied so that you will come again.

We take a personal interest in this business and in the patronage of our customers.

Let this be an urgent standing request that if any time you feel that the article you bought has not given full value you will give us the pleasure of personally adjusting your complaint.

LOYAL DAUGHTERS ANNUAL BANQUET

Delightful Affair Given at Hope Chapel, Last Evening.

INTERESTING SPEECHES

Frank Lindsley, Class Teacher, Is Toastmaster—Members of the Organization Prepare and Serve a Fine Dinner—Those Who Spoke.

The Loyal Daughters' class, one of most progressive organizations at Hope chapel, gave its annual class dinner in the Sunday-school rooms, last night. Each member brought a relative or friend and sixty persons in all enjoyed the excellent repast prepared and served by the young women themselves. "Roast Jersey turkey a la loyal," was the big feature of the dinner and the manner in which it was prepared augmented the reputation the Loyal class has for providing excellent edibles. The table was tastefully decorated with candleabra and potted plants, while national colors were arranged about the rooms.

J. Frank Lindsley, who is the class teacher, presided as toastmaster and introduced the following speakers, all of whom made appropriate and encouraging addresses: Rev. Milton S. Littlefield, of Brooklyn, "The Ministry of Yesterdays;" Miss M. Anna Hauser, of New Brunswick, "Woman and Her Influence Today;" C. A. Beemer, of Westfield, "The Class Spirit;" Rev. Frederic L. Greene, invocation; John Leal, "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address;" George E. Hall, "Personality," and G. Herbert Condict, "A Superintendent's Message." Each of the speeches was thoroughly enjoyed and the speakers were generously applauded at the finish.

The standing social committee, which is composed of Mrs. Stephen D. Millwater, chairman; Marion E. T. Bunn, Miss Mildred Hand, Miss Ruth Vail, Mrs. John Millwater and Mrs. Anthony Hopcroft, were directly in charge of the dinner preparation.

The offiers of the Loyal class are the following: President, Miss Carrie M. Coon; vice-president, Miss Maude V. S. Mundy; secretary, Miss Henrrietta Richardson; treasurer, Miss Daisy Terry; librarian, Miss Gertrude M. Ehart; pianists, Mrs. Fred Kliner and Miss May E. Richardson. In addition to the social committee there are also standing committeee for membership composed of Mrs. George W. Marsh, chairman, Mrs. Charles S. Smith, Mrs. William Galloway, Miss Rachael McRae, Mrs. Clarence Hoffman, Miss Edith Anthony and Mrs. Anthony Hopcroft, and a committee for religious work which includes Mrs. B. R. Moore, chairman; Mrs. George Vreeland, Mrs. William Sparks, Miss Cora Neilor, Miss Maude Casey, Mrs. George L. Francisco, Miss Grace Moore, and John F. Lindsley, teacher.

1914 GRAND JURY TO HOLD ANNUAL REUNION

The first annual reunion dinner of the January, 1914, term of the Union County Grand Jury will be held, Thursday, February 25, at 6:30 o'clock at the factory of the Wheatena Company, Wheatenaville, Rahway. Arthur R. Wendell, who, with Charles E. Bishop, comprise the dinner committee, has offered the services of his chefs and corps of helpers to furnish this dinner. Mr. Wendell was a member of the grand jury, and it was at his suggestion that his fellow-members hold the reunion at Wheatenaville.

In addition to the former grand jurors who will attend the reunion, the guests will include county officials. It is proposed to make the affair one of much pleasure to everyone who attends.

SUFFRAGE SALE.

A Washington Birthday cake sale will be held at Suffrage Headquarters, 110 Depot avenue, tomorrow, at 10 o'clock. The sale will continue until all the cakes are disposed of. SURPRISE SHOWER FOR MISS ROBLEY

Pleasing Affair Given at Home of Mrs. Frank Rowley, Last Night.

Miss Mary Robley, instructor of languages in the North Plainfield High School, was given a surprise shower at the home of Mrs. Frank Rowley, of Grove street, last night. The affair was arranged by a committee of mothers and teachers, consisting of Mrs. W. O. Taylor, Mrs. Warren Townley, Mrs. W. L. Smalley, Mrs. M. H. Ewart, Miss Ethel Barnard and Miss Edna French, and was a great success, Miss Robley being completely surprised. There were about sixty guests, including members of Miss Robley's classes in school, and friends.

The party met at the home of Miss Lucy Douglas, of Grove street, and went in a body to surprise their hostess. During the evening Miss Robley was presented with several useful and handsome gifts. Edson Day, president of the senior class, read a poem appropriate to the occasion, after which Ralph Smalley presented the hostess with a beautiful pair of silver candlesticks from the pupils. Miss Robley also received other useful articles.

The evening was spent in playing interesting games, singing and dancing. Refreshments were served. Those present were:

Mrs. L. M. French, Miss Dwight, Mrs. Christie, of Princeton; Mrs. Albert Early and Misses Edna Green, Margaret Ewart, Marian Doughty, Ann Hull, Marielle Dunham, Jubilee Rowley, Katherine Giddings, Dorothy Martin, Marian Avery, Marian Wooley, Amelia Brizzie, Margaret Brizzie, Lucy Douglas, Emma Ryno, Gladys Sullivan, Lillian Spencer, Marjorie Burtis, Lucy Hughes, Carol Hughes, Emilie Pleydell, Grace Townley, May Hoagland, Daisy Schmidt, Helen Schmidt, Margaret Currin and Hoyt Tomkinson, Frank Fetherston, Hyman Abrams, Russell Lee, Albert Early, Bob Hebert, Ronald Conroy, Edson Day, Roscoe Van Camp, Halbert Hutchinson, Elmer French, Frank Dunning, Augustus Van Deventer, Lester Chandler, Ralph Smalley, Tom Ball, Charles Roll, Warren Townley, Duclos Van Mater.

BODY OF CHARLES DOW TO BE BORIED AT HILLSIDE

The funeral of Charles G. Dow, who was known to many Plainfielders, will be held at his late home, 32 Sayre street, Elizabeth, at 8 o'clock tonight. The body will be brought to Plainfield tomorrow for burial in Hillside cemetery.

Mr. Dow died after a brief illness with pneumonia. He had resided in Elizabeth for thirty years, and nearly all that time conducted a grocery store on Morris avenue. He retired about six years ago. Mr. Dow's only surviving relative is his wife, who was Miss Mary A. Overbaugh, of this city.

"PEG O' MY HEART" PLAY RECITAL TO BE PRESENTED

A rare treat is in store for those who attend the Washington School, Monday evening, when the Public Recreation Committee will present an unusual program. A recital of "Peg o' My Heart" will be given by Miss Lillian L. Lamson, who will impersonate the various characters of this charming drama, presenting the entire play as vividly almost as when acted out by a company players.

An extraordinary feature of the program will be a series of interpretive classical dances executed by Miss Mildred L. Brownlee. The free spirit and wonderful grace of the old Greek woodland dances will be presented with all their charming freedom of movement, creating the very atmosphere of a woodland scene. Among the dances given will be the "Shepherd Boy," the "Dryad Dance" and the "Golden Butterfly."

The music for these dances is expressive of the spirit of the dances, and will be interpreted by Miss Anastasia Griffen.

This entertainment is free, but children will not be admitted unless accompanied by parents.

ADMITS HE LOST BET.

Marion Taliaboschi, who nearly lost his life in attempting to prove that wild parsnips are not poisonous, continues to improve rapidly at Muhlenberg Hospital. He will probably be able to return home tomorrow. As soon as he recovered conscious, Wednesday night, Taliaboschi said that the man he had wagered that the parsnips would not hurt him if he ate them had won the bet.

SCHOOLS OBSERVE WASHINGTON DAY

Birthday of Nation's First President Celebrated Generally.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAMS

Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson Spoke at P. H. S.—Patriotic Songs and Original Recitations Features—Schools Closed Monday.

Special exercises were held this morning and afternoon in the majority of public schools of this city for Washington's Birthday, and some of the schools that did not hold exercises last week for Lincoln's Birthday, combined the two in one. Singing, recitations and original papers were the features of the programs. At the Plainfield High School, Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, the new pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, was the speaker while Supervising Principal D. Fred Aungst spoke at the borough High School exercises.

The programs of the schools follow:

PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL.

The Rev. Birney S. Hudson, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, delivered a talk to the Plainfield High School pupils at the exercises this morning on "The Life of George Washington." The speaker cited numerous incidents in the life of the first President of the United States, exemplifying his courage, integrity and ability as a statesman.

The speaker told of the great accomplishments of Washington and urged his listeners to pattern their lives after his example.

Following Dr. Hudson's talk a pro-

UNION MEETING OF D. OF L. COUNCILS

Large Gathering of County Organizations at Rahway, Last Night.

A union meeting of the five Daughters of Liberty councils in Union county was held in Rahway last evening, at which a large group of members of Old Glory Council, of this city, were present. The trip was made from Plainfield to Rahway by auto-bus.

Union county councils represented were: Cranford, Garwood, Westfield, Elizabeth and this city. Representatives were also present from Jersey City, Hoboken and Newark.

All State officers, including Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, State councillor, of Westfield, were present.

The meeting was held to bring Daughters of Liberty members together in a social way. A program of songs and recitations was rendered.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL DROPS OSCAR PHILLIPSON CASE

Justice Thomas Snape, of the borough, received word yesterday from the office of Attorney-General Westcott informing him that the case against Oscar Phillipson, the borough youth, who was heavily fined for shooting a rabbit out of season, had been dropped. He was also instructed to return to Phillipson the gun which he used on the eventful occasion, and which resulted in a fine of $120.

Phillipson has been out on bail furnished by former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, following his release from jail through the influence of Ernest Napier, president of the State Game Commission.

CLOSE PIERCE STORE IN NEW MARKET

Place Owned By Missing Man Shut Down Pending Adjustment.

Although residents of New Market, who have had business dealings with Herbert Pierce, whose absence from his home in that place has been the cause of varied speculation, are spreading the report in a round-about fashion that the young man was pressed by financial obligations, efforts to secure admissions from any of the parties have proven futile and when approached by news reporters they refuse to discuss the matter. The residents of the little hamlet appear to be cherishing a certain sacred municipal pride that keeps them from giving out information that might give rise to sensational revelations.

Mr. Pierce's store was closed this morning by Justice of the Peace Von Minden, to satisfy attachments made by Chase & Sanborn, wholesalers of New York city, and George A. Schenck, a Dunellen ice man.

Mr. Pierce has been away from home for more than two weeks, and although his family is said to have received a communication from him stating that he was in the West and would return to New Market shortly, nothing further is known concerning his whereabouts. No attachments have been levied as yet against Mr. Pierce's property, but it is said that creditors are uneasy at the present time.

The man is one of the big men in New Market. He is manager of the New Market Roller Mills Company, one of the largest in this section of the State; proprietor of New Market's grocery and butcher store; a deacon in the Baptist church, and a director in the Dunellen bank.

RECORD CROWD ATTENDED ELKS' CLUB RECEPTION

One of the largest gatherings of members and friends of the local lodge of Elks that has yet been present at the series of winter receptions being conducted under the auspices of the organization, attended the affair in the clubhouse, last night. Dancing was the feature of the evening's entertainment, a large majority of those present taking part in this amusement, for which music was furnished by Van Eps' orchestra.

The entire clubhouse was open to the guests, who were in charge of the entertainment committee. During the evening refreshments were served.

RODE BIKE ON SIDEWALK.

Charged with riding his bicycle without a light and on the sidewalk, Dominic Delyea, an Italian, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, and sentenced to pay a fine of $5 with the option of spending twenty days in the county jail. He paid.

BIRTHDAY SOCIAL.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will hold its annual birthday social in the Sunday-school room of the church tonight at 8 o'clock. There will be a pleasing program and other features.

BUYS WESTFIELD PROPERTY.

Assemblyman William N. Runyon has purchased all the property located in Westfield and Fanwood township belonging to Harold Depew, of Elizabeth, and formerly owned by Clark S. Perrin, of Westfield.

SECRETARY'S NEW HOME.

Alfred C. Estes, the new secretary at the Y. M. C. A., has leased the premises at 744 Carlton avenue, and will take possession May 1. The rental was made through the agency of Frederick A. Martin.

WILL MEET ON MONDAY.

The monthly meeting of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association will be held Tuesday evening, February 23, instead of Monday, owing to the fact that the latter date will be a holiday next week.

$10 FOR SPEEDING.

Ray Barker, of 1120 Myrtle avenue, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, charged with driving an automobile in excess of the speed limit. He was found guilty and fined $10.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Mr. and Mrs. David S. Barry, of Washington, D. C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Cora, to J. Rex, Shoemaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Shoemaker, of this city. No date for the wedding has been set.

ASKS $25,000 FOR ALIENATIONS

Mrs. John K. Roundey Filed Papers Today In Suit Against Mrs. E. W. Poinier.

SAYS HUSBAND LEFT HER

Action Is Echo of Separate Maintenance Action Brought Against Husband By Plaintiff In November Last.

Mrs. Florence K. Roundey, wife of John K. Roundey, president of the Endress Company, through her attorney, Richard Stockton, of Newark, has brought a $25,000 alienation suit against Mrs. Elmer W. Poineer, of this city. The suit is the outcome of litigation started by Mrs. Roundey in November last for separate maintenance, before Vice-Chancellor Stevens, in Newark. The first suit, against her husband, is still pending. Papers in the case were filed before Chief Justice Gummere in the Supreme Court at Trenton.

According to the plaintiff the local man and Mrs. Poineer were guilty of certain acts of indiscreitno since July 18, 1914, and Mrs. Roundey said today that ten witnesses will be produced to substantiate her allegations. Among them are several neighbors of Mrs. Poineer. The charges made are of a serious nature, and some startling revelations are promised by Mrs. Roundey. Mrs. Poineer's husband is employed in a local manufacturing concern.

In her application for alimony last November Mrs. Roundey declared that she was married to Roundey in August, 1898, in New York city. Up to six years ago, she says, her hus-

JOHN THORP'S WIFE FEARFUL OF SAFETY

Man Who Left Home Sunday Has Not Been Heard From.

Fear that John Thorp, a carpenter, who has been missing from his home on Marshall avenue since last Sunday, was waylaid by thugs and taken to New York, is now entertained by his wife who is verging on a nervous breakdown due to anxiety caused by her husband's continued absence. When he left home Sunday he did so with the intention of returning for supper, but has not been since seen or heard from. A country-wide search is now in progress and police departments and detective agencies in every State have been supplied with a description of the missing man. Mrs. Thorp is planning to offer a reward for information leading to the whereabouts of her husband and says she will leave no stone unturned in her investigation.

When asked by a Plainfield Daily Press reporter, this morning, if she had any idea where Mr. Thorp would seek assistance, she replied:

"It is as though the earth had opened and my husband fallen through. I cannot account for his absence. When he left me Sunday afternoon he was in his usual good spirits, had not been ill and fully intended to return for supper. He has no other relatives in the United States and I do not know where he could have gone."

He is described as being twenty-four years old, quite tall, with broad shoulders, full face and fair complexion, has brown curly hair and blue eyes with a white cast in left eye. He wore a brown suit with dark stripes, white vest trimmed with brown braid, tan shoes, gray overcoat and black derby hat.

In view of the fact that he had over $100 in his possession when he left home his wife fears violence from several jealous business competitors. He was a prosperous carpenter in partnership with Charles Smith.

SPEAKERS WILL DISCUSS "THE MINIMUM WAGE"

At the fourteenth annual meeting of the Consumer's League of New Jersey, to be held in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Friday afternoon, February 26, there will be two addresses on "The Minimum Wage," by Mrs. Frederick Nathan, president of the Consumer's League of New York city, and Miss Rose Winslow, of the Woman's Trade Union League. This will be at 3 o'clock and the business meeting will be at 2:15 o'clock. The annual report of the secretary, Mrs. Charles Whitnall will be read and some amendments to the constitution will be considered.

ALL-AMERICAN SONG RECITAL PLEASES

Charming Affair Given at the Park Club, Last Night.

The all-American song recital given by Miss Ethel Kinnaman, contralto, and Percy Hemus, baritone, at the Park Club, last night, under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, proved to be one of the musical treats of the winter season in this city, and was thoroughly enjoyed by an appreciative audience. The fact that all of the numbers on the program were by American composers lent additional interest to the recital and both Miss Kinnaman and Mr. Hemus clearly demonstrated the right of these songs to a place among the best works. Evidence of their popularity was attested by the hearty applause given throughout the recital.

Miss Kinnaman, who is the contralto soloist a tthe First M. E. church, where her singing has been so much enjoyed, was well and favorably received last night. In the group of songs by the talented artist she was given an unusual opportunity to show the sweetness and wide range of her voice, and each number was well suited to the singer.

This was the first appearance of Mr. Hemus in this city and he made a most favorable impression. He made a popular selections of songs, everyone of which was written by an American composer, and with each succeeding number he won the approbation of his audience. The clear and distinct enunciation of Mr. Hemus was a decided feature of his work, which is so seldom found in singers of the present day.

Another feature of the recital was the work of Miss Gladys Craven at the piano. As an accompanist she displayed rare ability, and frequently throughout the evening she shared with Miss Kinnaman and Mr. Hemus in the rounds of applause by the audience. In last night's recital much credit is due Mr. Braider, who arranged the affair, aording Plainfielders an opportunity to enjoy an excellent program of music.

WILL MOTORIZE CHEMICAL ENGINE AND HOSE WAGON

The fire and buildings committee, of the Common Council, has approved of the plan to motorize the combination chemical and hose wagon at No. 3 house on West Fourth street, and at the next regular meeting of the Council bids for the work will be ordered. The estimated cost as made by experts is said to be between $3,000 and $4,000. The combination chemical and hose wagon now located at the Netherwood house will be brought down town and with its team will be placed at No. 1 house on West Second street. The committee has decided to make no change in this vehicle this year, but may consider it early in 1916.

The West End apparatus is one of the best of its kind in the city service and was purchased about ten years ago. It is in excellent shape at the present time and the committee feels that once it is transformed into a motor apparatus it will give many years of use. The proposed change will retain the present chemical tanks and will increase the hose capacity as well as making room for a large number of men. When the new Nott engine is officially located at Netherwood and the transformed apparatus is at the West End, the department will have two extra teams with horses and a couple of exercise wagons which will probably be sold.

ITALIAN PRISONER HELD TO FACE TRIAL AS THIEF

Salvatore Avindora, the Italian who was caught by Sergeant Higgins, of the Plainfield police force, last Wednesday, and turned over to the borough authorities on a charge of larceny made by the Public Service Corporation, was brought up before Justice Snape, this morning, and held under $200 bail for the Grand Jury. The defendant was represented by John P. Owens.

G. G. Andrews, superintendent of the local branch, testified against the Italian. He said that on Wednesday an alarm was given at the headquarters that the line on Mountain avenue had been tampered with and he, together with James Ellis and Warren Walp, employes, went to find the trouble. The Italian was found in a field opposite the Netherwood Farms coiling up the wire that had been cut and after a long chase he was caught in a cellar in Plainfield. He was turned over to the borough authorities. No bondsman has as yet been secured.

NEUTRAL VESSEL IS TORPEDOED

Austrians and Russians Reported In Struggle—Czar's Troops Control Uzsok Pass.

TORPEDO FRENCH BOAT

Dinorah Succeeded In Rearching Port, However, Before Sinking—Dirigibles Wrecked Were On Way to Raid English Coast.

London, Feb. 19 (Central News)—A merchant vessel of a neutral nation was torpedoed this morning by the Germans in their effort to enforce the war zone blockade. The Norwegian tanker Belridge was torpedoed early this morning in the middle of the English Channel, according to a despatch received by the Evening News, from Dover. This afternoon it is reported to be badly down at the head, but still afloat. Most of the crew are still on board the tanker and English boats are standing by.

Rome, Feb. 19—A great battle between the Austrians and Russians has commenced in Bukowina, in the neighborhood of Vodvorna and Kolomea, says a despatch from Vienna to the Messagero. The Russian army which was retreating toward Stanislau has received reinforcements from that direction and is attempting to halt the advance of the enemy.

Patriotic demonstrations continued throughout yesterday, the first day of the session of Parliament, but the demonstrations were not allowed to reach the Chamber of Deputies. In a stirring review of the international situation, Republican Deputy Colajanni declared in a speech to the Chamber that the Garibaldis and their followers who have fallen in battle in the army of France also died for their own country, in that they were fighting for their old ideal, the delivery of Trent and Triest from Austria.

Basle, Switzerland, Feb. 19—The approaches to Uzsok Pass in the Carpathians, for which the Russians and Austrians have been battling for weeks, are now all in the hands of Russians. According to a report from Austria, two Russian columns are now converging on Ungvar in northern Hungary.

Paris, Feb. 19 — The French steamer Dinorah was torpedoed this morning 16 miles off Dieppe, by a German submarine. The Dinorah was towed into port before she sank. None of her crew was lost.

French successes in the Vosges and in the Argonne are announced by the war office today. Two infantry attacks by the Germans in the Vosges in an attempt to stop the French offensive directed toward Metz were repulsed by the French troops. In the Argonne region four bomb throwers were captured.

The conflict in the Aisne valley and near Rheims was confined to an artillery duel.

The French army is to receive great reinforcements immediately. General Joffre has issued an order placing the reserve units of the army upon the same footing as the troops now in active service. The number of these reserve forces to be added to the army cannot be stated at present, but it is known that they will provide great strength to the French military establishment.

Copenhagen, Feb. 19—The two Zeppelins which were destroyed off the Danish coast, yesterday, had started for the English coast to make another raid when they lost their way and were forced to descend, according to a statement by one of the officers. Owing to lack of reports as to the weather in England and over the North Sea the Germans were ignorant of the approaching gale which was the cause of the destruction of the Zeppelins.

Berlin, Feb. 19 (by wireless)—The following statement was given out at German headquarters this afternoon:

"Western theatre on the road from Arras to Lille, the French have blown up a trench which we took from them on February 16.

"In Champagne renewed attacks of strong French forces completely broke down yesterday under German artillery fire. There are ten additional prisoners in the hands of the Germans. Small portions of German trenches taken by the French on February 16 were partly reconquered.

"In the French attack upon Bourcuilles and Vauquois already reported, five officers and 479 uninjured men were taken prisoners.

"East of Verdun, near Combles, the French after a short lived success were repulsed with heavy losses. In the Vosges we stormed Hill

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY PRESS

DUNELLEN

All the Happenings of the Day In Plainfield's Hustling Suburb.

Emerson Platt, son of Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Platt, has the measles.

Mrs. George I. Apgar, Jr., who together with her husband and child is staying with Mrs. J. Newton Apgar, of New Market road, for a while, has the grip.

Principal Guy H. Rentschler, of the local schools, leaves this evening for Reading, Pa., where he will spend the week-end and holiday with his sister.

CLASS INITIATION.

At the weekly meeting of the P. O. S. of A. held last evening in W. G. Holton Hall, it was decided to charter a special trolley car to attend the class initiation which is to be held at New Brunswick on March 2.

Mildred Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Harrison, of Front street, has recovered from an attack of measles.

George L. Apgar's house on Second street, east of Washington avenue, is about completed and Mr. and Mrs. Apgar will be able to move in as soon as Contractor Fred Kirchner has finished the interior decorations which is expected to be about March 1.

Clarence Waldron, Jr., of Bound Brook, has been working for the Model Garage at DeKalb avenue.

Quite a large delegation from this place attended the Elks' dance at Plainfield last evening.

Elna Apgar, the 5 months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George I. Apgar, Jr., who has been ill with bronchitis, is better.

Edna, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jennings, has recovered from a severe attack of croup.

DR. GASTON ON A VISIT.

Dr. Gaston, of California, who practiced in Dunellen for twenty years or so having an office in the store now occupied by H. Handleman, the tailor, is visiting in the East. He came to the borough from Philadelphia, Wednesday, where he has a brother, and spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hetfield, of North avenue, and on Thursday he visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Debele, of Rock avenue, and passed the night with them.

Miss Eva Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schneider, of Front street, is spending two weeks or so in Jersey City the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Ida Ripperteau.

Paul Ratti, proprietor of Ratti's North avenue fruit emporium, was a business visitor in New York yesterday.

Mayor and Mrs. E. B. Latham will spend tomorrow and Sunday in Philadelphia.

Thomas Frescolm, of New Market road, has accepted a position at Pond's.

Edward Parker, son of Mrs. Lydia Parker, of Second street, who has been ill for the past three days with tonsilitis, is better.

The P. O. S. of A. will initiate three new members at its meeting next week.

The Afternoon Card Club met with Mrs. Paul Carpenter, of Prospect avenue, this afternoon.

Edward Wrage son of Contractor and Mrs. Fred Wrage, has the measles.

MISS OTTERSON ILL.

Miss B. E. Otterson, teacher of the Fourth grade of the Lincoln School, who boards with Contractor and Mrs. Fred Wrage, was taken ill while teaching her class at 2:30 yesterday afternoon. She was revived and was relieved by Principal Rentschler, who finished her duties for the day.

CALICO PARTY.

A calico party was held at Mayor and Mrs. E. B. Latham's home this week. Some thirty-four guests were present from this place and Plainfield. As the name would indicate all of the lady guests were gowned in calico dresses. The entertaining program consisted of cards and dancing, after which refreshments were served.

C. H. WARD'S ACTIVITIES.

In the local news column of the Riverbank Review appears the following item about Charles H. Ward, of Riverbank, Cal., who was born and brought up in this section and resided here for a good many years: "C. H. Ward is making preparations to put out 1,000 Thompson seedless grapes on his ranch. He is also planting part of the ground with figs and almonds and will put out a lot of strawberries as soon as weather conditions will permit."

CAPTURED MANY PRIZES.

R. H. Armstrong, of Mountainview Terrace, proprietor of the S. C. Black Minorca Poultry Yards, entered five of his birds in the Poultry Show at Madison Square Garden, which closed on Wednesday, each one of which captured a ribbon. He won a cock, fourth hen, third cockerel, fifth pullet and second pen. When the mammoth size of the recent show is taken into consideration the accomplishment of Mr. Armstrong bespeaks volumes for his ability as a breeder of stock poultry.

"SUMMER DANCE."

An odd dance will be held in the Dunellen Theatre, on Washington's Birthday night. It will be called a "Summer Dance," and women attired in summer gowns and gentlemen wearing soft shirts, without coats, will dance both new and old-fashioned steps. Each woman has been asked to wear a cap of any becoming design or material and bring a man's necktie of the same material. This feature has possibilities of causing much merriment. Other features are to be given as well as Washington Birthday favors and the colors used will be red, white and blue.

Mrs. Willard N. Apgar, of Lincoln avenue, who has been ill for a week, is able to be up and about her home.

The new proprietors of the Park Hotel Stables have had men engaged for the past couple of days in overhauling their rolling stock.

Plains & Fanwood.

A wedding will be solemnized in St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, tomorrow afternoon, when Ralph Venizio and Miss Emily Groletto, both of this place, and popular members of the Italian colony, will be united in marriage. Following the ceremony a reception will be given in their honor in Excelsior Hall.

The first attempt of the board of trustees of the borough library to give residents freer access to the library will be inaugurated tonight, when the library will be open between 7:3 and 8:30. This will continue on every Friday evening as long as the attendance warrants it. It is a distinct departure from the former arrangement of having the building opened in the afternoon from 3 to 4, and will give other persons a chance to get familiar with the new books of fiction as well as those of historical value.

The Rev. Oscar Stuart Michaels, pastor of the Episcopal church, will conduct a week-end devotional service in the church this afternoon, and will continue to do so every Saturday during Lent.

The Altar Guild will meet in the Episcopal church tomorrow.

William Hull will lead the weekly prayer-meeting in the Methodist church tonight.

The postponed meeting of the Boy Scouts was held in the lecture room of the Baptist church last evening. The usual instruction period was followed by a social hour. The two patrols will meet in the lecture room Monday night in uniform to hear a lecture.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Denison have returned to their home on Park avenue after being called to Paterson by the death of Mr. Denison's father.

The Eighth grade of School No. 1 is planning to send for their class pins next week in order to have them by Easter. The committee appointed has selected several designs to be voted on by the class. The class colors of blue and white will be on the front of each pin.

Frank Schriener is detained at his home on Springfield road by illness.

Mrs. Frank Hosinger is seriousuly ill at her home on Park avenue.

Mrs. Louis J. Grada has returned to her home on North avenue after a month's visit at Cortlandt, N. Y.

Mrs. Katherine Todd, of Warwick, N. Y., is spending the week-end with friends in the borough.

Miss Virginia Glover, of New York, is spending some time with relatives in the borough.

The members of the Sunshine Club are planning to hold their fourth dance of the season on March 5 in the Fanwood firehouse.

band provided her with meagre support, but since then she has received practically nothing from him. She claims she was compelled to work for the Endress Company, of which she was treasurer, and received $15 a week. At one time she owned some of the shares of the company, she says, but last April sold the stock to her husband. Mrs. Roundey says this sale gave her husband absolute control of the company, and since then she has received nothing from him.

Mr. Roundey, although he admits that his wife has been living apart from him for three years, denies the allegations of misconduct and abuse, and declares that last July he paid her $3,500 in lieu of alimony.

In an interview with a Plainfield Daily Press reporter this afternoon Mrs. Roundey declared that two butchers in the employ of the Endress Company had threatened her life with cleavers, one of them exclaiming, "I'll put an end to you." This announcement was made in answer to her husband's charge that she was a woman with whom it was impossible to get along owing to her disposition. She claims to have affidavits in her possession made by these butchers, who afterward repented of their threats.

Sheriff George C. Otto was said to be in Plainfield this afternoon seeking persons connected with the case to serve papers on them.

ANNUAL BUSINESS SESSION OF KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Local delegates to the forty-eighth annual convention of the State Council, Knights of Pythias, which convened in Trenton, Wednesday, returned to their homes last night. Election of officers, decision not to increase the membership fee from $10 to $20, and the selection of Asbury Park as the scene for the next annual convention comprised the business transacted at the sessions. The election of officers resulted as follows:

Grand chancellor, Charles Linden, Hoboken; grand vice-chancellor, Charles A. Overt, Leesburg; grand prelate, Charles Vogelius, Bloomfield; grand keeper of records and seals, Elmer E. Margerum, Trenton; grand master of exchequer, William H. Everson, New Brunswick; grand master-at-arms, Milo S. Borden, Newark; grand inner guard, William A. Johnson, Jersey City; grand outer guard, Carl L. Walters, Perth Amboy; supreme representatives, John A. Conger, New Brunswick, and Henry A. Heinrichs, Paterson.

Up for consideration yesterday were proposed amendments to the constitution permitting subordinate lodges to pay benefits to others than members of the lodges, to authorize the grand lodge to make appropriations for benevolent purposes and to authorize representation to the supreme lodge lodge from districts having a membership of 600 or more.

At the business session yesterday Charles S. Nichols, a member of Unity Lodge, No. 102, of this city, was appointed deputy for district No. 20, which includes Plainfield, Bound Brook, Somerville, Neshanic and Flemington lodges. Mr. Nichols succeeds Deputy Bellis, of Flemington.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The third of the series of talks on China will be continued at the Y. W. C. A. tonight. The lecture starts at 7 and will continue until 8 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to hear Miss Mead, who is a very interesting speaker.

Dr. H. D. Corbusier was the speaker last night, on the first aid to the injured. Many new members were registered in the class, which is proving very popular with the young women. Dr. Corbusier will speak next week on "First Aid Materials and Their Uses," and practical demonstration of application of bandages and dressings.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. J. C. Peck, of Myrtle avenue, has gone to Daytona, Florida, for a short stay.

Miss Ella Conover, of Elmwood place, a graduate nurse, who has been in Philadelphia for a short time, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker Loizeaux, of Berkeley avenue, are the parents of a son, born to them yesterday.

Miss Gertrude King, of Craig place, is seriously ill at her home with heart trouble.

Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M.

Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M.

Columbia Lodge, No. 53, I. O. O. F.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P.

At the meeting of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., last evening, candidates were initiated. A social hour followed.

The fair committee of Company H, Uniformed Rank, Jr. O. U. A. M., met last evening and completed business in reference to the fair held last week. A substantial sum has been netted as a result of the affair.

A lecture and banquet will be held by Anchor Lodgee, No. 149, F. and A. M., next Tuesday evening, February 23. Many Masons will be present on this occasion.

Members of the four Jr. O. U. A. M. Councils in this city are making plans for a busy social season throughout the coming spring months. Social activities will be many and varied.

All members of Clan Mackenzie, Order of Scottis Clans, are invited to one of a large representation of members who will attend divine service at he First Presbyterian church next Sunday evening.

BEGIN INVESTIGATION.

The Assembly committee appointed to investigate the conditions surrounding the recent chemical workers' strike, including the shooting of a score of men by deputies, now under indictment, began in the Roosevelt Borough Hall, yesterday. The committee has as chairman, Assemblyman William N. Runyon, of this city. The other members are Assemblymen West, of Gloucester; Wolverton, of Camden; Pilgrim, of Essex, and Quinn, of Middlesex.

TWO GRASS FIRES.

A grass fire that for a time assumed threatening aspects was discovered at Park and Evergreen avenues shortly before noon today, a still alarm being sent into headquarters. The flames were spreading close to a frame barn and chemicals had to be used in extinguishing the fire. A grass fire was discovered at Central and Stelle avenues at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Fire headquarters was notified and the blaze was extinguished with chemicals.

"TANGO QUEENS" PLEASE.

Harry Hasting's "Tango Queens," a musical burlesque from the Columbia wheel, delighted a large audience at the Plainfield Theatre, last night. The production was a novelty to Plainfielders in many ways and the combination of burlesque, vaudeville and music was greatly enjoyed Tom Coyne, the leading comedian, made a big hit and the supporting members of the cast received generous applause.

MARY C. IMPIOTCO.

Mary C. Impiotco, the seven months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Impiotco, of Lake street, died this morning. The funeral will be held at the parents' home tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

POSTPONE MEETING.

Owing to the fact that the regular day of the meeting falls on Washington's Birthday, the Westminster Guild will met in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church, on Tuesday at 2:30 p. m.

PASS BILL FOR NEW JUDGE.

Washington, Feb. 19—The Senate today, passed the Hughes bill providing for the appointment of an additional United States District Court judge for the District of New Jersey.

GRACE M.E. CHURCH CHOIR WILL CELEBRATE

Choir night will be observed at Grace M. E. church tonight in connection with the twenty-third anniversary services which have been in progress during the week. A history of the choir prepared by Dr. H. K. Carroll, who will be unable to be present, will be read and Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, will be the speaker of the evening.

The choir will be assisted by Dyckham Winckler, violinist, and will sing the following numbers: Praise the Lord, Maunder; From Every Earth's Pleasure, Liszt-Sheily; Our Confession, Shelly; duet, How Sweet the Name, Brown; Holy Art Thou, Largo-Handel. The choir will sing Gaul's Holy City about March 11.

No 600 south of Lusse and took two machine guns.

"Eastern theatre—The Germans, yesterday, occupied Taurogen. The engagements of the pursuing Germans with the retreating Russians continues. South of Myszyniec the Germans drove the Russians out of several villages in Poland.

The German sea measures are directed at the two great allies of Britain, says the Vossiche Zeitung. One of these allies is the American traffic in arms which is constantly replenishing the supply of England. The other is starvation.

The Lokal Anzeiger declares that the terms of the second great German war loan will be announced the latter half of this month. It is certain, however, that it will be issued at 5 per cent. The Bavarian Government has arranged with the agricultural banks and societies for the purchase of the available supply of corn.

London, Feb. 19 (Central News Cable)—Extremely heavy fighting southeast of Ypres in which the British held their ground, and the successful repulse of German assaults north of Ypres Canal are described in Field Marshal Sir John French's semi-weekly communication, made public today. To the southeast of Ypres the enemy pushed forward desperately and occupied some of the British trenches, but was driven out again, leaving in one place 60 dead. One of the German trenches was blown up and a number of soldiers taken prisoners.

The attacks on the British line north of the Ypres Canal and Neuchapelle were repelled with considerable loss to the enemy and all ground that the Germans had gain was retaken..

The statement further says: "South of the Lys our guns have dealt very effectively with the enemy's artillery, whose fire has greatly increased. Recently our air craft carried out valuable reconnoissances, also successfully engaged hostile aeroplanes. One of our aviators attacked two German machines in succession. The first was driven off by our air craft. The second was brought down by our artillery in the enemy's lines."

A despatch from Vienna says that the following official Austrian statement was given out there:

"On the Carpathian front the situation generally is unchanged, although there was heavy fighting yesterday almost everywhere. Numerous attacks of the Russians were repulsed with heavy losses to them and 320 Russians were taken prisoners.

"By our occupation of Kolamea, the Russians lost an important point in East Galicia, south of the Dniester River. From the direction of Stanislau hostile reinforcements led to new and important fighting north of the Nadworna and northeast of Kolomla, which is still proceeding.

"In Bukowina the enemy has been driven beyond the Pruth and Czernowitz has been occupied by our troops. Wednesday afternoon the Russians retreated in the direction of Nowdstelitza. In Russian Poland and West Galicia there have been only artillery encounters and skirmishes."

Amsterdam, Feb. 19—Germany's answer to the United States resembles somewhat the great speech by Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg, in which he defended the violation of Belgium, says the Nieuws Van Den Dag. The plea of the greater necessity may be accepted in Germany as sufficient reason for the German naval policy, but it is doubtful if it will be accepted as sufficient justification by neutral nations any more than was the same plea in the case of the occupation of neutral Belgium by German soldiers.

LECTURE ON "BELGIUM."

The members of the Plainfield High School were given an interesting illustrated lecture this morning, by George Cross, on "Belgium." There were about one hundred slides in all and the speaker started by showing Belgium as it was in the year 1830. He gave the history of the country and also described the Battle of Waterloo. Mr. Cross had interesting pictures of the present conditions in that little country and before the Germans entered there. He also showed some views of ruins.

1888—Town of Mt. Vernon, Ill., devastated by a tornado.

Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 19, 1915.

The frock coat has been saved! The International Cutters Convention assembled in Washington rescinded an order of banishment, which they had issued some time before. Only a few days at the capital were needed to convince the cutters that their action had been hasty. The spectacle of frock-coated statesmen in high office and gathered from all parts of rural America was too impressive to be ignored, and when the cutters marked how the noble and majestic port of the Secretary of State was enhanced by the flowing skirts of a "Prince Albert" they surrendered, contritely restoring the time-honored habiliment of aspiring democracy to its rightful position of prominence and distinction. In their apologetic announcement the cutters declared that the garment they had unwisely rejected "is by no means relegated to the background" and that its "dignity" is safeguarded by the continuing favor of "the highest officials of our nation." The joy and pride of the ward politicians, high placed statesmen, rural "colonels" and department store floor walkers is saved!

Plainfield's much discussed $10,000 swimming tank located in the wing recently added to the local High School has not fulfilled the predictions of the pessimists. On the contrary the new tank has become a point around which local juvenile activity is centered and is filling a long felt need. Under proper supervision boys and girls of all ages, nationalities, color and creed are given an opportunity to bathe in fresh water and many of the older folks have joined classes recently started. The spreading popularity and general use of the pool can best be ascertained by a personal visit to the school. Such an investigation will soon remove any doubt as to the justness of the expenditure, from the minds of those who are inclined to be skeptical.

Chief Kiely has an idea that criticism was meant of present police department methods, when it was suggested that a modern system of calling patrolmen who are on beat was suggested in these columns last night. The plan proposed was merely in line with that now in use in other progressive cities, including New York with its various boroughs, and we believe that it would be a good method for Plainfield, especially as every man counts here. Now it is necessary to keep one patrolman close to headquarters at all times, so that he can be sent out in case an officer on a particular beat is wanted at headquarters.

The suggestion that a curfew law be passed by the Council, which was made by a delegation of women who called on Mayor Calkins yesterday, is not such a bad one. Certainly it would take off of the streets some of the small boys who hang around the theatres and other places seeking stray nickels, and in some cases begging sums. There are a lot of these youngsters selling papers after 7 oclock at night who should be at home. At the present time the police are apparently powerless to keep the boys off the streets.

The survey of the city departments, which will be undertaken by the Taxpayers' Association, will be a good thing for Plainfield, and we believe that it will have hearty cooperation of the head of every department of the city government.

The contributing editor for tomorrow will be Rev. Birney S. Hudson, the new pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, who in the few months that he has been in Plainfield has made hundreds of friends. His subject will be a timely one.

Mayor Calkins' suggestion for a weekly meeting of the City Council would be all right in the winter months, perhaps, but during the summer it would probably be a hard job to get a quorum four or five times a month.

The new fire engine seems to be a regular hoodoo. After being delayed for months in arriving an important piece broke in an unofficial test, so that it will again be delayed in being placed in service in the city.

All the weather man needs to do when he wants to play safe is put the word "probably" in front of his daily statement.

Following its usual custom the Daily Press will not be published on Monday, Washington's Birthday.

BEAUTIES OF GOLDEN GATE ARE DESCRIBED

Robert B. Weyh, Jr., Gives Instructive Lecture at High School.

A large number of people atended the third of the series of free lectures at the Plainfield High School Auditorium last night, when Robert B. Weyh, Jr., gave an interesting illustrated talk on "California and the Panama Exposition of 1915." There were about 100 pictures, and the audience learned much about the Golden Gate and the Panama Canal. As the subject of the Panama-Pacific Exposition is now one of the most talked of, the lecture was a timely one, and the speaker commented on some of the pictures.

Besides showing pictures of the New Jersey and other State buildings in California, and the bay, which the majority of the buildings overlook, Mr. Weyh showed a few slides of California life and the beautiful scenery for which that country is noted. All of the buildings, which were erected in celebration of the joining of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, are beautifully constructed, and the panoramic slides that were flashed on the screen gave large sections of the grounds.

Mr. Weyh also displayed pictures of the water routes from this and other sections of the country to California, showing the old and new routes, the former around South America, and the new short cut through Central America, which shortens the distance about 6,000 miles. The next of the series of lectures will be held, March 11, and the subject will be "The Beauties of America."

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN "TWIN BEDS'" RETURN

Seats for the brief engagement of Selwyn & Co.'s production of the big laugh festival, "Twin Beds," will go on sale at the box office of the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow morning. Local playgoers who are familiar with the remarkable run of Margaret Mayo's brilliant and uproariously funny farce in New York are evincing a lively interest in its return. Following the well-established custom this firm of producing managers has secured one of the strongest casts obtainable to play Margaret Mayo's great laughing success. In it are Margaret Boland, considered by many critics to be the greatest ingenue on the American stage, August Aramini, Roland B. Lee, Marion Lord, Georgie Drew Mendum, Jane Seymour and J. M. Byrnes. So great have been the number of mail orders received that it is necessary to play a matinee on Saturday, February 27.

MECHANICS' LIEN CASE DECIDED BY JUDGE SPEAR

In the Circuit Court at Elizabeth today Judge Spear decided that mortgages on the property of Mrs. Sadie Nathanson, at Monroe avenue and West Eighth street, this city, had priority over a mechanics' lien placed against it by Valard Salven. The plaintiff's claim was for $500, but after the proceeding an amicable agreement was made and the court confirmed a settlement of $270.

Salven, who is a contractor, did some work on house which Mrs. Nathanson is building, and a balance of $500 existed when some payments were made. The lien was taken to cover the indebtedness, but when suit was brought to recover, Mrs. Nathanson claimed that mortgages were entitled to first consideration, and this the court upheld. Salven was represented by William A. Coddington, while Coddington and Blatz, William M. Stillman and J. K. Large were named as counsel for the defendant.

REAL CONDITION OF PANAMA CANAL

Some New Factors In Hydraulic Engineering.

THE impression got abroad that the date of the official opening of the Panama canal was changed from March 5 to July 4, 1915, because it would be unwise to send the United States fleet to the Pacific while conditions in Europe were in so unsettled a condition. This report carried a suggestion that the government feared that an emergency might arise. But Secretary Daniels has publicly denied that there is any basis for this impression. He further asserted that the real reason for the postponement was the condition of the canal itself. This was carefully gone over by President Wilson with Colonel Goethals shortly before the latter sailed to resume his work at the canal. Colonel Goethals said at the time that it was impossible to state precisely just then whether the canal would be blocked as a result of slides during March or not. He said he hoped there would be no further slides, but that he could not guarantee a clear waterway.

The president asked Colonel Goethals if July would be more satisfactory than March. He answered that it would be much better and that he would be relieved if July 4 was chosen. As a result of this conference President Wilson decided that the ceremonies should be postponed. The president will go to the Panama exposition by rail as soon as congress adjourns. The exact date of his departure, of course, depends upon this contingency.

The slides at Culebra cut are still the sword of Damocles that causes fear and unrest at Panama. New and more powerful dredges than have been used heretofore have been ordered and will soon be digging up the sides of Gold hill, which slipped into the Culebra cut and thus reduced its depth very considerably.

In the accompanying illustration the steamer Ancon is passing through the canal at the summit of the isthmus divide, where the treacherous slides are making so much trouble. The impression given by the picture is that the canal is open full width. As a matter of fact, however, twenty feet below the surface of the water, shown in the illustration, the rocks and earth have upheaved in places so that only a narrow channel remains for ships drawing thirty feet or more. This condition of the canal, Colonel Goethals said before his recent departure for the canal zone, he hoped to remedy by June.

A picture of any section of the nine mile Culebra cut, the subject of the slides, would give the same wrong impression of the waterway's real condition. But the new and powerful dredges are expected to increase the depth of the canal to the intended forty feet and to widen the ship channel to 300 feet as originally planned.

A new factor in hydraulic engineering has been developed as the result of the operation of the Panama canal. None of the distinguished engineers who participated in designing the great waterway ever took into account the peculiar conditions that might arise and affect navigation as a result of the sudden mixture of large quantities of fresh and salt water. Yet it has been found that an important element of delay in the passage of vessels through the canal is caused by the discharge into the great locks, already filled with salt water from the oceans at either end, of the perfectly fresh water which fills the prism of the canal and is supplied from the Chagres and other rivers.

The result of the sudden mixture of the waters when the lock valves are opened is the creation of heavy currents, which continue until the fresh water has thoroughly permeated the heavier salt water, and these currents sweeping back and forth through the locks are apt to dash about and seriously injure any vessel within unless she is securely held and carefully handled. When making the first night lockage recently the steamship Limari was held in the lower chamber of Miraflores lock for fifteen minutes waiting for these currents to subside.

To Provide for the Utmost Safety of Patrons and Property is the First Duty of Every Well-Managed Railroad

The railroads of Pennsylvania and New Jersey fully realize the importance of properly manned trains. Were the claims of those who arbitrarily forced the railroads, under the Full Crew Laws, to employ men for whom no jobs exist just and warrantable, the railroads themselves would be the first to recognize those claims.

Full Crew Laws Costly

Interstate Commerce Commission statistics conclusively prove that Full Crew Laws work three grave hardships—i. e.:

1—They increase the number of casualties.

2—They cost the railroads and thousands of men and women who, directly, or indirectly, as depositors in banks, trust companies, and savings funds are investors in railroad bonds and stocks, approximately $2,000,000 a year in wages for unnecessary labor.

3—They deprive the people of a vast amount of improvements.

No Trains Undermanned

The railroads contend that their trains never could be undermanned for the following good business reasons:

First—A freight train of one locomotive at $25,000, and 75 cars at $1000 each, would represent $100,000 in rolling stock. Is it reasonable to assume that a railroad would jeopardize the safety of that great capital investment to save $2.75, the wage of an extra brakeman? Would it risk the loss of $100,000 worth of property to save $2.75?

Second—The railroads know that, to reach full earning capacity and to get from their equipment and roadway greatest possible service, all trains must be manned with enough men to enable them to do their work and make their trips in the least possible time.

Public Inconvenienced

Suppose, for example, the Lackawanna Limited left New York for Buffalo with four cars. Suppose it arrived at Stroudsburg and there it became necessary to put on a fifth car to accommodate unexpected traffic. Under the Full Crew Laws this could be done only after an extra brakeman had been brought from a division point, or the Stroudsburg passengers would have to stand in crowded cars until the train reached Scranton. Should the public be so inconvenienced?

Why Laws Should Be Repealed

The railroads now—as always—intend to man every freight and passenger train to the full requirements of safety and operating efficiency. They intend to do all within their power to expedite traffic and promote public convenience. They desire to give that absolute safety, efficiency and service to which the people are entitled.

There is no purpose to lay off men whose services are necessary to adequately man trains; the object is merely to eliminate men for whom there is no real necessity and for whom jobs exist only by edict of law.

Legislation that hampers railroad service, safety and efficiency by expending money which should be used to increase the safety, the welfare and the convenience of the public is unfair to the people.

NORTH PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL BALL NINE WILL HAVE TWENTY-SIX GAMES

Manager VanCamp, of the North Plainfield High School baseball team, has completed one of the best and hardest baseball schedules that the borough nine has had in many seasons, twenty-six games being on the list.

The list contains all the teams listed on last year's schedule with the exception of Roselle, and three new teams make their appearance, Clinton, Seton Hall and Cranford.

The first game will be played against Clinton, on Hyde Oval on April 3, and the first interscholastic game for the city championship will be played against Leal on May 1.

The game against Somerville on May 22 is to be played as an exhibition game at the field day celebration in Somerville. There is only one pending game on the whole schedule.

The schedule follows:

April.

Sat., 3—Clinton at home.
Wed., 7—Cranford at home.
Sat., 10—Rutgers "Prep" at home.
Wed., 14—Clinton at Clinton.
Sat. 17—New Brunswick at home.
Wed., 21—Bernardsville at Bernardsville.
Sat., 24—Alumni at home.
Mon., 26—Seton Hall at South Orange.
Wed., 28—Kearny at Kearny.

May.

Sat., 1—Leals at home.
Mon., 3—High Bridge at home.
Wed., 5—Rutgers "Prep" at New Brunswick.
Sat., 8—Kearny at home.
Mon., 10—Woodbridge at home.
Wed., 12—Bernardsville at home.
Sat., 15—Plainfield at home.
Wed., 19—New Brunswick at New Brunswick.
Sat., 22—Somerville at Somerville.
Mon., 24—Leals at Leals.
Wed., 26—High Bridge at High Bridge.
Thurs., 27—Seton Hall at home.
Sat., 29—Baffin (pending) at home.
Mon., 31—Somerville at home.

June.

Wed., 2—Cranford at Cranford.
Sat., 5—Plainfield at Plainfield.
Sat., 12—Plainfield (undecided).

P. H. S. FIVE MUST WIN OVER LEAL'S

Victory Will Clinch Title While Defeat May Make Big Changes.

	W.	L.	P.C.
P. H. S.	3	1	.750
N. P. H. S.	2	2	.500
Leal	1	3	.125

The Plainfield High School and Leal School basketball teams will meet for the second time this season on the Plainfield High School court tomorrow afternoon. Plainfield need only get the larger end of the score of this game and then order the medals that go with the city interscholastic championship. In the first game between these two teams the private school aggregation held its opponents to a five-point lead in the first half, but dropped back in the second period.

Leals practiced in the new gym, yesterday, and expect to make the "champs" go the limit to win. The teams will lineup as follows.

Leals	P. H. S.
Stewart (Capt.)	McNamee (Capt.) forward
Dickerson	Rosenson forward
Schneider	Chamberlain center
Harrington	Peacock guard
Garrigues	Wheelan guard

CHAMPIONSHIPS AT PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 19—In the Middle Atlantic wrestling championships which begin tonight, it is expected that Mike Dorizas, the famous Greek wrestler of the University of Pennsylvania, will compete. Mike has cleaned up the Eastern amateurs and is anxious to tackle new fodder. His strongest opponent will be Emil Marshall, the Pittsburgh A. A. grappler, who has never been thrown.

At Newark—

There was a considerably changed lineup sprung last night by the Newark Elks, on their own alleys, and they succeeded in winning three games in a row from the Rahway team in an Elks' League bowling match. In the second game the Newarkers put up their best total of the season, a mark of 1,019, and they were not far from the ten-century mark in the other games. Dick Erler, who took Billy Weingarth's place at anchor, the latter being laid up with rheumatism, tallied 213, 203 and 200, for an average of 207-1. Speary had counts of 243 and 227, and averaged 220. Andy Graef was there for 205, Alec Hinton rolled 203 and Howard Williams 201. Koops, for Rahway, touched 213 twice, and Macartney had 201.

The scores:

At Elizabeth:

It was a closely contested league match that the Jersey City and Elizabeth Elks engaged in last night, at Elizabeth, the visitors capturing two games out of three from the Betsytown pin-knights. The first game went to the home team by ten pins, with 932; Jersey City got the second game by sixty-six pins, with 965, and also acquired the third game by twenty-five pins, with 959. There were lots of brilliant individual efforts.

RANDOLPH CAPTAIN OF PROBASCO TEAM

Bible Class Has a Find for the Catcher's Berth In Person of Cady.

Probasco Bible Class baseball enthusiasts, who held a rally meeting last night, think they have a find for the catcher's berth this year in a young man sporting the handle of John Cady, a cousin of the Boston Red Sox star. Cady has had considerable experience handling curves and pop-overs behind the wagon tongue, and his advent into the class has caused a boom in the baseball stock.

Earl Pierson, who for two years has piloted the destinies of the class baseball nine, declined renomination to the captaincy last night, and Daniel Randolph, the popular first base guardian, was elected to the vacancy. Harold Downs will play the role of game booker this year.

The class last night took a firm stand against the Sunday baseball issue, and during the coming season any player electing to perform on Sundays will be barred from participation in the Bible class contests. Sentiment is strong against playing the pastime seven days a week, and the officers of the class will enforce the new rule to the letter.

Plans are under way for an unusually active season on the diamond, and the return of the personnel of last year's star outfit indicates that some strong opposition will be in store for all opponents. Duncan Paterson will do the Walter Johnson stunt, and "Dunc" is heralded as a regular thirty-second degree exponent of curvology.

Swimming News and Notes

Written for the Daily Press by

LOUIS P. HANSEN.

Hal Vollmer, of the N. Y. A. C., won the recent 220-yard metropolitan swimming title, establishing new figures for the distance in the New York A. C. tank—2:28 1-5, which is one-fifth of a second better than the former record made by the "Peerless" C. M. Daniels. Wheatley, Vollmer's team mate, was second, and close on Vollmer's heels.

The starters were Ramme, Wheatley, Reilly and Vollmer, all of the New York A. C. Wheatley took the lead at the gun and held it over the century. The second century proved to be a zigzag affair between Wheatley and Vollmer; first Vollmer would lead the way and then Wheatley, but on the last fifty yards Vollmer took the lead and held it throughout, although Wheatley pressed him hard all the way. Wheatley finished second and Reilly about one yard behind.

The 220-yard junior championship was won by J. Smith, John Reilly, second, and Clarence Ash, third, all of the New York A. C.; time, 2:44 2-5. This time was not as good as it was anticipated it might be.

Ash took the lead at the gun and held it for 150 yards, when both Smith and Reilly began to contest it with him. The final 50 yards ended in a hard-fought struggle between Smith and Reilly, but Smith had a shade the better on his clubmate.

The 50-yard junior championship was won by Richard Bennett, of the N. Y. A. C.; Carl V. Schlaet, second, and A. L. Rosener, third, both of Yale University.

The fancy diving contest proved to be a walkaway for Robert Galbraith, of the High School of Commerce, who came through with 127.62 points, as against Henry McAleenan's 94.90.

On February 5 the Illinois swimmers broke fifteen American swimming records. Harry Hebner, Perry McGillivray and Michael McDermott were the record-breakers.

McDermott set a new American mark of 1:13 2-5 for 100 yards in retaining the 220 yards breast stroke title, and made a new record for the 200 yards of 2:38 2-5, clipping two seconds off his own record.

McGillivray, in defending the 300-yard open swim title, set a new mark of 2:50 1-5 for the 250 yards, and created one of 3:26 1-5 for the 300 yards. The old records were 2:51 for the 250 and 3:26 2-5 for the 300 both made by J. G. Hatfield, of England. The best previous American mark was 2:52 3-5 by McGillivray.

Hebner, in the 880 yards, broke ten American records, beginning at 330 yards. His time for the 880 was 11:14 1-5, the former record of 11:29 1-5 being held by C. M. Daniels.

The above timess, although better than world's records, cannot be counted as such because they were made in a 60-foot bath, whereas, only records made in 75-foot baths or longer are counted as world's records.

Leo Handy, of the Brookline High School, was the brilliant individual star in the interscholastic swimming championships held at Princeton last Saturday.

Handy won both the century and the furlong swims—the former he covered in 59 2-5 seconds and the latter in 2:36 4-5.

Owing to the large number of entrants, the best individual times were accepted regardless of who won the heats.

The Brookline swimmers also set new figures for the 200-yard relay race, covering the distance in 1:48.

The 50-yard swim was won by R. Dean, of Boston Mechanics' High School, covering the distance in 26 4-5 seconds.

A. Kales, of Brookline H. S., won the plunge for distance, covering 71 feet 6 inches.

Fancy diving was won by J. Bullen, Lawrenceville; R. Galbraith, High School of Commerce, second.

The Brookline H. S. made 32 points as against 7 of the next best made by the West Philadelphia H. S., and shows that the Brookline lads lived up to what was expected of them. The Philadelphia boys did not come up to expectations; neither Tomlinson or Dippy made the wonderful times that they were credited with making in time trials.

We are just in receipt of a bit of interesting news from Sydney, Australia, as regards the wonderful performances made by Duke Kahanamoku at the New South Wales championships, held during the month of January.

The performances of Kahanamoku, the Hawaiian, in the New South Wales championship swimming carnival a few days ago, particularly the Olympic record-holder's lowering of the world's record for 100 yards of 54 3-5 seconds by four-fifths of a second, has caused a decided stir in Australian swimming circles. Indeed, it is predicted by sporting authorities here that the Australian "crawl" stroke will have to give way to what is being called the "Kahanamoku kick."

It had been contended ever since "Dick" Cavil first used the "crawl" in championship races that the leg work did not materially assist the pace of the swimmer except in keeping the body well balanced on the water and thus minimizing the retarding effects due to the legs and feet sinking. But this theory was quite upset by the methods of the "Duke" and his swimming mate, George Cunha, also of Hawaiia, who use the rapid independent movement of the feet, as against the Australian fashion of smacking the leg from the knee down upon the water at every stroke of the arm. The slow, easy movements of Kahanamoku and Cunha from the hips to the tips of the fingers was markedly in contrast in the races with the style which the Australian cracks pitted against them. The buried heads of Barry and Longworth, of Sydney, who are among Australia's best, was also in contrast with that of the Hawaiian. The "Duke" kept his head well clear of the water, and had, what his competitors did not possess, a clear view of what every opponent was doing.

"Swim with the head low so that your legs will float near the surface" has been one of the first instructions given by the coaches in Australia to racing swimmers; and this has been followed by injunctions to work the arms fast and the legs in unison with them, and to roll the body slightly from side to side, so that from the hips up it should assist the arms and make breathing easier. But all these requirements, it is pointed out by experts here, are more than met by the "Kahanamoku" or independent "kick."

According to these same experts this kick originated in the fresh water baths of the Eastern United States where the more rapid movement of the legs was necessary to overcome the less buoyant fresh water as against the salt water baths of Australia where the "crawl" was evolved. But this opinion seems pretty far fetched when one bears in mind that Kahanamoku belongs to a race of islanders who have no superiors in the world as swimmers and that his prowess is likely instinctive rather than the result of any artificial conditions.

However that may be, the Australian swimmers admit now that they have seen him race, that the "Duke's" kick serves all the purposes of the "crawl," and that it is more faster and needs less exertion than their own method of locomotion in the water. Before Kahanamoku came here there was some skepticism about his achievements, but it vanished after his first performance.

It is only ten years since this most wonderful feat of swimming 100 yards in a minute was accomplished by an Australian and world's champion, F. C. V. Lane, in England. He was followed by several other exponents of the "crawl," and at one stage the Commonwealth claimed the only four men who had covered that distance in that time—Lane, Cavil, Healy and Wickham. But it was another American, C. M. Daniels, who upset their caluculations and, although Australia still holds the place par excellence of swimmers, generally speaking, and the Commonwealth possesses many first-class performers in the water, it is more than likely that the Honoluluan's style will have to be taken up if Australia hopes to keep up its record.

The popular view of the Hawaiian's victory—although he was beaten by an Australian in one of the three races in which he participated—is, perhaps best expressed in this comment by Sydney newspaper

"Kahanamoku has justified all that was said of him. It was not mere physique that did it, for although his physique is fine, it is not unsurpassable. No doubt the fact that he is practically a waterman, and has lived in the water ever since soon after he was born, has made a difference, though some Australians have been watermen in almost that sense too. But his American training must certainly be counted in. The Americans got hold of him early. They found the man with the possibilities, and they turned him out a specialized swimming machine."

As for the "Duke," his sportsmanlike actions and good nature have made him very popular here.

ELK JUNIORS VS. PARK CLUB.

Junior pinners of the Elk and Park Clubs have decided to follow their elders, and have arranged a bowling series, the first match of which will be played tonight on the Watchung avenue drives at 8:15 o'clock. Captain Chauncey Stoud will lead the "Bills," and a large delegation from the Washington avenue club is expected.

GRIPPING TALES AND INCIDENTS OF THE GREAT WAR IN EUROPE

Soldier, Himself Badly Hurt, Writes to Aunt Telling of Brother's Death—Wrist Watches Dangerous.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg Annoyed by Hundreds of Love Letters—Prince Narrowly Escapes.

HERE are some of the latest human interest stories of the great European struggle:

Among the many instances of how the war affects a single family is one shown by a letter in the Figaro of Paris in which a soldier, himself severely wounded, writes to his aunt telling her of the death of his brother. He does not mourn that his brother is gone, but speaks in almost envious tones of the worthy manner in which he gave up his life. The letter follows:

"My Dear Aunt—I was very glad to get your letter and will comply with your desire to know something about the misfortune that has come to us. My brother Camille met his end gloriously on Sept. 13, near Berry-au-Bac. He was ordered by the general of the brigade to which he was attached to carry an order to the regiment. He realized that the order had to be delivered at once. Without making a show of his courage he started for the head of the two regiments in question in order that they might take part in the attack on the German position.

"While he was hurrying to carry out the order he fell, hit in the head probably by the bursting of a shell. They carried his body to the rear, and he is now in the little cemetery of the church at Sapignol, where we will go together at the end of the war. This service was of such value that Camille received long mention in the army report. But, alas, the honors paid to him will not pay us for our affliction.

"Mignette is on her way to you with the two children. She has shown a fine courage and admirable resignation, which must have been a great comfort to our poor father. As for myself, I was wounded on Oct. 2 near Lens, when our battalion had arrived at Grand Couronne. I was wounded in the left leg just above the ankle by the bursting of a shell and at the same time a shower of tiles and bricks fell upon my head. It was the last house where I was stationed on observation that was struck.

"I was taken to Lens and then to Bethune, where an amputation was deemed necessary because gangrene had already set in. The day after the operation we had to leave suddenly in the night, the hospital being threatened. I was placed in a cattle van on the straw with my leg freshly cut. We remained a day and a night without aid or light between Bethune and Amiens, where I have been lying in a horrible state. At Amiens I was well treated and had the pleasure of seeing Henriette arrive. This welcome surprise came to me, and at the end of two weeks my sister came to me from Paris. I had then been for two days in the hospital at Messimy and later at Voiteurs.

"I was there told by my father of the great mourning which had come to us at the death of Camille. Henriette had bravely spared me any news which might hinder my recovery. The wound is healing beautifully, and it will not be many days before I am able to get up. This is my story and also the story of our misfortune. France has demanded much of us. We have sacrificed everything to her, for we loved her more than all. I send my love to you and also to my cousins."

Love Letters to the Chief.

The Berlin newspapers say that Field Marshal von Hindenburg received several hundred love letters at Christmas from German women and girls.

A request has now been issued through official channels that all young girls in Germany should refrain from writing such epistles, as the field marshal has more serious matters to attend to than to read such trash.

Women as Fighters.

The London Daily Chronicle says:

"There appears from time to time in the Russian papers the statement that women volunteers are fighting in the German ranks, and now the Warsaw correspondent of the Dyen of Petrograd has actually seen these amazons.

"Among the wounded at present being treated at the Ouyazdoff hospital, he says, are seven women who were captured while fighting in German uniforms. They are placed together in a special ward. Judging by the nature of their wounds, they have taken part not only in rifle practice, but also in bayonet attacks. One of them who had a serious bayonet wound has died.

"They are fine specimens of Teutonic womanhood, and the Russian nurses greatly admire their finely developed muscles, which seem to indicate that they have belonged for years to German gymnastic societies. In captivity they behave with the same haughty and contemptuous indifference which characterizes the Prussian officers. One of the nursing sisters brought to them a Russian newspaper, the Petrograd Herald, which is printed in German, but they indignantly rejected her offer and said they did not believe anything which appeared in a Russian paper, even when printed in German. They refused to talk of their homes and families; but, judging from their demeanor, they seem to belong to the upper or upper middle class.

"The German bourgeois has always refused to acknowledge woman's claims to political suffrage on the ground of her intellectual and social achievements. She has evidently made up her mind to convince him in the only way he can understand—by proving her equality on the field of battle."

Wrist Watches Dangerous.

A warning is issued in the Berliner Klinische Wochenschrift against the wearing of wrist watches by German soldiers in the field. The author of the article, Dr. Melchior, relates that in treating cases of wounded soldiers he found many who had suffered horrible wounds as a result of this, their wrist watches having been struck by bits of shrapnel, which thereupon caused a great spreading of the wound and imbedded parts of the watch in the wrist.

The danger is the greater, he adds, because the watches are usually worn on the left wrist, and it is the left hand and arm that, as a rule, are wounded rather than the right.

Prince's Narrow Escape.

Princess Arthur of Connaught is being congratulated on her husband's daring escape from the Germans, whose prisoner he was for an hour or more.

The prince and his chauffeur drove their machine into the German lines in a fog. They were seized and thrown into a hut. Here they discovered German uniforms and disguised themselves. They managed to pass the sentry placed to guard them and enter their own automobile again. On nearing the German lines they were challenged, and to escape ran at a speed of ninety miles an hour. Many bullets struck the flying car.

Past the German outposts they sped, but the French seized them, and thinking them Germans, were on the point of shooting them as spies, when they were identified.

How It Feels Under Fire.

A British officer gives the following account of his impressions under fire:

"There is a good deal of rot talked of heroism at present. If it is all true there are many millions of heroes in Europe just now, and I leave that to you. I've found it harder to go straight in life than go under fire. I don't think men find it hard to go under fire. First of all, there is the mass suggestion and the tradition of your people to give you a bias to bravery. Then when you are in the thick of it you forget psychology after awhile and get interested in the explosions.

"When thoroughly warmed up you care nothing about your own skin—you forget you've got a skin—but you are very hot about damaging the hides of the ruffians who are the cause of that fiendish noise. You want to hurt them badly and make them feel infernally sorry. When you do get cold feet is before you've started for a hot place. When you are at the base your imagination is far worse than shrapnel.

"Certainly when you do come under fire for the first time you feel sure you cannot survive. 'I shall never live through this,' you keep saying to yourself. The noises are abrupt, erratic and shockingly violent and the mess made is very nasty, but when you recognize your number is certainly up you sort of congeal—you lose recollection of your body and become only a clear and observant point of intelligence, doing your job subconsciously but surely, like a man dead in everything but his eyes. When you are out of it you 'come to,' so to speak, and can hardly believe you are still really in one piece. Then you find yourself very pleased, smiling all over and shaking a little for a long time afterward."

Pet Goat Was Killed.

A French soldier in the trenches writes home:

"A fortnight ago we had an unexpected visitor. A fine goat in full milk trotted into our lines and was soon installed among us as a favorite. We christened her 'Head Nurse' because she strangely resembled a Red Cross nurse who had been with us. Her one weakness—chewing tobacco, English brands by preference—was a bit costly, but we were repaid tenfold by the milk she yielded, which was chiefly reserved for the wounded.

"Day after day Nanny strolled beyond the lines to browse, but she always returned for her evening meal of carrots. One day she got too near the German lines, and a ball laid her flat. As night drew on a dozen or more 'boches' crept out in the hope of an impromptu supper, but we were even with them. We charged, and, after leaving half a dozen of them dead on the field, we brought back the body of our 'head nurse' in triumph and gave her a decent burial."

In Bombproof Cave.

Life in an artillery emplacement is exciting. Men so stationed are subjected to gunfire which never before has reached such an average of accuracy and at times must protect themselves against the attacks of the enemy's aviators.

In a letter just published in Munich this is well illustrated. After dwelling on the comforts of the bombproof cave in which the men of the battery dwell, in which they even have tables, chairs, lockers and a stove, the writer continues as follows, the shifting tensee being his:

"A tremendous black column of earth rises from the ground as the shells strike near us. The clock in our cave strikes as if scared out of its wits and then stops. Everything trembles and shakes. The dry earth on the sides of the bombproof peels off and falls.

"We sit quietly—waiting for the shell that will bury us. One after another falls close by, but the one we wait for does not come. The enemy's battery has fired five shots and now stops.

"An hour later the bombardment started again. We sat there like paralyzed. On the table a cigar burned a hole in a glove. Nobody had sense or ambition enough to prevent it.

"When the bombardment was over everybody felt a peculiar sort of fatigue. All conversation ceased. One of the men left his seat and wearily threw himself upon the straw bed. Before he went to sleep he turned over and whispered:

"'Call me!'

Partridge Pie Cheered Squad.

"The worst of it was that we were not permitted to return the fire. No doubt the division staff had its good reasons for that. Things would be different had we been able to return shot for shot. We would have been of the best spirits in that case. But to sit there like dumb brutes and wait for orders under such a fire was a bad experience.

"The day passed in this manner. The enemy's fire ceased at 7 o'clock in the evening, and after a meal of bacon, bread and coffee made of cereals, we felt better. A partridge pie which my mother had sent me helped to cheer us up.

"Next morning at 5 the order, 'Ready for fire!' came by telephone. 'Man the guns—distance 2,100 yards—shell, fire,' said the voice at the other end of the wire. Though it was still dark, we heard from the distance the thrashing of infantry fire.

"Our shells shriek and whistle across the plain. 'Shot well placed—battery salvos—every ten seconds—distance now 2,200 yards,' telephoned the observation officer.

"The fun commences. It is hard work. Perspiration rolls off us like the rain, which has just commenced to fall.

"But the enemy's motor battery also starts again. The first shell hits near our position. The second one hits the bombproof; we have been located. A veritable sea of explosions surround us—lightning, detonations, clashes, shrieks, smoke and powder stench give our environment the appearance of the crater of a volcano. We are covered with mud which the enemy's shells throw up and which descends on us like hail.

Gunner Did Not Move.

"'Two, 175!' I shouted at the gunner, but he did not move.

"'Fischer!' was my next shout. At that moment the body of the gunner slipped between the seat and the sighting mechanism. I noticed that a fragment of shell had entered his forehead.

"Gently we placed the body to one side, and another gunner took the seat. We continued our fire, calmly, steadily—in our minds saw the destruction wrought by our shells in the lines of the enemy's infantry.

"So it continued for some time; then came from the observation station the command, 'Cease fire for awhile.'

"In the afternoon another shell hit our position, and another man had to be laid aside. He was a lovable old fellow. Later we buried the two.

"Rain fell throughout the night and next day. By noon our bombproof was filled with water. We waded around in that up to our waists. Later in the day the bombproof caved in, and we saved nothing but the telephone instrument, our carbines and coats. We then spent some time in the cellar of a nearby farmhouse, and tomorrow we go back for a rest. Our place will be taken by a reserve regiment with wonderfully clean uniforms and brand new brown boots. Our uniforms have all the colors of the rainbow on a mud yellow background."

Kaiser's War Talisman.

Tucked away in the breast pocket of his great gray coat, the kaiser carries as a war talisman a four leaved sprig of clover, pressed, dried and scented.

The story goes that this talisman was plucked by childish hands in the meadows of the royal park at Kabelsburg in 1870, and people are saying in Berlin that it will bring the present kaiser victory as it brought to his grandfather victory at Sedan.

The talisman was picked by the daughter of an old court official named Louis Schneider, who was allowed to present it to old King William, and when the latter returned from Sedan he gave it back to the child with the remark:

"It has brought me luck, and I hope it will bring you luck too."

Years afterward Miss Schneider presented the precious clover to the daughter of Countess Dolma as a baptismal gift, and it was during an audience which the countess and her daughter had with the kaiserin that she mentioned the talisman and said that she would like to give it to the emperor.

The kaiser, when told the story, promptly accepted the four leaved sprig and assured the countess that it would be as powerful to bring victory to him as it had to his grandfather forty-four years ago. Now the kaiser and talisman are inseparable.

—Hundreds are thinking as much about the inevitable home-hunt as about the great war. Let your "To Let" advertising help them.

Opened! Spring Princess May Gloves

Formal opening to-morrow of all the Spring colors in imported Princess May gloves.

Only a third of the French glove makers are working. Also the skins generally used for gloves are being utilized these days to make soldier's clothes. It would not have been amazing therefore if prices had gone up or if quality had suffered. But neither is the case.

Princess May Overseam gloves are $1
Pique gloves are $1.15

Quality has made these exclusive Wanamaker gloves known far and wide as the best at the price.

SUFFRAGE DEBATE TO BE A FEATURE

State Young People's Branch of W. C. T. U. to Hold Conference Here.

The conference of the Young People's Branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, of New Jersey, will be held in the First Baptist church, corner of Front and Grove streets, Monday, February 22. Miss Elizabeth H. Goodwin, State Y. P. B. secretary, will preside. The morning session will start at 10 o'clock, and will include the following program: Devotions, by Mrs. T. C. Bodine; welcome, Mrs. Mary Davis Tomlinson, Miss Nellie Foote and Mr. Roberts Barnes Butler; literature, "What Kind Shall We Use," union signal, and white ribbon news; discussion, "How Can We Make Our Y. P. B. Meetings a Force for Good?" Miss Lutz; discussion, "How Can We Use the Social to Educate the Public Opinion?" Mr. Butler. At the conclusion noontide prayer will be offered.

The afternoon program begins at 2 o'clock and will be as follows: Bible reading, Mrs. Bourne; dialogue and tableau, "National Constitutional Prohibition," Elizabeth Y. P. B. duties of the officers; debate, "Suffrage for New Jersey Women," Miss Page, Mrs. Lee Cook Smith, Mrs. Christner and others; parliamentary drill, Mrs. Tomlinson; "How Do We Teach the Lesson?" Mrs. Stout, and the question box.

The evening session will start at 7:45 and a medal contest will be held under the direction of Mrs. Edythe Currie. A lunch will be served by the W. C. T. U. for a nominal sum.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

British Columbia's Labor Commission has barred the employment of white women by Asiatics.

New York workers support their own standing army. There are 10,000 industrial insurance agents in that city.

The odor from the Denver strike will continue to rise until the trial of the 103 mine workers' officials is ended.

Statistics show that one man is killed every 15 minutes and one is hurt every 16 second, day and night, in the United States.

Out in Goldfield they have established a club to bring together in social and business relations all elements in the community.

Co-operative stores are starting every day. Chicago recently opened up two new ones, and at Cedar Point, Ill., the workers have pooled and opened one.

Efforts to adjust the Ohio coal strike seem to have been fruitless. The Government committee has tried hard to get the operators to give way partially, at least.

After all the good work of the Industrial Relations Committee, its report is not likely to be printed, unless a general public demand forces this to be done.

Government employes in the Canal Zone are asking Congress to probe their charges that the military government has violated its agreement to maintain wages until April 1.

The tin plate workers at Pittsburg recently accepted a cut in wages of from 8 to 11 per cent. The employers agreed to maintain certain standards that are beneficial to their 15,000 employes.

The Typographical Union of Germany paid for unemployment benefits $425,000 during the first three months of the war. Twenty-five per cent. were in the army and 23 per cent. were out of work on November 1.

The labor unions of the Seine, which includes Paris, are serving meals for six cents that are truly wonderful. Soup, meat, wine and bread without limit are served at noon, and in the evening a wine dinner is served for ten cents.

The Danbury Hatters are still in hot water. The federation, having refused to assess its members 15 cents each to extricate them, the Connecticut congressmen have appealed to Congress to appropriate the sum to pay the fine.

Prompt payment of workmen's compensation is being sought in California and Montana. In Michigan there is a movement to increase the benefit to one-half the injured workman's wages, and make the period up to 300 weeks.

An interesting compensation case in Ohio resulted in the award of six years' pension at $12 per week for a telephone worker, despite the fact that the telephone company had settled with him for $3,000 cash.

According to Louis D Brandeis, savings bank insurance in Massachusetts has saved the workers of that State over a million dollars a year by forcing better rates from all the industrial companies. It is now proposed to raise the limit on single policies from $500 to $1,000.

The inauguration of the Federal Employment Bureau has brought a misunderstanding as to whether it will be used for or against organized labor. Although Secretary Wilson was himself a union miner, it is not believed the Government aid will be limited to union views or conditions.

"To protect the American home and family, to preserve the self-respect of American manhood, to conserve the unalienable American rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, an adequate, workable and just workmen's compensation law is absolutely necessary."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Y. M. C. A. CONVENTIONS.

Marshalltown, Ia., Feb. 19—The annual State convention of the Y. M. C. A opened here today. The big event of the meeting is the dedication of the new association building here. Many men of national prominence are attending, and the meetings will extend until Saturday night.

Calumet, Mich., Feb. 19—The second annual conference of boys in Y. M. C. A. work in the upper peninsula of Michigan began here this morning, with 200 of the elder boys present. It is reported that hundreds of boys all over this section have signed the pledge originated by Secretary William J. Bryan, to abstain for life from the use of liquor.

Every Hat Is Paris Inspired!

Qualities Unsurpassed at $6.75 to $10

Madeleine's Boat-shaped Turban of tagal and satin, edged all around the top with roses, with feelers posed here and there among them, is just one of the new models which our milliners have reproduced for tomorrow. We mention it specifically, as it is illustrated. $10.

Saget's Trotteur Sailor, with sash of velvet ribbon run through eyelets around the crown, is another smart chapeau $10.

Georgette Bows of ribbon give that indefinable Parisian chic to new Turbans at $6.75 and $8.75.

Just From Europe—Untrimmed Hats of Barnyard Straw, $1.50

Military ideas are the keynote of many hats. And there are flower-trimmed hats by the score.

GIMBEL Foresight Was Responsible For

These Blouses of Good Crepe de Chine, At $2 to $5

Our $2 Crepe de Chine Blouses have become so popular that many women ask for them every day, but as the demand has been so great each collection has gone out on the day of its presentation. Another large number will be ready tomorrow.

Also—Four Other New Models

These, too, are illustrated. We draw particular attention to the $2.95 model, which is effectively embroidered and fastens with loops and ball buttons. All of these Blouses are in white and flesh color.

Tailleur Blouses of Shantung Pongee, $2 and $2.95
Dress Blouses of Lace-and-Chiffon, $2.95 to $6.95
Sand-color Voile Blouses, $2 and $2.95

Third Floor

Young Women's Suits at $25

Introduce Innovations in Style and Quality

The nearest approach to fine made-to-order Suits—is the standard that we have set and have had fulfilled in these $25 models. That they are exceedingly well tailored is evident at a glance, for they are in the rather severe Military and Norfolk styles. The Serges, Gabardines and Checked Worsteds in these Suits are the best qualities—the kinds that are durable. Sizes 14, 16 and 18 years.

One of the new Dressy Suits of Gabardine, trimmed with braid and embroidery, is illustrated. $37.50.

New Princess Frocks of Crepe de Chine, $18.50

Although they give the sylph effect, the skirts are quite voluminous, for they are accordion pleated. The bodices of chiffon are in contrasting colors. Illustrated.

Dresses of Taffeta and Crepe de Chine, $15

WILL CO-OPERATE IN CITY SURVEY

Local Taxpayers' Association Takes Up Suggestion of Mayor Calkins.

The Plainfield Protective Taxpayers' Association which has been engaged in collecting data about this and other cities, especially from a financial point of view to be embodied in a general report, has taken up the suggestion of Mayor Leighton Calkins regarding a city survey and will co-operate with the city officials in having the same done at an early date. A committee from the association which called on the board of Education at its meetings this week received assurances from the Board that it would willingly co-operate in such a scheme provided the survey was made by an approved expert. The Board showed every disposition to lend its aid in the matter.

The committee has also conferred with Mayor Calkins on the subject and has obtained his views. Mr. Calkins believes that only the best experts should be employed and says that the work should be done thoroughly. He expressed himself favorably to the committees plan to have the association raise the money for the survey and then advocate the adoption of the recommendations by the Common Council if they meet with general approval.

The survey if made would be designed to learn the source of all income to the city showing how the money is raised and how it is expended. In New York there is a Municipal Bureau of Research whose duties are along similar lines and it has proved to be of great benefit and much good has been accomplished.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if You Feel Backachy or Have Bladder Trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—Adv.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open Up Air Passages.

Ah! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, mucous discharge, headache, dryness—no struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh is gone.

Don't stay stuffed up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid. —Adv.

TUBERCULAR BEEF SOLD IN THE STATE

So Declares Dr. Zucker at Meeting of Union Co. Board of Agriculture.

Elizabeth, Feb. 19—Tubercular beef is being sold throughout the State, Dr. F. A. Zucker charged at a meeting of the Union County Board of Agriculture, yesterday. Lack of co-operation between the proper authorities was the cause, he said.

The red tags supposed to protect the public by indicating that cattle had been inspected were being misused, he said, through being sent to other States and placed on cattle which are shipped here. The county was again under quarantine because of the hoof-and-mouth disease, he said.

The Board passed a resolution calling on the Senate and Assembly to defeat the proposed road vehicle tax legislation. Congressman Tuttle was thanked for seeds, and arrangements were made for the Farmers' Institute at Springfield, March 4.

Emerson P. Beebe said that the English sparrows were doing much damage to buds and flowers, but that the San Jose scale had been eliminated.

RECREATION NOTES

The Thespian Society will meet this evening to rehearse "Father and the Boys," at the High School.

The Dunbar Club will meet tomorrow night at the Washington School.

The Dramatic Club will rehearse "Sarah's Young Man," tomorrow night at the Washington School.

The Italian Dramatic and Athletic Club will meet tomorrow night in the Lincoln School.

Bound Brook.

Mrs. Robert C. Campbell gave her daughter, Lillian, a birthday party on Tuesday afternoon. A table was spread for the children with a large birthday cake, with three candles on it, denoting the age of Lillian. Games and music was enjoyed by all after which the children adjourned to the lawn where a peanut scramble closed the fun. Among those present were Edith and Amy Savison, Mary and Lillian Campbell, Elizabeth and Harriet Polhemus, Katherine, Marion and Bud Campbell.

NORDICA WILL CASE UP AGAIN.

New York, Feb. 19—The contest over the fortune of Madame Lillian Nordica, the famous singer, which was postponed in order that auditors might go over the books of her husband, George W. Young, will be resumed today. The jewelry, furs and clothing of the prima donna are accounted for, and the court has orderer an accounting of her funds which had been placed in the hands of her husband. The fight of Mme. Nordica's relatives against Young centers in a will which was made by the prima donna just before she died, in which she cut off her husband without a cent. Young seeks to establish as the valid will another instrument made previously, in which he is left the bulk of her property.

MARRIES FORMER NURSE.

The marriage is announced of Pierrepont B. Foster and Miss Elizabeth Dow, formerly a nurse in the Foster family. The ceremony was performed in New York city last week and was a quiet affair. Mr. Foster's first wife was Miss Elizabeth Bowen, of this city. She was granted a divorce with $100,000 alimony two months ago. Mr. Foster's wealth was declared during the trial to be $800,000.

2,000 MILES BY DOG TEAM.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 19—Traveling by dog sled 2,000 miles from Fort Chippewa in the Peace River section of Saskatchewan, Jack Hughes is expected to arrive here today. Tomorrow is the final day allowed by the terms of his unique trip, which is made on a wager of $800. He left his northwestern home on October 20, and four months was allowed him to drive his dogs over the snows into Chicago.

OREGON ENDEAVORERS.

Eugene, Ore., Feb. 19—One of the largest State conferences ever held by the Christian Endeavorers in Oregon, is that which opened here today. Church leaders and college men and women from all parts of the State are attending. Chief among the speakers is Karl Lehman, the field secretary of the Endeavorers, who brought greetings from the East.

HONOR THE MEMORY OF GEN. LAFAYETTE

Captain Opdycke to Establish New Jersey Fund at Bound Brook.

Captain Henry G. Opdycke, of Bound Brook, has been designated by the executive committee to establish the New Jersey headquarters of the Lafayette Fund at that place, and to organize the executive committee, and branch local committees throughout the State in an active campaign for collection of funds for sending "LaFayette" kits for the immediate relief of unavoidable suffering of French soldiers in the trenches.

Samuel H. Miller, of Bound Brook, vice-president of the Chase National Bank of New York, is treasurer of the New Jersey Fund, and the First National Bank of Bound Brook is depository for funds.

The purpose of the LaFayette Fund is to send comfort kits, containing articles of wear and the necessaries of life to the French soldiers in the trenches. These men are enduring untold suffering from wintry exposure on the firing line; they are fighting ankle deep in icy water and facing the snow and rain. The LaFayette Fund is now sending them fleece-lined underwear, woolen socks and gloves, abdominal belts, mufflers, handkerchiefs, soap, etc. It is the object to relieve this suffering, make hardships more nearly bearable and contribute in a measure to the comfort of these men of courage and loyalty.

The LaFayette Fund is serving a double purpose. Articles contained in the kits are purchased from the Vacation War Relief Committee, of New York, which organization was formed to give work to American girls thrown out of employment by war conditions, and the wives and daughters of reservists now at the front.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

John Barrymore, who made his first appearance in motion pictures through the medium of the Famous Players of "An American Citizen," a film comedy that recorded a sensational success in motion picture circles, now returns to the Famous Players' program in H. A. DuSouchet's famous comedy success, "The Man from Mexico," which is to be presented at the Plainfield Theatre, this afternoon and night and also tomorrow afternoon and night. Mr. Barrymore depicts the character of Fitzhew, the gay young married man who still longs for the cabarets and other delights of his bachelor days, and thereby gets himself into dreadful dilemmas from which he extricates himself only by the most wonderful inventions possible to even an untruthful man. All the delicious humor of Mr. Barrymore's delightful personality is at its best in his portrayal of the light-hearted and light-headed, bibulous Fitzhew, whose mythical adventures in Mexico the comedy so laughably unfolds.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The semi-weekly change of vaudeville at Proctor's Theatre, yesterday, brought another excellent bill headed by "The Merry Maidens," a tabloid musical comedy with a company of eight people. It comprises twenty minutes of solo and chorus singing, good comedy and excellent dancing. The principals are especially good in their character song illustrating what is to be seen in vaudeville, their imitation of an acrobat act and a typical tragedy being very clever. Billy Rogers, an original entertainer, made a big hit with his imitations with musical instruments, automobiles and sounds made by trains. The other numbers were Hogarth & Company in a comedy sketch, "Her First Case;" Jones & Walton in the skit, "The Country Cousin," and the International Trio, expert acrobats. The second series of absolutely authentic European war pictures was flashed on the screen yesterday and brought home another forceful realization of what the gigantic struggle across the sea really is. They will be repeated today and tomorrow. The current episode of "The Exploits of Elaine" is another feature of the program this afternoon and tonight. The feature photo-play next Monday and Tuesday will be Lillian Russell's own production of "Wildfire," the greatest dramatic success the famous actress has had in recent years. The performances at the theatre tomorrow and Monday (Washington's Birthday) will be continuous, commencing at 1 p. m., and running until 11 p. m.

THE DAILY PRESS IN DUNELLEN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by Edward Penbuck, druggist and newsdealer.

THE DAILY PRESS IN SOMERVILLE will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon after 4:30 by Jacob Gernert, the Main street newsdealer.

CHAPTER XIII.

An Unexpected Arrival.

"IS all your money gone?" Brent asked Ethel.

"I think so."

"Good heavens!"

"Dear mamma knows as little about business as she does about me. Until this morning she has always had a rooted belief in her bank and her daughter. If I bolt with you her last cherished illusion will be destroyed."

"Let me help you," he said eagerly.

"How?" And she looked at him again with that cold, hard scrutiny. "Lend us money, do you mean?"

He fell into the trap.

"Yes," he said. "I'd do that if you'd let me."

She gave just the suggestion of a sneer and turned deliberately away.

He felt the force of the unspoken reproof.

"I beg your pardon," he said humbly.

She went on as if she had not heard the offensive suggestion, "So you see we're both, in a way, at the crossroads."

He seized her hand fiercely. "Let me take you away out of it all," he cried.

She withdrew her hand slowly.

"No," she said, "not just now. I'm not in a bolting mood today."

He moved away. She watched him. Then she called him to her. Something in the man attracted this strange nature. She could not analyze or define the attraction. But the impelling force was there.

He went to her.

Ethel spoke to him for the first time softly, almost caressingly.

"Chris, some time, perhaps in the dead of night, something will snap in me—the slack, selfish, luxurious me, that hates to be roused into action—and the craving for adventure will come. Then I'll send for you."

He took her hand again, and this time she did not draw it away. He said in a whisper:

"And you'll go with me?"

Ethel stretched lazily and smiled at him through her half closed eyes.

"I suppose so. Then heaven help you!"

"Why should we wait?" he cried.

"It will give us the suspense of expectation."

"I want you! I need you!" he pleaded.

"Until the time comes for amputation?"

"Don't! Don't!" And he dropped her hand suddenly.

"Well, I don't want you to have any illusions about me, Chris. I have none about you. Let us begin fair anyway. It will be so much easier when the end comes."

"There will be no end!" he said passionately. "I love you—love you with every breath of my body, every thought in my mind, every throb of my nerves. I love you!" He kissed her hand repeatedly. "I love you!" He took her in his arms and pressed her to him.

She struggled with him without any anger or disgust or fear. As she put him away from her she just said simply:

"Please don't. It's so hot this morning."

As she turned away from him she was struck dumb. Sitting beside the table in the middle of the room, her back turned to them, was the strangest, oddest little figure Ethel had ever seen.

Who was she? How long had she been in the room?

Ethel turned to Brent. He was quite pale now and was nervously stroking his slight mustache.

Ethel was furious. It was incredible that Brent could have been so indiscreet.

How on earth did that creature get there without their hearing or seeing her?

Ethel went straight to the demure little figure sitting on the chair.

* * * * * * *

Peg's journey to England was one of the unhappiest memories of her life. She undertook the voyage deliberately to please her father, because he told her it would please him. But beneath this feeling of pleasing him was one of sullen resentment at being made to separate from him.

She planned all kinds of reprisals upon the unfortunate people she was going among. She would be so rude to them and so unbearable that they would be glad to send her back on the next boat. She schemed out her whole plan of action. She would contradict and disobey and berate and belittle. Nothing they would do would be right to her, and nothing she would do or say would be right to them. She took infinite pleasure in her plan of campaign. Then, when she was enjoying the pleasure of such resentful dreams, she would think of her father waiting for news of her, of his pride in her, of how much he wanted her to succeed. She would realize how much the parting meant to him, and all her little plots would tumble down, and she would resolve to try to please her relations, learn all she could, succeed beyond all expression and either go back to America prosperous or send for her father to join her in England. All her dreams had her father either centrifugally or centripetally beating through them.

She refused all advances of friendship aboard ship. No one dared speak to her. She wanted to be alone in her sorrow. She and Michael would romp on the lower deck by favor of one of the seamen, who would keep a sharp lookout for officers.

This seaman—O'Farrell by name—took quite a liking to Peg and the dog and did many little kindly, gracious acts to minister to the comfort of both of them. He warned her that they would not let Michael go with her from the dock until he had first been quarantined. This hurt Peg more than anything could. She burst into tears. To have Michael taken from her would be the last misfortune. She would, indeed, be alone in that strange country. She was inconsolable.

O'Farrell at last took it on himself to get the dog ashore. He would wrap him up in some sailcloths, and then he would carry Michael outside the gates when the customs authorities had examined her few belongings.

When they reached Liverpool O'Farrell was as good as his word, though many were the anxious moments they had as one or other of the customs officers would eye the suspicious package O'Farrell carried so carelessly under his arm.

At the dock a distinguished looking gentleman came on board and after some considerable difficulty succeeded in locating Peg. He was a well dressed, soft speaking, vigorous man of forty-five. He inspired Peg with an instant dislike by his somewhat authoritative and pompous manner. He introduced himself as Mr. Montgomery Hawkes, the legal adviser for the Kingsnorth estate, and at once proceeded to take charge of Peg as a matter of course.

Poor Peg felt ashamed of her poor little bag, containing just a few changes of apparel, and her little paper bundle. She was mortified when she walked down the gangway with the prosperous looking lawyer while extravagantly dressed people with piles of luggage dashed here and there endeavoring to get it examined.

But Mr. Hawkes did not appear to notice Peg's shabbiness. On the contrary, he treated her and her belongings as though she were the most fashionable of fine ladies and her wardrobe the most complete.

Outside the gates she found O'Farrell waiting for her, with the precious Michael struggling to free himself from his coverings. Hawkes soon had a cab alongside. He helped Peg into it; then she stretched out her arms, and O'Farrell opened the sailcloths, and out sprang Michael, dusty and dirty and blear eyed, but, oh, such a happy, fussy, affectionate, relieved little canine when he saw his beloved owner waiting for him. He made one spring at her, much to the lawyer's dignified amazement, and began to bark at her and lick her face and hands and jump on and roll over and over upon Peg in an excess of joy at his release.

Peg offered O'Farrell an American dollar. She had very little left.

O'Farrell indignantly refused to take it.

"Oh, but ye must, indade ye must!" cried Peg in distress. "Sure I won't lie aisy tonight if ye don't. But for you poor Michael here might have been on that place ye spoke of—that quarantine, whatever it is. Ye saved him from that. And don't despise it because it's an American dollar. Sure it has a value all over the wurrld. An', besides, I have no English money." Poor Peg pleaded that O'Farrell should take it. He had been so nice to her all the way over.

Hawkes interposed skillfully, gave O'Farrell 5 shillings, thanked him warmly for his kindness to Peg and her dog, returned the dollar to Peg, let her say goodby to the kindly sailor, told the cabman to drive to a certain railway station, and in a few seconds they were bowling along and Peg had entered a new country and a new life. They reached the railway station, and Hawkes procured tickets, and in half an hour they were on a train bound for the north of England.

During the journey Hawkes volunteered no information. He bought her papers and magazines and offered her lunch. This Peg refused. She said the ship had not agreed with her. She did not think she would want food for a long time to come.

After awhile, tired out with the rush and excitement of the ship's arrival, Peg fell asleep.

In a few hours they reached their destination. Hawkes woke her and told her she was at her journey's end. He again hailed a cab, told the driver where to go and got in with Peg, Michael and her luggage. In the cab he handed Peg a card and told her to go to the address written on it and ask the people there to allow her to wait until he joined her. He had a business call to make in the town. He would be as short a time as possible. She was just to tell the people that she had been asked to call there and wait.

After the cab had gone through a few streets it stopped before a big building. Hawkes got out, told the cabman where to take Peg, paid him and, with some final admonitions to Peg, disappeared through the swing doors of the town hall.

The cabman took the wondering Peg along until he drove up to a very handsome Elizabethan house. There he stopped. Peg looked at the name on the gateposts and then at the name on the card Mr. Hawkes had given her. They were the same. Once more she gathered up her belongings and her dog and passed in through the gateposts and wandered up the long drive on a tour of inspection. She walked through the paths dividing rose beds until she came to some open windows. The main entrance hall of the house seemed to be hidden away somewhere amid the tall old trees.

Peg made straight for the open windows and walked into the most wonderful looking room she had ever seen. Everything in it was old and massive. It bespoke centuries gone by in every detail. Peg held her breath as she looked around her. Pictures and tapestries stared at her from the walls. Beautiful old vases were arranged in cabinets. The carpet was deep and soft and stifled all sound. Peg almost gave an ejaculation of surprise at the wonders of the room, when she suddenly became conscious that she was not alone in the room, that others were there and that they were talking.

She looked in the direction the sounds came from and saw, to her astonishment, a man with a woman in his arms. He was speaking to her in a most ardent manner. They were partially concealed by some statuary.

Peg concluded at once that she had intruded on some marital scene at which she was not desired, so she instantly sat down with her back to them.

She tried not to listen, but some of the words came distinctly to her. Just as she was becoming very uncomfortable and had half made up her mind to leave the room and find somewhere else to wait she suddenly heard herself addressed and in no uncertain tone of voice. There were indignation, surprise and anger in Ethel's question:

"How long have you been here?"

Peg turned around and saw a strikingly handsome, beautifully dressed young lady glaring down at her. Her manner was haughty in the extreme. Peg felt most unhappy as she looked at her and did not answer immediately.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Muriel, dear: Tell me what you did to poor Joe Morse when he was down there Thanksgiving time. He is not like the same fellow. It seems strange to say poor Joe, referring to a young man who is so rich in this world's goods as he is, but it is the only adjective that applies.

"After his visit in October he came back full of energy; he shut himself up with a stack of books, and the fair sex saw him no more. But this time—all the energy is gone and he has actually gone back to his old occupation of making love to the school teacher.

"No, that is not fair to him to say that, but he certainly has called on her and taken her out in his new machine. My! but she is crazy about it, or him, or both. It is like the irony of fate, to make every girl crazy about him, except the one he wants. Or is that the reason he wants her, because she is not within reach?

"You certainly have got me curious to know how the thing is to end. In October I predicted that you would be my neighbor, and mightily pleased I was about the way things were going; but now—— Write and tell me the latest in the Fisk-Morse romance.

"Ever your loving friend,

"JENNIE THORN."

Muriel read the letter and, dropping it in her lap, sat looking out across the fields of snow at the smouldering red in the west. The spire of the church where her father used to preach stood out black against the sunset and the fir tree in front was laden with soft new snow.

The letter made her feel very lonely. Only a short formal note, thanking her for her hospitality, had come from Joe since his visit. Had she been too hard on him, on herself? she mused.

"Oh, I had to know I could trust him, and how else could I be sure, except by setting him a difficult task and holding him to it. I did think he was in earnest when he promised to say no word of love for a year, and believed he would keep his word. Then after we had been good friends for a little more than a month to have him break over was disappointing. Of course I do not love him, but I miss his jolly letters. Now he is trying to forget me, as he said he must do."

"Here's a telegram for Miss Fisk. Your mother sent me over with it." The messenger boy at the schoolroom door held a yellow envelope in his hand. Muriel's hand shook as she read: "Joe Morse is not expected to live. Come."

The dismissal of the children and the journey were like circumstances of a dream. Mrs. Thorn met her at the station, and as they drove through the frosty air Muriel heard the history of the events that led up to the sickness.

"You see," explained Mrs. Thorn, "he had arranged to take Miss Chapman for an auto ride. There was a little snow on the ground, but the roads were good and, as she said, buttoned in the machine behind the curtains they could not feel the wind. They went to Rockport, ten miles away, for dinner. Coming back, the blizzard struck them. The shield got so coated with snow that Morse lost the way and they got stalled. He got overheated working with the machine, and then chilled, and came down with pneumonia."

"How did he get the machine out?" asked Muriel.

"A farmer came along and pulled them out. It was about 2 o'clock in the morning when they got home."

When Muriel entered the sick room the patient was moaning and restlessly tossing.

"He is partially under opiates," said the nurse.

The sick man muttered, "Muriel! I want to see Muriel!"

"Here I am, Joe," she said softly, bending over him. Her voice seemed to penetrate his stupor. He opened his eyes and a smile of happiness spread over his face as he stretched out his hand to her.

She sat down by him and stroked his hand. "Now you must be quiet and go to sleep, so you can get well," she said.

"You will not leave me? Promise that."

"Not as long as you need me."

"I think we can pull him through," said the doctor. "He has what he

WILL FUR BE A FEATURE OF SUMMER MILLINERY?

Fur on many of the new straw hats for Southland wear seems to augur a furry millinery season for the summer of 1915. Here is a new milan sailor for Palm Beach which comes from one of New York's most authoritative makers of tailored hats. The graceful butterfly bow of white velvet is edged all around with fur and the dark note of the fur is repeated in a shirring of chiffon set into the roll brim of milan straw.

Household Hints

UP-TO-DATE RECIPES

Salsify Chowder—Fry two pieces salt pork until brown, then fry small sliced onion in the grease. Remove both pork and onion when brown, and add to grease two large cups sliced salsify, two cups corn, one stalk celery chopped, a little green pepper chopped, two sliced potatoes, one teacup stewed tomatoes in which a tiny pinch of soda has been dissolved. Add two quarts water and the chowder, cook until all vegetables are very soft. Season with salt, pepper, butter and thick cream.

Casserole of Rice and Meat—One cup rice, two cups chopped meat, one fourth cup bread crumbs, onion juice and salt. Boil rice till tender, drain, and line greased mold with it. Mix other ingredients, pack them into mold and cover with cooked rice. Tie a paper over top and steam forty-five minutes. Turn out of mold and serve with tomato sauce poured around it.

Pumpkin Johnnycake—One quart sweet milk, one cup pumpkin, two tablespoons sugar, one teaspoon salt, two-thirds cup corn meal, one-fourth cup flour, pinch of soda. Bake half hour in hot oven. When done should be very soft.

Old-Fashioned Indian Bread—In the evening boil one-half cup sweet milk and turn while boiling hot over one-third cup corn meal; set where it will keep real warm. If kept warm enough, will be light in the morning; if not, set cup in basin of warm water until it does get light. Then take quart bowl, fill about one-third full warm water, adding one-fourth teaspoon soda; add wheat flour to make thin batter. Add the "starter," which is light in the cup, cover and set where it will be warm. In about three-fourths hour will be nearly to top of bowl. This is called "emptyings." Now take two quarts of corn meal, add sufficient boiling water to scald well (don't get it too wet), add two tablespoons salt, one-half cup sugar, one teaspoon soda, 1½ quarts wheat flour and, when slightly cool, so it will not scald, add the "emptyings" and mix well. Put in well-greased six-quart pan, cover and set where it will be warm. In about 1½ hours it will be ready to bake. Bake about two hours in hot oven. Will keep a week. Slice off same as any bread. Can be steamed if it gets too dry. Helps to reduce flour bill, now flour is so high.

Buttermilk Pancakes—Four cups of white flour, one quart of buttermilk, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon soda, one tablespoon sugar. Mix all together and bake on hot griddle. They are just fine and cheap; cost about 12 cents in all and will feed a family of five.

TO KEEP SILVER BRIGHT

A simple and efficacious way of cleaning silver is this:

Make a solution of baking soda and salt, allowing a teacupful of each to a quart of water. Put this in an aluminum pan or kettle and when it boils drop the silver in for an instant only.

Have another pan of hot water handy for rinsing purposes; rinse the silver in this and wipe dry.

No further polishing will be required and all tarnish and stains will have disappeared in the first bath.

This is quite as effective as the use of the cleaning pans for silver which are such a help in present-day housework.

Animal Jingles

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

BY ALICE CREW GALL

The Discontented Lamb.

A woolly Lamb exclaimed one day, "I do not like at all
This quiet life, I'm very tired of being meek and small;
I'm tired of living in the field and playing all day long.
I wish right now that I could be a Lion big and strong.

"I'd dearly love to live like him and have his noisy roar,
And go about and see the things I'd never seen before.
Then everyone would be afraid of me; that would be fun!"
A Fairy heard him and remarked, "No sooner said than done!

"I'll touch you with my magic wand and change you quick as wink
Into a Lion, though it may not be the fun you think."
And sure enough that Lamb became a Lion on the spot.
Said he, "The first thing that I'll do will be to roar a lot."

And as he roared some circus men came by and said, "Oh, ho!
This is the very Lion we've been wanting for our show."
They tied him very firmly with a dozen ropes or more;
He was so scared he stopped right in the middle of a roar.

And when he saw that he was caught, with all his might and main
He cried, "Oh, dear! I wish I were a woolly Lamb again!
I'd never be dissatisfied"—and then, strange to relate,
He found he was a woolly Lamb, beside the barnyard gate.

"I surely made a big mistake about one thing," said he.
"The biggest animals don't have the best times, no, sir-e-e!
I'd rather be a woolly Lamb right in this field, I know,
Than the biggest Lion in the world inside a circus show!"

THE RELIABILITY OF ANY INSTITUTION

can be pretty accurately gauged by the character and ability of the men behind it.

A study of the personnel of our Board of Directors, composed of successful local as well as New York business men, will convince you of the reliability and conservatism of the management.

As evidence of their conservatism, we point to the fact that this institution carries at all times a cash reserve considerably in excess of the percentage required by the Department of Banking. Furthermore, its assets are kept in such shape that its demand deposits can be liquidated in 24 hours.

Additional patronage is solicited, based on service and responsibility.

PREPARATION OF BUDGET UNDERWAY

Mayor and Headts of Departments Meet With Finance Committee.

URGE MORE ECONOMY

Last Night's Meeting First of Several to Be Held During the Next Few Weeks—Public Hearing to Be Arranged Later.

The councilmanic finance committee began last night the preparation of the budget for 1915. The meeting was held in Mayor Calkins office, there being present the finance committee, the Mayor and heads of departments. Members of the Board of Education, Library Board and Bard of Health have also been invited to attend the budget making meeting of the finance committee. This is the first time that all departments have attended a Council committee meeting for the consideration of a city budget, and is in line with the Mayor's idea.

The Board of Education has acquiesced in the recommendation that the Board of Estimate members of the Council shall likewise be given the opportunity to attend the meetings of the Board of Education which will be held in the near future to consider the estimates for the school budget.

Last night's meeting was the first of several to be held. The preliminary estimates of the several councilmanic committees were received and placed in line for thorough analysis. When the budget is drawn up in complete tentative form, it will be published and a date for a public hearing will then be advertised. It is proposed to throw on the glare of full publicity, and do everything possible to give the people information as to all expenditures.

In view of the administrative survey which is to be made, the Mayor and finance committee believe that new work should be curtailed and appropriations be kept down. The reason is that the survey may be expected to include many recommendations as to modern practice with respect to improvements, which may well be deferred until the survey has been made.

Chairman Claybrook and the heads of the other important committees were so well prepared with their preliminary estimates last night, that real progress with the budget can be expected during the next two or three weeks. George P. Mellick appeared before the committee with Samuel Townsend to explain the hospital needs and the requirements of the Playground Commission.

LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE TO HOLD A CARNIVAL

There was a special meeting at the headquarters of the local lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose, No. 310, last night, when the members of the lodge conferred with George H. Hamilton and Victor D. Levitt, of the Levitt-Meyerhoff shows and contracts were signed for a big celebration which the local Moose will hold here during the week commencing Monday, May 17.

The members of the local lodge of Moose are enthusiastic over the coming event and special committees will be appointed to arrange the various details of organization. The members of the present entertainment committee include John J. Carroll, Charles L. Kling, George J. Cogle and Charles E. Pagliuca.

APPEAL DECIDED IN FAVOR OF STANBERY

Second Supreme Court Reversal In a Week For Local Law Firm.

For the second time this week the law firm of Codington & Blatz, of this city, has been successful in securing a reversal of an Elizabeth District Court decision, handed down by Judge Abe David, the second one being rendered yesterday by the Supreme Court in the matter of the Hall Mammoth Incubating Company against William F. Stanbery, of Scotch Plains, the local firm representing the latter party. The first one was returned in the matter of Tony Tozzie against the local lodge of Moose.

On June 1 Judge David returned a verdict of $205.81 against Stanbery, who was president of the Poucher-Stanbery Poultry Farms, in Scotch Plains. Stanberry loaned $2,500 to his company and took a chattel mortgage, conveying the property of his corporation, and later foreclosed the mortgage and bought in the incubator, on which the above amount was alleged to have been due. Judge David decided that the president of a business corporation was personally liable.

In reversing the decision the Supreme Court rendered an opinion to the effect that Stanbery never agreed to pay or assume the debt, and that there was no evidence to warrant holding him personally liable.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR OF MISSION SOCIETY

Warren Chapel Organization Elect Officers and Receive Reports.

Bright prospects for the future and a year of good work and hearty co-operation were evidenced at the annual meeting of the Missionary Aid Society, of Warren chapel, held in the chapel yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Joseph O. McKelvey, the president, presided, and opened the afternoon with a devotional service. Mrs. Henry Bishop gave a talk on "Faithfulness." Following this, each member answered roll call with a verse of scriptuure.

Mrs. E. Gibson Smith read the twentieth annual report of the society, showing the excellent progress in increase of membership and attendance during last year. She summed up the work during the year, including the reception given to the pastor and his wife on the twentieth anniversary; the comfort bags which the society, in connection with the Christian Endeavor Society, sent to the sailors; donations to the hospital through the auxiliary's efforts of raising a mile of dimes for that institution, which resulted in $6.50.

Mrs. John T. Green, treasurer, showed receipts of $687, with disbursements of $211 for the mortgage fund; $254, missions; $138, general, and $83 towards the piano fund. At the close of her report Mrs. McKelvey, in behalf of the society presented Mrs. Green, who tendered her resignation as treasurer, with a set of solid silver teaspoons as a token of appreciation for her seven years of faithful service to the society. Mrs. Green responded with a speech of thanks.

Reports were read from the following chairman: Mrs. Henry Bishop, chairman of box committee; Mrs. John Higgins, chairman of refreshment committee; Mrs. Benjamin Moore, chairman of visiting committee, and Mrs. Katherine Schenk, secretary of literature.

Following the reports Mrs. James Goodwin received the reports of the nominating committee, which was given by Mrs. Charles D. Wheeler. The officers elected are as follows: Mrs. Joseph O. McKelvey, president; Mrs. Benjamin S. Moore, first vice-president; Mrs. Louis J. Stites, second vice-president; Mrs. E. Gibson Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. J. W. Gavett, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James H. Snyder, treasurer, and Mrs. Katherine Schenck, secretary of literature.

Mrs. McKelvey gave a very interesting talk on her visit to Philadelphia to hear Billy Sunday talk. A large delegation from Hope chapel, under the leadership of Mrs. Green, attended the meeting yesterday and were the guests of the Warren chapel society.

Prayer and benediction followed the business meting, and then all adjourned to the parlors, where a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served, under the direction of Mrs. John Higgins and her committee.

TO OBSERVE THE 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Mary E. Wilson Memorial Church Plans Celebration.

INTERESTING EXERCISES

Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, E. L. Bonny and W. D. Murray to Make Addresses—Attractive Musical Program.

Twenty-five years ago on Washington's Birthday in the Valley of Watchung was dedicated the now well-known Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel. The building is of rough mountain stone costing about six thousand dollars, and is located on the Valley road near the Burnhead Lake. It is here that the Washingtonville Sunday-school Association has for years held Sunday-school and in the evenings having a song and prayer service, which was conducted by some layman or worker.

During the week the Christian Endeavorers held a weekly prayer meeting and other meetings were held under the guidance of some of the workers for the Junior Christian Endeavor Society.

On the twentieth anniversary of the chapel, a morning service was held, which was so well attended that it was suggested that the regular morning service be continued. Several of the workers of the Sunday-school arranged for speakers and services were held once a month for a time.

An association was formed called the "Temple Builders, and it arranged for services to be held the second and fourth Sundays of each month.

PIERCE INVOLVED WHEN HE LEFT

Reported to Have Failed to Meet Many Note Obligations In New Market.

GOT FLOUR FROM R. R.

Story That He Procured $19,000 Worth of Goods Without Bill of Lading Is Neither Denied or Affirmed By Lehigh Valley Officials.

That Herbert L. Pierce when he left New Market two weeks ago today, was involved in financial transactions that will leave a shortage of from $50,000 to $100,000, is said to be the case today. It is thought by many that he will never be seen again in the village. Many residents tell tales of having taken Pierce's paper and been compelled to make good but only one will permit his name to be used. It is rumored that he secured flour from the Lehigh Valley Railroad without producing the bill of lading, and that the company as a result will have to stand a loss of $19,000, but officials of the company refuse to either confirm or deny this statement.

Brought to their senses as the result of newspaper agitation following the mysterious disappearance of Pierce, creditors living in that town are now frank to admit that Pierce is indebted to them in sums varying from $80 to several thousand dollars. Another revelation was made this morning, when T. A. Pierce, Jr., a nephew who manages the grocery and butcher store, admitted that the family had no knowledge of the missing man's whereabouts.

The store, which was closed yesterday, following the serving of two attachments, was opened this morning, but another attachment levied by L. F. Hersh and Brother, was placed on the goods at noon and it was again closed. This was followed by the announcement that T. A. Pierce, Jr., would re-open Tuesday in the store of the late William Jenner, with new stock.

T. A. Pierce, Jr., also admitted that E. T. Torbert, the treasurer of the New Market Roller Mills Company, of which Pierce was president, was missing from the office at 80 Wall street, New York, and could not be located. George Bieler, the Lehigh Valley Railroad's freight agent, who formerly worked for Pierce, was still on the job this morning, but was not talkative. He became indignant when queried by a reporter and exclaimed:

"My accounts are straight and if the newspapers do not stop trying to make them appear otherwise, I m going to start something pretty hot."

Henry R. Hall, vice-president of the mills, who was in New York, yesterday, was asked to make a statement, but said that he didn't think the time for such action was yet ripe, but intimated that he would make some sort of a statement Tuesday.

Mr. Bieler was asked if Pierce got several cars of flour from him without presenting the bill of lading and answered:

"If you can prove this go ahead and do it."

Goldson W. Smalley admitted that Pierce had defrauded him and he consented to talk for publication, adding that he hoped it would be "put on good and thick to show the dirty scoundrel up."

Smalley says he owed Pierce $46.65 and Pierce owed him $21.80. Two days before the missing man made himself scarce, according to Smalley, he came to his (Smalley's) house and told Smalley that if he wrote him out a check for the $46.65 he would give him a check in return for the amount he (Pierce) owed him. Smalley consented, and after affixing his signature to the check for the amount of indebtedness he asked Pierce to reciprocate. After a little fumbling Pierce stated that he had left his check book home, but would send the money. This was the last Smalley saw of the man.

CHANGES IN GAMES.

Through a misunderstanding the Hope Memorial basketball team, of Elizabeth will not appear here on Washington's Birthday night, but the St. Joseph's boys will line up against the Westfield High School Seconds on the T. A. P. court, on West Fourth street. The second team of St. Joseph's Boys' Club will play the North Plainfield High School Freshmen as a preliminary.

WESTMINSTER GUILD.

The Westminster Guild will meet in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church, Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. The meeting was postponed from Monday because of the fact that Washington's Birthday falls on that date.

SUFFRAGISTS AND 'ANTIS' TO DEBATE

Arguments Pro and Con to Be Heard at High School February 25.

ABLE SPEAKERS CHOSEN

Miss Alice Carpenter and John A. Matthews to Represent Respective Sides—Proceeds to Be Given to Fund For the Unemployed.

Suffrage problems that are causing a fair brow to become furrowed and care creased, are to be threshed out, pro and con, at the High School Auditorium next Thursday evening, when Suffragists and Anti-Suffragist meet in debate.

It must not be inferred that the problems the speakers will grapple are of interest to women alone. Just as many men will be on hand, for the points at issue are of vital interest to them, inasmuch as they will be called on to vote at the polls this autumn when the question of universal Suffrage comes before the voters of New Jersey.

There have been so many heated controversies waged in the local newspapers between Suffragists and Anti-Suffragists of late that the Democratic Club of Plainfield stepped into the breach and arranged the details for the public debate next Thursday evening. The meeting will be under the auspices of the club, but committees from each faction met with members of the Executive Committee of the Democratic Club when final arrangements for the meeting were consummated. The Suffragists were represented by Mrs. A. B. Jones and Mrs. Champlin L.

PLAYLETS DELIGHT LARGE AUDIENCES

Sunshine Mission Band Present "The Frog Fairy" and "Little Men."

Under the auspices of the Sunshine Mission Band, two playlets were given in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church, yesterday afternoon and also last night. The titles were "The Frog Fairy" and "Little Men," and they were enjoyed by large audiences at both presentations. The children taking part portrayed the various characters in very clever fashion, all of them being girls. Much credit for the success of the affair is due to Miss Ellen Burke, who acted as coach. The cast of "The Frog Fairy" was as follows: The Frog Fairy, Stella Butler; the three Princesses, Helen Voorhees, Frances Shaw and Mary Genung; the King, Jessie Fullerton; a soldier, Jean Runyon; the executioner, Julia Hall; a herald, Frances Abbe.

Those taking part in "Little Men" and the characters were these: Mrs. Bhaer, Adelaide Harper; Daisy, Frances Shaw; Nan, Jane Stout; Teddy, Margaret Harper; Tommy, Martha Williams; Demi, Sarah Johnson; Nat, Julia Hall; Dan, Marian Van Zandt; Mr. Bhaer, Margaret Stout.

The proceeds of the affair will be put in for the Mission Band fund.

CHILD BADLY BURNED PLAYING ABOUT BONFIRE

Ivy Bridge, a seven-year-old girl, residinf at 727 South Second street, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital this afternoon suffering from burns about the hands, face and body. The child was playing about a bonfire with some other children, when her dress caught fire from the blaze. Before it could be extinguished the girl was badly burned.

Dr. A. K. Brennan was summoned, and, after giving first aid treatment, he took the child to the hospital. It is believed that she will recover.

MAJOR LENTZ TO SPEAK.

Major Carl Lentz, of Newark, will speak at the German Reformed church, tomorrow night, on the subject of "Germany's Struggle for Its Unity." He will speak in German. Major Lentz is a Civil War veteran and served under Gen. Sheridan. He lost his right arm at the battle of Cedar Creek."

Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring will preach a special sermon tomorrow night to Clan McKenzie, the members of which will attend in a body. The subject will be "A Great Scotchman."

ALLEGE "SPITE-WORK" IN ALIENATION SUIT

Mrs. Poinier Makes Denial of Charges and Says She Does Not Know Roundey.

Classing the action brought against her by Mrs. Florence Roundey, of Truell court, for alienation of affections, as a "frame-up," Mrs. Elmer W. Poinier, of 600 East Second street, today made a complete denial of the allegations. Through her counsel, Reed & Herfield, the defendant in the $25,000 suit said that she had never seen or spoken to the plaintiff's husband and branded all of the accusations as false. It is further charged that the action was instigated by "spite-work," and that Mrs. Roundey's allegations are without foundation.

As published exclusively in this paper yesterday, the suit was brought by Mrs. Roundey against Mrs. Poinier for alienating the affections of her husband, John K. Roundey, president of the Endress Company, local butchers. Certain acts of indiscretion are alleged to have been committed by the defendant and the plaintiff's husband on July 18, 1914, and at various times before and after that date.

A number of persons acquainted with Mrs. Poinier were interviewed by a Daily Press reporter this morning, and all spoke in the highest terms of the woman's character. Considerable surprise was occasioned by the filing of the suit, and friends of Mrs. Poinier place little credence in the allegations.

NEW MARKET MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Stephen Moskoski Shoots Himself at Home While Wife Is In Adjoining Room.

Stephen Maskoski, who has been a resident of New Market for many years, committed suicide by shooting himself at his home on the Bound Brook road at 1:30 this afternoon. The man has been melancholy for several weeks and shortly after dinner went into a front room while his wife was engaged in household duties. She was attracted by a pistol shot and rushing in found her husband lying on the floor. Dr. M. J. Whitford was summoned, but the man was beyond aid when he arrived.

Maskoski was forty-five years old, and beside his wife is survived by one child. He was well-known throughout New Market and Dunellen as he had been employed in both places at various times for many years. He was regarded as a respected citizen and no one can furnish any clue as to what caused him to kill himself. The body is still at the home, pending the arrival of the county physician.

COP BOUGHT HIS BIRDS VALUED AT $5, FOR A DIME

Charged with the wholesale theft of pigeons from cotes in the West End of the city, seven small boys were arraigned before Judge De Meza in the City Court this morning, and after being treated to scathing reprimands by the magistrate and told to make good the losses, they were allowed to go on suspended sentences. The youngsters lined up as follows: Thomas Bray, William Deady, Frederick Sears, Murray Nichols, John McInerney, Frank Wittiman and Hugh Lyons.

The young defendants were rounded up through some detective work engineered by Patrolman George Muir. The minion of the law missed a pair of valuable birds from his aviary on Spruce street, and, hearing that youngsters in the West End had fine birds for sale at ten cents a pair, his suspicions were aroused. Muir bought his own $5 pair of homing pigeons from young Nichols for ten cents. The arrest of the boys followed.

NORWEGIAN BOAT SUNK IN BALTIC

Nordkyn Sunk By Mine and Entire Chew Is Reported Lost.

GERMANS CAPTURE COIN

Russian Money Taken In East Prussia—Kaiser Orders Day of Thanksgiving For Tomorrow—American Cotton Ship Safe.

Copenhagen, Feb. 20—The Norwegian steamer Bjoerke bound from Leith to Nakskow, Denmark, with a cargo of coal, struck a mine this morning in the North Sea. The crew was saved.

London, Feb. 20—It is reported in a despatch received here today, from Copenhagen that the Norwegian steamer Nordkyn has been sunk by a mine near Bornholm Island, in the Baltic Sea. All of the crew were reported drowned.

Amsterdam, Feb. 20—The Germans in their advance in East Prussia captured a Russian military treasury containing 250,000 roubles ($125,000), says a despatch from Berlin to the Maasbode.

The Kruez-Zeitung states that the Kaiser has ordered special thanksgiving services in all churches in Germany tomorrow for the liberation of East Prussia from the Russian invaders.

A despatch from Bremen states that the American steamer J. L. Luckenback has arrived at Bremerhaven. The vessel has a cargo of cotton.

Copenhagen, Feb. 20—Measures to secure the maintenance of the North Sea as an open road for neutral shipping will be decided upon here today by a meeting of delegates from Denmark, Norway and Sweden.

Rome, Feb. 20—The Republicans, the extreme war party in Italy, were not able to push a resolution in favor of Italy's entrance into the conflict through the Chamber of Deputies, last night. The resolution was presented to the Chamber, but was opposed by the Government forces and the best that the Republicans could obtain was a reaffirmation of the declarations of last December, that Italy would enter the war when it becomes necessary for her best interests.

Berlin, Feb. 20 (via wireless)—The following statement was given out at German headquarters today:

"Western theatre—In Champagne north of Perthes and north of Le Mesnil, strong French forces attacker us yesterday. All attempt to break through the German lines failed, but in some places the enemy entered the advanced German trenches where fighting still continues. Otherwise the enemy was repulsed. He suffered heavy losses.

New York, Feb. 20—It is not yet known whether the Lamport and Holt steamship VanDyck, whose cargo is reported worth $1,000,000, has been sunk by the Karlsruhe or not. The Lamport and Holt offials expect to hear definitely as to her fate in a few days.

PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL IN ROLE OF DETECTIVE

President George S. Clay, of the Common Council, appeared in the role of detective, last night and, although his man managed to wriggle to safety he captured the loot and made the heart of twelve-year-old Harold VanNest happy. While walking on Washington street near East Fifth street, the councilman noticed a sneaky individual riding a bicycle without a light. Noticing the mans apparently guilty actions, Mr. Clay called to him to get off the sidewalk.

This was the signal for the man to throw the bike into the gutter and beat a hasty retreat toward Richmond street. The city father brought the wheel to police headquarters where it was later identified as the property of young VanNest, who said it had been stolen from the rear of his grandmothers home, 215 East Fifth street. No trace of the thief has been found.

"SACK-COAT SAINTS."

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, at the First Baptist church tomorrow evening, will preach his second special sermon to men, the topic being "Sack-Coat Saints." Throughout his discourse he will touch on several vital questions, including "The Need of the Times for Men."

Garretson, Rev. D. W. C. Ramsey, Tax Collector Isaac J. Stites, John P. Fenner, Arthur J. Hamley, Edward Krinie, William W. Giddes and E. J. Hughes.

Miss Florence Smalley, of Jackson avenue, who has been ill with muscular rheumatism, was able to be out for the first, yesterday.

TEMPERANCE DAY.

Temperance Day will be observed in the Methodist Episcopal church at both services on Sunday, February 28. S. S. Swackhamer, of Plainfield, will address the evening service.

Margaret Deering, the 9 months' old daughter of Borough Clerk and Mrs. William P. Deering, is ill with pneumonia.

The contract for installing the plumbing in the two new houses being built at Dewey Park by Contractor Charles Wrage, has been awarded to Frank Broshart.

John P. Faber, of Washington avenue, who has been ill, is able to be out.

MRS. CHURCHILL ILL.

Mrs. George W. Churchill, of Washington avenue, is quite ill with pneumonia. She was taken ill a week ago Thursday, but it was not supposed that it was of a serious nature. Dr. Joseph Thomas, a nephew of Mrs. Churchill, who has a large practice at Flushing, L. I., held a consultation with Dr. Whitford and in their opinion she has a fair chance of recovery. A trained nurse from Brooklyn, is attending Mrs. Churchill.

Mrs. J. C. Gardner, of Washington avenue, is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Charles Underwood, of Hampton. Mrs. Underwood will remain in the borough until the middle of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Nelson and Mrs. Charles Kelly attended a meeting of the Pinochle Club at the home of Miss Helen Johnson, of Plainfield, last evening.

Florence Gooch, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Gooch, of Fourth street, who has been ill for the past two weeks with a severe attack of the measles, has improved considerably during the past couple of days.

A. E. Smith, of Front street, who has been ill since Thursday with liver trouble, is feeling somewhat better.

SERVE SUBPOENAS.

Constable C. Wesley Blaine served subpoenas yesterday afternoon; in the Waldron case, which is to be tried at New Brunswick, Tuesday. The witnesses besides the complaining witness, Carrie Francis, are Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Freeman, of North avenue; Marshal Patrick Tarpey and a Dr. Smith, of New Brunswick.

John Maier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maier, of North avenue, who has been ill with the measles, is able to be up and about his home.

Bound Brook.

The first annual banquet of the Somerset Past Councilors' Association, Jr. O. U. A. M., was held in the Bound Brook Methodist church last night, when over 100 men were present. After the dinner, Junior Past State Councilor and Toastmaster William B. La Rue introduced George H. Packer, Mayor of Bound Brook, who welcomed the Juniors. There were violin solos by Archie C. La Rue, of New Market, accompanied by Miss Bunting. The address of the evening was given by E. C. Stokes, former Governor. This was followed by a baritone solo by F. Le Roy Fisher, accompanied by Miss May Fisher. An address on "Legislation" was given by Senator William W. Smalley, followed by an address by State Council Secretary William H. Miers, of Trenton, and one by State Councilor R. P. F. von Minden, of New Market.

The services in the Presbyterian church tomorrow will be as follows: Sunday-school at 10 a. m., Bible Brotherhood at 10:15 a. m., public worship at 1 o'clock, sermon by Rev. C. J. Culp, subject, "The World God Will Not Own;" young people's meeting at 7 p. m., subject, "Favorite Chapters of the Bible; evening song and preaching service at 7:45, subject, "A Picture of God."

Rev. William T. Boult will preach on the subject, "Lives that Illumine," at the Congregational church, tomorrow morning. At the evening service he will deliver the second address of the series on "Some Strange People I Have Met." The subject for the evening service is "The Man Who Boasts of His Liberties While in Chains."

"Christians in Actions" will be the subject of Rev. H. E. Green's sermon tomorrow morning at the Reformed church. The evening service will be of a patriotic nature, given largely to congregational singing. De Witt Frazee, cornetist, of Plainfield, will assist in the service.

Harvey S. Smalley, Edward S. Heagland and Louis P. Kuntz, represented Somerset Lodge, No. 56, K. of P., at the forty-eighth annual meeting of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, held at Trenton.

At the Methodist church, tomorrow morning, the pastor, Rev. Daniel Dorchester, will preach the second sermon of the series of special messages to the church. The theme will be "First Things First."

In the evening the Rev. P. C. Bascom will occupy the pulpit. His subject will be "Was Washington an Accident."

Watchung.

An invitation is extended to the public to attend the anniversary services in the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Union church tomorrow, when the chapel will have been twenty-five years old. Rev. Dr. Edward G. Read will preach in the morning. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Charles E. Spier, will give special selections. The afternoon will be devoted to reminiscent talks by several who took part in the dedication service twenty-five years ago. Miss De Ahna, soloist of the Plainfield First Baptist church, will sing in the afternoon. The evening service will be a musical one. The girls' choir will render several selections; the Messrs. Korff and Spier will render instrumental music.

Monday evening there will be a reception and social in the chapel. A special musical program has also been arranged for that evening, the soloists being Miss Elsie F. Schmidt, the Messrs. Douglas W. Demler and Edward F. Bodin.

Ephraim S. Ackor led the prayer service in the Wilson Memorial Union chapel last evening. The topic was "The Solid Foundations of Life."

Dr. H. K. Carroll will conduct both the morning and evening services at the Methodist church tomorrow. Sunday-school at 3 o'clock and Epworth League at 7:15.

SUFFRAGE DEBATE

Riley, while Mrs. Sherman B. Joost and Mrs. John Constable Moore represented the Antis.

The meeting will convene at 8:15 o'clock. The orchestra in attendance will start its concert at a quarter before eight. Each side will be granted one hour for debate. The Suffragists, since they have the affirmative, will open the meeting with Miss Alice Carpenter as their principal debater. Miss Carpenter will speak for half an hour, when former Assemblyman John A. Mathews, of Newark, will take the rostrum for the Antis. The Suffragists will have two other speakers, each of whom will argue for fifteen minutes, while Miss Lucy Price, a Vassar graduate, who created a tremendous sensation on the Chautauqua circuit last summer when she spoke against Mrs. La Follette, and one other speaker, will close for the Antis.

It was agreed at the meeting of the joint committees to charge an admission of ten cents. After the expenses for the evening, such as hall rental and other incidentals, have been deducted, the residue of the admission receipts is to be turned over to the Fund for the Unemployed of Plainfield.

Miss Carpenter and Mr. Mathews need but slight introduction here. Both are brilliant debaters and each has been heard in Plainfield before. Mr. Mathews has been one of the most consistent opponents of Woman Suffrage in the country. Miss Carpenter has been equally active and successful in its behalf.

Suffragists and Anti-Suffragists are to muster out their cohorts and each side agreed to nominate ten or more vice presidents who will occupy seats on the stage. R. A. Claybrook, president of the Democratic Club, and the originator of the idea of holding the debate, will preside. Ten vice presidents named by him will represent Plainfield's Democracy.

So far the Antis have selected as their representatives on the stage Mrs. Sherman B. Joost, Miss Florence Tweedy, Mrs. John Constable Moore, Mrs. Henry D. Hibbard, Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, Miss Mellick, Mrs. Goddard, Mrs. Edgar Hyatt, Mrs. Charles L. Sykes, Miss R. A. Lawrence, Mrs. Herman Schwed, William R. Townsend and George S. Clay.

The Suffragists will be represented by Mrs. A. B. Jones, Mrs. Champlin L. Riley, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Mrs. Charles E. Ryder, Mrs. F. E. Dubois, Mrs. Fred Conlin, Mrs. F. O. Ball, Mrs. Allan Cowperthwait, Mrs. Maxwell Perkins, Mrs. Frank Hyde, Mrs. E. F. Feickert, Rev. John Sheridan Zelie and Mr. and Mrs. Knox Taylor, of High Bridge.

A table bearing Suffrage tracts will be in charge of Miss Dorothy Parvin and Miss Dorothy Lyon, and the Antis' table will be in equally capable hands.

Know they are for kidney backache—and for other kidney ills?

If you don't, some Plainfield people do.

Read a case of it:

Mrs. Anthony Wahl, R. F. D. No. 1, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I had such distressing pains in my back that I could hardly stand and it was out of the question for me to stoop. I was all crippled up and I knew perfectly well that my kidneys were the cause of the trouble. A neighbor recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to me and on her suggestion, I used them. They gave me almost immediate relief and three boxes changed me from a chronic sufferer to a healthy woman. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally, when a cold settles on my kidneys and they act as a preventive of any serious trouble. You may publish this account of my experience for the benefit of other kidney sufferers."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Wahl had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

"HOW THE VOTE WAS WON IN MONTANA"

Miss Leech to Tell Interesting Story at Suffragists' Meeting Here.

Miss Leech, of Montana, who has been engaged as organizer of the Suffrage movement in New Jersey and who is now engaged in her work here, will address a meeting of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield at the headquarters, 110 Depot avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. She will tell how the vote was won in Montana. Miss Leech has a pleasing personality.

During one week in Passaic county she spoke at eighteen different kinds of meetings, and was most successful. Everyone is invited to hear this interesting speaker on Tueday, when she will tell of her work in the West.

FURTHER CONTRIBUTIONS FOR PRINCE ALBERT FUND

The Plainfield branch of the Prince Albert Fund for the Relief of soldiers and sailors held another meeting at the home of Mrs. S. S. Carvalho, of West Eighth street, yesterday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Charles L. Eaton gave an interesting address and letters from the war zone were read by Mrs. Sherman B. Joost and Miss Campbell. There was also an informal program of music and refreshments were served in conclusion.

Further contributions of 209 articles were received yesterday afternoon, making a grand total of 1,400 forwarded by the Plainfield branch. Mrs. Charles B. Freeman will be the hostess of the next meeting, which will be held at the Carvalho residence on March 5. Mrs. Rufus Delafield and Mrs. M. P. Rogers will be the hostesses at another meeting on March 17.

REQUEST DONATIONS.

The Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild earnestly request that the citizens will send in donations of flowers, fruit, vegetables, delicacies and anything suitable for the sick, Monday afternoon, from 4 to 6, and Tuesday morning, from 9 to 10:30, to the rooms of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, 10 Madison avenue, Babcock Building.

The gospel address to be given by Samuel Ridout, at the hall, 209 East Front street, this city, at 7:30, tomorrow evening, will continue on "The Coming of the Lord in the Light of Scriptures and Present Conditions;" subject for the evening will be "The Mystery of Iniquity and the Sevenfold Work of the Spirit of God in Its Restraint."

PANAMA EXPOSITION WANTS LIBERTY BELL

Much Opposition to Moving Relic Across Continent.

San Francisco is renewing its efforts to secure the famous Liberty bell from the old statehouse in Philadelphia so that it may be an interesting and historic attraction at the Panama exposition. Recently Mayor Rolph of San Francisco and President Moore of the exposition sent telegrams to Mayor Blankenburg of Philadelphia urging that the bell be sent to San Francisco.

The mayor of Philadelphia is in favor of sending the bell to San Francisco, but a great deal of opposition has developed owing to the condition of the bell itself and the fear that it might be further damaged by the journey across the continent.

For a long time the old bell hung suspended from its ancient beam, and the hanging weight of more than a ton had helped to widen the tiny lateral crack until it formed a serious menace to the relic's safety. The weight of hanging metal below the crack had gradually pulled the bronze apart under the stress and vibrations. Then jacks were placed beneath it and the stress was relieved and the progress of the crack was stopped.

But despite these remedial measures a good many patriotic societies in Pennsylvania, as well as citizens generally, have serious objections to any risk being taken with the bell, and they have voiced their protests publicly and through extensive circularization.

AN ANTARCTIC MASK.

Explorer, Subjected to Blizzards, Has His Face Incased by Ice.

The picture at the top is not one of an oyster, however much it may resemble that edible bivalve. It conceals, strange to say, the face of a man who has been exposed to an antarctic blizzard. The face of the man, Meteorologist Madigan of Sir Douglas Mawson's antarctic expedition, appears just below the reproduction of his ice incrusted face. The ice was carefully scraped off at the winter quarters of the expedition where a thawing temperature was possible.

In order to take his observations Madigan had to ascend a plateau and there set up his scientific instruments. Going up the steep icy sides of the hill was comparatively easy, for the tremendous wind helped him up. It was descending against the force of the wind that was difficult and trying. Often Madigan would have to stand at an angle of forty-five degrees in the descent, for the attraction of gravitation was by no means an offset to the terrific wind. The descent had to be accomplished by sheer force, and often the wind was so bitterly cold that Madigan's face would become incrusted with ice, as is shown in the illustration.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY SON

HAROLD LAWRENCE BURLINGAME MULFORD

Born January 30th, 1891; Passed on February 20th, 1910

"He left behind him a monument of virtue that time can never destroy. He wrote his name in kindness, love and affection on the hearts of those he came in contact with, and his good deeds shine like the stars in Heaven."

Today, the twentieth of February, brings vividly to my mind and heart this day five years ago, the day my dearly loved son passed on to his home in Paradise.

It brings, too, an unutterable longing to hear his voice and to see his dear face again; but since this may not be, I feel, tho' unseen, we are together in spirit and prayer, and that he is as near me as God's divine law will permit.

For those who love beyond this world cannot be separated by that called death—death cannot kill that which never dies, true love and devoted affection, such as existed between my dear son and I. Love is stronger than death. Ever before me is the beautiful life he lived—always dutiful, loving and kind, always cheerfully doing his best, never complaining of anything.

It was said of him by one of the masters of the school he attended for six years, that he did more good in his short life here than many who live to be ninety.

What a comfort for a mother to have had so good a son; no wonder I thank God with all my heart and soul each day for having blessed me with such a noble boy.

My prayer today, and every day of my life, is that he is in "Our Gracious Father's keeping," and that He will tell him how much I love him, and how much I miss him, and that if there is a way that he may come to me, that He will vouchsafe him to me as a guide and guard, and if there is aught we here can do to minister to his peace and happiness, that dur loving Father may be pleased to let us.

That He will mercifully help us who love him so much, from any act which may deprive us of the sight of him, when our time here is over, or that will mar the fullness of our joy when we meet again. I pray that he is in Paradise with his own dear father, Samuel Potter Mulford, who loves him as I do, and all the other dear ones gone on before, that all are filled with peace, joy and happiness, and in such perfect health that they are able to do without hindrance God's will, as he would have them through the love of our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

Lovingly and Devotedly,
Mother.

Plainfield, New Jersey
February the twentieth
Nineteen hundred and fifteen

THIS MEMORIAL WAS PAID TO HAROLD BY HIS CLASS MATES OF THE SCROLL

In loving memory of their deceased class-mate, Harold Lawrence Burlingame Mulford, the Class of 1910 dedicate this page as a tribute to one whose untimely death on the twentieth day of February, in the year nineteen hundred and ten, has cast a depressing shadow of the closing weeks of our Sixth Form year. Gifted with unusually versatile talents, he has not only proved his superior scholastic ability, but also a graceful excellence in all phases of literary and artistic activities. A consistent prize winner, both in mathematics and languages, and editor of The Phoenix, to which his contributions were uniformly clear and forceful, an enthusiastic member of the musical and dramatic organizations, he would have enlivened immeasurably this volume of The Scroll, whose editors had anticipated the co-operation of his active imagination and facile expression. Devoted in his loyalty to Pawling, refined and delicate in all his relations, Harold has left in the hearts of all who knew him a memory far more lasting than the most laudatory tribute.

THIS MEMORIAL WAS PAID TO HAROLD BY THE PHOENIX BOARD

It is more than a perfunctory expression—this expression of our grief over the death of our associate, Harold Lawrence Burlingame Mulford, for with few exceptions, we were his closest friends, in every phase of his school life. To fill his place on the board will be impossible, for it is not an easy task to find a boy who possessed his exceptionally wide scope, on every subject, his complete willingness to contribute, and without a murmer more than his share of the monthly issues; his interesting style of writing, and his remarkable spirit of co-operation, and although Harold has left us for ever, we shall never forget his cheerful disposition, unfailing courtesy, and sterling character. These were characteristics which made us love him. These were the characteristics which made friends for him wherever he went.

"RUNAWAY JUNE"

By GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER and LILLIAN CHESTER

is an original story, an ingenious story, a story of puzzles and charm.

It is illustrated with moving pictures produced by the Reliance Motion Picture Corporation by special arrangement for this paper.

"Runaway June" has never before been published. It was written for America's greatest newspapers. In Plainfield it is being printed exclusively in the Daily Press, a complete installment being published every Monday night. The pictures to illustrate the same installment are being shown on the following Games, music and refreshments were features. Miss Vail received a number of gifts. Those present were: The Misses Grace Brown, Elsie Carman, Ida Peterson, Grace Vail, Helen McAfee, Marjorie Storr, Myrtle Davis, Ethel Wendell, Florence Brick, Theodosia Vail and Le Roy Adams, John Dawe, Robert Dawe, Harry Kirch, Leon Larison, Clifford ausebrook, Cecil McAfee, larence Krausse, Edson Day and Walter Debele.

"CHRIST AT NAZARETH" TO BE SERMON THEME

Rev. Henry Mesier, rector of St. Stephen's church, will preach at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning on "Christ at Nazareth," being the first of a series of Lenten sermons on "Christ in the Cities." C. W. Walker, organist, will give the first of a series of organ recitals at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. His program will be as follows: Toccata in G, Dubois; Andante, Fiagler; Cantelene Nuptiale, Dubois; Traumerei, Schumann; Consolation, Mendelssohn; Largo, Handel. There will also be rendered the duet, "Love Divine All Love Excelling," from John Stainer's "Daughter of Jairus."

P. H. S. ALUMNI ASSOCIATION RECEPTION AND DANCE

The annual reception and dance of the Plainfield High School Alumni Association will be held Monday evening at the High School Auditorium. The dance is expected to be one of the biggest of the season. Music will be furnished by VanEps' orchestra.

Tickets may be secured by members of the association by the payment of dues at Walsh's pharmacy Watchung and North avenues. Those who are not members of the association can purchase tickets at the same place at one dollar each.

MISS MEAD GIVES THIRD TALK ON CHINA

Miss Margaret Mead continued her third informal talk on China, in the Y. W. C. A. parlors, last night. She had a large and appreciative group of listeners. Hangchow and Suchow were the cities she spoke of, having spent a number of weeks in the former, when she was in China last year. Hangchow is often called "The Venice of China," being a perfect net work of canals.

She said the missions, Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. work together in the orient and the remarkable work accomplished by the different associations is something extraordinary, and illustrated her talk with curios and photographs. The various costumes worn in China were shown by a number of dolls which Miss Mead brought home with her.

NOTED PREACHER AT GRACE CHURCH TOMORROW

The Right Reverend David H. Greer, bishop of New York, is heard only upon rare occasions outside the large centres of his diocese, and the announcement of his coming to this city on Sunday is considered a distinct compliment to Plainfield. Bishop Greer will preach at Grace church tomorrow morning. Bishop Greer is the first of the Lenten preachers, and those who are anxious to hear the metropolitan prelate will be made welcome.

RANDOLPH MARSH ILL.

Randolph Marsh, who is one of Plainfield's oldest and best known residents, is seriously ill at his home on Plainfield avenue. He has been gradually growing weaker for the past few days and the physicians entertain no hope for his recovery. Mr. Marsh is 83 years old and for more than half a century has been prominent in local affairs.

JUNIORS TO ATTEND SERVICE.

The members of the local Jr. O. U. A. M. Councils will attend service at the Park Avenue Baptist church, tomorrow evening, when Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, the pastor, will preach on "Christian Patriotism." The public is invited.

PRACTICAL CHRISTIANITY.

Walter Weston, of New York, will lead the Practical Christianity meeting at the Waldorf, 134 Crescent avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30, and the subject will be "Potency of Thought." All interested are invited.

John Caulfield, of West Front street, has gone to Trenton, to visit his sister, Mrs. Josepa Barret, for a few days.

BIRTHDAY PARTY LARGELY ATTENDED

Pleasant and Profitable Affair at Park Avenue Baptist Church.

A birthday party was thoroughly enjoyed by a large number of the members and friends of the Park Avenue Baptist church, last evening, in response to the invitation extended by the Ladies' Aid Society, the main object being the raising of funds for the work of the society. The combined ages of thos present resulted in a very substantial sum for the treasury.

Mrs. Ira E. Van Arsdale, president of the Ladies' Aid Society, was in charge of the program, which included a prayer, Dr. Birney S. Hudson; solo, "I Paddle My Own Canoe," Clara Hadley; "I Ain't Going to Cry No More," Mary Louise Casner; "Aunt Jemima's Courtship," Mrs. A. L. Wood; "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling;" "Mighty lak a Rose," Fred Mills; "That Awful Dog," Gladys Hadley.

Mrs. D. M. Runyon, president of the Women's Missionary Society, spoke with marked earnestness and power on the aim and object of the organization, and urged all women and girls of the church, of any age, to become members. Mrs. Runyon is a most tireless worker in the missionary cause and her remarks made a deep impression upon every one present. A feature of the occasion was the drawing upon the blackboard by Charles Van Winkle, representing "The Ladies' Aid Society at Work."

The drawing was exceedingly well done and was used as an illustration of verses entitled "The Birthday Tragedy," composed by Mrs. J. C. Evans, and read last evening by Mrs. Charles. Steiner.

A delightful social hour followed, during which refreshments were served by the following young women dressed in the style of Martha Washington: Misses Edith Bush, Martha Casner, Iva Hadley, Ora Bush, Elizabeth Mills, Marjorie Robinson, Rosamond Rogers, Mabel Stutsman; assisted by Fred Mills, Karl Wilson, Elwood Waller, John Linderberry, Walter Weber.

The refreshment committee included Mrs. Daniel Van Winkle, Mrs. William Wright, Mrs. George Cratsley and Mrs. Chester Gaskell. The following comprised the program committee: Mrs. B. F. Hadley, chairman; Mrs. A. L. Wood and Mrs. T. T. Barrett.

FUNERAL OF WM. ARMSTRONG.

The funeral of William Armstrong was held yesterday afternoon and was largely attended, although the service was of a private nature. Rev. Mr. Meiser, rector of St. Stephens church, officiated. The floral tributes included a set piece from the social club of the Public Service Railway employes. Mr. Armstrong was employed by the Public Service for many years, first as motorman and then as station master at Westfield junction. Burial was made in Hillside cemetery, pallbearers being six Public Service employes, John DeVine, A. J. Smith, Samuel Neill, Thomas Dorgan, Charles Delahant and Michael Welsh.

GIVEN A SHOWER.

Miss Elizabeth Schuck, whose engagement to Horace Schmeyer was recently announed, was given a miscellaneous shower by forty of her friends at her home on West Sixth street, last night. The young folks enjoyed an informal program of dancing and music after which refreshments were served. The decorations were pink and white. Miss Schuck received a large number of useful presents. The affair was arranged by Miss Mabel Schuck with the assistance of several friends.

"THE LIMIT OF FORGIVENESS."

Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, after a five-minute sermon to children, tomorrow morning, will preach on "The Limit of Forgiveness." This will be the first of a series of Lenten sermons on the "Seven Sayings from the Cross," and will mark the "Go to Church Period" inaugurated by Dr. Hudson.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DURAR.

The funeral of Mrs. Harold C. Durar was held at her late home on Ravine road, yesterday afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Baltzley, rector of All Souls' Unitarian church, and was attended by a gathering of relatives and friends. Burial was made in the cemetery at Linden.

Sale of Imported Silks, $1.85 Yd.

$25,000 Worth of Spring Silks Less than Half Price

Grades such as we have had in our own stocks at $4.50, $5, $6.50, $7.50, $8.50, $10, $13.50, $15 and more

This surprising Silk Sale is the way the Silk Rotunda inaugurates the new enlarged Main Aisle.

3,500 yards of very fine imported silks are offered—from an importer forced to realize upon his new stock.

Brocades, wide stripes, unusual printed silks, crepes, plain satin and rep. Evening and street shades.

Very great variety of styles, designs and colors—but only enough for one day's business!

Main Aisle, Main floor, Old Building.

They're Going---These Books in the Annual Sale

And going quickly—too quickly to suit those who will be "just too late" to secure the treasures the sale still offers.

Every year the best publishers come to us offering their past season's overstocks--which they must dispose of quickly and therefore cheaply to make way for new books.

That is why the fine volumes and sets in this sale are now offered at

50 to 80 per cent. below publication prices

Think of being enabled to secure Hitchens' The Near East or The Holy Land, both illustrated in color by Jules Guerin, for $1.75 (publication price $6.)

That is a fair example of the treasures that are still to be had—though not for much longer.

Or consider the fine limp leather sets of standard authors which the sale offers—always the best texts, not cheap reprints from old plates.

Except for a very slight unevenness in the shade of the leather binding, these sets are perfect.

Yet you may have a Saintsbury Balzac, 18 volumes. (Publication price $22.50) for $10.80.

Or a complete Shakespeare in 10 volumes, with authoritative critical notes and comments, glossaries, study questions, index of characters, etc., for $6.

Or the complete or selected writings of Emerson or Plutarch, Poe or Plato, Fiske or Davdet—all at prices that are but a fraction of the publication prices.

Among these limp leather sets, the fine illustrated editions, the novels, histories, biographies, juvenile books, etc., there is more than the beginning of a fine library at very little expense.

Book Store, Main floor, Old Bldg.

Beautiful French Dress Cottons, At $1.15 Yard

Because the great manufacturing district in the north of France where these rare tissues are produced has been in the war zone for many months, no fabrics have been woven.

These particular materials were executed last season by one of the great French masters of fabric technique and even under favorable conditions he could hardly have succeeded in producing any materials more artistic than these.

With recent additions which we have made to this collection, it stands today distinctly unique as an assemblage of the only French dress cottons of the highest class obtainable in either hemisphere.

The fabrics are crepe and voiles, wondrous in texture, perfect in color blending.

The designs (mostly embroidered) are to the last degree artistic.

A gown made of any of these fabrics would be a gown unique, one which would stand out among all the lovely cotton frocks which are sure to be worn this Spring and Summer.

THE MAN WE HONOR

The whole Nation refreshes its honor at this time as to its beginnings. The name of Washington is inseparably woven with all that is great in our fundamentals. So honorable is the name that a city has been built in his memory and is made the Capitol of our Government, the home of culture and a centre of science and art and national glory. A short distance below the city is the home. Mt. Vernon has also taken on a halo. There rests from earthly labor the dust of the one who was "Father of his country, and father only of his country."

Washington was of the order of men who live forever in the hearts of the people. His habits of life, his lofty conceptions, his unselfish and sacrificial spirit, together with his love of country and inherent sense of human rights, make him a personality around whom legend and tradition gather and tend to place him in the realms of the immortals. In him is blended the spirit of the cavalier with the peasant. His theme of life's activities easily made him the subject of history and song.

Washington was a courtier, a religionist, a humanitarian, a prophet of social justice, a statesman, a warrior crusading for principles of liberty, with the majesty and dignity, and without the selfish and meaningless insanity of mediæval knighthood. His was a character that is called by one historian a "universal."

We have not advanced beyond his vision in our national life, as to problems national and international, as can be instanced from his correspondence and State papers. Time takes nothing from him but rather adds to the sublimity of his life. If some one were to write an epic, which should be to America what Homers Illiad is to Greece, or the Enead to Rome, or The Song of Roland to France, Washington would be worthy of such heroic verse, and worthier the motives of his life and career.

Let him who has literary inspirations give way to the muse and fashion for the world a new and worthy epic of a noble subject.

But the best expression of our tribute possible, might be in such emulation, on the part of all Americans, as would give us unselfish statesmen and politicians, wise reformers, and defenders of the fundamentals of our liberties.

It is easy for each new generation removed further from great national crises to forget the price of liberty and therefore its value. We must teach our people to stand for religious liberty, social justice, industrial righteousness. We must be able to rise up and put away any organized or commercialized evil. We must count our social, spiritual and national rights above our own comfort or possession, if we are to maintain the standards of Washington. He could have been more comfortable with his family at beautiful Mt. Vernon, than in the destitute and undisciplined army of the colonies, but he would have despised himself for his selfishness and comfortable irresponsibility.

Possibly there are some today who unlike Washington, are enjoying just that comfortable disregard of personal responsibility, taking no part in elections, begrudging governmental support, or fearing to stand for right against wrong in legislative halls, and estimating duty merely on counting-house standards. We need citizens of Washington and Lincoln type who forget for a time, everything except that they are men with eternal destiny and responsibility for right and wrong in their city, State and Nation, and that the biggest asset for peace and happiness is a conscience void of offence before God and man.

BIRNEY S. HUDSON.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

This arrangement was very successful and was carried on for about four years. Having the hearty support of the people both financially and by their presence at the meetings.

But still there seemed as if more could be done. "Why could not Watchung have a regular church?" The question was brought up at the business meeting of Temple Builders and discussed by members. A committee, consisting of Mrs. William M. Demler, Mrs. George T. Hughes and Mrs. Henry R. Kennedy, was appointed to take this matter up and they sent out cards asking the people to express their opinion and also by calling and talking with the different members of the families in the community, they found the general feeling to be in favor of a church. The report was carried to the association and two committees were appointed, one from the Temple Builders, consisting of Mrs. N. M. Demler, Mrs. George T. Hughes, George A. Schmidt and Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Kennedy, and the other from the Sunday-school Association, consisting of George W. Winans, John Mobus and E. S. Ackor. These two committees after holding many meetings, finally with the help of Rev. Dr. E. G. Read and Rev. C. L. Goodrich, drafted a constitution and set of by-laws, which were to be presented to the people for their consideration. A meeting was arranged for February 5, 1914, and to this meeting the ministers of Plainfield were invited. The people wanted their help and co-operation in the founding of the Mary E. Wilson Union church.

This meeting was well attended and much earnestness was showed. The constitution and by-laws were carefully gone over and with the help of Dr. E. G. Read, Rev. John Y. Broek and Rev. C. C. Cain, they were corrected and adopted. Then the meeting adjourned to meet March 5, 1914. This was done so that those who were to get their letters of membership from other churches would have time to receive them. On March 5 with the same ministers present, a church was founded with a charter membership of sixty-five.

At this meting the executive committee consisting of ten men of the church was elected, they having charge of the affairs of the church.

The officers are George W. Winans, president; George T. Hughes, vice-president; E. S. Ackor, clerk; Henry R. Kennedy, treasurer. The first communion service was held in April and the first of May the church began to hold services every Sunday in the month.

The Sunday-school meets every Sunday afternoon under the leadership of E. S. Ackor with a large attendance. Among the workers can be found some who have been faithful for many years in this work.

Plans have been made to make the twenty-fifth anniversary of this chapel, one to be remembered by all and it is hoped that all who have been interested in this work will be present.

The following program will be arranged for tomorrow: 10:45 a. m., anniversary sermon, "Seed Sowing," Rev. Dr. E. G. Read; special music by choir, 2:45 p. m. The following speakers will be present and take part in the services: Rev. C. L. Goodrich, E. L. Bonny and W. D. Murray. Miss Leontine de Abna, of New York, the contralto of the First Baptist church choir, will sing and letters will be read from some who are unable to be present, 7.45 p. m., musical service in charge of Charles E. Spier and Douglas Demler. Mebane Ramsey will make an address, "Looking Forward."

On Monday evening an anniversary social and reception will be held.

This church has a very bright future, being the only church in North Plainfield township. It has chosen Mebane Ramsey for its pastor. He is a wide-awake and energetic young man from Princeton and with his help the people are expecting to do great work in the community.

Scene from "Twin Beds," which will return to the Plainfield Theatre for two Performances, Saturday, February 27.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The list of photo-play features at the Plainfield Theatre, next week, will bring the following: Monday and Tuesday, Miss Gladys Hanson in Clyde Fitch's great drama as presented by Daniel Frohman, "The Straight Road;" Wednesday, Miss Annette Kellerman, the world's greatest diving beauty in her own spectacle, "Neptune's Daughter." Thursday and Friday, Charles Richmond in William Hodge's comedy drama, "The Man from Home." The attraction at the theatre Saturday, February 27, matinee and night will be Margaret Mayo's uproarious farce, "Twin Beds," which has been playing to capacity audiences at every performance. Another big photo feature to be mentioned will be the marvelous production of the story of "Damon and Pythias," which is to be presented under the auspices of Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., March 4, afternoon and night.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Five thousand feet—more or less, but not very much less—of the airy fairy Lillian, the incomparable Queen of the Drama, the Venus, the Niobe, the Cleopatra of the stage, the shy, elusive, insouciant, star of 'em all—well, anyway, just Lillian in movies. There you have the clou, the piece de resistance of the World Film Corporation's 5-part film drama "Wildfire," which will be shown at Proctor's Theatre, Tuesday and Thursday. "Wildfire" is a movie thriller all about a racing man named Barrington, who was murdered out West. Deceased had two daughters, one named Henrietta, who knew nothing of pop's horsey tastes. So when the murderer, under an assumed name, went East and armed with "papers" claimed the racing stable on Long Island, there was nobody to say him nay. However, the Western sheriff, Garrison, who had followed him, suspected him; so did Henrietta, otherwise Lillian Russell. And this is what Miss Russell did. She got possession of those papers and when the murderer tried to have the favorite horse, "Wildfire," pulled so that he should not win, she, after many other heroic deeds, climbed to the very top of the flagstaff and held up the flag, which was the signal for "Wildfire's" jockey to win, defeat the murderer, unite Miss Russell to the man of her choice, and bring a magnificently exciting Lillian motion picture to a close.

Washington's Birthday and a high-class bill will be inaugurated jointly at Proctor's, Monday. The bi-weekly change of vaudeville will produce the following acts for the first half of the week: Cole, Russell & Davis, in a comedy skit entitled, "Waiters Wanted;" Williams & Siegel, singers, dancers and entertainers; Will Dockray, black-face comedian; "The Beat," a dramatic sketch, and the Four Tornadoes, a quartet of marvelous acrobats and tumblers. The big five-part feature film, "Wildfire," in which Lillian Russell portrays the leading role, will be shown on Tuesday and also Thursday. This production is one of the best "movies" Proctor's has ever secured. The final episode of "The Million Dollar Mystery," the thrilling serial presented last fall, will be flashed on the screen next Wednesday. Keep the date in mind and see if your guesses were correct. Remember that continuous performances will be given at the theatre from 1 p. m. to 11 p. m. on Monday, Washington's Birthday, four complete shows taking place during those hours.

FEB. 20TH IN HISTORY.

1434—James I of Scotland fell a martyr to his attempts to abolish anarchy and disorder in his kingdom.

1736—Bill introduced in Parliament placing high duty on liquor, and heavy license fees, to prevent excessive use; the exemptions defeated its aim.

1772—The Royal Marriage Act of England was passed, prohibiting royal marriage without sovereign's consent before the age of 25; designed to perpetuate royal domination.

1780—British under General Clinton invaded South Carolina.

1781—Robert Morris appointed by Congress to supervise finance of the colonies.

1809—Saragossa, Spain, surrendered to the French, 12,000 starved soldiers walking out like spectres. 54,000 had perished.

1846—First Legislature in Texas under the U. S. met at Austin.

1878—Pope Leo XIII. was elected by the Sacred College.

1895—Cuban Revolutionists began the overthrow of Spanish rule.

ARE YOU GOING TO SEE IT? NATIONS of WORLD EXHIBITING on a STUPENDOUS SCALE

AMAZING PANORAMA SHOWING A PART OF THE VAST MAIN EXHIBIT PALACES OF THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION AT SAN FRANCISCO.

In the center of the photograph, which was taken at an elevation of 1500 feet, rises the colossal Tower of Jewels, 435 feet in height, or as high as the average thirty-five story city block. Directly in front of the tower is shown the superb Court of the Universe, one of the most notable features of the vast exposition city. On the extreme right of the photograph is seen the great circular Palace of Fine Arts, eleven hundred feet long in its extreme length, built at a cost of $600,000. Here the world's choicest treasures in art are being exhibited.

Reading from left to right in the center group the large building on the extreme left is the Palace of Machinery; next comes the Palace of Mines and Varied Industries; next the Palace of Transportation and Manufactures; next the Palaces of Agriculture and Liberal Arts; next the Palaces of Food Products and Education; on the extreme right is seen the circular Palace of Fine Arts. In the foreground on the left is the great California Building; next in the foreground is the Oregon Building whose columns comprise mighty fir logs; next is the New Jersey Building; immediately to the right of the Oregon Building is the New York Building and still further to the right the Pavilion of the Netherlands. The exposition palaces are the loftiest and most impressive ever built. Forty-one nations are participating in the exposition on an un-[illegible]

FIRST CITY TITLE GAME.

Washington's Birthday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the first game of the Plainfield High School-Y. M. C. A. basketball series for the championship of Plainfield will be played, and a record crowd is expected to witness this contest. The Y. M. C. A. aggregation is somewhat crippled, but will go into the game with the determination to hold the honors they received in winning the first honors.

Plainfield will have its regulars in action, and are out after the scalp of the champs, and a lively match is expected. The teams will lineup as follows:

P. H. S.	Y. M. C. A.
McNamee	Moulton
forward

Left to right, top: Tinker, Schulte and Evers; bottom, Chance and Brown.

Of that famous Cub club of 1906, probably the greatest baseball machine ever gathered, there is one lone player remaining—Frank Schulte. Kling, Brown, Reulbach, Chance, Steinfeldt and Slagle are out of baseball. Evers is with the Boston Braves; Tinker is one of the big guns of the Federal league; Sheckard is in the minors, and Hoffman is now playing with the Brookfeds.

MONTCLAIR SEXTET SCORES EASY WIN

Local High School Girls Trounced By a Score of 27 to 16.

Sensational foul shooting was the feature of the game yesterday afternoon between Montclair and the local High School girls, on the Ninth street court, the former defeating the Plainfield girls by a score of 27 to 16. The Montclair girls played rings around the locals in passing and teamwork, and the work of the two Baker sisters was of the highest calibre, seldom missing a shot. The home team was without the services of its guard and forward, Margaret Eaton and "Doc" Crane, but their substitutes put up an excellent game of basketball. Ruth Morris caged one basket in the first half and nine foul goals, while Montclair numbered four field goals and two fifteen-foot goals, the score at the end of the first half being 10 to 7, favoring the visitors. In the second half Plainfield numbered two goals and five fouls. The work of Helen Baker in this period was nothing short of phenomenal, the lassie tallying every foul imposed on Plainfield.

Monday afternoon the Plainfield High School team will line up against the North Plainfield High School girls in the second interscholastic game for the championship of the city.

COMEBACK LIST BIG FOR 1915

Baseball Fans Will See Many Old Faces This Year.

GIANTS WILL HAVE SEVERAL.

New York Nationals Will Try Out a Number This Spring—Coveleskie to Be Given Another Trial—Brief May Hold Down First For White Sox.

"Comebacks" to the big leagues for the 1915 season are fairly numerous, both major organizations being willing to give another trial to players who were found wanting upon their former visit to the big show and were sent back to the minors for seasoning.

Sometimes there is a pitcher who has all kinds of stuff, but lacks control, and the big league manager who has been giving him a trial figures he can get it better in the A. A. or the International than he can warming the bench in the A. L. or N. L.

Then there is the old timer who is sent back because Mr. Big League Manager thinks he has a youngster who is superior to the veteran. The youngster blows up and the veteran is recalled.

Such are the reasons why the two major leagues have bought and drafted a bunch of players who were up once before. The Cleveland club, for instance, is going to try George Kahler, Lefty James, Josh Billings and Jack Knight again, as well as take a look at Rex De Voght, who was once with the Boston Braves.

Detroit, pleased with its success in giving Coveleskie another chance, is taking two of its Providence farm hands and a few Southern leaguers who have been up before.

Bondeau, who was a catcher when with Detroit, is to receive a trial as an outfielder with Washington. One of the stars of the American association, he is likely to make good in the American league. Killifer also goes from the A. A. to fast company. He used to be a second sacker with the Tigers. Now he is an outfielder. The Cincinnati Reds own him, having given up a bunch of players for his services.

The New York Giants have gone after a bunch of former big leaguers. Among them are Catcher Jack Adams of New Orleans, formerly of the Naps; Pitcher Gipe of Seattle, formerly of the Athletics, Pitcher Stroud of Sacramento, formerly of the Tigers; Pitcher Cook of Columbus, formerly of the Naps. When [illegible] he pitched under the name of Winchell, the Sioux City club having bought him from San Antonio. Brooklyn's "comeback" is Pitcher Toney of Louisville, who was with the Cubs for parts of three seasons.

The Chicago White Sox will give another trial to First Baseman Bunny Brief, who was sent by St. Louis to Kansas City in exchange for Outfielder Clarence Walker. Boston recalled Pitcher Ruth from Providence, while St. Louis has yanked in Pitcher Miller from Burlington, Ia.

PLAINFIELD-NORTH PLAINFIELD CONTEST POSTPONED; NEW OFFICIAL TO BE NAMED

Owing to dissatisfaction prevailing following the recent North Plainfield-Plainfield basketball encounters regarding the officiating in charge, the two teams have come to a mutual agreement to engage an outside referee for future contests in the anticipation of doing away with further trouble. It was announced this morning that the game scheduled for Monday afternoon has been indefinitely postponed at the request of North Plainfield, two players on the latter aggregation being "under the weather."

Information from the Amateur Athletic Union officials has led the managers of the two teams to select Edward Thorp, of New York city, as the official for the big contest.

Are You Speed Mad? Then Take a Trip on an Ice Yacht

THE yachtsmen have been having their inning. The recent cold weather in the sections where the skeleton craft holds sway has given the devotees of the fascinating winter sport ample opportunity to enjoy their favorite pastime. At Red Bank, N. J., on the Shrewsbury river, many new ice yachts have been trial out, and many space annihilators have been produced. According to one skipper, one of the new ice yachts peeled off a mile easily in thirty-five seconds. Photo shows one of the skeleton yachts making a sharp turn on the Shrewsbury river near Red Bank.

NEWS OF INTEREST IN THE PLAINFIELD BUILDING WORLD

COMING FACTORY NEEDS TROLLEY

Location of Big Plant at Samptown Revives Piscataway Transit Agitation.

BIG BUILDING BOOM DUE

Many Dwellings Will Have to Be Erected—Several Tracts to Be Developed—Will Also Help Clinton Avenue Section.

With the announcement that the Harris-Silver-Baker Company, at present of Brooklyn, manufacturers of structural iron and steel, has purchased the Blackford farm on the South Plainfield road, Samptown, has revived the talk of connecting that section of Piscataway township to this city by trolley. The local Board of Trade made an effort a little less than two years ago to have the Public Service Railway Company extend the Fourth street line to New Market, but the officials of the company were of the opinion that such a move at that time would not be wise owing to the proximity of the section to the Main Line at Dunellen and the small population of the section to be catered to by the proposed extension.

The coming of a manufacturing plant to Samptown, which would, eventually, employ between 400 and 500 men, however, changes the complexion of the situation, and villagers are now of the opinion that the Public Utilities Commission might be persuaded to see the needs of the community from their point of view. In view of the fact that it is expected that work on the new plant will be started as soon as weather will permit, it is highly probable that the citizens of New Market will come together in the immediate future to discuss ways and means of taking the problem up with the transit company as well as the State Commission.

Two routes are being considered at the present time as advisable. The one of extending the Fourth street line along that thoroughfare to Clinton avenue, and from the junction of the two streets into New Market by way of Samptown; while the other calls for the extension of the Arlington avenue line, putting the trolley system through Oak Tree and South Plainfield, and thence to New Market. It may be noticed that a loop might be made taking in both of the suggested routes, thus catering to the greatest possible number of people in the territory adjacent to Plainfield.

The trolley problem, however, is but one of the questions now confronting the residents of the New Market section of the township, as the question of housing a large number of employes of the new company, together with their families, must be taken into consideration. A large number of dwellings of a moderate price will undoubtedly have to be constructed to make the necessary provision to satisfy this new condition.

The extreme West End of this city especially in the vicinity of Clinton avenue and West Seventh street, will receive a boom as a result of the new factory. The Blackford farm is about fifteen minutes' walk from several tracts which are in process of development. One of these is the property on West Seventh street, between Clinton and Brunswick avenues, which John Dahl purchased from R. H. Hood. It has a total area of twelve acres, and, after having been plotted up, is to be put on the market in the spring. Mr. Dahl plans to erect several houses himself, and it is quite possible that men who will work for the Harris-Silver-Company will be quick to see the advantages of locating within the tract.

SHERIFF SALES

Five sales of property at public vendue were conducted by Sheriff Otto at his office in the courthouse, Wednesday. One of the transactions involved Elizabeth property and it brought the largest amount, $3,000. Phoebe E. Benedict was the buyer, and the property is in South Broad street near Grove street, at the county seat. It was sold in the action brought by D. Hobart Sayre against Irene VanSickle.

The next largest sale was of some Plainfield property. It was bought by Cornelia J. Rockfellow for $1,000 in her suit against Jeanette D. Wiegand. It is located in North avenue.

Wallace A. Blakeslee, as complainant against Charles D. Powell, bought in for $1,000 property in Central avenue, Westfield.

BUILDING PERMIT ISSUED FOR "SMITHY"

Only One Permit Granted During Course of Past Week.

One permit, calling for the erection of a blacksmith shop in the Fourth ward, stands out as the only substantial development of the past week in local building circles. A large number of plans, for which bids are being asked, are in the hands of contractors, and it is expected that the first week in March will witness the official opening of the big boom season of 1915.

Among the plans out at the present time include a large apartment house on East Seventh street, a storage warehouse on East Third street, and several dwellings for different sections of the city, some of which will be double housues and two-family structures of various types. Several permits are being held in abeyance at the present time by Inspector T. O. Doane, but will probably be issued during the first part of next week.

The permit, as issued, calls for the erection of a frame structure at 430 West Second street on the rear of the lot, of which John J. Kliner,, Jr., is owner. The building, measuring 38 by 20 feet will be used as a blacksmith shop, and is to cost in the vicinity of $600. Mr. Kliner, who recently purchased this property from Gustave Hoffman, will care for the construction work on the building.

EXPLAINS WAR TAX RULES ON REALTY

Internal Revenue Bureau Gives Out Statement Showing Various Schedules.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has issued a statement explaining the Federal War Tax Act in detail and giving fees and regulations on transfers, options, quit claims, etc. The statement in part follows:

"The act provides that a deed, instrument, or writing, whereby lands tenements or other realty sold, shall be granted, assigned, transferred or otherwise conveyed, when consideration or value of the interest or property conveyed, exclusive of value of any lien or incumbrance exceeds $100 and does not exceed $500, taxes to 50 cents and for each additional $500 or fractional part thereof in excess of $500, 50 cents.

"For instance, where a property is sold for $2,000, $1,000 of which is received in cash and promissory note for balance, tax on deed should be computed on basis of cash received and primissory note taxable on such instrument, that is, $1 on deed and 20 cents on note.

"On deed which states that transfer is made for nominal consideration, tax must be computed upon actual value of interest or property conveyed, amount of lien or incumbrance being deducted, and person who executes deed is required to affix stamps thereto and becomes liable to penalty if stamps in sufficient amount, based upon actual value or consideration given are not affixed.

"Deed executed, dated and delivered prior to December, 1914, not taxed.

"Deed dated prior to December 1, 1914, but acknowledged before notary public and delivered subsequently is taxable.

"Section 13 provides that it shall be unlawful to record or register any instrument, paper or document required by law to be stamped unless stamp or stamps of the proper amount shall have been affixed and cancelled as prescribed by law.

"Deed presented to recording officer and appears insufficient internal revenue stamps are attached thereto and he is not satisfied with explanation furnished by party offering it to be recorded, he should notify collector of revenue. It is not expected that recording officer will institute investigation to see whether there has been any violation of law; nor is it thought that he should exact an affidavit showing true consideration.

"Contract for sale of realty which provides for issuance of deed at future date upon fulfilment of certain conditions not taxed, if executed by owner of land. If executed by broker taxed 10 cents.

"Partition deed, operative in defining boundary lines or showing by location every tenant-in-common's interest not taxed.

"Quit claim deed for nominal consideration to correct flaw in title, not taxed. No tax on option to buy realty.

"Oil leases, leases of mining property, long term mining leases, etc., which in themselves, convey no title to, or interest in realty, exempt.

"Deeds in escrow not taxable until final is made. If delivery is made subsequent to December 1, 1914, taxed as conveyances.

"Deeds of release and deeds of trust exempt.

"Deeds issued by Masters in Chancery, sheriffs, etc., to cover transfer of property sold under foreclosure or execution, taxed cost of which may be added to the court costs.

"Deeds to burial sites which do not convey title to the land, but only right the sepulture, to erect monuments, etc., exempt.

"Deed issued to cover gifts of property wherein consideration named is 'naural love and affection and $1,' 'desire to promote public welfare and $1,' or '$1 and other valuable considerations,' not taxed.

"Exchange deeds transferring title taxable. Tax on two properties in each case to be computed on basis of actual value of interest or property conveyed, amount of lien or incumbrance being deducted.

"Deed executed by debtor covering assignment of property to trustee to be held for benefit of creditors not taxable. When trustee sells or conveys property to any person, deeds executed by him taxable."

A DISTINCTIVE BUNGALOW

DESIGNED BY CHARLES S. SEDGWICK, ARCHITECT.

This design is one of bungalow style, very artistic in its treatment, using bowlder stone for piazza piers, chimney, etc., and the exterior walls finished in cement stucco. The size is 38 ft. in width by 38 ft. in depth, exclusive of the porches. There are two good rooms on the second floor and ample storage space, a full basement under the house. It is estimated to build the bungalow for $4,000 to $4,800, exclusive of heating and plumbing.

The main floor has a central vestibule entrance that opens into the living-room on the right and back into a central hall. The living-room on the front has a fireplace with chimney projected and treated with bowlder stone on the exterior and opens with columned arch into the dining-room; this dining-room has French windows opening onto a side porch and connects through to the rear with the kitchen.

The rooms are ample in size and conveniently arranged. On the left of the hall are two large bedrooms and in the rear is a roomy bathroom. There are ample closets provided, a coat closet in the hall and a linen closet. The main stairway extends up from the living-room with platform and is a pleasing feature. In addition there is a rear stairway from the kitchen leading to second story and basement stairs underneath. This floor is finished in Washington fir, stained mission brown with oak floor. The estimate given does not include finishing of the second story rooms. The roof is shingled and stained and all cornices, castings, etc., stained red and all outside trimmings painted white.

Sedgwick's Book of House Plans.

Upon receipt of one dollar ($1.00) the Daily Press will mail to those ordering, a copy of "Sedgwick's Best House Plans, a book containing 100 selected designs of bungalows, cottages and residences costing from $1,500 to $6,000.

STORAGE CONCERN IS SOON TO BUILD

Recently Incorporated Local Company Has Plans For Four-story Structure.

EAST THIRD ST. SITE

Building Will Be 100x80 In Dimensions and Reinforced Concrete—Stores On First Flloor—Fireproof Throughout.

The recently incorporated Plainfield Storage Company, which filed papers in the office of the county clerk last week, with a capitalization of $50,000, has plans underway for a combined storage and business building on East Third street, directly opposite Church street. At the present time the architectural drawings are in a preparatory state, but it is practically certain the structure will be four stories in heighth and of the reinforced concrete type. In addition to being strictly fire-proof new ideas for the safe-keping of all kinds of goods will be embodied in the finishing touches.

The site of the proposed building is on the south side of East Third street, between the Union Grain Company's warehouse and the Jersey Central siding track. It was owned for many years by the McGinley family. Peter Koehler, who is a member of the storage company, was the one to take title. The plot has a total frontage of 100 feet and runs back to the railroad for a depth of 80 feet.

The new structure is to cover the entire area, a total of 8,000 square feet. The company plans to break ground about the middle of April or the first of May.

While the interior arrangement may undergo a few alterations before the contract is awarded, it is definite now that the first floor will be taken up by a large main entrance and four stores, suitable for wholesale trade. The railroad siding now serving the grain and beef companies nearby will also accommodate the storage house. This will make it the only building of the kind between Newark or Jersey City and Easton which has direct shipping facilities. Modern freight elevators will permit goods to be placed on or taken from any floor with quickness and dispatch. There is a possibility that cold storage equipment may be an innovation later on if the demand becomes great enought. Altogether, the company will have a storage structure second to none in New Jersey and East Third street will take on a new air of importance when business begins.

The incorporators of the Plainfield Storage Company, according to the legal papers, are as follows: Clifford D. Manning, James C. Manning, Walter F. Manning, Harold E. White, Peter Kohler, Frank J. Hubbard and W. R. Codington.

REALTY TRANSFERS

The following realty transfers from this end of the county have recently been filed at the office of the county register at Elizabeth.

Louis H. Hosmer to J. Ford Johnson, Jr., northwesterly side of Cushing road, corner Herman Crook, Plainfield, $1.

Same to same, southwesterly side Terrill road, corner Cushing road, Plainfield, $1.

William Johnson to Henry Shaar, Stony Hill road, corner Joseph Stadele, New Providence, $3,975.

Abram Kunzman et ux to Jacob Abrams, West Third street, 254 feet easterly of Plainfield avenue, Plainfield, $1.

Jacob Bedell et ux to Maud Guest Camp, northwesterly side of West Eighth street, 100 feet of Monroe avenue, Plainfield, $1.

William H. Weldon et ux to William H. Weldon, Jr., northwesterly side St. Mark's avenue, corner lot 11, map of Westfield Real Estate Co., Westfield, $100.

Home and Gardens Co. to Stephen Barton, lots 2-6, block 2, map of Manor Park, Westfield, $1.

H. L. Lockwood Co. to Stephen Barton, lot 1, block 2, same map, Westfield, $1.

REMODELING HOUSE.

Miss Florence Butler, of 520 Stelle avenue, is having her dwelling at that address completely overhauled and remodeled at a cost of $3,500. The contractors are as follows: Carpenter, George D. Wilson; painter, Johnson Brothers; mason, Joseph Brandt; plumber, Percy McVoy.

JUST NOTES

The contracts for the work on the proposed Harrison avenue School, in the borough, are scheduled to be awarded Tuesday evening of next week by the North Plainfield Board of Education.

By the number of plans now in the hands of contractors for estimates there is every reason to believe that the month of March ought to be a record-breaker for building permits, both in number and costs.

New Market now threatens South Plainfield for honors in Piscataway township race for real estate glory. The present year in New Market is scheduled to rival last year's record as set at South Plainfield, when a large number of dwellings were erected.

It is learned from good authority that a party has plans cut for the erection of twelve houses in the vicinity of Clinton avenue and West Fourth street. Such a move would mean much for the development of the West End of the city. Several other dwellings are also under consideration at this time for the West End, including several two-family houses.

If South Plainfield and New Market can secure factories, why not this city? Cannot the Chamber of Commerce or the Board of Trade help along the movement for the development of the industrial side of our civic life.

Tax Collector William R. Townsend recently publicly made a few utterances concerning a City Hall. Wonder if this is to feature the present building season, or are we to wait some other time in the distant future?

DWELLING COMPLETED.

Contractor William D. Bird has practically completed a fine house on Sheridan avenue for William H. Abbott. It represents an expenditure of about $10,000 and represents the type of houses that are to go up on what is best known as the Leonard tract. The mason work for the building was done by John Caulfield.

TO ERECT GARAGE.

Allan M. Johnson, of 222 Stelle avenue, is having a frame garage erected in the rear of his residence at that address, at a cost of $3,500. George D. Wilson is the contractor.

BUILDING PRICES ARE IMPROVING

Steadier Market Is Reported Throughout Metropolitan District.

LOW GRADES ARE WEAK

Spot Buying Is Closer to List Than It Has Been Since July 1 In All Lines Except Lime, Cement and Metal Ceiling.

New York, Feb. 20.—Building materials are finding a steadier market throughout the metropolitan district. Prices, while strengthening are still being shaded, on sizeable contracts and time orders. Spot buying is closer to list than it has been since July 1 in all lines except lime, cement and metal ceiling. In those departments competition is forcing quotations to low levels, but mostly on cash or ten-day basis. Plate glass is without change 90 and 30 per cent. being the prevailing discount.

Prices on this commodity, however, vary according to quality required. It is primarily a buyers market. There are some low grades that are weak at list, but for the most part quotations are firm. Lumber is without change in prices as far as the general wholesale market is concerned, but the presence of a large quantity of spring orders is strengthening some lines, like spruce, pine, and practically all the hardwoods, and supplementals are taking a higher rate, especially if they run into the late summer. Queens lumber companies are reporting an increasing demand. Newark lumber dealers are riding a normal quantity of lumber for this time of the year. Richmond is taking a liberal quantity of cement for highways and municipal construction.

New Jersey steel fabricators report an improvement in current orders. Current business on hand is barely 25 per cent. of capacity. The American Sheet and Tin Plate Company has advanced prices of galvanized pipe ranging from 1 to 6 inches, $5 a ton, making No. 28 $3.25 f. o. b. mill, Pittsburgh. Several of the independent pipe manufacturers have also advanced prices of galvanized pipe from $3 to $5 a ton to cover the additional cost of spelter used in galvanizing. Copper for flashing is duller and weaker. This is due largely to the break in exchange which has unsettled the plans of some of the copper producers who have been selling metal in Europe without specifying the basis of exchange. It reached this week an equivalent of 12¼ and 12⅜ f. o. b. New York.

Small pig iron sales developed in this district this week. A New Jersey foundry was in the market for 400 tons. This was about the only conspicuous feature of the week, barely enough to indicate the state of the market. The New York Municipal railways will take bids on February 25 for third tracking of the Broadway elevated line in Brooklyn calling for about 7,000 tons of structural steel.

The linseed oil market is being watched closely by paint and varnish interests owing to the tightening of the market at Duluth. At present it is being quoted here at 55 and 56 cents a gallon in quantities. The general quotation in moderate lots here is 60 and 61 cents. Roofing and building slate interests decided not to advance prices at this time, preferring to maintain present levels and encourage new building operations.

The entire market seems to be awaiting the movement of steel. In the largest offices this week there was nothing expected in the way of an immediate advance, although the February tonnage is showing a better movement than either December or January. It is generally believed that as soon as this commodity advances other lines will follow suit. No change is expected until the mill capacity reaches at least 65 per cent. which is ten points higher than the United States Steel Corporation is now operating. Common brick is without change and Portland cement is quoted at $1.32 per barrel, dock, New York, for the best grades on general business. This is equivalent to seventy cents, mill, which is actual cost, with new 5 per cent. freight rate in effect. Spot business shades this level, however, but there is little of this kind of business moving, not anywhere near enough to make a market.

Builders may expect prices to continue low for some time to come. An official of the Building Material Exchange this week said he did not expect a change to occur in any important commodity for at least thirty days.

LOCAL MEN TO BUILD HOUSES AT SHORE

New Development at Monmouth Beach Will Give Employment to Plainfielders.

Local interests are identified with a big realty development which is under way at Monmouth Beach, and which promises to be one of the greatest along that section of the New Jersey shore in many years. Not only are Plainfielders among the purchasers of land and buildings, but a number of local men are to go to the new resort next week to start construction work on bungalows to be built before the beginning of the summer season.

The property, which is known as Shorelands, is being developed on what is formerly the Monmouth Beach golf grounds, and is but five minutes' walk from the station. Streets have been laid out, and at least fifteen Plainfield mechanics will go there next week under the direction of Charles C. Bicknell, to begin work on three bungalows which are to cost $6,000 each. It is eventually planned to construct forty houses or more on the tract as they are sold. Of the three which are to be commenced next week, two have already been disposed of.

The property is being developed by a company of which J. W. Doolittle, who developed El Mora, is the president. Charles A. Dall, of Prospect avenue, will be directly in charge of the construction work, and J. T. S. Hunn, of Prospect avenue, is the general sales manager.

MANY RENTALS REPORTED BY MANNING AND CURTIS

The real estate office of Manning & Curtis report a very encouraging opening of the spring renting season, and the following is a list of some of their rentals for February: Fine modern dwelling, 28 Washington avenue, opposite Park Club, to C. B. Van Leer, of Brooklyn; large residence on Park avenue, belonging to Benjamin F. Duke, to C. E. Wiggins; residence at 85 Westervelt avenue, to George F. Kuehn; bungalow belonging to the J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Co., to H. W. Boice, residence, 49 Somerset street, to Mrs. E. Johnson; 215 Leland avenue, to Charles F. Neagle; 1204 Martine avenue, to F. B. Martin; 1273 George street, to F. Flack. Also several small houses and a number of apartments. They report that conditions seem to be somewhat improved, and are looking forward to a very prosperous year.

Not a home in this city but has its quota of discarded furniture, rugs, stoves perhaps, a wheelbarrow maybe.

A few cents for a Press want ad and some one who needs the very article that lies rotting in your garret will call and pay you for it.

You are better off—new owner is pleased—and the article itself is contributing to the reduction of the high cost of living.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.—Adv.

PEG O' MY HEART

By J. Hartley Manners

A Comedy of Youth Founded by Mr. Manners on His Great Play of the Same Title—Illustrations From Photographs of the Play

Copyright, 1913, by Dodd, Mead & Company

CHAPTER XIV.

Peg in England.

"HOW long have you been here?" again asked Ethel of Peg.

"Sure I only came in this minnit," said Peg innocently and with a little note of fear. She was not accustomed to fine looking, splendidly dressed young ladies like Ethel.

"What do you want?" demanded the young lady.

"Nothin'," said Peg reassuringly.

"Nothing?" echoed Ethel, growing angrier every moment.

"Not a thing. I was just told to wait," said Peg.

"Who told you?"

"A gentleman," replied Peg.

"What gentleman?" asked Ethel sharply and suspiciously.

"Just a gentleman." Peg, after fumbling nervously in her pocket, produced the card Mr. Hawkes had given her, which Michael immediately attempted to take possession of. Peg snatched it away from the dog and handed it to the young lady.

Peg Bent Down Over Michael.

"He told me to wait there!"

Ethel took the card irritably and read:

"'Mrs. Chichester, Regal Villa.' And what do you want with Mrs. Chichester?" she asked Peg, at the same time looking at the shabby clothes, the hungry looking dog and the soiled parcel.

"I don't want anything with her. I was just told to wait."

"Who are you?"

Peg was now getting angry too. There was no mistaking the manner of the proud young lady. Peg chafed under it. She looked up sullenly into Ethel's face and said:

"I was not to say a wurrd, I'm telling ye. I was just to wait." Peg settled back in the chair and stroked Michael. This questioning was not at all to her liking. She wished Mr. Hawkes would come and get her out of a most embarrassing position. But until he did she was not going to disobey his instructions. He told her to say nothing, so nothing would she say.

Ethel turned abruptly to Brent and found that gentleman looking at the odd little stranger somewhat admiringly. She gave an impatient ejaculation and turned back to Peg quickly:

"You say you have only been here a minute?"

"That's all," replied Peg—"just a minnit."

"Were we talking when you came in?"

"Ye were."

Ethel could scarcely conceal her rage.

"Did you hear what we said?"

"Some of it—not much," said Peg.

"What did you hear?"

"'Please don't—it's so hot this mornin'.'" said Peg, with no attempt at imitation, just as if she were stating a simple, ordinary occurrence.

Ethel flushed scarlet. Brent smiled.

"You refuse to say why you're here or who you are?" Ethel again asked.

"It isn't me that's refusin'. All the gentleman said to me was: 'Ye go to the place that's written down on the card an' sit down there an' wait. An' that's all ye do.'"

Ethel again turned to the perplexed Brent. "Eh?"

"Extraordinary!" And Brent shook his head.

The position was unbearable. Ethel decided instantly how to relieve it. She looked freezingly down at the forlorn looking little intruder and said:

"The servants' quarters are at the back of the house."

"Are they?" asked Peg without moving and not in any way taking the statement to refer to her.

"And I may save you the trouble of waiting by telling you we are quite provided with servants. We do not need any further assistance."

Peg just looked at Ethel and then bent down over Michael. Ethel's last shot had struck home. Poor Peg was cut through to her soul. How she longed at that moment to be back home with her father in New York. Before she could say anything Ethel continued:

"If you insist on waiting, kindly do so there."

Peg took Michael up in her arms, collected once more her packages and walked to the windows. Again she heard the cold, hard tones of Ethel's voice speaking to her:

"Follow the path to your right until you come to a door. Knock and ask permission to wait there, and for your future guidance go to the back door of a house and ring. Don't walk unannounced into a private room."

Peg tried to explain.

"Ye see, ma'am, I didn't know. All the gentleman said was, 'Go there an' wait'"—

"That will do."

"I'm sorry I disturbed ye." And she glanced at the embarrassed Brent.

"That will do!" said Ethel finally.

Poor Peg nodded and wandered off through the windows sore at heart. She went down the path until she reached the door Ethel mentioned. She knocked at it. While she is waiting for admission we will return to the fortunes of the rudely disturbed lovers (?).

Ethel turned indignantly to Brent as the little figure went off down the path.

"Outrageous!" she cried.

"Poor little wretch!" Brent walked to the windows and looked after her. "She's quite pretty."

Ethel looked understandingly at him. "Is she?"

"In a shabby sort of way. Didn't you think so?"

Ethel glared coldly at him.

"I never notice the lower orders. You apparently do."

"Oh, yes—often. They're very interesting—at times." He strained to get a last glimpse of the intruder.

"Do you know, she's the strangest little apparition"—

"She's only a few yards away if you care to follow her!"

Her tone brought Brent up sharply. He turned away from the window and found Ethel, arms folded, eyes flashing, waiting for him. Something in her manner alarmed him. He had gone too far.

"Why, Ethel," he said as he came toward her, "Suppose my mother had walked in here—or Alaric—instead of that creature? Never do such a thing again."

"I was carried away," he hastened to explain.

"Kindly exercise a little more restraint. You had better go now." There was a finality of dismissal in her tone as she passed him and crossed to the great staircase. He followed her:

"May I call tomorrow?"

"No," she answered decidedly; "not tomorrow."

"The following day, then," he urged.

"Perhaps."

"Remember, I build on you."

She looked searchingly at him.

"I suppose we are worthy of each other."

Through the open windows came the sound of voices.

"Go!" she said imperatively. And she passed on up the stairs. Brent went rapidly to the door. Before either he could open it or Ethel go out of sight Alaric burst in through the windows.

"Hello, Brent!" he cried cheerfully. "Disturbin' ye?" And he caught Ethel as she was about to disappear. "Or you, Ethel?"

Ethel turned and seated herself with her little white lap dog clasped in her hands, then answered coolly:

"You've not disturbed me."

"I'm just going," said Brent.

"Well, wait a moment." And Alaric turned to the window and beckoned to some one on the path, and in from the garden came Mr. Montgomery Hawkes.

"Come in," said the energetic Alaric. "Come in, Ethel. I want you to meet Mr. Hawkes. Mr. Hawkes—my sister; Mr. Brent—Mr. Hawkes." Having satisfactorily introduced every one, he said to Ethel: "See if the mater's well enough to come down, like a dear, will ye? This gentleman has come from London to see her. D'ye mind? And come back yourself, too, like an angel. He says he has some business that concerns the whole family."

Alaric bustled Hawkes into a chair and then seized the somewhat uncomfortable Brent by an unwilling hand and shook it warmly as he asked:

"Must you go?"

"Yes," replied Brent, with a sigh of relief.

Alaric dashed to the door and opened it as though to speed the visitor on his way.

"So sorry I was out when you called," lied Alaric nimbly. "Run in any time. Always delighted to see you—delighted. Is the angel wife all well?"

Brent bowed. "Thank you."

"And the darling child?"

Brent frowned. He crossed to the door and turned in the frame and admonished Alaric:

"Please give my remembrances to your mother." Then he passed out. As he disappeared the irrepressible Alaric called after him:

"Certainly. She'll be so disappointed not to have seen you. Run in any time—any time at all." Alaric closed the door and saw his mother and Ethel coming down the stairs.

All traces of emotion had disappeared from Ethel's face and manner. She was once again in perfect command of herself. She carried a beautiful little French poodle in her arms and was feeding her with sugar.

Alaric fussily brought his mother forward.

"Mater, dear," he said, "I found this gentleman in a rose bed inquiring the way to our lodge. He's come all the way from dear old London just to see you. Mr. Hawkes, my mother."

Mrs. Chichester looked at Hawkes anxiously.

"You have come to see me?"

"On a very important and a very private family matter," replied Hawkes gravely.

"Important? Private?" asked Mrs. Chichester in surprise.

"We're the family, Mr. Hawkes," ventured Alaric helpfully.

Mrs. Chichester's forebodings came uppermost. After the news of the bank's failure nothing would surprise her now in the way of calamity. What could this grave, dignified looking man want with them? Her eyes filled.

"Is it bad news?" she faltered.

"Oh, dear, no," answered Mr. Hawkes genially.

"Well, is it good news?" queried Alaric.

"In a measure," said the lawyer.

"Then, for heaven's sake, get at it. You've got me all clammy. We could do with a little good news. Wait a minute! Is it by any chance about the bank?"

"No," replied Mr. Hawkes. He cleared his throat and said solemnly and impressively to Mrs. Chichester:

"It is about your late brother, Nathaniel Kingsnorth."

"Late!" cried Mrs. Chichester. "Is Nathaniel dead?"

"Yes, madam," said Hawkes gravely. "He died ten days ago."

Mrs. Chichester sat down and silently wept. Nathaniel to have died without her being with him to comfort him and arrange things with him! It was most unfortunate.

"Poor old Nat," Alaric said. "Eh, Ethel?"

"Never saw him," answered Ethel, her face and voice totally without emotion.

"You say he died ten days ago?" asked Mrs. Chichester.

Mr. Hawkes bowed.

"Why was I not informed? The funeral"—

"There was no funeral," replied Mr. Hawkes.

"No funeral?" said Alaric in astonishment.

"No," replied the lawyer. "In obedience to his written wishes he was cremated, and no one was present except the chief executor and myself."

DANCING FROCK FOR A LITTLE MAID.

"Fairy-like in daintiness" would be a descriptive phrase to apply to this party frock of white tulle and lace. The entire frock is white, but has a crushed girdle of blue satin, the bow at the center front held by pink roses. The tunic and over blouse of white tulle are bound with white silk in scallop outline. The under-blouse and sleeves are of shadow lace, the sleeves bound by double frills of blue satin ribbon. The underskirt is of white silk.

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

Are women unjustly deprived of the vote? Do they want the vote? Would they use it if they had it? These are the questions to be answered: for, if woman suffrage means anything, it means a sweeping social change, and is not to be decided by the generalities of a theory, nor from a mistaken notion of chivalry.

We hear much about the women who want to vote, but in all this discussion, while there is vague talk of democracy and municipal housekeeping, we have from these women who seek by the votes of women to improve existing conditions, no contribution to these discussions which deal with the fundamentals of government. The stability of government rests on a relentless enforcement of law, a sound fiscal policy, international relations which give room for progress at home. What contribution to tariff discussion, to fiscal policy, to banks and banking, to international relations with their various complications do we hear from suffrage platform? Pure milk and clean streets are not the whole of government; they are a most desirable part of our civic order, but if the financial resources are sapped, if the government is weakened by emotional legislation, all records of welfare and reform legislation, lacking the means to put them into operation, are not worth the paper on which they are written.

All this agitation for the ballot takes the proper attention away from the only direction from which permanent relief can come—the elevation of the standard of individual point from which permanent relief can never come—the ballot box, and is limited along the lines where the voter, the lawmaker, must be strong. In all departments where the laws are to be applied and enforced, woman's nature forbids her entrance. The casting of the ballot is the signing of a contract, which implies vast responsibility and tireless attention. It is the following of a ballot to its last conclusion that makes the body politic sound. The ambitious suffragist, if given her ballot, will have many a municipality to cleanse, many a fire to fight, many a street to police, many a prison to order, many a gambling den to raid, many a battle to win. This, and no other, can be equal suffrage—a fair field with favor to none—but it would be a brutal interpretation of woman's rights to insist that the mother of the race shall forfeit her rights and exemptions before the law and in civic life and enter into competition with men. Formerly, the only right of woman was the right to live. Gradually, our statutes have recognized woman's civil and legal rights, until today, the United States, under the statutes of many States, gives woman a distinct advantage over men before the law. Educational oportunities, the professions and the trades are open to her. She has the right and oportunity to make the most of herself. Her citizenship is as real as man's.

Everyone welcomes the opportunity of women to earn her livelihood, but the State cannot afford to drive its women into industry, if thereby the State loses woman's highest efficiency as a citizen. After two generations of more or less thoughtless exploitation of women as wage-earners, we are beginning to see that the woman goes into industry to meet all the hardships and problems of the workng man and takes with her the handicap of her sex, of her lower physical and nervous vitality.

The working woman has grave economic and industrial questions to be settled, many of which arise from the fact that one-third of their number are under voting age, but in determining the issues of woman suffrage, the form of legislation must be for the average woman of voting age. Only one-fifth of the women of voting age are gainfully employed; the remaining four-fifths are worthily employed in old-fashioned occupations. Already we see a reaction toward home and family life which shall take the place of the present agitation against the so-called sacrifice and narrowness of woman's sphere.

An electorate of men has created the best body of remedial and protective legislation for the working women in response to the need of such legisltion made manifest by economic and industrial conditions. It has yet to be shown that woman electors as a body in any one State have evolved policies unnown to any other single non-suffrage State, and distinct from the normal trend of present-day progress in which men and women play their part. Not until such showing can be made should the ballot be given women as a means of social efficiency.

If we are to believe the statistics from officials in suffrage States, the woman's vote tends to increase the number of stay-at-home voters. The San Francisco Chronicle of December, 61914, asserts that "In this State women refuse to accept the obligation which, at their reequest, has beenimposed upon them, or to discharge the resulting duties." In Boston last December less than 4,000 out of a possible 200,000 women cast their school votes for school committees. Do women want the vote or to talk about voting? In Chicago, in November, 1914, only about 20 per cent. of the women eligible to vote used the newly won and much advertised ballot for women, although they had this opportunity to vote for officials who administer "municipal housekeeping." Senator Root warns us that "no system of self-government will continue successfully unless the voters have sufficient public spirit to perform their own duty at the polls."

It is true that Western States have adopted woman suffrage—but they have been led astray before this by other "isms"—populism, free silverism, and Mormonism. The two latest to adopt woman suffrage were Nevada and Montana, the "wettest" States in the Union. Nevada has two-thirds the population of Paterson. Montana's population is approximately that of the city of Newark. Jersey City has 63,000 more than all of Arizona, and has three and one-fourth times the population of Nevada.

New Jersey itself, while it ranks as forty-fifth in area, has a population equal to the combined populations of Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, Arizona, Oregon and Nevada.

The combined majority for woman suffrage in Nevada and Montana was less than 8,000 (7,392)—in the five State which defeated woman suffrage on the same day the combined major was 354,168. In the States where the social structure has the complexity of mature conditions, woman suffrage has been defeated; Ohio in 1914 gave a majority of 182,000 against woman suffrage—an increase of 95,000 over Ohio's vote in 1912—while Michigan in 1913 increased its former adverse majority by 92,000.

Woman suffrage is not coming, it is going!

It can't come out right, for it started wrong—on a basis of sex antagonism. Women are not a class—they are a sex—in a healthy state there can be no rivalry between men and women. This agitation for woman's participation in government tends to develop mutual defiance where there should be mutual trust, confidence and affection.

All over this country of ours there are women who, because of their unusual abilities, are exceptional women. Released by personal circumstances from the duties of the normal woman, they are doing splendid constructive work. The work is done with precision and excellence in proportion as these women keep away from political affiliations. They now have no personal political ambition to gratify; their service is rendered for the public good. An increasing number of these women on boards of public administration in undertakings which are akin to the home—work for schools, libraries, hospitals, institutions for the dependent and defective—are giving the most compelling answer to the claim of the suffragists that all women must vote in order to serve the State efficiently.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"It certainly does seem queer to see you in a shack like this, Josephine Crawley. I have never been able to imagine you without a background of elegance," and Mrs. Marshall gazed around the crude home constructed of rough boards covered with building paper.

"I get pretty doleful sometimes, I must say, when Geoffrey is working on a surveying job that takes him away at sun-up and keeps him till night," and Mrs. Crawley smiled somewhat dismally.

"I'll tell you what, Gertrude," said Mrs. Marshall, looking at her sister, "let's take Jo back with us to Denver for a month of civilization. There are three or four of the girls coming on to the convention. What do you say, Jo? You surely need the change; you are so thin and you are looking old," she added impressively.

"But Geoffrey!" began Jo.

"I'll arrange everything with him, my dear. He'll surely be glad of your having a chance to see so many of your old friends," interrupted the visitors.

"I know, but if it is dreadful for two of us, think what it would be for one." Mrs. Crawley gazed off across the rolling sage brush to the line of snow-covered mountains eighty miles away.

"It's easier for Geoffrey. He's away with men and his mind is occupied with the big irrigating system he is superintending. You are here alone. You will be enough better company to pay for the loneliness when we get you chirked up a little."

Of course Geoffrey said "go." His heart had smitten him often when he thought of the sacrifice his bride was making to be with him. He was so rushed with work that he could not go to the train, but he saw the three women onto the stage that would take them across the Snake river to the mushroom town on the railroad.

"Goodby, dear; have a good time," he called as the stage drove away.

Jo looked at the upstanding figure in the khaki suit until a turn in the road hid him from sight.

When they were in the waiting room at the station she said: "Girls, I know you will laugh at me, but I can't go. I have a strange presentiment of trouble. I should not enjoy one minute of the trip, leaving Geoffrey to face this solitude alone," and neither ridicule nor coaxing could change her mind. She returned home on the stage, arriving about four in the afternoon.

"I have two good hours," she thought. "I'll fix this shack up so Geoffrey won't know it. I'll unpack my trunk and take out such things as I can use and not ruin them. Why haven't I thought of those pennants before? All that college stuff would brighten up this place wonderfully. I have hated it all so cordially I haven't made the most of my material."

She covered the ugly little bare windows with white curtains and there was the blue and gold pennant, the pillows for the couch and the fur rug; all gave it a cozy camping look that was really attractive. The little table was spread with a snowy cloth and she even unpacked some silver. Very appetizing smells arose as the clock hands pointed to six. She peeped from behind the curtains occasionally, but there was no sign of Geoffrey. She wondered what the cavalcade coming up the road meant, and only when it turned up the driveway did she learn that they were carrying someone on a stretcher. Her knees almost gave way under her.

Could it be Geoffrey?

In an instant she was running down the drive. "Tell me! What is it?" she panted.

"Why, Jo! You here?" came in a weak voice from the prostrate figure.

"Tell me what has happened," she repeated breathlessly.

"There was a break in the dam and Crawley was washed down the gorge, where he was working, by the rushing water. He is pretty badly bruised up, and we thought at first one leg might be broken. We telephoned for the doctor from the eating joint. He will be out directly," said one of the chainmen.

"But, Jo, how did you happen to be here? I would not let them send you word. I thought you were off for a change that you needed." The hand he stretched out was badly cut.

"And you planned to lie here alone while I cavorted around in Denver. Oh, Geoffrey! I should never have forgiven myself for going."

By this time they were in the shack, and the men carefully lifted him among the pillows. "I'll hang these wet duds up outside," said one of the men, as they filed out. "We'll be back to see what we can do to help," he called.

"How fine to have you here! Everything is fixed up so homey. It will be a lark to lay off for a few days in a place like this," said Geoffrey.

"Can you eat some of my good supper?" she asked, as she knelt by him, examining his bruises.

"I should say. I'm not sick, just badly bruised and shaken up. Some of your good cooking will fix me up all right," and he smiled as he sighed.

Household Hints

WORTH KNOWING

The white kid tops of babies' shoes usually get shabby from constant cleaning before shoes are worn out. Buy a bottle of tan shoe polish, give the shoes two coats and everyone will think they are new shoes. The shoes will be black patent leather with tan tops instead of white.

To get rid of empty tin cans fill with small pieces of coal and burn in the stove. It will be surprising how easily they are consumed and besides make a remarkable degree of heat. Put in stove when it is full of hot coals.

When you boil ham let it cool in the water in which it is boiled, then skim top off, heat it hot and pour it into cold water. If very strong of smoke, heat the second time and let it get cold. It can be used for lard and no taste will be noticed.

COCOANUT RECIPES

Cocoanuts are not used nearly enough by the average housewife. They are now to be bought, but if out of season the following recipes can be made with desiccated cocoanut:

Cocoanut Pudding—Cream three ounces butter with four tablespoons castor oil, then add yolks of three eggs (beating all the time), three ounces flour and three ounces grated cocoanut. Flavor with a few drops of vanilla, or, if preserved ginger is liked, add two ounces cut up very small. Whisk whites of eggs to a stiff froth and fold lightly into mixture. Put into well buttered mold and steam two hours. Turn out and serve with hot jam or sweet sauce.

Cocoanut Cream — Mix three ounces cornstarch with half pint milk. Put 1¼ pints milk in sauce pan; when boiling, add cornstarch. Let all cook about five minutes, then stir in 1½ ounces butter, one ounce sugar and 1½ ounces grated cocoanut. Color with a little carmine, then pour into wet mold and turn out when cold. Sprinkle with grated cocoanut and decorate with halved glace cherries.

Cocoanut Cheesecakes—Sift one-half pound castor sugar and mix it with one-fourth pound butter, one-half pound grated cocoanut, yolks of two eggs and white of one. Stir until thoroughly mixed, then put into sauce pan and boil 20 minutes. Put into jars and when cold tie down and keep in cool place. Use same as lemon curd.

Cocoanut Cases—Cream six ounces butter with eight ounces sugar and when very light add two tablespoons rosewater. Then stir in lightly eight ounces grated cocoanut and one-half teaspoon nutmeg. Whip whites of three eggs to stiff froth and fold in lightly. Turn into small souffle cases and bake till brown. Serve cold with powdered sugar sprinkled over.

Cocoanut Tarts—Shell a small cocoanut, wash inside, dry well in front of fire and grate as finely as possible. Melt one-half pound loaf sugar in sauce pan with a little water (about two tablespoonfuls), add grated cocoanut and boil five or ten minutes. Leave to get a little cool, then stir in beaten yolks of two eggs and one ounce butter. Flavor with vanilla. Line some patty pans with pastry, fill with the cocoanut, sprinkle with sugar and bake until pastry is cooked.

SIMPLE HOME REMEDIES.

Home-Made Liniment — Equal parts of camphor and coal oil. Take a bottle to the druggist and get ten cents' worth of camphor at a time, then put in the same amount of coal oil. This amount will last quite a while. Can be used freely; good for rheumatism, stiff joints or bruises.

Ringworm—Sweet cream and gunpowder mixed is a cure for ringworm. Apply freely and several

Animal Jingles

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

BY ALICE CREW GALL

The Discontented Collie Dog.

A Collie Dog named Rover, who lived upon a farm,
Was grumbling to himself one summer day.
Said he: "It is a shame the way my master makes me work;
I think I lead a dog's life anyway.

"I have to get us early and tend the stupid sheep;
I really wish I were the family Cat,
For she has nothing in the world to do but eat and sleep;
No wonder that she is so sleek and fat."

And as he sat and grumbled a Fairy passed that way;
Heard him complain, and touched him with her wand.
Said she: "Since it's your wish, I'll let you be a Cat today,
Though why you want, I do not understand."

And sure enough that Collie Dog was changed into a Cat,
With fur of gray and white, and whiskers neat.
He said: "I think that I will just lie down upon the mat,
And sleep until it's time for me to eat."

Before he'd finished speaking, a Collie friend of his
Came by and saw the Cat out in the sun.
He never cared for Cats, and so he said: "Ah, ha! here is A Cat; I think I'll chase it just for fun."

Of course the Cat was frightened and started in to run,
Because that was the only thing to do;
He couldn't bark and make a fuss, the way he'd always done;
The only noise that he could make was "Mew."

"If ever I get out of this," he said, "I'll not complain;
I will be glad to go and tend the sheep."
And as he spoke he found he was a Collie Dog again.
He yawned and said, "I must have been asleep."

And as he trotted off he said: "I'll never ask, I vow,
To change my lot; for if I do I'll rue it.
I really have a very pleasant life, and anyhow
If there's any barking done I want to do it!"

THE big ocean liners carry life boats and anchors and life preservers.

They don't need them on every trip they make.

They may not need them once in ten years.

They may never need them at all.

But they all have them—have to have them—and consider the money spent on them money well invested.

No man would trust himself on a ship that didn't carry such things.

Yet men agree to carry the burden of family comfort on the sea of life and some men fail to carry the protection life insurance provides.

PERMANENT PROSPERITY

is based upon the saving habits of the individual. The man who has no real conception of thrift may make a fortune but he is quite likely to lose it, whereas there are many people in affluence today who attribute their success to their ability to save systematically.

It is to encourage this kind of thrift that the Plainfield Trust Company conducts a Special Department in which 4% compound interest is paid. An account opened before the fourth of any month will draw interest from the first.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing and further more, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jads Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

FOUR WOMEN FROM PLAINFIELD AND VICINITY TO VISIT PANAMA FAIR AS GUESTS OF DAILY PRESS

Trip Across Continent Will Include Visits to Scores of Points of Interest in United States, Including Grand Canyon of Colorado—Trip to be Taken on Special Train, Under Auspices of Thomas Cook and Sons.

Every woman has, some time in her life, dreamed of taking a trans-continental tour. Perhaps she has not been able to save enough money for the trip. Maybe she did not want to go alone. Possibly she feared inconveniences in strange places and customs. Then, again, maybe she "never found the time." But without doubt she has often dreamed of such a trip and wished fortune might arrange it for her. Well, fortune has arrived; its other name is the Plainfield Daily Press.

Here It Is.

Next summer, about July 3, when the sun is beating down upon New Jersey, when the bricks in the buildings are scorching, when the roads are clouds of dust and the breeze is a heated breath, the Daily Press is going to send four women of Plainfield and vicinity, by special train, on a personally conducted trans-continental tour, taking in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco and the Exposition at San Diego, combining pleasure with education. Now just let this sink in—trans-continental tour.

Four women, two from Plainfield and one from outside of Plainfield, with a chaperon, who will be selected by one of the party, will be on a special train speeding through the most beautiful sections of America, taking in the American Rockies, the Grand Canyon of the Colorado in Arizona, the Garden of the Gods, the Royal Gorge in Colorado, the Big Trees in California, the Old Missions, the Orange Groves, Salt Lake City, Denver, San Francisco and the Panama-Pacific Exposition—the greatest the world has ever seen and which has cost about $50,000,000, San Diego and its Exposition, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, Del Monte, Santa Cruz and many other points of interest, while the Daily Press workers are sweltering at home, making a paper which justifies this enterprise. And all at the expense of the Press and under the direction of Thomas Cook and sons.

Hard to believe it, isn't it? Maybe we are going too fast for you to fully realize just what we have said. Read over the foregoing and dwell for an instant on the statement about one of the party selecting the chaperon.

The Offer.

That is one of the best things about the whole affair, and you must read the full double-page announcement in this issue to learn how nicely the Daily Press has this arranged.

Do you know how long this trip will last? Twenty-three days! Almost a month out of the heated spell. And all cost of travel, carriages, automobiles, even "tips," the bugbear of the tourists, will be paid by this paper.

No woman need fear embarrassment of any sort on this trip, even though she be alone. The conductor of the tour, representing the well-known tourist agency of Thomas Cook and Sons, an experienced individual with broad shoulders, will bear all the trouble burdens; all the tourists will do is to absorb the pleasures.

It reads like a fairy tale, doesn't it? Like putting on a wishing ring or rubbing Aladdin's Lamp or sitting on the Enchanted Rug.

But is isn't a fairy tale. It's an actual fact, as you will soon discover for yourself if you are one of the

DOLLAR DAY WILL BRING FORTH MANY BARGAINS

Third Event of the Kind to Be Held by Plainfield Merchants Tomorrow.

All that is needed to make tomorrow memorable in the history of Plainfield as a merchandising day is fair weather. And even if the weather does happen to be unpleasant, the merchants will not let that interfere with the splendid lot of goods which they will place on sale at unusually reduced prices. Tomorrow will be the Third Dollar Day which has been arranged by the Plainfield Business Men's Association, and the members of that lively organization are planning to make it a day more memorable than the preceding two days.

The first Dollar Day was held just a year ago, and the second was early in September last. At that time the bargains which were offered were so great that people talked about them for weeks afterward. In almost every store it was possible to buy merchandise for less than cost. Two or three of the dealers sold women's dresses that had cost wholesale five and six times the value which was placed upon them at the sale. The days were, in fact, regular carnivals of bargains, and the stores were thronged from morning until night, with hundreds of eager shoppers.

The offerings of the leading merchants of the city will be found listed in the advertising columns of today's paper. The list of those who are participating in the sale will be found in an advertisement of all the merchants combined, which is on page fourteen. Prudent housewives, in these times, will do well to scan the advertisements, and do their shopping in Plainfield tomorrow—Dollar Day.

GREAT INTEREST IN COMING DEBATE

Suffragists and "Antis" Will Clash at High School Thursday Night.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS

State Senator Hennessy and Miss Lucy Price Will Assist in Arguments for and Against Giving the Vote to Women.

With the question of universal suffrage before the voters of several States, including New Jersey and New York, this autumn, interest in the public debate between Suffragists and Anti-Suffragists, to be held in the auditorium of the Plainfield High School next Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Plainfield Democratic Club, has been intensified a thousand-fold. As a matter of fact, so insistent has the demand for seats become that from the present outlook, even standing room promises to be at a premium.

Both the Suffragists and the Anti-Suffragists have entered so wholeheartedly into the spirit of the thing that each has not only mustered the very best debaters at their command, but the array of vice presidents each side has nominated indicates that one of the most representative gatherings Plainfield ever boasted will be assembled when Richard A. Claybrook, president of the Democratic Club and chairman of the meeting, calls the gathering to order. Both the Suffragists and their opponents have called on representatives of the bench, the bar and the cloth to occupy seats on the stage, and each side numbers among its vice presidents women who occupy prominent places

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. LOUISA WILDE

Succumbs to Stroke of Paralysis at Home of Daughter, Mrs. A. C. Wadley.

Mrs. Louisa Wilde, aged 81 years, widow of William Leslie Wilde, died suddenly yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur C. Wadley, 97 Rockview avenue, following a stroke of paralysis. Prior to the attack, Mrs. Wilde had been enjoying excellent health, and her death was a great shock to the family.

Mrs. Wilde was born in New York, and for twenty years resided at Stamford, Conn., where her husband died in 1909. She was a Baptist and a devout Christian. She came to Plainfield last September to make her home with her daughter, and had been particularly active for one of her years.

There survives a daughter, Mrs. Wadley, and one sister, Mrs. Julia Traver, of Stamford, Conn. The funeral, which will be private, will be held at the late home tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock, and will be in charge of Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, of which Mrs. Wadley was a member. The burial will be in Cypress Hills cemetery, Brooklyn, and Rev. Dr. Rivington Lord, a former pastor of Mrs. Wilde, will officiate at the grave.

RICHARD E. SEAMAN DIES IN SEVENTY-FOURTH YEAR

Richard E. Seaman, who left Plainfield about fifteen years ago, after a long residence here, died Friday at his home in Bath, New York. He was seventy-four years old and a carriage painter by trade. He was employed for a long time by L. M. French and other local concerns. When Mr. Seaman left Plainfield he located at Rockville Centre, Long Island, but went from there a year ago to Bath. He was a veteran of the Civil War, having enlisted in a New York regiment.

Mr. Seaman is survived by one son, Warren Seaman, of Philadelphia, and two daughters, Mrs. Lester Hamilton, of the borough, and Mrs. Blanche Seaman Dalton of Brooklyn. He was a member of Miantonomo Tribe of Red Men. The funeral will be held at his late home in Bath, tomorrow, at 1:30 o'clock. Burial will be in that city.

SUFFRAGISTS WIN SPIRITED DEBATE

Feature of State Conference of Y. P. A. of W. C. T. U. Held Here.

GOLD MEDAL CONTEST

Miss Mabel Hearn, Aged 13 Years, Wins Honors From Eight Contestans—Elizabeth Delegates Present Interesting Dialogue.

Features of the annual State conference of the Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U., held at the First Baptist church yesterday, included a Suffrage debate in the afternoon between the Elizabeth and Plainfield representatives, the former taking the affirmative and the latter the negative. It was left for the audience to make a decision and the affirmative side was given an overwhelming victory.

In the evening there was a gold medal speaking contest which was won by Miss Mabel Hearon, aged 13 years, of Cranford. Her subject was "The Man of the Hour." There were eight contestants, all previously winning silver medals in similar affairs.

The conference was largely attended, there being representatives present from Montclair, Matawan, Asbury Park, Elizabeth, Burlington, Bergen Point and this city, and it was considered one of the most successful in the history of the organization.

The morning service was in charge of Mrs. T. C. Bodine, and the devotional exercises were followed with addresses of welcome by Mrs. Mary D. Tomlinson, county superintendent of the W. C. T. U.; Robert Barnes Butler, president of the Tomlinson Y, and Miss Nellie K. Foote, of Elizabeth. The rest of the morning session was devoted to discussions, Mr. Butler leading an interesting one on "How Can We Use the Social to Educate Public Opinion?" Miss Lutz conducted a discussion on "How to Make Y. P. B. Meetings a Force for Good."

The greater part of the afternoon was taken up by the Suffrage debate, which proved to be very instructive and at times amusing. Then followed a parliamentary drill conducted by Mrs. Tomlinson. Many of the delegates took part. An interesting question box was conducted and the members of the Elizabeth Y. P. B. gave a dialogue and tableau entitled "National Constitutional Prohibition."

The gold medal speaking contest in the evening was in charge of Mrs. Blythe Currie. There were eight contestants, including Howard Parry, of this city. It was decided to hold the next annual conference at Matawan a year hence. Between the afternoon and evening sessions supper was served by the local branch.

DEATH OF MRS. J. A. BRIANT, AGED 95

Recent Accident Results Fatally to Aged Plainfield Woman.

Mrs. Margaret Briant, widow of John A. Briant, aged 95 years, died at her home on New street, yesterday, death being due to a shock following a fall two weeks ago, when she fractured her hip. Owing to her advanced age it was found impossible to set the bone and Mrs. Briant failed rapidly after the accident.

Mrs. Briant, whose maiden name was Margaret Reamer, was born near Bound Brook. She was first married to Jonathan Randolph, of South Plainfield, who died nearly fifty years ago. Later she married John A. Briant, who at that time was an undertaker in Newark. He died several years ago. After her second marriage, Mrs. Briant came to Plainfield to live. That was about twenty years ago. She was a life-long member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

After the death of her second husband, Mrs. Briant made her home with a step-daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mary Randolph, who recently celebrated her seventieth birthday anniversary and she is the only living relative.

The funeral will be held at the late home, 164 New street, tomorrow afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

Local Attorney Has Unpaid Bills Against Pierce Totaling $800—Station Agent Removed—New Developments Expected.

Further revelations in New Market's mystery, the disappearance of Herbert L. Pierce, are expected this afternoon or tomorrow morning, creditors of the prominent young swain having become convinced that they have lost sums varying from $80 to several hundred dollars. William Newcorn, of this city, has been retained as attorney for a number of creditors, and on one claim, that of Chase & Sandborn, wholesale grocers, he placed an attachment on the New Market store, Saturday afternoon. This was for $174.30. The aggregate of Mr. Newcorn's claims is $800.

Harry R. Hall, treasurer of the New Market Roller Mills Company, of which Pierce was president, had promised to make a statement this morning, but when sought by a Daily Press reporter, it was stated that he was in Jersey City.

George Bieler, a former clerk in the employ of Pierce, who has more recently acted as station agent at the Lehigh Valley depot at New Market, was relieved of his duties this morning, and J. H. Heaney, from the superintendent's office at Easton, Pa., was in temporary charge. The grocery store of Pierce is still closed.

Pierce was a large stockholder in the mills, which has a capitalization of $50,000. It was rumored in various quarters this morning that creditors would make application for the appointment of a receiver, but up to noon nothing had been done along this line.

BISHOP GREER IS HEARD BY MANY

Distinguished Minister Delivers Strong Sermon at Grace Church.

The Right Reverend David H. Greer, Bishop of New York, was the special Lenten preacher at Grace church, Sunday morning, the distinguished speaker being heard by an unusually large congregation. The service was a beautiful and impressive one throughout. Bishop Greer, in his brief discourse, emphasized the fact that the world must be won to Christianity through the moral force of Christ; that it will never be accomplished through physical force.

He deplored the fact that criminals are manufactured and then punished for their crime, and he added that it is only the power of Christ that will change these conditions and win men to Christ, and thus will the world be made better. The Bishop also deeply regretted the awful conflict now going on among foreign nations, and questioned the ultimate success of the war in determining rights which are being sought by the countries now at war.

The preacher pointed his hearers to Christ, who alone is able to bring lasting peace and joy to the world and his people. The discourse was listened to with deep interest by all present. Bishop Greer is the first of several prominent preachers to be heard at Grace church during the Lenten season.

S. P. C. A. MEETING.

The monthly meeting of the S. P. C. A. was held in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon when the officers of the society made reports. The subject of providing permanent means for the disposal of cats and dogs was discussed at length and a committee was appointed to look into the matter and report at the next meeting.

HAMLET NOT INSANE, BUT LACKED BACKBONE

So Declared Frederick Pauldin in Recital in Columbus Club.

A large audience of Shakespeare lovers greeted Frederick Pauldin, the actor, who gave a recital of "Hamlet" in the Columbus Club auditorium last night. Mr. Pauldin is widely known, having been an associate of Booth, Barrett, Mansfield and Margaret Mather, in Shakespearean plays. Mr. Pauldin urged the reading of Shakespeare's works and gave a short talk on the play and the reality of Hamlet and its appeal to all that is best in humanity. Hamlet is the longest of Shakespeare's works, having 300,900 lines, and its first production in English was in 1608. He urged a student beginning the study of Hamlet to read the story of the play through first, preferably by Lamb, and then take the play for its acting and study. Mr. Pauldin held the attention of his listeners throughout the evening in a most remarkable manner.

"Without the Spirit of God nothing could be accomplished, and that is what Shakespeare had and what makes his works live," said Mr. Pauldin. He impressed two points on the minds of those present in order to bring a proper comprehension of the play, first, that Hamlet was a man, and second, he actually saw the ghost. "Hamlet was not insane, but lacked the mental backbone to realize he was a negative character and all through the play, in his famous speeches, is evidenced the struggle of the Christian soul against murder," said the entertainer.

The speech of Polinius to his son was delivered in fine style. "The mental soliloquy on life and death, the greatest lesson against suicide and despair that was ever written, the absolute modernness of Shakespeare was shown in Hamlet's speech to the actors, in the third act of the play," said Mr. Pauldin. As a result of the recital last night, a substantial sum was realized for local charity.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY GATHERS AT NEWARK

Officers Are Elected at Annual Meeting Following Able Addresses.

Five members of the St. Mary's Holy Name Society, appointed by Father B. M. Bogan, attended the sixth annual convention of the Newark Diocesan Federation of the Holy Name in the St. Rose of Lima auditorium, at that place, yesterday, when combative measures against anti-Catholic agitation throughout this country and against prosecution of members of the Roman Catholic faith were discussed. The federation also took a stand against so-called modern plays of a kind that make an appeal to sensuality and against such motion-picture dramas which threaten to undermine religious faith. The convention also took up the subject of suitable literature for the youth and prepared a resolution charging the legislative committee with the duty to prepare a measure providing for a censorship of all literature handled by public libraries.

Those who attended the meeting from this city were Paul H. Burns, president of the local society; Daniel Couraine, president of the Union County Federation of Holy Name Societies; John J. Hines, Albert LaRock and Thomas McCue.

Excise conditions in Elizabeth, and particularly Elizabethport, were criticised as deplorable in the report of the Union county division, whose members, the report stated, had so far vainly striven to have these conditions remedied.

An appeal to President Wilson, which took the shape of a resolution, was directed against the "Menace" and "similar publications" using the mails for "scurrilous attacks against the Roman Catholic Church." The resolution calls upon the President to prohibit the circulation of such papers through the mails and asks that the attorney-general's department be directed to co-operate with the postmaster-general in such measures as may be necessary.

—Tomorrow is the final wind-up of Van Arsdale's "Clear the Track" sale of winter shoes. All discontinued lines and broken sizes of shoes in every department will be sold without regard to their cost, in addition to this, all regular lines of shoes and rubber goods that were not in the sale, a 10% reduction will be given. Positively no low shoes of any sort will be included in this sale.—Adv. ***

CZAR'S CORPS LOST

Austrians Reported to Have Suffered Heavy Losses Including 1,500 Men, 20 Officers and Several Machine Guns.

London, Feb. 23.—A despatch from Petrograd says that the following communication has been given out there: "Fighting continues on the right bank of the Bobr and Narew in isolated engagements. The guns of the fortress were used actively and effectively in the fighting in the Ossowetz district. An the road from Lomza we took the offensive in considerable force in the Przasnysa region. We captured several villages on the road between Racionz and Plonsk, taking 500 German prisoners. Attacks of the enemy on the north bank of the Pilica were repulsed. It has been definitely learned that the Austrians suffered heavy losses north of Zakliczyn in western Galicia, on February 17. The Germans delivered four attacks against the heights of Myto Koziourka on night of February 20, but were driven back. We had carried the hill which was an important part of the enemy's position. We attacked the Austrians south of Stanislau in eastern Galicia and drove back two brigades after a combat in which the bayonet sometimes was used. We took here 1,500 prisoners, including 20 officers and several machine guns."

London, Feb. 23 (Central News Cable.)—Sir John French, in the bi-weekly statement issued today, said: "The enemy's attacks have shown considerable activity near Ypres. The enemy exploded at 6 a. m. Sunday an elaborate series of mines, destroying one of our trenches. A new line prepared a short distance in the rear was immediately occupied. The Germans' further attempts at progress were completely frustrated at Givenchy after the bombardment. We have captured and blown up one of the enemy's trenches south of the Lys. The last few days have witnessed an increasing rifle and artillery fire in which our troops have showed marked superiority."

Berlin, Feb. 23 (By wireless).—The following statement was given out at German headquarters today: "Western theatre—The fortress of Calais was extensively bombarded by German aircraft on the night of Feb. 21-22. The French yesterday renewed with diminished vigor their attacks in Champagne near and north of Perthes. All their efforts to advance broke down under the German artillery fire. Near Aailly and Apremont the French, after a minor success, were driven back into their own positions. In the Vosges, Sattle Kopf, a height north of Muehbach, was stormed and taken by us. Otherwise nothing important occurred on the west front.

"Eastern theatre—New Russian formations hastily assembled tried to advance on Grodno in a northwestern direction, but their attempt failed. The Russian losses were terrific. The number of guns captured in the battle of the Mazurin lake district has been increased to more than 300, among which there are 18 of heavy calibre. On the Vistula, east of Plock, the Germans have advanced further in the direction of Wyszbrob. In Poland, south of the Vistula, a Russian division advancing on the German position near the Rawka has been repulsed."

Paris, Feb. 23.—The French War Office this afternoon gave out the following statement: "The bombardment of Rheims, which was reported last night, has been extremely violent. The first bombardment lasted six hours and the second five hours. Fifteen hundred shells have been thrown up on all quarters of the city. That in which the cathedral is located has suffered severely. Its whole interior has been smashed. Twenty houses have been burned and 20 civilians killed."

London, Feb. 23.—The Russian Tenth army, which, according to an official report made by Grand Duke Nicholas, the Russian commander-in-chief in the field, is minus one of its corps as a result of the last big battle in east Prussia, now stands at bay along the line of the Narew, Bobr and Niemen rivers, within Russian territory.

The latest Russian official communication relates numerous isolated engagements in this region, which may mean that a counter offensive is now in progress, but of this there is no confirmation.

JOHN ALBERTI A STUDENT ON U. S. TRAINING SHIP

Jacob Alberti, of Hudson, N. Y., who is a student on the old gunboat Newport, which is employed as a training ship by the New York State Nautical School, spent the week-end and holiday in the borough as the guest of his uncle, George Zink, of North avenue. The Newport is stationed in the East River, at the foot of Twenty-fourth street, New York city. There are at present 160 students aboard her taking various courses. Mr. Alberti is taking a course in electrical engineering. The students are also instructed in seamanship. A long cruise is taken by the boat every year. This year it had been planned to cross the Atlantic to Europe, but the present war has made this inadvisable and a cruise will be taken through the Panama Canal to the Hawaiian Islands and the Pacific coast instead.

The Newport is scheduled to dock in San Francisco in July in time to participate in certain ceremonies in connection with the New York State building on the exposition grounds. Governor Whitman, of New York, will be there at the time. During the ship's stay at San Francisco its students will participate in various types of water races and feats with the students of a similar type of training ship of the State of Massachusetts.

From time to time for years past Mr. Cameron has been suffering from an illness which has returned, and he takes the trip across the continent upon the advice of his physician with the hope that he will be greatly benefitted. Mr. Cameron plans to be gone six weeks. While on the Pacific coast it is his intention to visit Rev. W. W. Casselberry, a former pastor of the Presbyterian church, who is located at Red Lands. He will also visit the Panama Exhibition at San Francisco.

TO GIVE MINSTREL SHOW.

The date of the "Darktown Minstrel College" show, to be given by the Dunellen Dramatic Club in the local theatre, has been decided upon as Wednesday evening, March 17. Rehearsals for the minstrels have been held for sometime under the direction of Prof. Charles Cregar, of Plainfield, and Ford Eckerson, proprietor of the theatre, thus insuring that all the parts are to be well taken. The tickets will shortly be ready for sale. The purchasers of these tickets will be entitled to participate in the dance, which is to be given after the show.

RETURN HOME.

Mrs. Thomas McGuire and children, of California, who have been visiting Mrs. McGuire's mother, Mrs. Helen Brakeley, of Front street, since the holidays, started for home this morning. They were to have terminated their visit three Fridays or so ago, but Mrs. McGuire was taken ill and obliged to submit to an operation.

ENGINE DISABLED.

SUICIDE VICTIM'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Bert Moskosky, 50 years old, who committed suicide by shooting himself at his home on Bound Brook road, New Market, at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, was held at 10 o'clock this morning from 323 North avenue, this place. Interment was at South Plainfield. As far as can be learned, the deed took place as a result of Moskosky, who was a Hungarian and employed by the Levgar Structural Company, being out of work as a result of slack times. He is said to have quarreled with his wife before taking his life.

MRS. HANSEN SURPRISED.

Mrs. Christian Hansen, of Dewey Park, was tendered a surprise party Saturday evening, in honor of her fifty-fifth birthday. The surprise was arranged by Mrs. Elmer Doty. Fifty guests or more were present from the immediate vicinity.

CARL F. BUSCH.

Carl F. Busch, aged 27 years, who has resided with his sister, Mrs. Augustus Lemble, of South avenue, near Dewey Park, for the past three years, died at 7 o'clock Sunday evening, after an illness of only four days with pleuro-pneumonia. The deceased was employed by the Levgar Structural Company. The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the late home.

SCOUT MEETING.

Columbia Troop of Boy Scouts held a meeting Sunday afternoon, in the rectory of St. John's parish. Nineteen scouts were present. Scoutmaster Edward Gray, Jr., delivered a short address on the good work that is being done by the Boy Scouts throughout the country and expressed gratification over the way that the members of his troop were helping this good work along. Among other business was the decision to take a hike Saturday to Bonnie Burn sanatorium.

The condition of Mrs. J. W. Moynihan, who is critically ill as a result of a stroke, showed no improvement this morning. Her family is hopeful and that is all.

Mrs. George W. Churchill, of Washington avenue, who is critically ill with pneumonia and kidney trouble, was not quite so well this morning, and the family is entertaining grave fears.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Notices have been placed in prominent places in the borough notifying the residents that the dog ordinance passed at the last meeting of the Council will go into effect on April 1, one month sooner than at first planned for. After that date it will be necessary for those persons harboring a dog for a period of fifteen days to take out a license for the canine at the rate of $1 for males and $2 for females, besides 25 cents for the tag to be fastened on the animal's collar.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lidgate, of North avenue, entertained Miss Alice Hall, of Whitehouse, over the week-end.

A meeting of Boy Scout patrols Nos. 1 and 2 will be held in the lecture room of the Baptist church tonight. The date for the scout exhibit and lecture will be decided on, and practice in signalling, fence building and other things will be indulged in by the scouts in preparation for the exhibit. It is expected that the Rev. J. Madison Hare will deliver the lecture.

the Tuesday Afternoon Literary Club is being held this afternoon.

Contractor Ostlan, of Richmond Hill, N. Y., will begin the erection on March 1 of a house on Watson road, the borough, for H. C. Lockwood & Co. This is probably the forerunner of the building boom to be experienced during the coming summer, as the building of several other dwellings is scheduled to start about that date.

Walter I Sands was tendered a farewell party at his home on South avenue last week by about twenty of his friends. Mr. Sands will leave shortly to take charge of a large electric plant at Coney Island, which supplies power to many of the large pleasure resorts on the island.

The weeekly meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon Bridge Club is scheduled for this afternoon.

W. K. Woodbridge, of Paterson road, is on a business trip through the South.

At the meeting of the executive board of the Fanwood Township Sunday-school Association held in the lecture room of the Baptist church on Saturday night it was decided to hold a community religious canvass. All of the churches in the township are represented in the association, and will all take part in the canvass. Another meeting of the executive board will be held in the Baptist church on the evening of March 8, at which time volunteers from all of the churches will be present, and receive instructions, and the date for the canvass to start will also be decided on.

Pamphlets were distributed throughout the borough yesterday containing the financial standing of the borough for the year ending December 31, similar to what was published in these columns some time ago.

Harold Stevens has returned to his home in Flatbush after visiting his aunt, Mrs. J. C. Schenck, of Martine avenue.

Seely's paper mills are now working five days a week, closing down on Wednesdays, which is practically full time.

UNION FREEHOLDERS NOT TO BUY FARM

Rejects Recommendation to Purchase Tract Adjoining Bonnie Burn.

After a long debate behind closed doors, this morning, the Union county Board of Freeholders rejected the recommendation of its building and grounds committee to purchase the Dixon farm at Berkeley Heights, a tract of 135 acres adjoining Bonnie Burn. It was announced some time ago that the property would be sold, and the freeholders had the placed looked over with the idea of buying it in the event of enlarging the sanatorium. An expert's appraisal places a value of about $16,000.

The committee was firmly con- that the place should be secured, but after the board had discussed the proposition from every point of view, it was decided that it would be of no special advantage to purchase the property at this time. The farm will be sold this afternoon by Will- B. Steele, of Jersey City, a master in Chancery. A foreclosure has been made, but the sheriff of either Somerset or Union counties has no jurisdiction, because it lies in both places. The present owner is given as Mrs. Marion L. Heath.

"BLAZED TRAIL" FEATURE OF BOY SCOUT HIKE

The members of Troop 5, B. S. of A., enjoyed one of the best hikes they have ever held yesterday. An early start was made from the First Presbyterian church and four of the scouts, Harold and Louis Zeek, Harold McKay and Harold Harrigan, were chosen to make a blazed trail over the mountain. They were given an eight minute lead and were caught by the rest of the scouts on top of the mountain near the Hyde mansion.

The entire party then struck out westward and landed near Smalley's quarry, where lunch was had. One of the lookouts, Clair Higgins, reported a fire in the woods and the party immediately went to assist.

HOPE CHAPEL BOY SCOUTS ENJOY ALL DAY OUTING

Troop 12, Boy Scouts of America, of Hope chapel, took a hike across the Watchung Mountains, yesterday, which was a very instructive outing for the members. They were given instruction in bridge building and there was also a hill climbing contest.

Patrol Leader Glaentzer won first prize for climbing a 75 foot 80 degree grade in one minute and fifteen seconds. Scout Peterson won first place on a 75 degree grade. The second class examination was passed by Leaders Glaentzer and Rimmer and Scouts J. Peterson, G. Peterson, Webber and Coffee. The exam consisted of cooking, first aid work, use of knife and hatchet, signalling and use of compass.

PENSION EXTRAVAGANCES.

There is not a citizen of the United States who does not want to see every real veteran of the Civil War protected from need in his old age by the pension system. But it is a terrible indictment of the abuse of the pension system that Burton J. Hendrick presents in the current issue of the Worlds Work. He shows that the United States, with its notoriously small and inadequate army, spends more on pensions than all the great military establishments of Europe put together. Taking our annual budget for military purposes, it appears that we are the most militaristic nation in the world. We spend on the Army and Navy, including pensions, more than half of our national revenue. Our expenditures, exclusive of the postoffice—which need not be considered, since this appropriation is reimbursed by postal receipts—amount to about $750,000,000 a year. Of this the items for Army, Navy and military pensions amount to about $456,000,000—much more than half.

Prussian militarism shows nothing comparable to that: on the other hand, Germany gets something for her expenditures, while a considerable part of ours goes to the account of a war that ended fifty years ago. Up to 1912, when the new army law went into effect, Germany was spending about $200,000,000 a year on her military establishment. American expenditures for the Army, including pensions, amounted to more than $300,000,000. That is, based on expenditures, we are more militaristic than Germany.

In Europe every workman is said to carry a soldier on his back; in the United States he must carry at least two. We pay these enormous taxes for about 75,000 men; Germany gets a peace army of 800,000 men and a war footing of several millions.

The merchants of Plainfield will tomorrow set forth another array of bargains similar to that which has been shown at the two previous Dollar Days. The plan has developed into one of the greatest merchandising features that the city has known, and credit for it is due to the Plainfield Business Men's Association, an organization which numbers among its membership the heads of the leading houses of the city. Plainfield stores offer as much to the average buyer as do those of any other city in the United States, regardless of size. Those in charge of them are local people, bent upon retaining the patronage and good will of their "home town folks." If by any chance a reader of this article may have been in the habit of buying elsewhere, we urge him or her to try the Plainfield stores tomorrow. It will be found that a dollar bill will go further than it ever went before.

There are to be no losers in the circulation contest which the Daily Press begins today. In the past the only objectionable feature of similar affairs which have been successfully conducted by this paper, has been the failure on the part of some who have worked hard in our interest to get any reward for their effort. This time, in addition to sending the three highest vote getters and a chaperone to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco, the management has arranged to give cash commissions to all who may compete, but are not among the winners of awards. The trips offered include visits to the beauty spots of the United States, with the Exposition as the ultimate goal, the entire trip to be under the direct supervision of Thomas Cook and Sons, whose fame as tourist agents assures the success of the outing before it starts.

Commission Government for the State of Colorado is the purpose of a bill introduced in the Legislature of that State by Representative J. J. O'Rourke, of Pagosa Springs. According to the provisions of the measure all present State offices, departments and branches will be abolished and in their stead will be created a commission of three members who shall have charge of all executive and administrative affairs of the State government, and a legislative body of seven. Each of the seven legislative officers, the bill provides shall be elected from one of the seven districts into which the State is to be divided. A Governor, attorney general and one other administrative officer would compose the State commission, all to be elected.

The latest Republican gubernatorial boom for 1916 is that of Senator William W. Smalley, of Somerset county. The Senator has proven that he has all the qualifications to make a successful chief executive but just wait until Plainfield and the people of the Fifth Congressional district get behind Republican Assembly Leader William N. Runyon and none of the others will have a look-in.

The Asbury Park Press says that one of the attractions of the resort just now is to watch English war ships stopping merchant vessels outside the three-mile limit. That story has the famous sea serpent yarn beaten to a frazzle.

When all the other cities in the East are vieing with each other to get Billy Sunday, its surprising that a movement has not been started to bring him to Plainfield.

We have had ideal spring weather recently, but it does not follow that winter is gone. Remember March first last year, and the blizzard of 1888.

Because a man is the tenor in the choir, it does not necessarily follow that he cannot be the alto or bass in the band.

Consider the little fellow once in a while—the big fellow doesn't need consideration.

MUSICAL RECITAL.

The final of a series of musical recitals, under the direction of Mrs. McNiell Hopcraft, will be given in the Plainfield High School Auditorium tonight in connection with the closing exercises of the evening schools. An excellent program of vocal and instrumental selections has been arrangeed, and music lovers will be afforded a treat.

"A GREAT SCOTCHMAN" THEME OF DISCOURSE

Members of Clan MacKenzie Hear An Interesting Sermon by Rev. Dr. Herring.

"A Great Scotchman" was the theme of an interesting discourse preached by Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring at the First Presbyterian church, Sunday night, at which time the members of Clan MacKenzie, Order Scottish Clans, attended the service in a body. David Livingston was the man referred to by the preacher. He told how this Scotchman spent the greater part of his life opening the way for Christianity in the wilds of Africa.

Dr. Herring based his remarks on the Scripture text, "The Spirit of the Lord Is Upon Me," Isaiah 61 1. He said that Livingston was one of the greatest men of the human race and possessed wonderful capabilities. He opened one million square miles of wilderness for the furtherance of God's kingdom and refused to leave the country until called by death. Dr. Herring said that the missionary had the true Scotch grit and persistance which was the secret of his success. He had many disappointments, the greatest of which was the loss of his wife soon after arriving at Africa, but he continued his work and opened up the central part of the Dark Continent for those who were to follow in his work. During the service Scotch songs were sung with the old Scotch tunes, and Miss Ruth D. Sadler, soprano soloist, sang "My Ain Countree."

SUPREME COURT DECIDES IN FAVOR OF COMPANY

Trenton, Feb. 23.—The Supreme Court today gave judgment in favor of the Central Railroad Company in the suit brought against it by Celia Trupin, to recover from the company for confiscating a sixty-trip ticket between Plainfield and New York. The evidence showed that the plaintiff had permitted another person to ride upon his ticket, which was against the contract printed thereon. The Supreme Court sustains this contract.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI HOSTS FOR UNDERGRADUATE GHESTS

Members of the Plainfield High School Alumni Association, their friends and a host of undergraduates attended the annual reception in the High School Auditorium, last night, the affair being a thoroughly enjoyable one from every point of view. The graduates acted as hosts, and dancing proved the leading entertainment for the 250 guests. Music was furnished by Van Epp's orchestra.

During the evening a light lunch was served at the High School counters, and the dancing continued until after midnight. The reception served as a reunion gathering for the graduates, and there were representatives present from many classes. The election of officers for the ensuing year, a feature generally promoted at the annual reception, was postponed until a later date.

MANY ENJOYED "PEG O' MY HEART" RECITAL

The auditorium of the Washington School was crowded to its capacity last night, at an entertainment given under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee. The entertainment consisted of a recital of "Peg O' My Heart," by Miss Lillian L. Lamson, one of the supervisors of the Recreation Committee, and a series of interpretative dances by Miss Mildred Brownlee, also a supervisor of the work.

Miss Lamson is an elocutionist of ability, having taken a course in public speaking at Yale University. She took all the parts in "Peg O' My Heart." Miss Brownlee gave three dances, the numbers being "The Dryad," "The Golden Butterfly" and "The Shepherd Boy."

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The five-part feature photoplay, "Wildfire," with Lillian Russell portraying the role which gave her one of her greatest successes on the dramatic stage a few years ago, will be presented at Proctor's Theatre this afternoon and night, and also Thursday afternoon and night. It will be an addtional attraction to the new vaudeville show, which was presented yesterday for the first, and pleased four capacity audiences. The bill is headed by the Four Tornadoes, an acrobatic troupe of three men and one woman, who performed marvelous feats of ground tumbling and shoulder balancing that would thrill the blase vaudevillian. Other numbers on the program are Russell, Cole and Davis, presenting a side-splitting singing and talking skit entitled, "Waiters Wanted;" the the Cavano Duo, classy cabaret entertainers, with an original idea and setting to display the dancing harpist and a slack wire act; Williams and Siegel, singers ad dancers, especially clever with the waltz clog, and Will Dockray, a monologist, whose line of chatter is loaded with laughs. The concluding episode of "The Million Dollar Mystery" will not be shown tomorrow, but at a later date to be announced in these columns. For the remainder of the week, the moving picture features will be as follows: Tomorrow afternoon and night, "Zudora, the $20,000,000 Mystery;" Thursday afternoon and night, "Runaway June" and "Wildfire;" Friday, "The Exploits of Elaine;" Saturday, Charles Chaplin, in another two-reel comedy. All these are in addition to the authentic European war pictures.

SHOWER FOR MISS COHEN.

Miss Edna Cohen, whose engagement to Eugene Meyers, of Newark, was announced recently, was given a linen shower at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cohen, of Putnam avenue, Saturday night. It was arranged by Miss Rae Preger, and was attended by twenty friends from this city, Newark, New York and other places. Miss Cohen received numerous useful gifts. The evening was spent in an informal way, principally with music, after which dinner was served. Mr. Meyers is manager of the Eastern circuit of the Loew's theatres, at the present time being in charge of the new Loew theatre at Newark.

GOING TO FLORIDA.

Former Judge and Mrs. William R. Codington, of Sandford avenue, left Saturday for Florida, where they will spend the remainder of the winter. The trip is being taken for recuperation purposes, as both Mr. and Mrs. Codington have been indisposed for some time.

CO. K FAIR IS IN FULL SWING

Annual Event of Local Militia Offers Many Good Attractions.

"GENERAL GOOD TIME"

Dancing to the Accompaniment of Fine Music and Prize Waltzing Included Among the Many Features.

Company K's annual fair invaded the city, Saturday night, and with that irresistible tramp, tramp, tramp, that quickens the pulse and stirs the blood, captured a large portion of the populace without a struggle. General Good Time was in supreme command, while Captain Charles A. Peterson and a specially selected staff of aides carried out his orders to make certain that everybody enjoyed themselves. The enterprise is now snugly entrenched in the armory on West Front street, where recruits will be welcome all this week.

The yearly undertaking of the local boys in blue always makes a bull's-eye in the popularity target, and this year's effort hit home with the force of a 42-centimeter gun. The attendance at the opening and also last night filled the hall to its capacity, the mobilization including regulars and volunteers, territorials and landstrums, expeditionary forces from the suburbs, red cross nurses and many other representatives from the gentler sex. Dancing was the main attraction, and the corps of door managers were kept busy handling the many couples.

Music was provided by Professor Allen Squier's regimental orchestra. The program of accompaniments for the light fantastic included "Bunny Hugs," "Lame Ducks," "Ball the Jacks," "Tangoes," "Fox Trot" and one of his own invention called "The Rookie's Romp," which will probably prove highly popular around the pump at Sea Girt next summer.

The commissary department is very much in evidence, despite the war prices that are prevailing everywhere. Full rations can be had for the asking, and the charge is only the same that is demanded in times of peace. There is also a soft drink stand which has proven highly popular.

One of the nightly features is a special award which is made to one of the guests. The lucky individual, Saturday night, was Edward Mattell, and last night, Frank Swenson. Another feature is the holding of a prize waltz every night, the best couple being selected for reservation until Friday night, when all the couples selected will contest for a handsome award. This will be in charge of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, which will select the judges, as the Company K boys will be in Trenton, Friday night, taking part in Governor Fielder's regimental review. The armory has been made especially attractive through the lavish use of the national colors, arranged by the company's decorative committee.

Captain Peterson is the presiding head of the fair, and he is being ably assisted by First Sergeant George L. Apgar and Quartermaster-Sergeant Alfred R. Tranchand, together with entire membership of the company. The boys are determined to make their enterprize more successful this year than ever before, as they are working hard for an armory building, and every dollar means a better structure when the State makes the original appropriation.

P. H. S. QUINTET SPRINGS SURPRISE AND TAKES FIRST LEG IN CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

Final Score 28 to 19—Y. M. C. A. Team Outplayed in All Departments — Individualism Mars Contest—Fast Pace Set by Y. M. C. A. and Disadvantage of Weight Told on Schoolboys Near the Finish.

Outweighed on an average of twenty pounds to the man, the Plainfield High School basketball team, Interscholastic League champions, sprang the inevitable in the High School gym, yesterday afternoon, and took the Y. M. C. A. regiment into camp in the first of a series of three games for the city title. The final score was 28 to 19, the schoolboys holding the upper hand from the start, when they bagged a penalty throw.

The contest was featured by poor shooting, members of both teams being guilty of wild throws made from points of vantage directly under the basket. Too much individualism and a disregard for teamplay spelled defeat for the fast-going Association quintet. Time after time the P. H. S. youngsters intercepted long passes engineered by the rival guards and many shots from the middle of the floor went for nothing. "Bill" Peacock, of the winning team, and Jack Ricketts, of the Y. M. C. A. five, were frequent offenders along this line. Peacock's acts of indiscretion were particularly noticeable, and on numerous occasions he shot three-quarters of the length of the floor rather than pass it to a man under the basket. Despite his habit of indulging in long throws, Ricketts was one of the leading factors in the losing side's fight. He was one of the two men who played the entire contest, Moulton being the other one, and this pair proved to be the life of the visiting squad. While both were plainly off form they got in spasms of good basketball and were leaders in the scoring department. Moulton worked at guard in the first period against the P. H. S. captain, and in the second he shifted to forward against Peacock.

In field goals P. H. S. was the leader by a margin of eleven to seven, most of the shots being of the "horseshoe" variety, made from spectacular angles. The forwards were unable to make apparently easy shots count, but turned many "side-swipes" and overhead slams into double-deckers. Bennie Rosenson and MacNamee were leaders in the scoring, the former hanging up a quintet of field goals and the latter getting the same number of tallies from the field and two from the foul line.

The pace set by the rival forces was a gruelling one from the jump-off and for a few minutes in the middle of the final period the schoolboys showed signs of tiring. The visitors immediately took advantage of this let-up and began a fusilade on the basket. The spurt was short-lived, however, for the younger performers soon pulled themselves together and again gained control of the situation. Hard fighting of the slam-bang variety told on the players on both sides and the red and blue forces had the added disadvantage of weight to contend with.

At half time the score favored the High School players by a margin of 13 to 10, but the race had been nip and tuck during the first period and a majority of the spectators looked for a stored-up flash of speed to be launched by the Y. M. C. A. shooters in the final canto. This was not forthcoming, however, being warded off successfully by tight guarding, which featured the work of the schoolboy players. The Y. M. C. A. squad went into the game a popular favorite because of triumphs over several of the fastest independent teams in this section of the State, and the victory of the P. H. S. boys created a general surprise in basketball circles. The second game will be played on the Y. M. C. A. court, where the Association team is almost sure to reverse matters, and a rubber engagement, if necessary, will be staged on a neutral court.

ST. JOSEPH'S TOOK ANOTHER VICTORY

Good Basketball Attraction on T. A. B. Court Last Night.

The St. Joseph's Club won its second consecutive game, last night, on the T. A. B. court, when it defeated a Westfield quintet by a score of 40 to 16. In the first half the home team ran completely away from the visitors, but in the second half the opposing guards held the locals down to a smaller score. A new face appeared in the local lineup last night. Moulton, one of the Y. M. C. A. players, is the new acquisition to the St. Joseph's Club and he made his debut with that team by caging 8 field goals and three from the fifteen foot line. The work of the local guards, Seidel and Pasch, was exceptionally good, the former keeping his man scoreless the entire game, while the latter's man got only one goal. Wright and Cairns starred for the visitors.

EXCITING FINISH DUE IN ELKS' LEAGUE RACE

Five matches are scheduled to take place in the last week's play of the Senior Elks Bowling League, which closes Thursday night. The New Brunswick and Paterson teams, which have one more match to play each, will finish close no matter how the matches of this week go, but the leaders need to take at least two or all three games from Elizabeth, Thursday night, in order to be sure of the top rung. Paterson is one game behind New Brunswick, and is likely to cop three games at Newark, which will make things not.

Rutherford rolls Rahway and New York comes to this city tonight.

INDEPENDENT SHOOTERS HAD EVENTS YESTERDAY

The Independent Shooting Club held a shoot on the Maple avenue grounds, yesterday afternoon, there being five events. There were fifteen who took part, with the following results: First event, Edward Hand, first; Walter Long, second; second event, C. W. Leonard and Edward Hand, first; Alberts, M. D. Dilts and Mundy, second; third event, Walter Long and John Terry, first; Alberts and McIntyre, second. fourth event, Clifford Manning, Foster and McIntyre, first; John Terry, M. D. Dilts, C. W. Leonard and F. Hand, second; fifth event, Clifford Manning and John Terry, first; Edward Hand, second.

There were also several friendly matches between the members which were close and created much interest.

NEW YORK ELKS HERE.

The New York Elks' bowling team will come to this city tonight and roll the local "Bills" in a scheduled match of the Senior League.

The Plainfield High School basketball team clinched the interscholastic basketball title, Saturday afternoon, when it defeated the Leal aggregation for the second time this season on the High School court. The game was of an uninteresting nature, being slow, and Plainfield missed many chances to increase its lead.

The Leal guards were the weak point in the private school team, and the Ninth street team's forwards had an easy time, McNamee getting 6 goals from the field, and Rosenson scoring five of the same kind. The score at the end of the first half was 18 to 11. Stewart and Dickerson were the main scorers for Leal's, while Schneider and Harrington also contributed to the scoring.

Newark bowlers took three games in a row on their own alleys, last night, in an Elks' League match with the Elizabeth quintet. They tallied 1,099 in the second game, creating a high-score mark for the season in the league race, and, with a total of 1,053 in the last game and 988 in the first, averaged 1,046-2, which is said to be an Elks' League record for three games. The triple defeat knocked the Elizabeths out of third place in the race. The Newarks, who are fourth, did not succeed in climbing any higher.

In the game in which the Newarks tallied 1,099 last night, Jack Speary led with 266. He had seven straight strikes and then ran into the 5-10 split. He finished with strikes. Alec Hinton tallied 246, Dick Erler 223 and Connie Leick 202.

The Elizabeth bowlers did some fine pinning, having successive totals of 902, 1,014 and 912. Maloney had 245 in the last game, averaging 206. Joe Nolte rolled 213 and Bock was there for 238.

N. P. H. S. FRESHIES WON.

The North Plainfield High School Freshman team defeated the St. Joseph's Seconds in the preliminary on the T. A. B. court, last night, by a score of 28 to 16. The game was a close and exciting one and frequent fouls were called on both teams.

Y. M. C. A. PLAYERS WIN BY TEN POINTS

New Brunswick Aggregation Make Strong Bid for Game in Last Period.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team won another game on the association court, Saturday night, when the Janeway & Carpender five, of New Brunswick, was ten points in the rear at the end of the second half, the final count being 39 to 29. The local team had a narrow escape in the last half, when their opponents were only four points behind them with three minutes to play, but three field goals in quick order just before the whistle blew increased their lead.

In the first period the home team started off fast and obtained a big lead, but before the half ended the visitors had made 14 points to their opponents' 23. Maluski starred for the New Brunswick team, while Ricketts and Gavett were the main scorers for the winners.

The score follows:

LAST GAME OF SEASON FOR LEAL SCHOOL TEAM

The members of the Leal School basketball team will lay aside their basketball togs until next season after tomorrow afternoon, when they meet the Columbia Grammar School quintet, of New York, in the last scheduled game of the year. The local team lost to this school by two baskets in New York and are looking for a win tomorrow.

The private school aggregation has played eighteen games to date and has won nine of them. A victory tomorrow will put their winning side about the .500 mark.

P. H. S. SECOND TEAM WON FROM Y. M. C. A.

The Plainfield High School second basketball team defeated the Y. M. C. A. seconds in a hot contest on the High School court yesterday afternoon. The final score was 24 to 18, and it was only in the last few minutes of play that the schoolboys pulled ahead, Alpaugh's two field goals, which came shortly before the final whistle blew, putting his team in the lead. Throughout the first half the scoring was nip-and-tuck, Plainfield leading at the end, the tallies being 11 to 10.

The association players took the lead early in the last period and maintained it for some time. With the score 18 to 16 in favor of the Front street aggregation, Alpaugh dropped a pair, which were followed by a pretty goal by Noonan. Dunham made the last basket of the game. The scores follow:

RUNYON GETS FOURTH.

Ralph Runyon, the Plainfield High School athlete, finished in a tie for third place in the high jump event of the Dickinson High School meet yesterday afternoon, but lost the medal in the jump-off, his opponent, a Dickinson man, going the tie mark one half inch better. The winner of this event set a new record, his leap being 5 feet 10 1-8 inches.

TYPOS HAD A BIG CROWD AT THEIR ANNUAL BALL

Recent controversies developing over the action of the Building Trades' Council in placing a "ban" on Sebring's auditorium, the place selected by the members of the local Typographical Union for their annual reception, had little effect on the attendance figures when the event was conducted last night, and the affair was without a doubt the largest ever held by the Plainfield "prints." Dancing proved the feature entertainment of the evening, for which music was furnished by Halbforester's orchestra, of Elizabeth.

The prize waltz, an annual fixture, was won by Frank Jaeger and partner. He received a handsome token from the union. The committee of arrangements included Robert F. Scott, chairman; Harry W. Thomas, A. J. Shampanore, Thomas Heron and Winfred S. Cram.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. glee club will hold their rehearsal tomorrow night in the association parlors.

The Bible class will hold its regular supper at 5:30 o'clock tonight. The price is nominal.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The executive committee of the Men's Club of Hope Chapel, will meet tomorrow night after prayer-meeting.

The Plainfield Federation of Women's Missionary Societies will observe the interdenominational day of prayer for home missions at a meeting to be held at the Temple Baptist church, Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

The women of the First M. E. church will meet in Vincent chapel this afternoon to consider the work of the various societies.

The quartet choir of the First M. E. church will give a special musical service on Sunday evening, the program comprising favorite anthems. Miss Edith Rubel, violin soloist, will assist.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed at Trinity Reformed church, Sunday, March 7.

Rev. Henry De Prie, of China, will speak at the prayer-meeting to be held at Trinity Reformed church, Wednesday, March 17.

The annual banquet of the Dutch Arms of Trinity Reformed church will be held Thursday evening, March 18. There will be an attractive list of speakers and other features.

RECREATION NOTES

The Choral Society, directed by S. Frederick Smith, will meet this evening at the Franklin School.

The Stillman School will be opened this evening for the colored people. The Cosmos Club will hold a meeting and the girls will meet in the auditorioum for gymnastics and drills.

The men's gymnasium and swimming classes will meet this evening at the High School.

A municipal dance will be held at the Franklin School at 8:15 tomorrow evening.

The Girls' Athletic Club and swimming classes will meet at the High School tomorrow evening.

The children's dancing class will meet at the Bryant School tomorrow afternoon at 3:30.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.

While trying the door of Philip Mechanik's bicycle store in Park avenue, Saturday night, Patrolman Matt Vanderweg heard a noise in the rear of the place, and upon investigation found a number of bike accessories strewn about the backyard. The supposition of the police is that thieves were preparing to make a haul when the copper happened along, and in their hurry to make a getaway, they dropped their plunder.

"KNOCKERS' NIGHT" AT SAENGERBUND HALL

Gesang and Turn Verein and Their Friends Have Jolly Time.

Saengerbund Hall held one of the largest crowds in its history Sunday night, when the entertainment committee conducted the annual "Heisenluft," or "Knockers' Night." The affair was attended by friends of the organization, as well as the membership, and the program provided gave great enjoyment. A feature of "Knockers' Night" is the chaffing which everybody gets and which no one is supposed to take seriously.

Jacob Schlick was general chairman, and under his direction the following program was rendered: Selections by the singing section of the Gesang Turn Verein, solos and step dancing by Charles Fagliuccia, Jr., acrobatic feats and ground tumbling by Bert Hansen, Carl Anderson and Henry Bryniarski, and a concluding sketch entitled "Casey's Breach of Promise Case." The principal parts in this were taken by William O'Loughlin, as judge; Leonard Schlick, coon; Thomas Burns, Casey; Jacob Schlick, Chinaman; Charles F. Myer, Swede; Charles Goldberg, Herman Theis, Herman Klinsman, Jr., Gus Bremmer, John Brower and Charles Burnett. The sketch was uproariously funny, and each of the characters took his part well.

A social hour followed the program, and at midnight dancing was commenced, music being furnished by Halbfoerster's Tango Band. It was continued until an early hour yesterday morning. The affair was declared by everyone to be the most successful "Knockers' Night" the members of Saengerbund Hall have yet enjoyed.

The committee in charge was the same as that which conducted the annual masquerade ball on Lincoln's Birthday, and was as follows: Jacob Schlick, chairman, Charles F. Meyer, Jr., Herman Klinsman, John Brower, Bert Vail Herman Theis and Gus Bremmer.

COLONIAL TEA GIVEN BY MIDDLEBROOK CHAPTER

Camp Middlebrook Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held a very successful colonial tea in the Middlebrook Country Club yesterday afternoon. It was attended by 150 members and friends, a number of whom were from Plainfield.

The reception committee was composed of the regent of Middlebrook Chapter, Miss Anna Todd, of Dunellen; Mrs. E. W. Vail, of Jersey Blue Chapter, New Brunswick; Miss Ottis, of General Frelinghuysen Chapter, of Somerville; Mrs. Banks, of Continental Chapter, of Plainfield; and honorary regent of Middlebrook, Mrs. Olendorf, of Bound Brook. All were attired in colonial costume as were the members of the chapter who assisted in pouring.

Tea was served from a tray belonging to Miss Todd on which two dinners for General Washington have been carried, and eight Governors had eaten from the china used, which belongs to Mrs. Olendorf. The proceeds from the affair amounted to a neat sum and will be divided equally between the education fund of the chapter and the visiting nurses' fund.

PERSONAL.

Miss Ellen Sullivan, of West Eighth street, sailed today on the American Liner St. Louis, being called to her native home abroad by the illness of her mother. Passage was secured through the Estil Steamship Agency, of which Will F. Williams is the local representative.

Miss Eva Buell, of Bayonne, visited Mr. and Mrs. H. C. VanEmburgh, of East Second street, over the week-end.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. John Judson, of John street, are detained at their home with an attack of measles.

Mrs. John O'Conner and daughter, of New York, have returned after spending several days with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hippolyte Texier, of Watchung.

Miss Grace Winnie, formerly of the borough, but now of Roslyn, N. Y., was the week-end guest of Miss Ruth Day, of Grove street.

Miss Frances Shields, of West Chester, Pa., spent Washington's Birthday with friends in the borough.

Herbert Stine, of Mountain avenue, returned to college this morning after a short visit with his parents.

DEATH COMES TO RANDOLPH MARSH

One of Plainfield's Best Known Residents Dies After Long Illness.

LIVED HERE 60 YEARS

Was Eighty-three Years Old—Had Been Unconscious Several Days, Death Being Due to Infirmities Caused by Old Age.

Randolph Marsh, one of the oldest and best known residents of Plainfield, died at 2 o'clock this afternoon at his home, 314 Plainfield avenue, where he had liced for more than sixty years. Mr. Marsh had been in poor health for the past year, and had been failing steadily within the preceding six weeks. He had been unconscious for several days. Death was due to the infirmities of age.

Mr. Marsh was born at Short Hills, near Alton, on March 12, 1832, and came to this city with his parents shortly afterwards. He learned the mason's and painter's trades and worked at both of them until a few years ago. He was a member of Hope chapel.

Mr. Marsh was twice married, and by the first union he leaves three daughters and a son, all of whom live in Hartford, Conn. His second wife was Miss Maria Brusby, of this city, who survives him, together with six sons and one daughter. These are Randolph, Jr., Grover and Robert Marsh, of Newark; Frank Marsh, of Dunellen; Alfred and George Marsh and Mrs. Fred Kliner, of this city. He was an uncle to Warren Marsh, and also the late Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Judging from the inquiries made at the box office of the Plainfield Theatre, regarding the return engagement of Selwyn & Co.'s production of "Twin Beds," the most hilarious and clean farce of the year, capacity audiences will greet and enjoy the brilliantly uproarous farce by Margaret Mayo, when "Twin Beds" makes its return appearance here on Saturday, February 27. So remarkable has been the success of the farce during its long run at the Fulton Theatre, New York, that local playgoers are evidently determined to take advantage of what promises to be one of the principal engagements of the theatrical season.

It is to remember! Annette Kellerman in "Neptune's Daughter." The most marvelous photo-drama ever filmed. A full evening's entertainment in which Miss Kellerman proves her right to be entitled The Modern Venus, as she disports herself as a mermaid and proves her historic abilities as a mortal. "Neptune's Daughter" will appear at the Plainfield Theatre, tomorrow, afternoon and night.

BORROWING MONEY.

Be Sure Deferred Charges Can Be Met Before Incurring Them.

One reason why corporations have not been looked upon with friendly eyes is the fact that they have adopted financing methods of which we don't approve.

You and I have been taught to believe that we'd better do without a thing unless we have the money to pay for it. To us that seems to be safe and sane thrift doctrine.

But when corporations became numerous they adopted another plan. They decided not to wait until they could pay for what they wanted if they could borrow money with which to make the purchase. They began to load upon themselves "deferred charges."

Certain charges of this kind, of course, are justified; when it can be proved without the shadow of a doubt that what will be earned by borrowed money is more than the cost of the loan, borrowing is justified. But not otherwise.

So intelligent thrift practice in the home and the family can be measured by the same test. If you're going into debt to buy a home you should be able to demonstrate mathematically by borrowing money to buy a home you will in the end save more in rent than the cost of the land and house, repairs and taxes and insurance.

You have no business to place any "deferred charge" upon your individual resources or those of your family that those who come after you will not cheerfully pay because they recognize that it is a just charge. The test ought to be:

"If I should die tomorrow would my heirs prefer to go on meeting these charges rather than allow them to be defaulted?" It is when the answer of either the individual or a new board of corporation directors is in the negative that we see the unwisdom of much borrowing in anticipation of benefits or earnings.

If you're honest, "deferred charges" have to be met, and if you have had much experience you will know that it isn't often that the future develops as well as you think it will.—John M. Oskison in Chicago News.

"SINNERS," A GOOD THING THAT CAME OUT OF SING SING.

This drama, which had its "first night on any stage" in the Sing Sing chapel on Christmas afternoon, is now enjoying a remarkable run at William A. Brady's Playhouse, New York. It is acted by an all star cast and will stay all winter.

DUNELLENITES CASH WORTHLESS CHECKS

Sum of $81 Paid Over to Stranger on February Thirteenth.

The thirteenth of this month, which fell on a Saturday, proved to be a very unlucky day for T. A. Pierce, Jr., and Alexander Stillwaggon, of New Market, and Charles Thornton, of South Plainfield, who cashed worthless checks aggregating $81 for a stranger.

The stranger gave the name of Ani Rybrikar. He said that he was employed by the Lehigh Valley railroad and that he was going to move from New York to New Market. He was a foreigner but spoke good English. He was stocky in build, clean shaven and wore a cap.

He first made his appearance in Stillwaggon's hotel. He told Mr. Stillwaggon of his desire to move to New Market and asked him whether he knew of any vacant place.

"Yes, I know of a place," replied Stillwaggon, "come with me."

"From the outside he showed him the vacant apartment in the Mayor W. B. Smith building in which Chas. Day has his grocery store.

"That looks good to me," replied the stranger.

He was then told that Charles Thornton, of South Plainfield, was the agent to the latter's subsequent undoing. The stranger then wondered whether he could get a small check cashed anywhere.

"Come in Mr. Day's grocery store and we will see," replied Stillwaggon.

Walter Penrose was in charge of the store and the check which was for $27.00 was handed to him. Penrose looked at the check and then looked at the stranger. "Nothing doing" was his reply.

"Why that check is all right, it is certified and Mr. Rybrikar is going to move here," spoke up Stillwaggon.

"If you think it is," replied Penrose, "then endorse it." This was done and the long green handed over.

As to the check it was drawn on the Terminal Branch of the Corn Exchange Bank, New York city. It bore the signature of Abraham Nelson with the evident intention of making the victims think that it was the check of Township Committeeman Abram Nelson. On the end of the check was stamped a Nelson & Co., 12 Wall Street, New York city. The checks also bore a certification stamp. But the word certified was spelled "certifiyet" and the certification was not signed. The check was made payable to Ani Rybrikar, the name given by the stranger.

From Day's the stranger went to the H. L. Pierce store and told T. A. Pierce, Jr., the manager, that he was going to move to New Market and asked him whether he couldn't cash a check for $27 as an accommodation. "I haven't got $27 in the till, but I can give you $20 and you can come back for the balance later," Mr. Pierce replied. The stranger took the $20 but he never came back for the balance.

His next stop was in Dunellen, where he interviewed an expressman about moving his household effects from New York to New Market.

"I want a deposit of $15," said the expressman. Rybrikar produced a check for $60, but fortunately this expressman did not have $45 in long green about him.

Rybrikar then shook the dust of Dunellen off of his feet and went to South Plainfield and to Thorton's Hotel, where after buying a drink he spoke to Charles Thornton, the proprietor, about renting the apartment in the "Mayor" W. B. Smith building at New Market and incidentally induced him to cash a check for $27. All of the checks have come back marked "no account."

COPPER AND LEGALITE HAVE WORDY TILT IN COURTROOM

Charged with the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors at an alleged "speak-easy" raided by Sergeant Maurice Higgins, Roundsman Chas. Flynn, Patrolman Dennis O'Keefe and Patrolman John Fritts at 823 St. Mary's avenue Saturday night, Durando Chero was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning and sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or serve forty days in the county jail. Seven other Italians were taken in the raid and were used as witnesses this morning. They were Salvadore Fustio, Frank Grosso, Tony Malonie, Joseph Fandagrow, Joseph Pessor and John Ronzo.

The city's case was in charge of Assistant Corporation Counsel Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and John P. Owens represented the defendant. During the trial Sergeant Higgins, one of the witnesses, and Lawyer Owens had a wordy tilt which for a time gave promise of assuming threatening proportions. Three cases of beer and a case of soda were taken in the raid, Higgins and Flynn testifying to the fact that they saw the men pay money to Chero for the fluid

ED. HARDING AS SOLOIST.

The audiences at the Plainfield Theatre enjoyed a distinct treat last night, when the singing moving pictures were presented for the first time. The vocal part of the feature, "The Land of My Best Girl," was rendered by Edward Harding, Jr., who sang in excellent voice. The picture was first shown, depicting the authors composing the piece, trying it on the piano and finally singing it. Other numbers of this kind are to be shown in the near future and Mr. Harding will act as soloist.

ANNIVERSARY OF UNION CHURCH

Speakers Review History of Mary E. Wilson Memorial Chapel.

EARLY DAYS RECALLED

Interesting Addresses by Former Workers and Special Music are Features of Observance Which is Largely Atended.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Union church was celebrated Sunday with three special services. The pulpit was decorated with ferns and flowering plants, and with a large American flag draped at the back of it, and on each side of the pulpit were large silver figures, "1890-1915."

At the service in the morning Rev. E. G. Read preached the anniversary sermon, his subject being "Seed Sowing." He emphasized the importance of sowing seed, even if we could not foresee the results, and spoke of the may workers who had been connected with this work as far back as sixty years ago, and also referred to instances in the lives of Washington and Moody.

There was special music by the regular choir. At the afternoon meeting the church was filled with the members of the Sunday-school and many visitors, among whom were many who had been members in former years. E. L. Bonney presided, and Rev. Melane Ramsay read the scripture reading and made the prayer.

Mr. Bonney made the opening address, in which he said that in looking up the history of the Sunday-school, and as far as he could discover, it was started in the schoolhouse some time between the years 1829 and 1839, by Rev. M. Hill, who started the first Sunday-school at the First Baptist church in Plainfield, of which he was pastor at that period. He also spoke of the work the young people did when the church was built, how they gathered and hauled the stone for the building. And on moonlight nights they had what they call a "bee," and dug the cellar so it was ready for the masons. Andrew Wilson and William H. Rogers were the leaders in this work. The interest was general. All worked hard and many contributed both money and labor, so that the task could be accomplished.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich was the only minister present that was present at the dedication twenty-five years ago, and he spoke of the pleasure it was to be there, and also of the good a small church and Sunday-school could do in a community. The next speaker was W. D. Murray. He spoke of his connection with the work, when the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. had charge of the evening services in the schoolhouse. Then he spoke of what he called "team work." Rev. Dr. E. G. Read was the last speaker. He gave the history of the work that had been done in the last four years, speaking of the founding of the church and the interest he felt in it, then he pictured a prophecy of the future, telling how he could see the hills covered with beautiful cottages, with the trolley extended, and of the large and powerful church, known as the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Union church, with many wideawake and energetic workers. Miss Leontine De Ahna, of the First Baptist church choir, sang the hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light."

The secretary's report was very interesting, giving the names of the officers, and the enrollment and attendance since 1894 up to date. The officers of the Sunday-school Association when the chapel was dedicated were: President, E. L. Bonney; vice-president, Harry Manning; treasurer, Andrew Wilson; secretary, Isaac Winans; librarian, George Howard; organist, Miss Nettie Beeching. All of these officers, with the exception of two, were present at the anniversary service, Sunday afternoon.

Miss Jennie Coddington was one of the teachers when the church was dedicated, and now has a large class of girls. In the evening there was a musical service consisting of both vocal and instrumental selections. The first part was a song service led by Douglass Demler, with Charles E. Spear at the organ, Mr. Korff and George Spear, violins, and Alfred Korff, cornetist. The rest of the service consisted of scripture reading, prayer, a short talk by Rev. Melane Ramsay, cornet solos and selections by the girls' chorus.

On Monday evening an anniversary social and reception was held in the church. Thiswas largely attended, and the evening was spent in listening to addresses by Rev. Dr. C. A. Eaton, Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, E. L. Bonney and the pastor, and a number of the workers in the Sunday-school and church. Solos were sung by Elsie Schmidt, Edward F. Bodin and Douglass Demler. A reading was given by Miss Schmidt and instrumental music by Charles E. Spear, Mr. Korff and Alfred Korff. Refreshments were served by the women and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all.

SPECIAL SERMONS AT HOPE.

Evangelistic sermons by Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope Chapel, to continue through Lent, were inaugurated Sunday evening at the West End church. Ten minute prayer services following the Sunday evening services, will also feature the services at the chapel until after Easter. In keeping with the evangelistic movement at Hope Chapel, the topis, "Four Steps to New Power" will be discussed at the mid-week prayer service tomorrow evening.

MINSTREL SHOW.

Under the auspices of the Dunbar Social Club a minstrel show will be given in Washington School on Friday night a t8 o'clock. Mrs. J. C. Anderson, who has taken the leadership of this club, has been working hard for the success of the entertainment and it promises to be entertaining. A nominal admission fee will be charged.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY PRESS

Mrs. Sherman B. Joost,
President Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

INTEREST IN COMING DEBATE

in the social, church and charitable circles of Plainfield.

As previously announced, the Municipal Orchestra, under the direction of S. Frederick Smith, will be in attendance and the overture will begin at a quarter to eight o'clock. The debate will open at a quarter after eight o'clock, with Miss Alice Carpenter as the first speaker in the cause of Suffrage. Miss Carpenter will be followed by former Assemblyman John A. Mathews, of Newark, whose activities against universal suffrage have been State and nation-wide.

Senator Hennessy, minority leader of the New Jersey Assembly, will follow Mr. Mathews and he will strongly press the claims of the Suffragists while he, in turn, will be succeeded by Miss Lucy Price, a Vassar graduate and a brilliant debator, who will do all possible to counteract the favorable impressions the Suffrage orators may have made. Each side will be granted a half-hour for rebuttal, the time to be divided between their respective debaters as they see fit.

With a liberality that has marked its course since Mr. Claybrook assumed its presidency, the Democratic Club has invited and received the acceptances of a number of the most prominent men in Plainfield to occupy seats on the stage in the roles of vice presidents and honorary vice presidents for this occasion. A short address of welcome will be made by Mayor Leighton Calkins, while every members of the Common Council has accepted the invitation to serve as an honorary vice president.

Aside from these officials these vice presidents will serve: Messrs. Percy H. Stewart, D. C. Ivins, William A. Coddington, S. S. Carvalho, David T. Kenney, J. O. Stevens, Robert C. Brown, D. L. Coleman, Frederick W. Yates, L. J. Ellis, John A. Gaffney, D. J. Couraine, Charles P. Senger, J. J. McCann, Seymore Perkins, Howard Lapsley, William H. Harding, William F. Tallaferro, Howard Fleming, Thomas Hughes, John F. Zerega and Archibald Cox, the latter president of the Board of Education; Charles H. Frost and Leslie R. Fort.

In addition to the list of vice presidents previously published, the Suffragists will be represented by the Rev. Father Bogan and the Rev. Mr. Anderson, Mrs. Allan Cowperthwaite, Mrs. E. F. Feickert, Mrs. F. de L. Hyde, Mrs. A. B. Jones, Miss Janet Richards, E. R. Ackerman, Rev. Dr. B. S. Hudson, Knox Taylor, Rev. Dr. John S. Zelie, while the Antis will be represented by the Rev. Henry Meiser, rector of St. Stephen's church, Netherwood.

The Suffragists and Anti-Suffragists attach so much importance to the approaching debate that emissaries from the rival camps have been unusually active in rounding up their respective supporters to attend the meeting. Men who have made it a rule to absent themselves from any meeting that savors of politics, have openly announced that they intend to attend this gathering, inasmuch as they want to hear a fair presentation of facts bearing on both sides of the suffrage question. New Jersey will be called on to vote on this all-important problem this fall, and but comparatively few men have really enlightened themselves as they should on the subject. No better opportunity can be offered than at this meeting, as the speakers on both sides have mastered every detail of the problem, and each side will present these facts in concrete and attractive form.

Quantities of literature bearing on suffrage, pro and con, will be within reach of all as they enter the High School and furthermore, all desiring additional light shed on the momentous problem will find plenty of missionaries ready and eager to give this information at first hand.

RALPH VENZIA WEDS MISS EMILY GROLETTO

Miss Emily Groletto and Ralph Venezia, both residents of Scotch Plains, were married Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's church. Father B. M. Bogan, the rector, officiating in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives.

Miss Mary Peters, of Bridgeport, Conn., was the bridesmaid and James Ricco, of Somerville, was the best man. Following the ceremony a reception was given to the couple in Excelsior Hall, Scotch Plains, Saturday evening, after which Mr. and Mrs. Venezia left on a wedding trip. They will reside at Scotch Plains upon their return.

NEWS AND VIEWS

Conducted by THE W. C. T. U.

Letter of Appreciation to Czar of Russia.

The wonderful transformation of the Russian people as the direct result of the prohibition of alcoholic liquors in the Czar's domains has been watched by the white ribboners of the United States with intense interest and deep thankfulness. The following letter, giving expression to these feelings, has been sent to the Czar by the president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union:

To His Majesty,
The Czar of Russia.
Sir:

I is my high privilege, on behalf of four hundred thousand women, members of the aNional Woman's Christian Temberance Union of the United State, to extend to your majasty an expression of their profound gratitude for the far-seeing action of your majesty in abolishing the liquor traffic in Russia.

This act of your majesty is exerting a mighty influence for good in the United States of America, and will prove an incalculable blessing to the whole world.

With great respect,
ANNA A. GORDON,
President.

French Chamber of Deputies Passes Bill Prohibiting Absinthe.

The Chamber of Deputies on February 12 adopted the bill prohibiting the sale of absinthe.

Indemnities will oe granted to manufacturers affected by the bill, and will be covered in a special act later. The bill also applies to Algeria and the colonies and will be proposed for adoption by the protectorates.

The measure now goes to the Senate.

During the debate on the bill Deputy Edouard Lachaud, a Radical Republican, said: "Absinthe is only the commencement. We will arrive at the suppression of all similar appetizers."

An amendment was offered making the prohibitive features of the bill apply also to alcohol and bitters, but it was withdrawn after the statement was made that this would be the object of a report by a special committee, and that propositions tending to the suppression of all alcoholic extracts were being considered.

Think It Over.

"The United States Department of Labor states that 72 per cent. of agriculturists, 79 per cent. of manufacturers, 88 per cent. of tradesmen, and 90 per cent. of railroad officials discriminate against men who drink. What stronger arguments against the liquor habit could be produced? Think it over.!"

This statement appears in the October number of The Mixer, a little efficiency monthly published by the Illinois Steel Company, of Joliet, Ill.

Prohibition in Russia.

In Russian none can buy a flagon of vodka or old rye; the men must ride the water wagon—the country's all gone dry. The law affects all grades of critters, the humble and the rich, and those who lately sipped their bitters now hit the pumpovitch. There's no relief for thirsty beggars, no help for Russian sports; the alleys know no cheap bootleggers, no hole in wall resorts. The old-time tricks that lead to drinking won't work there worth a cent; a man may sprain his eyebrows winking; the druggist won't relent. Old Russia's brand of law prohibits, in country and in town, and soon her prisons and her gibbets will all be taken down. If someone hasn't told a whopper about conditions there the country soon won't have a pauper, which had them everywhere. The world will watch this Russian measure, so timely and so wise; 'twill watch and doubtless note with pleasure a nation nobly rise, from abject depths of degradation, from lying in the ditch; oh, happy that progressive nation which hits the pumpovitch!—Walt Mason.

CHAPTER XV.

The Will.

"NOW, in Mr. Kingsnorth's will," went on the lawyer, producing a leather pocketbook filled with important looking papers—"in his will"— he repeated.

Mrs. Chichester stopped crying.

"Eh? A will?"

"What?" said Alaric, beaming. "Did the dear old gentleman leave a will?"

Even Ethel stopped playing with Pet and listened languidly to the conversation.

Mr. Hawkes, realizing he had their complete interest, went on importantly:

"As Mr. Kingsnorth's legal adviser up to the time of his untimely death I have come here to make you acquainted with some of its contents."

He spread a formidable looking document wide open on the table, adjusted his pince nez and prepared to read.

"Dear old Nat!" said Alaric reflectively. "Do you remember, mater, we met him at Victoria station once when I was little more than a baby? Yet I can see him now as plainly as if it were yesterday—a portly, sandy haired old buck with three jolly chins."

"He was white toward the end and very, very thin," said Mr. Hawkes softly.

"Was he?" from Alaric. "Fancy that. It just shows, mater, doesn't it?" He bent eagerly over the table as Hawkes traced some figures with a pencil on one of the pages of the will.

"How much did he leave?" And Alaric's voice rose to a pitch of well defined interest.

"His estate is valued, approximately, at some £200,000," replied the lawyer.

Alaric gave a long, low whistle and smiled a broad, comprehensive smile.

Ethel for the first time showed a gleam of genuine interest.

Mrs. Chichester began to cry again. "Perhaps it was my fault I didn't see him oftener," she said.

Alaric, unable to curb his curiosity, burst out with, "How did the old boy split it up?"

"To his immediate relations he left"— Mr. Hawkes looked up from the will and found three pairs of eyes fixed on him. He stopped. It may be that constant association with the law courts destroys faith in human nature; but, whatever the cause, it seemed to Mr. Hawkes in each of those eyes was reflected the one dominant feeling—greed. The expression in the family's combined eyes was astonishing in its directness, in its barefacedness. It struck the dignified gentleman suddenly dumb.

"Well? Well?" cried Alaric. "How much? Don't stop right in the middle of an important thing like that. You make me as nervous as a chicken."

Mr. Hawkes returned to the will and after looking at it a moment without reading said:

"To his immediate relations Mr. Kingsnorth left, I regret to say—nothing."

A momentary silence fell like a pall over the stricken Chichester family.

Mrs. Chichester rose, indignation flashing from the eyes that a moment since showed a healthy hope.

"Nothing?" she cried incredulously.

"Not a penny piece to any one?" vencured Alaric.

The faintest suspicion of a smile flitted across Ethel's face.

Hawkes looked keenly at them and answered:

"I deeply regret to say—nothing."

Mrs. Chichester turned to Ethel, who had begun to stroke Pet again.

"His own flesh and blood!" cried the poor lady.

"What a shabby old beggar!" commented Alaric indignantly.

"He was always the most selfish, the most"— began Mrs. Chichester, when Mr. Hawkes, who had been turning over the pages of the document before him, gave an ejaculation of relief.

"Ah! Here we have it. This, Mrs. Chichester, is how Mr. Kingsnorth expressed his attitude toward his relations in his last will and testament:

"'I am the only member of the Kingsnorth family who ever made any money. All my precious relatives either inherited it or married to get it.'"

"I assure you"— began Mrs. Chichester.

Alaric checked her. "Half a moment, mater. Let us hear it out to the bitter end. He must have been an amusing old gentleman."

Mr. Hawkes resumed: "'Consequently I am not going to leave one penny to relations who are already well provided for.'"

Mrs. Chichester protested vehemently:

"But we are not provided for."

"No," added Alaric. "Our bank's busted."

"We're ruined!" sobbed Mrs. Chichester.

"Broke!" said Alaric.

"We've nothing!" wailed the old lady.

"Dear, dear!" said the lawyer. "How extremely painful!"

"Painful? That's not the word. Disgusting I call it," corrected Alaric.

Mr. Hawkes thought a moment. Then he said, "Under those circumstances perhaps a clause in the will may have a certain interest and an element of relief."

As two drowning people clinging to the proverbial straws the mother and son waited breathlessly for Mr. Hawkes to go on.

Ethel showed no interest whatever.

"When Mr. Kingsnorth realized that he had not very much longer to live he spoke constantly of his other sister Angela," resumed Mr. Hawkes.

"Angela!" cried Mrs. Chichester in surprise. "Why, she's dead."

"That was why he spoke of her," said Hawkes gravely.

"And not a word of me?" asked Mrs. Chichester.

"We will come to that a little later," and Mr. Hawkes again referred to the will. "It appears that this sister, Angela, married at the age of twenty a certain Irishman, by name O'Connell, and was cut off by her family"—

"The man was an agitator—a Fenian agitator. He hadn't a penny. It was a disgrace"—

Alaric checked his mother again.

Hawkes resumed: "Was cut off by her family, went to the United States of America with her husband, where a daughter was born. After going through many conditions of misery with her husband, who never seemed to prosper, she died shortly after giving birth to the child." He looked up "Mr. Kingsnorth elsewhere expresses his lasting regret that in one of his sister's acute stages of distress she wrote to him asking him for the first time to assist her. He replied: 'You have made your bed. Lie in it.'"

"She had disgraced the family. He was justified," broke in Mrs. Chichester.

"With death approaching," resumed Hawkes, "Mr. Kingsnorth's conscience began to trouble him, and the remembrance of his treatment of his unfortunate sister distressed him. If the child were alive he wanted to see her. I made inquiries and found that the girl was living with her father in very poor circumstances in the city of New York We sent sufficient funds for the journey, together with a request to the father to allow her to visit Mr. Kingsnorth in England. The father consented. However, before the young girl sailed Mr. Kingsnorth died."

"Oh!" cried Alaric, who had been listening intently. "Died, eh? That was too bad. Died before seeing her. Did you let her sail, Mr. Hawkes?"

"Yes. We thought it best to bring her over here and acquaint her with the sad news after her arrival. Had she known before sailing she might not have taken the journey."

"But what was the use of bringing her over when Mr. Kingsnorth was dead?" asked Alaric.

"For this reason," replied Hawkes. "Realizing that he might never see her, Mr. Kingsnorth made the most remarkable provision for her in his will."

"Provided for her and not for"— began Mrs. Chichester.

"Here is the provision," continued Mr. Hawkes, again reading from the will: "'I hereby direct that the sum of £1,000 a year be paid to any respectable, well connected woman of breeding and family who will undertake the education and upbringing of my niece, Margaret O'Connell, in accordance with the dignity and tradition of the Kingsnorths.'"

"He remembers a niece he never saw, and his own sister"— And Mrs. Chichester once more burst into tears.

"It beats cockfighting; that's all I can say," cried Alaric. "It simply beats cockfighting."

Mr. Hawkes went on reading: "'If at the expiration of one year my niece is found to be, in the judgment of my executors, unworthy of further interest she is to be returned to her father and the sum of £250 a year paid her to provide her with the necessaries of life. If, on the other hand, she proves herself worthy of the best traditions of the Kingsnorth family the course of training is to be continued until she reaches the age of twenty-one, when I hereby bequeath to her the sum of £5,000 a year, to be paid her annually out of my estate during her lifetime and to be continued after her death to any male issue she may have—by marriage.'"

Mr. Hawkes stopped and once again looked at the strange family. Mrs. Chichester was sobbing. "And me—his own sister"—

Alaric was moving restlessly about. "Beats anything I've heard of—positively anything."

Ethel was looking intently at Pet's coat.

Hawkes continued: "'On no account is her father to be permitted to visit her, and should the course of training be continued after the first year she must not on any account visit her father. After she reaches the age of twenty-one she can do as she pleases.'" Mr. Hawkes folded up the will with the air of a man who had finished an important duty.

Alaric burst out with:

"I don't see how that clause interests us in the least, Mr. Hawkes."

The lawyer removed his pince nez and, looking steadily at Mrs. Chichester, said:

"Now, my dear Mrs. Chichester, it was Mr Kingsnorth's wish that the first lady to be approached on the matter of undertaking the training of the young lady should be—you."

Mrs. Chichester rose in astonishment. "I?"

Alaric arose in anger. "My mother?"

Ethel quietly pulled Pet's ear and waited.

Mr. Hawkes went on quietly:

"Mr. Kingsnorth said he would be sure at least of his niece having a strict upbringing in the best traditions of the Kingsnorths and that, though his sister Monica was somewhat narrow and conventional in ideas—I use his own words—still he felt sure she was eminently fitted to undertake such a charge. There—you have the whole object of my visit. Now, will you undertake the training of the young lady?"

"I never heard of such a thing!" cried Mrs Chichester furiously

"Ridiculous!" said Ethel calmly.

"Tush and nonsense!" with which Alaric dismissed the whole matter.

"Then I may take it you refuse?" queried the astonished lawyer.

"Absolutely!" from Mrs. Chichester.

"Entirely!" from Ethel.

"I should say so!" and Alaric brought up the rear.

Mr. Hawkes gathered up his papers and in a tone of regret ventured: "Then there is nothing more to be said. I was only carrying out the dead man's wishes by coming here and making the facts known to you. Mr. Kingsnorth was of the opinion that you were well provided for and that, outside of the sentimental reason that the girl was your own niece, the additional thousand pounds a year might be welcome as, say, pin money for your daughter."

Ethel laughed her dry, cheerless little laugh. "Ha! Pin money!"

Alaric grew suddenly grave and drew his mother and sister out of Mr. Hawkes' vicinity.

"Listen, mater. Ethel. It's a cool thousand, you know! Thousands don't grow on raspberry bushes when your bank's gone up. What do ye think eh?"

Mrs. Chichester brightened.

"It would keep things together," she said.

"The wolf from the door," urged Alaric.

"No charity," chimed in Ethel.

ROSEN CHIFFON.

These one-piece "over-gowns" of chiffon which so vividly remind one of the old-fashioned pinafore—how charming they are! These are worn over an under frock of satin in self-tone or contrasting colors and thus one slip may serve for many over-dresses or one over-dress for many slips and lo! my lady has a wardrobe of infinite variety. The gown above was chiffon of a deep shade of rose over a satin gown of the same shade. The over-dress was in one piece hanging loosely from the shoulders, the fullness of the blouse confined at about the hip line by a broad belt of vari-colored beads finished on the edges with pleatings of the satin. Bead motifs are embroidered on the front.

BIBLE LECTURES.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

BY ALICE CREW GILL

The Adventurous Goat.

A gay young Goat was playing in a vacant lot one day,
When all at once he stopped and said, "I think I'll go away.
I've always lived right here in town; I think I will get out,"
Said he, "and try the simple life I've heard so much about."

Now, as you know, a Goat can eat all sorts of things with zest,
But old tin cans and circus bills are what he likes the best.
So when that gay young Goat informed his parents of his plan
They said, "Out in the country you wont find nary a can.

"You wont find nary circus bill, you'll live on grass and such,
And as for this here simple life, you will not like it much."
(The reason that his parents spoke in this unlettered way
Was that they did not go to school at all in their young day).

But though they talked and talked to him, till they were almost hoarse,
That gay young Goat was headstrong and would not change his course.
He set out for the country and walked until he found
He'd left the city far behind, then stopped to look around.

"Dear me," he said, "I never knew the country was so still.
I'm hungry, too, I wish I had a good crisp circus bill;
I don't know why I ever left my happy vacant lot;
Compared with all this lonesomeness, it is a festive spot."

Just then it started to get dark, and out upon the hill
He heard a sound he'd never heard before—a Whippoorwill.
"I'm very sure that is a fierce and hungry Wolf," said he;
"I think I'll go back home; I know my folks are missing me!"

He ran like anything, because he was 'most scared to death,
And after while he reached his home, all tired and out of breath.
And when his parents asked him if he liked the country much,
He said, "I found it far too full of hungry wolves and such."

And while his mother bustled round and got a special treat
Of three or four tomato cans and things for him to eat,
He said, "For some the country is no doubt a lovely spot,
But as for me, I'll always be contented with my lot."

The Adventurous Seal.

A shining Seal while sitting on a shimmering sheet of ice,
Said to himself, "I think that I will go
And see what lies beyond the places I can see from here;
It must be very interesting, I know."

But when he told his parents of the trip that he had planned,
They flapped their flappers and they barked with woe.
"My son," they said, "the world is filled with enemies who want Your shining skin—we beg you not to go."

"Pooh, pooh and tush!" the Seal replied (most rudely, don't you think?)
"The things you say are foolish as can be;
I will set out this very afternoon to see the world"
(In other words, this young Seal went to see).

Before he'd gone so very far he saw a lot of men
A-walking up and down the shore.
He started swimming toward them (he was not the least afraid),
Although he'd never seen a man before

He thought, "I will go up to them, and pass the time of day,
And find out what they are, and why they're here."
Just then he heard one of them say, "We never yet have had
As many seal-skins as we have this year."

Quick as a flash this young Seal dove beneath the shimmering ice,
And swam as he had never swum before.
Said he, "I have a feeling that this is no place for me;
I shall be glad to be at home once more."

And when he reached his home his parents loudly barked for joy;
Then later, as they all sat on the ice,
The young Seal said to them, "Although I didn't travel far,
I learned one thing—next time I'll take advice."

SIMPLE, YET LOVELY, THIS GOWN FOR A DEBUTANTE.

The girlish lines of this dancing gown pardon the use of scintillating trimming, usually forbidden to the debutante. Draped bodice and tunic flounce are of crystal and rhinestone beaded chiffon. The upper tunic is of white chiffon and filet lace; the sash of ciel blue velvet. A corsage bouquet of sweet peas combines pale pink, blue and heliotrope tones.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Isn't this cozy?" and Dick stretched his hands out to the blaze and leaned back luxuriously. Before him was his wife's sewing table, spread with a dainty supper for two.

"I like these little suppers in front of the grate so much," and Nell in her dainty white apron stirred the oysters, Dick was too busy buttering toast to do more than telegraph an appreciative response.

"Do you know what anniversary we are celebrating?" She had turned the blaze low under the oysters after serving.

Dick paused, fork in hand, to consider.

"Our engagement," he replied. "Yes, two years ago this evening."

"You see we have belonged to each other much longer than the six months since the wedding. It has been a happy two years," she mused as she sipped her coffee.

"Especially the last six months," added Dick, poking up the fire. "If things can only go on as prosperously as they have so far."

"What do you mean?" asked Nell in a startled tone. "If you are troubled about anything, the best way for you to be happy is to divide your load with me," and Nell reached out her hand and laid it on his knee. Dick promptly covered it with his and gave it a little squeeze.

"The truth is, since we lost that patent suit, things have been getting wabbly in the business."

"Why, I thought the case had been appealed," exclaimed Nell in alarm.

"It has, and so we will drag on in uncertainty for another six months. In the meantime we cannot use the patent."

"Well, I don't understand why," said Nell.

"They issued an injunction to restrain us, pending the new trial." Nell looked mystified, but forebore to ask questions, hoping further conversation would throw light on the dark places. Dick always seemed to expect her to understand all his business terms and she cudgeled her wits to try to meet his expectations.

"You see," continued Dick, "the trial thus far has cost way up in the thousands and the business will be so crippled by the injunction that we may have to run the works only half time."

"Can't you make your goods without using the patent?" she hazarded.

"Of course the injunction doesn't affect all our manufactures; that's why we can run half time. If we win in the end everything will come out all right, but if we lose——" He paused and Nell regarded him anxiously. "I don't see how we can keep going, that's what is worrying me."

"You are afraid of losing your position?" she asked.

"Naturally, if the company goes to the wall, and with no reserve, and this house on our hands——"

Nell rose and going around to Dick's morris chair sat down on the wide arm and stroked the wrinkles from his forehead.

"Don't be sorry we are married, dear," she said. "We'll make a go of it some way. I won't get a spring suit and I am quite clever at making over hats. You'll be surprised at the small sum it will take to dress me in a pinch."

"Dear little b[illegible]ck, regarding her [illegible]

"If we always stand together in trouble that's half the battle," she continued.

"The battle is won," and Dick slipped his arm around her [illegible]

Household Hints

WORTH KNOWING

Try a currycomb (like they use on horses) for cleaning brushes in carpet sweeper.

New Way to Remove Scorched Places From Wash Goods—Take galvanized tub, put in layer of clean snow, spread over this the garment to be bleached, smooth out, put on more snow till spot is entirely covered two or three inches deep. Let stand in sunshine in daytime, but where it will freeze at night. In a week place tub on stove. When snow is melted spot will be gone and there will be no danger of tearing the garment thawing it out. A large article can be spread on the snow out of doors if care is taken in removing it.

Gas-Saving Hint—Place dishpan filled one-third full of water over one burner of gas stove. Then place the vegetables, stew or whatever you wish to cook in straight crocks or sauce pans and place in pan of hot water. In this way several things may be cooked over one burner with no fear of their burning, and your dishwater is also ready.

UP-TO-DATE RECIPES.

Clam Chowder—Small can little neck clams, six cups water, one-half teaspoon salt, one-third teaspoon pepper, two slices lean bacon, four onions, six potatoes, three carrots, tops of buch celery, one bunch parsley, one pint canned tomatoes. Cut everything in small cubes and cook two hours.

Vegetable Hash—Chop coarsely any cold vegetables left from boiled dinner and season with salt and pepper. Melt small lump of butter in frying pan, add chopped vegetables, pour in two tablespoons boiling water, cover closely and heat through.

Sweet-Sour Meat—Take from four to five pounds of rump pot roast and put it in kettle you are going to cook it in. After you salt, pepper and flour it on both sides, fry a nice brown. Then take two cups hot water, one cup vinegar, half cup sugar, one teaspoon whole cloves; cook three hours. Half hour before serving add half box raisins, one whole onion and one tablespoon flour mixed in a little cold water to thicken. When this is all done it will be a golden brown and a most delicious dish to be served with mashed potatoes.

Breakfast Dish—Soak one pound codfish over night in cold water, then break in six or eight pieces. Take one onion, mince, then put in skillet with spoonful lard; brown, add codfish and one cup cold boiled rice and put over top one cup tomatoes; cover tight for twenty minutes.

One Hundred Ginger Cookies Without Butter, Eggs or Milk—One cup bacon drippings, one cup light brown sugar, one cup molasses, one tablespoon soda dissolved in one-half cup hot coffee, one tablespoon vinegar, five cups flour and one tablespoon ginger sifted togethed. Mix together in order given, let stand over night, roll out in morning and bake. This makes 100 delicious cookies, using a three-inch cooky cutter.

Cranberry - Apple Sauce — One pound cranberries, four tart apples; cook together until soft; put through wire sieve, return to stove, cook again, adding three cups sugar. Put in sherbet glasses and let set.

WINTER RELISH

One head cabbage, one quart boiled red beets, two cups brown sugar, one tablespoon salt, one green pepper, two big onions, one-fourth teaspoon red pepper, piece of horseradish. Put through food chopper, put in jars, cover with raw vinegar. Do not cook anything but beets. This can be made in winter as well as summer.

To four pounds of white peeled figs add three pounds sugar, juice of eight sour oranges and four lemons, with the peel of one lemon sliced. Boil slowly 1½ hours

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

A Story About the Sungod.

The Goddess of Night Had Spread Her Dark Mantle.

"KIDDIES, have I ever told you any of the Greek myths?" asked daddy.

"No, daddy," said Evelyn.

"A myth, kiddies, is a little story about real things told in a fanciful way. The Greeks always saw the spirit behind everything. There was the spirit of the wind and the sun, the moon, the trees, the rivers just as in a person we see what they do, but the 'spirit' that makes them do things is hidden.

"I'll explain it a little further in this way: When you sing or talk or walk, what you do people can see or hear, but the little spirit inside you which makes you do these things no one can see or hear. You only know about that yourself. These spirits of things the Greeks called gods.

"So the Greeks when the sun came up each morning out of the east saw the sun, but the spirit which made it appear and give light was hidden from them, so they called this spirit the sun god and named him Apollo.

"Zeus, the great god of all, the god of the wide spreading sky, was Apollo's father, and Latona, the goddess of the night, was his mother.

"Not only was Apollo the sun god; he was the god of music, of poetry, of all the arts, and the Greeks made statues of him as beautiful as they could think of a man as being. Some of these statues showed Apollo bearing in his hands a seven stringed lyre, a sort of harp.

"He was supposed to love very high mountains, because you see when he drove his chariot up out of the east each morning he would shoot a dart of light upon the very tiptop of the mountain peak first of all."

"But, daddy, how was he the god of these other things, of music and poetry and all the arts?" asked puzzled little Evelyn.

"I'll tell you. Come here to the window with me. This is a very dark night. There is no moon, no stars, tonight. All the color which we love, even the forms of the trees, have been wiped out by the darkness of the night. But tomorrow morning, when dawn breaks over the land, or, in the words of the Greek myth, when Apollo appears upon the horizon in his chariot drawn by snow white steeds, everything will be changed.

"The sky will grow rosy with glorious color, the trees and fields appear, the birds will begin to sing, and soon the world over which Latona, the goddess of night, had spread her dark mantle will be all fair and sweet before us again, and the people who are obliged to lay aside their tasks will take them up again under the light of a new day."

RUNAWAY JUNE

By special arrangement for the Daily Press a photo-drama corresponding to the installments of "Runaway June," may now be seen at Proctor's Front Street Theatre each Thursday. By arrangement made with the Mutual Film Company it is not only possible to read "Runaway June" each week, but also afterward to see moving pictures illustrating our story.

SIXTH EPISODE.

The Siege of the House of O'Keefe

CHAPTER I.

A PLATOON of the finest wheeled out of the station house and down Deshley street, their brass buttons gleaming in the light of the sunset. Opposite the little fountain of the Cupid with the chipped nose and in front of Tim Courky's saloon the platoon halted and saluted the bent and twisted Widow O'Keefe, standing on her doorstep. Had not the veteran Dan O'Keefe been the most popular man on the force? In all his life Dan had never made an arrest off his own beat or on if he could help it or made trouble for a brother officer or refused to lie for his friends.

Out of the third story window leaned a pair of gleaming gums, surrounding which was the pleasing, high cheek boned face of the one who was known solely as Marie. Sergeant Clancy stepped across to convey the time of day to the Widow O'Keefe. Sammy O'Keefe, a fine, tall boy with a curly head, came to the door and gripped the hand of Sergeant Clancy with the grip of a man.

Suddenly the red gummed young woman in the window brightened until she glistened and waved a red hand energetically, the Widow O'Keefe put twenty additional wrinkles of joyous welcome in her countenance, young Sammy O'Keefe straightened a full inch and pinked with pleasure, Sergeant Clancy and the platoon of the finest saluted and looked their rough gentlest, and the last ray of the setting sun shot across on the cracked nose Cupid and reddened him into life.

"It's a fine evenin'."

A beautiful young girl had come hurrying down from the corner, her fur cap set jauntily on her wavy brown hair and a green tassel dangling over one ear. She slackened her pace as she came in sight of all these friends and breathed a sigh of relief. She was safe here. And as if to reassure herself she glanced back over her shoulder. That had become a habit with her of late. The look of worry swept instantly from her brow as her big eyes turned shyly up to the stalwart platoon. A friendly nod and a radiant smile for each of the big policemen, a word of inquiry for Pat Casey's little Maggie, a wave of the trimly gloved hand to Marie in the window, a sudden flash of mischief as she primly returned the salute of Sergeant Clancy, a pat on the hand of Widow O'Keefe, a touch of silvery laughter for Sammy, and she had hurried up the stairs.

"She's the sunshine of the precinct, the darlin'," declared the Widow O'Keefe.

"She's a lady!" announced Sergeant Clancy with deep conviction.

"I'll tell you somethin'." The widow inclined her head confidentially. So did Sergeant Clancy. So did Sammy. "She's hidin' from some one. God bless her!"

"Oh, is she?" And the officer of the law glanced up at the third story window. It was vacant. "Whoever it is, they're no good."

"They are not." And the Widow O'Keefe collected all her wrinkles about her lips.

"She's safe here," asserted Sergeant Clancy and, with a grin, jerked his thumb over his shoulder toward the stalwart platoon. She in the midst of her friends. Good evenin', Mrs. O'Keefe. Good evenin', Sammy."

He strode across the street. "Boys," said he, "our little friend up yonder don't want to be found. Neither does our friend Marie."

As one man the platoon glanced up at the vacant third floor window and nodded, and at the word of command they faced left and marched. Then, and not until then, Officer Morgan and Officer Toole, the pair in front, dropped out of the ranks and stood at attention while the platoon passed between them, and when the platoon had turned the corner they wheeled. Side by side they marched into Tim Courky's saloon.

"Good evenin', boys. And what can I do for you?" asked Tim Courky.

"A glass of water, Tim," said Moran.

"The same for me, Tim," said Officer Toole.

"It's a fine evenin'," said Tim Courky, and on the bar he set a large glass of foaming yellow water for Officer Moran and a small glass of rich brown water for Officer Toole.

Marie at that moment was brushing the shining hair of her beautiful young mistress, and both were happy in that occupation.

Poor, dear Ned! How June did long for him! But he must be patient, as she must. They would be far, far happier when, earning her own living, she could go to him independently, exchanging love for love, not love for charity.

Ned Warner at that moment was approaching the little cracked Cupid of the fountain, and as he came down angling Duck alley his mind was in a whirl of savage fury. Gilbert Blye! Everywhere that Ned or his detectives had found a trace of June they had found a trace of Blye. Even now the scoundrel was in this vicinity searching, as Ned was, for June. Or was he following to join her? Ned Warner clinched his fists, and his face blackened with passion.

And Blye? He was only a few rods away. He was coming down diagonal Deshley street, and he was at about the same distance from the corner of Tim Courky's saloon as was Ned on Duck alley. From her third story window of the O'Keefe house June happened to glance out. In the gathering dusk she saw the two figures steadily approaching the corner, where they would meet under the light; then as Ned Warner's deadly clutch gripped around the throat of Gilbert Blye she would be able to recognize their upturned faces.

It was then that Officer Moran and Officer Toole bade a pleasant evening to Tim Courky and strode side by side out of the door in the point of the wedge just as Ned Warner and Gilbert Blye approached the light, Ned Warner with murder in his heart and Gilbert Blye all unconscious of his peril, and Officer Moran turned left, and Officer Toole turned right.

"Have you seen a girl wearing a fur cap with a green tassel?" asked Ned Warner and Gilbert Blye almost simultaneously of Officer Moran and Officer Toole.

"I did," Officer Moran replied. "She was here only a few minutes ago and dropped a letter in a box."

"Does she live down this way?" asked Ned.

"Never saw her before." Officer Moran impressed Ned's features on his memory. "I think she took an uptown car."

He hurried away.

Officer Toole was not quite so quick in his mind, because he was more elaborate. He held a thick forefinger in the deep dimple of his chin.

"A girl with a fur cap and a green tassel over one ear," he repeated, making the normal gesture for the tassel, as the black Vandyked man had done. "Oh, yes, a girl with a green tassel over one ear! Yes, there was a girl with a red tassel over her ear playin' shinny here this mornin', but she was a little girl, Pat Casey's Maggie. And there was a girl with a blue tassel down here yesterday workin' for an orphans' benefit." All this by way of assembling his mind while he studied Gilbert Blye whisker by whisker. "But the girl with the green tassel—rather a small young lady, roundlike, and a pretty face, with a smile?"

"Yes!" Blye was all eagerness.

"Well, I don't know anything about her myself, but I think I saw such a girl askin' a question of Officer Morrisey, two blocks beyond."

Blye looked up the street to where, against the hill, Officer Morrisey stood, gaunt and stiff, handling his tangle of dray traffic.

"Thank you." And Blye struck out for Officer Morrisey.

That busy person scarcely looked at the man with the black Vandyke; just one roll of his gray eye.

"No."

"Oh!" Mr. Blye was very much disappointed. "The officer below said that he had seen such a girl talking to you."

"Yes, I remember. She asked me the time of day, and she headed over this way."

"Over this way" was at right angles to Blye's previous course. By the time he reached Traffic Officer Schmeltz Patrolman O'Malley had carried the word to that corner from Officer Toole, so that Schmeltz was prepared for the coming of Blye, and by the time Blye got away from Schmeltz the word was all through the district.

"Have you seen a girl wearing a fur cap with a green tassel over one ear?"

Gilbert Blye had asked this question of fourteen policemen. Something struck him as familiar in the way this one held a thick forefinger in the deep dimple of his chin. It was Officer Toole again.

"Sure," said Officer Toole, with remarkable promptness. "She went by here not a minute ago. Right that way." And he pointed up the hill toward Officer Morrisey; then as Blye started off, panting, he held his side.

"Never saw her before."

"Oh, well, it was dull times on the beat these nights!"

The dusk had deepened into darkness when Officer Moran's palm proved not broad enough to carry away the grin from under his yellow mustache, and the grin, escaping, broadened into a huge laugh.

Blye stood it with remarkable quietness.

"It seems to me I've been furnishing a little amusement for the boys," he surmised, frowning.

"You have," laughed Moran. "It's what in Scotland they call 'chasing the gowk.' As for the girl you mentioned," and he swung his club happily, "I don't suppose one of us has ever laid eyes on her."

Blye's black eyes dwelt on Moran piercingly; then his suave smile came.

"Have a cigar." And he passed over one which Officer Moran kept for Christmas.

Blye stopped smiling as he walked away, and his eyes narrowed in concentrated thought. He stroked his black Vandyke with his long, lean, white fingers. They had had their joke with him, these thick policemen. They had made him dash madly from corner to corner, over many weary blocks, but without knowing that they were doing so they had convinced him of one thing—that June lived in this vicinity and that they all knew of her.

He was passing the corners as he arrived at this uncertainty. The corners were a tangled knot of street and alley intersections where one might angle off in almost any direction and go no where.

Ned Warner at that moment was sending a score of detectives into this neighborhood.

Tired and half famished, Blye ate his delayed dinner in company with the vivacious brunette Tommy Thomas and the white mustached, pink faced Orin Cunningham and with a heavy, silent, thick eyelidded man who wore short cropped hair on his big round head.

Tommy and Cunningham and Blye sat for some time together after the big man had left. They were evidently planning something.

Finally all three went out and stepped into Blye's luxurious limousine. Before they had gone very far Blye, sitting by the girl, leaned toward her and began talking to her in low tones. By and by the trace of a smile came to her lips.

In a tastefully furnished drawing room a kindly looking woman held the bubbling Tommy's hand between both her own while they talked. There were both sadness and loneliness in Mrs. Villard as she drew Tommy to a seat on the couch beside her, but she had spirit, too, for she displayed a most eager interest in the beautiful portrait of June Warner, which presently peered up at her from inside the lid of June's little gold watch.

When Tommy rejoined the men in the brilliantly lighted limousine she handed Blye June's watch with a triumphant laugh.

CHAPTER II.

JUNE, busy with her own thoughts, did not notice the closed cab which stood at the Corners the next morning as she left the house. As she passed by, however, walking briskly up to the surface car, Officer Mack, who had been watching that cab and the handsome brunette whose vivacious face had occasionally appeared at the windows, saw the cab start and slowly move away.

June had stepped from her uptown car and was crossing to Broadway when a closed cab passed her, turned and drew up from the opposite direction, and a gloved hand tapped on the window. Tommy Thomas, the girl to whom Gilbert Blye had introduced her!

"Which way, pretty maid?" Tommy's glowing face protruded from the door of the cab.

"To the employment office, kind lady," she laughed, and June exhibited her little address slip.

"I'll take you over," offered Tommy.

The two girls laughed together as they drove away, but at the next corner Tommy excused herself for a moment and ran into a drug store to telephone. Tommy hurried out and returned to her place in the cab with June, but Mrs. Villard, to whom she had phoned, remained at the telephone and called up another number.

When June walked into the Acme Employment bureau, having chosen a new one, quite naturally, since the old one had sent her to a gambling house, she found a new address ready for her. A lady wanted a companion.

Her eyes widened with pleasure as she saw the beauty of Mrs. Villard's home. It was scarcely visible from the street, set back of and below a tangled profusion of shrubbery and trees. Before it rolled the broad, smooth Hudson. Her timidity was set entirely at rest when in the cozy parlor just back of the stiff drawing room she met the kindly faced Mrs. Villard.

Companion? She was not to be a companion to this charming and sweet and yet sometimes sad lady. She was to be a friend, a sister, a daughter. They knew that much in the first three minutes of their conversation, and then Mrs. Villard took June up to a wonderful bedroom which had once been a child's, upon the walls of which were peacocks and roosters and gnomes and elves. It was visiting day among the Villard cottages and the cottages beyond which were not Villard cottages, and June had the joy once more of giving, mingled with the sorrow that there was need.

It was late when they arrived at the cottage of the Groggs, and as they entered the front door Mr. Grogg came up from the lower road and entered the back door, fully ten feet behind his breath. He was a red faced man with no blend in his countenance whatsoever. Nose, ears and all, he was the same tint of red from where his neck rose out of its sprawling cellar to where his low forehead disappeared in his sprawling yellow hair.

"D'afternoon, ladies," observed Mr. Grogg cheerfully and bowed his smile in the direction of the severe eyed Mrs. Villard and the shocked June. "Brought you a little present, Louz," and, with as much extravagant importance as if this had been the rajah's jewel, he bestowed on Mrs. Grogg the potted token of his thoughtfulness, a geranium in a papier mache pot.

Mrs. Grogg was a thin woman, chiefly distinguished for drooplness and hollowness as viewed from almost any direction.

June and Tommy Thomas.

"Al"—the woman's voice concealed a tremor—"can we pay Mrs. Villard anything on the rent today?"

"Ain't you got any money?"

"Why, Al, you didn't give me any money."

The man searched unsteadily through all his pockets. He finally discovered a half dollar and a dime.

"Never mind," broke in the soft voice of Mrs. Villard as she saw tears in the eyes of Mrs. Grogg.

Mrs. Villard, who had come to know life in many sordid phases, took June away.

"Have you an evening gown, June, dear?" asked Mrs. Villard in a matter of fact sort of way and eying June solicitously as she made this abrupt change in their subject of thought.

"Yes," drawled June. "I'll get it tomorrow."

"We are to have guests this evening." And Mrs. Villard studied June's height and figure with a calculating eye. "I have a new little dinner dress which I am sure you can wear charmingly. You are to be my family, my dear," she rattled on to cover June's embarrassed half protests. "I want you everywhere with me. We shall have to do some shopping, you and I, one of these days. You like pretty things, don't you?"

"Why, of course," laughed June, and she colored under Mrs. Villard's obvious admiration.

"Then you shall have them. My, what a pleasure it will be to make a dolly out of you, child! We must run right up and dress."

The new little lace dinner frock did become June charmingly, but she was very thoughtful as she sat among the gay peacocks and elves and gnomes, very thoughtful and very sad, upon the tiny bench in front of the windows overlooking the broad river. Her brain was seething with new ideas, knowledge which had been thrust upon her, sympathies which tugged and pulled at her.

First Mrs. Grogg. June had feared for that forlorn woman, feared for her at this moment, alone down there with that animal who had fallen so far from the image of God. Yet what was there to fear? Mrs. Grogg had endured and was enduring now and would endure again, and when her lord and master happened to be sober and happened to have any money he might give his wife a little of it, might take compassion on her dire poverty and her need. The geraniums proved that he had a trace of the quality concealed in him. It was the same old problem, June's own problem, only in its most sordid form. Dear Ned! There was no comparison, yet it was always the man who owned, the man who gave. The woman could only receive. She could not give because the man possessing her already owned all that she had to offer, even her love.

On the corner of Vander street and Duck alley was Ned, interviewing a skinny legged girl who sniffled continuously, both while she was pulling up her stockings and while she was not. In her cheek was a wad of gum, and in her eye was all the lively expression found in the eye of a dead fish. Ned Warner dredged for information for two sordid minutes and went away, and Officer Tierman walked straight over to the stocking puller.

"What did that guy want?" he demanded.

"He was astin' about a girl."

"This party described the girl, didn't he?"

"Uh-hunh—sawed off blond. Say, what is it to you?" And she sniffled away.

Officer Tierman walked back to his post with a troubled brow, and he shook his long, narrow head as he looked after the industrious Ned Warner.

CHAPTER III.

JUNE sprang suddenly from her little bench overlooking the river. Mrs. Grogg and her intolerable position persisted in jumping into June's mind and staying there. The guests had not yet arrived. The impulsive girl hurried down and out of the back door, across the beautiful rear porch and down the winding and twisting little steps toward the Villard cottages. Mrs. Grogg was sitting in the kitchen in stony silence when June arrived there, a silence from which weeping had long since passed.

"Sit down." And Mrs. Grogg gave up the unbroken chair. "Al's sleeping it off."

"I just ran in," observed the girl.

"Yes. Tell Mrs. Villard that if Al gets home with any money tomorrow I'll save her out what I can."

"Oh, I didn't come about the rent!" June returned hastily. "I just ran in to see if there was anything I can do."

"No, there's nothing can be done. Al drank before I married him, and he drinks yet."

June's eyes contracted.

"Why does he have his own way about it?"

"Because he's my husband. I'm scared of Al when he's drunk."

"And you're not afraid of him when he's sober?"

"Well, no. There don't seem to be anything particular about Al to be scared of."

The horror of drunkenness — that was it.

"I wouldn't be afraid of him!" June suddenly popped out.

The woman looked at her with widened eyes.

The door moved, and Al Grogg appeared in the doorway in his shirt sleeves, collarless, his hair touseled.

"What you got for supper?" he growled.

"Why, Al—I—I didn't think you'd want any." And the woman's voice was trembling.

"Oh, you didn't think so! Well, I want some supper!"

"Why, Al, I ain't got any money."

"Well, why ain't you? Come here!" His fist went up.

"Al!" A wail of terror was in the voice.

June stepped swiftly from behind the stove and confronted the man, her small fists clinched, her cheeks flaming, her eyes blazing. She glared at him all her contempt and all her loathing and something more—her superiority. The fist which had been upraised came slowly down. His shoulders drooped. He was whipped.

Al Grogg's wife watched that transition in him with amazement—the drooping of the eyes, the lowering of the fist, the drooping of the shoulders. And a small young woman in a fluffy evening gown had done this thing!

Smash! A geranium pot just missed Al Grogg's head and broke on the bedroom door. Bang! Another spraddling geranium which had split down the center brushed Al's cheek as its pot crashed past.

"Looky here!" Al Grogg's tone was chiefly one of surprise.

Other flowerpots followed from Mrs. Grogg's hands. She had at last discovered that Al Grogg could be made afraid.

June looked at her a moment and then trudged up the hill somewhat frightened at her own responsibility in this domestic upheaval. The guests had arrived when she reached the house. Tommy Thomas! With Tommy was a white mustached, pink faced man. The runaway bride was surprised and puzzled at the appearance of Tommy in this place, but the white mustached man occupied more of her thought. They were finishing dinner when Mrs. Villard was called away. The white mustached man was trying to induce June to smoke a cigarette.

June suddenly looked up and saw in the doorway between the portieres of heavy velours the dark, handsome face of Gilbert Blye!

"Tut, tut, Orin!" came the suave voice of the black Vandyked man. "I won't have this little runaway bride taught bad habits."

June flushed and turned with some embarrassment to Mrs. Villard, who followed Blye into the doorway.

Blye! Always Blye! He hovered about after they had lounged into the billiard room and conservatory, but the white mustached man monopolized June. Every time she tried to get away from him Tommy Thomas managed by some accident to throw them together again. June finally left the guests and went to her room. She had decided to go back to the O'Keefe house of refuge.

Closer and closer had gathered the siege on the house of O'Keefe. Bit by bit, atom by atom, traces had been picked up.

Closer and closer grew the coils until Marie no longer dared stick her nose out of the window lest some one should report her to Ned or to June's father and mother. But Ned's detectives finally got definite information.

One day a long, lean slinker with cadaverous cheeks came up to Ned from Duck alley and looked up at the O'Keefe residence with solemn interest.

"That's the place," he said.

"Yes; it's the place." Ned Warner's voice was hollow, but there was a jubilant ring in it. "Go and tell Mr. Moore."

The lean individual hurried away and presently came back on the driver seat of a limousine. Inside were the stern faced father and the gentle faced mother of June and June's bosom friend, the ebullient Iris Blethering, and Bobbie Blethering.

"This is the place," said stern John Moore, looking up at the narrow front of the O'Keefe residence, and, stalking out, he helped the others alight.

Sammy O'Keefe came to the door in answer to Ned's ring, and a much wrinkled face poked itself out of the second story window.

"Does June Warner live here?" asked Ned.

"No, sir."

The head in the second story window was jerked in immediately, and there was a hasty shuffle on the stairs leading to the third floor, a shuffle made by setting up the right foot first and pulling the left one up to it. Also there was a mad scrambling on the third floor, while Sammy O'Keefe in the front doorway looked the throng in the eye with admirable truthfulness and swore that there was no June Warner there, no June Moore, no June anything; that there had never been any June in the house except the one between May and July; that there had never been in this house any such young lady as the one who had just been described; that there probably never would be; that he had never seen such a young lady or heard of one or expected to or hoped to.

"What's the matter here, Sammy?" the Widow O'Keefe herself asked, panting considerably and holding a much warped hand over her heart, but talking shrilly nevertheless.

"Come, search the house!" she proudly dared them. "If you find hide or hair of any such two young ladies, one or either of them, I'll go to jail—if you can find an officer to make the arrest. Come on in, all of you!"

Some of them were for holding back, but Ned Warner was perfectly callous as to whether or not he took any one's word or doubted it. He meant to find his wife.

By the circumstance of bringing home a genuine gourd to little Maggie Casey, June came home around by an extremely back way and so missed the searchers.

"Search the cellar, if you please!" mocked the Widow O'Keefe, leading the way. "Maybe you'll look in the kindly bin! And here's the coal chute! Now come on upstairs! Here's the hall that you saw before, and here's my son Sammy, a fine young boy still; and this is the parlor. The organ there, sir, is not hollow, as you can tell by lifting up the lids! Open all the doors and see."

The place was vacant. No one was there. Ned Warner, puzzled and determined, inspected the third floor. No results. The Widow O'Keefe had gathered up all the clothes and belongings and put them in a sheet and poked them into Mrs. McPherson's third story window.

June Warner tripped lightly across the street, let herself in at the Widow O'Keefe's front door and trotted briskly up the stairs. She swung around the curving banister.

"Maybe you'd like to look up the chimneys," suggested the Widow O'Keefe on the third floor.

Ned Warner walked toward the hall door.

June Warner started up to the third floor!

The Ideal Trip for Every American in 1915

23 Days Touring America

Four Women Will Take a Trans-Continental Tour and See the Wonderful Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco

THE PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS WILL PAY THE BILLS

THE PLAN

THE City of Plainfield and vicinity have been divided into three districts—two in the city and borough, and one outside. The selection of the party will be put squarely up to the readers of THE PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS, and their votes will decide the winners. The candidate in each district securing the greatest number of votes will be entitled to this splendid twenty-three days' trip through the most picturesque part of America, and attend the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco, and the Exposition at San Diego. Every cent of expense from the time the winners leave the City of Plainfield until they return will be paid by THE PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS.

First Class travel by special Pullman train, First Class hotel accommodations, automobiles, porters' fees, tips, amusements en route—we pay all the bills. A competent tour conductor, representing Thos. Cook & Son, the well-known Tourists' Agency, will accompany the party, which will be an exclusive one, and no trouble or expense will be spared to add to the comfort and pleasure of our tourists while enroute.

A CONTEST WITHOUT A LOSER

The management of THE PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS has decided to be most liberal to all candidates who may enroll. In addition to the four splendid trips to be given the district winners, to all the candidates who do not win trips and remain active until the end of the campaign, a commission of 10 per cent. will be paid on new subscriptions and 5 per cent. commission will be paid on old subscriptions, so that everyone who may participate will be awarded according to her merits and the efforts she may put forth.

$25.00 In Gold Will Be Given To The Person Who Is First To Nominate The Highest Vote-Getter Of The Contest

NOMINATION BLANK.

I respectfully nominate

Mrs. .....

RULE NO. 1.

The contest begins Tuesday, February 23d, and closes at 10:00 p. m., Saturday, April 17th, 1915.

RULE NO. 2.—NOMINATION.

Any woman over sixteen years of age, married or single, of good moral character and reputation, residing in any of the contest districts may enter the contest by making out one of the Application Blanks (Ask for Blank), and sending, or bringing in her Application to the Contest Manager, The Plainfield Daily Press.

Candidates must enter from the district in which they reside.

The Contest Manager is to decide any question regarding proper distribution of candidates.

Candidates moving from one district to another, after having been nominated, will be retained in the district from which first nominated.

Nominations of candidates may be made by any one at any time during the contest without cost.

The management of The Plainfield Daily Press reserves the right to reject any nomination or application at its discretion.

Any contestant wishing to have her name withdrawn from the list of candidates must write or call personally, as positively no telephone withdrawals will be considered.

No candidate's name can be substituted for another's.

The first publication of the names of candidates will appear Tuesday, March 2d.

RULE NO. 3.—DISTRICTS.

There are three separate districts from which to enter, as described on the opposite page.

Contestants will compete against their sister candidates only in their respective districts, but may secure subscriptions anywhere they choose.

Any district that shows little or no activity will be annulled, and the candidates in that district will be transferred to the district nearest to it from a votes standpoint. Merging of districts to be at the discretion of the Contest Manager.

RULE NO. 4.—VOTING.

Each issue of the Plainfield Daily Press will contain a ballot good for one vote, when properly filled out with the name and district number of the candidate to whom it is to be credited.

No vote coupon will be printed in The Plainfield Daily Press during the last two weeks of the contest.

Votes can be obtained only by clipping from The Plainfield Daily Press or secured through the regular subscription channels.

Votes will be issued on paid-in-advance subscriptions to The Plainfield Daily Press during the life of the contest, for no shorter period than three months by carrier or mail. No subscriptions will be taken for a longer period than two years.

Candidates are not permitted to buy or sell votes.

STOCKHOLDERS ASKED TO HELP

Railroads Put Full Crew Law Question Up to the Stockholders.

Philadelphia, Feb. 24.

Direct appeal has been made to the army of railroad stockholders for their active support in the fight being made for repeal of the Full Crew Laws. Letters are going out to the shareholders of each of the twenty-one railroads operating in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

William H. Truesdale, president of the Lackawanna Railroad; E. B. Thomas, president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, are among those who have turned to stockholders for help. President Rea writes as follows:

"To you, as owners of the Pennsylvania Railroad, I now make appeal for your active, earnest and prompt support in a matter which most directly concerns your personal interests. The management greatly needs your assistance. I ask it in full belief that you will gladly respond.

"With twenty other railroads operating in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, your company is working through a public campaign for repeal of the Full Crew Laws. These work hardship upon the public, they are unfair to the great body of railroad employes, and the unnecessary costs they impose upon the companies strike even at the safety of your dividends.

"Pennsylvania Railroad stockholders number some 92,000—constituting a great army of the most substantial citizenship of the country. I ask you in your own interest and for the larger public weal, to talk to your friends and associates, to the end that they may clearly understand the matter and join you in urging directly upon the Legislatures of Pennsylvania and New Jersey the importance of repealing the Full Crew Laws at the present sessions."

PROPOSALS

For furnishing crushed stone and materials for culverts and cross-walks, to the Borough of North Plainfield:

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield at the regular meeting, February 5, 1915, notice is hereby given that the Mayor and Council will meet at the Council Chamber, Somerset Street, in the said Borough, on Friday, March 5, 1915, at 8 o'clock P. M., at which time and place said Mayor and Council will receive sealed proposals for furnishing crushed stone, and for furnishing materials for culverts and cross-walks as follows:

For crushed stone for the remainder of the year 1915, the bids to state the price per ton of 2,000 pounds, for furnishing each or any of the following sizes, the bid on each size to be independent of bids on any other size, viz:

Fine screenings of crushed stone, one-half inch crushed stone, one inch, one and one-half inch and two and one half inch crushed stone.

In such quantities, and delivered at such times and places in the Borough as the Street Commissioner may direct.

The above must be of the very best quality trap rock free from weathered stone, dirt, clay, or other foreign matter, and in every way acceptable to said Street Commissioner.

All stone furnished must be weighed on such scales as said Street Commissioner may from time to time direct and a voucher or way-bill must be delivered with every load to the said Street Commissioner or to his authorized representative.

Every bidder to whom any contract for crushed stone is awarded, must enter into written contract to furnish and deliver the same in strict compliance with the aforesaid terms and must furnish bond satisfactory to said Council, in the sum of $1,000 for the strict performance thereof.

At the same time sealed proposals will be received for furnishing the following materials for culverts and crosswalks:

Cover stone for culverts not larger than 4 feet by 3 feet by not less than 3½ inches in thickness, per square foot.

Curbing 16 inches by 4 inches, 3 to 6 feet long, per lineal foot.

Curbing 20 inches by 4 inches, 3 to 6 feet long, per lineal foot.

Cross-walk stone 24 inches by not less than 4 inches, 3 to 4½ feet long, Belgian edge, per lineal foot.

Cross-walk stone 30 inches by not less than 4 inches, 3 to 4½ feet long, Belgian edge, per lineal foot.

All to be of the best hard blue stone equal in quality and durability to stone from the Hudson River quarries.

Upon receipt of such bids or proposals the Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or their agents desire to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes.

The right to reject any and all bids is expressly reserved.

By order of the Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield, February 5, 1915.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

"THE $20,000,000 MYSTERY"

Remarkable Mystery Photo Play Being Shown Serially at Proctor's Theatre Each Wednesday.

"A BAG OF DIAMONDS."

From the time when Zudora received her terrible fright from the specter bearing the dagger-pierced heart, as set forth in Episode Eleven, events began to move with a rapidity that was marvellous. The strange destiny that has seemed to follow her from the beginning enmeshse her still more strongly, until there appears to be no escape. A burned fragment of a letter from her father, in which he tells of bequeathing the rich Zuroda mine in South Africa, to his daughter, has furnished a clue to John Storm, however, of which he, John Baird, the reporter, and Tom Hunt, the shrewd detective, are not slow to take advantage.

They do not know that the original will is in the possession of Madame Duval and her band, nor that news has come to this clever adventuress of a rich "strike" in the Zudora diamond mine. All they know is that for reasons of her own this dangerous woman has designs on the safety of Zudora, and for this reason a constant watch is kept on her movements.

From Madame Duval's viewpoint, the news of the "strike" is all-important. If the stake was worth playing for before, it has become a veritable bonanza now. Apparently, all the cards are in her hands. By means of forged papers Bruce, her able confederate, has convinced the mine superintendent, Henry Howard, that the mine has been sold to his chieftainess, and it is to her that Howard reports. When he receives a letter from Madame Duval, however, directing him to bring the mine's output to New York, the superintendent grows suspicious. He obeys, but plans to locate Zudora, while in that city and learn the truth from her.

It happens that when Howard arrives, he is taken at once to Madame Duval's home, where he gives a graphic account of the "strike," which will mean millions to the owner of the Zudora mine, and turns the diamonds he has brought with him over to his fair hostess. Tom Hunt, the detective, who is shadowing the house, sees and hears all, and speedily communicates what he has learned to Jim Baird, when the reporter relieves him in keeping guard over the headquarters of the conspirators.

Meanwhile, Captain Radcliffe, becoming suspicious after Howard has left—and it may be a trifle jealous of the impression he has made on Madame Duval—decides to drive him back across the ocean. He sees to it that Howard receives the secret warning of the band—the sign of the "Heart and Dagger"—but Howard is made of sterner stuff and decides to stay.

Once his decision is made known to Madame Duval, that resourceful woman determines to avoid all chance of discovery by having the stones he has brought out at once. In pursuance of this plan they are entrusted to Bill and Ike, two rascally members of the band, who are sworn under the organization's mystical oath to deliver the gems to a lapidary. The bag is then given to another of the gang, who, with these worthies as bodyguard sets out for the diamond-cutter's. He has not gone far, when Jim Baird, who has been on watch and suspects what is happening, holds him up and relieves him of the jewels. Then cleverly eluding the gunman's bodyguards, the reporter sets out for Mrs. Ramsey's where he triumphantly delivers the stones to Zudora.

News of this daring coup is brought to Madame Duval, who realizes that if further knowledge of the mine gets out, it will mean ruin to the band. Though frantic with rage, she is swift to act. Acting under her directions a number of her most trusted agents seize Howard and overpower him. The mine superintendent is taken to a certain sanatorium, a resort conducted by one Dr. Israel Munn, an unscrupulous quack, and there he is kept under close guard.

Madame Duval's next move is to get possession of the lost diamonds of Zudora. So it happens that after a happy evening with his sweetheart, John Storm is startled to learn the next morning that she has disappeared in the night. He takes counsel with Baird and Tom Hunt, and after a week's unflagging search, Zudora is located. She, also is a prisoner in Dr. Munn's sanatorium.

The three devise a plan, which though desperate, seems feasible. Incidentally, to Jim Baird falls the lion's share of the dangerous work, which the plan entails. He it is that locates in just what part of the building Zudora is imprisoned and who leads the attack. Together they force their way into the sanatorium, and while Baird and Hunt hold off the doctor and his hirelings, Zudora is carried off in the strong arms of her lover.

As for the crooked medical man, he receives his just deserts, but as often happens, the real culprits, Madame Duval and her band of conspirators, are enabled to escape and continue their preparations to accomplish the possession of Zudora's fortune. They still have the will, which is really Zudora's only title to the fabulously wealthy mine.

FOUR WOMEN TO VISIT FAIR

fortunate four next summer.

Now, turn to the double-page announcement and read every word there printed. Digest the whole. Then decide that you will be one of the four guests next summer.

Where Man Figures.

One hears the male readers of the Plainfield Daily Press exclaim: "Oh, pshaw! Men aren't eligible to enter this contest; it's a woman's affair."

Now, don't be grouchy, Mr. Man. True, you can't enter the contest yourself, but you can nominate your favorite and put her in the way of taking this trip of a lifetime. Twenty-five dollars in gold will be paid to the person who first nominates the candidate receiving the greatest number of votes of the contest. Oh, yes, Mr. Man, you will figure in the thing all right. Just read the double-page advertisement and find out how.

Contest Without a Loser.

The management of the Daily Press has decided to be most liberal in its treatment of all the candidates who may enter this contest, and, in addition to the four trips mentioned above, a commission of ten per cent. and five per cent. will be paid to all candidates who do not win prize trips and remain active until the end of the contest period; so that everyone is rewarded in proportion to the efforts put forth by them.

The Itinerary.

Here is the itinerary of the Plainfield Daily Press' Trans-Continental Panama-Pacific International Exposition Tour: Traveling and visiting through New York, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, the American Rockies, the Grand Canyon in Arizona, the Royal Gorge, the two Expositions in California, Santa Cruz and the Big Trees, Santa Barbara and the Old Missions, Salt Lake City, Denver, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Riverside, Chicago; leaving Plainfield by special train July 3.

Daily Itinerary.

First Day—Leave New York by specail train about 2 p. m.

Second Day—Arrive Chicago about 5 p. m. and leave via Sante Fe Railroad about 8 p. m.

Third Day—En route through Kansas and Colorado.

Fourth Day—Arrive Albuquerque about noon. Stop of about one hour will be made to visit Harvey's Museum of Indian Relics.

Fifth Day—Arrive at Grand Canyon 8 a. m. The Grand Canyon of Arizona is perhaps the most impressive sight in the world. Lunch at "Hotel El Tovar." Leave 7:30 p. m.

Sixth Day—Arrive Redlands about 1 p. m. Drive to Smiley Heights. Arrive at Riverside 4 p. m. Opportunity to inspect the famous Mission Inn and to attend the organ recital. Evening dinner at the "Mission Inn."

Seventh Day—Arrive San Diego in the morning. Transfer and admission to the Exposition at Balboa Park. Leave about 11 p. m.

Eighth Day—Arrive Los Angeles 7 a. m. Transfer to hotel. Special and beaches, also choice of following trips:

Santa Cattlina Island vit San Pedro and steamer; Mt. Lowe or reserved seat to California Mission Play.

The California Mission Play. Both the play and the Mission are of great interest. The old church, founded in 1771, is most fascinating. One hundred actors are engaged in the presentation of the play. The Indians who take part are descendents of the original Indians converted by the Franciscan Fathers.

Ninth Day—At Los Angeles. Leave 11 p. m.

Tenth Day—Arrive Santa Barbara. Drive of about two hours, including Santa Barbara Mission. Leave about noon for daylight ride along the shores of the Pacific Ocean.

"ED" HARDING TO SING AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Edward Harding, Jr., of this city, who is well known as a tenor soloist, has been engaged by the management of the Plainfield Theater to assist in a new feature that was introduced at the Plainfield playhouse, yesterday. Messrs. Counihan and Shannon presented for the first time one of New York's latest innovations in the moving picture field, the singing moving pictures. The film deals entirely with the song that is to be rendered, showing the author at work, his method of casting about for inspiration and finally completing the song and trying it out for the first time. The idea originated with the Double Cleff Singing Picture Company, of New York.

YOUNG FOLKS ENJOY A MARTHA WASHINGTON PARTY

A party of young people from the Park Avenue Baptist church met at the home of Miss Florence Hawkins, East Seventh street, last evening and enjoyed an informal program of music and games. LIBERTY OF THE PRESS DEFENDED Stirring Sermon to Jr. O. U. A. M. by Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson.

POWER OF THE CHURCH

Preacher Declares it to Be the Greatest of All Our Civilization, Revealing the Way to Character, Vision and Eternal Power.

Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, preached a stirring sermon to the members of the local councils of the Jr. O. U. A. M., Sunday night, who attended in a body. Among other things, Dr. Hudson said:

"Patriotism is devotion to country. It carries with it a determination to support its principles and defend its flag. Christian patriotism takes nothing away from the above devotion and loyalty. Rather does it enhance it and enrich the experience; but it also gives a world view and recognizes the universal rights of man and the inherent value of character, and also gives a dynamic and a spiritual point of view. It illumines the entire relationship of man, recognizing good wherever found and defending right upon the basis of spirituual values.

"There are three great institutions among others that have glorified our America. The government, founded upon our Constitution, declaring the rights of the individual in the freedom of speech and liberty of conscience. No force or institution shall be allowed to destroy or deprive us of our liberties blood bought. No Congress shall ever take away the liberties of the press. A democracy guarantees our rights, and the people will see to it that the principles of democracy are never abridged. One of our mightiest institutions is the public school. The bulwark of our intelligence, the instructor of our youth, the blending influence that Americanizes all races. We are proud of the system and shall maintain it as fundamental to the well-being and culture of the race, since it gives to rich and poor alike the possibilities of training and education.

"But, perhaps, the greatest of all, the church of Jesus Christ, is the power of our civilization, the inspiration of every advance the light that shines, revealing the way to character, to vision and eternal power. No one would live in a churchless community. Property would depreciate without churches. The people perish without vision. The church is the conservor of all spiritual hope and blessing. Why should not every one sustain the church and add to its strength.

"But truth is most clearly seen in personality. There are two great characters in American history, among many others. Lincoln and Washington tower above them all. The one from humblest circumstances to loftiest attainment; the other, born to wealth and position, unspoiled and heroic in purpose and clear in vision and mighty in wisdom. The eminence of both these is a fine expression of the opportunities of the American man regardless of caste or condition. Opportunity is to him who will, and our institutions are his ladder. These great characters were rich in native ability, boundless in vision, mighty in purpose and glorious in faith. The great epitome of all virtue and vision, faith and finality, the inspiration of all life, the incarnation of truth is Jesus Christ. He is above and beyond us. He leads us. On him and his teachings, such as the Sermon on the Mount, do we build our church and our civilization. In him are the true and everlasting principles of democracy. With a true Christian social consciousness will we maintain our rights. We will put the Bible into the public schools. We will defend our flag and our rights and everything that is fundamental to our inheritance, and no power or potentate shall ever recall them. Here we stand, God helping us, and eternal truth shall live."

Bound Brook.

Bound Brook Council, No. 1339, Royal Arcanum, will meet in Hamilton Hall, this evening, when Grand Regent Harring is expected to be present.

Mrs. John A. Mingle was given a birthday surprise party at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Giddes, on Saturday night. Progressive games, dancing and refreshments were enjoyed by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ford, of New Brunswick, were Sunday visitors with friends in South Bound Brook.

Postmaster and Mrs. Joseph V. D. Field were week-end visitors with friends at Fishkill-on-Hudson.

What Could Be Done with the $2,000,000 Which the Full Crew Laws Arbitrarily Take From the Railroads

Increased Railroad facilities, better service, greater safety and convenience, business expansion and the employment of a great number of men now idle would follow the repeal of the wasteful Pennsylvania and New Jersey Full Crew Laws.

Facts—Not Theories

$2,000,000 would buy 2000 steel coaches.
It would pay for 80 locomotives.
It would purchase 67,000 tons of rails.
It would return 5 per cent. on $40,000,000.
It would block-signal 1000 miles of track.
It would eliminate 65 grade crossings.
It would pay for 2000 freight cars.
It would build 200 new stations at $10,000.
It would provide additional freight terminal facilities.
It would buy 2,500,000 railroad ties.
It would pay for 2,000,000 tons of coal.
The iron and steel industry would be stimulated, furnishing steel for new cars, rails, bridges, buildings, etc.
Miners and coke oven operatives would get increased work as industry expanded.
New construction would mean busy times for the Lehigh region cement plants and their workmen.
Thousands of architects, contractors, building trades workers, electrical concerns and electricians, skilled mechanics, carpenters, miners, and day laborers would so get work.

With these incontestible facts thus clearly set forth, the twenty-one railroads of Pennsylvania and New Jersey feel it their duty to place the fate of the Full Crew Laws in the hands of the people. They are convinced the people prefer that employment be given to thousands for whom there actually is work to knowing that $2,000,000 a year is being paid in mandatory wages for extra men for whom there exists no essential service to perform and whose presence, it has been conclusively shown, increases—rather than decreases—the hazards of railroad operation.

MAKE YOURS A PUBLIC SERVICE STORE

This is the age of service. The rewards of today go to the men who give the most in return.

Translated for you, Mr. Merchant, this means that the customers are certain to patronize the store that will give them what they want when they want it.

Cut prices may bring some trade, but better service will bring more.

This is the age when people are reading the advertising in their daily newspapers because they are finding it a distinct part of the service they expect their newspapers to give.

When a nationally distributed article of merit is advertised in the newspapers a demand for it sets in right away.

People want to see it and, if satisfied, want to buy it.

They are going to turn to the store that lets them know it has the article. That store will be giving them the service they want at that particular moment.

If it is a good article they are going to remember the store where they got it and will come back to that store again.

Co-operate with the manufacturers who come into the newspapers of your town to exploit their goods and you will be building business for yourself is based upon the saving habits of the individual. The man who has no real conception of thrift may make a fortune but he is quite likely to lose it, whereas there are many people in affluence today who attribute their success to their ability to save systematically.

It is to encourage this kind of thrift that the Plainfield Trust Company conducts a Special Department in which 4% compound interest is paid. An account opened before the fourth of any month will draw interest from the first.

There may be some in Plainfield who do not fully understand what the word Rexall means and just how it is a protection—a guaranty of satisfaction — to customers of Weiss' Rexall store.

Generally the best druggist in town is a Rexall druggist—because all Rexall druggists are part of a national organization associated for the purpose of studying and creating the highest possible efficiency methods for retailing drugs and drug sundries.

When you come into Weiss' Rexall store you'll get what you ask for unless it happens to be out of stock—in our complete stocks a very rare occurrence.

You owe it to yourself and to your family to patronize a store which serves its customers with such care and such honest merchandise as does Weiss.

COAST TRIP OFFER BRINGS QUERIES

Many Young Women Seek Information Regarding Press Tour to Exposition.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Opportunity to Visit Pacific Coast at No Expense Has Never Before Been Presented to Plainfielders—Itinerary of the Trip.

All day the telephone bells in the Press office have been ringing merrily, and a storm of questions has rained in upon the Trans-Continental and Panama-Pacific International Exposition Tour Department from brothers, husbands, fathers and others of the male sex; some of the latter, well—just interested in seeing someone win.

A prominent business man, anxious that no mistake be made in having his candidate properly enrolled, who, by the way, is a faithful stenographer, sent one of the boys from his office to secure full data on the plan of nominations.

Here are some of the questions asked over the 'phone, and the answers:

"Will you have someone call and see me about the contest?" "We will."

"When will the first list of names of candidates be published?" "Tuesday, March 2."

"When will the first vote exhibit appear?" "Saturday, March 6."

"How soon can I bring in subscriptions?" "At once—so that the delivery of the Press can be started without delay."

"When can my friends begin working for me?" "The sooner, the better."

These, and a few more dozen questions and answers, kept the tour department busy, and aside from this each mail carried nominations and applications in profusion from every direction.

Oh, the women of this section certainly were alert to the possibilities of the offer when they read Tuesday's Press.

There is one point which the prospective entrants do not seem to understand—that is, the unlimited territory in which votes may be secured. Candidates are not restricted to their own districts to canvass votes. The votes may be secured anywhere. By this method every candidate's chances are equalized.

The trip means twenty-three days of travel, with all expenses paid by the Press. And why should it not create interest? Never before in the history of newspaperdom has a newspaper made a more liberal offer, whereby so many trips were given away, and at the same time giving a commission of ten per cent. and five per cent. to all candidates who remain active until the close of the contest, but do not win a trip as a prize.

If the eligible women who are hesitating had a full realization of the pleasures which have been arranged for them on this trip of trips, their hesitancy would be dispelled. Every comfort that money and care can secure will be accorded the fortunate winners. It will not be an ordinary tour, but a trip including a large number of prominent cities of the American Continent, attendance at the World's Fair at San Francisco and the Exposition at San Diego, sight-seeing at the most famous scenic sections in America, guided by a pilot of experience and with a fund of information about the places visited. You can never learn the interesting history and traditions attached to these places on an ordinary trip over the Continent, but by the tour conductor they will be so

FIELD ORGANIZER INJECTS INTEREST

Miss Florence Leech Delivers Eloquent Address on Suffrage Campaigning.

MONTANA-NEW JERSEY

—"What is Needed in the West is Needed in This State," Said the Speaker — Personal Experiences Cited—Urges Women to Work.

Members of the Plainfield branch for the furtherance of woman suffrage cause, held an enthusiastic meeting, yesterday afternoon, in the association headquarters, Depot Park. Mrs. A. B. Jones, president of the local branch, presided, and after the usual routine business was transacted, introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Miss Florence Leech, of Montana.

Miss Leech is the field organizer for the State Suffrage Association in New Jersey. She comes from a State that won the franchise last fall after a vigorous campaign, the speaker herself, traveling over vast and sparcely populated areas by uncertain railways, horseback and even afoot in the interests of the ballot. The campaign was fruit-bearing, however, and now Montana is listed among the suffrage States.

"Where we worked we got results and where we did not work we did not get results," said Miss Leech. "The interests of the Montana women are closely related to the interests of the New Jersey women and there is a conscious bond of sisterhood between the two. We are wonderfully alike in our interests, needs and problems. If you really care and work hard you will win the campaign. You are in the eye of the entire nation and world and everyone is looking forward to the outcome of the vote in the fall. We women have a tremendous responsibility and the outcome depends upon the attitude that each assumes. If we are willing to put our energy, time, work and money to use and by showing that we realize that there is nothing more important than the giving of the ballot to women, we are going to win.

"People realize that suffrage is coming. In Paterson, a few days

$1,500 BLAZE ON WOODBROOK FARM

Big Hay Barn and Contents Are Destroyed by Incendiary Fire.

Fire of an incendiary origin totally destroyed a big hay barn on the Woodbrook Farm on lower Park avenue, at 10:45 last night. The prompt arrival of the entire Metuchen department is all that saved several other buildings as another big hay barn is only one hundred feet from the structure destroyed. The building was filled with thirty tons of fine timothy hay, and a small amount of farm implements. The loss is placed at $1,500.

Michael Erath, an employe, occupies a cottage a short distance from the hay barns and at 10 o'clock last night his daughter was called to the front of the house by a strange noise. When she opened the door a man ran to the rear, paying no attention to her calls as to what he wanted. She called her brother, Fred Erath, who had retired, and the later set out in pursuit. The stranger ran against a wire fence in the dark, but making a sudden detour got away in the direction of the hay barns. Mr. Erath returned to the house after failing to locate him and the fire was discovered shortly afterward. There is no doubt but that the strange visitor started the fire, but whether accidentally or on purpose is a matter of conjecture.

AUTOMOBILE AND BICYCLE COLLIDED AT BUSY CORNER

While driving an automobile at Park and North avenues shortly after 6 o'clock last night, Ernest Sadler, a chauffeur employed by Harold Underhill, of North Plainfield, collided with George Wilson, a bicycle rider. The wheel was considerably damaged, but the rider escaped with a shaking up.

Both parties appeared in the city court before Judge DeMeza, this morning, and the matter was adjourned until Saturday morning when an effort will be made to establish the responsibility for the collision.

ELIZABETH FIRM GETS CONTRACT

Lorenzo Belluccio & Bro. to Build New School in the Borough.

THEIR BID WAS $21,575

George W. Stillwell, of Perth Amboy, Awarded Contract for Heating and Ventilating—Board Prepares Annual Budget.

Lorenzo Belluccio and Brother, of Elizabeth, whose bid, $21,575, was the lowest, was awarded the general contract for building the new school on Harrison avenue, the borough, at the meeting of the Board of Education, last night. Although the bid was considered unusually low, the committee on building and grounds reported that it had made a thorough investigation concerning the firm. George W. Stillwell, of Perth Amboy, was given the contract for the heating and ventilating system in the new building, its bid being $2,333 plus $355 for a thermostatic control.

Considerable business was transacted at last night's meeting, including the preparation of the school budget for next year. The amount to be raised was set at $29,035, divided into three parts: General, $26,515; repair, $1,000, and manual training, $1,520. This amount will be voted on by the borough voters at the annual district meeting which will be held Tuesday night, March 16. The various departments call for the following amounts. Teachers' salaries, $35,500; janitors' salaries, $3,060; fuel, $1,200; tuition, $80; supervising principal's expenses, $50; text books, reduced from $1,200 to $1,000; supplies, $1,400; apparatus, $70; janitors' supplies, $375; light, water and power, $1,400; medical inspection, $200; business office Board of Education, $610; insurance, $375; lectures and recreation hall, $300; telephone, $210; interest on borrowed money, $200; miscellaneous, $1,000; repairs, $1,000; manual training department, teachers' salaries, $1,150; material and supplies, $200; repairs and equipment, $200; water, light and fuel, $80.

FAVOR HOME RULE PLAN FOR CITIES

New Jersey State League of Municipalities Meet in Trenton.

Mayor Leighton Calkins attended a meeting of representatives of the New Jersey State League of Municipalities held at Trenton, yesterday, when the constitution as drafted by a committee of five, of which Mr. Calkins was one, was adopted. City Counsel Frazer, of Newark, and Mr. Calkins also drafted an enabling act, known as Sentate Bill No. 149, which authorizes cities to join the league.

Afterward the representatives in the Legislature were interviewed and they were urged to lend their support to the passage of the bill. After this is done, a meeting for organization will be called. The membership dues were fixed so that no municipality shall pay more than $500 nor less than $5, and each municipality shall be allowed not less than one vote and not more than twenty votes. The Mayors also approved the Senate concurrent resolution, offered by Senator Hutchinson, amending the State Constitution giving to every municipality the power to manage its own internal affairs as it sees fit except as specifically limited by the laws of the State. This bill apparently incorporates the recommendations of Mayor Calkins in his annual message.

PRESENT C. J. M'CUE WITH A GOLD WATCH

Chief Ranger Edward J. McCue was honored by the officers and members of Court Plainfield, No. 1114, Independent Order of Foresters, at the monthly meeting, last night, by the presentation of a solid gold watch and fob in appreciation of the services he has rendered the court during his six years as an officer. The presentation was made in a fitting manner by Edward McCann, deputy of the high chief ranger of the State, and the recipient responded with a short speech.

Following the disposition of the business on hand a smoker and an informal entertainment was enjoyed.

MRS. NATHAN WILL SPEAK FRIDAY

Well Known Philanthropic Worker Will Address Consumers' League.

ANNUAL MEETING HERE

Crescent Avenue Church Will Be Gathering Point for Many New Jersey Welfare Workers—Miss Winslow Also to Deliver Address.

Nearly one hundred Plainfield women are members of the Consumers' League of New Jersey, which is to hold its annual meeting in Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Friday afternoon, and every one of them is helping in one way or another to make the gathering a success. There will be a business meeting at 2:15, which is open to members only, at which time reports will be received, and two minor amendments to the constitution and by-laws will be voted upon.

The principal feature of the gathering will be two addresses, one by Mrs. Frederick Nathan, president of the Consumers' League in New York, and Miss Rose Winslow, of the Woman's Trade Union League, both of whom will discuss the subject of the minimum wage. Mrs. Charles Whitnall, secretary of the New Jersey league, will also read her report at this time.

Mrs. Nathan is no stranger to many Plainfielders, as her wide experience in philanthropic work has gained for her a reputation which is nation-wide. She is described as a fluent and fascinating speaker, and that she will be well worth hearing is assured. The committee in charge of the arrangements is especially desirous that employers shall attend the meeting.

Mrs. Nathan's reputation as a speaker has placed her in demand not only in this country, but abroad, her first address of the kind having been delivered before the International Congress of Women in London in 1899, and a similar address was made before the same body in Berlin in 1904. She also addressed the International Peace Congress in New York in 1907; the International Conference of Consumers' Leagues, in Geneva, Switzerland, 1908, and was a delegate to the International Congress for Labor Legislation, at Luzerne, in the same year. She has been in demand for the pulpits of famous churches in New York, Boston and Chicago, and is a frequent contributor to magazines and newspapers, as well as being actively interested in politics, and women's and other clubs.

The public meeting which Mrs. Nathan will address will begin at 3 o'clock, and no admission will be charged.

BIDS SOUGHT FOR THE NEW PLAINFIELD POST OFFICE

The supervising architects office in the Treasury Department, at Washington, has sent out a notice that sealed proposals will be opened in that office at 3 p. m., on Friday, April 2, for the construction complete, including mechanical equipment, lighting fixtures and approaches of the new postoffice building, which is to be erected on Watchung avenue in this city. The building is described as a one story and basement stone-faced building of 9,100 square feet ground area, fireproof construction, with a composition roof. Drawings and specifications may be obtained at the local postoffice or at the Washington office mentioned. O. Wenderoth is named as the supervising architect.

SOMERSET COUNTY TO SEND PATIENTS TO BONNIE BURN

Members of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders appeared at Trenton, yesterday, to explain why Somerset county did not have an institution for the treatment of tubercular patients. It was decided to enter into an agreement with the Union county authorities whereby patients afflicted with this disease would be removed to Bonnie Burn Sanitorium and treated at a flat rate of $15 a week, to be paid by Somerset county.

PLAN NEIGHBORHOOD RALLIES IN SCHOOLS

Monthly Meeting of the Public Recreation Committee Held Last Night.

The monthly meeting of the Public Recreation Committee was held in the Public Library, last night, when there were many interesting reports from the various committees. The extension committee reported that neighborhood meetings will be started in the schools for the residents of the various sections of the city to meet and discuss matters of importance regarding the community.

Because of the success of the entertainment last Monday night in the Washington School, the commitee will hold a similar event. The music committee reported that the Choral Society and Symphony Orchestra were progressing rapidly with their work on "Elijah," which will be presented the later part of April.

The publicity committee has made plans to have photographs taken of the various activities under the direction of the committee and give them to the public through the newspapers. The next session will be the annual meeting and election of officers and the president appointed the following nominating committee: Dr. Henry M. Maxson, Mrs. H. D. Corbusier and Samuel Rothberg. The following new members were also elected: Mr. and Mrs. Max Munger, Dr. and Mrs. Dr. Krans, William S. Tyler and Archibald Cox.

LECTURED ON "MORGAN THE FALSIFIER AND PERJURER"

A talk of intense interest to Masons was given last evening by Wallace W. Wood, of Camden, before a gathering of about two hundred Masons at the meeting of Anchor Lodge, F. and A. M. Mr. Wood spoke upon "Morgan, the Falsifier and Perjurer." He also gave a talk on "The Flag," in which he spoke of the great work of George Washington.

Selections were rendered by Anchor Lodge quartet and late in the evening a banquet was served by Ritz.

RANDOLPH MARSH AN ACTIVE CITIZEN

Venerable Resident, Who Died Yesterday, Fathered Local Eight Hour Day.

HIS GARDEN FAMOUS

An Early Member of Hope Chapel and Originator of Work Among the Boys in the West End Religious Institution.

The funeral of Randolph Marsh, who died at his home at 310 Plainfield avenue, yesterday afternoon will be held at the late residence Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The services will be in charge of Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel, assisted by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church. Burial will be in Evergreen cemetery in a grave adjoining that of Mr. Marsh's mother, a request he made long before his last illness began.

The passing of Mr. Marsh removes from Plainfield a citizen who has been identified with its growth from the time that it was a village until the present day. He was known to practically every man, woman and child in the community and the many likeable traits that he possessed endeared him to old and young. In his business, in his home life and with his friends he was always the same, steadfast in any purpose but always standing for what was right and good.

Mr. Marsh was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frazee Marsh, whose farm was on Rahway road, Short Hills, adjoining that of the late Henry Clay Randolph. It was here that Mr. Marsh was born on March 12, 1832, but when only a small boy his parents moved into Plainfield, occupying a house on Watchung avenue, where the Marshall Laundry building now stands. The young man learned both the mason and painting trades and previous to his first marriage, when he was only twenty-two years old, built the house on Plainfield avenue, then called William street, which he occupied for more than sixty years, and in which he died. This house was the first one in Plainfield to have a slate roof and the building stands today in excellent condition, the only one in the neighborhood that has not

BANK WILL DISPOSE OF PIERCE'S STOCK

Two Notes Aggregating $4,000 Remain Unsatisfied—Stock as Collateral.

Ten shares of stock in the First National Bank of Dunellen, held by Herbert L. Pierce, the young New Market man who disappeared from his home under mysterious circumstances three weeks ago, will be sold at public vendue in the Borough Hall, Dunellen, March 3. This announcement was made today and adds to the supposition that the missing man was heavily involved in debt when he left.

The stock was placed with the Dunellen banking institution as collateral to secure the payment of two promissory notes, one dated November 19, 1913, payable on demand in the sum of $1,500, and one dated November 13, 1914, payable three months after date in the sum of $2,500. These notes were made by the New Market Roller Mills Company and endorsed by Herbert L. Pierce. The payment of the notes was demanded by the institution and refused by both the maker and endorser. The sale will be conducted by The Plainfield Trust Company.

No further developments have been recorded in the Pierce case, although it is rumored that creditors are preparing to make application for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the missing individual's assets. Matters are slowly assuming form and it is probable that the Lehigh Valley Railroad authorities will make some definite announcement in the near future.

DR. LEVINSON LEAVES TOWN.

Dr. Bernard Levinson, of West Front street, has moved to Newburgh, N. Y., where he is taking up the practice of an old physician who has retired. Mrs. Levinson, who was Miss Sachar, of this city, will leave Plainfield on March 2, to join her husband in their new home. Both have a large circle of friends in this city.

SISTERHOOD WHIST AND DANCE.

The sisterhood of Temple Sholem will hold a whist party and dance in Columbus Club auditorium on Wednesday evening, March 3.

SINK SUBMARINE NEAR BOULOGNE

French Announcement Says German Vessel Has Been Destroyed.

S. S. OAKLEY A VICTIM

Germans Sink Her in English Channel—Berlin Report of Sinking of Troopship Denied by British—Carib Sinking Due to Carelessness.

New York, Feb. 24.—A cable from Paris says that official announcement has been made by the Ministry of Marine that a German submarine has been sunk off Cape Alprecht, near Boulogne.

A cable from London says that the British steamship Oakly has been sunk in the English Channel off Folkstone. The members of the crew were landed at Dover. The vessel was en route to Boulogne from West Hartlepool.

A message from Berlin says that the German Admiralty today issued a statement to the effect that a German submarine sunk British Transport No. 192 off Beachy Head at 4:45 p. m. yesterday.

London, Feb. 24.—The War Press Bureau today denied the report from Berlin that a British transport had been sunk by a German submarine off Beachy Head. The statement by the Bureau says that undoubtedly the Germans are referring to an atack on the Government collier Branksome Chine, which was torpedoed 20 miles southeast of Beachy Head yesterday.

Washington, Feb. 24.—The American cotton steamer Carib was sunk by a mine which, through the carelessness of its sailing master, it came in contact with off the German coast. This was the announcement contained in a despatch to the State Department today from United States Minister Van Dyke at the Hague. The envoy said that the Carib was far off the course laid down for it by the German Admiralty.

Capetown, S. A., Feb. 24.—The forces of the Union of South Africa occupied Garub in German southwest Africa yesterday. Garub is 70 miles east of Luderitz Bay and the inland terminal of the railroad from the port.

Amsterdam, Feb. 24.—That the Germans anticipate a further French assault in force in the south is indicated by information received from sources in Germany that the Germans are sending formidable reinforcements to Mulhausen and Diedenhofen and that the fortifications in those cities have been surrounded with a network of trenches.

Berlin, Feb. 24 by wireless).—The following statement was given out at German headquarters today:

"Near Perthes, in Champagne, French infantry attacked our troops at several points. Violent hand to hand fighting followed but all the encounters resulted favorably to the Germans. The enemy suffered heavy losses and was driven back into his former position.

"In the Vosges the Germans have progressed as the result of their attack against Sulzerm and Muelbach and west of Erosswell. In the engagement in the last few days we have taken 500 prisoners.

"In the east a new Russian advance from Grodno was easily repulsed. Southeast of Augustwo the Russians crossed the Bobr at two points. They have been driven back near Stawiski. Near Krasynyborg an engagement is still in progress. Near Przasnysz, 1,200 Russians were taken prisoners and two guns captured. A Russian night attack east of Skierniewice was repulsed."

HUGO MAUL'S FUNERAL TAKES PLACE IN HOBOKEN

The funeral of Hugo Maul, for many years proprietor of the Washington House at Watchung, was held at Volk's Mortuary Chapel, No. 631 Washington street, Hoboken, yesterday afternoon. It was attended by a number of friends from this city and Watchung. The burial was made in the Lutheran cemetery at Jersey City.

Mr. Maul died at his home in Hoboken, Sunday night, following a brief illness. He was seventy-three years old and leaves one daughter, Mrs. Peter Fugmann, of Warrenville, and a son, Hugo Maul, Jr., of Jersey City. He disposed of his hotel business at Watchung to F. Probst, following the death of his wife in 1910. Mr. Maul afterward resided in the borough for some time, after which he removed to his former home in Hoboken.

GIVEN A SURPRISE ON THEIR WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Eder, of 227 Columbia street, were tendered a surprise in honor of the twentieth anniversary of their wedding on Monday evening, by thirty-six of their friends from Somerville, North Plainfield, Cranford, Plainfield, New Market, Mt. Bethel and this place. The affair was cleverly arranged by Mrs. Eder's cousin, Mrs. Augustus Rose, of North Plainfield, and the surprise was a complete one.

The evening was very pleasantly passed, music being the principal entertaining feature. Refreshments were served during the course of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Eder received many beautiful and valuable articles of chinaware in remembrance of the occasion.

WESLEY HUFF RECOVERS FROM STRANGE MALADY

Wesley Huff, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Huff, of North avenue, returned to his duties today in the Newark office of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, after a week's illness with a strange malady. The malady manifested itself by the young man having an overpowering desire to sleep. He would get up in the morning after a long night's rest and if he sat down the first thing his parents knew he would be asleep. After a day or two of this his worried parents summoned Doctor Longbotham, whose treatment appears to have reached the cause of the strange malady, which is believed to have been a deranged nervous system.

Miss Harriet Gregory, teacher of the second and third grades of the district school at New Market, is ill at the home of Mrs. Dr. Miles, on Centre street, with malaria.

INFANT CHILD IMPROVING.

Margaret, the nine months' old daughter of Borough Clerk and Mrs. William P. Deering, who has been ill with pneumonia, was much better yesterday, and her parents are now entertaining hopes of her recovery.

Lenten services will be held at Holy Innocents' Episcopal church on Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

ENDORSES CANDIDATE.

Charles E. Tinsman has been endorsed by the William G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., as a candidate for State council conductor, the election for which office will be held at the annual State session of the order to be held at Newark in the fall.

William Davenport, of Grove street, is indisposed with a severe cold.

Mrs. S. R. Strickland, of Second street, was called to Brooklyn, yesterday, by the death of a cousin. She will remain in Brooklyn until after the funeral.

Mrs. Charles Braun, of Mountainview terrace, has been ill for the past week or so with stomach trouble.

EXHIBITION OPENED.

The art exhibition at the Lincoln school opened at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Two hundred pictures will be exhibited during the afternoons and evenings for the remainder of the week. On Thursday evening a short entertainment will be held in connection with the exhibit. Everyone should attend and help the schools secure good pictures. The admission is ten cents.

Miss Helen Davenport, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Davenport, of Grove street, is confined to his home with a severe cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram Hebard, of Washington avenue, spent the week-end and holiday at Three Bridges as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Freeman.

Donald Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snyder, of Centre street, has the measles.

Paul Ratti, the North avenue fruit dealer, spent Washington's Birthday afternoon in Rahway.

Harold Levins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Levins, of Railroad avenue, has recovered from an attack of the measles.

Contractor Otto Rice is overhauling the plumbing and tinning of the Albert Rajotte house on Jefferson avenue.

Evelyn Levins, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Levins, has the measles.

Mrs. Charles Dodwell, of Jackson avenue, is able to be up and about her home after a week's illness.

David M. Runyon, of the First National Bank, of Plainfield, was a visitor in the borough, yesterday afternoon.

Edward Parker, son of Mrs. Lydia Parker, of Second street, who has been ill with tonsilitis, has recovered and resumed his duties in New York.

Marshal and Mrs. Owen Mohan entertained Peter McDermott, of Madison, Sunday.

Mrs. Julius Breyer and sons, of Dunellen avenue, have returned from Nashville, Tenn., where they have been spending the winter with relatives. The two daughters of Mrs. Breyer will remain at Nasuville for a longer visit.

SOME CHECKER PLAYER.

Henry Aller, of Plainfield, who is employed by the Central Railroad as an extra ticket agent and has served at the local station in that capacity, dropped in the borough one day last week and took the measure of Paul Ratti, the local checker champion, taking nine games to the latter's two.

David Tarpey, of New York, is spending a week in the borough as the guest of his brother, Marshal Patrick Tarpey.

MAYOR LATHAM RETURNS.

Mayor and Mrs. E. B. Latham returned Monday night from Atlantic City, where they spent three days. Speaking of his visit last evening, the Mayor said that he and his wife had a mosts delightful time. Typical June weather prevailed during their visit and there were fully 50,000 visitors there to enjoy it.

The Waldron case was not reached by the State at the county seat yesterday and the interested parties had to return to New Brunswick today. It was said last night that it was doubtful whether the case would even be reached today. The entire day was taken up yesterday by another case.

Prof. Charles Cregar's dancing class for adults will hold its regular weekly session in the local theatre tomorrow evening at 8:30 sharp.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Field, of Fourth street, moved the latter part of last week to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Todd, of Front street, are entertaining Mrs. Mary F. Richardson, a former resident of the borough. Mrs. Richardson makes her home the major portion of the time with her son, George, who is a partner in an electrical concern at Lancaster, Pa. Mrs. Richardson came to the borough for the visit from Washington, D. C., where she had been visiting another son, Daniel, who is employed in the law department of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

The Summer Dance, arranged by Mrs. Ford Eckerson, which was held in the Dunellen Theatre, Washington's Birthday night, was quite a novel affair. There were about fifty couples present attired in summer dress. The women wore boudoir caps and brought neckties of the same shade and material for their partners. The unique idea created much merriment and made the grand march a pretty picture.

The hall was artistically decorated with American flags and small silk flags were given as favors. Prof. Squires, of Plainfield, furnished well timed music, which kept many dancing until 2 o'clock.

This is the third dance that Mrs. Ford Eckerson has arranged and each one has been greatly enjoyed and well patronized. It is hoped that more will follow.

ENTERTAINED FRIENDS.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright entertained some relatives and friends at their home on Front street, Monday evening. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Strickland, Vernon Eckert, Miss Edythe Strickland and Samuel Srtickland, Jr., of this borough, and Mrs. E. Laramee, Andrew and Henry Wright, Miss Edna Sherwood, Mr. and Mrs. H. Becker and Mildred Hand, from out of town.

Mrs. George W. Churchill, who is critically ill at her home on Washington avenue, was reported as holding her own this morning.

HUBBARD GLACIER

Alaska's Gigantic Frozen River as It Meets the Sea.

THE MOTHER OF ICEBERGS.

Rumblings and Roarings That Come as the Masses of Ice Break Away From the Face of the Lofty Cliff to Start on Their Ocean Voyages.

The birth of an iceberg is strikingly described in a report made to the National Geographic society by R. S. Tarr and Lawrence Martin, who headed the expeditions of the society to Alaska for the study of the behavior of glaciers there.

"The front of the Hubbard glacier, measured in a straight line, is three and one-half to four miles wide. But since the ice cliff has a sinuous form with projections in the center it is in reality much longer than this, the total length being between four and one-half and five miles. This cliff rises between 250 and 300 feet above the water and extends an unknown distance below it.

"One usually needs to wait but a few moments to hear from some part of the cliff the thunder-like rumble or roar which is the first announcement of an iceberg's fall, followed a few moments later by the appearance of a great swell, which on reaching the shore forms a line of white breakers even at a distance of several miles from the ice cliff.

"By watching the ice cliff one may see the huge masses fall from the ice front and a fountain of water dash perhaps even to the top of the glacier and then in a few seconds hear the report which the rending of the glacier sends out.

"One is fascinated by the performance. Sometimes it is only a small piece that falls, and then a sharp single report like the crack of a pistol goes through the air; again a part of the front crumbles and the downsliding ice, broken into small pieces, seems from a distance like a fountain of water, while the report is only a low rumble; at other times huge masses break away, forming large icebergs, and the noise then produced is like the heavy rumble of distant thunder, and at rare intervals one may see a huge mass of blue or black ice thrust itself up from below the fiord, some distance from the glacier front, as a part of the submerged ice foot is broken off, and then no report is heard, but the wave that follows is far greater than usual.

"The water waves which follow the discharge of icebergs from the front of Hubbard glacier are of great magnitude. In September, 1913, for example, the big steamship Princess Maquinna was aground on a reef just west of Oster island with the members of the international geological congress, who visited Yakutat bay under the guidance of the junior author. The ship lay somewhat over a mile from the glacier, and yet the water wave following the discharge of icebergs from Hubbard glacier caused the steamer to roll until she took in water on the main deck as first one side and then the other was tipped far down by the iceberg waves.

"There are periods when for an hour or two there is very little discharge and then periods, fully as long, when scarcely a moment elapses without the sound of icefalls from some part of the glacier front. It is possible that these differences are in some way related to the state of the tide, but we have not determined whether the periods of quiet and activity form part of a regular cycle or are merely irregular intervals due to accumulation of strain and relief from strain or to expansion and contraction under sunlight.

"While there are periods of relative quiet, they are not periods of absolute repose, and they occupy far less time than the periods of activity. Day and night the ice falls, and the reports that pass out through the air are so frequent that it is fair to speak of the glacier as almost ceaselessly active. The noise disturbs one's sleep at first, and sometimes, when an unusually heavy fall occurs, wakens one even after he has grown accustomed to the ordinary rumble. A sense of nervous relief is felt when camp is removed to a part of the fiord to which the iceberg roar and the breakers on the coast do not reach."

True Devotion.

Little Katharine had a big dog which she loved dearly. One cold night she asked if the dog could come into the house for awhile. Her mother said:

"Yes, but as soon as he begins to scratch you must put him right out."

Later Katharine was heard to exclaim:

"Oh, Bertie, don't scratch; tell me where it itches, and I'll scratch it for you."—Chicago Tribune.

A Possible Reason.

"Bermuda raises onions and lilies."

"Seems a queer arrangement. I wonder why they picked out that particular combination?"

"Maybe the smell of the one offsets that of the other."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

INEPENDENT DRUM CORPS VISITS COMPANY K'S FAIR

Company K's annual fair in the armory, drew another large crowd, last night, and everybody continued to have the good time that was started at the opening Saturday night. The Independent Fife and Drum Corps made a visitation, last night, following a short parade about town in which the military boys were prominent. The nightly prize waltz was won by Dominick Parretti and Miss Catherine Regan, who will compete in the final contest Friday. Tomorrow night will be observed as Junior night, when delegations will be present from all the local councils.

The Independent Fife and Drum Corps will have full charge Friday night, as Company K will participate in the regimental review at Trenton. The drum corps will select the judges who will pick the winners of the prize waltz, to which everybody is looking forward with a great deal of pleasure.

ago, I was speaking to a number of men who were opposed to suffrage, but each said that he knew it was coming even though they had not studied the question.

"Mr. Ostrom, from Hudson county, said the only thing that the ballot could do would make women remember their ages and vote for the handsomest man. What an absurd statement. A Governor in Colorado recently said after the State received the vote, 'They (women) were our superiors, but now they are our equals.' That struck me as being very humorous, to think of calling us superiors before and equals after we got the ballot. Another one of your Assemblymen said at the time that the vote was taken on the suffrage bill, that he introduced the bill providing for a tax on bachelors, in the hope that within the next five years, the Suffragists would all be married and woman suffrage would be buried forever. It might be of interest to record that every officer in the State Suffrage Association is a married woman and so might not be affected by the tax on bachelors.

"Miss Leech spoke briefly on the result of the triumph in the House last week. She also urged the canvass idea, classing it as an effective and systematic way of impressing the men, drawing attention to a campaign issue and that the women are capable of working. In Plainfield, the chairman of the enrollment committee showed a most gratifying campaign, presenting statistics as follows: 665 men voting for suffrage, 166 opposed and 325 neutral. There are still 3,635 letters to be sent to the voters. Miss Leech said that the most effective way to reach men was to go to their meetings and ask for admittance and in most cases they were allowed from five minutes to a half hour to speak to the men and distribute literature. She spoke of the willingness of the population in small communities and little towns to listen to suffrage speakers, and the result was most encouraging. She impressed upon those present that what was worth having was worth working for.

Miss Leech has been in New Jersey since January 6, and has been working with the suffrage organizations of Paterson, Passaic, Summit, Madison and other cities, and has spoken before social, civic, religious and political organizations, lodges, unions, pink teas and gatherings of almost every description. Most of her time just at present is spent in Trenton, the State headquarters.

CONTRACT TO ELIZABETH FIRM

dered paid and on a motion made by J. A. VanMater, it was voted to transfer $24,685 from the Orange Bank to The State Trust Company. Bonds were required of the successful bidders on the contracts at $15,000, general, and $1,500, on G. W. Stillwell. A delegation from the Parent-Teacher Association of the school was present, and Mrs. Champlain Riley asked for an appropriation of $350 for a school nurse. Mrs. Riley told of the great help a nurse is in the Plainfield schools. Mrs. M. H. Ewart, president of the association, also spoke on the subject. The Board decided to employ a nurse at that cost.

Allan B. Cowperthwaite, of the borough, and Dr. Clara Krans, asked for funds to maintain borough pupils in the open-air school and at a cost of $2.40 per month per child, the Board made allowance in the budget for this item. Until recently the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield have been running this school alone, but now the Plainfield Board of Education pays the teacher's salary, which is $750 a year. There are at present several borough children being cared for in the school and the tuition will be paid by the borough Board.

All of the members were present with the exception of Judd Stuart.

FREEDOM CASTLE HONORS ITS CHIEFS

Presentations to Dr. Buchanan, H. J. Martin and R. V. Kenney.

Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, conducted its annual roll call last night, in observance of its fourteenth anniversary, which occurs on February 27. Eighty-five members answered out of the 246 now holding membership. Noble Chief John Dickson was in charge of the proceedings which took place in the castle hall in the Babcock building. Numerous speeches were made by members prominent in the work and those who had not attended the session in a long time.

In the course of the evening, Horace J. Martin, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan and R. V. Kinney, all of whom are past grand chiefs of the State order, were presented by William F. Day with handsome traveling bags. Each recipient responded with a neatly worded address of thanks. The assemblage afterward adjourned to The Ritz where refreshments were served.

The affair was in charge of the good and welfare committee of the castle, composed of John Bosterle, chairman; George Church, George Ayers, William Day and R. V. Kinney.

NORTH PLAINFIELD ENTERED IN A TRI-COUNTY LEAGUE

Through the efforts of Rutgers College a tri-county debating league has been formed, composed of High Schools in Middlesex, Somerset and Hunterdon counties. A schedule of debates has been arranged. The team representing Pernardsville will debate against North Plainfield in the North Plainfield High School, Friday evening. The North Plainfield High School team, composed of Halbert Hutchinson, leader; Gladys Sullivan and Marion Doughty, will debate on the affirmative side of the question: "Resolved: That an Educational Qualification for Immigration is an Expedient Measure, Conducive to the Welfare of the United States."

The judges, three in number, selected by Rutgers College, will decide the debate. The judges will be scattered among the audience and before will cast a preliminary vote and after discussion a final vote. Each speaker will be allowed five minutes for presentation and the leader will be allowed five minutes for rebuttal. The debate is open to the public.

FENCES IN MICHIGAN.

Stumps That Are Relics of the Lively Old Lumbering Days.

An easterner visiting Michigan is attracted by the stump fences more than by almost anything else, a writer in American Forestry remarks.

Aside from these stump fences, the farms, the uplands and the marshes are not much different from those of New England. One misses the characteristic stone walls of New England, but finds in their place the most novel fences in the world—those made of stumps that have in recent years been pulled out of the ground by powerful machines constructed for that purpose.

The force required to pull such stumps from the ground is enormous, but it is applied slowly, in submission to the decree of nature that what is gained in power must be lost in speed.

These stumps are relics of the liveliest lumbering ever seen in the United States. It ended about thirty years ago in Big Rapids, Grand Rapids and their vicinity. Old timers entertain the visitor by the hour with reminiscences of the amazing number of logs that were cut in that region.

Logging somewhat similar, but not nearly so extensive, still continues in the northern part of Michigan, but does not equal in extent nor in picturesqueness that which formerly took place on the famous Muskegon river.

WHEN BUYING A HORSE.

How to Find Out Whether a Trader Has Cheated You.

In Farm and Fireside a contributor says that ordinarily the purchaser of a horse is allowed twenty-four hours in which to try and return any horse found unsound. In great horse markets like Chicago a twenty-four hour limit for testing is allowed. This contributor tells as follows how to test a horse:

"When a horse has been doped for heaves the disease symptoms will be likely to return in twenty-four hours if the horse is given all the drinking water he will take and is fed generously on bulky feed. He can then be thoroughly tested for wind by running and by dragging a wagon with a locked wheel.

"Where cocaine is used to hide lameness its effects will pass off in a few hours. A hypodermic injection of morphine, strychnine or similar drug will pass off in twelve hours or less. Cannabis indica or chloral hydrate makes a horse sleepy for from twelve to eighteen hours unless the dose is very large, in which case the effect will last longer. The only sure way to protect yourself is to buy a horse from a reputable dealer and get a written guarantee of soundness signed before a witness."

Saved by His Wit.

The French author Martainville was a royalist and did not hesitate to attack the French revolution and its authorities. Presently, of course, he was summoned to appear before the revolutionary tribunal, with the terrible Fouquier at its head. The revolutionary tribunals at that time did not hesitate to send anybody to the guillotine who had ventured to attack them. Martainville expected to go with the rest of the victims. "What is your name?" asked the revolutionary judge. "Martainville," said the young author. "Martainville!" exclaimed the judge. "You are deceiving us and trying to hide your rank. You are an aristocrat, and your name is De Martainville." "Citizen president," exclaimed the young man. "I am here to be shortened, not to be lengthened! Leave me my name!" A true Frenchman loves a witticism above all things, and the tribunal was so much pleased by Martainville's grim response that it spared his life.

He Forgot.

A young Parisian, noted for his grace and readiness as a second in many duels, had been asked by a friend to accompany him to the mayor's office and affix his signature as a witness to the matrimonial ceremony.

He consented, but when the scene was reached awkwardly forgot himself.

Just as the mayor was ready for the last formalities he broke out, to the astonishment of all parties, with the remark:

"Gentlemen, cannot this unhappy affair be arranged? Is there no way of preventing this sad occurrence?"

The Cambodians.

The Cambodians are a docile people, much averse to war. Their language and civilization, unlike those of the remaining peoples of Indo-China, are derived from India, as is also their religion. Their country contains various interesting ruins, the work of the Khmers, a race that has quite disappeared. The ruins at Angkor are remarkably well preserved and are possessed of great beauty.

Coldly Considered.

"You don't seem to attach great importance to enduring fame," said the friend and adviser.

"I have my doubts about it," replied Senator Sorghum. "Enduring fame is what enables the American Indian to get his picture on all kinds of money without having any opportunity to handle the real cash."—Washington Star.

EDWARD R. SCHNADERBECK.

Edward R. Schnaderbeck, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schnaderbeck, died this morning. The funeral will be held at the parents' residence, 1263 Arlington avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30, and burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

There will be a special meeting of the Jr. O. U. A. M. club on Wednesday night, March 3, in the hall at 311 East Front street. All members are urged to be present.

PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION AUTOMOBILE CIRCUIT THE FASTEST EVER LAID OUT

Although the shortest ever used for the Vanderbilt Cup Race, the Panama-Pacific Exposition circuit is probably the fastest ever laid out, as proven by the results of the motor tests Washington's Birthday. When the Grand Prix is staged over this course it is expected that all previous records from one to 500 miles will be smashed.

The circuit is only three and eight-tenths miles in length and it is necessary to cover twenty-seven laps to a mile. Twelve hundred Federal soldiers, marines and Exposition guards will be on duty at the Grand Prix.

INTEREST CONTINUES IN EXCHANGE FUND

Mrs. P. H. Stewart, Mrs. W. A. Garrigues and Mrs. A. Smith Contribute $30.

Another substantial boost was given to the Woman's Exchange today when $30 was contributed toward the $1,000 desired to put the institution on a good financial basis. Those who have come to the aid of the Exchange are Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, who gives $15; Mrs. Annette Smith, who contributes $5, and Mrs. William A. Garrigues, who gives $10. This makes the total received to date $465, showing that the $500 mark is rapidly being reached. The need for assistance is just as great today as when William L. Smalley contributed the first $10 with the idea that ninety other persons would do likewise, and the friends of the Exchange are anxious that the $1,000 fund be secured as quickly as possible. The contributions to date are as follows:

Mrs. C. W. McCutchen	$25
Mrs. Jabez Gilbert	$25
"A Friend"	$20
Mrs. Percy H. Stewart	$15

N. P. H. S. GIRLS COOK DINNER FOR BOARD

Seven Course Repast Prepared by Members of the Cooking Class.

The members of the North Plainfield Board of Education were the guests at a dinner held in the manual training rooms of the Somerset School last night, the repast being prepared and served by the members of the High School cooking class, under the direction of the instructor, Miss Marian Armstrong. The dinner consisted of seven courses.

The dinner was given as a Washington's Birthday affair, and the girls decorated the room appropriately for the occasion. Hand made place cards were made by Miss Evelyn Nelson and the members of the Board were given silk American flags as favors. The menu consisted of the following dishes: Cream of celery soup, croutonne soup, salmon croquettes, scalloped potatoes, buttered carrots and peas, salad, baking powder biscuit, rice pudding, chocolate cake and coffee. Those who enjoyed the feast were J. H. Cooley, F. O. Dunning, Sr., T. E. Currin, Jr., D. Fred Aungst, Charles Holstein, J. A. VanMater and F. L. Sill.

The girls who prepared the dinner are the Misses Marjorie Barry, Mary Connet, Margaret Currin, Marian Emmons, Agnes Griffiths, Elsie Kurzhak, Evelyn Nelson, Mabel Saffron, Mildred Smith, Catherine Sill, Lucy Tyman, Mildred Weiss, Helen Yates and Adele Demerest.

MRS. BRYANT'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. John A. Bryant was held at her late home on New street at 2:30 this afternoon. Rev. Edward Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, officiated in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends. Burial was made in Hillside cemetery.

ANOTHER WHEEL STOLEN.

Leo Zeisel, of East Fifth street, reported to the local police, last night, that a bicycle had been stolen from his premises.

TALENT FOR DEBATE

Through a misunderstanding it was announced yesterday that Father Bernard M. Bogan, of St. Mary's church, was a supporter of the suffrage movement and that he would be a vice president. Father Bogan requested Mrs. Joost to announce today that he is a strong "Anti" and is opposed to granting the vote to women.

Among the honorary vice-presidents named by the Plainfield Democratic Club, in addition to those already published, are the following: United States Senator James E. Martine, Congressman W. E. Tuttle, Jr., William L. Saunders, Albert H. Atterbury, J. O. Stevens, Henry C. Rosenbaum, J. P. Owens, J. C. Callahan, Michael Shea, Charles H. Frost Leslie R. Fort and L. B. Woolston.

Councilman Richard A. Claybrook, who is president of the Democratic Club, under whose auspices the debate will be held, will preside at the meeting. It is proposed to allow the principal speakers a half-hour each and the seconds a half-hour in rebuttal. Music will be furnished by the Municipal Orchestra, under the direction of S. Frederick Smith.

A strong array of talent has been secured for the debate, including Miss Alice Carpenter, Miss Lucy Price, former Assemblyman John A. Matthews, State Senator Hennessy and others. It will be left to the audience to decide which side wins in the debate. A nominal admission fee will be charged from which will be paid the expenses of hiring the auditorium, etc., and the surplus will be turned over to the fund for the unemployed of Plainfield. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock.

MUSICAL MARKS THE CLOSE OF LOCAL EVENING SCHOOL

Exercises marking the close of the Board of Education's evening school were conducted in the Plainfield High School auditorium, last night, a special feature being the rendition of vocal and instrumental numbers by a number of well known entertainers.

During the evening J. C. Evans, principal of the school, made a short address in which he outlined the object of the institution and explained the success attained to date. The work being done is of a practical character.

AN ACTIVE CITIZEN

been razed or remodeled since the days it first reared its walls. Mr. Marsh always took great pride in the property and had what many people declared to be the most attractive lawn in Plainfield. The premises stood out in decided contrast to its surroundings, the street having passed from a residential to practically a business thoroughfare. Mr. Marsh's garden is, perhaps, a by-word throughout Plainfield and vicinity, as regularly for the past fifty years the newspapers chronicled the fact that he had planted potatoes in it on St. Patrick's Day and enjoyed the first pickings of the new crop on the Fourth of July. It was his boast that he had never failed to do this for half a century and not once in all those years did he fail to have his Independence Day mess of new "spuds."

In his younger days, Mr. Marsh was one of the most active craftsmen in bringing about the formation of a Trades Union in Plainfield and by many he is considered the father of the eight-hour day in this city. He worked for it constantly, using his own efforts as far as he could, after which he enlisted the support of others with the proper influence. It was one of the happiest days of his life when the house-workers finally secured the now universal eight-hour day. Mr. Marsh was an expert in his own line and worked on hundreds of Plainfield's prominent buildings, business and residential. He was one of the bricklayers who built the Netherwood Hotel and he was proud of telling people that he knew the exact number of bricks that had been used in its construction. He retired from active work eighteen years ago.

Hope chapel is an institution that was nearest and dearest to Mr. Marsh. Although he was a member of the First Baptist church, he joined the Sunday-school of the West End congregation when it was first established in 1888. From that time until the day his illness began, Mr. Marsh had been a faithful attendant. He was especially interested in the work of the boys, and in the earlier days of the chapel, when it only had one small room, he fitted up the basement of his home as "The Young Men's Mission Club," which flourished for several years. George E. Firstbrook, of Newark, was its president; Mr. Marsh's son, Randolph, Jr., was vice president, and Alexander Muir, of Harrison, was secretary and treasurer. The organization afterward was absorbed by the Young Men's Association, of Hope chapel, the beginning of the present "Young Men's Club," which has the large and commodious gymnasium building for its home.

Mr. Marsh's first wife was Miss Elizabeth O'Donnell, and by this union there are five children living, all residents of Hartford, Conn. They are Mrs. Violet Bonner, Mrs. Laura Murray, Mrs. Lillian Evans, Mrs. Bertha Toomey and Orsino Marsh. The second wife, who survives him, was Miss Maria Brusby, a native of England. His children by the second marriage are Randolph, Jr., Grover and Robert, of Newark; Frank Marsh, of New Market; Alfred and George, and Mrs. Elizabeth Kliner, of Plainfield. Another daughter, Mrs. William Waglow, died about fifteen years ago. Mr. Marsh also leaves three nieces and two nephews in Plainfield, Miss Ada Marsh, of West Seventh street; Mrs. B. Frank Coriell and Mrs. Joseph Randall; Warren Marsh and Everett Marsh.

RECEPTION IN HONOR OF THEIR SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Jonas, of South Second street, entertained a number of relatives and friends at their home last night, the occasion being the observance of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. One hundred guests from Plainfield and nearby points were present and enjoyed an informal program of entertainment.

A feature of the occasion was the rendition of a program of music by the Public Service Corporation's band, of which Mr. Jonas is a member. The Public Service employes presented the couple with a silver set. Mr. Jonas is a motorman.

BIKE RIDERS ARRESTED.

William Simon, of North avenue, and Louis Bowker, of North Plainfield, were arrested by the local police last night, charged with riding bicycles after dark without the required lights. When arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, they were sentenced to pay fines of $5 or visit the county jail for twenty days. These sentences were afterwards rescinded on the promise of the offenders not to repeat the offense.

W. G. BESLER RECOVERING.

W. G. Besler, vice-president and general manager of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, is recovering from an operation performed for appendicitis in St. Vincent's Hospital, New York, recently. He will be removed to his home on West Seventh street shortly to recuperate.

PATENT MEDICINES.

In these days of pure food campaigns, better health regulations and efforts to generally improve living conditions, it is gratifying to learn that the State Board of Health has drafted an act which prohibits misbranding of food and drugs, and will actively seek its passage at the present session of the Legislature. The idea is to have the State keep up with the United States government in the honesty of its food and drug products.

An interview given by one of the members of the State Board of Health regarding the bill calls attention to the extravagant claims made by patent medicine makers, which often influence people to buy the nostrums. He says that it is designed to secure that simple honesty which should "go with Jersey justice."

The patent medicine people thrive, with the exception of a few, upon the gullible public. Repeutable druggists sell many of them merely because the people demand them, and whenever possible offer a substitute which is much better for the ailment which it is hoped to cure. But nine times out of ten the advertised article is demanded, although its curative value is nil. It is to be hoped that the bill proposed by the Board of Health will be passed. It will not interfere with legitimate business, and if the fakirs are unable to sell their wares, the druggists can fall back on the more substantial cures which they would prefer to handle.

Much has been said lately about the number of Germans in America. Erratic statements on the subject have put the figure all the way from ten to twenty millions, says the Newark Sunday Call. This has led to a new study of the last census, with the discovery that five years ago 2,501,333 persons here were born in Germany, 1,732,462 in Russia, 1,670,582 in Austria-Hungary, 1,352,251 in Ireland, 1,343,125 in Italy, 1,250,783 in Scandinavian lands and 1,209,717 in Canada. In New York city Russians outnumber the Germans nearly 2 to 1. The writer who gleaned these facts says: "Deducting four-fifths for women and children (the usual allowance) and we have of Germans about 500,000 of adult or voting ages in the whole United States, or less than one-half of 1 per cent. of the total population." Of course, citizens of German blood are far more numerous, but the same is true also of citizens of the other races named above.

The pros and cons of the Suffrage question will be ably presented at the Plainfield High School auditorium, tomorrow night, when a debate will be held under the auspices of the Plainfield Democratic Club. This organization, which was reported only a few weeks ago to be going out of business, has developed into about as lively a corpse as is possible under the able leadership of Councilman Richard A. Claybrook. Their effort to have the people enlightened on a subject which will be the most discussed in the State until September, deserves the support of those who are interested in both sides of the question, and it is expected that a crowded house will greet the debaters.

Every town has three kinds of merchants. The first is the one that is a booster, is always ready to go the limit to help his city grow, advertises honestly what he will deliver and goes out of his way to accommodate patrons of his store and to encourage them to come again. The other two kinds hold back the community. One does not advertise at all and the other advertises untruthfully. The latter class make the mail order houses profitable. They may get a purchaser into their stores, but it is mighty seldom that such a person comes again, for the average American does not like to get "stung more than once in the same place.

As might be expected, Becker, twice convicted as a murderer and now awaiting electrocution in the death-house at Sing Sing, has found a loop-hole in the New York law which gives an opportunity to apply for a new trial. Had the case been tried in New Jersey it would have been settled long ago, and the people would have forgotten all about it. New York may be the "Empire State" but it certainly has mighty poor courts.

General Villa is still in doubt whether his escort, when he leaves for Mexico City, will be a body-guard or a group of pall-bearers, according to the Paterson Call.

Wonder what that typesetter was thinking about when he made the name of a well known play read "The Walls of Jericho?" Bet he was a married man.

What has happened to the "good old fashioned winter," anyway?

What did you get for your dollar?

THE FORUM

Editor, The Daily Press:

In a recent issue of The Daily Press an Anti-Suffragists, signing Elizabeth B. Sykes, pointed out peculiar ordinances adopted by "Kansas City" as follows:

"Here is a clipping from an Evening Post of last week which does not show a very intelligent use of the law-making power in Kansas City. It is headed 'The Multiplication of Laws:'

"The city has six thousand ordinances.

"Council passes from twenty to fifty each meeting.

"One prohibits hatpin points over three inches long.

"Another prohibits a certain class of women from riding in open carriages.

"But there is no city law against the promiscuous sale of morphine, codeine, heroin and opium. Kansas City Star."

The writer apparently thought those acts were adopted by Kansas City, Kansas, which has woman suffrage, when the fact is they refer to Kansas City, Missouri, which is not only in a man-suffrage State, but a State which voted down woman-suffrage in November last!! Instead of being a reflection on the intelligence of people in a suffrage State, and an argument against suffrage, as I suppose it was meant to be, it was precisely the reverse.

URGE SUPPORT OF CHILD LABOR BILL

More Than 100,000 Children Would Immediately Be Affected By Measure.

Members of the National Child Labor Committee in this vicinity who have been co-operating with the committee in its publicity campaign for the Palmer-Owen child labor bill, received yesterday a letter from Owen R. Lovejoy, the general secretary, asking for further co-operation.

"The majority by which the House of Representatives passed the bill last Monday was much larger than we had dared to hope it would be," writes Mr. Lovejoy, "but this is only the first step. The final step depends on you.

"Only one in seven of the Representatives voting on the bill opposed it, and we believe that two reasons why the bill is meeting with popular favor are: (1) that more than 100,000 children will immediately be affected by it; (2) that the standards which it proposes for these children have already been adopted by the majority of the States. Forty-three States have a 14-year limit in factories and 27 of these apply it without legal exemptions. Thirty-four States have forbidden night work by children under 16. Thirty-two States and the Federal Government have by statute recognized the 8-hour day as suitable for adults (although only 19 have applied it to all children under 16). Only 16 of the important mining States have a 16-year limit, or higher, for underground work in mines, but these 16 States employ two-thirds of the mine workers of the entire country.

"The bill is now before the Interstate Commerce Committee of the Senate from whom we expect a favorable report. The fate of the bill before the Senate itself is more uncertain, and all who have not already written to their Senators are urged to do so without delay."

ALBA AND KREISLER WILL PERFORM AT MUSICALE

SCHOOL HOLDS A PERFECT RECORD

Plainfield's Open Air Institution Accomplishes Much.

METHOD IS UNEQUALLED

Work is Now a Part of the Common School System—Pupils Show Remarkable Improvement in Weight and General Health.

(From H. C. McMillen.)

As a demonstration station in the possibilities of repairing boys and girls who are more or less damaged in health and nerves, the Plainfield Open Air School continues to hold its almost perfect record. The school began operation in 1913, and in two years the school has turned out as finished product two hundred weight more of youngsters than entered the school as raw material. Of course boys and girls increase in weight anyway, just in the course of growing up, but while the normal increase for given ages is rated at from four to five pounds in the open air school, the average gain in weight for the same comparative ages is seven pounds, 14 ounces.

The school was founded by the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, and at first only the children of the poor attended. In the matter of open air schools the beneficiaries are divided as are the beneficiaries of the newest discoveries and the most expensive medical practices—the rich and the poor are the first to profit, by ability to pay and through the ministrations of distinguished physicians and surgeons at free hospitals, while folks neither rich nor poor worry along until the new and approved methods are slowly brought within their financial reach. The Plainfield Open Air School is now a part of the common school system of this city in that the Board of Education provides a teacher, but the Anti-Tuberculosis League pays for the services of a nurse and cook, and for milk, eggs, gas for cooking, etc. The building is also provided by the league. Children other than children of the poor have been entered and Miss Bernice F. Bateman, the teacher, reports a long waiting list. The splendid gains in physical health, nervous stability, and mental alertness of children at the school are only for a few, because the pavilion is a tiny one.

Slowly but surely the Board of Education will accept the fact that open air schools are unequalled as repair shops for boys and girls who need extra attentions as to lungs and other respiratory organs, and diet and fresh air for nerves not attuned. Maybe Plainfield will some day have a lot of open air school rooms or pavilions for all sorts of youngsters who are growing up and should grow rightly.

Dr. Clara De H. Krans and Dr. Edward S. Krans, who give volunteer oversight of the pavilion for the Anti-Tuberculosis League, have submitted to the league reports on the school for the period between September 9, 1913, and December 23, 1914. The first school year (nine months) ended June 8, 1914. It is interesting to note that the average gain in weight of each child for that period was 7 pounds, 14 ounces, and for the September to December 1914 period, approximately three months, was four pounds, two ounces, showing that with the longer period of attendance the improvement in health is maintained. Dr. Edward S. Krans submitted the following interest comment on the observations as to the changes in the health of open air pupils:

"Such uniform and uninterrupted gain in weight is most interesting. At present there is no other method of handling such children, or any children, that gives so rich a yield of flesh and blood, and the conclusion follows naturally that it provides the proper, rational environment for children at school.

"Colds in head, throat, or chest are rare; there has not been any contagious disease, save one mild case of mumps, and although 33 out of the 62 children who have been admitted, have come from homes containing tuberculosis, yet all have apparently escaped infection of the lungs.

"Furthermore, the teacher reports an equally marked improvement in accuracy and rapidity of thought, and regrets that the average attendance of a child is only six months, because that brief period is insufficient to insure permanent results.

"In fact, it has been necessary to re-admit four pupils, and a great many have been discharged who needed to attend an outdoor school for several years more. Many children are pre-destined by heredity and environment to a degree of enfeeblement that requires special care well into adolescence. The expense of caring for such cases in an open air school that provides food and nursing is great, but it might be possible to provide these advantages for a few months and then follow up by placing the children in the less expensive open window rooms, which add but little to the cost of education."

Five children were operated upon last fall for tonsils or adenoids or for infected glands. Eleven children were treated at the nose and throat clinic in thirty-three visits. Last year there were 282 visitations to the nose and throat and to the dental clinics, indicating the faithful and intelligent oversight given to youngsters at exactly the time when wise correction of defects was sure to be of life-long value.

As Dr. Krans points out the cost of providing food and nursing is a burden, but it is one which has been cheerfully accepted by the Anti-Tuberculosis League, the members of which have contributed generously and further have assumed habilities to no inconsiderable amount that were conditional upon public subscription. If the public had failed to do its share the league members would have had to shoulder the burden. If the Board of Education takes over the entire support of the Open Air School the league will have just so much more money available for its free clinic, its visiting nurse, and for contributions to the national fight on tuberculosis.

Battleships Now and Then.

A battleship today is not the same as a battleship in Nelson's day. The old wooden three decker could only be destroyed by long and desperate close quarter fighting. It would stand hours of battering. It would take hundreds of shot and still be capable of fighting. But today one unlucky shot, one blow from a torpedo, and the great fighting machine is a heap of scrap iron.—London Graphic.

Weeping Willows.

The weeping willow, so called (scientific name S. babylonica), is a native of China, from which country it has been taken over most of the civilized earth. It varies in height and dimensions according to climate and soil and invariably maintains its drooping habit, the chief cause of its attractiveness.—New York American.

STRATEGY IN WAR

Retreats to Lure the Enemy From His Base of Supplies.

KNOWN AS FABIAN TACTICS.

Methods That Have Been Used by Warriors Since Long Before the Christian Era—George Washington Was Called the American Fabius.

After the great war in Europe had broken loose in the summer of 1914 and the allies fell back from their first line in northern France to the Marne a good deal was said and written of "Fabian tactics," and when the Germans fell back from the line of the Marne to the Aisne more was said of "Fabian tactics." In this country when Washington and the heroic Continental army fell back before the English in superior force and of superior equipment and perhaps superior discipline, his tactics were called "Fabian." In fact General George Washington was called and by historical writers is still referred to as "the American Fabius."

It is probably true that many Americans long parted from their school books have forgotten about Fabius, even though whenever an army makes an orderly retreat for the purpose of gaining time or reaching a more favorable position they speak fluently of "Fabian tactics." It is a phrase that comes trippingly off the tongue.

Fabius, as might easily be guessed from his name, was a Roman. He commanded the legions of Rome against the powers of Carthage 200 years before the Christian era. The tactics which came to be called after Fabius were no doubt employed centuries before Rome was born. Fabian tactics without doubt have been used ever since bodies of men made war, but it may be that Fabius so refined or systematized those tactics that it is just and worthy they bear his name.

Fabius in 217 B. C. stood opposite to the hosts or hordes of Carthaginians under the brilliant leadership of Hannibal. In battle before Fabius Maximus was called to the supreme command of the Roman troops in the field the Carthaginians had been victorious. Fabius, profiting by what had befallen his predecessors in command, avoided a pitched battle in the open and retreated, fighting as he fell back, holding off the enemy with what are now described as rear guard actions. Drawing the enemy farther and farther from base or the sources of supplies, wearying their troops more than he wearied his own and delaying a battle until he reached ground where his position would give him a great advantage—a position against superior numbers—where the loss in men and morale of the assailants must be great and where at the proper moment the counterstroke could be delivered with high promise of success, the tactics of Fabius won.

In some ways the phrase "Fabian tactics" has been diverted from its original and proper significance and is made to comprehend any tactics of a particularly shrewd or "foxy" nature. In this connection it has been said that Napoleon employed "Fabian tactics" with brilliant success at Austerlitz. The combined Austrian and Russian armies greatly extended their line in an effort to turn the right flank of the French army and cut his communications. It seemed as though this move would succeed, for Napoleon permitted it to develop without serious resistance. Then he suddenly concentrated his whole strength at the center, with the exception of a portion of Bernadotte's corps, which he left to deal with the Austrian turning force, and burst through the line, destroying one wing of the Austrian army as it retreated.

Historians of Rome deal at considerable length with a family called the Fabii. It is narrated that this ancient and renowned family undertook the duty of defending Roman territory against incursions by the Velentines and for this purpose established themselves at a place on the Cremara river. The Fabii were drawn into ambush and were all killed. The date of that event is given as B. C. 477.

A boy of the family Fabii had been left in Rome, and he became the second founder of the family. Fabius Eximus, who won his laurels and his spurs in the second Punic war, was descended from that boy, and there was another famous member of the family whose name was Fabius Pictor, who wrote a history of Rome and who is often referred to as the earliest Roman historian.—Washington Star.

In a Quandary.

"It—er—seems," said he, regarding the unfortunate with scientific interest, "that the attacks of fever and chills appear on alternate days. Do you think—is it your opinion—that they have, so to speak, decreased in violence, if I may use that word?"

The patient smiled feebly. "Doc," said he, "on fever days my head's so hot I can't think, and on ague days I shake so I can't hold an opinion."—New York Globe.

Holland's Waterstaat.

Holland has a department of state, with a cabinet minister at the head of it, for her "waterstaat," an untranslatable word, which means practically the state of all waters from the field drain in the polders to the Rhine at winter level. They are all linked up in one scheme in an office at The Hague.—London Express.

Swimming News and Notes

Written for the Daily Press by

LOUIS P. HANSEN.

The metropolitan 500-yard swimming and diving championships will take place tonight at the New York Athletic Club, and it is anticipated that a large number of entrants will start in each of these events.

It is a toss-up between Nerich, Reilly, Vollmer and Wheatley as to who will win the 500-yard swim, each of the above named swimmers standing an equal chance for the title, and a very close contest is expected, and we may see a new American record for this distance, as all these men are in great shape and are moving at a very fast clip.

The diving title will probably lay between McAleenan, Dunn and Downes, but the way Dunn has been diving recently, it is more than likely that he will carry off the honors, although a slip-up will quite likely cost him the title.

The swimming and water polo teams of Pennsylvania University will have their first real test of the season tomorrow, when they face Columbia in the local pool.

The Columbia team showed unexpected strength in defeating Princeton last week in swimming and holding down the visitors to a 20 to 10 score in water polo, and it no longer looks as if the Philadelphia men were sure of victory, although their good performances against Annapolis a few days ago place odds slightly in their favor, at least in the all-round program.

Captain Shryock, Hughes and Masten, in particular, made excellent times in the clash with the Navy swimmers, and while Vollmer, the Columbia star, undoubtedly will lower their colors if he is at his best, they are likely to capture enough seconds and thirds to partly offset the advantage, and then forge ahead in the plunging and diving events. Much will depend on the relay race, the outcome of which is most uncertain.

The wealth of record-breaking feats witnessed in the interscholastic acquatic championship at Princeton naturally caused all defeated candidates to be completely overlooked, ye there was one among the losing lads whose remarkable work well deserves a line of comment—W. J. Marling, of Huntington School, Boston.

This speedy youth took second place in the furlong swim, less than one second behind Handy, the winner, and was caught in 2:37 3-5, beating the former standard figures. What is more to the point, however, he made this fast time in spite of two noticeable faults in his stroke, raising the knees in recovery and catching with uplifted hands. These faults entail a marked check between drives and considerable loss of power, yet they are easily corrected, and their elimination will mean an improvement of several seconds to every century. With competent handling Marling should soon develop into a dangerous bidder for middle-distance national honors.

It was most interesting to note at the interscholastic meet that many of the lads used the latest of swimming strokes—the single and double trudgeon crawl. This is the more remarkable in that few instructors teach them. It is evidently a result of close observation of our champion's methods on the part of the ambitious youngsters and of consequent imitation. But it is quite surprising to see how rapidly knowledge of the new strokes is spreading throughout the country.

The game of water polo between Princeton and Columbia upset somewhat preconceived ideas as to the situation in the college field. It was generally conceded that the Tigers, who crushed City College under a 73 to 0 avalanche last December, would have no difficulty in downing all rivals, but Princeton lost two of its strongest defence men—Gennert and Scudder—and this regrettable piece of bad luck is changing prospects materially. The new backfield is weak and vulnerable, so that, in spite of the best forward line in the league, Princeton may find it hard to outscore Yale, less efficient in attack, but better able to protect its own goal.

The empty victory of Perry McGillivray in the 220-yard swimming championship of the Central District was keenly disappointing, for instead of the hard fight expected between him and Harry Hebner it developed into a procession, owing to the absence of the latter. McGillivray won by 15 yards in 2 minutes and 29 seconds, although he had done three seconds better on the way to 300 yards, when he lowered the record for this distance a few days before.

Followers of water sports are beginning to wonder why McGillivray and Hebner never compete against each other these days. If one enters a race the other invariably stays out. It will probably take the national championships to bring them together.

Local aquatic fans will be pleased to learn that they will have a chance to see in action, on March 6, the swimming team of the Brookline High School, which performed so brilliantly in the interscholastic championships. Another set of High School title events is to be held at the New York Athletic Club on the date mentioned, and Arthur McAleenan, the club captain, states that the Boston lads have promised to be on hand.

Russell Dean, the Boston schoolboy, who shattered the 50-yard interscholastic record a week ago, has just broken in practice the 150-yard world's figures for swimming on the back. It looks as if Harry Hebner, of Chicago, the holder, might not have things as easy as usual this season.

George Cunha, of Honolulu, is likely to prove a factor in the deciding of future national and international swimming events. Competing recently in New South Wales, he defeated at 100 yards William Barry, the Australian sprint champion, in the clinking time of 55 1-5 seconds.

SWIMMING SCHEDULE FOR Y. M. C. A. INDIAN LEAGUE

Physical Director Robert Meermans, of the Y. M. C. A., has announced the following schedule of swimming events for the Indian League:

March 1, two-length swim on breast; March 8, two-length swim on back; March 15, two-length side stroke; March 22, dive for form; March 29, under water swim; April 5, four-length swim; April 12, plunge for distance; April 19, relay race.

BOSTON BRAVES ALL SIGNED.

Boston, Feb. 24.—James E. Gaffney, president of the world champion Boston club, of the National League, said that with the receipt yesterday of the signed contract of Catcher Bert Whaling, the club has the signature of every member. Mr. Gaffney made no reference to the contract of Bill James, the pitcher, except that the club would insist on the fulfillment of its conditions.

P. H. S. VS. FACULTY.

The Plainfield High School basketball team will meet the Faculty aggregation in its annual go Friday afternoon, on the Ninth street floor. These games are always interesting and the teachers have given a good account of themselves in past years.

BOROUGH BOWLING TOURNEY.

Two matches will be rolled in the borough one-man tourney tonight, Howe and Snyder, and Miller and Squires coming together. Tomorrow night there will also be two matches.

Plainfield Elks again enjoy being in last place of the Senior Bowling League, having lost three games to the New York team on the Watchung avenue alleys, last night, while the Rahway team was making a clean sweep over Rutherford on the Rahway drives.

The New Yorkers rolled in the first game as if they meant to take all the contests, L. Westphal getting a 222 and A. Westphal scoring a 215. Schmidt, who rolled his second match for this team, and Wessel were the low scorers of the game, while Starr came across with a 202. They put the team total up to 959, almost one hundred points above Plainfield's, which was 867. Campbell and Kiely rolled 184 and 180 respectively, the other three marks being lower than Kiely's. The home team rolled better in the second game, but at that were 33 pins short at the end of the tenth frame. L. Westphal tallied 194, while A. Westphal went that score two points better. Starr hit for a 212. Blatz, lead-off man for the local combination, registered a 205, and Vail went up to 202. The scores of the game were 941 to 908.

Both teams fell down in the final game, the scores being 868 to 846. Vail made an even 200 and Schmidt's 196 was the highest count made by the New York players.

The scores follow:

RAHWAY "BILLS" COPPED THREE FROM RUTHERFORD

A big surprise was handed out in the Elks' Senior League race, last night, when the Rahway five, holders of the cellar position, took all three games from Rutherford, the last roll being won by four pins. Rahway rolled a 925 in the initial game and 869 in the second.

Widmayer, of the Rutherford team, mide high score of the match with a 223, while Koops hit for 222, and A. Walter made a 206.

SPORTING NOTES

Ad Wolgast and Leach Cross are matched for Friday night in New York.

American tennis players are entered in the Bermuda tournament which opens on Saturday.

Bob Moha's kid brother Ed will be seen in a prelim of the Welsh-White bout tomorrow night at Milwaukee.

R. B. Ward has doped out the Federal League schedule, which will be adopted at the league meeting at Buffalo, Friday.

Racing, minus betting, has been resumed in California Saturday and Sunday meets are scheduled at Ascot Park, Los Angeles.

Mike Gibbons and Eddie McGoorty are training hard for their bout at Hudson, Wis., Tuesday. Both boys are seeking a decision.

The Canadian Derby, the valuable international racing stake, has been declared off this spring, because of few entries.

Buck Crouse has a one-legged brother in Pittsburgh who challenges any one-legged boxer or wrestler for a match.

The lawn tennis meet in New York on March 19 will decide the dates for the various tournaments this summer.

The wrestling "mystery" will perform tomorrow night at Boston, and Charley Cutler will also be seen in George Tuchey's all-star tournament..

The fan must carry the load of expense of the baseball war. According to President Lannin, of the Red Sox, $2 admission may yet be asked.

The athletic world loses a fast sprinter in Mel Shepparo, who retires on account of injury. He holds eight world's championships and has won over 600 medals.

Reports from Germany state that the sporting men there are still hoping to pull off the 1916 Olympic at Berlin. Does this give a clue to their ideas as to how long the war will last?

The coast baseball magnates do not fear that the Exposition will hurt baseball this summer. A real fan will not let a little thing like a world's fair interfere with his enjoyment.

The Syracuse franchise sale in the New York State League has been held up pending today's decision of the International whether the latter league will place a team in that city.

Freddie Welsh and Charley White meet tomorrow night in a ten-round bout at Milwaukee. White must knock out the champ to accomplish a victory. Their last meet was a draw.

Honus Wagner, the famous old Dutchman of the Pirates, will be the guest tonight of the Stove League of Pittsburgh, on the occasion of his 41st birthday. It is said that the old warhorse has written a speech.

And our old friend Doc Roller, of Seattle, is becoming a boxer. He made good as a pill-mixer, a physical director and a wrestler, and will don the mitts to tackle Joe Bonds, the Tacoma heavyweight, on Friday night.

This is the big night in Philadelphia, when Kilbane and Williams get together. The boys will weigh 122 ringside. Kilbane holds the featherweight championship title, and Williams is undisputed bantamweight champ. They are the classiest pair of light boxers in the ring. The dope gives Kilbane the worst of it, for it is doubtful whether he can make 122 pounds without losing some of his strength.

LOST GAME AND SCOREBOOK; LOOKS RATHER SUSPICIOUS

The North Plainfield High School girl's second team met defeat at the hands of the Cranford High School seconds, yesterday afternoon, at that place, the final tally being 14 to 10.

Miss Spencer and Miss Douglas played good games for the losers. The contest was very close in the second period and it was only by some good playing in the last few minutes that the Cranford girls won out.

The borough maidens did not keep any score of the game.

FEMININE SPORT "JABS"

A team of North Plainfield maidens trolleyed to Cranford, yesterday afternoon, with the full expectation of wiping the Cranfordites off the map. Why, they were ashamed to play against "Such a small team." It only goes to show that "Such a small team" can accomplish wonders. North Plainfield lassies were defeated.

Coupled with their defeat the North Plainfield maidens lost the score book, consequently the individual scores could not be ascertained. It seems rather significant that whenever a game of this nature is lost, the scorebook seems to be lost also. A double calamity.

Feminine opposition in basketball in Plainfield and vicinity is becoming scarce, according to the manager of the "Plainfield Five." The local team has a reputation that extends to Trenton, the capital city lassies refusing to come to the "Queen City" to play the locals even though they were offered their own terms and conditions.

By the way, don't forget that the "Plainfield Five" plays tomorrow night at the Columbus Club. After the court game you can bowl or play pool. The Columbus Club five will lineup against the W. F. A., from Bound Brook.

Last year we heard a rumor over in "Canada" that the feminine athletes were going to organize a baseball nine. Why not gather your recruits early this season and start practice? A series of games between the two High Schools would prove a popular innovation in Plainfield sportdom. Many schools have started similar teams and the girls are very enthusiastic about the national pastime.

What about the field hockey sport that proved so popular two years ago in the Plainfield High School. One of the minus quantities in the school seems to be a leader to start something.

ONE MAN TOURNAMENT.

Three matches were rolled in the borough one man tournament, last night, the Conover brothers and George Lewis each winning a pair of games and dropping the odd roll. Lewis made a high mark in his second game with Voorhees when he hit for 211 against his opponent's 200. "Walt" Conover was high score man with a 219.

N. P. H. S.-LEAL GAME OFF.

The North Plainfield High School-Leal basketball match, scheduled for Saturday afternoon, has been cancelled as the private school team will not play after this afternoon. Manager VanMater is trying to arrange a game for that day.

MEDICINE BALL CONTEST.

The members of the College League of the Y. M. C. A., took part in the eight-pound medicine ball throw yesterday. Willett, of the Army team, winning easily with a mark of 26 feet 3 inches.

OSTROM WINS CONTEST.

Cedric Ostrom won the standing broad jump event of the Y. M. C. A. Color League, last night, making a mark of 8 feet 11½ inches. Gus Engler was second with 8 feet 10¼ inches.

THEY RAISE BALL PLAYERS IN MINOOKA; THREE MEMBERS OF "MINOOKA BLUES" STAR

Less than five years ago, in the summer of 1910, the Minooka Blues, a team composed of players none of whom had passed seventeen years of age, were winning games with regularity from teams in Minooka, Scranton and other Lackawanna county towns.

Today three of them are members of big league teams and three others are minor league stars. Steve O'Neill, catcher of the Cleveland Indians, was the backstop on the Blues, and also the oldest member of the team. Mike McNally, who last year hit .267 for St. Paul, of the American Association, and was considered one of the three best shortstops in the association, was third baseman of the Blues. He with Charley Shorten, who played left field for the Blues in 1910 and right field for Worcester, New England League, the last three years, has been ordered to report to the Boston Americans next month for trials.

HEART OF HANK GOWDY WAS BESET BY MANY

Fame has its drawbacks, as Hank Gowdy discovered as soon as the Braves were well along on their way to victory in the world's series. After the Boston club had won its third straight game from the Athletics one of the newspaper men in the Hub printed the story that a young woman had promised to marry Hank if his club won the world's championship.

"Gowdy asked me to deny this as strongly as possible," declares Stallings. "'Why, it got me in bad,' Hank complained to me after the third game. 'Every young woman I know expects me to marry her now if we win.'

"'That's the reason for you taking it easy,' I told him."

Corporation Notice

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 15, 1915.

AN ORDINANCE

To License and Regulate Omnibuses, Stages and Other Vehicles Used for the Transportation of Passengers In or Through the City of Plainfield in Connection With Any Omnibus Line or Stage Line.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Sec. 1. No person, persons or corporation shall either as principal or as agent or employe of another, drive, run or operate in or through the City of Plainfield any omnibus line or stage line for the transportation of passengers without first obtaining a license for each vehicle so used for that purpose, as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2. Any person, persons or corporation may make application, written or printed, or partly written and partly printed, to the Mayor of said City for license to drive, run or operate in or through said City, an omnibus or stage line, but every such application shall be signed by the applicant or a duly authorized agent of the applicant, and shall designate the particular description of vehicle or vehicles intended to be so used. Whenever any such application is granted as hereinafter provided, the City Clerk shall cause the same to be endorsed with the date of the grant and the number of the license granted, and filed in his office.

Sec. 3. The Mayor shall have the power to grant, and to refuse in his discretion, any such application, but every such license granted by the Mayor shall state the object for which it is given, the number and description of vehicles licensed thereunder, the name or names of the person, persons or corporation to whom the license is granted, the number of the license, the date of its expiration, and it shall be signed by the Mayor, attested by the City Clerk and countersigned by the Chief of Police before it shall become operative.

Sec. 4. Every such license shall expire on the first day of March following the date on which it is granted, and no such license shall be granted except upon the payment by the applicant therefor to the City Clerk for the use of the City, of a license fee of Five Dollars ($5.00) for each vehicle to be used thereunder and no vehicle shall be used thereunder other than a vehicle specified therein.

Sec. 5. The Common Council may, from time to time, by resolution, forbid the use of any particular street or streets, avenue or avenues, highway or highways, or portion or portions thereof, in said City by any vehicle or vehicles licensed under this ordinance and, after the adoption of any such resolution and before the same is rescinded, no vehicle licensed under this ordinance shall use or pass through or along any street, avenue or highway or portion thereof, the use whereof by such vehicle is forbidden by any such resolution.

Sec. 6. Every omnibus, stage or other similar vehicle, the use whereof may be authorized by any license granted under this orinance, shall at all times have displayed on each side of the outside thereof, in a conspicuous place, the number of the then current license under which it is being used in said city; also another numeral sufficient to distinguish it from every other vehicle used under such license.

Sec. 7. Every vehicle used by virtue of any license granted under this ordinance shall be subject to every ordinance of the City of Plainfield, and every regulation of the Board of Police of the City of Plainfield, touching upon or regulating street traffic or the standing or movement of vehicles in public streets or highways.

Sec. 8. Any license granted under this ordinance may be suspended or revoked by the Mayor or City Judge upon proof to his satisfaction that such licensed person, persons or corporation, or any person acting in his, their or its behalf, has violated this ordinance or any other ordinance of the City of Plainfield, or regulation of the Board of Police aforesaid, provided, that no license shall be so suspended or revoked without reasonable opportunity first afforded to the licensed person or corporation to be heard in his or its own behalf; and no person or corporation shall, during the suspension or after the revocation of his or its license, use any vehicle so licensed, in the operation of any such omnibus line or stage line.

Sec. 9. Each and every person or corporation who or which shall violate, and each and every person or corporation who shall direct, assist in or connive at the violation of this ordinance shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine not exceeding Twenty Dollars for each offense.

A Resident Known to All Our Readers Relates An Experience.

Readers of the Press have been told again and again of the merits of that reliable, time-proved kidney remedy—Doan's Kidney Pills. The experiences told are not those of unknown persons, living far away. The cases are Plainfield cases, told by Plainfield people.

C. L. Treat, painter and paperhanger, 411 East Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered for a long time from kidney trouble and for years couldn't get relief. My back ached constantly and I had pain across my kidneys. My kidneys were in bad shape and I became all run down, in fact, was almost a physical wreck. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Randolph's Drug Store and my experience was so satisfactory that I cannot make my endorsement too strong. I simply wouldn't be without a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."

UNION COUNTY ORPHANS' COURT.

In the Matter of the Application of William S. Van Nest, administrator of the estate of George W. Van Nest, Deceased, for sale of Land to Pay Debts. | Order to Show Cause

William S. Van Nest, administrator of the estate of George W. Van Nest, deceased, having exhibited to this Court under oath, a just and true account of the personal estate and debts of said deceased, whereby it appears that the personal estate of said deceased is insufficient to pay his debts, and requested the aid of the Court in the premises: It is, on this twenty-second day of January, nineteen hundred and fifteen, ordered that all persons interested in the lands, tenements, and real estate of said George W. Van Nest, deceased, appear before the Court, at the Court House, in the City of Elizabeth, on the twenty-sixth day of March next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause why so much of the said lands, tenements, hereditaments, and real estate of the said George W. Van Nest, deceased, should not be sold as will be sufficient to pay his debts, or the residue thereof, as the case may require. And it is further ordered, that this order be set up and published in one of the newspapers of this State, as by the statute directed.

THE LESSON OF WAR IN EUROPE

Grimness of Awful Conflict Is Set Forth By Friends.

PEACE IS ADVOCATED

Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Society Make a Strong Appeal to Save Young Manhood and Strength of Nations.

The Plainfield Religious Society of Friends, at its monthly meeting last week, received the following on "The Lesson of the War in Europe," from a committee of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends in advocacy of the peace movement:

"For five months we have watched the ebb and flow of the blood-red tide of war in Europe: the tidings from its battlefields might stir the coldest heart to some sense of that 'Infinite Pity which is alone sufficient for the infinite pathos of human life.' We need not dwell upon these awful pictures save as they may awaken us to a sense of the duty which presses upon us, which lies at our doors, the duty to endeavor by the Grace of God to root out ffom the world this fearful disease.

"Our country at this very hour is facing at once a fearful responsibility and a glorious privilege: it is in our power to turn back this tide of militarism, to set an example from which the rest of the world cannot turn away. One of our own countrymen says that 'militarism blights like a pestilential wind the higher life of nations and eats like a gangrene into the vitals of civilization;' and again: 'All history testifies that a republic has no peril so insidious to fear as the growth of military power within its own borders.' Let the history that is now in the making with such fearful rapidity bear witness to the wisdom of these warning words.

"Therefore, why not stop? Why not say in a tone audible around the world,—'We will go no further in this business.' The deadly Upas tree of militarism has borne its fruit; let the world profit by the lesson.

"Were it not better that the young manhood and the virile strength of our nation be consecrated and uplifted to the nobility of Chrisuan Service, to the relief of suffering, to the help of the poor and the outcast, making the world a better place to live in?

"With nations as with individuals, the nearer we come to our Heavenly Father, the nearer we come to each other in the brotherhood of man.

"Battleships and armies and forts have proved beyond doubt that they cannot keep the peace; they have been tried and found wanting, and capital invested in the making of them becomes itself a menace to the welfare of the nation. Shall not the United States try the more excellent way, 'the fruithful strifes and rivalries of peace?'

"Fellow citizens, we entreat you to pause and consider these things,—to discern the signs of the times,—to seek the path of duty by that pure light of the Spirit of Christ which enlightens every man.

"The Christian disciple serves a Master who 'shall not fail nor be discouraged.' 'The field is the world;' we stand 'for no one generation, for no single land'—the boundaries of nations are broken down in this awful time, and for the sake of our common humanity, in the name of Him who gave Himself for the life of the world, we make this solemn appeal."

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The change of bill at Proctor's tomorrow will bring the following new vaudeville acts: Jerge and Hamilton, comedy skit; the great Felham, hynotist extraordinary; comedy sketch, "Don't Walk In Your Sleep; Niblo's trained birds, "Cuckoo and Laura," and LaPaiza, the celebrated danseuse. The five-reel screen drama, "Wildfire," with Lillian Russell in the leading role, was shown yesterday and will be repeated tomorrow afternoon and night, in addition to the succeeding episode of "Runaway June." Today's film feature is the current installment of "The Twenty Million Dollar Mystery." There will also be a change of war pictures tomorrow, and on Saturday afternoon and night another of those Charles Chaplin two-reel sides-plitting comedies will be presented under the title, "His Night Out." The Chaplin pictures are the funniest propositions ever transferred by the camera and are to be a regular Saturday feature at Proctor's Theatre.

Jr. O. U. A. M. SOCIAL.

A box social and entertainment is being arranged by the Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., to be held on March 12 in the Jr. O. U. A. M. Hall on East Front street. The committee, composed of Bert Snoden, chairman; William England and Joe Martin, are making arrangements for the affair and a good time is assured all who attend.

YOU CAN HAVE A GAS RANGE WITH TIME TO TRY IT OUT

If you have no Gas Range in your house ask any of your neighbors who has one what she thinks of it.

Then, we feel sure, you will want one for yourself.

We make you this proposition:

Let us put a Gas Range in your kitchen without putting up a cent of the cost; you use the range daily for your cooking needs, paying for the gas consumed, and then after April 1 next begin to make monthly payments for the range itself until the purchase price is paid.

We have first-class ranges of different sizes and capacities, all of which are sold at reasonable prices on our Service Payment Plan.

Gas Water Heaters will be installed under similar conditions.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Annette Kellermann's own big production of "Neptune's Daughter," in which the world-famed diver is seen in all of her most difficult feats, is holding the boards at the Plainfield Theatre, today. Not only does she appear as an aquatic artist in this wonderful feature film, which is considered the last word in moving picture ingenuity, but she also appears as an actress, a swordswoman, a graceful dancer and mistress of a hundred arts. "Neptune's Daughter" will be presented only this afternoon and tonight. The feature film for tomorrow and Friday will be the famous comedy drama, "The Man From Home," in which Charles Richman interprets the title role. The screen production is in five acts, which show the typical wit of the Hoosier lawyer, Daniel Pike, at heart a rare lover and rare man. Thousands of readers are familiar with "The Man From Home" as told by Booth Tarkington and Harry L. Wilson and to see it through the medium of the camera will prove a rare treat. Remember that popular prices prevail at the Plainfield Theatre during all photo-play attractions.

Selwyn & Co. at the present writing are the most successful firm of producing managers of the current year, and their profits are making less fortunate contemporaries envious of what they call "Selwyn luck," but what is really fine discernment and business perspicacity on the part of Arch Selwyn and Edgar Selwyn. Last season as the American Play Company, they produced that great thief play, "Within the Law," the profits of which would make the earnings of a public service coporation look like a plugged Mexican dollar. Added to "Within the Law" they produced another thief play, "Under Cover," which was tried out in Boston at the Plymouth Theatre, and ran for twenty-two weeks before it was brought to New York to follow Laureate Taylor in "Peg O' My Heart," at the Cort Theatre, where it is still running. This season they produced "Twin Beds," the most successful farce of the year, at the Fulton Theatre. On Christmas, "The Lie," with Margaret Illington, had its premier in New York at the Harris Theatre. So instantaneous was the success of this piece that before 1914 was dead they were selling seats 12 weeks in advance, and nothing better than the thirteenth row. On New Year's Eve, "The Show Shop," by James Forbes, author of "The Chorus Girl," had its first New York production at the Hudson Theatre, and this farce, which deals with theatrical life, jumped into instant favor. This gives the firm of Selwyn & Co. 33 1-3 per cent. of the successful plays now appearing in New York, a record never equalled before by any producing firm. They are sending "Twin Beds" here for its return engagement at the Plainfield Theatre on Saturday, February 27, matinee and night.

The Ideal Trip for Every American in 1915

23 Days Touring America

Four Women Will Take a Trans-Continental Tour and See the Wonderful Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco

THE PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS WILL PAY THE BILLS

THE PLAN

THE City of Plainfield and vicinity have been divided into three districts—two in the city and borough, and one outside. The selection of the party will be put squarely up to the readers of THE PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS, and their votes will decide the winners. The candidate in each district securing the greatest number of votes will be entitled to this splendid twenty-three days' trip through the most picturesque part of America, and attend the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco, and the Exposition at San Diego. Every cent of expense from the time the winners leave the City of Plainfield until they return will be paid by THE PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS.

First Class travel by special Pullman train, First Class hotel accommodations, automobiles, porters' fees, tips, amusements en route—we pay all the bills. A competent tour conductor, representing Thos. Cook & Son, the well-known Tourists' Agency, will accompany the party, which will be an exclusive one, and no trouble or expense will be spared to add to the comfort and pleasure of our tourists while enroute.

A CONTEST WITHOUT A LOSER

The management of THE PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS has decided to be most liberal to all candidates who may enroll. In addition to the four splendid trips to be given the district winners, to all the candidates who do not win trips and remain active until the end of the campaign, a commission of 10 per cent. will be paid on new subscriptions and 5 per cent. commission will be paid on old subscriptions, so that everyone who may participate will be awarded according to her merits and the efforts she may put forth.

$25.00 In Gold Will Be Given To The Person Who Is First To Nominate The Highest Vote-Getter Of The Contest

NOMINATION BLANK.

RULES

RULE NO. 1.

The contest begins Tuesday, February 23d, and closes at 10:00 p. m., Saturday, April 17th, 1915.

RULE NO. 2.—NOMINATION.

Any woman over sixteen years of age, married or single, of good moral character and reputation, residing in any of the contest districts may enter the contest by making out one of the Application Blanks (Ask for Blank), and sending or bringing in her Application to the Contest Manager, The Plainfield Daily Press.

Candidates must enter from the district in which they reside.

The Contest Manager is to decide any question regarding proper districting of candidates.

Candidates moving from one district to another, after having been nominated, will be retained in the district from which first nominated.

Nominations of candidates may be made by any one at any time during the contest without cost.

The management of The Plainfield Daily Press reserves the right to reject any nomination or application at its discretion.

Any contestant wishing to have her name withdrawn from the list of candidates must write or call personally, as positively no telephone withdrawals will be considered.

No candidate's name can be substituted for another's.

The first publication of the names of candidates will appear Tuesday, March 2d.

RULE NO. 3.—DISTRICTS.

There are three separate districts from which to enter, as described on the opposite page.

Contestants will compete against their sister candidates only in their respective districts, but may secure subscriptions anywhere they choose.

Any district that shows little or no activity will be annulled, and the candidates in that district will be transferred to the district nearest to it from a voting standpoint. Merging of districts to be at the discretion of the Contest Manager.

RULE NO. 4.—VOTING.

Each issue of the Plainfield Daily Press will contain a ballot good for one vote, when properly filled out with the name and district number of the candidate to whom it is to be credited.

No vote coupon will be printed in The Plainfield Daily Press during the last two weeks of the contest.

Votes can be obtained only by clipping from The Plainfield Daily Press or secured through the regular subscription channels.

Votes will be issued on paid-in-advance subscriptions to The Plainfield Daily Press during the life of the contest, for no shorter period than three months by carrier or mail. No subscriptions will be taken for a longer period than two years.

Candidates are not permitted to buy or sell votes.

No votes will be sold for money or other consideration and can be obtained by being clipped from The Plainfield Daily Press and by being issued on paid-in-advance subscriptions.

Votes cannot be transferred from one candidate to another.

Should a candidate withdraw from the contest, her votes will be withdrawn.

Votes once withdrawn cannot be recovered.

The first vote exhibit will appear in The Plainfield Daily Press, Saturday, March 6th.

All votes which will have been deposited in the ballot box will be filed in The Plainfield Daily Press office, subject to the inspection of the candidates to whom they belong, at any time during the contest and business hours.

A committee of three responsible business men will act as a Board of Judges on the last day of the contest, and after a count of the vote declare the winners.

The decision of the Board of Judges to be final and admit of no appeal.

On the morning of the last day of the contest the ballot box will be turned over to the judges who will lock and seal it and it will remain sealed until opened by the judges that night for the final count.

In case of a tie, the two contestants tying for the trip will be sent.

RULE NO. 5.

No salaried employe of The Plainfield Daily Press or close relative of same, such as mother, wife or sister, is eligible to enter this contest.

RULE NO. 6.

No statement or promise by any solicitor, canvasser or agent varying from the above rules as set forth will be recognized by The Plainfield Daily Press.

PEG O' MY HEART

By J. Hartley Manners

A Comedy of Youth Founded by Mr. Manners on His Great Play of the Same Title—Illustrations From Photographs of the Play

Copyright, 1913, by Dodd, Mead & Company

CHAPTER XVI.

"I'd be happier with me father."

"SOMETHING may be saved from the wreck," reasoned Mrs. Chichester more hopefully.

"Until I get really started," said Alaric with a sense of climax.

Mrs. Chichester turned to her daughter. "Ethel?"

"Whatever you decide, mamma."

Mrs. Chichester thought a moment, then decided. "I'll do it," she said determinedly. "It will be hard, but I'll do it." She went slowly and deliberately to Mr. Hawkes, who by this time had disposed of all his documents and was preparing to go. A look in Mrs. Chichester's face stopped him. He smiled at her.

"Well?" he asked.

"For the sake of the memory of my dead sister, I will do as Nathaniel wished," said Mrs. Chichester, with great dignity and self abnegation.

Mr. Hawkes breathed a sigh of relief.

"Good!" he said. "I'm delighted. It is splendid. Now that you have decided so happily there is one thing more I must tell you. The young lady is not to be told the conditions of the will unless at the discretion of the executors should some crisis arise. She will be to all intents and purposes—your guest. In that way we may be able to arrive at a more exact knowledge of her character. Is that understood?"

The family signified severally and collectively that it was.

"And now," beamed the lawyer, happy at the fortunate outcome of a situation that a few moments before seemed so strained, "where is your bell?"

Alaric indicated the bell.

"May I ring?" asked the lawyer.

"Certainly," replied Alaric.

Mr. Hawkes rang.

Alaric watched him curiously. "Want a sandwich or something?"

Hawkes smiled benignly on the unfortunate family and rubbed his hands together self satisfiedly.

"Now I would like to send for the young lady—the heiress."

"Where is she?" asked Mrs. Chichester.

"She arrived from New York this morning, and I brought her straight here. I had to call on a client, so I gave her your address and told her to come here and wait."

At the word "wait" an uneasy feeling took possession of Ethel. That was the word used by that wretched little creature who had so rudely intruded upon her and Brent. Could it be possible—

The footman entered at that moment.

The lawyer questioned him.

"Is there a young lady waiting for Mr. Hawkes?"

"A young lady, sir? No, sir," answered Jarvis.

Mr. Hawkes was puzzled. What in the world had become of her? He told the cabman distinctly where to go.

Jarvis opened the door to go out when a thought suddenly occurred to him. He turned back and spoke to the lawyer:

"There's a young person sitting in the kitchen—came up and knocked at the door and said she had to wait until a gentleman called. Can't get nothing out of her."

Hawkes brightened up.

"That must be Miss O'Connell," he said. He turned to Mrs. Chichester and asked her if he might bring the young lady in there.

"My niece in the kitchen!" said Mrs. Chichester to the unfortunate footman. "Surely you should know the difference between my niece and a servant!"

"I am truly sorry, madam," replied Jarvis in distress, "but there was nothing to tell."

"Another such mistake and you can leave my employment," Mrs. Chichester added severely.

Jarvis pleaded piteously:

"Upon my word, madam, no one could tell."

"That will do!" thundered Mrs. Chichester. "Bring my niece here—at once!"

The wretched Jarvis departed on his errand, muttering to himself: "Wait until they see her. Who in the world could tell she was their relation?"

Mrs. Chichester was very angry.

"It's monstrous!" she exclaimed.

"Stoopid!" agreed Alaric. "Doocid stoopid."

Ethel said nothing. The one thought that was passing through her mind was, "How much did that girl hear Brent say, and how much did she see Mr. Brent do?"

Hawkes tried to smooth the misunderstanding out.

"I am afraid it was all my fault," he explained. "I told her not to talk—just to say that she was to wait. I wanted to have an opportunity to explain matters before introducing her."

"She should have been brought straight to me," complained Mrs. Chichester. "The poor thing!" Then with a feeling of outraged pride she said: "My niece in the kitchen—a Kingsnorth mistaken for a servant!"

The door opened and Jarvis came into the room. There was a look of half triumph on his face as much as to say: "Now, who would not make a mistake like that? Who could tell this girl was your niece?"

Mrs. Chichester Was Angry; Ethel Said Nothing.

He beckoned Peg to come into the room.

Then the Chichester family received the second shock they had experienced that day—one compared with which the failure of the bank paled into insignificance. When they saw the strange, shabby, red haired girl slouch into the room with her parcels and that disgraceful looking dog they felt the hand of misfortune had indeed fallen upon them.

As Peg wandered into the room Mrs. Chichester and Alaric looked at her in horrified amazement.

Ethel took one swift glance at her and then turned her attention to Pet.

Jarvis looked reproachfully at Mrs. Chichester as much as to say, "What did I tell you?" and went out.

Alaric whispered to his mother:

"Oh, I say, really, you know—it isn't true! It can't be."

Pet suddenly saw Michael and began to bark furiously at him. Michael responded vigorously until Peg quieted him.

At this juncture Mr. Hawkes came forward and, taking Peg gently by the arm, reassured her by saying:

"Come here, my dear. Come here. Don't be frightened. We're all your friends."

He brought Peg over to Mrs. Chichester, who was staring at her with tears of mortification in her eyes. When Peg's eyes met her aunt's she bobbed a little courtesy she used to do as a child whenever she met some of the gentlefolk.

Mrs. Chichester went cold when she saw the gauche act. Was it possible that this creature was her sister Angela's child? It seemed incredible.

"What is your name?" she asked sternly.

"Peg, ma'am."

"What?"

"Sure, me name's Peg, ma'am," and she bobbed another little courtesy.

Mrs. Chichester closed her eyes and shivered. She asked Alaric to ring. As that young gentleman passed Ethel on his way to the bell he said: "It can't really be true! Eh, Ethel?"

"Quaint," was all his sister replied.

Hawkes genially drew Peg's attention to her aunt by introducing her:

"This lady is Mrs. Chichester—your aunt." Peg looked at her doubtfully a moment, then turned to Hawkes and asked him:

"Where's me uncle?"

"Alas, my dear child, your uncle is dead!"

"Dead!" exclaimed Peg in surprise. "Affther sendin' for me?"

"He died just before you sailed," added Hawkes.

"God rest his soul," said Peg piously. "Sure, if I'd known that I'd never have come at all. I'm too late, then. Good day to ye," and she started for the door.

Mr. Hawkes stopped her.

"Where are you going?"

"Back to me father."

"Oh, nonsense!"

"But I must go back to me father if me uncle's dead."

"It was Mr. Kingsnorth's last wish that you should stay here under your aunt's care. So she has kindly consented to give you a home."

Peg gazed at Mrs. Chichester curiously.

"Have ye?" she asked.

Mrs. Chichester, with despair in every tone, replied, "I have!"

"Thank ye," said Peg, bobbing another little courtesy.

Mrs. Chichester gazed at Peg and covered her eyes with her hand as if to shut out some painful sight.

Peg looked at Mrs. Chichester and at the significant action. There was no mistaking its significance. It conveyed dislike and contempt so plainly that Peg felt it through her whole nature. She turned to Alaric and found him regarding her as though she were some strange animal. Ethel did not deign to notice her. She whispered to Hawkes:

"I can't stay here."

"Why not?" asked the lawyer.

"I'd be happier with me father," said Peg.

"You'll be quite happy here—quite."

"We're not wanted here, Michael!" she murmured.

The terrier looked up at her and then buried his head under her arm as though ashamed.

Jarvis came in response to the ring at that moment, bearing a pained, martyr-like expression on his face.

Mrs. Chichester directed him to take away Peg's parcels and the dog.

Peg frightenedly clutched the terrier.

"Oh, no, ma'am," she pleaded. "Plaze lave Michael with me. Don't take him away from me."

"Take it away," commanded Mrs. Chichester severely, "and never let it inside the house again."

"Well, if ye don't want him inside yer house ye don't want me inside yer house," Peg snapped back.

Hawkes pleaded.

"No!" said Peg firmly. "I will not give him up."

The lawyer tried again to take the dog from her. "Come, Miss O'Connell; you really must be reasonable."

"I don't care about being reasonable," replied Peg. "Michael was given to me by me father, an' he's not very big, an' he's not a watchdog; he's a pet dog—an' look!" She caught sight of Ethel's little poodle, and, with a cry of self justification, she said:

"See, she has a dog in the house—right here in the house. Look at it!" And she pointed to where the little ball of white wool lay sleeping on Ethel's lap. Then Peg laughed heartily. "I didn't know what it was until it moved."

Of Interest to Women and the Home

ONE OF THE NEW PARASOLS AND A SMART SILK COAT.

Just enough warmth for a cool summer day is afforded by this pretty little coat of red and white sprigged taffeta with trimming of lace and black velvet. Under the coat is a frock of Madeira embroidered handkerchief lawn, quite short, in the new fashion. The paneled parasol is of plain and flowered silk with a binding of striped black and white silk in pompadour effect.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD.

"Look here, Amy," exclaimed George Goswald, "am I to understand that I am in for a row every time I ask a friend here for a meal? I am a southerner and used to the generous hospitality of the south."

"Well, you can get over your 'generous hospitality.' I do not propose to run a regular hotel. If I do all my own work it's too much to ask me to get up an extra dinner every few days because Tom, Dick or Harry that you used to know happens to be in town. Let them go to the hotel!" retorted Mrs. Goswald.

George looked angry, but he kept a firm grip on himself. "Would you rather I took them to a hotel and treated them to a dinner? I could do that, but, having a home, I prefer to bring them here."

"I see no reason for your doing either one; they are as able to get their dinner as you are to get it for them," said his wife.

"Great Scott! Amy," exploded George. "It isn't a bread line, a question of eating or going without. I want a place to take my friends and visit with them. These boys are old chums. We have had all sorts of good times together. I have been entertained at Tom Graves' home; he's the only one who is married, but the others would be insulted to have me go to a hotel when in their town. You don't understand the situation."

"I understand it all very well. Not a week goes by but you trot one or two of those boys in here for me to wait on and I don't propose to be a slave for them any longer." Mrs. Goswald was clearing the breakfast table and she carried a tray of dishes to the kitchen with her chin in the air.

Her husband watched her in silence, his mouth compressed. If she had seen that mouth she might have trimmed her sails for a different course. She congratulated herself, however, on having silenced the enemy's last gun, and sailed away, her colors flying.

George left the house without another word. Mrs. Goswald regretted having him go without a word of goodby; she knew he was angry, but "he would get over it; he always did," and she had cleared the house of those frequent guests that had annoyed her ever since she was married.

George did not come home to dinner, and when she called up he had left the office.

"Why didn't you say you were not coming home to dinner?" she asked with asperity when he returned that evening.

"Jack and I went to the Palmer House. I told him you weren't feeling just up to snuff today, so we wouldn't bother you," replied George.

A few days later, while they chatted cozily over their supper, George said: "I had a letter from Tom Graves today. He's going to bring his wife into town with him sometime soon. She's a very pleasant woman; you'll like her, I am sure. They will probably stay over night. I hope we can give them a good time."

His wife said nothing, but a change in the temperature was apparent.

"Oh, Amy," came the voice of George over the phone a few days later. "Tom Graves and his wife are in town. I have invited them out to dinner tonight."

"I have a dressmaker here today, George. I can't possibly get up a big company dinner," came back over the wires.

"Get a little one, then. I'm going to bring them out," and he hung up the receiver.

Mrs. Goswald was so angry that she determined to give her husband a lesson, so she sent the dressmaker home an hour early, undressed and went to bed.

George's heart sank when he approached the dark house. After making his guests comfortable, he tore upstairs and found his wife.

"Are you sick, dear?" he asked, bending over her anxiously.

"Yes, sick of company," she replied.

He turned on his heel and left the room. Going to the phone he called up a caterer and ordered a dinner served at his home, explaining that he had company and his wife had been taken suddenly sick. When the merry laughter floated up to her room, Amy realized that she had failed in her plans and heartily wished she could join the company.

Next morning she prepared a nice breakfast, explaining that her headache was gone, and so gracious was she that the guests departed greatly pleased with George's wife.

George never had any more trouble when he wished to entertain his friends.

Household Hints

SIMPLE DESSERTS

Ginger Pudding—One-half cup molasses, three egg yolks, one teaspoon ginger, one-half cup water, one-third cup butter, one teaspoon soda dissolved in a very little hot water, 1½ cups flour, tiny pinch salt. Steam one hour. Sauce: Whites of three eggs well beaten, one cup sugar, juice and grated rind of one lemon. Very delicious.

Peach Pops—Make rich soda biscuit dough. Roll out to one-eighth inch thickness, cut in squares, fill with canned peaches same as for apple dumplings, and bake. Make syrup of one cup granulated sugar, half teaspoon cinnamon, a little water. Put several tablespoonfuls of syrup over each pop and serve with cream or rich milk. Especially fine in the spring when it is so hard to find appetizing things to cook.

Steamed Caramel Pudding—Melt six tablespoons sugar in sauce pan over good heat; when a very dark brown, but not burnt, add one tablespoon flour and half pint milk, stirring to a smooth paste. When heat is gone off, add two ounces butter, three ounces ground almonds and well-beaten yolks of three eggs. Stir well. Butter a mold, whip whites of eggs stiff as possible, fold them into caramel mixture and pour immediately into the mold. Leave for an hour and serve without loss of time.

GOOD OYSTER DISHES.

Oyster Cocktail—Have ready a small glass for each person. Into catsup, a few drops of lemon juice, a dash of tabasco sauce and a little salt. Add four or five large oysters.

Fish and Oyster Chowder—Heat one quart milk, add half pound halibut cut in squares. Cook 20 minutes. Have ready one pint oysters heated until the edges curl. Add to milk and halibut. Add generous lump of butter, season with salt and pepper.

Fried Oysters—Select largest and best oysters. Rinse quickly with cold water and drain. Pat gently until dry, with a soft napkin. Beat two eggs until light, add tablespoon boiling water, season with salt, pepper and dash of tobasco. With a steel fork caught into the eye of the oyster, dip in egg mixture, then in cracker dust; repeat. Fry in deep hot fat until brown.

BISCUIT RECIPES.

Baking Powder Biscuits—Three cups flour, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one tablespoon butter, one cup milk.

Drop Biscuits—One quart flour; add one tablespoon baking powder and a little salt; sift; add one egg, one tablespoon lard; mix well together, stir in enough sweet milk to make stiff dough, drop in pan with a spoon. Bake in hot oven.

Sweet Milk Biscuits—One teacup light yeast, one tablespoon sugar, one tablespoon butter, a little salt, one pint sweet milk (let come to a boil and cool.) Let it raise like bread and roll out one-half inch thick; spread with butter, cut out and lap them. When light, bake in quick oven. One spoonful butter and one spoonful sugar, melted together, spread over top.

Light Biscuits—In the morning when you mix your sponge into a loaf, take a piece of dough about the size of a loaf of bread (will make about two dozen biscuits), add lump of lard about size of an egg and one-half cup sugar. Work it good and let raise. When light, shape and bake.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

When washing table linen, add one cup cooked starch to tub of blueing water; your linen will iron much easier, look better and wear longer.

Rat and Mouse Exterminator—Rats and mice like corn, also lard. When frying mush for the table, just fry an extra piece for the pests. Sprinkle freely with strychnine. Cut mush in two-inch squares and place on paper, so remaining pieces will be easily taken up in the morning out of the children's reach. By actual count it has killed six mice in one night in the same house. (Not a good remedy where there are pet animals in the house.)

Keep a magnet in your hook and eye box and reject any hook or eye that the magnet will pick up, as that shows they will rust.

Animal Jingles

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

BY ALICE CREW GALL

The Adventurous Rooster.

A rollicking young Rooster said to his parents kind,
"I'm going out to see the world; I've just made up my mind.
I'm thirsting for adventure; I'm sure that there must be
A lot of pleasant things to do, and quite a lot to see."

His parents really hated to see him leave them thus,
But they remembered their young days, and so they made no fuss.
They said, "We'll pack the things you'll need while you're away from home."
The Rooster said, "No, thank you, I will only take my comb."

And so he started through the wood, dressed in his suit of red.
"I'll take a trip around the world," the gay young Rooster said,
"And maybe some day I'll come back; it surely will be fun
To tell these quiet stay-at-homes the things that I have done."

Just then a wily Weasel who was walking through the wood,
Smiled to himself and said, "Ah, ha! this Rooster will taste good."
He smiled a wicked smile as he politely said "Good-day!
I think I'll walk into the woods with you a little way."

Then suddenly that Rooster felt so homesick that he said,
"I am not going through the wood; I'm going home instead."
"Oh, no, you're not!" the Weasel said. "What gave you that idee?
I'm going to bite you where you wear your red necktie," said he.

I cannot say what would have happened if Farmer Jones
Had not been walking through the woods, armed with a lot of stones,
He hit that wily Weasel right on his wicked head
A hundred times, or maybe more, and killed him good and dead.

And then the Rooster ran back home as fast as he could go,
And when he got there safe and sound, he gave a joyous crow.
His father said, "The traveler has come back home again."
"I'll go and kill a fatted worm," remarked his mother then.

And as they feasted and were all as merry as could be,
That rollicking young Rooster said, "This is the life for me!
I'm cured entirely of my wish to see the world and roam;
There's nothing in the world so nice as being safe at home."

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

THE SOUTH ACTS.

In Quick Succession Legislatures Show Significant and Unprecedented Support of Suffrage.

A most significant series of events in the suffrage movement.

On January 26, the West Virginia Senate voted to submit a suffrage amendment by a vote of 29 to 1. A few minutes later the House followed suit; it gave final ratification on January 28 by a vote of 76 to 8.

On January 27, the committee on constitutional amendments of the Texas House reported favorably a suffrage amendment by a vote of 16 to 2.

On January 28, the Tennessee Senate voted to submit a suffrage amendment, 26 to 3. The next day the House likewise passed the amendment 74 to 14.

On February 1, the Arkansas Senate voted to submit a suffrage amendment.

Meanwhile, the South Carolina House, which last year laughed at the introduction of a suffrage amendment, voted to hear Mrs B. B. Valentine speak in favor, and frequently interrupted her with cheers.

The action in each of these Legislatures is absolutely without precedent in the South. Southern chivalry is coming of age; and the day when the women of the South will step into the opportunities and responsibilities of full citizenship cannot be far distant.

—(From the Woman's Journal.)

The Suffrage Issue.

Of the suffrage situation the New York Evening Post says:

"On every hand come reports of unexpected suffrage success. The most conservative strongholds of all—the Southern—are being successfully invaded. West Virginia's Legislature has voted for a referendum, and so has Tennessee's. Even in Arkansas it passed, though it will be nullified there, because only three constitutional amendments can be submitted in a year, and this is the fourth one pending. In Pennsylvania, Iowa and Massachusetts, the issue will be presented at the polls this year, and already there are referendums scheduled for 1916 and 1917. In North Carolina there is a suffrage Congressman-elect and a body of public opinion for it that is as surprising as that in Alabama. Indeed, so rapid are the changes that it is hard to keep up with them. Thus the women of the Middle Western States are taking a leaf out of Illinois' book, and are working for State suffrage for all offices specified in the constitution. In Minnesota and Wisconsin the same plan is under consideration. As for the press, a newspaper like our own Times, with its solemn belief that our society is on the point of disintegrating, is getting to be more and more the exception. Take for instance, a conservative and influential journal like the Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer. It declares that the issue is steadily gaining support in its State, and that it cannot be stopped by indefinite postponement of its consideration by the Legislature. That it will succeed eventually, the News and Observer has no doubt. And so it will in New York; the extraordinary vitality and enthusiasm of the campaign leave no doubt as to that."

Industrial Disturbance and Woman Suffrage.

The Federal Government has been obliged to send troops into Arkansas to preserve law and order in a mining district just as it previously had done in Colorado. The Anti-Suffragists charged that the lawlessness in Colorado was due to woman suffrage; that no one had any confidence in the State Government because it had been elected by women who could not defend their votes with bullets. They must have been mistaken as there is no woman suffrage in Arkansas to be used as a cheap and easy explanation of industrial disturbances.

—(LaFollette's Magazine.)

Do women want to vote? They surely do in California where the press reported the woman vote as heavy throughout the State. The registration of California, by the way, is 1,011,096. The registration of New York State which has over three times the population of California, is only 1,300,000. These figures mean nothing if not that California women are up and doing in taking their share of the burden of government.

—(LaFollette's Magazine.)

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The first rehearsal for the "Hall of Fame," to be presented by the students of Somerset School, March 12, under the direction of the North Plainfield Parent-Teacher Association, will be held a week from Saturday morning in Saengerbund Hall. The second and last rehearsal will be held the following Wednesday.

Mr. Earley has called a meeting of the Somerset County Teachers' Association for Saturday at Raritan. At that time Mr. Aungst will speak on "The Child Through Literature," Miss Beatman, of Plainfield, "Work In the Fresh Air Schools;" Dr. E. R. Graff, of Somerville, "Common Diseases of School Children."

The Junior class will hold its first rehearsal for its annual play this afternoon in the school building.

MAKE YOURS A PUBLIC SERVICE STORE

This is the age of service. The rewards of today go to the men who give the most in return.

Translated for you, Mr. Merchant, this means that the customers are certain to patronize the store that will give them what they want when they want it.

Cut prices may bring some trade, but better service will bring more.

This is the age when people are reading the advertising in their daily newspapers because they are finding it a distinct part of the service they expect their newspapers to give.

When a nationally distributed article of merit is advertised in the newspapers a demand for it sets in right away.

People want to see it and, if satisfied, want to buy it.

They are going to turn to the store that lets them know it has the article. That store will be giving them the service they want at that particular moment.

If it is a good article they are going to remember the store where they got it and will come back to that store again.

Co-operate with the manufacturers who come into the newspapers of your town to exploit their goods and you will be building business for yourself.

PERMANENT PROSPERITY

is based upon the saving habits of the individual. The man who has no real conception of thrift may make a fortune but he is quite likely to lose it, whereas there are many people in affluence today who attribute their success to their ability to save systematically.

It is to encourage this kind of thrift that the Plainfield Trust Company conducts a Special Department in which 4% compound interest is paid. An account opened before the fourth of any month will draw interest from the first.

SHOULD WOMEN HAVE THE VOTE?

Leading Suffragists and "Antis" Will Debate Question Tonight.

AUDIENCE TO DECIDE

Arguments Will Be Both Instructive and Interesting—Municipal Orchestra Will Render a Popular Program.

The fact that the question as to whether women are to have the vote in New Jersey will be decided next fall, serves to arouse unusual interest in the debate to be held at the

Miss Lucy Price.

Plainfield High School Auditorium tonight, between representatives of the Suffragists and the Antis. There are many men who are seeking information as to the merits of the suffrage question and tonight's debate will be instructive as well as interesting. Both sides of the question will be thoroughly discussed by leaders in the movement for and against granting suffrage to women and men will have an unusual opportunity to settle many perplexing problems that no doubt have arisen in their minds.

The debate has been arranged by the Plainfield Democratic Club and able speakers have been secured to speak pro and con, including former Assemblyman John A. Matthews, Miss Alice Carpenter, State Senator Hennessy, Miss Lucy Price. Councilman Richard A. Claybrook, who is president of the club, will preside, and a large number of prominent citizens, comprising laymen and ministers, will occupy seats on the platform as vice presidents.

During the evening there will be a program of music by the Municipal Orchestra, under the direction of S. Frederick Smith. A nominal admission fee will be charged and after the expenses are met the surplus will be given to the fund for the unemployed in Plainfield. Seats will no doubt be at a premium tonight, and those planning to attend the debate are advised to go to the High School early.

VISITED BOROUGH SCHOOL.

County Superintendent H. S. Krebs, of the borough, visited the Somerset School, this morning.

MAYOR TO PRESIDE AT MERCHANTS' DINNER

Get Together Event for Business Men and Commuters Will Be Held Monday.

Mayor Leighton Calkins has agreed to act as toastmaster at the dinner which is to be held next Monday night at the Waldorf, under the auspices of the Business Men's Association. There will be no set speeches at that time, but it is expected that a number of commuters will be present, and several of them will be asked to make informal addresses.

A feature of the dinner will be the fact that it will be the first time that an effort has been made to have commuters and business men gather together. Many of the merchants are asking friends among the commuters to be their guests at the dinner, and it is expected that there will be a large turnout of those who before have not attended local affairs.

The sale of tickets has been placed in the hands of the officers of the organization and a number of the members. They can be procured from A. E. Force, Samuel Rothberg, Albert A. LaRock, Herman Schwed, M. C. Van Arsdale, Leslie K. Fort, John J. Varley, Henry Rosenbaum, J. H. DeMott, J. L. Bennett, Henry Haurand and Herbert Schuldenfrei.

PLAYGROUND FOR COUNTY PRISONERS

Segregation Plan to Be Adopted at Elizabeth Institution.

Elizabeth, Feb. 25.—So as to provide accommodations for juvenile offenders of the county and also for witnesses held pending trials, the buildings and grounds committee of the Board of Freeholders will start within a short time to alter Warden Dodd's apartments at the jail so as to provide rooms where the classes of prisoners referred to can be kept separate from older offenders. The jail yard will also be fenced off for the same purpose and a playground will be provided.

This was decided on yesterday at a conference between Freeholders Smith, Krouse and Bourdon, Sheriff George C. Otto, Miss Harriet Townsend and Judge Abe J. David, the two latter representing the Elizabeth Charity Organization Society, which has been advocating the change for some time. As a result of legislation recently enacted, counties have power to erect detention houses for juveniles and witnesses, but as Union has an insufficient number of both to warrant such expenditure and is not in a position to do so, the alteration plan was suggested and was indorsed by those at the conference.

WARREN G. O. P.'S GATHER AT DINNER

Eighty of the Township's Faithful Enjoy Annual Affair at Mt. Bethel.

CONGRESSMAN SPEAKS

Representative Hutchinson Discusses National Affairs—Former Mayor Smalley and John Cooper Debate on Women's Suffrage.

Despite the miserable weather conditions prevailing, eighty persons sat down to the second annual dinner of the Warren Township Republican Committee, at Colosso's Hotel, Mt. Bethel, last night. The affair was even more successful than the one held last year and the committee feels highly elated at the ready response made by the voters of the district. The dinner was an excellent course affair and was followed by a couple of hours of informal speaking and the discussion of political affairs in general.

Former Mayor Newton E. Smalley presided as toastmaster and, in addition, made an address opposing woman suffrage. "The Votes for Women" project was ably championed by John C. Cooper, of Warrenville, who unexpectedly gave the borough's former executive the time of his life in backing up his argument as to why the gentler sex should not be granted the privilege of voting. This episode created much amusement, but at the same time brought out many inter-

WILL GIVE ANOTHER DANCE FOR HOSPITAL

The third in the series of dances for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital, under the auspices of local society people, will be held at the Plainfield High School Auditorium on Friday night, April 9, and it promises to be as successful as the preceding two functions, when substantial amounts were realized for the hospital.

The committee in charge of the coming affair comprises Mrs. Charles L. Hyde, chairman; Mrs. Sherman B. Joost, Mrs. Boardman Tyler, Mrs. Frederick Goddard and Mrs. Allan Cowperthwait.

Arrangements have been made to secure Franken's Orchestra, of New York, which was such an enjoyable feature at the last dance, and there will be a light supper served during the evening.

TITUSVILLE IRON CO. FILES PAPERS IN A SUIT

Elizabeth, Feb. 25.—Papers were filed in the county court today by the Titusville Iron Company, of Titusville, Pa., against George J. Tobin, of Plainfield, in which the company seeks to recover $770.94 for boilers furnished to Mr. Tobin.

Mr. Tobin has filed papers in a counter-suit for $500, claiming that the boilers were defective and not water-tight. The case will be heard at the next term of court.

TRUST COMPANY HOLDS STOCK.

The ten shares of stock of the First National Bank of Dunellen, which The Plainfield Trust Company has advertised for sale on March 2, were deposited by Herbert L. Pierce, the president of the New Market Roller Mills, with the trust company to secure the payment of two promissory notes made by the New Market concern and endorsed by Pierce. The stock was not placed with the Dunellen bank as stated yesterday.

EXECUTIVE COMM. MEETING.

The executive committee of the West End Civic Association will meet tomorrow evening at the home of W. J. Boyd, 955 West Sixth street, instead of at the home of J. J. Carroll as previously announced. At the March meeting of the association, Howard Williams will give a talk on "Commission Government."

GRANTED A RETRIAL.

The Court of Errors, yesterday, handed down a decision sustaining the appeal of Kalman Rothberg, of Plainfield, from a conviction in the Union County Criminal Court on a serious charge and the case was sent back for retrial before Judge Connolly.

GOSPEL ADDRESS.

The subject of the Gospel address, in connection with the "Coming of the Lord," to be given by Samuel Ridout, at the hall, No. 209 East Front street, at 8 o'clock this evening, will be "The Battle of Armageddon." All are invited.

WANT ASSAULT CASES LEFT TO MAGISTRATES

Grand Jury Makes Many Recommendations to County Court.

Elizabeth, Feb. 25.—The Grand Jury, after two months of service, completed its labors today and was discharged by the court after making several recommendations, which included Sheriff Otto's plan for the education of prisoners in the county jail. It was further recommended that juvenile prisoners be separated from older prisoners in the jail. The management of Bonnie Burn Sanitorium was commended for its efficiency.

The Grand Jury also recommended a more strict enforcement of excise laws, and suggested to the court that the power of disposing of assault and battery cases be left to magistrates in the several municipalities. In Union county, which is a second class county, the law does not give magistrates such authority, and in consequence these cases have to be referred to the Grand Jury, which take up a good deal of time.

Judge Connolly suggested that a copy of the Grand Jury's recommendation be taken up with the Legislature with a view to securing the passage of a law which will give the desired relief.

ELKS NOMINATE OFFICERS FOR ELECTION NEXT WEEK

At the regular meeting of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., last night, the following nominations were made for the annual election which takes place next Wednesday night: Exalted ruler, Alfred A. Prudhon; esteemed leading knight, Walter Marder; esteemed loyal knight, Francis J. Blatz; esteemed lecturing knight, Chalmers L. Crist; secretary, William R. Townsend; treasurer, Harry MacDonald; tyler, Edward C. Searing; trustee for three years, Chauncey F. Stout; delegates to State convention, John P. Wessner, John H. Cose and Louis A. Bellis. When Mr. Prudhon is elevated to the position of exalted ruler, he will succeed Frank H. Smith, who has been the presiding head of the local Elks for the past three years.

In the course of the regular session last night, a lodge of sorrow was conducted in memory of Gustave Otto Keller, who was a member of the Elks at the time of his death. Esteemed Leading Knight Prudhon presided and the eulogy was ably delivered by V. W. Nash, Jr.

MRS. NATHAN'S ADDRESS WILL FEATURE MEETING

Mrs. Frederick Nathan, president of the Consumers' League in New York, and Miss Rose Winslow, of the Women's Trade Union League, will discuss the minimum wage scale at the annaul meeting of the Consumers' League of New Jersey to be held in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon at 2:15. Nearly one hundred Plainfield women have enlisted as workers in this organization and the session tomorrow will be interesting. Mrs. Charles Whitnall, secretary of the New Jersey League, will read her report at that time. A short business meeting will preceed the speeches.

Mrs. Nathan is particularly well acquainted with the objects and results of Consumers' League organization and her address will be an instructive, as well as an enjoyable one. She has gained a nation-wide reputation for her philanthropic work and is described as a fluent and fascinating speaker.

GAVE DANCING EXHIBITION.

The patrons at Company K's fair in the West Front street armory, last night, were treated to an unexpected exhibition of novelty dancing. It was given by Linden Journeaux, of the borough, and Miss Mary Viertel, of Bound Brook, both of whom are experts in the latest steps. The dancers were frequently applauded. Last night's prize waltz was won by Mr. Jaeger and Mrs. Angleman, who will be added to the contestants to participate in tomorrow night's big event, the final prize waltz for the entire week.

FORT TO WORK FOR PEACE.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Former Governor Fort, of New Jersey, has consented to work again with Secretary of State Bryan in the establishment of peace in Latin-America, this time in Haiti. Internal conditions there are getting more chaotic every day.

COURT APPOINTS MILL RECEIVER

Application Made by Theophilus A. Pierce, Sr., Who is One of the Creditors.

STORE STOCK FOR SALE

Chattels Owned by Missing Herbert L. Pierce to Be Sold at Public Auction — Mills Will Continue Work—Torbett Also Missing.

Application was made Tuesday in the Chancery Court in Jersey City, by Theophilus A. Pierce, Sr., of New Market, for the appointment of a receiver for the New Market Roller Mills Company, and acting on the petition Vice-Chancellor Griffen has named the appellant to serve temporarily in this capacity. This action is said to have been taken to protect the receiver, who is said to be one of the heaviest creditors of Herbert L. Pierce, who disappeared from his home in New Market three weeks ago and who has not been since heard from. The missing man was president of the Roller Mills Company and the other officers include: Vice-president, Harry R. Hall, who was formerly Pierce's private secretary, and treasurer, E. A. Torbett. The New York office of the company is located at 80 Wall street and it is rumored that Torbett, who has charge of that office, is also missing.

LOCAL MEN WILL VISIT THE PANAMA EXPOSITION

Henry Dresselt, of Lincoln place, and Chester Galloway, of Johnson avenue, will be among the first Plainfielders to visit the big Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco, which opened its gates last week. They will leave Plainfield, Friday night via the Lehigh Valley Railroad to Chicago and thence over the Sante Fe to the coast. They will be gone a month in all, spending about a week at the Exposition and another week in viewing Los Angeles, Seattle, and other big coast cities.

Mr. Dresselt, who is a linotype operator in the composing room of the Daily Press, has several relatives in San Francisco, whom he has never seen. He will look them up during his stay and will also visit the newspaper offices for the purpose of seeing how the plants compare with those in the East.

MISS BELLE CRAWFORD GIVES INTERESTING TALK

Miss Belle Crawford, who for many years has been a missionary in Oklahoma, gave a very interesting talk of her work at the midweek service of the First Baptist church last night. Miss Crawford has seen much of the life and ways of the American Indian and knows the sign language which is used. She told of their modes of living and dressing and also of their religion.

During her talk Miss Crawford recited the Twenty-Third Psalm in the Indian language.

PYTHIAN DINNER PLANS.

Chancellor Commander William J. Trembath, of Perseverance Lodge, Knights of Pythias, has received word from several grand officers and also a number of prominent State Pythians that they will attend the banquet which Perseverance lodge is to give at The Ritz on March 12. The outside tickets have been limited to 100 and these are being sold rapidly. Assemblyman William N. Runyon has been invited to act as toastmaster and the entire evening promises to be one of the most enjoyable Perseverance lodge has ever conducted.

ORGAN RECITALS.

C. W. Walker, organist of St. Stephen's church, of Netherwood, is giving a series of organ recitals every Sunday afternoon from 4:15 to 4:45 o'clock to which all are invited. The recital is followed by a short service in charge of the rector, Rev. Henry Meiser. Vocal solos are also rendered every Sunday.

"FANNY CROSBY" SERVICE.

Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will speak Sunday night on the subject of "Fanny Crosby," and during the service the congregation will sing hymns composed by the famous hymn-writer, and Mrs. Robinson will sing as a solo, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus."

WILL REPEAT DOLLAR-DAY ON SATURDAY

Merchants to Give Shoppers Who Were Storm Bound, Another Chance.

Plainfield shoppers are to have the unusual opportunity of two Dollar Days in one week. Heretofore there have only been two in a year, but the committee of merchants having yesterday's event in charge, after a hasty consultation with the leading merchants this morning, announced that all of yesterday's sales will be repeated on Saturday. The reason for so doing is that the weather was so bad yesterday that hundreds of shoppers were unable to get out, and Plainfield business houses want all to have equal opportunities to participate in the sales.

Yesterday was a big day for the merchants, for there were hundreds of shoppers out in spite of the weather. There was a steady stream of purchasers in every one of the business houses that participated in the same, and the array of bargains well repaid all who came out for any inconvenience that might be caused. A dollar would buy an almost endless list of assorted useful articles in the department stores, and in the shoe and other stores it was made to go an unusually long way.

The Dollar Day advertising will be repeated in the Plainfield papers tomorrow night.

GIVES $25 FOR MILK FOR NEEDY BELGIAN BABIES

Another Liberal Contribution to Fund Being Raised by Plainfielders.

Samuel T. Carter, Jr., has sent $25 to the Daily Press to be used to buy milk for the suffering babies in Belgium. The money will be turned over to the Plainfield Commission for the Relief of the Belgians, and will be used to partially pay for the next shipment of condensed milk which is made by the local organization.

The need of milk for the babies is the most serious of the many demands which are being made for the stricken kingdom. Although the American relief has helped to lessen the suffering those who are in charge of the work have notified the New York office that the mothers are getting so desperate in their efforts to procure milk for their little ones that they are scraping discarded milk cans with their fingers in an effort to get every drop.

About $2,000 has been raised in Plainfield for this worthy cause, and there is still plenty of opportunity to aid. Contributions may be sent to the Daily Press office, and will be promptly acknowledged and forwarded to the committee. A resident of the city has pledged $100 if nine other men will give the same sum, but up to date only five have responded, three of them conditionally upon the raising of the entire amount, and the other two giving the sum outright. It is very much hoped by the local committee that the other $500 will be pledged, so that the entire $1,000 can be used to buy milk to send to Belgium.

WHAT CONSUMERS' LEAGUE AIMS TO DO FOR WORKERS

The Consumers League of New Jersey, which holds its annual meeting in the Crescent Avenue church tomorrow afternoon, will have as the principal topic of discussion the minimum wage for women. As has been announced, Mrs. Frederick Nathan, president of the Consumers League of New York, and Miss Rose Winslow, secretary of the Women's Trade Union League, will be the speakers. The League hopes to secure for New Jersey a minimum wage law or a minimum wage board, which will insure to working women in New Jersey a living wage. The League also issues to certain manufacturers who comply with the conditions a label which shows that goods bearing it are made in factories where the State factory law is obeyed, in which all goods are made on the premises, where overtime is not worked and where children under sixteen are not employed.

There are nearly one hundred members of the League in Plainfield, and two thousand more in New Jersey. The meeting tomorrow will start at 3 o'clock, and no admission will be charged.

Five More Reported to Have Been Sunk in the War Zone.

NORTH SEA IS MINED

Advices From Berlin State That Preparations Are Being Made for a Great Battle in the East—Town of Przasynz Taken by Storm.

Liverpool, Feb. 25.—The steamer Western Coast was added today to the list of ships which have been sunk in the waters of the British isles. It was sunk yesterday afternoon off Beachy Head after having been struck either by a mine or a torpedo. The crew was landed at Porismouth.

The British steamer Deptford, 1,208 tons, was sunk late yesterday by either a torpedo or mine off Scarborough. One member of the crew was drowned. The others were landed at Shields after hardships in an open boat.

Copenhagen, via London, Feb. 25.—Private advices from Berlin say that everything points to the development of a great battle in the East. The Russians are obtaining considerable reinforcements and the battle front is being narrowed. The second line of Russian intrenchments is being strongly fortified. The Germans expect a renewal offensive by the Russians at an early date. In fact this offensive has been started in Bukowina, where fresh masses of the Czar's troops are being brought up. It is also said that extensive work is under way on the defense of Warsaw.

Berlin, by wireless, Feb. 25.—The following statement was given out at German headquarters today.

"In the Champagne district of France yesterday, the enemy continued to make desperate efforts which, in spite of the strong forces used against us, were absolutely without success. Otherwise there is nothing important to report on the western front. Eastern theatre—Engagements on the Memel Boro and Narew Rivers continue. The City of Przasnzsz, which had been turned into a fortress of immense strength by the Russians, was stormed by the East Prussian Reserves after a tenacious struggle, in which more than 10,000 Russians were made prisoners. In addition we took more than 20 big guns and a number of machine guns, as well as an immense quantity of war stores. In other engagements north of the Vistula during the past few days we made more than 5,000 prisoners. In Poland, south of the Vistula, the Russians advanced to Mogily, south of Bolimow, with superior forces, and occupied it. Otherwise there is nothing of importance in the east."

Paris, Feb. 25.—French War statement:

"In Lombaertzyde our artillery has demolished a block house and the points of observation of the enemy. In Champagne we have maintained and strengthened the new ground gained by us yesterday, all the enemy's counter attacks were repulsed. Our aviators have dropped 60 bombs upon the stations, trains and points of assembly of the enemy. This bombardment, which has been well controlled, was very efficient.

"In the Argonne at Marie Therese the enemy delivered an attack which was immediately broken up. Between the Argonne and the Meuse in the woods of Choppy we have made fresh progress. Our artillery has destroyed the enemy's shattered positions. The enemy has not been able to retake the trenches captured by us in Lorraine. Near Parroy, German patrols have been put to flight. An official note was also issued warning newspapers against publishing photographs which might be made use of by the Germans. It points out that a Paris paper recently printed a picture of a priest saying mass among the troops. It says that the Germans concluded that the French were in force in that village and shelled it, killing 14 troopers."

Berlin, Feb. 25.—The town of Przasynz, Russian Poland, was yesterday taken by storm by German forces, according to the official announcement given out today. The Germans captured 100,000 Russian prisoners.

Athens, via London, Feb. 25.—The Turks are fortifying the Bosphorus in anticipation of an attack on Constantinople, according to reliable advices from the Ottoman capital.

London, Feb. 25.—Insurance rates on cargoes of American liners crossing the Atlantic have been raised to the same level as on British liners

TOUR QUERIES SHOW THAT PLAINFIELD WOMEN ARE GOOD "POLITICIANS"

Prove Diplomatic Questioners in Preliminary Campaign for Trans-Continental Trip on Special Train at Press' Expense—How to Begin.

The women of Plainfield and vicinity know something of practical politics. A few hours spent at the tour department of the Press listening to their diplomatic questions relative to the trips on the big special train to cross the continent, will convince you of this if you are skeptical. The tour department is located in the Press office. The telephone number is Plainfield 1300. It might be well to clip this out and preserve it, for if you are not interested at the moment, you surely will be later.

Some women who are interested, but reticent about entering their names at present, would do well to follow the plan outlined below.

Go to some of your friends and ask them if they will support you in case you decide later to enter. In this way you will be making a start and be sure of votes that some other candidate who is now on the hustle might get, and in case you should decide to enter the contest, these votes would all be lost to you unless asked for at once.

The above applies to those who feel that they want to wait until the first list of candidates is published in order that they may see with whom they are to compete in their district.

Whether you decide to enter now or later, by all means get in touch with the contest manager, either by a personal call or 'phone. He will be pleased to give you a world of advice, a lot of good points, and you will in no way be obligated. It will be entirely in your hands whether or not you decide to enter.

Quick Action Is Principle.

Action, and quick action, is the principle move at this stage of the contest, and those who get in and get busy at the start are going to have the easy time in winning in the end.

Confidence and application are the levers which will remove all obstacles. The contest territory being divided into three districts gives general representation, and one candidate in each district is certain to win.

The contest is open to all alike, the only restriction being as to age and character. A number who have already consulted their friends before deciding to enter were advised to "go in and win," and were assured of support. There are still many who hesitate. Remember the old adage, "He who hesitates is lost." The same applies to "she."

Each day those who are enrolling will derive the advantage of EARLY EFFORT, working quietly and persistently preparatory to the initial

STANDARD INVESTMENT CO. CLOSES REALTY DEALS

The Standard Investment Company, the officers of which are N. S. Nicolaysen, president; Walter G. Clawson, vice president, and Frederick R. Haynes, secretary and treasurer, have closed realty deals. On Lincoln's Birthday they sold a house on Duer street, North Plainfield, and on Washington's Birthday they sold a house on Howard street, the same city.

The prospects are exceedingly bright that the company will have a most profitable and active year. Plans are out for a new house to be erected by the company on Duer street, North Plainfield, and President Nicolaysen said, yesterday, that the company expects to sell a house on Front street, this borough, next week.

SUCCESSORS TO J. N. APGAR.

It is said that the general contracting and jobbing carpentry business of the late J. Newton Apgar will be carried on by the brothers, Willard N. and George I. Jr., and the cousins, Theodore and George I., Sr., under the name of Apgar Construction Company. It is said that the new firm is already figuring on plans and as soon as a contract has been secured that definite announcement will be made.

Mrs. Edward B. Steene is making her sister, Mrs. James Bloomfield, of Whittier avenue, an extended visit.

The Epworth League, of the Methodist Episcopal church, is arranging to hold a St. Patrick's Day social at the home of Harry Townley, on Madison avenue, on the evening of that day.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the Methodist church, cleared $15 on their recent home-made sale.

RETURNS FROM ENGLAND.

Mrs. Dr. Curry, of Madison avenue, returned on Monday from England, where she was called by the serious illness of her husband, who was stricken with pneumonia. Mrs. Curry left her husband on the high road to recovery. Dr. Curry is abroad in connection of the rubber department of the New York importing and exporting house of Edward Maurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Dean, of Prospect avenue, are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter.

CLARENCE WALDRON, JR., IS FOUND GUILTY OF ASSAULT

Clarence Waldron, Jr., of Bound Brook road, was found guilty by a trial jury in a case tried before Judge Peter F. Daly at New Brunswick, yesterday, in which he was charged with having assaulted Carrie Francis, of North avenue, on January 1 last. The trial was begun at 10:45 in the morning and the jurymen filed out of their boxes after listening to Judge Daly's charge at 3:45 in the afternoon. After a deliberation of fifteen minutes, the jurymen returned to the courtroom with the verdict of guilty. He will be sentenced on Friday.

The State was represented by Prosecutor Coan and the defense by former Assistant Prosecutor Joseph Stricker, of Amboy. The witnesses for the State were Marshal Patrick Tarpey, Mrs. W. L. Tinsman and Theodore Tinsman, while Mrs. Jennie Reese, Mrs. James Allen, Earl Haver, and Frank King testified for the defense. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Scribner, who were also summoned by the defense, were not called. Frank King, who was a character witness, was challenged by the State, and it was not until the expiration of ten minutes, during which Prosecutor Coan and Mr. Stricker addressed pro and con reasons to the court that Judge Daily permitted him to testify. After Mr. Stricker brought out the facts of King's testimony the latter was put through a rigid cross-examination by Prosecutor Coan and Judge Daly.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Janssen, of Columbia street, are the parents of a daughter, which arrived last week.

SENATOR TO SPEAK.

Former State Senator J. S. Frelinghuysen, of Somerville, who is connected with the State Board of Agriculture, has been secured by President Walton, of the Board of Trade, to address the Board at its next meeting, which is on March 15, on the subject, "Suggested Improvements and Changes in the State Board of Agriculture."

ART EXHIBITION.

The art exhibit in Lincoln School will be open again this afternoon and evening. Two hundred wonderful pictures, reproductions of all the leading schools of art, including the world's masterpieces, are on exhibition. Rarely is such an opportunity to see such pictures so conveniently presented and no one should fail to visit the school. This evening there will be a program in connection with the exhibition presented by the pupils of the Lincoln School. The exercises will be given at 8 o'clock.

Robert, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, of New Market road, has the measles.

Mrs. Joseph Neff and two children, of Brooklyn, who have been visiting Mrs. Neff's father, Bartholomew Kelly, of Madison avenue, since Saturday, returned home yesterday.

"DAY OF PRAYER."

A delegation of members of the Women's Missionary Society, of the Methodist Episcopal church, went to Newark, this afternoon, and attended the service at the Central M. E. church, where the "Day of Prayer for Missions" of the Newark Conference of the Women's Missionary Society was observed.

Mrs. Walter Stryker, of Whittier avenue, has been entertaining her mother and sister from Lancaster, Pa.

The monthly meeting of Scout Troop No. 1 will be held at the home of Scoutmaster C. T. Voorhees on Tuesday evening of next week instead of in the Presbyterian chapel.

Fred Oakley, of Front street, has resigned his position as manager of the Presbyterian bowling alleys, and Ralph Parker, of Second street, has accepted the position.

Mrs. Frank R. Wynkoop, of Front street, has been indisposed for the past week.

BASKETBALL MATCH.

What promises to be a hotly contested basketball match will be played on the Presbyterian courts this evening, when the regulars of Scout Troop, No. 2, play the North Plainfield Freshmen "5." These teams played last Thursday, the Scouts defeating the North Plainfield boys in decisive style. After this game one of the opposing players was heard to remark that next time we meet there will be a different tale as we will have our best team.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING.

The monthly meeting of the Parent Teacher Association held in the Lincoln School, last night, was fairly well attended, 35 being present. The question of how far a parent should supervise a child's reading was discussed at length. The general opinion among the mothers seemed to be that no child under fifteen years should read anything that has not been carefully scrutinized by the parent. The question was left open and Guy H. Rentschler, supervising principal of the schools, was asked to secure Miss Askew, of the State Library at Trenton, to deliver an address before the association on the subject. The protection of birds was brought up as a question for discussion and the members asked to interest themselves in appealing to young people in this respect. Other business was routine.

CIRCULATING PETITIONS.

Petitions for the abolishment of the Full Crew Bill are being circulated about town by a number of the employes of the Central Railroad. This bill, it is said, is working an injustice against the railroad by compelling it to employ more men on some of its trains, especially the freight service, than there is any need for. That the public is still open minded and fair and not prejudiced against the railroad is evidenced by the number of signatures that are being affixed to the petitions.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The weekly session of the Lend-a-Hand Society of the Baptist church will be held in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon.

William Beeken, of North avenue, will leave on Saturday for Vermont, where he will enter the Vermont Academy, a preparatory school to Dartmouth College. Beeken is now in his second year at the Plainfield High School.

The Boy Scout Council has decided on March 16 as the date for the holding of the exhibit by patrols 1 and 2 as well as the lecture on the Boy Scout movement to be delivered by Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Baptist church. The exhibit will consist of the whole Scout curriculum, including signaling, telegraphy, fence climbing and first aid, while Mr. Hare will endeavor to explain the world-wide movement and the good results obtained and will illustrate it with stereopticon views. The lecture room of the Baptist church will be used in which to hold the affair.

Mrs. John Ford, Jr., of Montague, avenue, is visiting her father, Peter Henderson, of New York, for several days.

Miss Rose Thomae entertained a number of friends at a house party at her home on North avenue, last night, when an enjoyable time was spent playing games and dancing. Later in the evening a program of music was enjoyed during which the hostess served a luncheon.

James Carter entertained a few of his friends at a stag party held at his home on North avenue, last night.

The board of trustees of the Methodist church will meet the Ladies' Aid Society of the church immediately following the evening services Sunday, when steps will be taken to issue a call for a pastor for the coming year. Dr. H. K. Carroll, who has been in charge for several years, is pressed with other duties and is unable to give his whole time to the local parish. His successor will take up his residence in town and devote all of his time to the parish.

The disappearance of John Thorp, of Netherwood, who has been missing from his home for the past ten days, has occasioned considerable talk in the borough as he had been there considerably of late. He had just finished the erection of a house on South avenue and the day he disappeared he was in the borough to settle the terms of a contract with Walter I. Sands, who did the electrical work on the house, and also several laborers who had done work for him.

The Misses Kyte are entertaining Arthur Kyte, of England, at their home on Martine avenue. Mr. Kyte spent last summer in the borough and at the outbreak of the war returned to England.

Herbert Schreiner, of Springfield road, is recovering from the illness that has detained him at home for the past two weeks.

The members of the adult Bible class of the Willow Grove chapel, will meet at the home of the Misses Scudder, on Broad street, the township, this evening at 8 o'clock to organize and elect officers. The class has been formed several months and meets every Sunday afternoon in the chapel with Edward O. Howell, of Westfield. There are now about thirty members on the roll and at tonight's meeting a constitution will be drawn up and plans made to enlarge on the work for the coming year.

Maurice A. Hall, a private in the U. S. Army and stationed at Fort Hamilton, near New York, spent yesterday with friends in the borough.

As soon as the weather permits the drawing of heavy loads over the roads to Bonnie Burn work will be started on the carting of a portion of the eight hundred tons of coal that will be used at the Sanatorium during the coming year. The Board of Freeholders are advertising for bids and it is said several local men are endeavoring to secure the contract. Beginning with warm weather a local party will start the running of an auto bus between the Sanatorium and trolley to take care of the large number of visitors and relatives going to see the patients as well as the employes who go back and forth.

Miss Clara Lauber spent the week-end with her parents.

Miss Ruth Miller has been entertaining Miss Aline Giddes, of Plainfield.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Jesse L. Lasky's elaborate production of "The Man From Home," from the story by Booth Tarkington and Harry L. Wilson, will be the big feature film offering at the Plainfield Theatre today and tomorrow. Charles Richman poses the leading role, that of "Pike," the witty Hoosier lawyer who saves his sweetheart from a contracted marriage with a pseudo nobleman who had fascinated her. The story is one of absorbing interest throughout the entire five reels and has lost none of Tarkington's inimitable humor through its transmission to the screen. The legitimate production of "Twin Beds" will be the attraction at the theatre Saturday afternoon and night, and next Monday and Tuesday, "Tillie's Punctured Romance," the greatest mirth-inducing picture ever presented, will be shown. In this production the part of Tillie is taken by Miss Marie Dressler, "The Woman Who Made the Whole World Laugh." Charles Chaplin and Mabel Normand are also in the cast, a fact which insures the spectators of getting one steady chuckle from the time the film begins to pass until the hilarious finish is reached. Other announcements for next week include the following: Wednesday, Charles Frohman's production of "Aristocracy;" Thursday, "Damon and Pythias," under the auspices of Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P.; Friday and Saturday, Jesse Lasky's production of "The Circus Man."

Playgoers who are in touch with the theatrical situation and successes of New York city are conversant with the fact that of the ten unquestioned successes that farce, crook plays, and musical comedy are the most popular attractions offered the public. In farces one finds "Twin Beds" at the Fulton Theatre, and "The Shoe Shop" at the Hudson Theatre, both produced by Selwyn & Co., and "It Pays to Advertise," at the George M. Cohan Theatre, are really the greatest pieces of paying property. Of the crook plays, "Under Cover," at the Cort, a Selwyn & Co. production; "On Trial" at the Eltinge; and "Kick In" at the Belasco, both under the management of A. H. Woods, are easily the season's successes in this line of dramatic writing. It is a question whether Margaret Illington in "The Lie," now appearing at the Harris Theatre, under the management of Selwyn & Co., should be added to the list of crook plays. Of the musical comedies, Charles B. Dillingham's production of "Chin-Chin," at the Globe Theatre, and "Watch Your Step" at the New Amsterdam, is easily in the van in this line of entertainment, with "Tonight's the Night" at the Shubert taking third honors. Of the dramas one cannot overlook "Sinners," at the Playhouse, or "A Pair of Silk Stockings," at the Little Theatre; "Daddy Longlegs" at the Gaiety, or Elsie Fergueson in "Outcast" at the Lyceum, which is in a class by itself. It will be seen by the above that Selwyn & Co. is the only firm of producing managers in New York city to have four enormous successes playing in Manhattan at the same time. This firm is sending "Twin Beds" here for a return engagement, starting with a matinee on Saturday, February 27, and closing with the night performance.

ST. PATRICK'S BANQUET IN COLUMBUS CLUB AUDITORIUM

Plans have been completed for a banquet to be given under the auspices of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, in Columbus Auditorium St. Patrick's Day night. It is proposed to have a number of well known after-dinner speakers present and the subjects will be appropriate to an occasion of this nature.

A committee composed of the following members has been appointed: George J. Tobin, chairman; John J. Varley, John A. Gaffney, John J. Carty, Thomas F. Carty, Frank T. Burke, Robert McCormack and Charles L. Shirley.

EMPLOYED BOYS ENTERTAINED.

W. H. Rankin, of this city, entertained the members of the Employed Boys' Class, of the Y. M. C. A., last night, in the boys' rooms with sleight-of-hand tricks. This was one of the weekly social events of the class. The game rooms were also thrown open to the boys.

REV. TIKER TO PREACH.

Rev. Charles P. Tiker, superintendent of the New York Missions, will be the special Lenten preacher at Holy Cross church tonight.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray. Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure, and Eat Less Meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water, and above all take a spoonful of salts to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousand of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

REV. ARTHUR J. GAMMACK SPECIAL LENTEN PREACHER

In past years Grace church has given the public of Plainfield unusual privileges in the special preachers appointed for the season of Lent, and the standard set has been of an exceptionally high order. The announcements which the rector makes for the present season, give promise of a continuance of the privilege.

The Reverend Arthur J. Gammack, of Lenox, Mass., who is to preach morning and evening on Sunday next, is said to be a man of unusual gifts. He is the author of addresses and meditations for Good Friday, and has been most favorably spoken of as a forceful speaker. The services on Sunday are at 7:30 a. m., 10:30 a. m., and 4:30 p. m., and a hearty welcome is extended to the people of the city.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The big blizzard of March 1, 1914, which paralyzed triffic and business in Plainfield for three days, will have its first anniversary next Monday and on that date Proctor's Theatre will

Walter V. Milton
in "Don't Walk in Your Sleep," Opening at Proctor's Theatre Today.

have an observance in the form of blizzard pictures that were taken in this city at the time of the destructive storm. Many of the memorable scenes that took place on that eventful Sunday a year ago were made permanent by moving pictures taken by Henry Brynairski, the local expert. They include portions of the New Jersey Central Railroad, where scores of poles went down with their load of wires, stopping all freight and passenger traffic; East and West Front streets, where trolley cars stopped dead on their tracks and places on the outskirts where many big trees dropped into the roadways. All these are shown with remarkable clearness, even to the detail of the heavy flakes still doing their destructive work, and it is quite appropriate that Proctor's has secured this film for presentation on the anniversary. Remember that every scene is strictly a local one. The picture feature at Proctor's today is "Runaway June" in addition to a change of European War scenes. The succeeding episode of "The Exploits of Elaine" will be shown tomorrow, and on Saturday afternoon and night, Charles Chaplin will be presented in another of his screamingly funny comedies, "His Night Out."

THE FULL CREW LAW.

Folowing out their declared intention of appealing to the people for support in their effort to have the full crew law repealed, the railroad officials are using the advertising columns of the Press and every other paper in the State in a campaign favoring the repealer. The railroad employes are beginning to "sit up and take notice" and several interviews with them have appeared in papers throughout the State, in which they give their reasons why the act should be kept on the statute books. This is a much better method than the old way used by the railroads of hiring lobbyists to work at Trenton, who often used ulterior methods to get votes against bills which the railroad officials considered detrimental. The people want to be shown, and the method now being used will accomplish the purpose if anything will.

The Newark Evening News says that "there are two factors in the case of the full crew law which need to be considered carefully. These factors are relatively conflicting by reason of the different points of view. To the managers, the question of economy is paramount in connection with efficiency, and properly so. With the employes the main question is that of employment on the best terms possible and for as many as possible. This view of employes, of itself, of course, does not work for economy and efficiency.

"There is still a third viewpoint that is worthy of thought—the viewpoint of the public. Wherever railroads are forced to pay more for services than the service warrants, the railroads, which are public servants, are compelled to place the burden of this waste of funds upon the people whom they are chartered to serve. They are perforce compelled to 'pass along' an expense of this character, which is in effect a public wage—that is, the wages paid for a public service, not a private one.

"In spite of the fairness of a campaign of publicity such as the railroads are carrying on, there has been unwisdom in its inauguration and promotion. One of these unwise steps was that taken when the publicity agents forwarded to newspapers arguments for the repeal of the "full crew" law, with a request for publication accompanied by the announcement that paid advertisements would be sent to the newspapers in the immediate future. Another evidence of the lack of propriety was a subsequent appeal for favorable editorial comment on the advertising, with a later suggestion to newspaper proprietors that they write to legislators urging support of the repeal bill and send carbon copies of the letters to a railroad manager.

"Self-respecting newspapers could not do otherwise than resent suggestions of this character, no matter how favorably they might view the object of the campaign. This is merely a hint to the railroads and their publicity managers. It should in no way affect the public mind in giving to the railroads the fair hearing they seek."

Following the example set in New Jersey many years ago, Pennsylvania has abolished the hangmans noose, and murderers are now put to death in the electric chair. The death punishment is a horrible but necessary form of legal expiation, and electrocution is not half as horrible as executing a human being at the end of a rope by jerking him suddenly skyward and snapping his neck, or catapulting him downward through space, to perhaps dangle for twenty minutes or half an hour and slowly strangle to death. Warden Osborne, the reform warden of Sing Sing prison, is against capital punishment. He insists that so long as it is the custom it should be in the open where those who desire may view the proceedings. There is no doubt but that public executions, grim, shocking and appalling, would have a sobering effect, though extremely doubtful if people will ever substitute public executions for private hangings and electrocutions.

There is no disputing the fact that interest in the war is waning in this country. When it first broke out the newspapers devoted pages to the minor details, where they now devote columns only to the more important stories. The average reader nowadays reads the headlines and lets it go at that, while the men and women who want to keep up with contemporary history content themselves with glancing through the summaries which are prepared by the papers, and occasionally reading the details when the news is particularly startling. Like every other great news event, the interest has been gradually falling off, and while the newspapers will be put to much expense to continue to try to present all sides, they will do it for a comparatively small part of their readers.

All good citizens take an interest in some municipal movement. It may be charity, philanthropy, the city government or some other public matter. The Saturday editorial for this week has been prepared by a citizen who gives a large amount of his time to the subject which he will discuss. He sees great possibilities in the work, and he will tell in an entertaining way about some thing with which every Plainfielder should be familiar.

Even the rain did not keep the buyers at home on Dollar Day. While business was not so great as the merchants hoped for, there was plenty of return for the effort and time that was put on the preparation.

FUNERAL SERVICE OF WILLIAM APGAR IS HELD

The funeral of William Apgar, aged 84 years, who died Tuesday morning, was held at the late home at 1615 South Second street, Plainfield, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. E. R. Brown, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Dunellen, was the officiating clergyman. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. Interment was in Hillside cemetery. The pall-bearers were Isaac J. Stites, J. H. L. Peters, Jr., W. R. Hetfield, W. H. Snyder, Lewis Schneider and Paul Reusch, all of Dunellen.

The deceased was born at Little York, Warren county, and was one of fourteen children, four of whom are living. He will be remembered by many as a brother of the late John P. Apgar and an uncle of Willard N. Apgar and George I. Apgar, Jr., who made his home for a number of years on the Fritz and Smock farm, where the Plainfield sewer beds are now located.

Mr. Apgar is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Louise Oakley, of Asbury Park, wife of the late well known Plainfield architect, Jesse Oakley; Mrs. Lizzie Peck, Mrs. Alice Ten Eyck and Miss Emily Apgar, all of Plainfield, and by a son, Edward Apgar, of Netherwood. Another son, Lewis Apgar, who died three years ago, will be remembered as keeping a cigar and billard place on North avenue, this city, for a number of years.

Ernest Peck, of this city, a grandson, is a sergeant in the United States Army and is located at Key West.

BOY SCOUTS ENJOYED REAL CAMP ROUTINE

Full Day's Outing Washington's Birthday at Willow Lake.

The Scouts of Troop No. 11, Grace church, enjoyed an outing on Washington's Birthday, on the Von Ohl estate, at Road Ending. Starting at 9 o'clock, from the parish house, they proceeded in parade formation to their day camp. Reaching the fields, they went through skirmish tactics upon a mounted squad led by Percy Von Ohl. Under command of J. Raymond Manley, leader of the day, they spread out in fan-shaped formation and succeeded in capturing two of the squad. Then they proceeded through the fields to the estate and laid aside their drums, packs and other equipment for a hare-and-hound chase. The way was led by Percy Von Ohl with Percy Vincent and Harvey Keiderling as hares and an exciting chase was given, which resulted in two of the hares being captured on the home stretch after a fifteen minute handicap.

In stalking a prey Percy Von Ohl won three firsts, one second and two thirds. Other high men were Irving Manley, Donald McKay, John Broadhead and Walter Marder. Races were run around Willow Lake, across barriers, resulting as follows: First, Walter Marder; second, Percy Vincent, and third, Edward Campbell.

In a sham batle between America and Ruritiana, America won, having captured the opponent's flag, one horseman and Ruritiana's fort.

The scouts then went to the lake and cooked their dinner of chops, pork roll, beans, potatoes, eggs, etc., which was enjoyed by all. Edward Campbell passed his examination in cooking.

Pontoon bridge building was demonstrated by a few of the scouts in connecting an island, about twenty-five feet from the shore, without the aid of boats. A new style submarine was demonstrated when three scouts had to wade to shore from their craft.

The afternoon was spent in flag-raiding, drilling and horseback riding. On Friday, February 12, the troop took a ten-mile hike through the Watchung Mountains, stopping at the "Rock" for dinner.

MARCONNIER WORKERS TO GIVE AN ENTERTAINMENT

Members of the Ladies' Aid Society, of Marconnier Reformed church at Oak Tree, have arranged for the presentation of an excellent program of dramatic and musical numbers in the chapel tomorrow evening, those active in the work of the organization participating in the various numbers.

Following the entertainment ice cream and cake will be disposed of and an informal social hour enjoyed. For the accommodation of those wishing to go from Plainfield a special bus will leave Proctor's Theatre at 7:45 and a few minutes later at Martin's garage on Park avenue.

voting. These are women of keen perception, who have a thorough grasp of the opportunity presented and the numerable advantages offered by this splendid trans-continental tour.

Cast a speculative glance at the trip The Press is offering. In imagination picture the wonders and charm of a trip, free from all worries, across the great American Continent, seeing Nature's beauty spots, the big cities on the way and a five days' visit at the magnificent world's fair at San Francisco, and then do not forget that no one's chances for winning a trip are a bit better than yours.

Don't Wait or Delay.

Heigh ho! What a heaving of sighs there will be among those who keep procrastinating when they discover they have been outdistanced by their more aggressive sisters. Come now, throw off that lethargy. The application blank is printed in the Press today on another page, as is also the nomination blank.

If you send in your name you are to use the application blank, or in case you send the name of a friend, use the nomination blank.

Santa Catalina Islands via San Pedro and steamer; Mt. Lowe or reserved seat to California Mission Play.

The California Mission Play. Both the Play and the Mission are of great interest. The old church, founded in 1771, is most fascinating. One hundred actors are engaged in the presentation of the play. The Indians who take part are descendants of the original Indians converted by the Franciscan Fathers.

Ninth Day—At Los Angeles. Leave 11 p. m.

Tenth Day—Arrive Santa Barbara. Drive of about two hours, including Santa Barbara Mission. Leave about noon for daylight ride along the shores of the Pacific Ocean.

Eleventh Day—Arrive Del Monie about 7 a. m. Famous 17-mile drive through Monterey Pacific Grove along the shore of Monterey Bay and the Pacific Ocean. Leave about noon. Visit Big Trees. Evening dinner at Santa Cruz.

Twelfth Day—Arrive San Francisco 7 a. m. Transfer to hotel. Five days in San Francisco, including four admissions to the Exposition and automobile sight-seeing trip to Golden Gate Park, Presido.

Seventeenth Day — Leave San Francisco about 7 a. m. Daylight ride through the Sierras.

Eighteenth Day—Arrive Salt Lake City 2 p. m. Salt Lake City, the Zion of the Latter Day Saints or Mormons, is a beautiful and interesting city. Among the places of interest for visitors are the great granite temple, to which the public are not admitted, and the Tabernacle. There will be a sight-seeing trip about the city and places of interest. Leave about 6 p m.

Nineteenth Day—Passing through the American Rockies by daylight. Tennessee Pass, Royal Gorge and Grand Canyon. Arrive at Colorado Springs about 6:30 p. m., where the train will be parked.

Twentieth Day—Two days at Colorado Springs. Option of automobile trip to Crystal Park, Manitou and The Garden of the Gods or by train to Cripple Creek.

Twenty-first day—Many interesting side trips may be made—Pike's Peak, Williams Canyon, Cave of the Winds, etc. Leave 11 p. m.

Twenty-second Day—Arrive Denver 8 a. m., the "Queen City of the Plains," located close to the foothills of the Rockies, the most important commercial centre between Chicago and the Pacific coast. Automobile trip about the city and to points of interest provided. Lunch at hotel. Leave Denver about 10 p. m.

WILL THIS BE A CASE OF AMATEUR AGAINST "PRO"

Harry Moulton, of the Y. M. C. A., has been practicing daily in the High School and Y. M. C. A. tanks for his coming match race with Lorenza Brower, the best all-round aquatic performer in the local High School. Brower was formerly a member of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., and gained some prominence in swimming events while a member of that institution.

Moulton is also an active Y. M. C. A. worker, but owing to the fact that he is a member of the senior class he has never had an opportunity to match his prowess against the youthful amphibian. [illegible] the contenders decided [illegible] distance, but Coach Jack Fritz, of the P. H. S. squad, is arranging details for the meeting.

SKEETERS FORFEIT LICENSE.

President Ed Barrow, of the International League, announced yesterday that he had forfeited the franchise of the Jersey City club held jointly by William S. Devery and Tom Rogers. This drastic action was taken because, it is alleged by the executive, the former ownership refused to meet contractual obligations, variously estimated at from $7,500 to $15,000. A stock company now is being formed to operate the Skeeters.

ANOTHER FOR RAHWAY.

Outplaying its opponent from whistle to whistle, the Rahway High School five had little difficulty in defeating the Battin High School aggregation in a game of basketball, at Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon, the final score reading 48 to 30.

"RUBE" MAKES PEACE.

Rube Marquard, the erratic pitcher of the Giants, made his peace with John J. McGraw yesterday afternoon, and will depart today with the little Napoleon and the squad of Giant regulars for Marlin, Tex.

MATCH POSTPONED.

The Anchor-Lafayette bowling match of the Masonic League, scheduled for last night, was indefinitely postponed.

HOWE WINS THREE AND THEN DROPPED ODD GAME

George Howe's clean sweep over P. Snyder was the feature of last night's play in the borough one man tournament. Howe's highest mark was 172, rolled in the second game. J. Miller took the odd game from Ed Squires, winning the second game by four pins.

The two winners then met and Miller won two from Howe. The results follow:

J. Miller	163	183	182
E. Squires	140	179	191
G. Howe	159	172	167
P. Snyder	131	139	139
T. Miller	160	187	165
G. Howe	147	137	172

G. O. P. DINNER

cating facts about the great question that a majority of those present had not thought of before.

The principal speaker of the evening was Elijah Hutchinson, Congressional representative from the Fourth district, in which Warren township is located. He had been assigned to no set subject, but gave an interesting discussion of national affairs for fully a half hour. He was optimistic as to the outcome of the future for the Republican party, but declared that it remained for the voters to unite in their efforts to bring about what the country needed. Other speakers were former Sheriff Edward E. Cooper, who is chairman of the Somerset County Republican Committee; Councilman Julius Stahl, of North Plainfield; John V. Brockway, of Warren township, and F. T. Horton. Two solos were rendered in excellent voice by Harry C. Zaiser, one of Warren township's most energetic politicians of the younger generation.

Congressman Hutchinson was genuinely delighted with the reception given him by the committee and declared the dinner to have been one of the best of its kind that he had ever attended. It was plainly apparent that he was glad of the opportunity to meet so many of Warren's voters and the affair gave the latter a chance to study at close range the man who was representing them at the National Capitol. Mr. Hutchinson came from his home in Trenton to Plainfield by train, and from this city was taken to Mt. Bethel in an automobile in charge of John Cooper. The return trip was made the same way, enabling the Congressman to reach Trenton last night.

The committee which arranged and conducted the dinner was composed of John F. Mundy, John V. Brockway, Jacob Schomp, Louis Stout, Harry C. Zaiser, Minard G. Smith and Robert Augster. The present officers of the Warren Township Republican Committee are: President, Edward E. Cooper; vice-president, Louis Stout; secretary, John V. Brockway, and treasurer, Eugene Bowers.

DUTCH ARMS BAND TO GIVE A CONCERT

The Dutch Arms Band, of the Trinity Reformed church, will give a grand concert in the auditorium of the Plainfield High School tomorrow night, for the benefit of the Plainfield High School Oracle, the school paper. A fine program has been arranged and all music lovers are sure of a good treat. There will be twelve numbers on the program, which consists of two parts.

The numbers as they will be rendered follow: Part One—Col. Miner's March, Rosenkrans; overture, "The Golden Prince," Losey; vocal duet, "In the Garden of My Heart," Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Young; serenade, "Starland," Losey; overture, "The Golden Crescent,' Miller; march, "National Emblem," Bagley. Part Two—March, "Waldmere," Losey; Gems from "Tabasso Land,' Clark and Dillon; selection, "In the Shadow of the Pines," Land, by the band and chorus; "C'est si leger l'Armour," Krauseman; (a) "Camp Meeting Band," (b) Shooting Stars;" march, "Washington Post," Sousa. firm of Chase & Sanborn, and has placed an attachment on the goods and chattels in Pierce's New Market store to satisfy a judement for $174.30, the amount said to be due the firm. To satisfy this claim the grocery stock will be disposed of at public auction March 2 at 2 o'clock, the sale being in charge of Constable G. A. Schenck, of New Market.

In an interview with a Plainfield Daily Press reporter today, Theophilus A. Pierce, Sr., stated that he would take charge of the mills and that no shut-down would be occasioned by the appointment of a receiver. He also said that he had retained Mr. Hall as secretary, but that Mr. Torbett has made himself scarce. Queried concerning the whereabouts of Herbert L. Pierce, Mr. Pierce said that for all he knew both the New Market man and Torbett might be in Europe by this time. One thing is certain, however, and that is that no one has a definite knowledge of the whereabouts of the missing man and it is thought that the statement made by a relative of Pierce a week ago to the effect that they had heard from him was groundless.

Claims amounting to thousands of dollars have arisen since Pierce disappeared and many of the creditors have placed their accounts in the hands of lawyers. It is not unlikely that a meeting of the creditors will be called in the near future at which time some definite course of action will be outlined.

EXECUTOR'S SALE.

There will be an executor's sale of the antiques and household goods of the late Mrs. Mary N. Pyatt, at the home on Clinton avenue, Monday, March 1, at 12 o'clock noon. William H. Manning is the executor of the estate.

U. S. PLAN TO END SEA BLOCKADE IS CONSIDERED

Washington, Feb. 25.—Increasing interest is manifested in official and diplomatic quarters in the negotiations by the Washington government with Britain and Germany to end danger to American shipping in the war zone.

The United States seeks to secure the elimination by Germany of its naval war zone and the adoption by the belligerents of a definite policy on food shipments to civilian populations.

Officials here are encouraged over the manner in which the proposals have been received by the British government, which has submitted them to her allies, France and Russia.

Germany is said to be inclined to accept the proposals, although German officials did not believe Britain would make concessions.

PERSISTENT BEAVERS.

A Battle of Wits Between the Animals and the Engineers

When the Grand Trunk railway run its line across a swamp in a game preserve on the line of the Alberta Rockies there was a wonderfully constructed beaver dam holding the water back to flood the swamp.

This in the eyes of the game warden was pure waste, and he ordered the engineers to prevent it without harming the beavers. Of course the dam could have been blown up with dynamite, but that would have meant the death of most of the little animals and death very likely in great pain at that.

So the engineers cut an opening in the dam. The mud had become almost as hard as concrete, and it took the men three days to get the water running out steadily. Then, thinking their troubles with the industrious little fellows over, they started work on the railway through the swamp.

Soon the water began to rise, and the work was stopped in a few hours. The engineers made all haste to the dam and found the animals had repaired the cut and made it tight again.

A fresh cut was made, but after the men had gone the beavers busied themselves and made it stronger than ever. Work was again stopped on the railroad within a few hours.

Then a deep hole was made in the earth far under the dam. The beavers were much puzzled. Never before had they seen water go down into the ground and come up far away. But they lent their whole attention to the problem, and the work on the railroad was again stopped as a consequence and the foundations soaked with water.

Then followed an engagement of wits between the beavers and the engineers. But every time the men found a way to cut the dam in a new place the beavers found a way to stop it.

The road was finally constructed by working a few hours at a time, and the loss to the contractors amounted to more than $5,000.—Detroit Free Press.

PRISONERS OF WAR.

Code of Honor by Which Their Treatment Is Governed.

In ancient times prisoners of war were killed unless, of course, the belligerents found it more profitable to exchange or liberate them for ransom. But today nations are bound to one another by a code of honor which forbids inhuman treatment of prisoners.

Prisoners are subjected to no punishment in any form. Neither must they be placed in a convict prison, although they may be detained in a fortress, camp or town. A reasonable supply of nourishment must be provided them by their captors, and they are regarded as being in the power of the government of the captor and not under the control of those who actually capture them.

All personal belongings remain in the custody of the prisoner, but arms, horses and military papers can be confiscated, these constituting booty.

Governments can put their prisoners of war to work, but only such work as accords with the prisoner's rank and capacity; also the work must not be excessive or relate to military matters, and in all cases must the labor be paid for.

A prisoner always lives in hope of being exchanged for a prisoner of his own government. The exchange is effected in accordance with agreements in which time, place and method of exchange are fully detailed. This is generally that of strict equivalents, man for man, rank for rank, disability for disability.

An officer can obtain a greater freedom of movement or certain privileges while being a prisoner of war if he makes out a parole, a written or verbal promise. An officer giving his parole pledges his honor to refrain from a particular course of conduct, and if he makes a breach of this guarantee he is liable to the extreme penalty.—Pearson's Weekly.

PATROLMAN KILLED.

Jersey City, Feb. 25.—Patrolman Charles Hill was shot and killed early today by a young burglar who he had captured as the man was leaving a house in the Heights district. The assassin escaped.

HEAVY RAINFALL.

Weather Prophet John Neagle reports today that the rainfall for this year including today totals 13.51 inches, which is 5.71 inches in excess above the normal. Yesterday's rainfall was 1.59 inches.

NOW--Only Two Golden Days Furniture at HALF

(In the February Sale, Original)

Tomorrow and Saturday—and tomorrow will be the better of the two days; for the furniture at half is mostly one-or-two-of-a-kind pieces or suites. You will wonder why it can be bought for half. And when a piece goes, there is not likely to be any more like it at the price.

It Is All So Fine, Fine, FINE

The truth is (1) we bought it well; (2) the whole lot at half—hundreds of pieces—is but a small percentage of our great stocks, which (3) must be kept free from odd pieces and suites; so (4) we halve the prices to make sure of the straightening-out.

WILL FIGHT TRANSFER.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 25—D. J. Haff, a director, and S. I. Gilmore, attorney for the local Federal League team, left today for Chicago where they will confer with President Gilmore and the league board of managers. A meeting will be held in Buffalo tomorrow where they will fight the effort to transfer the Kansas City franchise to Newark, N. J. In the event of failure they say they will bring suit against the league.

MADDEN IS ARRESTED.

New York, Feb. 25.—Richard Madden, the keeper of a Jersey City dance hall, was arrested this morning charged with having Stegler to present his birth certificate when applying for a passport under the name of Madden. It is expected that the prisoner will be able to give valuable information about the conspiracy.

SET OFF BOMB.

New York, Feb. 25.—A bomb was set off early today at 1590 Madison avenue, in front of the barber shop conducted by Francisco Valone. General havoc was created and more than a hundred persons living in upper floors rushed into the street thinly clad. Valone had received three letters demanding $1,000.

UPHOLDS LABOR LAW.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25—The Court of Appeals, this afternoon, held constitutional the labor law prohibiting the employment of aliens on public works. The decision affirms the conviction of Clarence A. Crane, the contractor, on the New York subways on the charge of employing alien labor on that work.

COUNTERFEIT $20 BILL.

Washington, Feb. 25—A new counterfeit $20 gold certificate has been discovered by the Secret Service. It is of the series of 1906 and bears the portrait of Washington, the workmanship of which is said to be poor.

COLUMBUS CLUB RECITAL.

Arrangements have been made for a musical recital to be given in Columbus Hall March 2 under the auspices of John J. Moylan, of Carnegie Hall. A number of well known artists have been engaged for the occasion.

PERSONAL.

Miss Ethel E. Humphrey, of Sycamore avenue, left yesterday for Rome, N. Y., where she will spend two weeks with relatives.

Mrs. Leonce Texier, of the New Madison, who recently underwent a severe operation at Muhlenberg Hospital, was reported today as improving nicely.

Harvey Morrison, of East Second street, who has been in Syracuse, N. Y., for the past two weeks in the interests of the Vitaphone Company, has returned to New York State after a brief visit home.

Miss Frances Newman, of Duer street, the borough, has returned home after spending a few days with relatives in New York and Brooklyn.

Patrolman Frank Sweeney, of the local police force, who has been in St. Luke's Hospital, New York, for the past month, is reported as doing well and will probably return to Plainfield in a couple of weeks.

RECREATION NOTES

The Thespian Society will meet this evening for a rehearsal of "Father and the Boys," at the High School.

The Dunbar Club will rehearse "Sarah's Young Man" tomorrow evening at the Washington School.

The Italian Athletic and Dramatic Club will meet tomorrow evening at the Lincoln School.

COMMISSION MET.

The Joint Sewerage Commission held its monthly meeting last night, routine business occupying the attention of the members. Nothing was done regarding the rights-of-way and this will probably be taken up at a future session.

"THE DEACON ENTANGLED."

The members of the Hope chapel Y. M. A. will present their second annual play tonight at the chapel. It is entitled "The Deacon Entangled." The curtain will rise at 8:15 o'clock. The receipts are for the support of the organization.

CHARACTERIZED AFFIDAVIT AN INGENIOUS EVASION

New York, Feb. 25.—Martin T. Manton, attorney for former Police Lieut. Charles Becker, today before Supreme Court Justice Weeks moved for a new trial on the ground of new evidence in connection with the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

Justice Weeks, in Supreme Court, set consternation into the ranks of Charles Becker's friends. In considering the affidavit of James Marshall, the negro, Justice Weeks characterized it as an ingenious evasion, and said that he did not consider it as sufficient grounds for a new trial of Charles Becker.

Attorney Manton, representing Becker, asked if he was to consider that opinion as the court's decision, but Justice Weeks stated that he would take the matter under advisement.

Quantities of copper hidden on vessels preparing to sail from Rotterdam to German ports have been seized by the Dutch officials, says the Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant. Several arrests have been made.

JOHNSON TO FIGHT IN HAVANA.

Toronto, Feb. 25.—Tom Flanagan, who trained Jack Johnson, the negro boxer, for the fight with James Jeffries at Reno in 1910, announced today he had received a cablegram from Johnson at Havana in which Johnson said he had called off the fight with Jess Willard scheduled for March 6 at Juarez and that the fight would occur in Havana.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

Scattered Sport Gleanings

Members of Plainfield's representative feminine basketball team have more trouble scaring up opposition than they do in piling up 80 to 0 scores these days. For several days before each contest the game bookers are out scouting for an opponent and generally land an eleventh hour fish of the none too formidable variety.

Even if the Plainfield High School youngsters do not succeeed in ultimately copping the city championship from the Y. M. C. A. they will have plenty of time to gloat over their first game triumph. According to the promoters the second engagement will not be pulled off until the middle of March, or in other words, when the robins begin to pull in from the sunny south.

One of the Y. M. C. A. basketeers was heard to ask Coach Patch if a swimming meet couldn't be arranged between the High School and Y. M. C. A. athletic factions. Failure at one line of sport is no reason why competition should be abandoned along another route, but at the same time we've been led to believe in the past that to let well enough alone is the best policy.

By the time some of these trouble hatchers finish getting up reasons for certain basketball defeats on local courts this season it will be time for the 1915-16 schedule to get under sail. It was evidently a case of the bigger the hope the greater the crash, and it was SOME CRASH.

If some fond mothers in this little burg could only see their darling cherubs battling in some of our local basketball engagements the song hit entitled "I didn't raise my boy to be a fighter," would gather some popularity around here.

Y. M. C. A. basketball players cancelled their engagement with the Trenton Y. M. C. A. slated for next Saturday night because they elected to stear shy of the possibility of returning to the Queen City in the wee small hours of Sunday morning. This court pastime has certainly reformed some of our young proteges.

Rumor has it that a local baseball magnate is planning to put a week-end delegation in the field this year. And that promoter is not Ernie Dorflinger.

Before turning a rash act it might be well for this prospective mogul to do a little "inside work" in Plainfield and get a true line on the National Pastime situation furking around here.

Leal School wound up its basketball season here yesterday afternoon Plainfield High School and the Y. M. C. A. are just starting their city title campaign. This basketball stuff is getting almost as varied as women's fashions.

Plainfield High School Senior class basketball stars are due to get their annual crack at the Faculty shining lights tomorrow afternoon. If size counts for anything the teachers ought to be able to snow the youngsters under.

Jack Martin starts tomorrow for the sunny south. Pity the poor baseball slave. Tomorrow he starts on a summer campaign in which he will have to travel in Pullmans at nights and perform on the diamond for $1,000 an afternoon after his winter's hibernation.

Summary: Field goals, Canter 9, Pollock, Eggie 4, Bailey 2, Runyon, Peacock; foul goals, Canter 4, Bailey, Peacock; referee, Schenck, timer, Updike; scorer, Stelle.

N. P. H. S. TOPS LIST.

The North Plainfield High School baseball team appears as an opener on the list of games on the Rutgers "Prep" schedule, which has just been issued by the manager. The game will take place on April 10 on Hyde Oval. No return game has yet been arranged. The boroughites will again face Jake Deinzer, who was the star twirler for the New Brunswick High School team last year. He is now attending the "Prep" school and will undoubtedly be the best on the mound.

LEAL TEAM DROPS ITS FINAL CONTEST

One Point Defeat Handed Out by Columbia Grammar School Yesterday.

The Leal School basketball team lost its last game of the season on the Y. M. C. A. court, yesterday afternoon, when the Columbia Grammar School quintet, of New York, took the larger end of a 21 to 20 score. The game was one of the best the local five has played this season.

Fred Dickerson tallied three field goals in the first session, but Stewart was held to three throws from the fifteen foot mark. The score at the end of the first period was 11 to 9 in favor of the private school aggregation. Five field goals and two fouls in the second half by the visitors were too much for Leal's.

COLUMBUS CLUB MEMBERS TO ENTERTAIN SATURDAY

The Columbus Club bowling team will entertain the members of New Amsterdam Lodge, of New York city, at the clubhouse, Saturday night. The feature of the night will be a bowling match between the teams of the two clubs.

When the local delegation went to New York several weeks ago, they took the odd game. A social time will follow the match.

END OF ELKS' LEAGUE.

The last three matches on the Elks' Senior League schedule will be rolled tonight. Newark will play at Paterson, Hoboken at Jersey City and Elizabeth at New Brunswick. The results of the Paterson and New Brunswick games may change the standing of the league as the New Brunswicks are only one game above the Patersonians.

P. H. S. FIVES WILL PLAY.

Both the Plainfield High School boys' and girls' basketball teams are scheduled to play on the local court Saturday afternoon, the boys entertaining the Yonkers H. S. five and the girls playing Bloomfield. The Yonkers team has always proven too much for the red and blue teams in the past, but the players have great hopes of annexing this game.

HOPE CHAPEL GAME.

Manager Allan Snyder, of the Hope Chapel basketball team, has signed up the Whitehouse Five, of Newark, as the attraction for Hope supporters next Saturday night. The team has a good reputation in and about Newark and will probably give the local aggregation a good run for the largest number of points.

ROLL-CALL MEETING.

Annual roll-call was held by Greenbrook Council, Royal Arcanum, Tuesday evening, at which Supreme Representative J. A. Drake, of Newark, spoke. The roll-call was well responded to by members and a delightful social evening ensued. Refreshments and cigars were enjoyed.

SENIORS WILL TRY TO TAME FACULTY

Fourth Year Athletes Look for Sweet Revenge in Annual Meeting.

The annual basketball game between the Senior class team and the Faculty of the Plainfield High School will be staged in the High School gym, tomorrow afternoon.

The Faculty has an especially strong team this year and expects to clean-up with its younger opponents. As has been the custom in past years, each Senior on the school team will be allowed ten minutes of play in the game against the Faculty. Ralph S. Patch, athletic director of the school, will captain the Faculty. According to him the Seniors will get the worst beating they have ever received. With Woodman, Beers and Hubbard at guard they expect to hold the Seniors scoreless. Wriston and Hauck intend to handle Pollock and Chamberlain at centre without much difficulty. Patch, Osting, Best and Dickes will do the scoring for their team at forwards. The money taken in at the gate has usually gone to the Athletic Association, but this year the Oracle, the school paper, is badly in need of funds so the Athletic Association has agreed to turn the money over to that issue.

The teams will lineup as follows.

Seniors.		Faculty.
Canter	forwards	Patch
Rosenson	forwards	Beers
McNamee	forwards	Osting
Greene	forwards	Dickes
Pollock	centre	Hauck
Chamberlain	centre	Wriston
Worden	guards	Woodman
Cockburn	guards	Beers
Ryder, Peacock	guards	Hubbard

Y. M. C. A. AT TRENTON.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. basketball team will leave on the 5:14 train for Trenton, Saturday afternoon, where they will meet the Central Y. M. C. A. five, of that place. In the first game between these two teams the locals won with two points to spare and a close contest is expected this time. There will be a game at the association for local fans between one of the Color League teams and a five from Roselle.

RITZ CUP ON EXHIBITION.

The Ritz basketball trophy, offered for the winner of the city championship series between the Plainfield High School and Y. M. C. A. teams, has been selected and will be on exhibition for some time in the Ritz show window. It stands about twelve inches high and is plain, but attractive. It will be marked with suitable engraving.

RUTGERS COLLEGE MEET.

The metropolitan junior 100-yard championship swim is to feature the meet that will open the new tank at Rutgers College, March 10. A fifty-yard handicap, relay race, 500-meter swim and fancy diving event will complete the program.

WINDUP MATCHES IN SENIOR LEAGUE

Three Meetings Due to Take Place Tonight—Race is Close.

Hostilities in the Senior Elks' Bowling League will come to a close tonight when Newark goes to Paterson, Hoboken visits Jersey City and Elizabeth appears at New Brunswick. With a one game lead over the Silk Cityites the Brunswicks will have to record a clean sweep in tonight's series in order to make sure of the championship.

The windup of the 1914-15 tourney is one of the most exciting in the history of the league. The Elizabethans slipped on Monday evening at Newark and have been pushed out of the race, as a consequence. They dropped three in a row, something which was unlooked for, and came as a surprise to the fans.

The Jersey City pinners have a chance to slide into first place, after moving along at a slow gait for the greater part of the season. When Elizabeth dropped three at Newark, they moved up a peg above the Elizabethans. Had Elizabeth rollers annexed the three games from Newark they would have tied the New Brunswick bowlers, but the expected did not happen.

While the Brunswick bowlers are entertaining the Elizabeth Elks the Newark phenomenal bowlers will be tackling the Paterson herd. If the Newarkers can only duplicate their rolling of Monday evening the Brunswick pinners will rejoice. Captain Burton's wood smashers are rolling exceptionally fine at present and feel capable of mowing down the Elizabethans. The Newark bowlers will be rolling on their opponents drives and might find it difficult to accomplish the trick which is expected of them.

FIFTH STRAIGHT FOR PLAINFIELD QUINTET

Red and Blue Schoolboys Overwhelm Roselle High School Five.

The Plainfield High School boys' basketball team had little difficulty in defeating the Roselle High School basketball team at Roselle, yesterday afternoon. The final score was 54 to 16. The Plainfield boys caged the ball almost at will. Before Benedict scored the first basket for Roselle, the local High School boys had caged the ball eight times from the field. The passing of the Plainfield quintet had their opponents bewildered at all times. Many baskets were bagged from two passes after the ball was jumped at centre. The score at the end of the first half was 28 to 6.

The second half was a repetition of the first, with the local five holding the upper hand at all times. Chamberlain and Rosenson were the two high score men of the game, bagging eight baskets apiece. Davies, of Roselle, was the high score man of his team, caging four goals.

COLUMBUS CLUB GAME.

The Columbus Club Five will lineup against the fast W. F. A. team, from Bound Brook, tonight, on the Columbus Club court. An interesting game is promised. A preliminary feminine game will be staged between the Plainfield Five and the T. A. M., of North Plainfield. The local boys will lineup as follows: Linke, forward; Coffey, forward; McAfee, center; Caulfield, guard, and Carty, guard.

$200 FOR EMERY BALL.

Chicago, Feb. 25—Pitchers in the Federal League found guilty of using the "emery ball" during the coming season will be fined $200, according to a rule prepared by James A. Gilmore, president of the league.

N. P. H. S. BEATEN IN FISTIC ENGAGEMENT

Boroughites Got the Raw End of the Deal Yesterday Afternoon.

In a basketball engagement which could hardly be considered much more than a fight, the North Plainfield High School basketball quintet met defeat at the hands of the Somerville High School five after they had outplayed them in every phase of the game, the final score being 25 to 23.

In the first half of the game the Somerville delegation was completely outclassed and the score at the end of the period stood 15 to 8 in favor of North Plainfield, but in the second half, which was nothing more than a pugilistic engagement, the home team caught up to and passed the would-be victors.

SOMERVILLE AND N. P. H. S. MAY CUT OFF RELATIONS

As the result of the outbreak staged by a number of rowdies at the Somerville-North Plainfield High School game in Somerville, yesterday afternoon, it is probable that athletic affiliations between these two Somerset county factions will be severed. When Somerville appeared in the borough the rooters indulged in the same brand of rough tactics and when one of the rabid supporters of the Somerville aggregation attacked a North Plainfield teacher he was jailed. It cost him $10 in the borough court the next morning.

This was remembered by the rowdies of Somerville and when the North Plainfielders appeared there yesterday the "gang" was out in full force to "get" certain prominent members of the N. P. H. S. squad. The rooters assaulted several of the players and it is not unlikely that some trouble will follow. At any rate it is almost a certainty that Somerville will be omitted from the borough school's baseball schedule this season.

N. P. H. S. GIRLS AT AMBOY.

The North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team will go to Perth Amboy tomorrow afternoon, and meet the High School team of that place.

LOCAL AND RAHWAY ELKS FINISH IN TIE

Plainfielders Took the Odd Game on Watchung Ave. Alleys Last Night.

SENIOR ELKS' LEAGUE RECORD.

Rahway	19	35	981

The Plainfield and Rahway bowling teams, of the Senior Elks' League, finished the league race in a tie for last place last night, when the local pinners took the odd game from their opponents on the Watchung avenue alleys. Each team has now won nineteen games and lost thirty-five, which makes a total of fifty-four. The locals were lucky in the first game, getting the decision by one pin, the scores being 891 to 890. Campbell's 211 in this game helped materially in annexing it. VanEmburgh rolled the first game instead of Blatz and hit for 143. Vail scored 188 and Nash 180. Worth, who rolled his second game for Rahway, hit for 224 in the first game and 221 in the second.

Rahway easily took the second same, the scores being 929 to 856. Koops, who was the anchor man for the visiting team, went in for the high score mark of the match, registering a 235. Eighty-one points separated the two scores in the last and deciding game, Plainfield having 889 and Rahway totalling 808. Nash led the locals in this game with 203 and Vail scored 201. For Rahway, Koops chalked up 212.

PEG O' MY HEART

By J. Hartley Manners

A Comedy of Youth Founded by Mr. Manners on His Great Play of the Same Title—Illustrations From Photographs of the Play

Copyright, 1913, by Dodd, Mead & Company

CHAPTER XVII.

Peg and the Chichester Family.

PEG finally weakened under Mr. Hawkes' powers of persuasion. Patting Michael on the head, she said to the footman:

"Ye won't hurt him, will ye?" Michael at that stage licked her hand and whined, as though he knew they were to be separated. Peg comforted him and went on: "An' I'll be much obliged to ye if ye'd give him some wather an' a bone. He loves mutton bones."

Peg looked down and found Alaric sitting at a desk near the door staring at her in disgust.

He was such a funny looking little fellow to Peg that she could not feel any resentment toward him. His sleek, well brushed hair; his carefully creased and admirably cut clothes, his self sufficiency and, above all, his absolute assurance that whatever he did was right amused Peg immensely. He was an entirely new type of young man to her, and she was interested. She smiled at him now in a friendly way and said: "Ye must know Michael is simply crazy about mutton. He loves mutton."

Alaric turned indignantly away from her.

"Come here!" called Mrs. Chichester.

Peg walked over to her, and when she got almost beside the old lady she turned to have another glimpse at Alaric and gave him a little, chuckling, good natured laugh.

"Look at me!" commanded Mrs. Chichester sternly.

"Yes, ma'am," replied Peg, with a little courtesy. Mrs. Chichester closed her eyes for a moment. What was to be done with this barbarian? Why should this affliction be thrust upon her? Then she thought of the thousand pounds a year. She opened her eyes and looked severely at Peg.

"Don't call me 'ma'am!'" she said.

"No, ma'am," replied Peg nervously, then instantly corrected herself. "No, ant! No, ant!"

"Aunt!" said Mrs. Chichester haughtily. "Aunt, not ant."

Alaric commented to Ethel:

"Ant! Like some little crawly insect."

Peg heard him, looked at him and laughed. He certainly was odd. Then she looked at Ethel, then at Mr. Hawkes, then all around the room, as if she missed some one. Finally she faced Mrs. Chichester again.

"Are you me Uncle Nat's widdy?"

"No, I am not," contradicted the old lady sharply.

"Then how are you me—aunt?" demanded Peg.

"I am your mother's sister," replied Mrs. Chichester.

"Oh!" cried Peg. "Then your name's Monica?"

"It is."

"What do ye think of that?" said Peg under her breath. She surreptitiously opened out the miniature and looked at it; then she scrutinized her aunt. She shook her head.

"Ye don't look a bit like me poor mother did."

"What have you there?" asked Mrs. Chichester.

"Me poor mother's picture," replied Peg softly.

"Let me see it," and Mrs. Chichester held out her hand for it. Peg showed it to Mrs. Chichester, all the while keeping a jealous hold on the corner of the frame. No one would ever take it away from her. The old lady looked at it intently. Finally she said:

"She had changed very much since I last saw her—and in one year."

"Sorrow an' poverty did that, Aunt Monica," and the tears sprang unbidden into Peg's eyes.

"Aunt will be quite sufficient. Put it away," and Mrs. Chichester released the miniature.

"Sit down," directed the old lady.

Peg sprawled into a chair with a great sigh of relief.

"Thank ye, ant—aunt," she said. Then she looked at them all alternately and laughed heartily:

"Sure I had no idea in the wurrid I had such fine relations, although, of course, my father often said to me, 'Now, Peg,' he would say, 'now, Peg, ye've got some grand folks on yer mother's side'"—

"Folks! Really—Ethel!" cried Alaric disgustedly.

"Yes, that's what he said—grand folks on me mother's side."

Mrs. Chichester silenced Peg.

"That will do. Don't sprawl in that way. Sit up. Try to remember where you are. Look at your cousin," and the mother indicated Ethel. Peg sat up demurely and looked at Ethel. She chuckled to herself as she turned back to Mrs. Chichester:

"Is she me cousin?"

"She is," replied the mother.

"And I am, too"—said Alaric—"Cousin Alaric."

Peg looked him all over and laughed openly. Finally she asked Mrs. Chichester the following amazing question:

"Where's her husband?"

Ethel sprang to her feet. She was to be disgraced before her family by that beggar brat.

Mrs. Chichester said in astonishment, "Her husband?"

"Yes," replied Peg insistently. "I saw her husband when I came in here first. I've been in this room before, ye know. I came in through those windows, an' I saw her an' her husband. She was"—

"What in heaven's name does she mean?" cried Alaric.

Peg persisted. "I tell ye it was she sent me to the kitchen—she an' him."

"Him? Who in the world does she mean?" from Alaric.

"To whom does she refer, Ethel?" from Mrs Chichester.

"Mr. Brent," said Ethel with admirable self control. She was on thin ice, but she must keep calm.

Mrs. Chichester looked relieved.

Peg went on:

"Sure, she thought I was a servant lookin' for a place, an' Mr. Hawkes told me not to say a word until he came—an' I didn't say a word."

Mr. Hawkes now broke in: "My time is short. Miss O'Connell, it was your uncle's wish that you should make your home here with Mrs. Chichester. She will give you every possible advantage to make you a happy, well cared for, charming young lady."

Peg laughed.

"Lady? Me? Sure now"—

"You must do everything she tells you. Try to please her in all things. On the first day of every month I will call and find out what progress you're making. And now I must take my leave." He picked up his hat and cane from the table.

The Butler Took Michael; Peg Asked Him Not to Hurt the Dog.

Peg sprang up breathlessly and frightenedly. Now that Mr. Hawkes was going she felt deserted. He had at least been gentle and considerate to her. She tugged at his sleeve and looked straight up into his face with her big blue eyes wide open and pleaded:

"Plaze, sir, take me with ye an' send me back to New York. I'd rather go home. Indade I would. I don't want to be a lady. I want me father. Plaze take me with ye."

"Oh, come, come"—Mr. Hawkes began.

"I want to go back to me father. Indade I do." Her eyes filled with tears. "He mightn't like me to stay here now that me uncle's dead."

"Why, it was your uncle's last wish that you should come here. Your father will be delighted at your good fortune." He gently pressed her back into the chair and smiled pleasantly and reassuringly down at her.

Just when he had negotiated everything most satisfactorily to have Peg endeavor to upset it all was most disturbing. He went on again:

"Your aunt will do everything in her power to make you feel at home. Won't you, Mrs. Chichester?"

"Everything!" said Mrs. Chichester, as if she were walking over her own grave.

Peg looked at her aunt ruefully (her expression was most forbidding); at Ethel's expressive back; lastly at Alaric fitting a cigarette into a gold mounted holder. Her whole nature cried out against them. She made one last appeal to Mr. Hawkes:

"Do send me back to me father!"

"Nonsense, my dear Miss O'Connell. You would not disappoint your father in that way, would you? Wait for a month. I'll call on the 1st, and I expect to hear only the most charming things about you. Now, goodby." And he took her hand.

She looked up wistfully at him.

"Goodby, sir. An' thank ye very much for bein' so kind to me."

Hawkes bowed to Mrs. Chichester and Ethel and went to the door.

"Have a cab?" asked Alaric.

"No, thank you," replied the lawyer. "I have no luggage. Like the walk. Good day." And Peg's only friend in England passed out and left her to face this terrible English family alone.

"Your name is Margaret," said Mrs. Chichester as the door closed on Mr. Hawkes.

"No, ma'am," Peg began, but immediately corrected herself: "no, aunt—I beg your pardon—no, aunt—my name is Peg!" cried she earnestly.

"That is only a corruption. We will call you Margaret," insisted Mrs. Chichester, dismissing the subject once and for all.

But Peg was not to be turned so lightly aside. She stuck to her point.

"I wouldn't know myself as Margaret indade I wouldn't. I might forget to answer to the name of Margaret." She stopped her pleading tone and said determinedly, "My name is Peg." Then a little softer and more plaintively she added: "Me father always calls me Peg. It would put me in mind of me father if you'd let me be called Peg, aunt." She ended her plea with a little yearning cry.

"Kindly leave your father out of the conversation," snapped the old lady severely.

"Then it's all I will have him out of!" cried Peg, springing up and confronting the stately lady of the house.

Mrs. Chichester regarded her in astonishment and anger.

"No temper, if you please," and she motioned Peg to resume her seat.

Poor Peg sat down, breathing hard, her fingers locking and unlocking, her stanch little heart aching for the one human being she was told not to refer to.

This house was not going to hold her a prisoner if her father's name was to be slighted or ignored. On that point she was determined. Back to America she would go if her father's name was ever insulted before her.

Mrs. Chichester's voice broke the silence:

"You must take my daughter as your model in all things."

Peg looked at Ethel, and all her anger vanished temporarily. The idea of taking that young lady as a model appealed to her as being irresistibly amusing. She smiled broadly at Ethel.

Mrs. Chichester went on:

"Everything my daughter does you must try to imitate. You could not have a better example. Mold yourself from her."

"Imitate her, is it?" asked Peg innocently, with a twinkle in her eye and the suggestion of impishness in her manner.

"So far as lies in your power," replied Mrs. Chichester.

A picture of Ethel struggling in Brent's arms suddenly flashed across Peg, and before she could restrain herself she had said in exact imitation of her cousin:

"Please don't! It is so hot this mornin'!"

Then Peg laughed loudly to Ethel's horror and Mrs. Chichester's disgust.

"How dare you!" cried her aunt.

Peg looked at her a moment; all the mirth died away.

"Mustn't I laugh in this house?" she asked.

"You have a great deal to learn. Your education will begin tomorrow."

"Sure, that will be foine," and she chuckled.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD.

Nell had been house cleaning and rearranging the furniture in the bedroom. She surveyed her work with pardonable pride.

Every article of furniture was in a different place except Dick's desk, and that had no castors on it. Besides, it had to stay near the electric light. The crowning triumph of arrangement in her opinion was the bed, with the head across the corner so that the embroidered pillow cases showed to the best advantage from the door.

Late in the afternoon Nell's mother had come over to stay for dinner and she had praised the little housewife and her successful efforts.

"I did it all myself. You see, I am trying to save, as times are so hard. Dick will be so pleased. There he comes now," and Nell ran to meet him and followed him to the bedroom door, listening for the expected outburst of enthusiasm over the improved appearance of the room. No sound came forth and peeking around the door jamb she saw Dick shoving the bed back against the wall in the corner. She was very tired from the unaccustomed work and the disappointment was too great to stand with calmness. She burst into tears and rushed into the kitchen, where her mother was finishing the dinner preparations.

"Why, Nell," exclaimed Mrs. Reeves in dismay, "what is the matter?" But the storm of tears raged on, leaving no breath for speech.

"What has happened, Dick?" she asked, going into the living room where Dick sat moodily pretending to read.

"I'm blessed if I know. I shoved that bed around so I could get into the room and she burst out crying. I never would have touched it, of course, if I'd had the least idea she was crazy about crawling along the wall and giving up the entire space to that."

"Well, you see she had planned this new arrangement as a pleasant surprise to you," began Mrs. Reeves.

"I think I shall soon be afraid to touch anything in the house or to enter it for fear of precipitating a storm," said the young husband bitterly. "How's a man going to know what particular trifle is a matter of life and death to a woman? I give you my word, mother, I'm in despair."

"Now, Dick, don't make the mistake of emphasizing trifles. The thing will blow over; just get her a little because she's overtired. One's physical condition makes the difference in the world as to how we bear things. Here comes Nell," and Mrs. Reeves hurried to the kitchen.

"Come in, father; it's a long time since you've been over here to dinner." Dick was helping him off with his coat.

Nell was dejectedly dishing up the dinner when her mother returned. "Don't punish father for Dick's unpleasantness. Dick meant no harm. Go wash your face and powder your nose; I'll finish here," and Mrs. Reeves took the dish.

Dick stole into the bedroom after Nell to say, "I never meant to hurt you, dear. Don't be miserable."

"Please overlook my selfishness, because I am tired," and she put her arms around his neck.

Household Hints

UP-TO-DATE RECIPES

Egg Muffins—Use your cold meat scraps in egg muffins: two cups ground cold meat, one cup soaked bread crumbs, one small onion, one egg. Mix thoroughly with salt and pepper, put in greased muffin pans. If desired, break an egg on each. Bake eight minutes.

Scalloped Potato and Pork Chops—Prepare potatoes as for scalloping but omit butter, cover with pork chops, pour over the milk and bake. Cover until almost done, then remove cover and brown.

Potato Chowder—Pare and cut into thick slices four large potatoes. Peel, slice and brown in a tablespoonful of butter one onion (medium-sized); add potatoes to hot fat and onion, then sprinkle with teaspoonful of minced parsley (parsley need not be added if not liked). Add boiling water enough to just cover potatoes; cook until tender—do not let them become dry and burn. When done, add one quart hot milk, salt and pepper to taste, then yolks of two hard-boiled eggs mashed fine and the whites minced. After milk is added, add about half a dozen hard crackers and let them steam a little while. This will serve five or six persons, and with wieners or frankfurters will make a fine meal.

Favorite Chicken Pie—Cook two fat chickens until tender in water slightly salted, when done place pieces evenly in pie pan, make a gravy (not too thick), and pour enough over chicken to cover. Have ready sufficient mashed potatoes, lightly seasoned with cream, butter and salt; spread evenly over top of pie, put into oven with a hot fire, bake about twenty minutes; serve.

Asparagus as Salad—Lay contents of can white asparagus on lettuce leaf. Pour French dressing over all and serve cold. Dressing: Place one-half teaspoon salt, dash of paprika, one-half teaspoon sugar, in a bowl. Add gradually three tablespoons olive oil and mix thoroughly. Then add one tablespoon cider, one tablespoon olive oil, yolk of one egg, one-third cup hot vinegar slowly. Cook over boiling water until thick.

FOUR EGGLESS CAKES

Eggless Cake—One-half cup butter, 1 1-3 cups sugar, one cup milk, one cup raisins or currants, three cups flour, one-third teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon mixed spices. Bake in slow oven one hour.

Eggless Banana Cake—One and one-third cups sugar, one cup sweet milk, one tablespoon butter, pinch of salt, two teaspoons baking powder, 1½ cups flour. Bake in layers. Make a white frosting: Boil one cup milk and 1 1-3 cups sugar until it threads; beat; add vanilla and spread. Take three large bananas, slice and spread between layers and on top.

Eggless Fruit Cake—One cup brown sugar, one tablespoon lard, one-half teaspoon each of nutmeg, cinnamon and cloves ground, pinch of salt, one cup buttermilk or sour milk, 1½ cups flour, one teaspoon baking soda dissolved in hot water, one-half cup English walnuts, one-third cup raisins and large piece of pineapple. Chop all fruit and nuts fine, dredge with flour and add to cake. Bake in loaf in moderate oven one hour.

Eggless Spice Cake—One cup light brown sugar, one tablespoon butter, one-half teaspoon each of ground nutmeg, cinnamon and cloves, pinch of salt, one cup buttermilk or sour milk, one teaspoon baking soda dissolved in hot water, two cups flour (currants may be added if liked). Bake in loaf, layer or in gem pans. This will make from sixteen to eighteen drop cakes.

FOR A GIRL OF TWELVE.

With the same inconsistency which is displayed in the modish frocks for grown-ups with their severely plain basque portions and fluffy "Ruffly" skirts, the dresses for small girls are nevertheless extremely attractive. There seems to be a tendency, too, to make more and more of these out of silk and wool materials instead of the wash fabrics used almost exclusively for so many years. A girl of twelve is here shown wearing a beautiful party dress of white crepe de chine and pink taffeta. The sleeves, skirt and neck ruffles are of white crepe de chine bound with pink taffeta while the sleeveless over-basque is entirely of the taffeta.

STATE SUFFRAGE MEETING.

An important conference of suffrage workers will be held tomorrow afternoon at the headquarters of the Trenton Suffrage Campaign Committee, Trenton. Women will be present from Burlington, Camden, Mercer, Hunterdon, Somerset, Union, Essex, Morris, Passaic, Bergen and Hudson counties. Plans for the coming campaign will be discussed, and arrangements made for a number of automobile speaking tours which are to be held in April and May. The State president, Mrs. Edward F. Feickert, of Plainfield, will preside and will also speak on "Working to Win."

PASTOR'S RECEPTION.

Under the auspices of the Pastor's Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church a reception will be given this evening to Rev. Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Herring in the parlors of the church. The entire congregation is invited.

PASTOR'S AID ANNUAL.

The annual meeting of the Pastor's Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church will be held in the church parlors at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Officers will be elected and reports presented.

Animal Jingles

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

BY ALICE CREW GALL

The Adventurous Pelican.

A pensive Pelican one day was standing by a pond,
Profoundly meditating on his lot.
He had been standing this way for perhaps an hour or more,
And seemed to be asleep—but he was not.

Thought he, "I am a water fowl, that fact I wont deny;
But even so, I do not understand
Just why I should remain here by this pond all of my life,
I think I'll take a journey overland."

But when he told his parents of his plan to take this trip,
They flapped their wings and cried in great alarm,
"You'd better stay right here at home and not be gadding round,
For certain as you do you'll come to harm!"

Although they warned him thoroughly it did no good at all;
The Pelican had quite made up his mind.
Said he, "You may as well keep still—I start this afternoon
To see just what adventures I can find."

So when they saw that he was bound to go, they hurried round
And put some lunch up for him in a dish.
They said, "It's our impression, in a journey overland,
The thing you'll miss the most will be your fish."

So he set out and travelled till he thought 'twas time for lunch.
Said he, "I'll eat right here upon the ground."
But as he was about to take a lovely bite of fish,
Just back of him he heard a dreadful sound.

In much alarm he looked around and saw a big Wild-Cat,
Who said to him, "Now, what are you about?
I'm very fond of fish myself, so just hand over those."
(They must have been cat-fish, beyond a doubt.)

The cruel grin and whiskers of the great big Cat were such
The Pelican was almost dead of fright.
He didn't wait a minute to exchange the time of day;
He simply up and flew with all his might.

And before so very long that pensive Pelican reached home,
As frightened and as hungry as could be.
Said he, "Adventures are all right for those who like them, but They're a leetle mite too dangerous for me!"

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 25.—On Saturday, Miss May Belle McArthur, who decided on January 22 that with her it was to be svelte or die, will have completed a five weeks' "beauty fast." Since the latter date, Mrs McArthur has subsisted on an occasional bit of celery or lemon, and water. She declares that her health has been considerably improved by the diet, and that she feels but little hunger. By Saturday she expects to have lost 40 pounds of her former avoirdupois of 175.

New York.—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Elizabeth Mirbank Anderson have donated to the national committee for mental hygiene gifts amounting to $14,500. Mrs. Vanderbilt's gift was $14,500, and Mrs. Anderson's $40,000 in addition to her previous gift of $10,000.

Cincinnati, O.—A women's city club is to be formed in this city, after the order of the Men's City Club, and along the lines already pursued by the women of Chicago, Los Angeles and Boston, who are running their clubs very successfully. The organizations are non-political, and enroll from all classes of women to work for civic betterment. The first mass meeting of Cincinnati women toward organization is called for March 6.

Chicago.—Mrs. F. W. Priester, a sister of Alderman Jacob A. Hoy, will go on record as the woman for whom the ballot comes before marriage. Mrs. Priester, who married yesterday, had postponed the wedding in order that she and her husband might not be away on their bridal tour on primary day, February 23.

San Francisco.—Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, mother of William Randolph Hearst, has joined the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, and is to take an active part in the propaganda work at the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Notable visitors at the Exposition will be Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Astor and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt, of New York. Both couples have elected a yachting cruise through the Panama Canal as a means of travel, and are now sailing in southern waters on their way to the "Jewel City."

Minneapolis, Minn.—Miss Helen Keller, the wonderful deaf and blind girl, who was at one time totally dumb, recently told friends here that she hopes some time to be able to sing. To that end she is having her voice systematically trained by vocal teachers. Miss Keller is now on a lecturing tour of the country with her devoted teacher, Mrs. John Macy.

St. Louis, Mo.—Mrs. Surilda Mary Adamson enjoys the unique distinction of having had a "dead photograph" taken of herself. To prove her kinship by extreme resemblance to George Hite Cook, whose estate she is claiming as his sister, Mrs. Adamson posed as dead and produced the photo in a suit now pending. Cook's only photograph extant was one taken in his coffin.

Montreal, Que.—The petition of Mrs. Annie Langstaff that the bar of the Province of Quebec be ordered to admit her to the examinations preliminary to the study of law, was recently dismissed with cost by Judge St. Pierre, who ruled that "women barristers would be a manifest violation of public decency." Mrs. Langstaff is a McGill bachelor of civil law, and was the first woman to apply for the right to admission to the bar. The case has attracted wide attention throughout the Dominion.

Elizabeth.—Mrs. Mary C. Hill, 98 years old, is an enthusiastic motorist and attributes her good health to a daily spin in her motor, which she operates herself.

Denver, Colo.—Miss Maurine Daly, heiress to the wealth of the late Joseph Daly, millionaire mine owner of Cripple Creek and Leadville, is soon to marry Natal J. V. D'Ambrosio, once a factory boy in New York and now a student in the University of Colorado. The groom-to-be is the protegee of Miss Mary L. Pyle, a philanthropist of Flushing, N. Y., who sent him to Italy to study music and later sent him to the university.

Arlington, N. J.—Miss Edna Uhlig, suing Dr. Arthur H. Nylen, of Brooklyn, for $25,000 heart balm, declined to wed him when offered marriage as a settlement, saying that he did not consider it safe to accept marriage from him "at this late date." The case was thrown out of court by the judge.

Y. M. C. A. TO HOLD STATE CONVENTION

Thirty-eighth Annual Session to Be Addressed by Prominent Speaker.

New Brunswick, Feb. 25.—The young men's Christian Association of New Jersey will hold its thirty-eighth annual convention in the Presbyterian church, this city, Saturday and Sunday. It is expected that more than one hundred delegates will attend, including a large delegation from Plainfield. The convention theme will be "The Measure of the Christian Man."

President John Grier Hibben, of Princeton University, will deliver the convention address Saturday morning. Douglas Demarest, of Rutgers College, will preside. William Knowles Coffin, of Washington, D. C., also will make an address and will speak to the faculty and students of Rutgers College on Sunday morning.

The convention dinner will be held on Saturday. State Senator Aymen Sommers will preside. The welcome will be extended by Mayor Adolph Kuhn, of this city. The topic will be "The New Jersey Associations." Among the speakers will be F. Wayland Ayer, Camden; Adrian Lyon, Perth Amboy; William F. Sherman, Moorestown, and Winfred F. Frey, Camden.

A meeting for boys will be held in the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon, at which William H. Miller, of Princeton, and Charles R. Scott, of Newark, will speak.

Next Friday the annual conference of employed officers will be held, beginning at noon. Among the speakers will be Otis B. Read, of Burlington; C. H. Dreshman, Trenton; Henry A. Cozzens and Ivan P. Flood, Newark; H. D. Maydole, Somerville; Professor Alva Agee, New Brunswick, the Rev. John A. Bingham, pastor of the Second Reformed church, New Brunswick; S. LeRoy Smith, religious work secretary of the Newark association; S. M. Lipscomb, Perth Amboy; S. J. Robbins, Summit, and Olof Gates, Elizabeth.

YOUNG FOLKS TO PRESENT PLAYLET AT THE PARK CLUB

A three-act comedy playlet, entitled "Next Door," will be presented at the Park Club tomorrow night, under the auspices of the Young People's Association of the Park Avenue Baptist church. The cast of characters includes the Misses Marjorie Robinson, Martha Casner, Elizabeth Mills and Madeline Pennington; William F. Doane, Walter Webber, Irving J. Pratt, Fred Mills and Elwood Waller. Rehearsals have been under way for several weeks and a very pleasant evening's entertainment, is assured, as the lines of "Next Door" bring about many ludicrous situations.

Following the performance at the Park Club, the members of the cast and their friends will adjourn to The Ritz where they will enjoy a supper and a dance.

LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS.

Trenton, Feb. 25.—Both Houses of the Legislature adjourned yesterday afternoon until next Monday evening, but before the lawmakers left they introduced thirty-seven more bills, seven in the Senate and thirty in the Assembly. Among the bills introduced in the Assembly was that of Assemblyman William N. Runyon, of Union county, allowing the salary of the chaplain of the Soldiers' Home at Kearny to be increased to $1,500 preparatory to his retirement on a half-pay pension.

Weissisms No. 9

There may be some in Plainfield who do not fully understand what the word Rexall means and just how it is a protection—a guaranty of satisfaction — to customers of Weiss' Rexall store.

Generally the best druggist in town is a Rexall druggist—because all Rexall druggists are part of a national organization associated for the purpose of studying and creating the highest possible efficiency methods for retailing drugs and drug sundries.

When you come into Weiss' Rexall store you'll get what you ask for unless it happens to be out of stock—in our complete stocks a very rare occurrence.

You owe it to yourself and to your family to patronize a store which serves its customers with such care and such honest merchandise as does Weiss.

We issue Library votes with all purchases.

PERMANENT PROSPERITY

is based upon the saving habits of the individual. The man who has no real conception of thrift may make a fortune but he is quite likely to lose it, whereas there are many people in affluence today who attribute their success to their ability to save systematically.

It is to encourage this kind of thrift that the Plainfield Trust Company conducts a Special Department in which 4% compound interest is paid. An account opened before the fourth of any month will draw interest from the first.

ANTIS ARGUMENTS PREVAIL WITH AUDIENCE AT SUFFRAGE DEBATE

Held Under the Auspices of the Democratic Club in the Plainfield High School Auditorium Last Night—Well Known Speakers Give Their Views Pro and Con—Enthusiasm Evidenced Over Remarks—Debate Left to Keenly Interested Listeners to Decide.

Representative men and women, many of whom are prominent and influential civic workers, attended the suffrage debate conducted in the Plainfield High School Auditorium last night, under the auspices of the Plainfield Democratic Club. A conservative estimate of the attendance places the total figure at 1,000, the number of men and women listeners being about evenly divided. Admission fees and individual voluntary contributions brought a surplus of $84 for the aid of the unemployed in Plainfield.

Richard A. Claybrook, president of the Democratic Club, presided at the meeting, and the address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Leighton Calkins. The speakers were: Suffrage, Senator Charles O'Connor Hennessey, of Bergen county, and Miss Alice Hill Carpenter, of Boston; anti-suffrage, former Assemblyman John A. Mathews, of Newark, and Miss Lucy Price, of Cleveland, O. Miss Janet Richards, of Washington, who is well known throughout the country for her interesting talks on current events, sat on the suffrage side of the rostrum, but took no active part in the discussion. A delegation of local workers from each side occupied seats on the platform, and prominent city officials and political workers acted as vice-presidents.

The addresses were of an eloquent and convincing nature, particularly those of Miss Price and Mr. Mathews, and considerable applause was accorded each of the debaters at the end of their allotted periods. Refutation on both sides was noticeably weak, particularly that of the suffragists, who made only a feeble effort to combat points brought out by the "antis." On both sides there was a noticeable prominence of glittering generalities, which were left undeveloped by the speakers. When the respective sides rested their cases the audience was left to decide for itself whether or not suffrage was needed in New Jersey.

The following points were mentioned by the speakers:

FOR.

1. Suffrage will not make women masculine.
2. Feminine voice needed in domestic legislation.
3. What is wrong for woman is wrong for man.
4. Suffrage would make the government more democratic
5. Busineess women are entitled to the right to demand recognition.
6. Votes for women would mean municipal ownership of public service utilities.
7. You can't effect the government unless you participate in it, and feminine participation would mean pure food legislation and other reforms.
8. The ballot would give women fundamental economic protection.
9. Women are mentally and morally able to exercise the ballot.
10. Granting the vote will not mean that woman will necessarily aspire to public office.
11. Women legislators would be independent.

AGAINST.

1. It is better to maintain a non-political, non-voting class.
2. There is no sex interest in law-making; race interest predominates.
3. Men's political service lies in the use of the ballot and woman's lies in what she can do out of politics.
4. Public opinion is born and bred in the home, and if you give woman the ballot you are going to destroy the home.
5. Women who have accomplished great public good have come from the State in which suffrage is not enjoyed.
6. In States where women have been given school suffrage they have exercised the privilege but little.
7. Suffrage would make more twenty-minute politicians.
8. Women not needed to mother the government.
9. Suffrage doubles electorate without increasing efficiency of the government.
10. Ninety per cent. of the women oppose suffrage.
11. Suffrage is against nature.
12. Duties of citizenship not consistent with motherhood.
13. Feminine politics would cater to but one class of women.
14. Suffrage would endanger society.
15. Women already have equal opportunity to gain an education and make good in the professional world.

RECEPTION GIVEN TO DR. AND MRS. HERRING

Pastor's Aid Society Holds Social to Mark Sixth Anniversary.

The Pastor's Aid Society, of the First Presbyterian church, tendered a reception to Rev. Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Herring, in the chapel of the church, last night. The affair was largely attended and successful. The evening was spent in a general social way and a musical program added to the enjoyment of those present.

The event marked the sixth anniversary of the reception tendered the pastor and his wife upon their return from their wedding trip. Grove P. Hinman, who was in charge of the reception last night, presented Mrs. Herring with a bouquet of flowers. Miss Ruth D. Sadler and F. Clyde Doane, members of the church choir, with Mrs. Herring and Alva Dunham, rendered several pleasing quartet selections and duets. Allen E. Beals made a short speech during the evening and Miss Georgia Ricker gave recitations. A minuet was given by Irving Hinman and little Miss Keenan. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Smalley's Market.

Smalley Brothers are still kept busy trying to supply the demand for their famous sausage, and the out of town orders become larger with each week. The reputation which this toothsome preparation has gained has made it necessary to manufacture more this winter than ever before, and shipments are being sent for hundreds of miles by parcel post. They are also supplying a large trade with their own splendid rendering of lard. In the poultry line at the present time Guinea hens are especially attractive, and the market offers some unusually fine birds to their customers. They also are carrying a fine line of roasting chickens.—Adv. ***

DAY OF PRAYER FOR MISSIONS OBSERVED

Federation of Women's Societies Gather at Temple Baptist Church.

In accordance with the custom observed throughout the country, the Federation of Women's Home Mission Societies, of Plainfield, gathered in the Temple Baptist church, yesterday, for the purpose of holding the annual day of prayer for home missions. The attendance was quite large and so much enthusiasm was displayed the suggestion was advanced that the meetings be held more often.

The session of prayer was preceded by a devotional in charge of Mrs. E. C. Conover. At its conclusion Miss Julia J. Noll, who is chairman of the home mission committee, took the chair for the observance of prayer. There were four subjects, each one having several sub-divisions. These were: "The Home," "The Church," "The School" and "The Government." Explanations of the divisions were made by the following: "The Home," Miss Noll; "The Church," Mrs. Birney S. Hudson; "The School," Mrs. Sarah Wardner; "The Government," Mrs. Thomas C. Bodine. The prayers were interspersed with hymns appropriate to the occasion.

The observances of prayer for the home and foreign missions had their conception with the Presbyterian Board of Missions in 1888, and it became interdenominational eight years later. There is also a week affair which is observed for the missions once each year and the ready response made by the Plainfield women yesterday was one of the factors in leading to the idea of a gathering perhaps every six months. The suggestion will be considered more seriously at some future date.

CURTAIN TO LIFT ON CANDIDATES

Aspirants in Press Trans-Continental Trip to Be Announced Tomorrow.

ROOM FOR ENTRANTS

Unique Contest Has Aroused Unusual Interest and the Contest Promises to Be Exciting From Start to Finish.

Tomorrow will be the first big event in the Press' Trans-Continental Tour Contest, for tomorrow the first list of candidates' names will appear, something everybody has been waiting for. The public will have a chance to know who to vote for, those who have been waiting before entering to see who has entered in their district already will have their wish gratified, and those who have entered will learn who they are to compete against and plan their campaign accordingly.

The next big event to follow will take place next Tuesday, when the first vote announcement will be made. Then it will become known who have been on the hustle since the contest started.

Vote-Closing.

Those who want their vote to appear in next Tuesday's announcement should have their ballots and subscriptions at the Press not later than 6 p. m. Monday, March 1, in order to have them counted to appear in Tuesday's issue of the Press. Any votes received after the above hour will appear in the following count.

Y. M. A. GIVE "THE DEACON ENTANGLED"

Three Act Play Pleases Large Audience at Hope Chapel.

"The Deacon Entangled," the second annual play given by the Young Men's Association, of Hope chapel, scored a hit before a large audience at the chapel, last night. The play, a farce, presented many amusing situations which kept the audience laughing almost continuously. The cast of ten characters filled their respective parts with credit.

John Heron, as "Calvin Spangler," a pinch hitter of the big leagues, made the hit of the evening with his baseball talk which shocked his relatives, "Deacon Penrose" and his wife, those parts being taken by Marcus Bradford and Miss Eunice Eckert, respectively. Richard Schott, as "Rev. Dr. Sopher," a strong supporter of foreign missions, took his part well. Miss Josephine Snyder, "Deacon Penrose's" daughter, who was in love with George Leighs, alias "Harry Baxter," a sporting writer, and Ruth Delehunt, as "Georgie Sopher," Dr. Sopher's daughter, who fell in love with Spangler at first sight, both took their parts in an excellent manner. Ernest Luthman, as "Kate," the maid, and David Wardrop, the plain clothes-man, a policeman, also received their full share of applause.

Between the acts Richard Schott entertained with a monologue entitled "Hard Luck Cohen. Mrs. E. F. Stoeckle rendered an overture on the piano. On behalf of the play cast, John Heron presented Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, the coach, with a bouquet.

The cast follows: Deacon Penrose, Marcus Bradford; his daughter, Ruth, Miss Josie Snyder, his wife, Miss Eunice Eckert; Rev. Dr. Sopher, Richard Schott; his daughter, Georgie, Miss Ruth Delahunt, Calvin Spangler, John Heron; Harry Baxter, sporting writer, George E. Leighs; policeman and plain clothesman, David Wardrop; Kate, the maid, Ernest Luthman.

The executive committee consisted of John Martin, business manager; Arthur Grisley, assistant business manager; Thomas Heron, stage manager; Guy Snyder, assistant stage manager; Richard Schott, chairman of committee, and Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, director and coach.

DOLLAR DAY.

Dollar Day will be repeated tomorrow by Plainfield merchants. Many bargains are advertised in today's Daily Press. Wednesday's offerings will be repeated because the inclement weather prevented hundreds of shoppers from taking advantage of the offers made them. Those who took advantage of the opportunities offered on Wednesday found many bargains, and they have told their friends about them, so that the prospects are that tomorrow will be one of the liveliest days from a merchandising point of view, that Plainfield has ever seen.

H. A. SCARLETT WEDS MISS K. V. HANKANT

Ceremony is Performed in West Hoboken by Rev. A. H. Atcheson.

Miss Kathryn V. Hankant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hankant, of West Hoboken, was married in the United Presbyterian church at West Hoboken, on Washington's Birthday afternoon to Harold A. Scarlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Scarlett, of Fairview avenue, the borough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. H. Atcheson, pastor of the church, and a large gathering of relatives and friends was in attendance.

Miss Hankant, who wore a gown of white silk with a tunic of lace and a hat to match, was attended by Miss Frances Robiole, of West Hoboken, as bridesmaid. The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations. Mr. Scarlett was attended by his brother, Edward Scarlett as best man. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The couple are residing there temporarily but will later make their home in North Plainfield.

Mr. Scarlett is a member of the Plainfield Motorcycle Club and he and his bride will enjoy a honeymoon by motorcycle some time in the spring. He is employed in the New York office of the Cunard Line steamship company.

RANDOLPH MARSH LAID TO REST BY LODGE BROTHERS

The funeral of Randolph Marsh, whose death occurred Tuesday, was held at his late residence, on Plainfield avenue, this afternoon. The service was in charge of Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel, assisted by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. A large gathering of relatives and friends were in attendance, among them being a representation from the Men's Bible Class, of Hope chapel, who with Mr. Marsh were members for more than twenty-five years. There were numerous floral tributes among them being set pieces from the lason mason's and painters union.

Burial was made in the family plot in Evergreen avenue, the following members of the Masons' Local Union acting as pallbearers: David Berry, Theodore Mason, James Lewis, John Lude, Thomas Davenport and Charles Sturtevant.

UNCLE SAM IS THOUGHTFUL.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 26.—The transport Thomas, which left here recently for Guam, and is due at that port today, carried some forty tons of provisions for the German sailors who are interned there. The Germans are Uncle Sam's guests. As there is only a small solony of white people at Guam, it was figured out at Washington that the sudden increase of population by the enforced stay of the Germans might create a shortage of provisions, and so the extra rations were put aboard to conserve the American reputation for hospitality.

COUNTRY FACES A GRAVE CRISIS

Miss Janet Richards Gives Impressions of Recent War Happenings.

ZONE PROCLAMATION

Speaker Says That Germany Treated U. S. Note of Warning as a Jest and a Mere Waste of Words—The Pope's Efforts for Peace Praised.

"There was no time during the Revolutionary War that our country faced as grave a crisis, as she faces now," declared Janet Richards, in her eighth talk on current events, in the Hartridge Auditorium, yesterday afternoon. The audience which taxed the auditorium to its capacity listened to Miss Richards as she talked primarily on the European conflict and matters of grave importance that come up in Washington. Miss Richards is in a position to speak with a great deal of knowledge of "inside affairs," being personally in touch with many of the governmental and foreign officials at the National Capitol.

"On February 4, Germany issued her war zone proclamation and gave the nations of the world until the eighteenth to withdraw their vessels from the condemned waters," said Miss Richards. "Ours was the first nation to protest officially and the contents of our note was published in all the papers. That note was to the effect that Germany would be held to a strict accountability for any damage that might be made to any American ship. Germany treated it

JACOB I. HILPOT DIES IN 62D YEAR

Heart Trouble is Fatal to Well Known Road Contractor.

Following an illness from which he had been a patient sufferer for the past year and a half, Jacob Irwin Hilpot, died at 6 o'clock this morning, at his home on East Fifth street. He had been confined to his bed for several months and his death had been expected during the past few weeks. Heart trouble was the primary cause of his demise.

Mr. Hilpot was a native of Erwinna, Bucks County, Pa., where he was born 62 years ago. He removed to Bound Brook in 1891 and resided in that place until five years ago, when he made his home in Plainfield. Mr. Hilpot made a study of road building and was considered one of the best contractors in the country. He was a partner in the firm of Hilpot & Ayers, general contractors, of Bound Brook, and when it was dissolved, took up the business individually. He was highly successful in his work and was completing several large undertakings when his fatal illness began.

Mr. Hilpot was twice married, his first wife being Miss Mary E. Johnke, of Erwinna. By this union there are two daughters surviving, Miss Minnie Hilpot, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. J. M. Pettit, of Metuchen. The second wife was Miss Elizabeth Swift, of Wilmington, Delaware, who survives him, and also two daughters, the Misses Elizabeth and Ethel Hilpot, both of Plainfield. Mr. Hilpot was a charter members of Jersey City Lodge, No. 211, B. P. O. E., and also a member of the Masonic Lodge at Bound Brook. In politics he was a Democrat, being active in political circles for many years. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

$10,000 FIRE IN BIG AUTO GARAGE

Thompson Company Suffered Loss Through Employe's Carelessness.

FIREMEN DO GOOD WORK

Flames Spread Throughout Entire Building Following Explosion of Gasoline and Threatened Surrounding Property.

Thoughtlessness on the part of an employe caused a fire in the garage of the A. C. Thompson Auto Company, on Park avenue, at 4:30 this morning, that did damage estimated at $10,000. Irving Mann, colored, of 411 Plainfield avenue, who had been engaged only yeserday as a night watchman, had finished his labors in cleaning a car shortly after 4 o'clock, and was preparing to go home, when the incident happened. In a search for his shoes, which he contemplated substituting for the rubber boots which he wore, the man struck a match, and instantly there was a loud report, and the washroom was enveloped in flames.

Gasoline in a receptacle nearby exploded, and the fire spread rapidly throughout the room. Mann was burned about the face and arms, and he raced panic-stricken to police headquarters, where he notified Captain Flynn. An alarm was sent in from Box No. 61, and when the firemen arrived the garage and salesroom resembled a raging furnace. Eight streams of hose and the pumping engine were brought into play, and some good work on the part of

CHARGED WITH NEGLECTING HORSES DURING RAINSTORM

Ralph Delibrio was arraigned before Judge W. G. DeMeza in the city police court, this morning, on the complaint of Mrs. Eva Van Hoesen, special agent for the S. P. C. A., who alleged that the defendant left his team of horses standing without blankets on Somerset street, under a driving rainstorm last week.

Winfield S. Angleman, who appeared as counsel for the defense, explained that his client was out of town when the incident occurred and that an employe was guilty of the inhumane act. This explanation was accepted by Martin Stutsman, counsel for the S. P. C. A., but he requested the court to instruct Delibrio not to repeat the offense. In disposing of the case Judge DeMeza severely reprimanded the Italian, who has been arraigned on similar charges before, and told him that a reoccurrence of the offense would mean a penalty.

UNION COUNTY AGAINST BAY BRIDGE EXPENSE

Elizabeth, Feb. 26.—A formal protest against financial plans for a traffic bridge over Newark Bay between Jersey City and Bayonne was sent yesterday to the Hudson County Freeholders by the Board of Trade of Elizabeth.

The protest is against Hudson and Union counties sharing the expenses equally, and demands that it be based on the populations and valuations of ratables of the two counties. Hudson county officials have approved equal sharing of the expense.

GROCERY COMPANY DINNER.

The Plainfield Grocery and Supply Company held a banquet in Truell Inn, last night, for the stockholders of the concern and their wives. Covers were laid for thirty-five. The dinner was followed by a short social session presided over by Dr. Marcus Clawson, who is vice president of the company.

FINANCE COMMITTEE MEETING.

The councilmanic finance committee will hold a meeting tonight to further consider the 1915 budget to be presented later on at a public hearing.

WILLIAM NEWCORN IMPROVED.

William Newcorn, of West Front street, who has been ill with neuritis, is much improved, and has returned to his office to resume practice.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Beills, of East Second street, attended a party in Bound Brook, last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chilson, of Sycamore avenue, have removed to West Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ulmer, of East Second street, have been visiting relatives in Coontown.

FEAR ANOTHER U. S. VESSEL LOST

Washington Hears Theodore Palmer, of New London, Has Hit Mine.

FRENCH BOAT IS SUNK

Dague Hits Austrian Mine at Antivari, Montenegro—Russians Announce Great Victory South of Vistula—British Statement.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Another American vessel probably has been lost in the North Sea, the State Department learned today from the United States Consul General at Copenhagen. The official reported the arrival of the Swedish steamer Vala at Esbjerg with a life boat belonging to the steamer Theodore Palmer, of New London, Conn. The boat was empty and showed signs of having been launched heastily. The fate of the Palmer or of her crew is yet unknown. She was a small freighter of limited tonnage and carried a crew of five men.

Facts laid before Consul General Listoe at Rotterdam indicate that the American steamer Carib was the victim of a mine, and was not sunk by a torpedo, according to a report by that official to the State Department.

Paris, Feb. 26.—The Ministry of Marine issued the following statement today:

"The French torpedo boat Dague, while conveying provisions for Montenegrins, struck an Austrian mine in the port of Antivari at 9:30 o'clock

PIERCE GIVEN AUTHORITY TO DISPOSE OF SHIPMENT

Through the order issued by Vice-Chancellor Griffin in the Chancery Court at Jersey City Wednesday Theophilus Pierce, Sr., who was appointed as temporary receiver for Herbert L. Pierce, the missing New Market man, has been given authority to dispose of ten carloads of flour now held at the New Market Roller Mills. It is possible that a profit of $4,000 will be realized and this will be used to satisfy certain claims.

The flour has been on a siding at the mills for some time and the rise in the flour market has resulted in an increased value being placed on the consignment. Although the receiver announced that he would continue running the mills it was reported today that the concern would close down within a few days.

SELECT BATTLE LINES.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 26.—The final campaign plans of the Federal League will be made today and tomorrow at the big pow-wow of the leaders, which opened here this morning. The first thing to come up is the decision on shifts of the battle line. For some months rumors have floated around the baseball world that Newark will supplant Kansas City, and it was even said that the Indianapolis team would be plucked from the Hoosiers to fill the trenches before New York city. Just what will be decided upon only the league magnates know. Something big in the way of a surprise is apt to come off. The shifting of teams may be still more extensive.

Then there is the schedule of games to be perfected. This has been held back until the moguls settle their differences as to location of teams. Some important trades of players also may be announced, for it is believed the magnates will try to equalize the strength of the revised teams by spreading out the new talent taken from the organized leagues.

REINHART RAINER DIES AT HIS SON'S HOME

Reinhart Rauner, aged 84 years, died at the home of his son, Reinhart Rauner, Jr., on Grove street, at 6 o'clock, last evening, following an illness with heart disease. The deceased had practically been an invalid for the past three years and during his short residence here had never been seen on the streets of the borough.

Mr. Rauner was born at Alsace, Germany, which is located on the French border. At the time of his birth, Alsace was in the possession of the French government. At the age of eighteen years Mr. Rauner emigrated to this country, locating at West Point, N. Y. After a residence of a year or so in that place he joined the regular army, remaining in service five years.

In 1856 Mr. Rauner moved to a farm in back of Bound Brook, where he engaged in lumbering and farming. In 1908 Mr. Rauner and family moved to Mt. Bethel, where they lived for four years. From Mt. Bethel the family moved to New Brunswick, from where they moved to this place last April.

The funeral will be held from the late home Monday morning, Rev. Father Dunphy officiating. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

WILL BEGIN SEWER WORK ABOUT APRIL 1

Mr. Jamison, of the firm of the H. S. Corbin Company, the contractors, who will construct the borough's collecting sewage system, was in the borough in connection with the first shipment of sewer pipe, which will arrive here the first of the month and made arrangements with the Dunellen Lumber and Stone Company to distribute the pipe. Mr. Jamison also held an interview with Borough Engineer Churchill and Mr. Churchill told a reporter yesterday afternoon that the Corbin firm expects to commence work on the construction of the system the latter part of March.

Mildred Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Harrison, of Front street, has recovered from an attack of measles.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Education will be held in the Lincoln School, Tuesday evening.

The Evening Card Club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carpenter, on Prospect avenue, this evening.

Miss Ernestine Richter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Richter, has been assisting about the office of Michael T. Moynihan, Inc., for the past couple of days.

Miss Lillian Garretson, one of the assistant postmistresses, is confined to her home with the grip.

Nelson Blackford, of New Market road, quietly celebrated his 77th birthday, yesterday. Mr. Blackford is hale and hearty and he spent the day in working about his home.

The account of the game between the K. K. K. Club, of Plainfield, and the regulars of Scout Troop No. 2, which was played on the Presbyterian courts last evening, will be found on the sporting page.

Edward and Grover, young sons of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Kookogey, of New Market road, have recovered from attacks of the measles.

Mrs. Henry Wiedenhaupt, of Madison avenue, is seriously ill with quinsy sore throat.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Piddington, Jr., of Whittier avenue, were recent visitors in Jersey City, where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Cromwell.

The Junior Auxiliary, of Holy Innocents' church, met with Miss Zella Kelly, of Prospect avenue, this afternoon.

The regular monthly meeting of the Mayor and Common Council will be held in the Council chambers Monday evening.

L. W. Trickler, of Fourth street, is confined to his home with the grip.

Mrs. Paul Reusch, of Washington avenue, who has been ill for the past week with pleurisy, has been showing steady improvement during the past couple of days.

John P. Faber, of Washington avenue, who has not been well for sometime, will take a vacation from his duties in New York for the balance of the month in the hope of benefitting his health. Mr. Faber is doctoring with Dr. Donohue, of New Brunswick.

Miss Alice Apgar, of Front street, has returned from Philadelphia, where she visited friends.

The employes of the Public Service Light Company were busily engaged yesterday in trimming trees along Washington avenue, north of the railroad tracks.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, the weekly session of the Juvenile Dancing Class will be conducted by Charles Cregar in the local theatre.

FIRE COMPANY MEETS.

The monthly meeting of Defender Fire Company, No. 1, was held in the Borough Hall, last evening. No business of importance was transacted.

INITIATE THREE.

Three new members were initiated at the regular weekly meeting of the P. O. S. of A., held in W. G. Holton Hall, last evening.

George Cameron, of New Market road, leaves for California tomorrow morning on a trip taken with the hope of benefitting his health. He plans to be gone six weeks.

Mrs. John W. Moynihan, of Bound Brook road, who has been critically ill since a stroke a week ago Tuesday, has shown no improvement in the past couple of days.

MRS. CHURCHILL IMPROVED.

Mrs. George W. Churchill, of Washington avenue, who has been critically ill with pneumonia and kidney trouble, showed a marked improvement this morning, as the fact that she called for nourishment will attest. Her family is now entertaining hopes for her recovery. Dr. M. J. Whitford is in sole charge of the case.

James Stewart Tunison, of Church street, has returned home after a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Giles and Mr. and Mrs. William Smalley, of Highland Park, New Brunswick.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Several new members were present at the meeting of the Belgian Society held at the home of the Misses Kyte, on Martine avenue, yesterday afternoon. Considerable work was accomplished. The women have received letters from the various hospitals and distributing stations in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. William Meyer, of Stout avenue, are the parents of a young son that arrived yesterday.

There is not likely to be a scarcity of persons to do the canvassing when the Fanwood Township Sunday-school Association undertakes a house-to-house religious canvass during the coming spring. A large number have already signified their intention of being at the meeting of the executive board of the association to be held in the lecture room of the Baptist church on the night of March 8. Plans will be formulated at that time and the canvassers given instructions. The blanks to be filled out by each householder were originally intended for a similar canvass that the Rev. Franklin K. Mathews, former partor of the Baptist church, had in view.

Miss Sadie D. Green is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Van Hoesen, of North avenue.

The weekly Friday social will be enjoyed by the young people of Scotch Plains in the Baptist church tonight.

Township Committeeman Samuel Hetfield, it is believed, has about the largest hogs in this section. He killed one this week that tipped the scales at over 600 pounds, and has several heavier ones still growing.

The regular meeting of the Sunshine Weavers was held last night, and the girls spent a profitable evening sewing for the missions. It was found that a considerable sum was realized from the recent candy sale, and the amount was turned into the treasury of the Lend-a-Hand Society.

The auditors are still working on the borough books, according to the annual custom. It is taking longer than usual because of the growth of Fanwood.

Miss Hazel Gardiner and Octavus Knight, residents of Martine avenue, attended the dance given in the Westfield Golf Club's clubhouse last night to the members of the cast that presented the "Pirates of Penzance," in the Westfield Theatre, several weeks ago. Both are active members of the club and took part in the presentation of the play.

COURT PERMITS THE TRANSFER OF SECURITIES

Elizabeth, Feb. 26.—Mrs. Maud E. Price, widow of Charles E. Price, of Plainfield, through her counsel, J. Henry Crane, applied to the court today for permission to transfer certain securities from various brokers in New York to the Liberty National Bank. The order was granted.

The securities were valued at $83,700, upon which $59,400 have been advanced. Mrs. Price desires to have the securities deposited in one place for convenience.

D. FRED AUNGST SPOKE ON LIFE OF LONGFELLOW

D. Fred Aungst, the supervising principal of Somerset School, gave a talk to the memers of Nort Plainfield High School this morning on "The Life of Longfellow," the event being in honor of the poet's birthday, which occurs tomorrow.

He entertained the students in a novel way, reciting many of the most famous of Longfellow's poems, including the prelude to "Evangeline," the "Village Blacksmith" and "The Day is Done."

SOMERSET COUNTY TEACHERS TO HOLD SESSION IN RARITAN

The teachers of Somerset county public schools will hold an institute at Raritan tomorrow morning. The program includes three speakers, including D. Fred Aungst, of the borough schools. He will speak on the subject of "The Child Through Literature."

Others who will speak are Miss Bernice Beekman, of this city, on "The Work in the Fresh Air School," and Dr. E. F. Graff, of Somerville, on "Common Diseases of School Children." The Raritan school teachers will serve luncheon at noon.

EXCELLENT INVESTMENT OFFERED TO PLAINFIELDERS

The Common Council, at its meeting Monday night, will offer for sale $100,000 bonds for the purpose of erecting a grammar school on Evergreen avenue. It has been suggested that this affords an excellent opportunity for Plainfielders to make a safe investment if they desire to do so. The city would be willing to dispose of these bonds to Plainfield people. They will be of $1,000 denomination each, and anyone having $1,000 or more would find this a safe and profitable way of investing their money.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST CHURCH ACTIVITIES

The bi-monthly celebration of the Lord's Supper will be observed tomorrow morning.

The Men's Club will meet Sunday evening at 8 o'clock when an entertainment consisting of pictures reflected on a screen by a lantern to illustrate a talk called "To California and Return in Sixty Minutes," will be given by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hubbard.

The committee appointed to have charge of the annual meeting of the church in April consists of Alexander W. Vars, chairman and moderator; Rev. Edwin Shaw, Mrs. Orra S. Rogers, Miss Nan E. Randolph and Miss Mary L. Hunting.

MINSTREL SHOW.

The Dunbar Social Club, under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Anderson and the Public Recreation Committee, will give its first minstrel show at the Washington School tonight at 8 o'clock. The club has prepared an attractive show with plenty of singing and dancing. Kline and Ford, known as Plainfield's funniest colored men, have been assigned to the ends and they will have an abundance of good jokes.

ATTENDED LADY MINSTRELS.

James Stewart Tunison, of Church street, attended the Foster's Lady Minstrels entertainment given Goodwin Council, No. 32, Jr. O. U. A. M., of New Brunswick, in New Brunswick Hall, Wednesday night. About 400 guests were present. Music was furnished by Cortelyou's Orchestra. Refreshments were served by a New Brunswick caterer.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual business meeting of the McAll Auxiliary will be held Wednesday morning, March 3, at 11 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. Reports will be given and news of the work in France will be presented.

VISITED SCHOOLS.

Claude Jeffries, manual training instructor in the Somerset School, visited the manual training department of the New Brunswick High School this afternoon.

FIRE IN AUTO GARAGE

the firemen checked a blaze that gave every indication of developing into a holocaust in the area between Sycamore street and Park avenue, from East Fourth street to the center of the block. A short distance from the heart of the blaze stands a large barn owned by Frank Hedden, the liveryman, and had this structure become ignited it is probable that adjoining buildings, including the wholesale grocery of L. F. Hersh & Bro., would have been in the conflagration. As it was, the firemen deemed it best to notify the occupants of the adjoining brick buildings to be ready to vacate their premises at an instant's notice. This was rendered unnecessary, however, by the confinement of the fire to the Thompson property.

Housed in the burning structure were fifty automobiles owned by the company and various individuals, representing a total value of many thousands of dollars. A few of these machines were pushed from the building, but a majority of them were left standing in the veritable furnace during the two hours that the flames raged. Fifteen of the cars were charred, some having the upholstery completely burned out, while others were damaged about the body and the hoods were destroyed. Automobiles of all makes and values were included in the loss, but in a majority of chses owners stated today that they carried sufficient insurance to cover the damage sustained.

A number of firemen working in the washroom with streams of hose had a narrow escape from serious, and perhaps fatal injury, when the sidewalls and roof collapsed, due to the intense heat.

The damage extended throughout the first floor, including the storage, sales and washrooms, and slight water and smoke loss was entailed in the second story. Pending the completion of reconstruction work, the Thompson Company will have its headquarters in the old building of the Spicer Manufacturing Company at Madison avenue and West Third street.

The garage is of concrete fireproof construction, and this caused the confinement of the blaze to the one structure. The company carries a large stock of gasoline, but this was stored in a fireproof vault under the Park avenue sidewalk and was unaffected by the heat.

MR. TAFT'S ADVICE.

Some one has said that every time former President Taft has opened his mouth since he retired as chief executive of the nation he "has put his foot in it." That certainly is not true of the speech which he made a few days ago before the Washington Association at Morristown, when he pointed out to his fellow Americans that it will be a very easy matter for us to get into the European war if we don't "watch our step."

There are a lot of jingo papers in the country which are criticising the administration for its attitude regarding the warring nations. These same papers, should we be drawn into the war, would probably take the other tack and blame President Wilson and his advisers for bringing it about. Mr. Taft says that unless we exercise great restraint in our dealings and our relations with the belligerents, we will be in the war before we know it. He thinks that the first thing that should be done is to muzzle all the jingoes that are crying for war and put under restraint all those interests which are behind such newspapers. The papers never want war on their own account, but are merely repeating what they are told to say by somebody else who has an axe to grind, no matter how seriously the nation becomes involved.

So far as the opportunity to get into the war is concerned, we have had that ever since last August, and during all that time the people of the country have made it plain that they do not want to get mixed up in the bloodshed and carnage that is disgracing civilization. And what's more the American people will not get into the war unless they are forced into it by those plotting few whose interests will be advanced by such an attitude; interests which do not dovetail with those of the mass of the American people. If the country is pushed into war there will come a balancing to determine which is to prevail—the bulk of the people, who want peace, or the few, who will be better served by war with some of the belligerents of Europe.

The war in Europe is because of a clash of commercial interests—a matter, squarely, of dollars and cents. We have condemned the sacrifice of human life and destruction of property, the crippling of commerce and industry, the setting back of civilization in the interest of dollars and cents, over there. If we allow ourselves to be pushed or coaxed or fooled into taking part in this war we shall be on exactly the same level as the nations of Europe we have condemned.

If ever the people of this country are forced into war, at the worst it should not be possible to say that it was over a mere question of dollars, the interests of some petty monarchy of commerce which is not getting all the returns it would like to have. Let us above all other considerations determine now and for all other similar situations that we are not going to substitute the money chest for national honor. If we ever go to war it will be because our national honor would not allow us to do otherwise, not merely to make surer the garnering of more dollars.

FIGHTING WHITE PLAGUE.

The fight against tuberculosis is gaining ground. A report of the census bureau, just out, shows the death rate from tuberculosis (all forms) declined from 149.5 per 100,000 population in 1912 to 147.6 in 1913. The rate shows a continuous, though irregular, decline from year to year since 1904.

The encouraging feature of the report is that the reduction in mortality has been steady even if it has not been fast. Ultimate victory in the form of an irreducible minimum is possible and not improbable but it is going to take time.

People know the many evils that contribute to tuberculosis. When they appreciate them fully they will be more zealous in abolishing them or safeguarding themselves against them. When the disease has fixed its grip upon them they know what to do. The rules of science are simple enough but it takes will power to conform to them.

Care to avoid excesses in the first place, sunshine, fresh air, nourishing food and cleanliness are the essential weapons in the fight against tuberculosis. Combine these with treatment by a reputable physician and there is every reason for hope. If the physician is not available the various local organizations, such as the Anti-Tuberculosis League in Plainfield, offer everything that is necessary except the allies of physical and mental determination, two qualifications that the victim must himself furnish if the fight's to be a winning one.

The most difficult handicap is the foolish pride that views the city clinic as a public charity when it is in reality a great human benefaction in which the supporters and benefactors are plain tax-paying citizens who seek only to protect themselves and their own and make smoother the road to health and safety for others, just as they contribute to the common fund that creates fire and police bureaus.

Although we still believe in giving suffrage to women, there was nothing convincing presented at the debate last night by the suffragist speakers. Senator Hennessy said something about "operatic flowers that bloom in the spring," and had he been describing his own arguments he could have formed no better phrase. It took him six minutes to first mention suffrage, and twelve minutes before he presented the first reason why he thinks women should be given the vote. We know that there are plenty of good arguments in favor of suffrage, but they were not presented last night.

"I don't wish to take your paper any longer, as I will read the Fatherland and Irish World," writes a German subscriber to the Daily Press. We suspect that in the journals she has picked out her idea of neutrality will be fully expounded.

The contributing editor for tomorrow will be A. B. Jones, president of the Recreation Committee, and a man who has given valuable time and assistance in furthering this splendid work.

WAR NEWS

Wednesday night, and sunk. Thirty-eight men of her crew disappeared with her. The accident did not prevent the successful termination of the provisioning operation, and the normal return of the convoy.

It is officially announced that four forts at the entrance of the Dardanelles were destroyed in yesterday's bombardment by the combined British and French fleets. The Allies fleets have entered the straits and mine sweeping has already been begun.

The Marine Ministry also announced that the French armored cruiser Desaix made a demonstration at Akaba on Tuesday. A landing party, supported by guns of the ship, dispersed and pursued a small Turkish force occupying the village.

The French war official statement given out this afternoon says:

"The Belgian army recaptured yesterday a small part of a trench which it had lost a moment before. The English army repulsed a German attack in Belgium and on the other hand gained one hundred yards on the La Bassee highway.

"The German artillery showed very great activity in the valley of the Aisne. Our batteries reduced it to silence in the afternoon.

"In Campagne our progress continues in the forest to the northwest of Perthes, and to the north of Mesnil Les Hurlies the fighting continues. In the valley of the Meuse we destroyed a shelter erected for rapid fire guns before Jumelles d Orns, and rent the enemy's trenches.

"In the forest of Apremont the Germans have been driven from numerous points of communications between their trenches. They have suffered serious losses and have abandoned on the ground a number of shields used for protection and other implements."

Rome, via London, Feb. 26.—The Russian Embassy announces that great Russian success has been achieved south of the Vissula, near Molinoff, the opposing German forces having been badly cut up.

London, Feb. 26 (Central News Cable).—The operations of the British forces in northern France and in Flanders in the last three days have been hindered by bad weather, culminating in a snowstorm, according to Field Marshal Sir John French's bi-weekly statement made public today.

In his statement he tells of an incident on February 24 in the neighborhood of Ypres, when a sergeant and a private of one of the British regiments held the lines of communication to one of the trenches for a considerable period without aid, shooting every German who attempted to advance upon their position.

Berlin, by wireless, Feb. 26.—Today's official war report consisted of only eight words as follows: "In both war theatres nothing important occurred yesterday."

The Cologne Gazette publishes a letter from Montevideo, which says an Argentine steamer has reported that seven British cruisers are lying severely damaged at the Falkland Islands.

Three members of the crew of the American steamer Carib were lost when the vessel was sunk in the North Sea, according to advices received here today. It is now understood that the Carib was lost off Borkum Island, near the spot where the Evelyn went down.

Amsterdam, via London, Feb. 26.—The Germans are constructing, at the cost of the city, an enormous bridge over the Scheldt River from Hoboken to Antwerp, in order to facilitate the crossing of heavy artillery.

Troop trains from the east are constantly passing through Aix La Chappelle in a westerly direction, according to the Echo De Belge, bearing large numbers of German troops.

Constantinople, Feb. 26.—The Turkish army headquarters states that three warships of the Allies were damaged in the bombardment of the Dardanelles Forts on February 25.

RELIEF FOR WAR SUFFERERS.

Through the officers and directors of the Plainfield Branch of the Needlework Guild of America $192.85 has been raised for the relief of French women and girls, and the Belgian mothers and babies in Lyons, France. Contributors to this generous fund are heartily thanked.

EXECUTOR'S BOND IS REDUCED BY COURT

Elizabeth, Feb. 26.—Lawrence R. Eddy, executor of the estate of John H. Eddy, of Plainfield, made application in the Orphans' Court here today for the reduction of his bond from $30,000 to $17,780, in view of the fact that one-half the estate has already been disposed of. The request was granted. Among the beneficiaries were Frank H. Martin, Harriet E. Martin and Mariette Martin.

The residuary legatees are John H. Eddy, Jr., William C. Eddy and Lawrence R. Eddy.

INTERESTING LECTURE IN IRVING SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

An illustrated lecture delivered by John M. Whiton in the auditorium of the Irving School, last night, proved a most interesting event to a large audience of listeners, the lecture being one of a series conducted by the Irving-Jefferson Parent-Teacher Association. Mr. Whiton has traveled extensively, and his description of foreign countries always creates interest.

Last night the speaker dwelt on "India and China," depicting the characteristics of those countries, and relating instructive bits of information regarding their customs and commercial enterprises.

COMPANY K TO TAKE PART IN BIG REVIEW

A delegation from Company K, N. G. N. J., will go to Trenton tonight and take part in a regimental review of the Second Regiment. Governor Fielder, of New Jersey, will be present and review the companies. The local soldiers will meet at 6:45 at the armory and march to the North Avenue station, where they will take a special train. The members of the three companies of Elizabeth and Company M, of Somerville, will also go on the same train.

The return of Captain Harry B. Kitchell to Company F, of Elizabeth, puts the local company second instead of first in the regiment. Captain Kitchell is senior captain.

WALTZ CONTEST TONIGHT.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Glaentzer were the winners of the prize waltz at Company K's fair last night, and will be among those to compete in the big contest scheduled for this evening. It will take place after another couple has been selected from an earlier dance, making five couples in all that will compete. The judging will be done by members of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, which organization will have charge of the fair tonight in the absence of the Company K boys. The latter will be in Trenton participating in the regimental review by Governor Fielder. Last night was observed as Junior night at the fair, and about seventy-five members of the local Junior council, together with a delegation from Company H, Uniformed Rank, were present.

COUNTRY FACES A CRISIS

as a jest and said, 'What if we do sink your ships, what will you do? Are you prepared for war?' She told us that it was a mere waste of words to protest. For us it was better to wait in patience and moderation than to go to war with the awful remuneration, that of loss of life. But if they seize or destroy our ships our Government must retaliate and restrain Germany. Germany says it would be our loss and responsibility if our ships went down, and two of them have gone down. Up to today sixteen ships have gone down since the 18th of February."

Miss Richards spoke of the number of ships of the foreign nations harbored in the ports of the United States, their only reason for not leaving being that they might be captured by the British fleet. She suggested that the American government could send a note to the belligerent nations saying we were forced to withdraw our hospitality to their vessels and shall be compelled to set them on the waters at their risk. The Hamburg-American Line would suffer the most in this case, as there are thirty-eight of her boats in the United States' ports with a valuation of $200,000,000.

"On the 16th of this month," continued Miss Richards, "our State Department sent a note to the foreign countries requesting that American ships be allowed to enter with foodstuffs, one of the rules of war is that neutral nations shall be able to send food to belligerent nations. Germany says England has broken these rules, therefore the declaration. Our Government offers its friendly services to both nations and says, 'we will send food to you and you stop the war zone declaration and let our ships go through.' Many papers say that Germany has no idea of such a concession, while others say that she will allow our ships to enter and administer our foodstuffs to the American consuls and consulary agents for distributions to the civilians.

"England is just getting to a position to fight and on May 1 she will have 1,000,000 trained men, to put in the field and she is sending 15,000 men daily to northern France.

"As is the policy of our present patient, friendly and long suffering administration, we are waiting for an answer to our overture and as a result we are skating on very thin ice. Every country is jealously watching us lest we make some concession to the other. We are between two difficulties, that of losing our cargoes by England and that of losing ships and cargoes by the German torpedoes. The time has come when our Government is considering the embargo of all shipments. As a result of the scarcity of food Germany has issued a call to all girls up to sixteen years of age to be taught agriculture. There is a new era for the women of Germany whether they want it or not and they stand ready to answer their country's call at the death of the men. The privileges and opportunities of the women of England, however, are limited. There is such a sex antagonism that they are not given a chance to do anything, not allowed in the universities, cannot obtain a degree or be admitted to the bar. One of our reports from Germany says that the first army ambulance surgeon is a women, appointed by the imperial staff, and she has the rank of sanitary officer and army surgeon."

Miss Richards spoke of the millions of men who work in the United States' factories, filling the huge orders for ammunition, guns, powder, shrapnel shells, etc. "This great industry in our country makes articles which kill other human beings," said Miss Richards, "and if we place an embargo on these goods there will be thousands of men thrown in the field of the unemployed. How will we meet it?"

The present efforts of the Pope Benedict XV. to bring about peace between the warring nations was warmly praised by Miss Richards, but she expressed doubt as to the effectiveness of either the project by the Pope or the neutral powers to bring about peace, because of the high point that the war has reached.

Miss Richards will continue her ninth talk on current events in the Hartridge Auditorium on the afternoon of March 11.

Animal Oddities.

More than 300 kinds of fish are known to produce sounds.

In many parts of Asia and Africa the peacock is found in a wild state.

The adjutant, or marabout, a bird of India of the stork species, will swallow a hare or a cat whole. It stands five feet high, and the expanse of its wings is nearly fifteen feet.

The green turtle is not a vicious creature to handle, like its snapping Japanese brother, but its fins are very strong, and one blow from them is quite sufficient to break a man's arm.

Town Topics.

"Pay as you sit down" is being advocated in Chicago for bettering the car service. It might work wonders.—Springfield Republican.

Boston is pronounced to be still "the Hub," since the "three R's" are taught harder there than anywhere else in the country—Roverring, Roverting and Reminiscing.—New York Sun.

New York has been told time and again that it is the wickedest city on earth, but the church bells keep ringing and the bread lines go on doing business just the same.—Washington Star.

Recent Inventions.

To keep the base lines of ball grounds dry when it rains a Pennsylvanian has patented a canvas cover easily rolled for removal.

Guns that automatically load themselves with acetylene gas and discharge themselves to sound of signals have been invented by a Scotchman.

A newly invented fire alarm, operated by a weight falling when a fusible link is melted, not only rings a gong, but also fires several blank cartridges.

SEARCHLIGHTS IN WAR.

How They Are Worked by Distant Control In Land Operations.

In modern warfare the searchlight is invaluable. On dark nights at sea it is the only means of guarding against torpedo boats, which its beams will reveal at a distance of two miles and more.

On shore it is the electric eye of the army. It is carried to all parts of the field of action by motor truck, and the motor that propels the vehicle drives the electric generator that supplies the current for the light.

Most of these field searchlights are not directed by hand, for each instrument is fitted with what is known as the distant control. Two small motors govern the vertical and the horizontal movements of the light. From them an electric cable runs to the station of the operator, who, although he may be several hundred feet away, can send the rays of the light in any direction he pleases.

According to the Navy and Army Illustrated, one advantage of this distant control is that the objects picked up by the beam of light can be sighted more quickly and more definitely, for if the operator stands behind the light and looks along the beam his vision is hampered by a luminous haze. A second advantage is that the light can be placed in an exposed position without endangering the men who run it. Were the operator and officer beside the apparatus they would be certain to receive the fire that is sure to be poured upon a searchlight and would suffer the instant the range was found.

VIRTUE OF AN APPLE.

At One Time the Fruit Was Called the "Food of the Gods."

The apple has become so familiar as the commonest of all fruits that its value as man's greatest friend in the vegetable kingdom may not be fully realized. It was called the "food of the gods" because it was believed to be the magic renewer of youth to which the gods resorted when they felt themselves growing old and feeble.

There have been many mystic traditions about the apple, which has been credited with varied potency. It is the healing fruit of the Arabian tales. Latin chronicles and institutes and early English poems contain many references to it. Scientific analysis of late years has justified all the ancient glorification of this fruit, which has been found to contain albumen, sugar, gum, malic acid, gallic acid, fiber, water and phosphorus.

Malic acid of apples neutralizes the excess of chalky matter caused by too much meat and thereby helps to keep us young. Apples are good for the complexion, as their acids drive out the noxious matters which cause skin eruptions. They are good for the brain, which those same noxious matters, if retained, render sluggish. The acids of the apple diminish the acidity of the stomach that comes with some forms of indigestion.

The phosphorus, of which apples contain a larger per cent than any other fruit or vegetable, renews the essential matter of the brain and spinal column. —Boston Herald.

Does Your Spine Shiver?

"A shivering spine," said a psychologist, "is the one infallible proof of an artistic temperament. Does a shiver run up and down your spine when you listen to beautiful music or read a lovely poem or look at a superb painting? If not the gates of art are closed to you forever. All great artists and all good critics experience this shivering sensation of the backbone before a worthy work of art. Some of these men use the shiver as a measure. The work that does not evoke it they pronounce a failure. My own spine shivers best to music. The violin solo that precedes the last act of Massenet's 'Thais' sets up in me a tremolo movement that wrinkles the back of my coat."—Exchange.

Napoleon as an Editor.

The Almanach de Gotha was already of sufficient importance over a century ago to prompt a dispatch from Napoleon. On Oct. 20, 1807, he wrote to Champagny, his foreign minister, complaining that "the latest edition of the Almanach de Gotha is full of errors, no account having been taken of the changes wrought by me in Germany. Tell the minister from Gotha to call on you and inform him that this must be set right in the forthcoming edition. Insist on seeing the section devoted to Germany before the edition is published."

WINDS THAT WHISTLE.

The Sounds Come Only When the Air Waves Meet Resistance.

Did you ever notice that although you may feel the force of the wind when you are out in it, you do not hear it whistle unless you are close to a building? This is because the sound is produced according to the same principles as apply to the production of the tones of a pipe organ or any instrument on which the tones are produced by blowing.

In order to make the whistling sounds we hear from the wind it is necessary for it to blow against something. That is why we hear it when we are in the house or some other building.

The whistling is caused by the wind blowing past the sharp edge of some obstacle in its path or finding its way through small openings offering some sharp edged resistance.

If you blow through a long tube or pipe you will produce no sound, but if there is an opening with a sharp edge near the end where you blow the blowing will cause a distinct sound. It is on this principle that all small whistles, organ pipes and wind instruments of an orchestra are made.

Another way in which the wind produces sounds is by blowing against objects which vibrate. A curious instance of this is the humming volume of sound produced by the wind blowing through a group of telegraph wires and which may be noted, even when there is not a great force of wind, by placing the ear against a telegraph pole. —Boston Herald.

THE "FORLORN HOPE."

Real Meaning of a Misused Term In the Vocabulary of War.

In the tales of every war one hears a great deal about "forlorn hopes." The term is one of the most misused in the vocabulary of war. It is commonly understood to mean a desperate venture. It really means "lost troop"—that is, "detached troop."

The word "hope" in the phrase is not an English but a Dutch word, "hoop" meaning literally "heap" and secondarily body of troops. The word "forlorn" represents the Dutch "verloren" —lost. A "verloren hoop" was a detached body of troops thrown out in front of the main line of battle to find the enemy and engage them first. This was the regular sixteenth and seventeenth century practice, and, though it was one of the more dangerous kinds of service, it was not desperate or, in the English sense, forlorn.

Nowadays much the same work is done by the detached bodies of cavalry which are thrown out before the main line of battle without communications or supplies to find the enemy. "Capitulation" is another term of war which is very loosely used. It does not mean surrender, but surrender on terms. In fact, it means the terms, not the surrender. It is from the Latin "capitulum," or "heading" (from which is derived our word "chapter"), and a capitulation is a formal treaty of surrender drawn up under a series of headings or chapters embodying the terms on each point.—Manchester Guardian.

Teakwood.

The fact that teakwood is coarse grained, greasy to the touch and possesses an offensive odor kept it in disrepute with English shipbuilders until 1897, when British shipbuilding and railway interests began to recognize the value of Indian teak. During the next seven years all the shipbuilding countries in the world joined in an ever increasing demand for this timber until its prices were forced up to a figure much beyond their normal rates. It has practically become the staple of the local wood industry for the greater part of the entire Indian continent. Teak is being freely planted by the Indian forestry service in the important civil stations all over India, even as far north as Saharanpur, Debra Dun and Lahore.—Argonaut.

Paid the Fine.

A policeman in a country village where "cases" were rare one day came across his landlord in an incapable state. The chance was too good to be missed, so the landlord was summoned and fined to the amount of 14s. 6d. The fine was paid, but the policeman's feelings can be better imagined than described when, on reaching home, he found his rent had been raised sixpence per week, and so it continued for twenty-nine weeks, when the landlord coolly informed him that he had paid the fine and could have his house at the former rent.—London Answers.

Making a Distinction.

"What is the difference," asked the teacher, "between caution and cowardice?"

Johnny, who observed things carefully for so youthful a person, answered:

"Caution is when you're afraid and cowardice is when the other fellow's afraid."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Dear Baby!

"Does the baby go to sleep without much trouble?"

"Always, except on the nights we have company or want to go out."—Detroit Free Press.

Clear Enough.

"I can't understand that glassy stare she gave me."

"Why, anybody ought to be able to see through a glassy stare."—Baltimore American.

What an inaccessible stronghold that man possesses who is always in earnest with himself and the things around him.—Goethe.

Discuss the Full Crew Laws with Your Elected Representatives

The twenty-one railroads of Pennsylvania and New Jersey earnestly request that the people of those States have a heart-to-heart talk with their elected representatives at Harrisburg and Trenton, regarding the existing Full Crew Laws.

In making this request, the railroads ask only that the people—after giving the subject serious thought and due consideration—give their views to their district representatives and ask them where they stand on the matter.

The railroads merely request the people to discuss the subject sanely, dispassionately, without fear, favor, bias, or prejudice. They have already submitted the case to the court of public opinion. Whether the Full Crew Laws shall continue in force or be repealed is a question that the people can decide.

New Brunswick bowlers have captured the championship in the Elks' League for the season of 1914-15. They made sure of the title last night, when, on their own alleys, they took three games in a row from the Elizabeth pin-knights. The Newarks, by taking two games at Paterson, last night, not only knocked the Silk City pin-knights out of any chance for the championship, but also succeeded in stepping into fourth place themselves, tied with the Elizabeths. The Jersey City team rolled at home last night, and took two games out of three from the Hobokens.

OVERTON THE WINNER IN PARK CLUB PLAY

Wins First Place and Three Points in Handicap Five Back Tournament.

Tone Overton won the first honors in the weekly competition of the handicap five-back tournament at the Park Club, last night, getting a gross score of 176. This gave him three of the six points and the other three were divided evenly between C. A. Rice and Dr. Hubbard, each having a score of 172. Dr. Hubbard turned the best net mark, which was 166, but he was only allowed a six-point handicap.

C. A. Rice was the winner of the monthly average prize for February.

THIRD VICTORY FOR PLAINFIELD LASSIES

Another Runaway Race for Local Girl Athletes.

The "Plainfield Five" annexed its third consecutive victory, last night, on the Columbia Cluub court by defeating the T. A. M. team by a score of 36 to 10. The T. A. M. quintet was defeated last week at the hands of the West Front street lassies, and came back this week with a new line-up, and with the full expectation of giving the locals a severe drubbing. The home team was ahead all through the contest, and the score at the end of the first half, which was played with side centers, was 21 to 5.

Frequent fouls were called on the visitors, and in most cases were made good by Miss Helen Hummel, who caged 12 goals from the 15-foot line. The Misses Hummel were the principal point-getters for the Plainfield team, the former numbering 24 points for her team, and the latter 8. "Dot" Crane tallied two beautiful field goals for the T. A. M.'s along with a brace of fouls. "Lil" Spencer caged three foul goals.

Next Thursday the "Plainfield Five" will line-up in the preliminary against the Westfield Alumni girls.

TWO GAMES AT P. H. S.

The Plainfield High School boys' and girls' teams will meet the teams from Yonkers and Bloomfield, respectively, tomorrow afternoon, in the local gym, this double bill being one of the best attractions of the season. Both games are sure to be good ones becaue of past performances.

MARTIN LEFT TODAY.

Jack Martin left New York at 10 o'clock this morning for Petersburg, Fla., the training camp of the Philadelphia National League team. He has some competition for the shortstop position this year, having two other candidates to work against.

NO GAME FOR N. P. H. S.

The Leal cancellation for tomorrow leaves the North Plainfield five without a week-end contest and the next game scheduled is Tuesday with the West Orange aggregation.

HOPE'S WEEKLY GAME.

The Hope Chapel basketball team will play the Whitehouse Five, of Newark, in the Fourth street gym tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Columbus Club Squad Indulge in An Overtime Skit With W. F. A.

In the double-header at the Columbus Club, last night, the Knights of Columbus five lost an overtime game to the W. F. A., of Bound Brook, by a score of 28 to 26. After being completely outplayed in the first half, the locals, with new life, entered the second period and tied the score with the visitors, the tally being 26 to 26 when the whistle blew. Fully five minutes of wild shooting and close guarding followed. The Plainfield five frequently threw the ball, which rolled around the rim of the basket and dropped off.

The winning goal was won by Wahl, the star forward on the visiting team. The score at the end of the first half was 20 to 13 in favor of the W. F. A.'s. In the second period Brynairski took Sullivan's position at forward and caged a field goal and tied the score for the locals. Linke was the high score man for the locals, bagging 6 goals and 5 foul goals. Wahl was the star for the visitors, tallying nine goals and two fouls.

V. W. NASH, SR., NOW HOLDS RECORD MARK

Veteran Pinner Turns in a Remarkable Score on Elks' Club Alleys.

Judge Vincent W. Nash, Sr., of Prospect avenue, one of the familiar figures on the local Elks' bowling alleys, accomplished a feat, yesterday afternoon, that puts to rout Dr. Osler's theory that a man past the half-century mark in life is a "has-been." Pinning in a practice game the veteran alley enthusiast smashed the club record, turning a 286 on ten frames and a spare. The old record, 277, was established by Timothy Coyne, of the New Brunswick team, in an Elks' Senior League match.

Mr. Nash, who celebrated his seventy-first birthday last June, has been a devotee of the alley pastime for the last quarter of a century, and daily indulged in practice on the Watchung avenue lanes. He has several times before set up high tallies, and is recognized as one of the most consistent performers on the Jerusalem Lodge team in the Masonic Bowling League, holding down the anchor berth.

He is without a doubt the best bowler of his age in the State, and when seen by a Daily Press reporter last night he appeared to be considerably elated over his remarkable achievement. In breaking the club's individual high score record he turned a feat that men half his age have been trying to accomplish ever since the new B. P. O. E. building was erected. He is the father of "Bill" Nash, who captains the Elks' Snior League aggregation.

ZIMMERMAN DEVELOPING INTO A GREAT GOLFER.

Christy Mathewson declares that Heinie Zimmerman is a mighty hard man to beat on a golf course.

"I was playing with Heinie one day," said the pitcher of the Giants, "when he sliced his ball into an abandoned quarry. He went down into the pit and was gone for some time. After he came up I asked, 'How many did you play, Heinie?'

"'Three,' he answered.

"'Hold on, there,' I interrupted. 'I distinctly heard six strokes.'

"'Oh,' Heinie answered, 'the other three were echoes.'"

IT WAS A COLD, COLD DAY FOR BERT CUTLER

Albert Cutler, one of the members of the Champion Billiard Players' league, has a new winter story to tell. "Koji Yamada and I were to play in Flint, Mich.," says Cutler, "but we were carried beyond our station in a storm. We landed about seven miles from Flint and were told we would have a long wait. The waiting room at the station was just about big enough for the two of us and a stove.

"Pretty soon a handcar came down the tracks bound for Flint, and the Jap and I climbed aboard. We just about froze on the trip and were let off at a crossing from which we could get a trolley car for our hotel. After another long wait the car came along. But I had passed the kicking stage and was looking forward to thaw out with a good drink.

"When we reached the hotel I was so cold I couldn't register. But I smiled on the clerk and asked directions to the bar.

"'Sir!' said the clerk indignantly. 'This is a dry town!'"

one of the foremost American sportsmen. Captain Huston, his baseball partner, is a prosperous contractor and engineer who made a fortune in Havana. He once lived in Cincinnati and is a personal friend of John E. Bruce, secretary of the national commission. Joseph J. Lannin, owner of the Boston Red Sox, also is the owner of the Garden City hotel and much real estate in Boston. Benjamin Shibe is a big manufacturer in Philadelphia, besides being owner of the Athletics. Connie Mack is his partner.

The Washington club is the property of a local stock company, made up of some of the capital's most prominent business men, and is headed by Benjamin S. Minor, an attorney. Charles W. Somers, who was instrumental in helping build up the American league, is the owner of the Cleveland club. Frank Navin and W. H. Yawkey, a multimillionaire lumber merchant, are the owners of the Detroit club. Chicago is owned by Charles Comiskey, who has been identified with baseball for more than forty years, while the St. Louis Browns are the property of Robert Lee Hedges, formerly a manufacturer.

The Jap met Will Bingham, the champion middleweight of England, in New York recently and threw him easily. In fact, the match was a farce. Miyake hurled Bingham to the mat about fifteen times in as many minutes.

MAISEL'S OPINION OF HIS NEW BOSS.

Fritz Maisel, champion base stealer of the American league, went from Baltimore to New York to see his new manager and the new owners of the Yankees. After a short talk with Captain Huston the little third baseman expressed himself as entirely satisfied with the incoming secretary-treasurer of the club.

"The captain seems to be a mighty fine man," said Maisel, "but," he added, critically, "I'll bet he'd have a lot of trouble in stealing a base."

ANTIS PRESENT ARGUMENTS

The speeches follow in part:

MISS ALICE CARPENTER.

(Affirmative.)

"Every move toward greater liberty has its birth under the guise of a right. When the Constitution of the United States was drawn women had no education or property rights, and since man has been brought to realize that the time is coming for granting of these powers an agitation has arisen. Moutal and moral efficiency are the two reasons why women should be enfranchised. One hundred years ago women had no education, but now that their mental faculties are expanding they are taking a stand for equal rights, and the education of women in the nineteenth century cannot be used as an argument against equal suffrage. Together with the demand to vote, the women made a demand for labor, and today they are holding conspicuous places in the commercial field. While we were ignorant and untried men had a right to say that it was too great a risk to attempt to test woman suffrage, but now that we have brain and education, there is no apparent reason why we should not cast a ballot.

"The vote does not make women masculine, but, on the contrary, it supplies self-confidence and a greater degree of self-respect. The idea of what is masculine and what is not masculine changes as time goes by, and there are just as many effeminate men as there are masculine women today.

"There are two kinds of legislation in every State, domestic and economic. Men who oppose woman suffrage fear that women will make a muddle out of man's work. Men have a stronger hold on the legislation, because it is natural for one to be responsible to whom he is bound for service and one who has put him there.

"The vote has nothing to do with the holding of political position of any kind, and many women today hold positions, such as legal advisers and counting-house employes, without the right of franchise. The government is the means of attaining one end for which we are striving, 'the betterment of society,' and that is but one of the means. The country is irrevocably committed to self-government, and no one was ever enfranchised because it was better for them, but because it gave them the power to demand recognition. Hundreds of women are working for a living, and they need the vote as a means of demanding recognition."

MISS LUCY PRICE.

(Negative.)

"Women now have equal opportunities in professions and education, and the suffragettes' statement that we are disenfranchised is erroneous, because we have never been enfranchised. The question arises as to whether or not we are to be of greater service to the State if given the power to cast a ballot, and are we going to better the State by making a political factor out of every individual. Is it not better to have one great, solid, level-headed body of non-politically inclined to work for the good as it sees it without voting? The anti-suffragettes are a class who voluntarily surrender the vote because they believe that in doing so they render the country a protective good. We are in a class with the army and navy. We protect the country's welfare but do not demand a ballot.

"In giving women the ballot you don't get any better results governmentally, but you do endanger society. If you are going to be a feminine factor you can't bring about reform by catering to your dinner friends and dealing with one portion of the electorate. The right to vote demands that you round up all women, not a select few "Interests of men and women are identical, and the laws for one govern the other. There is no sex interest in laws; race interests rule supreme. Men's political service lies in exercising discretion in voting, and women's in what they do by keeping out of politics. Public opinion is born and bred in the home, and if you are going to give women the ballot, you are going to draw them all into politics, home life becoming a secondary consideration. This would destroy your great neutral faction. Women who have accomplished the greatest public good in the past have come from States where neither they nor their sisters have had votes. You can't make a thing more effective by taking a short cut, and the anti-suffrage faction is campaigning to thwart this hasty action of vote demanders.

"Therefore, in giving women the ballot we would both jeopardize home interests and invite a breaking up of the influence of the heretofore unbossed and unobligated feminine constituents of good government for the people and by the people."

Miss Lucy Price.

SENATOR HENNESSEY.

(Rebuttal.)

"Men in general say that the government is exercised by the people and for the people, but those opposed to women's suffrage tell us that lawmaking should be confined to one faction. Each man and woman is responsible for the life he or she lives, and accomplishments and conditions of communities are but a reflex of the lives of the people in them. It was not long ago that antis contended that we should keep women out of politics because it was a corrupt institution, but they now admit that conditions are improving. Corporations are against enfranchising women, because they believe that feminine politics will result in municipalities purchasing and maintaining their own needs that are now public service monopolies in New Jersey. The anti argument is one of distrust. You cannot affect government unless you participate in it."

ASSEMBLYMAN MATHEWS.

(Rebuttal.)

In some States women enjoy what is termed "school suffrage," and they have dispelled their duties negligently, and the interest required of the voter in municipal matters has not been forthcoming of the feminine sex. It is admitted that no betterment will be attained along domestic lines. Suffrage is not a right, and it remains with the State to determine the expediency of the proposition. In Colorado, where women have the vote, industrial chaos reigns, and this is ample refutation of argument for enfranchisement. The statement that women are needed to mother the government is political bunk, as shown by Colorado's experiment. Suffrage workers are asking you to double the electorate without promising a betterment of conditions. Ninety per cent. of the women oppose suffrage, and 10 per cent. are for it. Therefore to refuse it will be meeting with the desires of the people. The total number of women enfranchised is 900,000 less than the population of New York State, and the results attained where it has been tried show us that it is not wanted in New Jersey. When you double the electorate you double the corrupt vote and put the nation's efficiency back a century.

"Suffrage brings no betterment, but promises corruption and conditions adverse to the welfare of women. If you enfranchise the women of New Jersey you add to their burden of motherhood the burden of citizenship. You manufacture twenty-minute citizens, and that is what we've been trying to eliminate. If mothers of New Jersey continue to be mothers in the future we will have comparativeely few of these twenty-minute citizens in years to come. If you breakdown the barriers of sex you are going to sacrifice motherhood in the future.

"If women are to be a success in politics they must organize as men have, and this will require time and study. If they don't apply these principles they lose out."

SENTOR HENNESSEY.

(Summary.)

"In my estimation a great deal of argument for the cause is unnecessary, for the antis dwell on immaterial things, and we advocate the testing of the principles in a practican manner. Many women don't want the vote, but that's only natural. Many slaves didn't want emancipation when Abraham Lincoln advocated it, but that was because they were so used to being abused by slave masters that when someone told them to have their freedom would be detrimental to their welfare they believed it. But if one slave didn't happen to want his freedom, that is no reason why the whole army of slaves should be tied up with masters. Suffrage is based on the same principle.

"Voting is simply a question of fundamental economic justice, and it is of the highest political expediency that this question be settled in New Jersey. At some future time women are bound to be enfranchised and given full power to participate in the making of laws."

ASSEMBLYMAN MATHEWS.

(Summary.)

Statistics presented by my opponent indicate that 90 per cent. of the women and all of the men consent to be governed. Abraham Lincoln never appeared on the public platform to talk on suffrage, but when the slaves of the South were freed at his instigation, it was the sending of a God-given, unalienated right to this class, and Lincoln was but the medium through which it came. God never gave the ballot to women.

"Fundamental economic justice is a technical term used to decide this movement by women. The main issue, however, is the enfranchisement of women, and will it better the State? A mother today is just the same, as far as the motherhood goes, as a mother of years ago, and this near philosophy expressed by suffrage workers has no more to do with the question than the European war has. This reform has been termed by some as being even against nature, for nature assigned specific life duties to each sex. The increased burden of the duties of citizenship on the woman would be detrimental to the race and would cause a consequent sacrifice in the home.

"Men of Plainfield, see that you will not have this duty thrust upon your women next year, and I predict that next September will see the defeat of suffrage in New Jersey by 50,000 votes."

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Hats off to the township of North Plainfield, which, however, is quite distinct from the North Plainfield borough. In 1914 the township tax rate was thirty points lower than in 1913; the police court costs less than $100 a year to maintain; the fire department has been equipped with a chemical apparatus without cost to the township; there is no bonded debt, and no money was borrowed last year in anticipation of taxes exceeding the amount due from delinquents and other dilatory sources, and during the past year a revaluation of property was effected, resulting in additional taxes being collected. North Plainfield township has only about 900 inhabitants, but the voters seem to know how to elect a Township Committee capable of providing an unusually efficient and economical government. It might be well for officials in larger municipalities to ride over to North Plainfield township and see how it is done.—Newark Evening News.

MISS GRACE M'CAFFREY DIES IN MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL

Miss Grace E. McCaffrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCaffrey, of South Plainfield, died in Muhlenberg Hospital, last night, following a long illness. She was nine years old and beside her parents is survived by one sister, Mary McCaffrey, and four brothers, John, Francis, George and Hugh McCaffrey.

The funeral will be held in the Sacred Heart church, South Plainfield, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, and burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery, this city.

ENDEAVORERS OF WARREN CHAPEL HOLD A SOCIAL

The Christian Endeavor Society, of Warren chapel, held a social in the church parlors, last night. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Miss Dollie Bolsterle, chairman; Miss Bertha Hoagland and Mrs. Kate Schenck.

Games were played during the evening and refreshments were served by the social committee. As the guests went into the refreshment room they were received by George and Martha Washington, these characters being impersonated by Miss Try Mattox and George Hoagland.

The "Made In U. S. A." campaign is to extend even to husbands—American girls are agreeing to marry the home product. But doesn't this amount to an unneutral rule against exporting the munitions of matrimony?—New York Sun.

Household Helps.

After frying onions pour a little vinegar into the frying pan, let it get hot, and it will remove all smell from the pan.

When emptying feathers from one pillow to another sew the opening of one to the other and you will not waste your feathers.

If you have any poison in the house tie a tiny bell to the bottle neck, thus avoiding all danger of using it in mistake even though labeled.

Spread papers over your kitchen table before starting to clean poultry, to make bread, cakes or pies. They catch waste and save much cleaning up afterward.

Current Comment.

The various presidents of Mexico do not stop at the capital. They just pass through it.—Philadelphia Press.

On the other hand, society ought to find a way to make men before they have to go to Sing Sing.—Detroit Free Press.

Count Okuma's forecast of Japan ruling the world suggests that he first learn to control his own imagination.—Washington Post.

Dress Hints.

Try a curved surgical needle for sewing on the bows and buckles of pumps.

When putting away silk waists take out shields, as they are apt to crack the silk.

Women with long, thin necks should not wear collarless blouses, as the effect is not good.

After dressing and when ready to go out place a hand mirror on the floor against the wall and turn slowly around. If the underskirt shows below the dress it will readily be seen, and a slovenly look may be avoided.

Telephone Calls.

All telephone operators in Egypt are required to be able to speak English, French, Italian, Greek and Arabic

New York city alone has more telephones than Belgium, Hungary, Italy, Netherlands, Norway and Switzerland combined.

The British postmaster general is seeking to increase the use of telephones among Irish farmers. A rate has been arranged whereby three or more farmers on a line can have unlimited local calls at $14.60 each per annum.

A BABEL OF TONGUES.

The World's Languages Now and What May Be in the Future.

How many men, if asked how many languages there are in the world, could give anything like an accurate answer? The average man's knowledge or ability to speak languages rarely exceeds two besides his native tongue.

It may appear strange, but it is nevertheless true, that there are over 4,000 languages spoken by mankind, while the number of dialects exceeds this. There are more than sixty vocabularies in Brazil, and in Mexico the Nahua is broken up into some 700 dialects. There are hundreds in Borneo, and in Australia there is no classifying the complexities. Let us assume that fifty dialects, on an average, belong to each language and we have the colossal total of 200,000 linguistic abilities.

A century hence the probability is that there will only be four languages of importance in the world. Central Europe may produce a newer and more straightforward German language. Imperial English may reign alone over the North American continent, while a more businesslike Spanish will be used in South American states. Then Russia may take on some more rich Slavonic dialect, which will blend the races of eastern Europe and central Asia into a harmonious federation. So that in future these four languages will enter into what may be a never ending competition.—Exchange.

ERRORS OF SCULPTORS.

Statues In England Noted For Crude Blunders In Modeling.

Some of the statues in public places in England are notable for certain unique symbols or glaring errors in modeling. One of the former kind is the statue of Sir Anthony Ashley at Wimborne, Dorset. Carved out of a stone at the feet of the figure is a faithful representation of a cabbage, indicating that Sir Anthony introduced the vegetable from Holland into England.

Even more peculiar is the carving on one of the four panels on the Queen Victoria statue in George square, Glasgow. The subject is the knighting of James Anderson, the lord provost of that city. As no sword was available the ceremony was performed with an umbrella, and the substitute has been copied by the sculptor. This same statue is incorrect in one important detail. The stately pose of the horse is negatived by the position of the hind legs—a position which is only possible when a horse is racing at full speed.

Perhaps the worst equestrian statue in the world is that erected in front of Trinity college, Dublin, to the memory of King William III. Among other faults, one of the forelegs of the horse is straight and the other curved considerably, yet both hoofs meet side by side on the pedestal.—London Spare Moments.

Our Longest Canal.

The longest canal in the United States is the Erie canal, which covers a distance of 387 miles. The Florida East Coast canal is 350 miles long and runs from Mayport, Fla., to Miami. The Miami and Erie canal, between Cincinnati and Toledo, O., is 274 miles long. There are three canals in Pennsylvania, the Schuylkill Navigation company, between Mill Creek and Philadelphia, 108 miles; the Pennsylvania, between Columbia, Northumberland and Wilkesbarre, 193 miles, and the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, between Coalport and Easton, 108 miles long. The longest canal in Europe is the Berlin-Stettin, 120, and the next longest, the Suez, 103 miles.—Philadelphia Press.

Beauty of Zambezi Falls.

To realize fully the wondrous beauty of the Zambezi falls, Rhodesia, one must have time to linger and watch the ever changing scene. The depths of the chasm below are veiled from sight by the rising columns of opalescent mist, and above the yawning abyss the sun glints and sparkles, weaving the drops into a magnificent rainbow. Three hundred feet below roars and boils the swirling flood as it emerges from the Boiling Pot, rushing on down the zigzag gorge between towering cliffs of rock, narrow, fierce and of unfathomable depth.—African World.

She Was Frank.

The moving picture director was having trouble in getting one of the scenes right. The girl was supposed to resist an attempt to kiss her, but the rehearsal was far from satisfactory.

"Think, now," said the director, coaching her, "haven't you ever tried to stop a young man from kissing you?"

"No," was the girl's frank reply.—London Answers.

Modern Superciliousness.

"My ancestors came over in the Mayflower."

"Yes?" rejoined Mrs. Cumrox. "I understand that the fare was really quite low. But, gracious me, the boat must have been terribly overcrowded."—Washington Star.

Fairly Warned.

Cholly—Before I met you I thought of nothing but making money. Ethel—Well, keep right on! Pop ain't so rich as folks think!—Dallas News.

A Matter of Taste.

The Woman—I'd rather live on bread and water than on charity. The Tramp—Yes, mum; there's no accountin' fer taste.—Philadelphia Ledger.

WILL YOU PERMIT THE PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS

To Settle Next Summer's Vacation Problem?

23 Days of Continual Pleasure and Sightseeing

At the Expense of the Plainfield Daily Press

Four Women Invited to Be the Guests of the Plainfield Press on a Trans-Continental and Panama-Pacific Exposition Tour. Every Cent of Expense Will Be paid by the Press

ITINERARY OF TOUR

THE ITINERARY.

Here is the itinerary of the Press' Trans-Continental and Panama-Pacific International Exposition Tour: Traveling and visiting through New York, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, the American Rockies, the Grand Canyon in Arizona, the Royal Gorge, the two Expositions in California, Santa Cruz and the Big Trees, Santa Barbara and the Old Missions, Salt Lake City, Denver, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Riverside, Chicago; leaving Plainfield by special train about July 3.

DAILY ITINERARY.

First Day—Leave Plainfield by special train about 2 p. m.

Second Day—Arrive Chicago about 5 p. m and leave via Sante Fe Railroad about 8 p. m.

Third Day—En route through Kansas and Colorado.

Fourth Day—Arrive Alburquerque about noon. Stop of about one hour will be made to visit Harvey's Museum of Indian Relics.

Fifth Day—Arrive at Grand Canyon 8 a. m. The Grand Canyon of Arizona is perhaps the most impressive sight in the world. Lunch at "Hotel El Tovar." Leave 7:30 p. m.

Sixth Day—Arrive Redlands about 1 p. m. Drive to Smiley Heights. Arrive at Riverside 4 p. m. Opportunity to inspect the famous Mission Inn and to attend the organ recital. Evening dinner at the "Mission Inn."

Seventh Day—Arrive San Diego in the morning. Transfer and admission to the Exposition at Balboa Park. Leave about 11 p. m.

Eighth Day—Arrive Los Angeles 7 a. m. Transfer to hotel. Special 100-mile trolley trip to Pasadena and beaches, also choice of following trips:

Santa Catalina Islands via San Pedro and steamer; Mt. Lowe or reserved seat to California Mission Play.

The California Mission Play. Both the Play and the Mission are of great interest. The old church, founded in 1771, is most fascinating. One hundred actors are engaged in the presentation of the play. The Indians who take part are descendants of the original Indians converted by the Franciscan Fathers.

Ninth Day—At Los Angeles. Leave 11 p. m.

Tenth Day—Arrive Santa Barbara. Drive of about two hours, including Santa Barbara Mission. Leave about noon for daylight ride along the shores of the Pacific Ocean.

Eleventh Day—Arrive Del Monie about 7 a. m. Famous 17-mile drive through Monterey Pacific Grove along the shore of Monterey Bay and the Pacific Ocean. Leave about noon. Visit Big Trees. Evening dinner at Santa Cruz.

Twelfth Day—Arrive San Francisco 7 a. m. Transfer to hotel. Five days in San Francisco, including four admissions to the Exposition and automobile sight-seeing trip to Golden Gate Park, Presido.

Seventeenth Day — Leave San Francisco about 7 a. m. Daylight ride through the Sierras.

Eighteenth Day—Arrive Salt Lake City 2 p. m. Salt Lake City, the train to Cripple Creek.

Zion of the Latter Day Saints or Mormons, is a beautiful and interesting city. Among the places of interest for visitors are the great granite temple, to which the public are not admitted, and the Tabernacle. There will be a sight-seeing trip about the city and places of interest. Leave about 6 p m.

Nineteenth Day—Passing through the American Rockies by daylight. Tennessee Pass, Royal Gorge and Grand Canyon. Arrive at Colorado Springs about 6:30 p. m., where the train will be parked.

Twentieth Day—Two days at Colorado Springs. Option of automobile trip to Crystal Park, Manitou and The Garden of the Gods or by Twenty-first day—Many interesting ride trips may be made—Pike's Peak, Williams Canyon, Cave of the Winds, etc. Leave 11 p. m.

Twenty-second Day—Arrive Denver 8 a. m., the "Queen City of the Plains," located close to the foothills of the Rockies, the most important commercial centre between Chicago and the Pacific coast. Automobile trip about the city and to points of interest provided. Lunch at hotel. Leave Denver about 10 p. m.

Twenty-third Day — En route through Nebraska and Iowa.

Twenty-fourth Day—Arrive at Chicago about 7 a. m. Leave about 10:30 a. m.

Twenty-fifth Day—Arrive Plainfield about 3 p. m.

WILL ANNOUNCE CANDIDATES

venture where one knows that well-applied effort is bound to be productive, is oftentimes the incentive to greater endeavor, assuring the achievement one is seeking. It is a well-established fact that among those successful in public life a feeling of timidity or hesitation often goes before their greatest accomplishments.

Emma Eames, the noted prima donna, has said that often before a public appearance in which she scored her greatest success she was tempted by a nearly overwhelming desire to run away.

Candidates or prospective candidates who are imbued with this "run away" feeling should have foremost in their minds the prize that is in store for them. Surely it is a chance of a lifetime to many, and "Off to the Pacific" should be your slogan.

There is not a district in which there is not room for more candidates and in each district there are women who are thinking how nice it would be to win the trip, but for some reason have failed to send their name to the Tour Department. Any woman who is in the least interested should fill out an application blank and send it at once to the Contest Manager, Plainfield Press. In so doing one does not commit herself, but will bring a representative to you who will explain fully all details of the contest, giving facts which could never be gleaned by reading the paper.

Those candidates who are already accumulating ballots were in many instances just as skeptical of the success with which their efforts would meet as those who have not entered but appreciate the value of the Press free tours. Generally those who deliberate well and "look before they leap" meet with the greatest success in any venture.

Still In Its Infancy.

The tour contest is still in its infancy. The real efforts of the candidates will not be made for some time yet, but to the thinking ones it is well to enter early and get the support of your friends before they promised to another.

Throw off that lethargy at once and call at the Trans-Continental and Panama-Pacific International Exposition Tour department of the main office of the Press or phone, and whether you decide to enter or not you will gain valuable information and find the contest manager most pleased to talk with you.

"How May I Enter?"

Several women have called at the contest department lately and asked the following questions:

"How can I enter the contest without being nominated by a friend?"

"Must one be a subscriber to the Press in order to enter the contest?"

"Must I bring in or mail in the ballots myself?"

"If a person is already taking the Press can I have them pay in advance from the time they are already paid to and get credit for it?"

"Does an agent lose anything if I secure one of his subscribers?"

The answers to the above are as follows:

Any eligible woman living in any of the contest districts wishing to enter this contest may do so by sending or mailing her name and address written on an application blank furnished by the contest department or clipped from the announcements.

It is not necessary for one to be a subscriber to the Press in order to enter the contest, though by subscribing yourself you will gain several hundred votes.

You or your friends may mail or bring in the ballots for you to the contest office. It is not necessary for you to send or bring them yourself—only care must be taken that the name and district appear upon them.

You are at liberty to get any person now subscribing to the Press to extend the subscriptions to the Press and credit for the votes will be allowed.

A news agent does not lose when a candidate collects from one of his subscribers, but on the other hand it is a benefit to him, as he will receive the same percentage without being obliged to make collections himself.

There is no better time than today to enter the contest.

Everyone Wins.

The management of the Press has decided to be most liberal to the candidates who may enter this contest. In addition to the six splendid trips to be given the district winners, to all those candidates who do not win trips and remain active until the end of the contest, a commission of 10 per cent. and 5 per cent. will be paid.

FEBRUARY FURNITURE SALE

It simply proves to us that those who buy furniture appreciate good value and clean, courteous store service above everything else. Conditions this year have warranted unusual procedure on the part of furniture manufacturers. "It is better to keep things moving—even without profit—than to let our factories stand idle" has been their business philosophy. As a consequence, never before in our history have we been able to secure such wonderful furniture values. Whoever intends furnishing a home, or even buying a few pieces of furniture, LET THEM DO IT NOW, for money saving opportunities are wonderful. Judge by these splendid offerings.

PEG O' MY HEART

By J. Hartley Manners

A Comedy of Youth Founded by Mr. Manners on His Great Play of the Same Title—Illustrations From Photographs of the Play

Copyright, 1913, by Dodd, Mead & Company

CHAPTER XVIII.

Peg's New Surroundings.

PEG'S little heart was craving for some show of kindness. If she were going to stay there she would make the best of it. She would make some friendly advances to them. She held her hand out to Mrs. Chichester.

"I'm sure I'm very grateful to you for takin' me to live with ye here. An' me father will be too. But, ye see, it's all so strange to me here, an' I'm so far away—an' I miss me father so much."

Mrs. Chichester, ignoring the outstretched hand, stopped her peremptorily:

"Go with him!" And she pointed up the stairs, on the first landing of which stood the portly Jarvis waiting to conduct Peg out of the family's sight.

Pep dropped a little courtesy to Mrs. Chichester, smiled at Ethel, looked loftily at Alaric, then ran up the stairs, and, following the footman's index finger pointing the way, she disappeared from Mrs. Chichester's unhappy gaze.

The three looked at each other.

"Awful!" said Alaric.

"Terrible!" agreed Mrs. Chichester.

"One thing is absolutely necessary," Mrs. Chichester went on to say—"she must be kept away from every one for the present."

"I should say so!" cried Alaric energetically. Suddenly he ejaculated: "Good Lord! Jerry—he mustn't see Peg Followed Jarvis Up the Stairs.

her. He'd laugh his head off at the idea of my having a relation like her. He'll probably run in to lunch."

"Then she must remain in her room until he's gone," said Mrs. Chichester determinedly. "I'll go into town now and order some things for her and see about tutors. She must be taught and at once."

"Why put up with this annoyance at all?" asked Ethel.

Mrs. Chichester put her arm around Ethel as she said:

"One thousand pounds a year, that is the reason."

"Wait a minute, mater," put in Alaric, "and I'll go with you as far as the station road and see if I can head Jerry off. His train is almost due if it's punctual."

He was genuinely concerned that his old chum should not meet that impossible little red headed Irish heathen whom an unkind fate had dropped down in their midst.

At the hall door Mrs. Chichester told Jarvis that her niece was not to leave her room without permission.

As Mrs. Chichester and Alaric passed out they little dreamed that the same relentless fate was planning still further humiliations for the unfortunate family and through the new and unwelcome addition to it.

Peg was shown by the maid, Bennett, into a charming old world room overlooking the rose garden. Everything about it was in the most exquisite taste. The furniture was of white and gold, the vases of Sevres, a few admirable prints on the walls and roses everywhere.

Left to her reflections, poor Peg found herself wondering how people with so much that was beautiful around them could live and act as the Chichester family apparently did. They seemed to borrow nothing from their once illustrious and prosperous dead. They were, it would appear, only concerned with a particularly near present.

The splendor of the house awed—the narrowness of the people irritated her. What an unequal condition of things where such people were endowed with so much of the world's goods while her father had to struggle all his life for the bare necessaries!

Very much comforted by the reflection and having exhausted all the curious things in the little mauve room, she determined to see the rest of the house. First she changed to another dress.

At the top of the stairs she met the maid Bennett.

"Mrs. Chichester left word that you were not to leave your room without permission. I was just going to tell you," said Bennett.

All Peg's independent Irish blood flared up. What would she be doing shut up in a little white and gold room all day? She answered the maid excitedly:

"Tell Mrs. Chi-ster I am not goin' to do anything of the kind. As long as I stay in this house I'll see every bit of it!" and she swept past the maid down the stairs into the same room for the third time.

"You'll only get me into trouble," cried the maid.

"No, I won't. I wouldn't get you into trouble for the wurrld. I'll get all the trouble, an' I'll get it now." Peg ran across, opened the door connecting with the hall and called out:

"Aunt! Cousins! Aunt! Come here; I want to tell ye about meself!"

"They've all gone out," said the maid quickly.

"Then what are ye makin' such a fuss about? You go out too."

She watched the disappointed Bennett leave the room and then began a tour of inspection. She had never seen so many strange things outside of a museum.

Fierce men in armor glared at her out of massive frames; old gentlemen in powdered wigs smiled pleasantly at her; haughty ladies in breath bereaving coiffures stared superciliously right through her. She felt most uncomfortable in such strange company.

On the piano she found a perfectly carved bronze statuette of Cupid. She gave a little elfish cry of delight, took the statuette in her arms and kissed it.

"Cupid, me darlin'! Faith, it's you that causes all the mischief in the wurrld, ye divil ye!" she cried.

All her depression vanished. She was like a child again. She sat down at the piano and played the simple refrain and sang in her little girlish tremulous voice one of her father's favorite songs, her eyes on Cupid:

"Oh, the days are gone when beauty bright
My heart's charm wove!
When my dream of life, from morn till night,
Was love, still love!
New hope may bloom
And days may come
Of milder, calmer beam.
But there's nothing half so sweet in life
As love's young dream!
No, there's nothing half so sweet in life
As love's young dream."

As she let the last bars die away and gave Cupid a little caress and was about to commence the next verse a vivid flash of lightning played around the room, followed almost immediately by a crash of thunder.

Peg cowered down into a deep chair.

All the laughter died from her face and the joy in her heart. She made the sign of the cross, knelt down and prayed.

Into the room through the window came a young man, his coat collar turned up, rain pouring from his hat. Inside his coat was a terrified looking dog. The man came well into the room, turning down the collar of his coat and shaking the moisture from his clothes when he suddenly saw the kneeling figure of Peg. He looked down at her in surprise. She was intent on her prayers.

"Hello!" cried the young man. "Frightened, eh?"

Peg looked up and saw him staring down at her with a smile on his lips. Inside his coat was her precious little dog, trembling with fear. The terrier barked loudly when he saw his mistress. Peg sprang up and clutched Michael away from the stranger just as another blinding flash played around the room, followed by a deafening report.

Peg ran across to the door, shouting: "Shut it out! Shut it out!" She stood there trembling, covering her eyes with one hand; with the other she held on to the overjoyed Michael, who was whining with glee at seeing her again.

The amazed and amused young man closed the windows and the curtains.

"Don't come near the dog, sir! Don't come near it!" She opened a door and found it led into a little reception room. She fastened Michael with a piece of string to a chair in the room and came back to look again at the stranger, who had evidently rescued her dog from the storm. He was a tall, bronzed, athletic looking, broad shouldered young man of about twenty-six, with a pleasant, genial, magnetic manner and a playful humor lurking in his eyes.

As Peg looked him all over she found that he was smiling down at her.

"Does the dog belong to you?" he queried.

"What were you doin' with him?" she asked in reply.

"I found him barking at a very high spirited mare."

"Mare?" cried Peg. "Where?"

"Tied to the stable door."

"The stable door? Is that where they put Michael?" Once again the lightning flashed vividly.

Peg shivered.

The stranger reassured her.

"Don't be frightened. It's only a summer storm."

"Summer or winter, they shrivel me up," gasped Peg. She looked at the young man and said in an awestruck voice:

"They say if ye look at the sky when the lightnin' comes ye can see the kingdom of heaven. An' the sight of it blinds some and kills others—accordin' to the state of grace ye're in."

"You're a Catholic?" said the stranger.

"What else would I be?" asked Peg in surprise.

Again the lightning lit the room. Peg closed her eyes again and shivered.

"Doesn't it seem he is angry with us for our sins?" she cried.

"With me perhaps—not with you," answered the stranger.

"What do ye mane by that?" asked Peg.

"You don't know what sin is," replied the young man.

"An' who may you be to talk to me like that?" demanded Peg.

"My name is Jerry," he said.

"Jerry?" And Peg looked at him curiously.

"Yes. What is yours?"

"Peg!" And there was a sullen note of fixed determination in her tone.

"Peg, eh?" And the stranger smiled.

She nodded and looked at him curiously. What a strange name he had—Jerry! She had never heard such a name before associated with such a distinguished looking man.

"Jerry, did ye say?"

"Just plain Jerry," he answered cheerfully. "And you're Peg."

She nodded again, with a quick little smile. "Just plain Peg."

"I don't agree with you," said the young man. "I think you are very charming."

After a pause he went on, "Who are you?"

"I'm me aunt's niece," replied Peg looking at him furtively.

Jerry laughed again.

"And who is your aunt?"

"Mrs. Chi-ster."

"Whom?"

Poor Peg tried again at the absurd tongue tying name.

"My aunt is Mrs. Chi-sister."

"Mrs. Chichester?" asked Jerry in surprise.

"That's it," said Peg.

"How extraordinary!"

"Isn't it? Ye wouldn't expect a fine lady like her to have a niece like me, would ye?"

"That isn't what I meant," corrected Jerry.

"Yes, it is what ye meant. Don't tell untruths with the storm ragin' outside," replied Peg.

"I was thinking that I don't remember Alaric ever telling me that he had such a charming cousin."

"Oh, do you know Alaric?" asked Peg, with a quick smile.

"Very well," answered Jerry.

Peg's smile developed into a long laugh.

"And why that laugh?" queried Jerry.

"I'd like me father to see Alaric. I'd like him just to see Alaric for one minnit. He's sich a conceited person."

"I admire your delightful accent," replied Jerry.

"Accent is it?" And Peg looked at him in astonishment. "Sure, I've no accent. I just speak naturally. It's you have the accent to my way of thinkin'."

"Really?" asked the amused Jerry.

Peg imitated the young man's well bred, polished tone:

"Wah ye bawn theah?"

Jerry laughed immoderately. Who was this extraordinary little person? was the one thought that was in his mind.

(To be continued.)

FRUIT OF THE GARDEN ON HER SPRING HAT.

Ripe looking tomatoes of velvet and chenille, glossy black grapes and pale tinted pink roses trim this new hat for southland wear. The fruit and flower clusters are connected by a garland of pale green velvet leaves and by twists of pale green velvet ribbon and a wide band of pale green velvet ribbon encircles the crown of the white hemp hat. Against this pale green velvet background the grouping of faint pink roses, brilliant tomatoes and black grapes is very effective.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"So you like dogs," said Mrs. Billings, beaming on her caller. "So does my husband, and the boys took after him. We have not been without one for twenty years until now."

"Why haven't you one now?" asked the friend.

"Well, when old Sawedoff died we rather felt that no dog could take his place."

"'Sawedoff'? Was that his name?" laughed the caller.

"Yes, Pete named him that because his legs were so short. He said he looked as if he had been raised under a bureau and so had never had a chance to grow up. He took it out in growing long. 'A dog and a half long and half a dog high.' You know the kind." Mrs. Billings smoothed down her white apron and rocked comfortably.

"Tell me about him. He must have been a character," said Mrs. Sears, fanning herself.

"He surely was. He was very fond of company and used to invite all the dogs in the neighborhood. We never had less than three here, so three corners of the living room were given over to sleeping quarters for them."

"You surely were long suffering and slow to wrath to allow them to stay," interrupted the caller.

"Oh, it's all in a life time," replied Mrs. Billings with easy good nature. "One day Grace Allen called and when I opened the door the three tumbled over each other to get out and bark at her. Grace looked at them and then at me and said, 'Why don't you get a dog?'"

"Tell me more about 'Sawedoff,'" laughed Mrs. Sears.

"John never got provoked at him but once. One day he called up at eleven to say he would be home for lunch in half an hour, as he had to take the one o'clock train for Botwell. I hurried to the pantry to reconnoiter. There was the carcass of a roast chicken. I decided to make croquettes, then discovered that I had no eggs. I put the coffee on the stove and dashed over to a neighbor's who kept chickens. She had no eggs in the house, and went to look in the hen coop, where she discovered three. I hurried back and found my coffee boiling over. As I set that back I noticed that it was twenty minutes past eleven and tore into the pantry to make my croquettes. The platter was there, but it was empty. A wool rug on the floor was torn and wadded in a heap. I heard a low growl under the pantry shelf in the corner; there was my big cat with a piece of the carcass and on the other side of the pantry I saw a dog's tail protruding from the low rack that held the table leaves. That was all that was visible, but the tail was wagging joyously. He was having the time of his life. They had had a battle royal over the remains, torn my rug to pieces in the fracas and after the partition, each had retired with his share of the spoils. While I was doubled up with laughter John came hurrying in and for once failed to see the funny side of things. Poor Sawedoff's pleasure was short lived for he was rudely thrust outside. While John put out the beasts and their bones. I cooked the eggs and scurried a lunch on the table."

"Had he ever stolen before?" asked the friend shaking with laughter.

"He had been the soul of honesty. I think Tom got the chicken from the platter and Sawedoff naturally could not sit by and see him eat chicken alone. I shall never forget the contrast between the joyfully wagging tail and the doleful countenance of the old fellow when he was extracted from his cramped quarters," laughed Mrs. Billings.

"I surely wish I could have seen him," remarked Mrs. Sears, as she rose to go.

Household Hints

FISH FOR LENT

Another Method of Baking Fish—Remove head, tail and skin. Rub well with salt and lemon juice. Stuff with oyster stuffing and sew securely. Some people bake fish by removing the bone; place fish on platter, lay prepared oysters between the layers of fish. Season cracker crumbs with salt, and moisten with melted butter. Brush fish with beaten egg, then sprinkle with the crumbs. Set platter in oven over pan of hot water (to keep platter from cracking), bake from forty to sixty minutes—until fish is thoroughly well done. Serve with tomato or Hollandaise sauce poured around fish.

Oyster Dressing for Fish—Take one pint oysters, one cup seasoned and buttered cracker crumbs. Drain and roll each oyster in crumbs. Fill fish with oysters and sprinkle remainder of crumbs over oysters.

To Serve Fish — Make incision along backbone of baked fish the entire length; then draw fish away from bone. Raise bone to reach the stuffing and serve a little of the fish, stuffing and sauce to each person. The skeleton should be left entire on the platter.

Scalloped Fish—Put fish and dressing into shallow dish in alternate layers, then a layer of sliced onions; cover with buttered crumbs and bake until crumbs are brown.

Fish a la Creme—Take a six-methods of serving any kind of dry white fish. Clean fish and cook it in boiling water that has been salted [illegible] been poured a time; very tasty.

tablespoon of vinegar. Boil until flesh rich white sauce. Put a layer of fish on a platter suitable for serving. Cover with the white sauce, letting fish soak up all it will. Then arrange another layer of fish and sauce. Moisten cracker crumbs in melted butter and spread over top with a fork. Set platter in oven over pan of hot water (to keep platter from cracking) and bake until crumbs are brown. Garnish. The sauce may be mixed with the fish, but care should be exercised not to mash the fish or get it too moist.

UP-TO-DATE RECIPES

Lentil Soup—Get ten cents' worth of meat bones at your butcher's, or a ham bone, cover with water, add a little salt, simmer slowly all day if possible, then add water until you have at least two quarts of stock. Add one pound Egyptian lentils, one pound sliced potatoes, one pound sliced onions and a little pepper; boil slowly about two hours; add pinch of mace.

Onion Soup — Boil six large onions, chop fine and squeeze dry. Add to one pint cream sauce and yolks of two eggs. Season with salt and paprika and add stiffly beaten whites of the two eggs. Set dish with souffle in pan of water and bake thirty minutes or until firm.

Breakfast Dish—One and one-half cups left-over ham; put through the grinder and season well. Add one beaten egg and four tablespoonfuls grated cheese. Mix and fry like patties; very tasty.

The Adventurous Caterpillar.

A curly Caterpillar was once crawling in the sun,
When all at once he said, "It seems to me
A trip around the world with some adventures would be fun;
There really must be quite a lot to see."

He turned around and crawled off home. Said he, "I think I'll go
And tell my parents what I'm going to do."
But when they heard of his intended trip, they said, "Oh, no!
We would not leave our home if we were you.

"Be guided by your parents; we're wiser and we know
You will be sorry if you go away."
The curly Caterpillar only said, "I mean to go;
What's more, I'm going to start this very day."

And sure enough he started off that very afternoon.
His parents said goodby to him with tears.
They said, "We hope you will be coming back to us real soon."
Said he, "I wont be back for years and years."

All afternoon he crawled along, as happy as could be,
And then when evening came and it got dark,
He said (by way of joke), "I'm going to sleep up in a tree;
Here's one right here—I know it by its bark."

Just then above his head he heard a sleepy Robin say,
"I'll get up early, wife, upon my word;
I'm hungry for a Caterpillar that I saw today."
These were the frightful words he overheard.

He didn't wait a minute, but turned as quick as wink;
I do not think he ever crawled so fast.
Said he, "'Tis not the first time that a worm has turned, I think."
(You see, he had to joke right to the last.)

When finally he was safe at home, he said, "I'm glad I went,
Because I think I've learned a lot of sense.
Adventures may be thrilling, but I never could consent
To see a Robin eat at my expense!"

A Big Blouse Event!

"Prince Imperial II." Blouse of Voile, $2

This is the new Blouse with the double frill. Illustrated. It is lovelier than the "Prince Imperial" Blouse of several seasons ago—and you undoubtedly remember that that was the most popular Blouse in many years.

Less than a fortnight ago we introduced this Blouse in Georgette Crepe at $14.75. Tomorrow we shall present it in white and flesh-color voile, trimmed with Valenciennes lace, at $2.

Note—Besides the frills down the front, it has the quaint double frills at the wrist with bands and bows of moire ribbon. Illustrated.

A New Military Blouse from Paris, $5

Reproduced in a very heavy quality of white and flesh-color Crepe de Chine. Illustrated.

"Panama-Pacific" Blouses of Crepe de Chine, $5

The new model especially for traveling wear—in navy or black crepe with white stripes. Illustrated.

Blouses of Spanish Striped Silk Crepe, $5.50

The silk crepe is in white, but the satin stripes are in the wonderful Spanish colors. Illustrated.

Crepe de Chine Blouses, $2 to $6.95

In Military, Two-in-One and other Tailleur styles, including the one at $2.95 which is illustrated.

For Quick Finish:—

539 Men's Suits
406 Men's Winter Overcoats
286 Men's Light Overcoats

Now $15

Were $25 and $28—Here

It doesn't appear to be necessary to go into details about this good clothing for men.

It is about what you might expect to find in a well assorted stock at the end of the season, when eager buying has bitten into size ranges and left two or three of this style, half a dozen of that, and so on.

Please note this much:—

That there are Chesterfields, Raglans, and other correct styles of Overcoats in weights for winter or for spring wear. Almost all have silk top and sleeve linings.

That there are suits in perhaps a dozen models, for younger and older men, in a large range of cloths and patterns.

That there are sizes from 34 to 48 in each lot

This unvarnished statement, coupled with the low price, ought to whisk these 1231 Suits and Overcoats out of here by Saturday night.

Don't Miss Out On — The February Furniture Sale or Your Income Tax Report

If you do either, it will cost you good money that you might better put to greater advantage.

In each case there is a penalty for delay—$20 or more in the case of the income tax—and as much as FIFTY PER CENT. in the case of the furniture.

Tomorrow Is the Last Day of the February Low Prices On Furniture of GIMBEL Quality

On Monday, all but a few of the pieces will be back at their regular fair prices—for all furniture on our floor has been reduced during the February Sale

Tomorrow HALF PRICES will still abound on every kind of furniture you may need for city or country home. Much more will still be reduced 33 1-3%, or 25% and so on, down to 10%.

An important addition to the Sale for these last few days is the beautiful POOLEY FURNITURE AT HALF PRICE, of which GIMBEL BROTHERS bought the entire outstanding stock, in suites and single pieces, which will never be duplicated

Decide on your furniture needs today and come before tomorrow night, when the February Sale tags disappear.

TRAINS MANNED TO FULL SAFETY

Accidents Increase Under Full Crew Law—The Public Stands Cost.

Philadelphia, Feb. 23.

The trainmen's organizations assert that the Full Crew Laws work to reduce accidents. To determine this, it would be only right to take the Interstate Commerce Commission statistics. In doing this, the great mass of killed and injured, who are neither employes nor passengers, should be excluded in the present issue.

For the three-year period to June 30, 1911—the Pennsylvania Full Crew Law became effective July 19th—the number of employes and passengers killed in the United States was 10,186. For the three years since full crew became effective the list of killed totalled 10,372—an increase. On the Pennsylvania railroad for six months before the Full Crew Law was in effect and for the first half of last year, it shows as follows.

Before Law—First Half of 1911.

	Killed.	Injured
Trainmen	15	1046
Passengers	1	99
	16	1145

Under Law—First Half of 1914.

	Killed.	Injured
Trainmen	16	1699
Passengers	2*	141
	18	1840

*Fell from trains.

From the above figures it would seem that extra men on trains do not prevent casualties. They do add to the total number of employes who are subject to the risks of railroad service.

In the legislative hearings at Harrisburg on the Full Crew Bill, the trainmen were challenged by railroad officers to cite a case where accident had occurred that could have been in any way prevented by the law now in effect. They failed to give a single example. Upon investigation it has also been found that the extra freight brakeman seldom rides in the middle of the train, where the trainmen assert he is needed to ensure safe operation.

MAKE YOURS A PUBLIC SERVICE STORE

This is the age of service. The rewards of today go to the men who give the most in return.

Translated for you, Mr. Merchant, this means that the customers are certain to patronize the store that will give them what they want when they want it.

Cut prices may bring some trade, but better service will bring more.

This is the age when people are reading the advertising in their daily newspapers because they are finding it a distinct part of the service they expect their newspapers to give.

When a nationally distributed article of merit is advertised in the newspapers a demand for it sets in right away.

People want to see it and, if satisfied, want to buy it.

They are going to turn to the store that lets them know it has the article. That store will be giving them the service they want at that particular moment.

If it is a good article they are going to remember the store where they got it and will come back to that store again.

Co-operate with the manufacturers who come into the newspapers of your town to exploit their goods and you will be building business for yourself.

LAST DAY

February Furniture Sale

(Original) and

Wanamaker Furniture at Half

Saturday you may help yourself from hundreds of pieces of GOOD furniture at half, and from the great Wanamaker stocks of regular furniture at reductions of 10 to 33⅓ per cent. Monday every piece remaining goes back to full regular price.

There will be one exception—the Stickley mission furniture, which was acquired to sell at half its established price and will continue at that price until sold out. Some chairs and rockers, and a few buffets, sideboards, serving tables of which we had quantities, remain.

KINDLY NOTE—The half-price furniture is marked half price only because we want to clear our floors of all odd pieces and suites and groups which are not being re-ordered for regular stocks. In the half-price lot are pieces and suites for every room, in a variety of woods, finishes, and sizes—hundreds of fine things that may not again be had for such little money.

INDEPENDENCE BLUE

Introducing

INDEPENDENCE BLUE

A New American Color

Created from the three colors used in the Old Glory—the red in the stripes, the blue in the field of stars, and the white in the stars and stripes.

It is a wonderful color. In the sunlight it fairly radiates joy and independence. It is a color, also, becoming to everyone.

Introductory Exhibition Now Going On in Silks, Gowns, Hats, Ribbons and Hosiery

Independence Blue is an original creation of the John Wanamaker Store, and in silks is now to be had in these weaves:

Independence Blue satin.
Independence Blue charmeuse.
Independence Blue faille.
Independence Blue crepe de chine.
Independence Blue canton crepe.
Independence Blue silk and wool poplin.
Independence Blue fleur de soie.
Independence Blue brocades.
Independence Blue bordered silks.
Independence Blue coin dots and stripes.

Independence Blue differs from any other shade of blue yet produced, and it is to be had, at present, only in this store.

Exhibition in Silk Rotunda, Main floor, Old Building.

- Proctor's Theatre -

Charles Chaplin,
Who will be seen at Proctor's Theatre tomorrow in his latest two reel comedy, "His Night Out."

Mystery and laughs run a-riot in the act of the Great Pelham, who demonstrated his ability as a hypnotist in the feature act at Proctor's Theatre, yesterday. The offering is one very much out of the ordinary and the Great Pelham not only shows what hypnotism really is and can be made to accomplish, but provides amusement extraordinary by the antics of those who are controlled by his power. Another wonderful act on the change of program yesterday was Niblo's marvelous talking birds, "Cuckoo and Laura." These two feathered artists showed almost human intelligence in speaking and answering questions. The act is one of the most unique and surprising Proctor's has had in a long time. The remainder of the program includes Walter Milton and Company in the comedy sketch, "Don't Walk in Your Sleep;" LaPlaivia, the dainty danseuse, in typical national dances, and Jerges and Hamilton, comedy skit. Tomorrow's moving picture offering will include Charles Chaplin, the world's greatest camera comedian, in his latest two reel scream, "His Night Out." It is guaranteed to be one absolute roar from start to finish. The succeeding episode of "The Exploits of Elaine" will be shown this afternoon and tonight and next Monday, besides the feature photo-play, "Money," the pictures taken in Plainfield during the destructive blizzard of March 1, last year, will be shown on the screen.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Scene from "Twin Beds," at Plainfield Theatre, Saturday, Mat. & Night.

Marie Dressler, the comedienne who has made the whole world laugh, will return to the Plainfield Theatre next Monday and Tuesday in the hysterically funny photo-play comedy, "Tillie's Punctured Romance." It is an absolute fact that everybody who sees this film leaves the theatre with sides fairly aching from laughter. Miss Dressler is assisted in "Tillie's Punctured Romance" by Charles Chaplin and Mabel Normand, both of whom need no introduction to Plainfield devotees. The offering at the Plainfield Theatre on Wednesday will be Charles Frohman's production of "Aristocracy," and on Thursday, the wonderful story of "Damon and Pythias," told in a six reel feature film. This presentation is being made under the auspices of Unity Lodge, No. 102, Knights of Pythias, of this city. The week will close on Friday and Saturday with the feature photo-comedy drama, "The Circus Man." Keep in mind that the fascinating serial, "The Master Key," is shown at the Plainfield Theatre every Tuesday, and the second serial that has captured Plainfield picture fans, "The Trey O' Hearts," is shown every Friday.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-know authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Adv.

DULL, SPLITTING, SICK HEADACHE

Dr. James' Headache Powders relieve at once—10 cents a package.

You take a Dr. James' Headache Powder and in just a few moments your head clears and all neuralgia and distress vanishes. It's the quickest and surest relief for headache, whether dull, throbbing, splitting or nerve-racking. Send someone to the drug store and get a dime package now. Quit suffering—it's so needless. Be sure you get Dr. James' Headache Powders—then there will be no disappointment.

THE DAILY PRESS IN DUNELLEN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by Edward Pennock, druggist and newsdealer.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! How good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.—Adv.

Echoes of the War.

The most unpleasant thing about the march of civilization is the rattle of artillery that accompanies it.—Boston Transcript.

All the nations claim that they were forced into the war, and some of them are going to be forced out of it in time.—Philadelphia Press.

One of the nations has expended $780,000,000 since hostilities were begun, which is a brilliant commentary on the progress [illegible] civilized human race.—Detroit [illegible]

Isn't it [illegible] belligerents always seem so well informed about the enemy's losses in battle, but can't summon up enough nerve to tell about their own?—St. Paul Dispatch.

Cost of Living.

If ordinary wheat continues to advance in price a resourceful public may resort to buckwheat cakes and sausage.—Chicago News.

If wheat and cotton could get together and strike an average on their booms it would be more encouraging for the general public and make a better living price on bread.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Considering the meat shortage that we have been up against for some years, it is little short of marvelous the way we are managing to increase our beef exports in such enormous quantities.—Indianapolis News.

Tales of Cities.

Philadelphia has 12,000 orphans in seventy-seven institutions.

Boston has changed the boundaries of all wards. Now the city has twenty wards.

Modern Cairo is built upon the remains of four distinct cities, which date back to the first century. It is the largest city in Africa.

St. Paul has seventy-six parks, one of which, Como park, is one of the most beautiful in the United States. These parks cover an area of 1,491 acres and cost $1,603,221.

State Lines.

Ohio had a prohibitory liquor law 100 years ago.

In drilling for oil last year in California holes extending a distance of 200 miles, could they be placed end to end, were sunk.

From 1876 to the end of 1914 South Dakota has produced $185,224,000 in gold. Cripple Creek, Colo., to the end of 1914 has produced $259,000,000 in gold.

BRIGHT BRIEFS.

Learning to do without gives you more to do with.

Neutrals are not half so tired of war as the men in the trenches.

Nobody is entitled to wear a halo just because he has never been in jail.

It is easier to pose as a prophet than it is to stand from under when your predictions go lame.

One kind of idiot is the fellow who attempts to take taxi rides with a trolley car pocketbook.

Lawyers occasionally break a man's will, but more frequently it goes down before a woman's won't.

If the Nobel peace prize is cumulative, it will be a nice fat fortune for the next one who wins it.

A lot of people don't care whether they are sublime or ridiculous so long as there is a crowd looking at them.

PERMANENT PROSPERITY

is based upon the saving habits of the individual. The man who has no real conception of thrift may make a fortune but he is quite likely to lose it, whereas there are many people in affluence today who attribute their success to their ability to save systematically.

It is to encourage this kind of thrift that the Plainfield Trust Company conducts a Special Department in which 4% compound interest is paid. An account opened before the fourth of any month will draw interest from the first.

HETFIELD NAMED TO RECEIVERSHIP

Assistant Corporation Counsel Will Handle Estate of Herbert L. Pierce.

REAL ESTATE INVOLVED

Theophilus A. Pierce, Sr., in Charge of New Market Roller Mills Company—Mrs. Pierce Rumored to Be Missing.

Assistant Corporation Counse Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of the law firm of Reed & Hetfield, has been appointed receiver for the property of Herbert L. Pierce, who has been missing from his home in New Market for three weeks. The appointment was made by Judge Relistab in the United States District Court, the petitioning creditors being represented by John Rosenbaum, a Newark attorney.

Pierce is the owner of considerable property in New Market, part of which is said to be heavily mortgaged, and Mr. Hetfield will now make application to the courts for an order to dispose of the assets to satisfy claims.

Theophilus A. Pierce, Sr., was recently appointed by Vice-Chancellor Griffen in the Court of Chancery to act as temporary receiver for the New Market Roller Mills Company, of which the missing man is president. It is said that Herbert L. Pierce is heavily involved in debt and it is the consensus of opinion that he fled to avoid the pressing claims of his creditors.

Papers in the case show that Theophilus Pierce, Sr., is a creditor of the mills to the extent of $10,000 for money which he had loaned the company. The vice-chancellor has issued an order returnable March 8 to show cause why he should not be made permanent receiver. The receiver has qualified and given a bond of $10,000.

Various rumors have arisen over the absence of Mrs. Herbert L. Pierce from New Market. She is said to have left that place with her sister last Monday, the later returning to her home in New York after a visit with Mrs. Pierce. When asked if Mrs. Pierce was missing, this morning, T. A. Pierce, Jr., a cousin of the missing man, made the following reply to a Plainfield Daily Press reporter:

"Mrs. Pierce went away with her sister and her sister lives in New York. Whether she's there or any other place I do not know."

ALL AUTO SPEEDERS LOOK ALIKE TO JUDGE DEMEZA

"If the President of the United States was brought before me and adjudged guilty of speeding, I would fine him," said Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, in disposing of a charge of violating the motor vehicles' laws made against John Berance, a chauffeur, of Long Island. "We are treating everyone alike and in so doing I hope to be able to break up the practice in Plainfield. I'll have to fine you $10."

Berance was arrested by Patrolman Henderschott at Park avenue and West Front street, when he was alleged to have been driving his machine at twenty-five miles an hour. Berance paid the fine.

ZIONISTS WILL CELEBRATE FLAG DAY IN PLAINFIELD

The National Jewish Fund Bureau of America has designated tomorrow as "Flag Day," the contributions of Zionists on this occasion being devoted to the National Fund. This money is used in the redemption of soil on a large scale, the education of qualified farm laborers; and the co-operative colonization movement.

The National Fund gives employment only to Jewish workmen and provides a livelihood for hundreds of Jewish families in Palestine. Contributions in the local Zionist church tomorrow will be set aside for this work.

MISS MARY JANE SEEDS PASSES AWAY

Succumbs to Long Illness at the Home of Her Niece.

Miss Mary Jane Seeds, a resident of Plainfield for over fifty years, passed away this morning at the home of her niece, Miss Mary E. Robinson, 122 Madison avenue.

Her illness of over five years was borne with great Christian fortitude.

Miss Seeds was of Huguenot descent, born near Belfast, Ireland, and when a young woman, upon the death of her parents, she came to make her home with her sister, Mrs. David L. Robinson, residing at that time on Valley road, on the farm now owned by Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton.

She was a charter member of the Congregational church and before her last illness was active in the work of the Women's Association. Miss Seeds was known and beloved by a host of friends for her genial, kindly spirit. She leaves two nephews, Samuel J. and William W. Robinson, and a niece, Mary E. Robinson; also grandnephews and nieces of this city.

The funeral will be held at the late home Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

LICENSES EXPIRE MARCH 1.

All city licenses expire March 1 and in order to continue in business after that date hucksters, hackmen, taxicab drivers, garbage collectors, expressmen, peddlers and other licensed workers have to secure new credentials. Chief of Police Kiely announced this morning that this ordinance would be strictly enforced and those not having new licenses by that date will be arrested.

FIRST OF LENTEN TALKS.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie will give a series of talks on the "Beatitudes," on Sunday afternoons at 5 o'clock during Lent. His topic tomorrow will be "Blessed Are the Poor in Spirit." Miss Caroline L. Talmer, of the Bible Teachers' Training School of New York, will address the women's Bible class tomorrow morning after the service.

EXPERTS DISCUSS MINIMUM WAGE

Mrs. Frederick Nathan, Miss Winslow and Miss Rochester Deliver Addresses.

OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN

Speakers Declare That in the Nine States Where Minimum Wage Laws Are in Effect That the Results Have Been Satisfactory.

A large number of members and others interested attended the annual meeting of the Consumers' League of New Jersey, held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, yesterday afternoon. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie welcomed the officers and members of the league and offered the church for the meeting. Mrs. G. W. B. Cushing, of East Orange, and president of the New Jersey Consumers' League, presided at the gathering. Mrs. Edwin Stout, chairman of the nominating committee, read the nominations for 1915 and the secretary cast an affirmative ballot for all those nominated, the following being elected: President, Mrs. G. W. B. Cushing, of East Orange; vice presidents, Mrs. Charles L. Thompson, of East Orange; Mrs. Francis Hyde, of Plainfield, and Miss Anne McIlvaine, of Trenton, treasurer, Mrs. Brice Collard, of Jersey City; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles G. Davis, of Madison; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Platt Adams, of Newark, and executive secretary, Miss Alice Jaynes, of Newark and Mrs. A. B. Jones, of Plainfield, was re-elected as member of the executive board. The treasurer, Mrs. Brice Collard, of Jersey City, read a most gratifying report. The receipts for the year were $2,882.68, the expenses $2,245.59, leaving a balance on hand February 1, 1915, of $637.09.

Following the reports, Mrs. Cushing introduced Mrs. Frederick Nathan, president of the New York Consumers' League. Mrs. Nathan discussed the minimum wage, citing many cases of investigation into the life and conditions of the working girl in New York. In order to show that the minimum wage was not an experiment, Mrs. Nathan referred to the States and countries where it has been tried for years and proven highly successful. So successful was it in Great Britain in 1909 that the Boards of Trade established a minimum wage for eight industries and at the present time including about 400,000 workers. As a result the standard of efficiency has been raised in Great Britain.

Mrs. Nathan quoted the nine States, namely, California, Colorado,

CHARLES R. RYDER, JR., SUCCEEDS FORMER FIRM

Edwin A. Craig and Charles L. Ryder, Jr., who have been partners in the electrical contracting business under the firm name of "Edwin A. Craig," have dissolved partnership. The business will be continued by Mr. Ryder, who has removed the office and workshop from their former location on Madison avenue, in the Endress building, to 116 North avenue. Mr. Craig will hereafter devote his attention to the E. and C. Auto Company, of which he is a member.

Mr. Ryder is one of the city's best known young business men and his friends bespeak great success for him as an individual contractor. He has had 13 years' experience in electrical work, eleven of which were as an associate of Mr. Craig. He has installed and supervised numerous large electrical contracts in this vicinity, one of which was the equipping of Squibb's laboratory at New Brunswick on a sub-contract from the New York Electrical Construction Company. This job required six months to complete and is considered one of the most modern power plants in the State. Mr. Ryder will make a specialty of all classes of electrical wiring and motor installation and will gladly furnish estimates on application.

MR. HILPOT'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Jacob E. Hilpot, whose death occurred at his home on East Fifth street yesterday morning, will be held at the late residence tomorrow afternoon. The interment will be in the cemetery at Bound Brook Monday morning at 10 a. m., where a delegation of Elks will have charge of the commitment.

GOSPEL ADDRESS.

YOUNG FOLKS GIVE A COMEDY PLAYLET

Amateur Thespians Display Talent in Presentation of "Next Door."

Under the auspices of the Young People's Association of the Park Avenue Baptist church a delightful comedy playlet entitled "Next Door" was presented before an appreciative audience at the Park Club last night. The characters were all taken by local young people and all acquitted themselves in a creditable manner. Miss Marjorie Robinson, in the leading feminine role of "Mrs. Thornton," displayed considerable talent and William Doane as "Prof. Courntey Martin," provided plenty of amusement.

The full cast was as follows: "Mrs. Thornton," Miss Robinson; "Alice Arnstead," Miss Elizabeth Mills; "Kathleeen Covington," Miss Madeline Pennington; "Betty" Arnstead," Miss Martha Casner; "Prof. Courtney Martin," William Doane; "Fred Harper," Fred Mills; "Will Webster," Irving Pratt; "colored servant," Walter Weber; "George Chester," Elwood Waller. Miss Hilda Story presided at the piano and provided the musical accompaniment. Thomas S. Casner, acted as coach and the meritorious preformance was an evidence of his ability and thoroughness.

The affair was arranged by a committe of which Irving Pratt was chairman, and which included Miss Ora Bush, Herman Kling and the members of the cast. All those taking part and the committee adjourned to the Ritz after the performance where they enjoyed a supper and dance. The proceeds from the affair will be added to the fund of the Young People's Association.

MARCONNIER CHAPEL WORKERS ENTERTAIN

Dramatic and Musical Presentation in Oak Tree Last Night.

A dramatic and musical entertainment was given last evening by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Marconner Reformed church, Oak Tree. A musical comedy entitled "Ma Sweet and her seven beautiful daughters" was presented to the amusement of the audience.

The cast was as follows: "Ma Sweet," Mrs. A. Laury; "Amity Ann," Mrs. E. Frazee; "Caroline Cordelia," Miss J. Kyle; "Dorothy Delila," Mrs. R. Leveridge; "Frances Fedora," Mrs. B. Randolph; "Betsy Belinda," Mrs. B. Frank Boos; "Elizabeth Eliza," Mrs. L. Frazee, and "Georgiana Gadabout," Mrs. S. R. Brash. The coach was Mrs. Fred Melick.

The women spent considerable expense and labor in the making of their costumes, which were appropriate to their parts; their acting was excellent, and full of humor. During an intermission refreshments were served. Afterwards musical selections were rendered by a trio consisting of Miss Florence Frazee, pianist; S. R. Brash, cornetist, and E. Banks, violinist. A piano solo was rendered by Miss Lena Von Tobel; a duet by Miss A. Banks, pianist, and Everett Banks, violinist; a duet by Mrs. R. H. Leveridge and Mrs. Louis Frazee, pianists. A piano solo by Mrs. Louis Frazee; Mrs. Frazee recited during the evening. Considerably over $50 was received by the society from the entertainment.

LIST OF WOULD BE TOURISTS GROWS

Interest in Daily Press Exposition Tour Becomes Greater With Each Day.

BALLOTS BEGIN TO DROP

There Is Still Plenty of Room for Candidates, and Those Who Start Early Naturally Have the Advantage in the Race.

Since the starting of the Press Trans-Continental and Panama-Pacific Exposition tour contest, many applications and nominations have been received by those who are alive to the grand tour offer. There is, however, room for many more candidates in certain sections, and any who are thinking it over would do well to get busy at once and see that their name reaches the contest department, as every day means so many more votes lost to those who hesitate. Those who have already been active report that it is an easy matter to secure the votes, as the Press is so generally read and liked by everybody. Yes, it is easy, so easy that an early start is most necessary in order to secure subscriptions and the votes from the paper before the others have them all spoken for. Even this early in the contest, candidates who were a day or two late in entering, report that someone else got votes that they might have had, had they been there earlier. To those who have any desire to take this Tour de Luxe, the best advice is to get in touch with the contest manager at once.

How to Apply.

Telephone inquiries as to how to proceed when nominated have been many. Here is how: Immediately on hearing that your name has been placed in nomination, call up or call at the tour department of the Press and ask for the contest manager. There is an advantage in calling personally at the office of the tour department, located in the main business office of the Press, for you can consult with the contest manager on ways and means of getting votes, and he will supply you with all the necessary blanks which make the securing of votes easy. Should you be unable to call at the office, write the contest manager, and the district manager, who has your division in charge, will call and see you either at your home or your place of business as soon as he arrives in your locality.

A ballot appears in each issue of the Press, and is good for one vote. Before voting these ballots make sure that your name has been enrolled as a candidate, as the votes will not be

BORO HIGH LOSES INTER-COUNTY DEBATE

Judges Decide That Educational Qualification is Not An Expedient Measure.

The North Plainfield High School debating team, contestants in the Rutgers College inter-county debating league, was eliminated from the race for first honors by the Bernardsville High School team, in the Somerset School, last night, when the visiting trio, representing the negative side, were given the verdict on the following question, "Resolved, That an Educational Qualification is an Expedient Measure and is Conducive to the Welfare of the United States."

The assembly room of the borough school was crowded to its capacity with supporters from both schools and also pupils from the Somerville High School who were directly interested in the outcome of the debate, as that school is to meet the winner.

The North Plainfield team was composed of Miss Gladys Sullivan, '16; Miss Marian Doughty, '15, and Halbert Hutchinson, '15. Both sides of the question were presented in an interesting and forceful manner, the three judges holding a long conference before giving their decision in favor of the Bernardsville team. Lester Meserole, principal of Bernards township, presided over the debate.

Miss Gladys Sullivan was the first speaker for the affirmative and presented a general view of her side of the subject, which was developed by her teammates. Charles Hussey was considered the best and most forceful speaker for the negative and his rebuttal was largely responsible for the victory. Miss Marian Doughty and Halbert Hutchinson spoke in the order named and the latter made the rebuttal speech for North Plainfield.

The other two speakers for Bernardsville were Edmund Dougherty and Garrett Voorhees. The following points were defended by the two teams: Affirmative—(1), the present laws are inadequate; (2), some further restriction is necessary, and (3), the Burnett test is the most practical. Negative—(1), the literacy test would bar desirables; (2), good citizenship depends on strong moral character, and (4), from a moral standpoint the bill is against the spirit of the Constitution of the United States.

The judges were Rev. C. J. Culp, of Bound Brook; G. R Moore, of New Brunswick, and Judge Clarence L. Case, of Somerville. Judge Case announced the decision. The next debate will be held between Somerville and Bernardsville on the same subject, last night's victors taking the opposite side of the question. The Somerville team defeated Bound Brook last week and has entered in the second round of the league. The final debate will be held at Rutgers College.

K. OF P. BANQUET IS NOW AN ASSURED SUCCESS

At its regular meeting last night, Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., received reports which indicated that the big banquet which it is to conduct in The Ritz on March 12 was already an assured success. Seventy of the one hundred tickets to be sold have been taken and more are being called for each day. Chancellor Commander William J. Trenbath announced that he had received reply from the following prominent Pythians that they would be present: Supreme Representative P. Frank Shanley, of Jersey City; Grand Prelate Rev. DeWitt Cobb, of Asbury Park; Grand Keeper of Records and Seals W. A. Johnson, of Trenton, and Grand Master at Arms Milo Morton, of Newark. There are also a number of others to be heard from. Music for the occasion will be provided by the Dutch Arms Ochestra of ten pieces.

Two applications for membership were acted upon favorably at the meeting last night, and the first degree will be conferred next Friday night.

SUBMARINE U-9 REPORTED LOST

Famous "Unterseebote" Said To Have Met Disaster Off Norway Coast.

GERMAN AIRSHIP LOST

Crew Found Floating in North Sea and Made Prisoners—Another British Merchant Ship Torpedoed—French Renew Attacks.

London, Feb. 27.—The German submarine U-9, according to dispatches which appear in the London papers today, has met with disaster. The report comes from Christiania, Norway, and says that wreckage picked up near Christiansand was from the U-9, the undersea vessel that sank the British cruisers Hogue, Aboukir and Cressy in the North Sea on September 23 and the British cruiser Hawke on October 25. The U-9 was commanded by Lieut. Otto Weddigen.

Unofficial reports now place the German submarine casualties at four. The Admiralty, however, has made no official announcement of the sinking of any German unterseeboote.

Lowest oft, England, Feb. 27.—A German military aeroplane has been lost in the North Sea. The motor trawler, "New Buoy," today landed the two German aviators who were picked up in the water after clinging to the wreckage of their machine for nearly two days. The prisoners were turned over to the naval authorities. The German airship was flying from Ostend to England when it was caught in a gale and wrecked.

Havre, Feb. 27.—A British merchant ship was torpedoed in the English Channel by a German submarine off Saint Valery Sur Somme, according to reports received here at noon today. A French destroyer was sent to her aid.

The German Government has liberated 2,000 Belgian civilians, residents of Louvain, who have been held in an interment camp, says an announcement by the Belgian Ministry here.

Berlin, Feb. 27 (By wireless).—The following statement was given out at German headquarters today:

"Western war theatre—In Champagne there were renewed strong French attacks yesterday and last night. Fighting continues in some places, but attacks were otherwise repulsed. The Germans attacked part of a French position north of Verdun. Fighting continues there. From the rest of the front nothing of importance is reported.

"Eastern war theatre—Northwest of Grodno, west of Lomza and south of Przasnysz new Russian forces appeared and attacked our troops along the Skrova River. South of Kiono, 1,100 more Russians were taken prisoners. Northing of importance occurred yesterday on the left bank of the Vistula."

Geneva, Feb. 27.—The exchange of totally disabled French and German prisoners of war by way of Switzerland will begin early in March.

Constantinople, Feb. 27 (via Berlin and Amsterdam).—An unsuccessful attempt was made to assassinate Talat Bey, minister of the interior, last night, in Stamboul. Three shots were fired by the assassin.

SEEK IMPROVED SCHOOL FACILITIES IN EAST END

The East End Civic Association will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening, March 2, in the Netherwood Reformed church. This will be a meeting of importance to the entire Eastern section of the city, as the question of enlarged and improved school facilities for that section will be the subject of discussion.

It is expected that the Mayor, the president of the Board of Education and the superintendent of schools will be present and speak on the subject; also the president and members of the Netherwood Residents' Association have been invited to attend and take part in the discussion. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

GRANTED A DIVORCE.

Mrs. Laura Edith Flounders, of this city, has been granted a divorce from her husband, Joseph Flounders, of Trenton. The couple was married in Trenton in 1902, and the alleged desertion took place in 1909. The case was heard by Frederick W. Gnichtel, of Trenton, who advised the decree. Mrs. Flounders is a trained nurse and is well known here. She was represented by Harry C. Runyon.

MISS MILLARD BRIDE OF JOSEPH BIVINS

Rev. Herbert L. Polan Performs Ceremony in Presence of Many Guests.

Miss Nellie Millard, of New Market, and Joseph Bivins, of Marlboro, were married at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, in the parsonage of the Seventh-Day Baptist church by Rev. Herbert L. Polan, the pastor. The bridal pair was attended by the sister and brother of the groom, Miss Susie and Albert Bivins, with Master George Young, as ring bearer, and Virginia Young, flower girl.

The bride was attired in a gown of cream colored crepe de chine and wore orange blossoms and white roses. The bridesmaid wore a becoming dress of pale green silk and carried a bouquet of freesias. Varieties of evergreens with laurel branches were used in decoration.

Following the congratulations refreshments were served to the guests. The couple received many gifts. The bride is well known in the community, having lived here most of her life. She is highly esteemed by a host of friends.

The groom is highly respected by all who know him. The happy couple have begun housekeeping upon a farm near Alloway and the best wishes of their many friends go with them for a long and happy married life.

WALDRON IS SENT TO REFORMATORY

First Offense Draws a Light Sentence From Judge Daly.

Clarence Waldron, who was convicted at New Brunswick, Wednesday, of assault, was sentenced to the Rahway Reformatory yesterday, by Judge Peter F. Daly, for the full time prescribed by law, which is thirteen months. Waldron was brought to the bar to receive sentence by Constable C. Wesley Blaine and Judge Daly asked him if he had anything to say. "All that I can say is that I am not guilty," replied Waldron. In passing sentence Judge Daly said: "I am convinced that you were either very drunk or have a crazy streak in you to commit such a crime on the street and in close proximity to an electric light.

"I have a long petition here signed by citizens of Dunellen (there were 46 signers) asking the court to deal leniently with you. When I received it this morning, I was wondering if the wife, daughter or sister of these signers had been attacked the same as this woman had been attacked, how they would have felt about anyone signing a petition asking leniency for the culprit. In view of the State's policy to deal leniently with first offenders and because of your youth, I have determined to give you a reformatory term instead of sending you to State Prison, as I was inclined to do."

Mrs. George L. Apgar, Jr., has recovered from a severe attack of the grip.

The pupils of the Whittier School viewed the 200 masterpieces of art which have been on exhibition in the Lincoln School since Wednesday, yesterday afternoon. The exhibition will close this evening.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

To paraphrase, the familiar saying, 'Laugh at Marie Dressler and the whole world laughs with you.' This inimitable comedienne will be seen again at the Plainfield Theatre next Monday and Tuesday in the funniest picture vehicle she has ever posed in, 'Tillie's Punctured Romance.' The entire country is laughing at this film which is now being shown to crowded houses from Maine to California and from the Canadian border to Key West, Florida. The adventures of Tillie," and awkward and unsophisticated country girl, who has a succession of comical experiences in the great city, are pictured by the camera man in such a ludicrous fashion that even the great Phinx would burst into a guffaw. Set aside all other engagements and be at the Plainfield Theatre either Monday or Tuesday if you want to see the funniest thing that has ever been shown on the screen. The attraction at this theatre next Wednesday will be Charles Frohman's production of "Aristocracy;" Thursday the story of "Damon and Pythias" will be pictured by a six reel film, and Friday and Saturday the attraction will be the photo-play feature, "The Circus Man." The Plainfield Theatre has two absorbing serial stories that are shown each week, "The Master Key" every Tuesday, and the "Trey O' Hearts" every Friday. Popular prices prevail at both afternoon and evening picture presentations.

WORLD WONDERS ARE SHOWN AT PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION

Has Eleven Great Exhibit Palaces—Represents Investment of $50,000,000. Celebrates Canal Completion.

Establishes Record by Being Ready Before Opening Day—Covers Over Six Hundred Acres.

THE Panama-Pacific International exposition, running from Feb. 20 to Dec. 4, established a record in exposition history by being ready in advance of the opening day. Here are some of the important facts in connection with the splendid enterprise:

It represents an investment of $50,000,000; it celebrates the completion of the Panama canal; it is the first world's exposition in color; it covers 635 acres, with all main exhibit palaces closely connected; it has forty-seven miles of exhibit aisles in the main palaces; it is twenty minutes' ride from the heart of the downtown district of San Francisco; it enjoys unexampled transportation inducements; it contains the largest frame building under one roof in the world today. Machinery hall, 968 by 368 feet; it will be the Mecca for over 400 conventions during the year.

There are eleven great exhibit palaces. In addition to these Festival hall is on the grounds and seats 3,000 persons, and an auditorium to seat 12,000 persons and costing $1,300,000 has been built by the exposition at the San Francisco civic center.

The result of the work fulfills every expectation of the commission of famous architects to whom was intrusted the exposition design. The task was to create an architectural effect that would blend into and fit in with the impressive surroundings of the site at Harbor View, the great halls that encircle the grounds on the south, east and west, the harbor and its islands on the north and the beauty of the Golden Gate.

The exposition grounds, which face the harbor for more than two miles, are occupied by three great groups of buildings. In the center are the exhibit places; upon the east is the amusement section devoted to the pavilions of the forty nations and to the buildings of the forty-three states and territories.

From the heights of Belvedere, four miles across San Francisco harbor, the vast copper green domes of the main palaces, rising as high as the average twelve story city building, are seen to reach more than halfway to the first rims of the great encircling hills at Harbor View.

Palaces Are Joined.

In the center group eight of the exhibit palaces are joined in a rectangle. Four of the buildings face upon a 400 foot esplanade upon San Francisco harbor and four face the South Gardens between the main group of buildings and the exposition boundaries.

The four buildings facing the harbor from east to west are the palaces of Mines and Metallurgy, Transportation, Agriculture and Food Products. To the south, completing the group, are the palaces of Varied Industries, Manufactures, Liberal Arts and Education. The buildings are identical in height. Their architecture as seen from afar is also similar, and it is only when one gets close at hand and within the courts that the divergencies are apparent.

The dimensions and costs of the eight buildings are:

Palace	Size Exhibit (linear feet)	Area sq. ft.	Cost.
Mines and Metallurgy	451x579	252,000	$359,448
Transportation	579x614	314,000	481,677
Agriculture	579x629	328,632	425,610
Food Products	424x579	236,690	342,551
Varied Industries	414x541	219,000	312,691
Manufactures	475x752	234,000	341,069
Liberal Arts	475x585	251,500	314,180
Education	394x526	205,100	425,610

Flanking this group of eight structures upon the east is the Palace of Machinery, costing more than $600,000. This was the first of the exposition palaces to be completed. Its interior arrangement consists of three north and south aisles, each 136 feet in height and 76 feet in width, extending the entire length of the building, 967.8 feet.

Three transverse aisles, each 126 feet long and 75 feet wide, run east and west through the center, intersecting the north and south aisles.

Flanking the group upon the west is the Palace of Fine Arts, which is separated from the group by a lagoon, which it partly envelops and which is bordered by flowers, shrubbery and trees, giving the effect of a forest lake in the tropics, fringed with rich shrubbery and plants. The building describes an arc 950 feet in length, and its area is 205,000 square feet, or nearly five acres. The Palace of Fine Arts is of steel and concrete and is fire and burglar proof.

Palace of Horticulture.

Opposite the Palace of Education, in the South Gardens, is the great Palace of Horticulture. This huge structure covers approximately five acres and in architecture is Saracenic. Its most prominent feature is a steel dome 180 feet in height and 152 feet in diameter, covered with wire netting. The dome is surmounted by a half globe, "the flower basket," twenty-six feet in height and weighing twenty-eight tons.

The eight exhibit palaces forming the rectangle are divided by three avenues running north and south and one east and west. At the intersection of the east and west avenues with the north and south avenues lie three great courts of honor, the walls of the four buildings surrounding each court being indented to form the oval of the court.

In the center of the group is the great Court of the Universe; on the west, paralleling the Court of the Universe, is the Court of the Four Seasons, and on the east is the Court of Abundance. Vast colonnades encircle the courts, running from their openings on San Francisco harbor back to the courts themselves. From almost any point of view the visitor while traversing the courts will gain flashing glimpses of the blue harbor between the lofty colonnades.

The Court of the Universe is 750 feet in width by 900 feet long and resembles somewhat in shape the great plaza approaching the Church of St. Peter at Rome. The effect of the court is magnificent. Corinthian columns encircle it. The walls of the palaces behind the columns are pompeian red, while the vaults of the corridors are ultramarine blue. The columns are the shade of the exhibit palaces, a faint ivory yellow the color of imitation Travertine marble. The columns of the Court of the Four Seasons are Roman-Ionic, modified with a touch of modern detail. This court is 340 feet square and opens to the north on San Francisco harbor by a colonnaded avenue 473 feet long and 178 feet in width. Through a passage in a great niche or half dome at the south end of the court it opens into the Court of Palms.

The east court, or Court of Abundance, is similar in size and shape to the Court of the Four Seasons. An arcade, dominated by a great oriental tower 270 feet in height, upon the north avenue of the court encircles the court. Between the courts along the intersecting east and west avenues are great open patios where the ornamentation of the walls of the palaces is very lavish. The patios are cut off from the courts by huge colonnades, so that each presents a distinctive scheme of color and decoration. The prevailing decoration of these vast open aisles is pompeian, with shades of green, terra cotta, of robin's egg blue and venetian red, blended in marvelous mosaics.

Almost Continuous Facade.

The outside walls of the central group of eight palaces form an almost continuous facade. Throughout the entire circuit of the group the walls are unbroken save by the huge and highly decorated portals and entrances to the exhibit palaces, by the openings of the courts upon San Francisco harbor and by the two minor courts that open upon the South Gardens.

Throughout the circuit of the vast encircling facade there is regularity in the architecture. In the walls of the stately palaces are green latticed windows with a wealth of gold and terra cotta, showing behind the network of the green. The windows recall those of the great monasteries. Indeed, several of these are reproductions of portals in famous Spanish monasteries. Repeated groups of statuary, lofty Corinthian and Ionic columns, stately portals and a profusion of ornamental trees, some of them fifty feet in height, and shrubs contrast with the prevailing ivory tint of the walls, lending life and beauty to the ensemble.

To give an adequate word picture of the mighty exposition is almost impossible, particularly when one comes to a consideration of the color scheme and the indirect lighting system by which neither arc nor incandescent is present to affront the eye. And yet approaching the exposition either from the bay of San Francisco or from over the hills on any of the car lines that travel to its gates these are the first features that thrill with wonder and anticipation.

Looking down on the hundreds of acres of gleaming domes and lofty spires, mammoth arches and extended colonnades, lawns and flowers, noble palms and forestation, with the kaleidoscope of colors blending over all, the vision is one to recall some dream city. Looking down on this same vision by night, with the subdued effulgence of millions of concealed lights investing the whole with an incomparable radiance, one in very truth seems to view the realization of a glorious dream.

QUARTET CHOIR WILL GIVE SPECIAL SERVICE

At the special musical service to be held in the First Methodist church tomorrow night, the quartet choir under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, organist and director, will give a program of anthems which are among the favorites of the members of the church and congregation.

The assisting soloist at this service will be Miss Ethel Rubel, violinist. Miss Rubel has been studying abroad for the past two years and is an artist of rare ability. She has appeared here in concert and no doubt her many friends in Plainfield will be glad of this opportunity of hearing her again. The public is invited to this service.

—It pays to use the advertising columns of The Press.

"FANNY CROSBY" SERVICE.

A "Fanny Crosby Memorial Service" will be held at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow night. Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, the pastor, will give a short sketch of the hymn-writer's life and the story of her hmyns, some of which will be sung. Mrs. Robinson will sing, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." In the morning, Dr. Hudson will preach on "Paradise Promised from the Cross," the second Lenten sermon on the "Seven Sayings from the Cross." A chorus choir will furnish the music for all services.

SENTENCE POSTPONED.

Elizabeth, Feb. 27—Sentence was again postponed yesterday, in the Court of Quarter Sessions, in the case of William and Arthur Brunet, of Garwood, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of Lorenz Begasse, a boarding-house keeper. The postponement was for the purpose of giving counsel more time to consider the case.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, FEBRUARY 27, 1915.

On Saturdays the editorial columns of the Daily Press are conducted by citizens who are free to express their own views. The contributing editor for today is A. B. Jones, President of the Public Recreation Committee.

PUBLIC RECREATION.

About one hundred years ago America inaugurated the idea of popular education and it made what had been the privilege of the few, the right of all. The last century has demonstrated the public school idea to be correct, but now that life is more complex than it was then, it becomes necessary for us to go beyond this. Every avenue of development which leads to human happiness should be open to all and it is the duty of the state or community to see that these avenues are open. One hundred years ago life was quite simple and was not confronted with the social problem as it exists today in our thickly populated industrial centres. We are forced, due to the advent of steam and electricity, to acknowledge the mutual interdependence of not only all people, but all the peoples so that the welfare of one in the community is acknowledged to affect the community as a whole. Even the welfare of one community affects that of another, as for instance a labor strike in the coal region affects the entire country. A calamity in the wheat fields of the West would be a calamity to the East and possibly the world. Society, therefore, today might be compared to a chain which is no stronger than its weakest link, and it is our duty to see that the weak links are made strong and not discarded or thrown away.

While elementary education answered our needs ten decades ago, it will not do so now and one of the most necessary requirements of education today is to teach people "that the social unit is larger than the individual unit, that individual victory is not as sweet as the victory of the team or community, and that the most perfect self-realization is won by the most perfect sinking of one's self in the welfare of the larger unit"—the community. This is the primary, fundamental aim of Public Recreation—to teach the subordination of the individual to the group, not the subordination of repression, but activity for the good of all. To do this, the old method of posing as Lady or Gentleman Bountiful would be disastrous and the old idea that as leaders, something regenerating emanated from our mere presence is past. The modern way is to have people do their own regenerating, to help others to help themselves. In this 20th century when sins of omission are as injurious to the social life as those of commission, we do not claim any superiority, but come together on equal footing in mutually owned buildings without race, religious or political prejudices, for mutual benefit.

We often look with pride to the words in our country's Constitution stating that all men are "born equal." We inject into our politics, platforms aiming towards social justice, and each week we are reminded that we should love our neighbors, rich or poor, good or bad, but how far do we carry these sentiments into practice? Are we not offered through this public recreation movement that is sweeping over the country, a most excellent opportunity of carrying these ideas into practice, meeting our neighbors as equals, and if not helpful to them, at least interested in their affairs and prosperity?

The Public Recreation Committee of Plainfield is trying through self-governed clubs to foster the community spirit and they feel that their services to the community are as helpful to themselves as to the people they are bringing together. The most marked characteristic of the present day, is that people are coming together more and more for mutual protection. That this is so, is the hope of our future democracy. Team work is the essence of play and through gymnasium clubs, dancing classes, dramatic and musical organizations, we are learning how to live together harmoniously and effectively, holding our place in the front rank with the modern and advanced educational centres of the country.

This admirable position Plainfield has held in the past and we hope through the addition of Public Recreation, supported so generously by the Board of Education, Common Council and the entire community, to be worthy of this position in the future.

A. B. JONES.

CONTEST LIST GROWING

counted for candidates not regularly nominated. Send in your application blank. Your friends may commence saving votes for you, thinking, of course, you have entered.

The ballot-box is now ready to receive votes at the contest department, and already candidates and their friends have begun to make good use of it.

Easy to Secure Votes.

Candidates who are already working tell the contest manager that when they explain the object they have in view in securing subscriptions for the Press, their story is received with courteous interest by people to whom they are almost total strangers, and when the project is fully explained, they invariably are rewarded by being given a subscription, generally with a word of cheerful encouragement, to the Press, which has made possible the combination of efforts that will bring so much pleasure and be of such educational benefit to the winners.

Lest You Forget.

Candidates may secure subscriptions in any section or territory, and are not confined to their own district. If, for instance, you have a friend in South Africa or Van Dieman's Land, votes will be allowed up on this subscription should you secure it. But candidates must reside in the district from which they enter.

There are no conditions that do not apply to all alike. It is a fair field, where the ambitious candidates have an equal chance of winning.

Candidates are requested not to mark anything in the space reserved for the number of the subscription and the number of the ballot. This space is to be filled in when the subscriptions are brought or sent into the contest office.

About the Vote Schedule.

The schedule of votes issued upon paid-in-advance subscriptions will at no time during the contest be altered or deviated from. The value of votes at the commencement of the contest and the end will remain the same. There will be no periods where special amounts of votes will be issued. No bargain day; no increasing the first vote announcement.

Everyone Wins.

The management of the Press has decided to be most liberal to the candidates who may enter this contest. In addition to the four splendid trips to be given the district winners, to all those candidates who do not win trips, and remain active until the end of the contest, a commission of ten per cent. will be paid on new subscriptions, and a five per cent. commission will be paid on old subscriptions.

MR. AND MRS. GLAENTZER WINNERS OF PRIZE WALTZ

After a closely contested competition,, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Glaentzer were declared the winners of the prize waltz at Company K's fair last night. Members of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps which attended in a body and conducted the enterprise in the absence of the military boys at Trenton, acted as judges and experienced considerable difficulty in making a selection. "Tush" Jaeger and Mrs. Angleman, were a close second. The awards were two handsome silver cups.

A large crowd was in attendance and all the attractions of the fair were well patronized. The Drum Corps boys proved able managers, having had many experiences of this kind. The fair will come to a close tonight and all those who have not visited the Armory during the week should make certain to be present, as it is the last opportunity this year to give Company K a boost toward the necessary new Armory fund.

PITH AND POINT.

There is a time for all things and a thing for all times.

There are no glasses that can correct mental shortsightedness.

If there were but one loafer he would be the lonesomest man in town.

Fame is worth a great deal more than money—if you've got both.

It is harder to tell what to do when in doubt than what to do when in debt.

Some senate speeches much longer than the Gettysburg address won't last as long.

A remarkable man is one who does a remarkable thing and doesn't talk about it.

Some men are so steady in their habits that they become motionless in their progress.

The ancient kings wore their crowns at the war front. Now they're lucky to wear their heads.

One reason why gossips are so unpopular is because they get such a lot of truth mixed up with their lies.

Bravery on the field of battle wins your country's gratitude, but nobody cheers you for not yelping in a dentist's chair.

War, too, has its infinite variety. Nowadays a soldier can be killed by engines of war in the air, on the sea and under the sea.

Perhaps the man in the trenches may spend some valuable moments before he is killed in trying to study out what he is to be killed for.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

RIGHT AND LEFT HANDED.

A Series of School Tests and an Ambidextrous Failure.

Ever since it was proved that in all righthanded people the speech center of the brain—the place from which talking is controlled—is on the left side of the brain and that in lefthanded people it is on the right side there has existed a suspicion that if a person became ambidextrous, or able to use both hands equally well, the speech center might be doubled, and consequently talking ability might be improved. Very elaborate tests have shattered this hope.

A German specialist obtained the assistance of the school authorities and tried it out on nearly 3,000 school children. After a careful record was taken of each child's hand preference, speech ability and general capability all the children were told to try to use both hands. For many months an effort was made to have all the children become ambidextrous.

At the end of the test all the teachers and other observers agreed that, though some of the children had succeeded in becoming ambidextrous, the effort had worried them all and had shown no advantages manually or in speech that in any way recompensed for the trouble taken. Consequently the scientist has decided that nature is doing pretty well with her own system of left side speech and right hand preference.—Saturday Evening Post.

Elephants' Ears.

The African elephant is equipped with enormous ears, while his brother in India has only small ears. Both animals have small, inadequate eyes and are forced to trust to scent rather than vision in the battle of existence. The Indian elephant lives in the jungle, where odors are pungent and easily discernible, but the African elephant is a native of the plains, where the air is dry and hot and barely circulates. The heat dries the moisture out of the tiny hairs in the nostrils which connect with the sensory nerves, and it is only through flapping his enormous ears that he can create the currents of air which enable him to discern any odor at all.

Travelers are prone to ascribe the flapping of an elephant's ears to fury, but this is a mistaken notion.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Gunners' Patron Saint.

Why was St. Barbara chosen to be the patron saint of all gunners? It is one of those things which are to be known and which one ought to know, but does not. Meanwhile there is the fact that she does intercede for all gunners by land or sea.

In the old French navy the Ste. Barbe was the gun room, and the name may be found with that meaning attached to it in all dictionaries. Moreover, in France she is the saint not only of gunners, but of all fire brigades. The sapeurs pompiers hold their holiday on the day of her feast.—Westminster Gazette.

Where He Learned Juggling.

Rankin—Do you know Professor Toshemup, the great juggler?

Phyle—I should say so. We were raised together.

"How in the world did he ever learn all of those wonderful stunts?"

"He started to earn his living as a photographer, and he learned all of those tricks while trying to amuse the babies whose pictures he took."—Youngstown Telegram.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

May I trespass in your space to say in reply to several inquiries, that any one wishing information on the various phases of our anti-suffrage movement, can obtain literature on the subject from Miss Osgood, 17 Myrtle avenue, who is chairman of our literature committee.

I am glad also to thank you for the very fair and impartial report of the debate.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

and the hiring of a force of workmen, numbering several hundreds. The fire scenes are real, an entire palace being erected and burned in order to produce the desired effects. A vessel costing many thousands of dollars was wrecked on the reefs near Golden Gate, San Francisco. In the banquet scenes, a thousand people figured, and the attractions included an oyster dance, showing a beautiful woman appearing from an oyster in the centre of the banquet table. A barge also appeared, arising from a lake of champagne, bearing Neptune's daughter. In selecting the costumes of royalty and notables, who were present at the banquet, the utmost care was taken to insure accuracy. Carlotte de Felice appears in the leading role of Hope Ross, who is abducted on board the yacht that goes to her doom in the San Francisco Bay. Elizabeth Stuart plays the part of the daughter of Croesus, the latter role being taken by Mat. B. Snyder. George Cheseboro is Crosby the superintendent of the works.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Nettie Kline, of West Fifth street, has been stopping in Newark where she will remain until the first of March.

George Hoff, of East Sixth street, has been confined to his home by a slight illness.

Henry Kilblock, of Howard street, who was operated on in Muhlenberg Hospital, has returned to his home.

NEW COURT CABINET.

Owing to the absence of a quorum it was necessary to postpone the meeting of the Councilmanic finance committee scheduled for last night. The committee has authorized the installation of a new filing cabinet in the District Court rooms.

MAKE YOURS A PUBLIC SERVICE STORE

This is the age of service. The rewards of today go to the men who give the most in return.

Translated for you, Mr. Merchant, this means that the customers are certain to patronize the store that will give them what they want when they want it.

Cut prices may bring some trade, but better service will bring more.

This is the age when people are reading the advertising in their daily newspapers because they are finding that a distinct part of the service they expect their newspapers to give.

When a nationally distributed article of merit is advertised in the newspapers a demand for it sets in right away.

People want to see it and, if satisfied, want to buy it.

They are going to turn to the place that lets them know it has the article. That store will be giving them the service they want at that particular moment.

If it is a good article they are going to remember the store where they got it and will come back to that store again.

Co-operate with the manufacturers who come into the newspapers of your town to exploit their goods and you will be building business for yourself.

JAPANESE COURT TRIALS.

The Judges, Not the Lawyers, Question the Witnesses.

The defendant in a Japanese court was testifying in his own behalf. He stood directly in front of the presiding judge, not ten feet distant from him, and answered his questions in a clear voice, without any apparent hesitation. The judge seemed conversant with the case, for he put questions rapidly, giving a funny little grunt of acquiescence after every answer. Occasionally one of the associates wrote a suggestion and handed it to the president, and once or twice the defendant's counsel asked the court to put a certain inquiry. The whole proceeding—and the same may be said of those in several other courts I visited—was conducted in a quiet, colloquial way. In every instance I was impressed with the simple, businesslike atmosphere.

Some of the Japanese lawyers with whom I have talked say that they feel that very often the court does not elicit all the facts and that our system of having witnesses questioned by counsel would be better, but, on the other hand, some lawyers maintain that better results are realized by the system, which puts upon the court the duty of getting at the truth, maintaining that the witnesses are more apt to talk frankly to the court than to the lawyer for the opposite side who is engaged, as they think, in trying to make them out liars.

I came away quite favorably impressed with what I saw and wondering whether on the whole in 95 per cent of the cases a decision by three judges trained in the investigation of facts would not be as nearly right as the verdict of twelve citizens casually gathered in from the general community.—George W. Wickersham in Case and Comment.

COAXING THE FURNACE.

Try Gentleness and the Uplift and Kindly, Soothing Words.

Treat your furnace kindly. Let your watchwords as a furnace tender be gentleness and uplift. Be firm with your furnace, but always gentle. Some persons imagine that the way to make a furnace behave properly is to first shake it violently and then maul the life out of the remaining coals with the poker. They try chastisement when they should try gentleness and uplift and only succeed in packing the coal harder and destroying ventilation, the secret of successful furnace tending.

Nothing responds more readily to uplift than does a furnace fire. When in the early morning you wish to arouse the furnace fire from its slumbers, you should first shake it gently, then gently tickle the ribs of the grate with the poker to make ventilation more perfect and then crack the top crust with a lever-like uplifting use of the poker. In a minute the fire will be wide awake and in good humor, laughing and sticking out its tongues of flame at you in merriment.

Never swear at your furnace, no matter how it annoys you. That will make it sulky and obstinate. You never saw a furnace which was sworn at often which was not frequently sulky and obstinate. Now, did you? It is advisable to take the directly opposite tack. I know a man who always addresses his furnace as "sweetheart" or "darling," and he assures me the plan works to perfection. "Maybe it doesn't really make the furnace warm up the way it seems to," he frankly admits. "Maybe the mere suggestion just keeps me from losing my temper and hammering my fire to pieces. But, anyway, the results are excellent. Savvy?"—Lee Shippey in Judge.

Aisle on the Car in a Wreck.

A veteran railroad man gave a piece of valuable advice not long ago.

"If you ever get into a wreck," he said, "and have time to follow out this suggestion, remember this: Always stand in the aisle. Most of the injuries that are suffered occur because the victim is crushed between the seats. If you are in the aisle you may be thrown forward and bruised a little, but there is much less chance of receiving serious hurts. It isn't always possible to get out of your seat before the crash comes, but if it is follow that advice."—Pittsburgh Press.

Dome of the Rock.

The name "Dome of the Rock" is one that has been conferred on the celebrated mosque of Omar, at Jerusalem. It stands on Mount Moriah, on the site once occupied by the temple of Solomon. Immediately under its dome an irregular shaped rock projects above the pavement. This rock was the scene of many Scriptural events and has been greatly revered for ages by Jews and Mohammedans.

They Were Not.

A young clergyman, small of stature, preaching as a candidate in a certain place one Sabbath, peering over the pulpit Bible, announced as his text: "It is I. Be not afraid."

Arab Horse Test.

SHEEP DOG TRIALS.

Australia's National Pastime, the Maltese Cross Test.

Sheep dog trials may be considered a national pastime if not a national sport in Australia. There is an annual agricultural show in every town and village in the pastoral parts. There are general competitions on the lines of the American county and state fairs. There are horse races, buck jumping, shearing, log chopping and other strenuous competitions. But not one of these excites more interest than the sheep dog trials, and in these tests Australians have set the example of certain of the most serious tasks that a man and a dog may be asked to accomplish with three strange sheep—sheep that had never previously met until they had a moment before been turned out from three separate pens to be packed or gathered together by the dog.

It was the Australians who first put forward, and they still maintain it, the Maltese cross test. The eight six foot hurdles are set in the shape of a Maltese cross. The passages are of a width that will permit only one sheep to pass through at a time. The animals have to be driven north and south and east and west, all the passes being open at the time. The skill and patience of the dog are here tried to the utmost, and there can be little wonder there is a gasp of satisfaction and a cheer of joy when the sheep have been successfully driven through these narrow ways.

The Australian sheep dogs are the smallest in use in the world, but are quick and lively in their work. It is no wonder that the Australian gives much thought for his dogs, for it goes without saying that the work of the sheep station could not be accomplished without them. In ordinary cases it is reckoned that one dog can do the work of half a dozen men. In many instances a dog is superior to fifty humans, and where there are such vast flocks of nimble sheep, such as the merinos in Australia are, it would be impossible to round them up so that they may be examined, counted and duly looked over without the dogs.—Argonaut.

LAWS OF THE INCAS.

A Code That Was Remarkable For Its Beneficent Simplicity.

Among the most remarkable laws of the Incas were those concerning taxation. The principal feature of those laws was that taxes were not paid in money, but in work and in produce, whether manufactured or grown. The Inca emperors thought it unjust to demand that taxes should be paid in any kind of commodity that the people could not produce by their own personal labor.

The people also paid another sort of tribute. They made clothes, shoes and arms for the soldiers and for the poor who could not work themselves owing to age or infirmity. The cloth was made of wool from the flocks of llamas that abounded in the mountains. On the plains of the seacoast, where the climate is warm and they do not dress in woolens, the people made cotton cloths, the cotton being supplied from the crops of the emperor. The shoes were made in the provinces where aloes were most abundant, for they were made of the leaves of a tree called maguey. Each province furnished its own produce, and no province had to supply anything that did not belong to it.

There was a mandate that forbade beggary and destitution, that, of course, followed upon due provision of their laws. Every citizen was provided for theoretically and practically. No man need be idle; no man need lack land or seed or implements for cultivation, therefore no one was permitted to beg. If any were found doing so it was clear proof of idleness, for the incapable were provided for, and contempt and punishment were meted out on all tramps, vagabonds and idlers.—"The Secret of the Pacific."

"For the Sake of Argument."

"Well, now, for the sake of argument"— Is there a more irritating phrase? Is there any greater bore than the person who habitually employs it? To be asked to assume anything "just for the sake of argument" invariably prejudices us against making that concession. We sit grim and cold while the controversialist assumes and expounds. We feel that to oblige him we would not even assume that two and two make four.—Youth's Companion.

An Unsolved Problem.

"How, sir, is it possible," demanded counsel of a bankrupt who was undergoing his public examination, "to live in the luxurious style you have affected on £40 a year?"

"That," replied the bankrupt, "is a problem to which I have devoted considerable time in the interests of social economy, and the results of my humble efforts are now before the court."—London Mail.

Plenty of Collars.

A young man went into a clothing store and asked for a collar. The clerk waited on him and said: "They are 15 cents each, two for 25 cents. Want two?"

The young man replied, "No, I have plenty of collars, but they are both in the laundry."—Indianapolis News.

Came Natural.

Bacon—They say that the president of the bank who got away with a lot of the money began his career as janitor of the institution. Egbert—Never forgot his early training to clean out the bank, evidently.—Yonkers Statesman.

FINAL RATINGS FOR THE SENIOR LEAGUE

New Brunswick Team Annexes Title for Fourth Time.

The final averages of the Senior Elks' Bowling League give the New Brunswick team the championship trophy and Harry Taylor, of the Paterson team, high individual honors with an average of 196.12 for the entire fifty-four games. Taylor has led the league from the start and pinned well in every match. Tommy Corydon, captain of the Jersey City team, was second; Maloney, of Elizabeth; Coyne, of New Brunswick; Wright, of Jersey City; Clauss, of Elizabeth, and Mahlenbrouck, of Jersey City, following in the order named. The first Plainfield individual to place was Vail with an average of 179.39 in 48 games. Captain "Bill" Nash and Johnny Campbell were the only local players who rolled all of the games.

Roth, of Paterson, gets the individual high score prize with a mark of 267, and Newark copped the team prize for this with a 1,099. Jersey City maintained the highest average throughout the league, which was 945.3. The final standings follow:

GOOD ATTRACTION BOOKED FOR HOPE CHAPEL TEAM

"Hymie" Abrams' All Star Braves will meet the Hope Chapel basketball team on the Chapel court tonight. Manager Allen Snyder, of the Hope team, received a cancellation from the Whitehouse Five, of Newark, and was forced to put on an eleventh hour attraction.

The borough team will be composed of High School players and should give the Chapelites a good game. The following will get into action: Hyman Abrams, Bob Hebert, Warren Townley, Edson Day and Martin.

GAME AT Y. M. C. A.

The Roselle Park Tigers will meet the Y. M. C. A. Second team on the association court tonight. This will be the big attraction as the first team is booked to play in Trenton. There will be a preliminary game between two Color League teams.

LEAVE ON 5:13.

The following members of the Y. M. C. A. basketball team will leave for Trenton on the 5:13 train this afternoon: Jack Ricketts, Joe Gavett, Addison Newirk, Ashley Burner and Frank Dunning.

AMBOY WON OUT BY A SINGLE POINT

North Plainfield Girls Lost Hard Fought Game Yesterday.

The North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team lost a hard fought contest, yesterday afternoon, in Perth Amboy against the High School girls' team of that place, by the score of 20 to 19.

Although the local players lost the contest, they put up a splendid fight and led their opponents throughout both periods, the score at the end of the first half standing 11 to 8 in their favor, and the home team only winning out by one point after the sound of the final whistle when they shot a foul goal.

Miss Burtis led in the scoring department for the boroughites, caging three neat field goals and nine fouls, while her running mate, Miss Spencer, contributed two more baskets to the tally.

For the winners, Miss Sheyer, who played forward, and Miss Water at guard were the stars, Miss Sheyer scoring ten points for her side and Miss Water playing a fine game in the defensive position.

SWEET REVENGE FOR P. H. S. SENIOR BOYS

Faculty Basketball Players Treated to a One-Point Beating.

In a close, fast and exciting game of basketball, yesterday afternoon, in the local High School gymnasium, the Senior Class team defeated the Faculty by the score of 42 to 41. The senior team led all the way, and in the first half had little difficulty in scoring on their older opponents, at Senior team led all the way, and in the end of the half leading by 24 to 10. The old-timers changed their pace in the second half of the battle and crept up on the Seniors until they came within one point of winning, when time was called.

The Faculty came on the floor arrayed in all sorts of uniforms, from Biddle in knickerbockers to "Herr" Hauch in his military uniform and sword.

Many times through the individual efforts of Woodman the Faculty scored. He made several pretty long shots from the center of the floor, in all caging the ball nine times. The game was staged for the benefit of the school paper, the Oracle.

BASEBALL CHATTER.

Baseball fans in Salt Lake City are so eager for a team that they raised a $12,500 subscription to help secure an option on the new club.

Fielder Jones says eighteen men are sufficient for a pennant winner in the big leagues. Jones probably never expects to have a pennant winner.

Christy Mathewson says that the team and not the individual draws the crowd. Wonder if that is what Christy said the last time he hit Manager McGraw for a raise?

Chief Bender, former Athletic hero, predicts that Wyckoff will be one of the best pitchers of the country within the next two years. "All he lacks is control, and that will come to him," says the Indian.

If Walter Johnson lost fifteen pounds in the three weeks he toted that $6,000 advance money of the Federals, now that he has turned it back is it not likely that he will report to Griffith in the spring a mere shadow of his former self?

SOME SPICY SPORT CHATS

West Should Be Given Chance at Tennis Championships.

WOULD PRODUCE TALENT.

With Big Match Held In New Section Some Youngster Might Bob Up as a Champion—Ban Johnson's Opinions Now and Those of 1900.

The western idea of nothing to worry about is the transfer of the national tennis championship from Newport, R. I., to New York. Whichever way the cat jumped there was never a chance for its general direction to be westward.

The east has a complete monopoly of the tennis championship industry. The change merely means that the New York element has won from the Boston clique.

What the west wants is a rotation tournament in line with the suggestion of Dwight F. Davis, first one city and then another entertaining the United States title contestants.

The east has far the greater proportion of good tennis players as compared with the west. It also has a number of exclusive clubs equipped for handling the event, something in which the west is deficient. But the Lawn Tennis association has a surplus of $29,000, which could help defray expenses of shifting the tourney annually, as proposed.

If the building up of the game is desired shifting the national championship would certainly do more than keeping it perpetually in one spot however well adapted to holding such an event that spot might be.

"Have the tournament west in 1916," should be the slogan of all members of the national association not hidebound enough to think New York is the center of the solar system.

In the three years of warfare carried on by the American league during its attack on major leaguedom early this century, 113 hurdlers were recorded.

In the present fight only seventy-five big leaguers, or near big leaguers, have flopped, during the two seasons of high jumping that have obtained since the Feds broke in. This time, too, the outlaws had two major leagues to draw upon instead of one. Or, about 500 players as against 250 in the old days.

On its face the organized big league baseball world ought to be less affected in playing strength by the Federals than was the case when Ban Johnson's warriors swarmed over the National league fences.

It's queer, too, to listen to Ban John son now, and then parallel his utterances with some of his sayings of twelve or thirteen years ago. It makes a difference which foot the shoe is on.

During the course of a fanning bee in Davenport recently Dan O'Leary, the Davenport manager, told a story which is worth printing again. It concerns Dominick Mullaney, who recently landed a job as an American league umpire.

When Mullaney was with the Bloomers the Bloomington club did not furnish its players with tickets for the street car line running out to the park in that city. Instead the players were supposed to bring a glove, a baseball cap or some other bit of their paraphernalia so that the conductor could identify them and not charge a fare.

One day Mullaney happened to be without any of his trappings. The conductor became wrathy and threatened to put him off. Mul, however, called and turned the laugh on him with the following remark:

"The next time you want to deadhead your way into the ball park you will have to carry a couple hundred pounds of street car rails so that we will know you are a conductor."

President Gilmore of the Feds tells an interesting story of the efforts made by President Charley Weeghman of the Chifeds a few days ago to sign Prince Herman Schaefer, the former comedian utility man of the Washington Nationals, who recently drew his release from Manager Griffith.

Schaefer called on Weeghman and when asked how much he wanted said:

"A two year contract, calling for $6,000 a season."

"Why, that's a lot of money. You are getting old and going back," Weeghman told the comedian.

"I'll admit that, Charley, but you know I'm awfully funny."

TRYY-OUTS FOR TENNIS TEAM.

Manager French, of the North Plainfield High School tennis team, for which tryouts are now being held in Saengerbund Hall, has already scheduled some games for the coming season and hopes to have the list complete within the next few weeks.

The first match against Plainfield will be run off on May 18 on North Plainfield's court and the second one will be played on the Plainfield court.

DISCUSS MINIMUM WAGE

Massachusetts, Minnesota, Nebraska, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wisconsin, where the minimum wage commissions have existed since 1912 and 1913. "The Factory Investigating Commission, which has just completed a comprehensive study of wages in New York State," said the speaker, "reports that 50,000 men and women in four trades alone are earning less than $8 per week; that out of 15,000 female employes in New York city 8,000 received less than $6.50 a week during the busy season last year; that 53 per cent. of the women in the large department stores in New York city earn less than $8 per week. The report also shows that in the candy trade 50 per cent. of single women receive less than $5.85 per week, that in the paper-box factories women, working at the highest possible speed, can make their weekly wage only $6. These low wages means cramped living quarters, lack of nourishing food, sickness and general inefficiency. The only method to prevent this condition and enforce a living wage is by legislation. The wage should be such that it would guarantee to the worker the minimum earnings sufficient to meet the necessities of life and to maintain health and efficiency."

Mrs. Nathan urged the members to work together to buy articles sold under just and wholesome conditions and thus to ameliorate the deplorable situations surrounding many producers. She urged a fair and reasonable wage to support a human being in a civilized country. "To do justice is far better than to do charity," continued the speaker, "and the word charity must be synonymous with justice." A living wage was urged so that a girl could maintain a livelihood and keep her self-respect.

Miss Rose Winslow, of the Women's Trade Union League, spoke briefly upon the modern conservatism of so many people. "At the present day we are coming to the point where we all look upon workers as a human being also," said Miss Winslow, "and realize that people who work with their hands and brains are just as equal as anyone else, although it took us a great many thousands of years to get that message. Some of us think that because a person is born in a slum, he is just fitted for that environment and wouldn't be dragged away for all the world. That is our attitude toward the worker and that is a purely physical and casual wall. We are such creatures of habit that it is hard sometimes to accustom ourselves to these new ideas, but I wish some of you people would jolt yourselves in the aspect of other things. The human mind has to be taken out of its old established modes and traits. Some people ask why do the working girls dress so? Don't you know that they are just as much human as you are; their minds are not entirely warped, and they love beauty also." The speaker urged the women to join some kind of an organization to do away with these insane ideas. "We would then live as happy as we were supposed to live and our stupid conservatism that keeps us all screwed in our grooves would be abolished," concluded Miss Winslow.

Miss Anna Rochester, of the National Child Labor Commission, gave a short talk on the street trades for children. She deplored the conditions existing among newsboys, especially because of their premature independence in feeling that they have money of their own and can do as they please. As a result 54 per cent. of the cases before the Juvenile Court were newsboys. The newsboy begins his life in the street and forms bad habits from the things he sees about him. There is an open sesame for the boy with a paper under his arm into the saloon and disorderly houses. Statements of teachers show that there is a retardation in the school among the newsboys; reports from mothers show that the amount turned in by the boys is hardly worth the time they put in and the bad influence they obtain on the street is evidenced in later life.

At the conclusion of the addresses, Mrs. Charles Whitnall, secretary of the New Jersey branch, read her report of the work accomplished in New Jersey the past year.

The Consumers' League of New Jersey was organized on March 2, 1900, at East Orange, and the objects of the league are to secure better conditions for women and children who are wage earners, to further the enactment and enforcement of laws for their protection and to increase the demand for goods made and sold under right conditions.

Mrs. Cushing urged the women to write to the members of the Labor and Industrial Commission at Trenton to vote favorably for Assembly Bill 64, one day's rest in seven; Assembly Bill 249, amendment to the ten hour law; ten hours to be included in eleven. The members of the commission are Hon. Robert Peacock, Lewis P. Stevens, H. Edward Wolf, Arthur A. Quinn and William Hughes.

PEG O' MY HEART

By J. Hartley Manners

A Comedy of Youth Founded by Mr. Manners on His Great Play of the Same Title—Illustrations From Photographs of the Play

Copyright, 1913, by Dodd, Mead & Company

CHAPTER XIX.

Peg and Jerry.

PEG went haphazardly around the room examining everything, sitting in various kinds of chairs, on the sofa, smelling the flowers, and wherever she went Jerry followed her at a little distance.

"Are you going to stay here?"

"Mebbe I will and mebbe I won't."

"Did your aunt send for you?"

"No, me uncle—me Uncle Nat."

"Nathaniel Kingsnorth!" cried Jerry in amazement.

Peg nodded.

"Sleepin' in his grave, poor man."

"Why, then, you're Miss Margaret O'Connell?"

"I am. How did you know that?"

"I was with your uncle when he died."

"Were ye?"

"He told me all about you."

"Did he? Well, I wish the poor man 'ud ha' lived. An' I wish he'd 'a' thought o' us sooner—he with all his money an' me father with none an' me his sister's only child."

"What does your father do?"

Peg took a deep breath and answered eagerly. She was on the one subject about which she could talk freely—all she needed was a good listener. This strange man, unlike her aunt, seemed to be the very person to talk to on the one really vital subject to Peg. She said breathlessly:

"I don't often cry," she said.

"Sure me father can do anything at all—except make money. An' when he does make it he can't kape it. He doesn't like it enough. Nayther do I. We've never had very much to like, but we've seen others around us with plenty, an', faith, we've been the happiest—that we have."

She only stopped to take breath before on she went again:

"There have been times when we've been most starvin', but me father never lost his pluck or his spirits. Nayther did I. When times have been the hardest I've never heard a word of complaint from me father nor seen a frown on his face. An' I'm sick for the sight of him. An' I'm sure he is for me—for his 'Peg o' My Heart,' as he always calls me."

She uncovered her eyes as the tears trickled down through her fingers.

"Don't do that," he said softly as he felt the moisture start into his own eyes.

"I don't often cry," she said. "Me father never made me do it. I never saw him cry but twice in his life—once when we made a little money an' we had a mass said for me mother's soul an' we had the most beautiful candles on Our Lady's altar. He cried then, he did. An' when I left him to come here on the ship—an' then only at the last minnit."

In a moment she went on again:

"I cried meself to sleep that night. I did. An' many a night, too, on that steamer.

"An' I wish I hadn't come—that I do. He's missin' me every minnit—an' I'm missin' him. An' I'm not goin' to be happy here ayther.

"I don't want to be a lady. An' they won't make me one, ayther, if I can help it. 'Ye can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear,'—that's what me father always said. An' that's what I am. I'm a sow's ear."

She stopped.

"I'm afraid I cannot agree with you."

She looked up at him and said indifferently:

"That's what I am. I'm a sow's ear."

"When the strangeness wears off you'll be very happy. You're among friends."

Peg shook her head and said bitterly: "No, I'm not. They may be relations, but they're not me friends."

He turned to Peg and said:

"When they really get to know you, Miss O'Connell, they will be just as proud of you as your father is—as—I would be."

Peg looked at him in whimsical astonishment. "You'd be? Why should you be proud of me?"

"I'd be more than proud if you'd look on me as your friend."

"A friend is it?" cried Peg warily. "Sure I don't know who you are at all," and she drew away from him. She was on her guard. Peg made few friends. Why this man calling himself by the outlandish name of Jerry should walk in out of nowhere and offer her his friendship and expect her to jump at it puzzled her. Who was he?

"Who are ye at all?" she asked.

"No one in particular," answered Jerry between gasps.

"I can see that," said Peg candidly. "I mean what do ye do?"

"Everything a little and nothing really well," Jerry replied. "I was a soldier for awhile; then I took a splash at doctoring, read law, civil engineered in South America for a year; now I'm farming."

"Farming?" asked Peg incredulously.

"Yes. I'm a farmer."

Peg laughed as she looked at the well cut clothes, the languid manner and easy poise.

"It must be mighty hard on the land and cattle to have you farmin' them," she said.

"It is," and he, too, laughed again.

She started up the staircase leading to the mauve room.

Jerry called after her anxiously:

"No, no, Miss O'Connell! Don't go like that."

"I must," said Peg from the top of the stairs. "What will I get here but to be laughed at an' jeered at by a lot of people that are not fit to even look at me father? Who are they, I'd like to know, that I mustn't speak his name in their presence?"

Suddenly she raised her hand above her head, and in the manner and tone of a public speaker she astounded Jerry with the following outburst:

"An' that's what the Irish are doin' all over the wurrld. They're driven out of their own country by the English an' become wandherers on the face of the earth, an' nothin' they ever earn 'll make up to them for the separation from their homes an' their loved ones!" She finished the peroration on a high note and with a forced manner such as she had frequently heard on the platform.

She smiled at the astonished Jerry and asked him:

"Do ye know what that is?"

"I haven't the least idea," he answered truthfully.

"That's out of one of me father's speeches. He father makes grand speeches. He makes them in the cause of Ireland."

"Oh, really! In the cause of Ireland, eh?" said Jerry.

"Yes. He's been strugglin' all his life to make Ireland free, to get her home rule, ye know. But the English are so ignorant. They think they know more than me father. If they'd do what me father tells them sure there'd be no more throuble in Ireland at all."

"Really?" said Jerry quite interestedly.

"Not a bit of throuble. I wish me father was here to explain it to ye. He could tell ye the whole thing in a couple of hours. I wish he were here now just to give you an example of what fine speakin' really is. Do you like speeches?"

"Very much—sometimes," replied Jerry guardedly.

"Me father is wondherful on a platform with a lot o' people in front of him. He's wondherful. I've seen him take two or three hundred people who didn't know they had a grievance in the wurrld—the poor cratures—they were just contented to go on bein' ground down an' trampled on an' they not knowin' a thing about it—I've seen me father take that crowd an' in five minutes afther he had started spakin' to them ye wouldn't know they were the same people. They were all shoutin' at once, an' they had murther in their eye, an' it was blood they were afther. They wanted to reform somethin'—they weren't sure what—but they wanted to do it, an' at the cost of life. Me father could have led them anywhere. It's a wonderful power he was. Do ye like hearin' about me father?" she asked Jerry suddenly, in case she was tiring him.

Jerry hastened to assure her that he was really most interested.

"Well, so long as yer not tired I'll tell ye some more. Ye know I went all through Ireland when I was a child with me father in a cart. An' the police an' the constabulary used to follow us about. They were very frightened of me father, they were. They were grand days for me. Ye're English, mebbe?" she asked him suddenly.

"I am," said Jerry. He almost felt inclined to apologize.

"Well, sure that's not your fault. Ye couldn't help it. No one should hold that against ye. We can't all be born Irish."

"I'm glad you look at it so broad mindedly," said Jerry.

She stood restlessly a moment, her hands beating each other alternately.

"I get so lonesome for me father," she said.

Suddenly, with a tone of definite resolve in her voice, she started to the stairs, calling over her shoulder:

"I'm goin' back to him now. Good-by!"

Jerry followed her, pleading insistently:

"Wait! Please wait!"

She stopped and looked at him:

"Give us one month's trial—one month!" he urged. "It will be very little out of your life, an' I promise you your father will not suffer through it except in losing you for that one little month. Will you? Just a month?"

He spoke so earnestly and seemed so sincerely pained and so really concerned at her going that she came down a few steps and looked at him irresolutely.

"Why do you want me to stay?" she asked him.

"Because—because your late uncle was my friend. It was his last wish to do something for you. Will you? Just a month?"

She struggled with the desire to go away from all that was so foreign and distasteful to her. Then she looked at Jerry and realized, with something akin to a feeling of pleasure, that he was pleading with her to stay and doing it in such a way as to suggest that it mattered to him. She had to admit to herself that she rather liked the look of him. He seemed honest, even though he were English. After all, to run away now would look cowardly. Her father would be ashamed of her. This stuckup family would laugh at her. Instantly she made up her mind.

She would stay. Turning to Jerry, she said:

"All right, then. I'll stay—a month. But not any more than a month, though."

"Not unless you wish it."

"I won't wish it—I promise ye that. One month 'll be enough in this house."

"I am glad you're going to stay."

"Well, that's a comfort, anyway. Some one 'll be pleased at my stayin'."

Of Interest to Women and the Home

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

Note—It was unintentionally omitted that Mrs. A. J. George was the writer of last week's anti-suffrage column.

Judge Moses Hallett, who was judge of the United States Court twenty-seven years, and previously chief justice of Supreme Court, of Colorado, states in the Denver Republican:

"Our State has had the female suffrage plan a sufficiently long time to form a fair idea of its workings. I am not prejudiced in any way, but honestly do not see where the experiment has proved of benefit. The presence of women at the polls has only augmented the total vote; it has worked no radical changes. It has promoted no special reforms, and it has had no particularly purifying effect upon politics. There is a growing tendency on the part of most of the better and more intelligent female voters of Colorado, to cease exercising the ballot. They still go to the polls, but need to be urged by some of their male relatives."

Statement printed by "Fort Collins Express," Colorado paper:

"On moral questions the laws of Colorado are famous for their weakness or their absence. The women of Colorado are on trial in regard to the suffrage movement. Their failure to benefit this State by their ballot is doing more to retard woman suffrage in other States than anything else. If Colorado, as a result of woman suffrage, had laws above the average, especially on moral questions and where the rights of women are affected, if it was a State that could be pointed to with pride in regard to its laws and enforcement, if the city of Denver, as a result of their ballot, could be changed from the worst city, morally, in the land, to one of even average decency, then the suffragists could give reasons for asking for franchise in other States."

In Colorado, all the four women sitting in the Legislature of 1910-11 actually voted for a most vile race-track gambling bill, by their votes and example greatly aiding the passage by the Legislature. Governor Shafroth promptly vetoed the bill, and administered a scathing rebuke to the women in his veto message as follows:

"If this bill became a law, the finger of scorn and ridicule would ever efter be pointed at the influence of women's franchise in State affairs."

Dr. Helen L. Sumner, for the Equal Suffrage Association, of New York, spent two years of research in Colorado. In her book, "Equal Suffrage," she says:

"The effect of the woman vote upon party politics has been slight. Woman's sense of honor has been blunted. Women have been made bolder and more self-assertive. A county chairman, over his own signature, testified: 'In the last campaign women who sold their influence agreed to work for both parties for cash; the highest price paid, $25; the lowest, $5. I, myself, bought one woman for $1, when the Democrats bought her for $15, and we have her indorsement on both checks.'"

New York Evening World:

"The women of Phoenix, Arizona, have blocked prohibition and voted to keep the saloons open. * * * Giving women the vote was supposed to uplift the community to something approaching female altitudes. In Phoenix, on the contrary, they seem to have taken the vote and promptly slid down with it to the sordid levels of mere man."

New York Sun comments editorially:

"The Shafroth case is especially interesting in view of its bearing upon woman suffrage. The women of Colorado enjoy the right to vote, and the record in the Boynge-Shafroth contest shows that they were the perpetrators of the frauds; that they were the repeaters and vote-buyers, and that they padded the polling lists and stuffed the ballot-boxes."

At a meeting held in Trenton, at Association Hall, December 18 last, a woman in the audience asked: "What about the 12,000,000 working women in the country without homes? The following statistics show some points in reply to the above.

First, the total number of wage-earning females in the country over ten years of age is nearly 4,000,000 less than that mentioned in the question.

Second, over two and one-half millions of these weage-earners are engaged in domestic service, having their homes in the families in which they are employed. These figures bring the number of wage-earning females over ten years of age, whose homes are not included in their wages to 5,544,926.

Females over 10 years of age in all occupations in the United States, 8,075,772.

Agriculture, forestry and animal industry, 1,067,501.

Personal and domestic service, 2,520,846.

Manufacturing and mechanical pursuits, 1,820,980.

Trade, 468,088.

Clerical occupations, 523,224.

Professional service, 733,885.

Transportation, 100,596.

Public service (not elsewhere classified), 13,598.

Extraction of minerals, 2,094.

Males in U. S., 47,332,277.

Males in U. S., 10 years and over, 37,027,558.

Males in U. S., 10 years and over, in gainful pursuits, 30,027,564—81.3 per cent.

81.3 per cent. of males of 10 years and over are wage earners, as against 23.4 per cent. female wage-earners.

United States Census, Vol. IV., on Population, dealing with occupation statistics:

Females in U. S., 44,639,969.

Females in U. S., 10 years and over, 34,639,969.

Females in U. S., 10 years and over, engaged in gainful occupations, 8,075,772.

That is: 23.4 per cent. of the females of 10 years and over in this country earn their own living.

These figures, be it noted, include 733,885 "professional" women, to which class belong Dean Thomas, of Bryn Mawr College; Dr. Katherine Bement Davis, Commissioner of Prrisons in New York State (a shining example of the position a woman may attain without the ballot), and Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissivain, lawyer and suffrage lecturer

R. A. LAWRENCE.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"You see," explained Dick, leaning against the wall in the kitchenette, while Nell was preparing dinner, "if the Germans mine the Irish sea, the English——"

"Please, Dick, go into the other room till dinner is ready. I can't hear a word you say with this meat frying and it makes me so nervous to try to listen and cook too."

"Surely, I thought you wanted to know about the situation over there. You have asked me to explain it, and when I begin you can't listen." Dick was moving toward the door.

"When a woman has her hands full trying to get a meal she surely can devote no great amount of attention to the European situation," said Nell, turning the chops.

"Suit yourself. It's not as deep as an algebraic problem." Dick was evidently nettled at being asked to leave.

"Well, you know cooking is new to me yet. When I can do it by reflex action I can cook and study recent history at the same time," explained Nell.

Dick flung himself down in his easy chair with the paper for company. They were very quiet at dinner and Nell felt her nervousness dropping away from her, and after she had cleared away the meal and stacked the dishes that she might have a long evening with Dick, she brought out her work and drew her low sewing chair up near Dick's big one, prepared to hear Dick read aloud.

Nell was listening intently when Dick suddenly exploded with "For heaven's sake, Nell, tie the [illegible] to you. This is the third time you have dropped them this evening."

"You have made me so nervous, going up in the air over every little thing, that I am more clumsy than I was made, which is needless, you will admit." Nell stooped and picked up the offending implements and tucked them in her sewing basket. "Aren't you going to go on with the reading?" Her tone was aggrieved, for the silence had been long.

Dick had just gotten under full swing again when Nell laid a detaining hand on his knee.

"Please wait a minute till I get my darning cotton," she said and disappeared.

"All right, go ahead," she added a few minutes later, dropping into her chair.

"Are you sure you have everything you want? If not, get it now. I do hate to be interrupted." Dick's tone was irritated.

She looked at him, pathetic resignation on every feature. "Really, Dick, the number of things you hate is growing alarmingly. It will be like trying to live with a genius soon. Do try to get the better of your irritability or we may end by throwing plates at each other."

"Who was off the trolley before supper, I should like to know?" said Dick with a grin.

"Nuf sed." With an answering smile Nell dropped her cheek on his hand. "We must both try to go slow. It's our speeding up all the time that gets on our nerves, all on the surface. Don't you think so?"

"Yes, dear," he answered, patting her cheek with his disengaged hand. "We'll get a temporary divorce and rest up. That will be a good time for me to go out to Kansas to see that firm who wrote to me. You can visit at home that week or two."

"Have you got to go out there?" she asked, raising her head.

"Yes," he answered, slipping his arm around her. "A few days' separation will make us appreciate each other's company more. Don't you think so?"

"Perhaps," she answered doubtfully. "I hate to have you go."

He laughed and kissed her before resuming his reading.

Household Hints

LENTEN DISHES

Baked Rice and Cheese—Three cups boiled rice. Make a sauce with one cup milk, two tablespoons flour, half pound cheese, half teaspoon salt. Into buttered baking dish put alternate layers of cooked rice and sauce, cover with bread crumbs and bake until brown.

Macaroni and Cheese—Cook one cup macaroni in boiling water with half teaspoon salt and a little cayenne pepper; drain in a strainer and pour cold water over it to prevent pieces from adhering to each other. Make a sauce out of one cup milk, two tablespoons flour and one-fourth pound cheese grated. Put sauce and macaroni in alternate layers in buttered baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs and heat in oven until brown.

Macaroni With Cheese and Tomato Sauce—Boiled macaroni may be heated in tomato sauce and sprinkled with grated cheese just before serving.

Fried Bread With Cheese—Cut stale bread into thin slices, put two pieces together with grated cheese between them, dip into a mixture of eggs and milk and fry in butter or fat.

Welsh Rarebit—Cook one teaspoon cornstarch in one teaspoon butter; add half cup milk gradually and cook two minutes; add half pound cheese cut into small pieces and stir until melted; season with half teaspoon each of salt and mustard and a very little cayenne pepper. Serve on bread toasted on one side, the rarebit being poured over the untoasted side. Food value equals three-fourths pound of beef; cost, thirteen cents.

Cheese Sandwiches—Grate cheese, add salt, a few drops of vinegar and paprika with a little mustard; mix and spread between thin slices of bread.

SIMPLE HOME REMEDIES

For tickling in the throat, coughing or hoarseness, a very good remedy is glycerin heated and rubbed hot as can be borne over the throat and chest, covering with warm flannel.

Cough Syrup—Slice two or three onions into a bowl, cover well with sugar, set in a warm place until sugar dissolves, then give the syrup thus formed in small and frequent doses. This is especially good for small children, as it is perfectly harmless and is made from something we usually have on hand. If taken at the start, will cure a cough in short time.

Fruit Laxative—Put equal quantities of figs, dates and raisins through a food grinder with about one-fourth of the quantity of senna leaves reduced to a powder; the whole well mixed and pressed into a pan and shaped into small squares. One square at bedtime makes an agreeable laxative. It keeps indefinitely.

UP-TO-DATE RECIPES

Oyster Stew (as a New York chef did it)—Put as much butter in kettle as needed for stew, add oysters and liquor; when oysters are curled and plump, salt, add equal quantities of boiling water and hot milk, and the stew is done—much quicker than old way. Use same way for escaloped oysters, adding crushed crackers to right consistency.

Oyster Pie—Line a deep pie plate with pie crust; fill it with pieces of dry bread, cover with puff paste; bake till a light brown in quick oven. Have oysters just stewed by the time the crust is done; take off upper crust, remove pieces of bread, put in oysters, season with salt, pepper and butter—a little walnut catsup improves this pie, but is not essential. Cover again with the crust.

Original Tapioca Apricot Float (all measurements must be level)—Scald one cup sweet milk and two tablespoons minute tapioca until clear. Then beat yolk of one egg and two tablespoons sugar until light and add. Remove from fire when smooth like custard. Measure three cups stewed and sweetened apricots. Drain juice from fruit and pulp fruit. Beat white of one egg to a stiff froth, add two tablespoons sugar and fruit pulp and beat until smooth. Dissolve one envelope of plain minute gelatin in cold water. Add to boiling fruit juice. Have enough to make about one pint of gelatin. Put a spoonful of the tapioca in a sherbet glass. On it pile a spoonful of the float. When gelatin is cool, but not cold, pour over. Chill. When ready to serve heap on whipped cream and place nice half of apricot on top. This is delicious and will serve eight.

BLUE AND GREEN FOR EVENING.

An exquisite effect has been achieved here by the hanging of blue chiffon over a pale green silk. Very girlish is the design with high waist line and slightly gathered skirt. The bodice is cut square at the neck and trimmed with a double ruche of the chiffon held by a row of pale pink chiffon roses. The appearance of a girdle is effected by the use of an embroidered band of silk passementerie in Dresden shades which hangs free at the lower edge. This band is edged and headed by pearl fringe. The full skirt is quite three yards wide at the hem and has three tucks of graduated depths placed six inches apart.

Animal Jingles FOR LITTLE FOLKS

BY ALICE CREW GALL

The Adventurous Hop-Toad.

One day a hopeless Hop-Toad sat beneath a spreading tree.
Said he, "I am as lonesome as I possibly can be;
I'm going to hop away from here, and hop, and hop, and hop!
Entirely round the world," said he, "and then perhaps I'll stop.

"I'll see a lot of curious things, and have a lot of fun,
And then I'll come back home and talk about the things I've done.
Perhaps I'd better tell my folks that I'm about to go;
They will be pleased to have me take this lovely trip, I know."

But when he told his pa and ma, they merely yawned and said,
"You'll find it very tiresome; why don't you sleep instead?"
This made the Hop-Toad angry, and he madly hopped away.
Said he, "You've looked your last on me for many and many a day."

All afternoon he hopped, and then he said, as night came on,
"There is no use to hop unless I know how far I've gone."
Just then beneath his foot he felt a very curious squirm,
And, lo! when he looked down he saw a little Measuring-Worm.

The Worm sat up and said, "If you will wait till it is light
I'll measure the distance for you, but I cannot work at night."
"Oh, very well," the Hop-Toad said, "of course I'll wait for you,
And as I'm hungry I will try to catch a fly or two."

He looked about but could not find a solitary fly.
Said he, "I am so hungry that I really think I'll die."
And then a very brilliant plan flashed through his little head,
"Why, I'll just eat the Measuring-Worm," that heartless Hop-Toad said.

And so he did that very thing, as sure as you're alive,
Then took a nap, from which he woke next day at half-past five.
He rubbed his eyes and looked around, and then said with a yawn,
"I cannot take my trip because my Measuring-Worm is gone.

"I'll simply have to turn around and hop back home," said he.
And there he found his pa and ma asleep beneath a tree.
And though his coming wakened them, these Toads did not complain.
They said, "Did you enjoy your trip?" then went to sleep again.

And so that hopeless Hop-Toad sat beneath a spreading tree.
Said he, "I am as lonesome as I possibly can be;
I'd like to go and travel, but, alas! I find it's true,
As ma has said, 'You cannot eat your worm and have it too.'"

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful— all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Adv.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hyrdochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY IN PLAINFIFLD

FEBRUARY EPOCH MAKING IN TRADE

There Was a General Reaction in Price of Portland Cement.

GLASS TAKES A DROP

Month Closes With Prospects Good for An Early Termination of the War That Has Lost Sight of Selling Profits.

New York, Feb. 27.—February doubtless will go down into building material history as an epoch making month. First, there was a general reaction in the price of Portland cement. It reached levels in some rare selling instances of $1.23 a barrel in this city. Glass dropped ten points in discounts on certain kinds of business. Hydrated lime was variously quoted early in the month. Some grades of lumber weakened perceptibly from official lists and steel remained at low levels. Pig iron has hardly been a factor and flashing and tin have been too stiff to encourage much business.

Portland cement for a week has been quoted by certain companies at the basis of 55 and 60 cents, mill. But February closes with prospects good for an early termination of the war that has lost sight of selling profits entirely and has done more damage to the trade commercially than years of creative work have accomplished, save to those concerns that have held aloof from the whirlpool that personal jealousies and highly competitive business policies have created. Negotiations are under way for a speedy adjustment of differences, which probably will mean a complete capitulation by the companies originally causing the trouble.

The demand for window and plate glass is bringing about a firmer discount list although some companies have persisted in quoting lower than 90-30 for the latter. Specliyers can still make advantageous glass purchases if they can move it direct to jobs and discount their bills. Lime is steadier. The supply is somewhat diminished, which has brought prices to a firmer tone. Kilns are beginning to reopen for the spring. Brick is steadier at $5.75 to $6.25 wholesale, dock, N. Y. There is more moving out now at $6 than there were two weeks ago at $5.75.

Lumber, as a whole is a little firmer than it was at the first of the month. Lath, shingling, siding and shingle lath are featureless. There is some speculation in one or two lines, but plenty of full plaster lath can be bought here for $3.75. Hardwoods are beginning to show a tendency to get back to list. Structural steel is without change in quotation, although there are some who believe that if the February unfilled tonnage shows a gain over the 4,248,571 reported on the last day of January, prices of structural steel in this market may be expected to move up. Just as soon as that occurs architects may expect a similar movement in other lines. If February, with only twenty-two business days, can show a better tonnage than January, a full month, one of the great props of the chronic pessimist will be knocked from under him. There are some big railroad orders pending that are expected to bring the February tonnage up to, if not in excess, of the January total.

The American Steel and Wire Company is having no trouble in getting the extra dollar recently levied for its products, probably because no differential on galvanized was made, as previous prices had been based upon eight cent spelter. If this commodity advances in price another increase in the price of wire goods may be looked for. The week closed with spelter stiffening. This will effect fence wire especially and the demand for fencing material probably will increase immediately. Jobbers already are laying in extra supplies. Any advance by jobbers will be immediately reflected by hardware merchants to consumers.

As an evidence of what the "Build Now" movement is doing, building statistics covering operations in new buildings only from the five boroughs of this city from January 1 to February 27 in 1914 totalled 1,267 valued at $15,383,172 as against 1,290 valued at $23,100,000 reported up to February 25th.

ADDING TO RESIDENCE.

Mathias Mauro, the local produce dealer, is having a two-story extension added to his residence at 305 East Second street, giving him another room on both the first and second floors. The work is being done by Contractor Charles C. Bicknell at a cost of about $400.

A MODERN BRICK HOUSE

DESIGNED BY CHAS. S. SEDGWICK, ARCHITECT.

THIS is a substantial brick veneered house. The size is 37 ft. in width by 31 ft. in depth, exclusive of the main piazza across the front. The piazza is 10 ft. wide. The entrance is in the center with a glazed sun parlor at the right and open screened piazza at the left.

This plan is suited to a west front, the living room on the south side with large open fireplace at the end and between it and a den. The dining room is on the left of the hall and the kitchen in the rear with liberal pantry between. There is a large coat closet opening from the hall.

The staircase is arranged on the combination order with short section of stairs leading up from the kitchen to the main landing. This main floor is finished in oak. It is estimated to build this house for $6,000 to $7,000, exclusive of heating and plumbing.

The second floor has two large front chambers, a dressing room and large clothes closets, one private bath room for the owner and a second bath room on the opposite side opening into the main hall. In the rear are two chambers, with full windows on two sides so that they can be used for open sleeping porches in the summer time. The finish in this floor is in birch with birch floor, or may be in white enamel to suit the owner.

The attic story has two good bedrooms and bath room and ample storage space. The roofs are shingled and stained. There is a full basement fitted up in modern style with every convenience.

CONSTRUCTION WORK ON THE UPWARD MOVE

Six Permits Calling for Expenditure of $8,425 Issued by Inspector Doane.

The past week has witnessed somewhat of a revival in the local construction world, when six permits were issuel by Inspector T. O. Doane. These permits call for the erection of three dwellings, two garages, one for alterations, and one for the installation of a tank for the storage of volatile liquids. The total cost of these structures will aggregate $8,425, as against $6,375 as the value of buildings for which permits were issued during the course of the month prior to last Saturday, making the total expenditures up to yesterday noon for the month of February up to $14,800.

The drawing of plans for prospective buildings and the securing of estimates on new work still continues to feature the building field in this city, as well as in the surrounding towns. Local architects are being kept busy, and have been so for some time. In referring to the prospects for activities in the immediate future, one contractor remarked to a Daily Press representative during the course of the past week that the next four or five weeks would witness the return to work of at least from sixty to seventy per cent. of the building craftsmen in this city, who are idle at the present time.

The permits as issued during the course of the past week are as noted below:

First Ward.

Emile Beys is to erect a hollow terra cotta dwelling at 1231 Columbia avenue at a cost of $2,000. The structure will be two and a half stories high, will have a frontage of twenty-three feet, and a depth of twenty-four feet. The base course and foundation will be of concrete, the superstrncture of hollow tile, and the roof of asphalt shingles. A modern hot air heating system is to be installed. J. Bowlby, of West Hoboken, has been awarded the mason contract, while the owner will care for the carpenter work.

Third Ward.

Morris Israel, who recently purchased the Voorhees property 408-412 Spruce street, the last of the vacant lots on that thoroughfare, has been granted a permit for the construction of two two-family dwellings at that address at a cost of $2,000 each. The buildings will be two and a half stories high, with a frontage of twenty-two feet, and a depth of forty-seven feet. The base courses and foundations will be of concrete, with hemlock frame-work and shingled roofs. The owner will care for all the contract work himself. The architecture of the dwellings will be very similar to that of the houses recently erected by the owner on John street.

The Dickel Construction Company will erect a 12x18 foot frame garage on Sherman avenue, east of Grant avenue, at a cost of $250. The mason work has been awarded to the W. W. Wilson Concrete Company, while H. H. Hoffman will care for the carpenter work.

Another garage will be built at 222 Stelle avenue by Allan M. Johnson, measuring 14x20 feet. The construction will be of frame. The estimated cost has been placed at $350. Mr. Johnson has also been granted a permit for the installation of a tank for the storage of volatile liquid at a cost of $25. George D. Wilson has the contract for both jobs.

Fourth Ward.

Walter F. Manning has been granted a permit covering alterations to the brick building located at 405 West Front street, at a cost of $1,800. The work and alterations are described in another column.

MAY ERECT BUILDING ON FORMER HUGHES' PROPERTY

The likelihood of a fine business and apartment building being erected at the northwest corner of Somerset street and Craig place, the borough, is quite probable within the near future, according to plans now under consideration by Clifford D. Manning and Walter F. Manning. These two hustling investors purchased the property from Dr. F. J. Hughes and have practically decided to make the improvement as stated. They have been securing estimates of the approximate cost for several weeks, the figures being based on a building much the same as that which Clifford Manning recently built at Park avenue and Depot Park. It is quite probable that the owners will decide to go ahead, as the cost does not seem to be prohibitive.

The property in question has a frontage of ninety feet on Somerset street and an equal depth running back on Craig place. About forty feet of the frontage is taken up by the frame residence situated on the northerly end. This leaves a clear space of fifty feet directly on the corner. The property was owned at one time by Dr. Albert Pittis, who put up a one-story building that was torn down almost immediately after it was finished, without a tenant even going into it.

THE DAILY PRESS IN DUNELLEN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by Edward Pennock, druggist and newsdealer.

—The Daily Press can be purchased each night at Mallinson's drug store, East Second street.

ADAM BLAIR PLANS A BIG IMPROVEMENT

Will Erect New Livery Building on W. Sixth St. and Alter Present Stable.

Adam C. Blair, proprietor of the livery at 114 West Sixth street, has perfected plans for the erection of a new building adjoining his present location and to which he will remove his business when completed. The building he now occupies will be entirely made over inside for use as a storage warehouse, Mr. Blair having decided to enter the local storage field. Alexander Milne has the contract for both places and expects to have them ready by May 1.

The new building, which will have an official location at 116 and 118 West Sixth street, will be a one-story brick and concrete affair in front and a two-story frame stable in the rear. The front will be used entirely as a carriage room. The back part will have accommodations for fifteen horses on the first floor and a hay loft above. The general equipment will be of such a nature as to make it one of the most complete liveries in the State.

The building where Mr. Blair now is, is not to be enlarged but will be made strictly fire-proof. The upper and lower stories are to be separated by a concrete floor and two systems of water sprinklers will guard against any blaze spreading in the goods stored away. One system will work automatically, while the other can be turned on from convenient points. Steel doors will separate the various compartments and these, too, will close automatically. The alterations on the old structure will not be commenced until the new building has been completed and the livery business moved over.

The estimated cost of the work for both places is fixed at about $7,000.

CONTRACTS FILED.

Building operations throughout the county appear to be holding their own, with a number of contracts continuely being filed with County Clerk James C. Calvert. Among those recently filed from this end of the county are as follows:

Morris Rabinowitz with Charles Krausse, plumbing work new building, West Third street, this city, $770.

Board of Education with Richard Peniston, carpenter work, etc., new building, Elm street, Westfield, $7,129.

Westfield Egg Farm with Nelson S. Archbold, entire work new building, Westfield, $5,037.76.

METUCHEN TO HAVE A U. S. POWDER PLANT?

Work on Shops at Nearby Town Started This Week by Lewis Nixon.

Work was started Monday morning on the construction of a large powder plant on the site of the International Praeposit Company, in Milleville, a suburb of Metuchen, by Lewis Nixon, formerly head of the Crescent Shipyard in Elizabeth. Mr. Nixon is believed to be operating for the United States Government in the matter and the work of construction is being rushed forward day and night with three shifts of men working eight hours each.

In addition to buying the old Praeposit gunpowder plant, Mr. Nixon purchased the Dally farm, an extensive piece of property which gives a total of fifty acres to the site of the new powder factory. It is said that in addition to the present Praeposit building, six or eight new buildings will be erected by the company.

The old Praeposit plant did a good business in the manufacture of gunpowder until about a year or so ago when a big explosion there killed three men. Since that time its business has fallen off until recently it went into the hands of a receiver. Mr. Nixon acquired the property from the receiver.

During the construction work, if not longer, Mr. Nixon will reside in Metuchen and be on the ground all the time. He has leased a large estate belonging to G. H. Spear and will make his home there.

Although it is believed that Mr. Nixon is operating for the Government, it is possible that he has other ends in view and it seems certain, from the undue haste with which the building is going foward, that the European War has much to do with the establishment of the new plant.

FOUR FINE HOUSES FOR CLINTON AVE.

Residences Costing $4,000 Each Soon to Be Erected by Den J. Galbraith.

Den J. Galbraith, the local plumbing and heating contractor, has plans underway for the development of the fine tract of ground at the northeast corner of Clinton avenue and West Fourth street, which he recently acquired. The plot measures 600 feet on Clinton avenue and 350 feet in depth. Architects have finished the drawings for four handsome houses which Mr. Galbraith is to locate on the Clinton avenue frontage. Estimates are to be asked for within the next few weeks and it is possible that the contracts will be awarded in time to have the work begin about April first.

The houses will be of the cottage type, but each one will be distinctly individual. One of them will be of colonial design, but all will harmonize in order to make the full view the more attractive. Two of the houses will have eight rooms and bath, while the other two will have seven rooms each and bath. The interior finishing will include parquet floors, steam or hot air heat and numerous individual ideas that will make the dwellings coincide with the popular idea of having a home different from anyone else. The kitchens will be equipped with heat in order to permit gas to be used for cooking all the year around, although provision will be made for installing ranges if they are preferred. The refrigerators will have outside connection to permit ice to be placed in them without the necessity of the ice man entering the house. This is a feature of modern house buildings that heretofore has been found only in the high priced dwellings.

The location of the property in question is admirably suited for dwellings such as Mr. Galbraith plans to build. The estimated cost of each house, exclusive of the ground, is $4,000. That section of Clinton avenue has many fine homes and is getting to be quite a commuting centre. It is only a short distance from the Jersey Central's Clinton Avenue station, the Main Line and West Fourth street trolleys, the Irving School, the Monroe Avenue church and Church of the Heavenly Rest and numerous stores. The entire frontage has a high terrace and every advantage is to be taken of this in order to make the surroundings of the houses correspond to the suburban effects that pleases the New York business man.

BUYS RESIDENCE PROPERTY.

Benjamin Evans, of Madison avenue, who was recently appointed clerk to the Board of Education, has purchased the residence property on Prospect avenue recently occupied by L. M. Booth. It has been owned by the Central Park Realty Company. Mr. Evans will remove to the place as soon as repairs and a few alterations are made.

FULL CREW LAWS HURT GRANGERS

Lack of Labor Keeps Farmers From Availing of Opportunities.

Philadelphia, Feb. 26.

R. L. O'Donnel, chairman of the executive committee of the associated railroads, seeking support of the grange organizations of Pennsylvania and New Jersey in effecting repeal of the Full Crew Laws of those states, has addressed a personal letter to about 50,000 farmers, in which he sets forth chief reasons for repeal.

Mr. O'Donnel cites the stand taken against Full Crew measures by the grangers of Texas, Missouri and New York. The farmers, he asserts, should help secure repeal of those laws in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, not only because they are fundamentally bad legislation, and as such opposed to good government, but also because the farmers are confronted with labor problems which such laws make more difficult.

"This year," the letter reads in part, "because of the higher prices for farm produce, there is a call for increased plantings, and the greatest drawback you have in taking advantage of your opportunity this year is lack of labor.

"The men employed as a result of these laws have usually come from the farm, naturally seeking the higher pay which the railroads are obliged to give.

"This creation of extra jobs has called for the expenditure of over $2,000,000 a year by railroads in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, which must be borne indirectly by the shippers. It has taken away from the railroads money which was needed for elimination of grade crossings, purchase of refrigerator and stock cars, construction of sidings in producing territory, and from general development work.

"There is no purpose to lay off men whose services are necessary to adequately man trains; the object is merely to eliminate men for whom there is no real necessity and for whom jobs exist only by edict of law."

WEST FRONT ST. BUILDING UNDERGOING TREATMENT

Walter F. Manning, proprietor of the Manning Marble Works, has filed plans with the building inspector for extensive alterations to the building at 405 West Front street, which is now occupied by the firm as a workshop and office. It is of brick construction and at the present time is two stories high. The upper floor is in one large hall and was used for a long time as a show room when the Manning firm handled mantels.

The alteration plans call for an addition to the structure, 16x16 feet, bringing it out to the building line and making it flush with the front of the Bristol, its next door neighbor to the east. The entire second floor will be made over as an up-to-date six-room apartment. The extension is to be of brick in order to correspond with the original structure. The cost of the improvement is fixed at about $1,800.

The plans filed for the permit name George H. Fisher, Jr., as the architect, Leland Manning as the mason contractor, and James C. Manning as the carpenter. The work was started during the present week.

Weissisms No. 9

There may be some in Plainfield who do not fully understand what the word Rexall means and just how it is a protection—a guaranty of satisfaction — to customers of Weiss' Rexall store.

Generally the best druggist in town is a Rexall druggist—because all Rexall druggists are part of a national organization associated for the purpose of studying and creating the highest possible efficiency methods for retailing drugs and drug sundries.

When you come into Weiss' Rexall store you'll get what you ask for unless it happens to be out of stock—in our complete stocks a very rare occurrence.

You owe it to yourself and to your family to patronize a store which serves its customers with such care and such honest merchandise as does Weiss.

"Moderate Prices" the Watchword in This

March Sale of CHINA

Hearty co-operation of the potteries of America and Europe enable us in

This Half-Yearly Sale

to surpass our own record—the sale is not only larger, but better—prices are lower.

Actual Savings are 25 to 50 Per Cent.

It will be a brilliant opening. Despite the war, belated trains, delayed ships, this China Sale is by far the most important we have ever offered.

Important not only in the entirely different designs of the china but in the medium prices for fine sets.

For instance take the English sets from Grindley & Co., Furnivals Ltd. and J. & G. Meakin of Bennett's Five Towns—full 108 piece dinner sets with unusual borders and solid gold handles, are offered at $15, $17.50 and $20 a set. Such prices for sets from these firms have never been known hitherto.

Sets from France are equally notable. Many of the sets that first attract one's attention are the least expensive, too. 108 piece sets, from Chas. Field Haviland, Ahrenfeldt, Pouyat, Theo. Haviland, Vignaud and Redon, complete with everything necessary for a perfect service, are offered at $17.50 to $100.

Bavarian China sets in a number of new patterns have been received within the last few days—priced $15 to $45 a set.

American Dinner Sets

Five of the principal American potteries are represented in this Sale—and America knows how to make good dishes, as will be quickly seen. Complete dinner sets, all gilt, for $7, $10, $15.

Even though shipments were belated there are ready here at the beginning of the Sale 1,427 dinner sets at 25 to 50 per cent. less!

Ten of our own, less new stock patterns, are to be discontinued. Now $10 to $100, were $15 to $200 and more.

Fancy China, 5c to $5 Mostly Half Price

Chocolate pots, cake plates, chop dishes, salad bowls, cracker jars, celery trays and all plates, cups and saucers, etc.

The Sale Starts with

1,427 complete dinner sets—fully a thousand at $7 to $25 a set.

(All perfect, first quality, we never sell seconds.)

22,000 pieces fancy china at 5c to $5.

10,000 pieces finely cut glass, 60c to $5.

200 pieces art wares, 50c to $30. (Mostly at half price.)

The Cut Glass is Richly Cut

A large purchase from America's leading cutter of glass brings in amazing selection of beautiful pieces for wedding gifts at exactly half our regular prices.

Vases, bowls, ice cream trays, sugar and cream sets, jugs, celery trays, oil bottles, nappies, fruit plates, bonbon dishes, candlesticks, cologne bottles, etc.

500 cut glass water sets, including jug with six cut flowers, six water tumblers, one 14-inch mirror, our $10 grade, for $5.

A fine footed punch bowl, our $8.50 grade, for $5.
A large footed punch bowl, our $20 grade, for $12.
Sugar and cream sets, our $3.50 grade, for $2.
Bonbon dishes, jelly dishes, relish dishes, our $2.50 and $3 grades, for $1.50.
12-inch cylinder-shaped vases with flower cuttings, our $6 grade, for $3.

"Quality" First!

March Sale of Housewares

10 to 50 Per Cent. Below Regular Prices

That "quality" means Wanamaker quality — the same standard by which all our regular stocks are measured.

That same "quality" was the first consideration in the purchasing of 60,000 or more kitchen "helps" and household utilities at special prices for the March Sale of Housewares.

With them shall be included parts of our regular stocks which they duplicate.

All Kinds of Housewares Are Included

—many duplicating the very kinds to be found in the Wanamaker Housewares Store the year 'round. The comprehensiveness of this March Sale may be quickly grasped by one familiar with the greatness of the Wanamaker housewares stocks at all times.

That this March Sale of Housewares offers as great savings as ever before, together with the advantage of selection from stocks as large as in previous years, will be a pleasant surprise to women who are familiar with the present unsettled condition of the wholesale market.

Some Specific Samples of the savings in each—

Enamelware — white enameled sauce pans, side handles, covered, 50c, our regular price, 70c; rice boilers, 65c, our regular price, 85c.

First Annual Exhibition of CRETONNES

In the Upholstery Store on Monday

Cretonnes today are the study of famous artists. Artists design them—and other artists use them.

New cretonnes—uncommon designs—are everywhere sought after, and the discovery of one is looked upon as a real find.

Most of these cretonnes are exclusively confined to the Wanamaker Store in America.

Colors have been especially combined.

Designs cannot be duplicated elsewhere.

There are cretonnes which look like satin damask and other such accurate copies of Flemish tapestries that they might be a hundred years old.

Some are hand block printed on linen, others on cotton. In many there are nine and ten colors.

Garden cretonnes for wall hangings, curtains, upholstering, to decorate the entire sun parlor, lounge, writing room, for the piazza, for pillows, for all sorts of cozy nooks, for bedspreads and the furniture in the bedroom—even for women's slippers and hat boxes.

Conventional cretonnes for men's rooms, smoking rooms and other places where things of a masculine type are necessary.

For several years the Wanamaker Upholstery Store has specialized on imported cretonnes, but never to such purpose as in this first annual exhibition.

We have outdone our own records.

Prices 25c to $3.50 yard.

Third Gallery, New Building.

During March We Sell

Knickerbocker Hard Water Soap at 5c a Cake

—Half Its Price

We first saw this soap in Paris many years ago. We liked it. It lathered freely in hard water as well as in soft water. It did not make the hands rough, as most free-lathering soaps do.

We tried to import some of the soap for our customers. But although it was inexpensive in Paris it became too costly to sell here when we added the duty.

We brought home some of the soap, however, for examination. We analyzed it. Learned exactly how it was made. And were able to duplicate it exactly at a price which enabled us to sell it at ten cents a cake.

In March at 5c

Some years later we desired to offer something very extraordinary in our Anniversary Sale — in March—and we said it would be a fine thing if we could sell this Knickerbocker Hard Water Soap, just for a month, at five cents a cake.

"But it costs more than five cents a cake to make," the Laboratory said.

"Let's see what makes that cost," we answered. Upon investigation we found that a great part of the cost was in the box and in the fancy wrapping of the soap. We also learned that if we could double or triple the quantity of soap at one making we could greatly economize.

5c for March Only

For the convenience of everybody this Knickerbocker Hard Water Soap is put up in packages of

6 cakes for 30c.
12 cakes for 60c.
24 cakes for $1.20.
144 cakes for $7.20.

By request we have some of the soap unscented this year; also scented as usual with almonds.

Sale Begins Monday, March 1.

60,485 Yards Fashionable Silks Offered

At 50c to $1.95 Yard for Our 85c to $5.50 Grades
Silks for Brides. Silks in All Colors, Black Silks

Staple high-grade silks, nearly all of which we have sold in our own stocks at double the prices are now less because importers and manufacturers are winding up their season's business.

Group 1—Satins in black or bridal white from the mountains of Switzerland near the Italian border, 18 grades, our standard $2.50 to $5.50 grades, for $1.95 yard.

Group 2—Printed chiffons, imported, thirty designs, our standard $1 to $2 grades, for 65c yard.

Group 3—Printed fleur de soie, crepe and other silks, importer's fine overstock, suitable for afternoon and evening dresses, our standard $2.50 to $5 grades, for $1 yard.

Group 4—Crepe charmeuse, all desirable shades, for several years our standard $3 grade, now $1.85 yard.

Group 5—Brocaded satin foulards, printed with stripes and dots, navy, black, white, Majava sand and Barbara blue, very good looking, our $1.25 grade, for 65c yard.

Group 6—Crepe de chine, thirty street and evening shades, 40 inches wide, our $1.50 quality, for 95c yard.

Group 7—Crepe meteor, extra heavy, twenty-five new shades, including white and black; 45 inches wide, our standard $3 grade, for $1.50 yard.

Group 8—Shantung pongee, made in China, 32 inches wide, very desirable this season; our 85c grade, for 50c yard.

Group 9—Poplin, silk-and-wool, especially brilliant, new shades of Knickerbocker and Mojava sand, Barbara blue, West Point gray, navy, black, 40 inches wide, our $2 grade, for $1 yard.

Group 10—Brocaded poplins, 40 inches wide, our standard $2.50 grade, for $1 yard.

Group 11—Faille and corded silks, 32 and 36 inches wide, desirable street shades, two of to-day's most wanted silks, our $2.50 and $3 grades, for $1.85 yard.

Group 12—Poplins, silk-and-cotton, with hairline stripes in contrasting colors, our $1.50 grade, for 85c yard.

We are proud of every silk in the sale. We could put the whole collection in our regular stock and sell it at the higher price inside of three months—but we sell as we buy.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

"Sinners," at William A. Brady's Playhouse, is upon the threshold of its third month, and reasonably sure to continue well into the summer, if not longer. Seats now are being sold until June 1, and it is said in the box office that the demand is quite the largest in the history of this theatre. The play is keenly enjoyed in its humorous passages no less than in the episodes unfolding its love story. The ... of extra matinees by which it hoped to relieve the over-pressure of patronage will probably be put in operation within the next two or three weeks.

IT is a significant fact that the men with the most money carry the most life insurance.

They indorse life insurance by buying it.

They know it is an absolutely safe and profitable investment.

They need life insurance and so does the man who hasn't any money.

He finds he needs it as badly as he needs something to eat.

NOTICE.

The Board of Managers of the Bonnie Burn Sanatorium will receive bids for hauling coal from Fanwood station to the Sanatorium for the year ending March 15, 1916. The amount to be hauled will be approximately 800 tons and railroad weights to govern.

Successful bidders must give a bond in the sum of $500, satisfactory to the Board of Managers to insure carrying out the contract. He must also pay all demurrage charges.

Bids will be received by the superintendent, Dr. J. E. Runnells, care Bonnie Burn Sanatorium, Scotch Plains, N. J., until Monday, March 1, 1915, at 9 a. m.

The Managers reserve the right to reject any and all bills. 2 19 7

THIS BANK AIMS TO BE FRIENDLY

Like any other business, a bank can surround itself with an atmosphere of chilly reserve or of cordial fellowship. This bank prefers the latter—not as a policy but as its natural tendency.

As a depositor here you will receive the friendship of the institution as well as its service.
